WHITTLIN'

By DOLPH MOTEN

Courtesy of Parmer County Farm Bureau, we have a copy of a report made by Jim Dixon, Rhea farmer, concerning a trip made by a Water, Inc. group to California to study the California Water Project to see if such a project is feasible for the High Plains of Texas.

Of particular interest are Dixon's recommendations at the end of the report:

1. . . . That we support Water, Inc. in its work.
2. . . . Support those candidates who favor Water, Inc. goals.
3. . . . We must secure better returns for our products. We cannot pay for a water project with the present prices of commodities.
4. . . . We must present a solid front to bring water to the High Plains.

The engineering to bring water from the Mississippi River, for instance, to this area is possible, we've been convinced at Water, Inc. meetings.

But there are other things involved.

Included in Dixon's report was this comment:

"Mr. Banks (a member of the firm which is doing consulting engineering work for Water, Inc.) said the problem with a water project is NOT engineering but one of politics and economics. 'Who pays and what do I get out of it?'"

That statement makes a long story short, in our estimation. Keeping a sufficient number of people happy long enough to accomplish the goal is the big chore. That's where the politics comes in.

This area, we're convinced, can have "shipped in" water when the people are ready and willing to pay the prices for it.

The importation of water to this area may be a long time in the future. However, it will take a long time for the project to become a reality, leaders of the project explain, and the time to get the groundwork laid is now — not when the area is completely out of irrigation water.

Proud we were of Senator Ralph Yarborough's decision to leave the governor's race to others and remain in his present important political position.

His reasoning for making the decision was sound, too — he could do more good, he believed, as a member of the Senate than as governor.

Yarborough's being out of the race has thrown a different light on it and this will possibly open the door for other candidates to toss their hats in the ring.

With all due respect to those in the race, there's not a candidate yet over which we can get overly excited.

Bovina's chapter of the Junior Chamber of Commerce is on the brink of becoming defunct, we understand.

That's a bad deal for the community. Young men (the age limit is 35) can do a great deal of good for their community and themselves with an organized effort.

The list of things Jaycees have done here is a long one. It was their survey, you'll remember, which indicated that the people of the community thought a medical clinic was one of the greatest needs here. Through the Jaycees, the clinic project was initiated, in a matter of speaking.

We would like to see leaders of the organization give it a shot in the arm which would make it well and active again. Bovina needs young men working for it.

And old ones, too!

Interest in the one per cent city sales tax for the City of Bovina isn't as great as it should be, in our way of thinking.

The "comfortable" financial position the city is in has a tendency to make some leaders feel we don't need the tax. We might not today, we'll admit, but there's a day in the future, we daresay, when we'll wish we had had it long before we did.

E.G. Phillips Joins SCS

Edward Glenn Phillips of Abilene has joined the staff of the Parmer County Soil Conservation Service with headquarters in Friona, and invites farmers to come by and talk over their problems with him.

His transfer to Friona brings the staff in the county to six, Phillips said. He will serve in the capacity of soil conservationist.

A native of Munday, Phillips attended Abilene Christian College for two years and received his degree from Sam Houston State College in Huntsville. Prior to joining the Soil Conservation Service last February, Phillips was a science teacher in Garden City.

County Court --

Hearing Set On Area Fires

A second hearing has been slated for 10 a.m. Thursday, Feb. 1, in county court as seven youths implicated in starting fires in the area will appear before County Judge Archie Tarter, according to Deputy Sheriff Henry Minter.

The first hearing was held Tuesday of last week when six appeared. One was ill and could not attend.

No charges have been filed as yet, Minter said.

A second hearing was arranged because law enforcement officers had more work to do on the cases.

Youths appearing before Judge Tarter admitted setting fire to some of the old houses in the area, but have been given until Feb. 1 to divulge further information.

Several abandoned houses in the area burned to the ground in recent months, as well as a haystack belonging to Charles Corn. Arson was suspected after no cause for the fires were found. Since they were vacant, the houses had no wiring, gas connections, etc. that would normally start a fire.

Most of the fires, in which arson was suspected, were in rural areas.

Some of the youths implicated are minors, but some are 17

Plans Move --

Board Accepts New Ridgelea Elementary

Trustees of Bovina Independent School District have conducted their final inspection of the new Ridgelea Elementary School, located on Ninth Street and Dimmitt Highway.

The building was accepted by the board on the condition that a few remaining finishing touches be completed. The inspection was conducted Monday afternoon.

Construction of the building has been completed on schedule and expectations are that the first and second grades, along with the school tax office, will be moved in by the next two or three weeks. L. F. Jacobs, superintendent, said.

Ridgelea Elementary provides some of the latest features in school construction. Built at a cost of $175,000, six classrooms are contained in an octagon-shaped wing.

Each classroom opens onto a large area to be used as a dining area and activity room. Each classroom also opens onto an outside hallway, where rest rooms are located.

Connecting the classroom wing to one corner of the central building is a hallway. The square-shaped portion of the building contains the kitchen, library, storage rooms, book room, offices and teachers lounge.

The building is air conditioned.

The plan was accepted by the board last year with the future in mind. To add more classrooms, an octagon-shaped building for six classrooms can be built extending to the other three corners of the central building.

Most of the new building is carpeted. Exposed beams were stained to blend with the green carpet. Shelving in the library is walnut.

Classrooms are equipped with a lavatory, shelving, peg board, closet, and filing cabinets. Lighting is provided by overhead fixtures. There are no windows in the building.

An open house will be held for the community after moving into the building has been completed.

Owen Patton Heads Bovina Roping Club

After five years as president of Bovina Roping Club, Rouel Barron turned over the gavel to a new head man during officer election Monday night at Bovina Restaurant.

Owen Patton was named president for 1968 of the organization which is a co-sponsor of the community's Bull Town Days celebration. Barron was first elected in 1963.

Jon Lin Riddle, vice president of the group last year, was elected secretary-treasurer.

James Roach was named vice president.

Ring stewards for various functions of the club are Barron, Pat Quintana and Wendol Christian.

