WILL WALK OUT

STRIKE IS TO BE GENERAL.

AT THE FACTS

Correspondence With Charles P. Neill.

Aug. 11.—The strike of commercial telegraph operators is general throughout the United States and Canada with twenty-four hours of the telegraphers' strike. This statement was made after he had been informed of the action taken by the men who, at a meeting here, decided to hold a walkout in the latter part of the

The schedule will call for $35.00 a week for six nights work and 70c an hour for overtime, eight hours to constitute a day's work, with half an hour for lunch. The operators employed by the news companies and newspapers in the daytime will ask for $30.00 a week and 60c an hour for overtime, eight hours to constitute a day's work, with a lunch hour. These requests will be presented to every news-gathering organization in the United States and Canada. If at the end of twenty-four hours the demands have not met with a favorable response the men will report to the union officials, and they say a strike will be ordered to enforce the demands.

Correspondence Made Public.

San Francisco, Cal., Aug. 11.—It was announced today by S. J. Small, National president of the Commercial Telegraph Operators of America that if by Tuesday next no way is found to bring about a settlement of the telegraphers' controversy, a general strike will be called by him. Mr. Small further said that he had advised Charles P. Neill, United States Commissioner of Labor, that he could agree to an immediate resumption of work if the Government would insist on an investigation or arbitration of the telegraphers' grievances.

President Small today gave out the following correspondence between himself and United States Commissioner Neill:

In reply to a telegram from President Small of the telegraphers' union, sent last Friday, informing the Commissioner of Labor that the telegraph-

COUNTY TAX RATES LOWERED TEN CENTS

At their regular monthly meeting today the county commissioners fixed the county tax rate for the ensuing year, reducing the levy from 57½ cents to 47½ cents on the hundred dollars.

The lower rate is expected to produce as much revenue as the old, owing to the higher assessed valuation placed upon property this year.

The school rate in District Eighteen, G. W. Norwood district, was reduced from twenty cents to ten.

The new levy is distributed as follows: General fund, 25 cents; Road and Bridge, 22½ cents; court house, 5 cents.

In 1906, the levy for the general fund was 25 cents, the road and bridge fund, 22½ cents and court house, 10 cents.

The county commissioners will canvass the vote on the constitutional amendments, will consider petitions for the opening of new roads, pass on bills and transact such other business as may come before them.

A Squabble at Abilene.

Abilene, Tex., Aug. 11.—The fifth of a series of baseball games between the Denton Athletic club and the local team wound up in a squabble in the sixth inning, with the score 1 to 0 in favor of Abilene. Of the other four Denton won three.

COUNT SOBIESKI

LAST OF THE LINE OF POLAND'S KINGS.

MISS NELL NEILL PARKS

Reader and Impersonator, Tuesday, the Big Day at the Chautauqua.

Tuesday, August 13th, will be one of the big days at the Chautauqua. It is an honor to the people of Wichita Falls to hear a great man like Count Sobieski, who has no superior on the American platform. Count Sobieski is now an exile from Russia, but he is the recognized leader of 24,000,000 Poles. There is now a movement on foot to wrest Poland from Russia and place Sobieski on the throne. When a boy, Sobieski, at the execution of his father by the Russian government for leading the uprising against Russia, was exiled from the country by Duke Maximilian, but was later a commanding officer in the Mexican army and was chief of staff at the execution of Maximilian. He is truly "a great man in the world." He will lecture at night on "The Rise and Fall of Poland and the Struggle of Her People for Freedom" and will deliver a short lecture in the afternoon.

Miss Nell Neill Parks, the gifted impersonator of Dallas, who has made such an excellent reputation in the Chautauqua, will appear on the program, both afternoon and night.

Tonight Hon. E. G. Shouse of Kentucky will deliver his famous lecture on "The Problem of the Republic." Miss Bishop and Miss Banner from Dallas will delight the audience with violin and vocal music. A large crowd is expected.

Plans Were Revised.