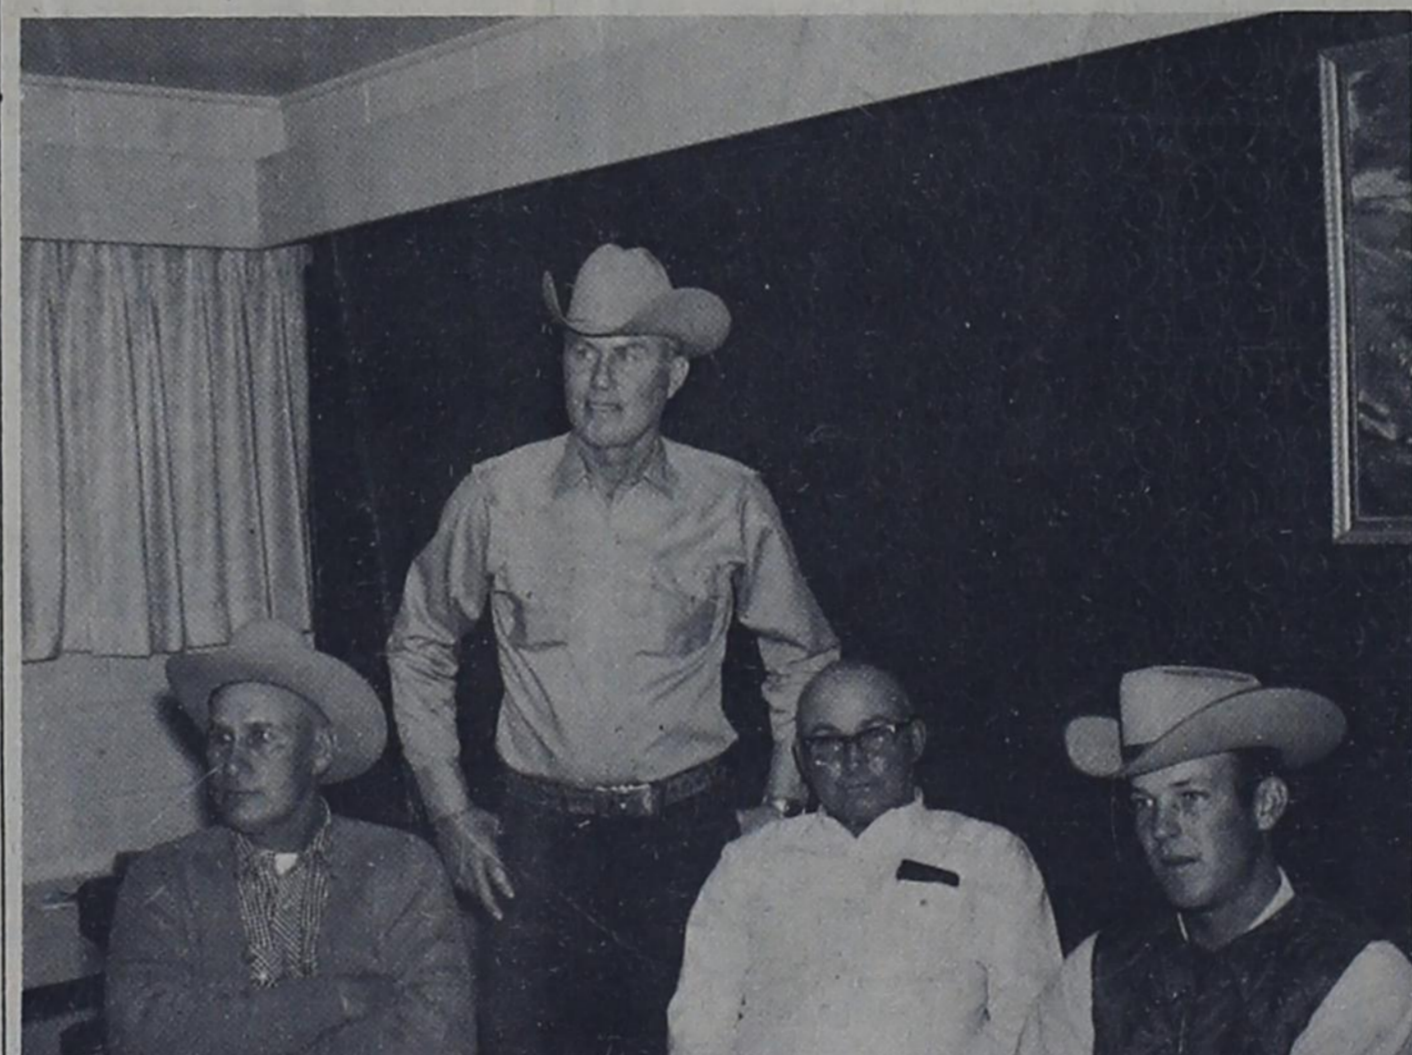

Parade chairmen are Christian and C. E. Trimble.

In charge of the concession stand at the arena are J. D. Kirkpatrick, Ralph Roming and Sterling Donaldson.