The untimely publication of an item in Saturday's Times announcing the granting of a marriage license resulted in the revision of the plans for the marriage of two of Wichita's popular young people and caused the interested parties a half hour of fear and trepidation.

The young people referred to were Iris Wheeler, daughter of Richard Wheeler and wife, and A. O. Hancock, a popular young broom maker.

Despite the objection of the bride's parents, the couple had decided to marry and had arranged to have the ceremony at midnight Saturday. Accordingly the groom secured the marriage license at about 2 o'clock in the afternoon, saying nothing about keeping the matter from the public. The surprise of the prospective groom upon reading a notice of the granting of the license in the Times that afternoon can be better imagined than expressed. But Hancock was not of the kind to become discouraged, so he acted immediately and sought the bride and they were married at the Methodist parsonage by Rev. Stuckey at 6 o'clock that evening, almost before the bride's parents had read the item concerning the granting of the license.

The couple left that night for a short visit with relatives at Denison.

The Funeral of "Kid" Stone.

Probably no engineer on the Fort Worth and Denver was more popular with his fellow workmen and with the people in general than "Kid" Stone, who died at his home in this city last week.

The large number of railroad men who attended the funeral which was conducted by Rev. Stuckey at the First

M. E. Church at 4 o'clock Saturday afternoon, was an eloquent testimonial to the esteem in which the dead man was held.

The services were held under the auspices of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, of which the deceased had been a member for a number of years.

The pall bearers were members of the Brotherhood and were as follows: W. G. McCarty, John McCarty, J. S. Crawford, Myron Barwise, Sam Barch and E. A. Chamberlain.

Among those who came from a distance to attend the funeral were J. H. Kelly of Fort Worth and W. G. McCarty, John McCarty, T. S. Crawford, A. Gallagher, W. M. Gallagher and Mrs. J. H. Williams and Mrs. Arnold of Gainesville.

Funeral of Leland Terhune.

The body of Leland Terhune, who was murdered at Roswell, N. M., by his cousin, Moses L. Lewis, arrived at Iowa Park Saturday night and the funeral conducted by Rev. Davis was held in the Baptist church at that place yesterday afternoon. The funeral was attended by a large crowd of the friends of the murdered man. A large number of Wichita people attended the funeral, among whom were W. M. McGregor, Piner Avis, Charles McGregor and Mark Walker of the First National bank.

Relatives who accompanied the remains from Roswell confirm the report of Lewis' confession.

The murderer is held without bail and his trial will be held as soon as the court convenes at Roswell.

The motive of the crime is still a mystery.

DEAD BODY FOUND SUICIDE IS THEORY

Special to the Times.

Thornberry, Texas, Aug. 12.—At about 10 o'clock this morning the body of W. S. George, a farm hand who mysteriously disappeared on last Friday morning, was found on the banks of the Wichita near this place.

The body was beginning to decompose, but a gash across his throat cutting deep into the jugular vein, and the man's knife, red with his own blood lying near the body, told the story of his death. Every evidence points to suicide.

George had started out to get a load of water and had never returned. His team was found Saturday afternoon, wandering in a field about a quarter of a mile from the place where the body was found. Although the surrounding territory was searched, no trace of the man was discovered until his body was found this morning.

For several days previous to his disappearance, George had complained much of the intense heat and it is believed that this caused him to become temporarily insane and that while in that condition he committed suicide.

The dead man was about twenty-five years old and had lived in this community about a year and a half. But little is known concerning the man here.

The body is being held to await the arrival of the sheriff and coroner of Clay county from Henrietta.

PETROLIA OIL FIELD

ONE HUNDRED AND FIFTY PRODUCING WELLS.

PRODUCT IS SUPERIOR

Nine Rigs are Working Day and Night Putting Down New Holes.