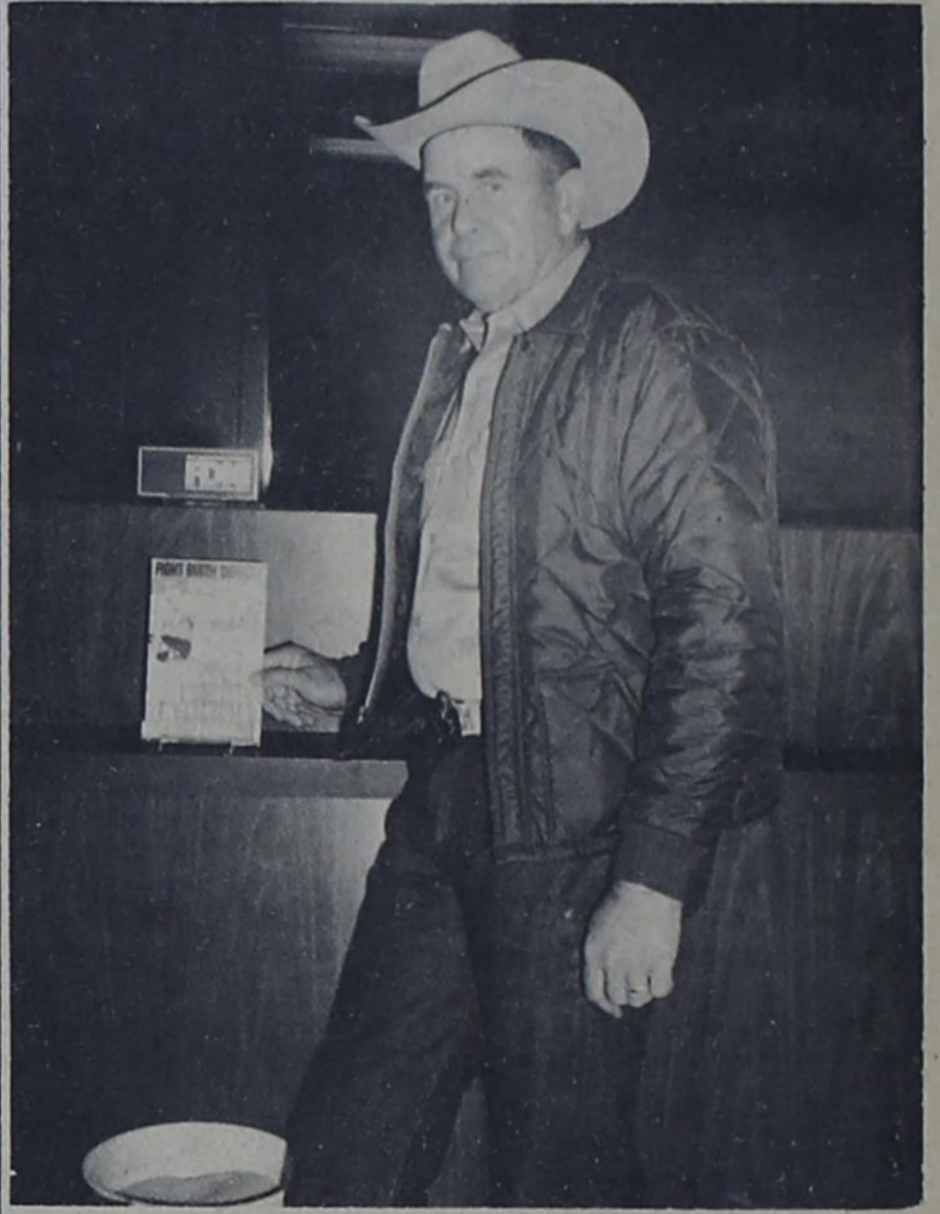

Timekeepers are Darrel Read, Quintana and Robert Calaway.

Dues for the new year are payable now, Patton pointed out. They are $10 per member. The organization had more than 50 members in '67.

Next meeting of the club will be Monday, February 19, and will be ladies night. Wives of members will be special guests.

ROPING CLUB BRASS -- Officers for 1968 of Bovina Roping Club are, left to right, Owen Patton, president; James Roach, vice president; Rouel Barron, ring steward; and Jon Lin Riddle, secretary-treasurer. Barron has served as president of the organization for the past five years.

MARCH OF DIMES -- Jack Patterson, county chairman of the annual March of Dimes drive, placed containers in the First State Bank of Bovina and other business institutions here Monday. Mrs. Bob Estes is chairman of the Bovina drive.

March Of Dimes Chairman Named

The March of Dimes in Parmer County got underway this week and will continue through Feb. 15, according to Jack Patterson, county campaign chairman.

Mrs. Bob Estes will conduct the drive in Bovina this year, Patterson said. She asks anyone who has an idea of a fundraising project to call her.

Containers were placed in Bovina Monday to receive contributions from citizens of the area.

Other phases of the campaign have not been planned at this time, Mrs. Estes said, but will possibly include two or three projects for Bovina.

March of Dimes contributions this year go to the research and aiding those crippled by birth defects, which Patterson stated this week is a far greater cripler than the dread polio for which the March of Dimes was begun. Since vaccine is now available to everyone for preventing polio, the attention has been turned to birth defects.

TEN YEARS AGO

Warren Embree, who has served as vice president and cashier of First National Bank of Bovina since its opening 26 months ago, was elected president during the annual stockholders' meeting Thursday afternoon in the bank building.

Bovina Lions Club made a decision to sponsor a public meeting for a discussion of the town's paving project at a regular session Thursday night in Bovina Restaurant.

Effective on last month's bills, the water rate minimum was raised from 3,000 to 4,000 gallons per user, according to an announcement by Henry Minter, city secretary.

The minimum charge remains at $2.50.

Mrs. T. M. Caldwell was honored with a combination tea and pink and blue shower Friday afternoon in the home of Mrs. G. D. Anderson, Jr.

Poll taxes for 1958 are available in Bovina. They may be obtained from Henry Minter, city secretary, at the city hall.

Mrs. Leta Stark, a 1956 graduate of Eastern New Mexico University, was signed Monday to teach in the local high school next semester.

Bovina and Lazbuddie divided a pair of basketball games Tuesday night as both saw their first district 3-B action for the 1958 season. The Bovina girls won, 50-32. Lazbuddie Longhorns won the boys game, 31-30.

Bovina Volunteer Fire Department members decided to purchase a smoke mask, equipped with oxygen to be used for entering smoke-filled buildings.

The school board agreed Monday night at a regular meeting to pave around all of the school's property including vacant lots which the district owns on Eighth Street. If all the school's property gets paving, the total cost will be in the neighborhood of $14,000.

SIX YEARS AGO

Another first class recreational facility is about to become a reality for Bovina sportsmen.

An automatic trap shooting range is expected to be ready for use in "about 10 days or two weeks," Jim Russell, president of Bovina Gun Club, says.

Along with the rest of area and state, Bovina is thawing out this week following one of worst cold spells in history last week.

The spell brought a minimum of moisture with it as it moved in Monday night. Light snow Tuesday was all the moisture provided by the sub-zero wintery blast.

Frank Hinkson of Lazbuddie, who so far as anybody can remember, is the first man from Parmer County to ever run for a national elective office, is a man of few, but well-chosen, words.

He announced this week his candidacy for United States Congress for the 18th District of Texas, subject to the Republican Primary May 5.

Earl Richards, owner of Richards Slaughter House here, is convalescing at home following an attack at his home Wednesday night of last week.

Mrs. Edmund Kitten presided over regular meeting of St. Ann's Society recently at the home of Mrs. Alex Jesko.

Two new officers were added to the Good Neighbor Sewing Club last Thursday at the home of Mrs. Henry Spicer. Mrs. Howard Looney was elected corresponding secretary and Mrs. Bob McMeans parliamentarian.

Mrs. Dickie Steelman was feted with a lullaby shower Monday morning at Fellowship Hall of First Baptist Church.

Mrs. Frank Wilson hosted Dorcas Circle of Methodist Church monthly luncheon Tuesday of last week at her home.

Ezell Recounts Postal History

"It's still one of the best bargains in the world."

That's what postmaster Ezell said today about the six-cent stamp, and he recounted some interesting facts and figures from postal history to back up his claim.

Even though the five-cent letter rate has suffered the same fate as the nickel cigar, first-class postage is cheaper today than it was in many bygone eras when a few pennies meant much more than they do today, Postmaster Ezell said.

In 1816, for instance, a single sheet letter cost six cents for delivery up to 30 miles. More sheets and more miles cost more money. A letter going 400 miles cost 25 cents per sheet.

In those days the recipient had to pay the postage, not the sender. And if the letter was actually delivered to the recipient, rather than picked up at the Post Office, there was an extra charge that was kept by the carrier.

It wasn't until 1855 that the sender was required to pay in advance for mail, Postmaster Ezell said.

Uniform rates regardless of distance and free city delivery were written into the postal law books in 1863. When distance was dropped as a factor in computing rates, so was the practice of charging per sheet. The basic unit for letter postage became a half ounce in 1863. The basic unit of one ounce that still prevails today went into effect in 1865.

Turning to more recent history, Postmaster Ezell pointed out that the 100 per cent increase -- from 3 to 6 cents -- in first-class postal rates since 1932 compares very favorably with general increases in prices and wages.

General consumer prices have gone up about 200 per cent since 1932 and the average hourly earnings of manufacturing workers have risen by about 550 per cent, Postmaster Ezell said.

"Back in 1947 the letter rate was still three cents and everyone agreed that was a really good deal. Since then family income has gone up about 175 per cent while the cost of mailing a letter has increased 100 per cent. If letter postage was worth three cents in the 1940's, in terms of today's dollar it's worth more than six cents."

Postmaster Ezell estimated that the increase in postal charges that went into effect January 7 will add only $2.25 a year to the $16 average household spent on postal services under the old rates.

hypnotist. In addition, there will be shore excursions. choice of dinner show at one of San Juan's four outstanding hotel/nightclubs, and a free transfer in St. Thomas for shopping and additional sight-seeing -- all included in the package rate.

By far, the most unique feature of the cruise is a golf

Despite the great distance many letters must travel in the United States, our postal rates are lower than in most other major countries, particularly when based on ability to pay, Postmaster Ezell declared. He said the average American worker earns the price of a six-cent stamp in 1.3 minutes. It takes the average British worker 2.5 minutes to earn letter postage, the West German worker 2.7 minutes and the French worker 5.6 minutes.

Postmaster Ezell said the higher postal rates mean that a greater share of the cost of running the Postal Service will be borne by the users of the mails rather than the taxpayer.

"The cost of running the Postal Service must be paid," he explained. "What isn't paid by mail users in postage is paid from general tax revenues. The approximately $900 million in additional revenue the new rates will bring in will shift that much of the burden of paying for the Postal Service from the taxpayer to the mail users."

"Certainly it's only fair that the people who use the Postal Service pay the lion's share of its operating costs."

Postmaster Ezell delved into history for one more comment on the new postal rates.

"Actually," he said, "with the six-cent stamp we are returning to the postal rate charged when New York was called New Amsterdam and was a Dutch colony. Then the postage rate there was 'three stivers of wampum' -- the equivalent of about 6 cents."

Nine Accidents, Five Injured

The Texas Highway Patrol investigated nine accidents on rural highways in Parmer County during the month of December according to Sergeant W. E. Wells, highway patrol supervisor of this area.

These crashes resulted in five persons injured, and estimated property damage of $5,650.00.

The rural traffic accident summary for this county during the calendar year of 1967, shows a total of 121 crashes resulting in no persons killed, 71 persons injured and an estimated property damage of $82,126.00.

When the final fatal traffic accident reports are tabulated for 1967 it is estimated that the death count for Texas is expected to be 3,340 or about two per cent less than the all-time high of 3,406 traffic deaths in 1966. If this proves true, then, it will be the first reduction in traffic deaths since 1960.

The Sergeant cautions all motorists to keep windshield, windows, outside rear-view mirrors, and all lights clear of ice, snow, sleet, dirt and mud. The driver's vision is obstructed in one out of five fatal accidents.

The one per cent sales tax is as painless as a tax can be. It will postpone the day when an increase in property taxes is necessary. It's the coming thing -- many cities in Texas have already voted in favor of it with only a small minority voting it down.

To ignore the potential good of the tax for the community is to look shallowly into the pool of the future.

STRENGTH FOR THESE DAYS

from The Bible

In quietness and in confidence shall be your strength -- (Isa. 30:15).

One of the most important steps we can take toward freedom and peace of mind is that of surrender -- surrender of ourselves, our thoughts, our feelings to God. We must trust in Him. It is this confidence that generates power and sets us free.

Know The Truth

By Lavern Stewart

Do you think it is wrong to discuss the Bible? If you know that another believes something that is not the Truth, would it be a sin for you to teach him rightly? Surely it is sinful for men to become angry when they discuss the Scriptures, but does that mean it would be wrong for two preachers who believe differently and their respective groups to come together for an orderly discussion of their differences? The dictionary defines "argue" to give reasons for or against something; further, to "discuss" or to "debate." The third verse of the Epistle of Jude commands us to "earnestly contend" for the faith. Webster says "contend" means to argue or debate. Peter tells us, I Peter 3:15, to be ready to answer with a "reason" for our hope. Remember, to discuss or argue is to give reasons for or against something. Both Jesus and the apostles considered religion important enough to debate about. Notice, Acts 15:12, "And when Paul and Barnabas had no small dissension and debate with them . . ." And Acts 15:7, "And after there had been much debate, Peter rose up and said unto them . . ." The principle is the same whether we use "debate" or "disputing" as in the King James Version, Read Acts 6:9 and notice that Stephen disputed about the teaching of the Word of God. Further, anyone who is very well informed about the life of Jesus knows that He debated often. One such occasion was with the Sadducees in Matthew 22: this group was wrong in what they taught on the resurrection and other matters. After they had tried to establish their point, Jesus said unto them, Ye do err, not knowing the Scriptures, nor the power of God; then He proceeded to teach the truth on the resurrection.

At Home In Parmer County

County HD Agent

4-H work is starting off very well, here at the beginning of a new year. According to 4-H adult leader, Dale Hart, Friona, six 4-H members are enrolled in Money Management and have had one meeting, and Mrs. Joel White of Farwell started her class of eight girls in second year of Child Care project work. At present we have three 4-H'ers who have already completed one project in Money Management -- the subject was "Cost of Owning and Operating an Automobile." The ones completing the project were Kevin, Steven, and Cheryl Kaltwasser of Oklahoma Lane Club, Mrs. John Christian was adult leader for this group.

SEWING CLASSES
Plans for adult classes in basic sewing are being planned for February. As soon as the registration list is completed, the time and place of these meetings will be announced.

The enrollment deadline for Sewing Classes is January 31. This is a county-wide program open to any homemaker who wishes to learn to sew, improve skills, and learn new techniques with today's fabrics.

CONSUMER COMPETENCES -- is important these days with the enormous amount of services and goods on the market. Women of the County Home Demonstration Clubs will learn points to help them in the selection of furniture on January 25 and 26 of this month. A tour of furniture stores in Clovis will be a learning experience and enjoyable too for those who will be attending.

Open Bible Given As Memorial

The Cleaners and Rebekah Sunday School classes of First Baptist Church of Bovina this year provided the Christmas lawn display of an open Bible as a memorial for the late Mrs. Margaret Minter and Mrs. Wilma Steelman.

The display, measuring about four feet tall and six feet wide, was painted by Maurice Means of Hereford, whose mother-in-law, Mrs. Giles Williams, is a former member of the church here.

On the pages of the opened Bible was the Christmas story from Luke 2:11, according to Mrs. A. L. Glasscock.

The memorial will be used during the Christmas season in the future.

MRS. LLOYD LANE GOBER

Lane Gober, Candace Flemings Repeat Nuptial Vows Saturday

Miss Candace Jean Flemings and Lloyd Lane Gober exchanged marriage vows at 7:30 p.m. Saturday in the First Baptist Church of Sudan before an altar centered with an arch of Comoclose fern and lemonleaves and flanked with baskets of white chrysanthemums and gladioli.

gowns of red velvet were complimented with short sleeves and bateau necklines. Headpieces were red bows. The attendants carried tapered bouquets of red Glamebas.

was centered with an arrangement of white chrysanthemums. Composing the houseparty were Misses Angela Pickett and Brenda Drake of Sudan, Linda Hemke and Karen Beauchamp of Bovina.

The bride is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Hardy of Sudan. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Gober of Bovina.

Jerry Dale Roach of Bovina served the bridegroom as best man, Groomsman were Eddi Corn, Kregg Wilson and Billy Marshall, all of Bovina.

Gober is also a graduate of Bovina High School and is a student in Texas Tech.

Candelabra holding 13 candles featured one large lighted taper in the middle.

Serving as ushers were Robbie Rudd, of Sudan, cousin of the bride, Randy Jones of Bovina, and Dale Gober of Farwell, cousin of the bridegroom.

The couple will make their home at 3102 4th Street, Apt. 97, University Village in Lubbock.

The bride wore a floor length gown of white French velvet designed with a bateau neckline and long fitted sleeves ending in petal points over the hands. The empire waistline was accented with a border of Venetian lace. A fan-shaped chapel length train was attached to the waistline with double bows.

Ringbearers were Roy Teeter, Jr., brother of the bride, Miss Ginger Gober of Bovina, cousin of the bridegroom, was flower girl.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in Fellowship Hall of the church.

Given in marriage by her grandfather, the bride wore a floor length gown of white French velvet designed with a bateau neckline and long fitted sleeves ending in petal points over the hands.

The tiered wedding cake was cut with a knife given the couple by her grandmother bearing their names and wedding date. Red punch, mints and nuts were served from crystal appointments.

When inquiring about the numbers, we felt pretty silly when told they are listed in the telephone directory, at the front under emergency numbers.

For something borrowed, the bride carried her brother's Bible; something blue, a garter belonging to Mrs. Ezell; something new, her wedding ensemble; something old, red garter belonging to her grandmother; a penny in her shoe minted in 1948, the bride's birthday; and a string of pearls, a gift from the bridegroom.

The couple will exchange wedding vows at 3 p.m. January 27 in the First Baptist Church of Bovina.

Miss Patti Foley of Bovina, cousin of the bride, was maid of honor. She wore a floor length gown of red velvet. The empire silhouette featured a bateau neckline and long tapered sleeves. A short veil of illusion fell from a matching velvet bow.

Misses Kim Guber of Bovina, sister of the bridegroom, and Tonnette Porter of Clovis, N.M., cousin of the bride, lighted the candles.

There's an old saying—if you don't want criticism, don't do anything. Brings to mind the days of the Pa Ferguson regime. He was an old boyhood friend of my granddad, who was Pa's staunch supporter until he got his hands in the flour barrel.

Bridesmaids were Misses Susan Jones of Sudan, Debbie Edens and Vicki Jacobs, both of Bovina. Their floor-length gowns held with appliques to a matching velvet Dior bow accented with Venetian lace. She carried a cascade bouquet of white roses centered with a white orchid atop a white Bible.

An editor down at Roscoe at the time, Granddad Hill quit mentioning the fact that he even remotely knew Pa Ferguson. He received a message from Pa one day, "If you can't say something good, say something bad, but for --- sake, say something."

Scoopin' Around

By Pat Jacobs

Last week a Bovina woman requested the Blade print the telephone numbers that can be dialed at night and on Sunday to reach police and the fire department.

The Volunteer Fire Department can be reached at all times by dialing 238-6661. There are three telephones connected with this number, we've learned, at City Hall, the fire department warehouse and at Bovina Hotel. They all ring when the number is dialed, and any one of them can sound the alarm.

The Police Department can be reached during office hours by calling City Hall, 238-2111. However, at night or on Sunday, the number to call is 238-3681, the home of City Marshall Ronald Mitchell.

When inquiring about the numbers, we felt pretty silly when told they are listed in the telephone directory, at the front under emergency numbers. Further investigation shows the fire department's number also listed in the Bovina section under "Bovina, City of ---."

Only number that has changed is the night phone of the police department. The one in the book is the home of Bill Denney, former marshal here.

You think it's been cold? Maybe we don't realize how cold it has actually been.

Since early December when Bovina received a heavy snowfall, there has been a patch of ice on the sidewalk between City Drug and Gaines Hardware, Aubrey Brock pointed out the place to us the other day, while giving a warning to "watch your step."

At last look, there was a tiny bit left. Nettie Lee Wilson remarked that it's about time for another snow. "When that patch of ice melts," she said, "it always snows."

There's an old saying—if you don't want criticism, don't do anything.

Brings to mind the days of the Pa Ferguson regime. He was an old boyhood friend of my granddad, who was Pa's staunch supporter until he got his hands in the flour barrel.

An editor down at Roscoe at the time, Granddad Hill quit mentioning the fact that he even remotely knew Pa Ferguson. He received a message from Pa one day, "If you can't say something good, say something bad, but for --- sake, say something."

"Our electric heating system 'baby-sits' for us."

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Butlar Plainview, Texas

"Robin, age 1, is in the crawling stage and she gets around fast," says Mrs. Butlar. "Too fast even for Kelly, our 6 year old daughter, to watch. But with the electric individual room temperature control, we can close the doors and keep Robin in the same room with us. Robin doesn't get into trouble and all our rooms stay warm and comfortable," she adds.

"I shall now announce the amount of our new budget. Er, anyone here with a heart condition?"

You Bet Your Life?

The market value of the substances which make up the average human body has been estimated at about $1.25. That's all you are worth—just the price of an hour's work at the minimum wage, the price of about four gallons of gasoline, or the price of a license for your dog. Regardless whether you are a millionaire or a pauper, the President of the United States or a bum, all the chemicals in your body are worth only a small sum.

But no one has ever tried to put a price on a human life. Some persons insure themselves for millions. Dictators and terrorists, however, kill persons because they have little or no regard for their worth.

The Bible and the Christian faith declare that life is a gift of God, not to be violated or destroyed. Life is invaluable. Jesus said that the very hairs of our heads are all numbered and known to God, so highly does he prize us.

God further made holy human life by visiting us in person. He became human so that we might partake of the divine. The birth of the Christ child declared to all men that life is not valueless, but sacred.

Prayer: Oh Lord, during this season of the year, help us to be happy and to celebrate the fact that it's good to be alive. Amen.

Three Days --

Friends Work Mann Farmland

Parmer County friends and neighbors turned out 35 strong three days last week to work the land at the D. E. Mann farm, between Bovina and Hub. The men brought 22 tractors along for the work Thursday, Friday and Saturday, which included disking, breaking and disking again. In addition, the men picked up bundles on the Mann farm.

The action came following a long hospitalization of Mann's daughter, Mitri McGuire, who was critically injured several months ago in an automobile accident. At the time the friends turned out to work, Mann was immobilized with the flu.

Among those who worked during the three days were J. V. Bouldin, Leroy Johnson, Edward Engram, Leslie McCain, J. G. Eubanks, Durward Bell, Gene Ezell, Charles Corn, Joe Pinner, Ralph Roming, Tom Ware, Tom Beauchamp, Tom Caldwell, Jon Lin Riddle, Dick Fellers, Rev. J. B. Fowler, Earl Stevenson, Vernon Willard, Lawrence Jamerson, Harvey Garrison, William Gromowsky, John Dixon, in addition to 12 farm employees of some of these men.

Charles Oil Company provided the fuel for the tractors, keeping a fuel truck at the site during the three days.

WORK MANN LAND -- About 35 farmers and 22 tractors turned out Thursday, Friday and Saturday to plow the land of D. E. Mann between Bovina and Hub. Mann's daughter, Mitri McGuire, was seriously injured in an automobile accident several months ago. He has lately been ill with the flu.

Water District --

Lide Elected Committeeman

Sixteen voters in Precinct 2 of the High Plains Underground Water Conservation District went to the polls here Tuesday of last week and named Edwin Lide to the county committee. He succeeds Carl Rea, who has served in that capacity for the past four years. Edmund Schlab of Friona was elected the committeeman of Precinct 1. In addition to naming committeemen, the district also approved the annexation of Crosby County to the conservation organization. Residents of Crosby County also approved 330-289. Last year that county vetoed joining the High Plains Underground Water Conservation District. Also approved in Bovina was Crosby County assuming its share of indebtedness in the district. Officials of the district said voting was heavier in the election than it had been in several years. Returned to their positions on the district board for two year terms were Russell Bean of Lubbock, Chester Mitchell of Lockney and Weldon Newsom of Morton. Holdover members are Andrew Kershen of Hereford and Ross Goodwin of Muleshoe, who will serve until 1969.

Take the boy out of the country—
And the country out of the boy—
And the country's got a problem.

As farms get fewer — and farmers move to town — often untrained for urban living — the problems become tremendous — sometimes explosive. These people must be trained for city life — and city jobs.

As opportunity grows less for youngsters on the farm, so does their desire to improve their agricultural skill. Often they fail to recognize the enormous scope of agribusiness — the related jobs that production of food and fiber offer.

A friend of mine has three appropriately labeled closets in his den. On the door of one hangs a sign that reads "Spinning Room." But he's not a cloth-maker. In fact, he doesn't even sew. Closet No. 2 is labeled "Casting Room." But he's not a movie director—not even a stage director. Room No. 3 is called the "Salt Water Room." He makes taffy, occasionally. But not in that room.

By now you fishermen have guessed what this is all about. This gentleman is an ardent angler. He's a methodical type of man and a perfectionist to the highest degree.

In closet No. 1 he has all of his fishing gear of the spinning type. Included are spinning rods and spinning reels both open and closed faced. Also lures to match. Here he keeps canvas and leather cases for transporting his spinning rods and reels. Even ultralight equipment isn't overlooked. Also a couple of tackle boxes with those extras that go with spin-type fishing. This includes extra line and extra spools with various sizes of line already wound upon them . . . and lots of other extras.

In that second closet are his casting rods and reels with the shorter rods and the thumb-operated spool-type reels. He has a variety of reels and each with a different weight line. Here again you'll find lures appropriate to that type of fishing including the heavier top-water lures and the heavier underwater jigs, etc. Needless to say, his tackle box includes a quantity of artificial worms, bottles of pork rinds in white, black, green and polkadot. Also he has a number of sliding sinkers.

This guy doesn't go in for live bait fishing so in his tackle box you won't find either in room number one or number two any corks or floats. Also, very few split shot and the only hooks evident are the triple hooks which he substitutes on the various lures. He has a penchant for sharp hooks so in all of his tackle boxes he carries a hone. He buys the sharpest hooks he can find. Almost without exception he will substitute his own special selection of hooks for those that come with his brand new lures. In Room No. 3 is all of his salt water fishing equipment. That includes short rods (very short and very stubby for pulling in the deep sea monsters). Also the extremely long ones for surf casting. Both types of reels are in the heavyweight class and are many times larger than either of the other two types. He has a lighter-weight rod on hand for salt water bay fishing. As you can tell, he's geared to go almost on a moment's notice and in each tackle box he has the customary pliers, hook ejectors—the whole gamut down to adhesive tapes, bandaids and the like. Not overlooked is a bottle of sun-tan ointment, for protection against the sun's rays which are more intense over salt water.

Appropriate stringers go with each tackle box. We just wonder if his wife would allow him another closet if he went in for fly fishing. I suppose he would name it the "Fly Room" and in it would be all the gear that's necessary for that type of pastime.

We felt real good after seeing his place because the wife is always riding herd on us about the purchase of fishing gear. In fact there used to be a place in Austin called Dan's, which specialized in everything for the hunter and the fisherman. It was like a country store, except not as orderly, and we enjoyed browsing around. Of course we bought something on every trip. What gear we had was stored in one closet and it didn't surprise us too much—but it did amuse us—when we came home from one buying expedition to find a sign over the closet door reading "Dan's Number Two." A gentle hint!!

In most cases nothing pleases the fisherman more than having a new lure or a new rod or a new reel or a new motor or better yet, a new boat. Just as in golfing, there's no end to what he can buy, nor what he wants. But we've always been inclined to believe that the tension it relieves, whether golfing or fishing or whatever you are doing outdoors and away from your job is more than paid for by the doctor bills that would have been incurred had you not taken time off to relax.

So we say to the fisherman's widow don't be too hard on him about those purchases. Sure, there's a limit—but there's also a limit to man's life. And, incidentally, fishing is good for the fem too. We know some ladies who are expert fishermen.

So not only might you go along with him on his purchases, but you might also go along with him on his trips. You'd love it! And he would too!

FOOTBALL FIELDS shortly may be the "hottest spots" in town. The Department of Agriculture says that heating fields by means of buried electrical cables seems to be a practical way to stimulate grass growth and keep soil and turf in top condition.

Agent Says --

Imitation Foods On Market Now

Within the last ten years, a variety of synthetic foods have appeared on the market. As consumers, we want to know what they are, how they compare nutritionally, how they measure up in eating quality, how much they cost compared to the real thing. Having this information, we can then make an educated choice between the new product and the natural goods, says County Extension Agent of Parmer County, Cricket B. Taylor.

IMITATION DAIRY PRODUCTS One of the newer synthetic foods that has made its appearance is that of dairy foods. Most imitation dairy products contain milk solids, but in place of butterfat have vegetable oil. Since vegetable oils are generally cheaper than butterfat, the imitation products are usually cheaper.

However, vegetable oil has just as many calories as butterfat, so you do not save calories with these products. If a polyunsaturated, nonhydrogenated vegetable oil is used, you would have a less saturated fat than butterfat -- an important consideration to persons needing to control blood cholesterol level.

Most labels don't state the kind of vegetable oil used. However the common vegetable oil used in imitation dairy products -- particularly imitation milk -- is coconut oil. Coconut oil is one of the few vegetable oils (olive oil is another) that is highly saturated rather than polyunsaturated. It is actually more saturated than butterfat. Thus, imitation dairy products using coconut oil in place of butterfat would not be more beneficial than regular dairy products from the cholesterol standpoint.

Some imitation dairy products -- advertised as "non-dairy," contains no milk solids, but usually do have sodium caseinate -- a derivative of milk protein. Keep in mind that dairy products contribute important amounts of protein, calcium and the B vitamin, riboflavin. These nutrients would be greatly reduced or not present in the "non-dairy" products. Take a look at milk-- here are some facts to consider also, Mrs. Taylor said.

IMITATION MILK - Varies in content (read labels) but is usually a mixture of either fresh nonfat milk, or nonfat dry milk and water, plus coconut oil, lactose monodiglyceride (a form of milk sugar), corn syrup solids (sugar) and carotene (which provides vitamin A and color). Nutritionally it is nearly equivalent to whole milk.

Sometimes slightly more non-fat milk solids are added to increase protein and calcium content. Its calorie count is about the same as whole milk.

You save money by using imitation milk (about 5¢ a quart) instead of whole milk, but you do not save calories or reduce saturated fat content. You would save more money by using reconstituted dry milk or fresh nonfat milk and at the same time reduce calorie (by 75 per cent) and get no cholesterol-producing fat.

In some states, imitation milk does not come under the health regulations established for regular milk.

IMITATION SOUR CREAM, IMITATION ICE CREAM AND ICE MILK -- Vegetable fat (kind not stated) substituted for butterfat. Cost lower, calorie count not lower than regular products. May be "non-dairy", thus lacking nutritious milk solids -- read label to find out.

COFFEE WHITENERS AND WHIPPED TOPPINGS -- (powdered, liquid and prewhipped) -- contain corn sirup solids (sugar), vegetable oil (kind not stated), sodium caseinate, stabilizing and emulsifying agent, vegetable color. Cost lower, have longer shelf life, greater convenience. Still have calories, but in the case of whipped toppings, fewer than whipped cream because they whip to greater volume (4 times original instead of doubled). Pre-whipped (frozen or aerosol) toppings are not cheap. Read label for weight, not volume-- they are full of air.

IMITATION MARGARINE -- Regular margarine has the same calorie count as butter, but the label on imitation margarine states it has "half the calories". Why? Because water is the number one ingredient. The cost is the same so you get less fat for your money. Because of the water content you can't bake successfully with this product, and if you fry with it you must let the water fry away first -- an uneconomical procedure. Promotional campaigns capitalize on weight consciousness of consumers.

FARMER SELLS COTTON FOR A GOOD PRICE

Mr. H. L. Fitzgerald who lives on Route 4, Levelland, Texas, and has extensive farming interests in Hockley County, and also a farm in Cochran County 13 miles south of Bledsoe, and is a director in the Bronco Co-Op Gin, has a unique record in some respects concerning the cotton grown on his Cochran County farm in that he sold it straight across the board for 30 cents a pound -- every bale -- 67 in all.

This brings to mind another subject that everyone is aware of now and that is micronaire, for every farmer knows that a price of 30 cents a pound is commanded only on the strength of micronaire and other good qualities. This field was machine stripped and every bale was in the premium micronaire bracket, and the pressley strength ran 90,000 pounds or better.

The cotton planted on this farm was the new Gregg 25V, a cotton first released in 1966, and while being a new cotton under limited plantings this year, there have been some outstanding records made. This is the new cotton with the glandless seed which offers much in improved seed grades, as we think of them on the present commercial basis, regardless of the future disposition of the glandless aspect of the seed which can be fed to poultry and swine, and can be used as a protein diet in human nutrition. Overseas --

Military Get Airlift Rates

Packages up to 30 pounds for American military personnel served by Army and Fleet Post Offices overseas now can be sent by air transportation at special low rates. Postmaster Gene Ezell pointed out this week.

"Area residents using this new airlift service will get much faster delivery on parcels to military personnel overseas," Postmaster Ezell said. He said the airlift is available on a space-available basis upon payment of the domestic parcel post surface rates plus a flat $1 fee.

Packages weighing up to 30 pounds and not more than 60 inches in combined length and girth qualify for the new special airlift rate, Postmaster Ezell said.

Postal patrons can get the airlift service on packages mailed to all military personnel at APO and FPO addresses overseas, and in Alaska, Hawaii and Puerto Rico. Postmaster Ezell noted that the new airlift also applies to parcels mailed back to the states by servicemen from these military post offices.

Parcels on which the $1 fee is paid get air transportation all the way -- from here to the port of embarkation, and from there to the overseas base. Postal patrons formerly had to pay air parcel post rates to get similar service, Postmaster Ezell said.

He said that in many instances the new airlift rates are considerably below comparable air parcel post charges. He cited these examples:

*A mother here sending a 15-pound package to her son in Vietnam pays $3.45 for the new airlift service. The air parcel post rate for the same package is $10.43.

*An eight-pound package going from here to Frankfurt, Germany, costs $2.90 under the airlift service. The air parcel rate is $6.59.

Postmaster Ezell pointed out, however, that it is not always to the mailer's advantage to use the airlift service. On some light packages air parcel post rates may be lower than the airlift charges.

"Postal patrons should check with the Post Office for information on the best way to mail parcels to servicemen overseas," Postmaster Ezell emphasized.

The new airlift service went into effect January 7. It was authorized under the postal rate bill signed into law December 16 by President Johnson.

Postmaster Ezell explained that the regular postage on parcels mailed to servicemen overseas is based on the distance the package is hauled within the United States. No charge is made for carrying the packages between the U.S. port and the overseas base.

Until January 7 airlift for parcels to servicemen overseas was restricted to packages weighing up to five pounds. Upon payment of the regular parcel post rates, these packages get surface transportation to the port of embarkation and are airlifted from there to the overseas posts on a space available basis.

There is no charge for this partial airlift and overseas parcels weighing up to five pounds will continue to receive this service, Postmaster Ezell said.

Vicky Kunselman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Pat Kunselman, is reported to be improving at her home, where she has been confined after becoming ill recently. Her father said she was scheduled to see her doctor the latter part of this week for a progress report.

A JOHNNY HARTFORD SCHOOL SAFETY TIP

Stay healthy—This is an important part of safety. Get plenty of rest and sleep and eat well-balanced meals. If you do, you will be much more alert to danger. Accidents happen when people are over-tired and sleepy. Good health habits can help keep you safe. (This safety panel, one of a series for JUNIOR FIRE MARSHAL, has been prepared as a public service of The Hartford Insurance Group.)