The following write-up of the situation in the Petrolia oil field is reprinted from the Henrietta Review:

"There are 130 producing wells in the field, capable of yielding from 5 to 75 barrels of oil per day respectively—according to depth and the thickness of the oil-sand stratum at the point penetrated. The pumped oil goes to a great central steel reservoir, which is located on the high ground just north of the Lockridge place, whence it is piped to the shipping station at Petrolia. This tank 'lumps up,' having a capacity of 137,500 barrels. As to the permanency of this field, there has been to date no diminution of the yield of any well—those bored and put in operation six years ago still giving up the same quantity as at first. This and other related facts induces the conviction that the locality contains a vast petroleum reservoir which to date has been but lightly touched, as also that perhaps the more abundant supply is yet to be found.

As so far ascertained, there are three strata of oil sand, reached at approximately 275, 425 and 750 feet depth. The trick of penetrating to the middle stratum and perforating the casing at the upper is making good producers at a very moderate cost. And with the crude product at $1 a barrel, it is seen that a nice income of "clean money" is had on a small investment.

It must always be borne in mind also in connection with this field that its product is of high quality, being on a paraffine as distinguished from the asphalt base. This quality difference is shown in the price on the market of the respective products, that from the Clay county field fetches almost double the price per barrel as compared to the asphalt-base, coarser products of the Beaumont field.

As we visited the oil field, nine rigs were at work with double crews that kept them going constantly, day and night. Two of these are good for 2,000 feet if necessary. The greatest depth attained in this field is, perhaps, 1,200 feet; but as drillers are prone to be either close mouthed or unreliable in their statements, none but the "inner circles" know of depths. It will be easily understood that after a depth of 500 feet the work is tedious and costly; and as good profits are reaped from shallow wells the tendency is to stop them rather than pile up expenses on uncertainties.

At Oil City there is about a mile square of ground on which practically every effort proves successful—on which there is not one "duster." And this is a distinction as oil fields go. Oil has been obtained at distances from this center, but there is much less of certainty. In a southeastward direction good-paying wells have been found for two or three miles.

Mr. C. A. Montgomery is putting in a new gin with four 60-saw stands and will be prepared for the present season. This will find a long felt want in Archer, as the farmer can now bring his cotton to the gin and find market for both lint and seed.—Archer City Reporter.

FOR FEMININE FANCY.

Listen, The Shot Plaids Come.

Trunks fresh from Europe ought to be full of shot plaid dresses, for the manager of a Regent street store confides to the representative of a London paper that "although shot plaids must necessarily make a startling costume, they have captured the public fancy. So far," he says, "we have not been asked to provide the more brilliant tartans with a scarlet groundwork, shot with contrasting colors, but these will no doubt follow the lead of the sedate plaids of green and blue which have been shot with yellow and red." This innovation in the world of dress isn't especially artistic.

The gaudy colors of the tartans are increased by the shot effects, the green being slashed with blue and the scarlet with yellow. It is evident that the taste of the masses is still uneducated otherwise, it would not tend to shot tartans.

The Swimming Doll.

Even though the modern child has developed an extraordinarily critical mood in regard to toyland, he can't find any fault with the new Paris craze, the swimming doll. With this fascinating plaything, he doesn't have to make believe, for the doll can make wonderful speed with free and easy strokes across a pool or tub of water, and, being turned by hand, can swim back again.

The doll shown in Paris is dressed in a blue silk swimming costume and is about nine inches long. No more fascinating plaything has been seen in a long time than this mechanical toy, which is so cleverly constructed that it can pass the critical eyes of the "new" child, who is a born cynic, some one cruelly remarks. Probably the pampered darlings here would feel lots better if they had swimming dolls to amuse them on a summer day. Kindly friends or relatives touring in Paris should tuck such dolls in their trunks when they return.

Beads Modish.

If there is any thought of beads going out of style, present conditions do not indicate it. There are new styles, large beads in irregular shapes, small beads of pretty patterns, good ones, precious gems and some decidedly cheap, though strange to say, very pretty. Women are wearing all kinds and to many women they are very becoming. Amber is a favorite color at present, since the color looks beautiful worn with the new brown tints. Genuine amber beads are expensive, but there are some very clever imitations in the market which will satisfy most women. Many cheap beads can be made more elegant in appearance by stringing them on platinum wire and using gold clasps. It is the cheap cotton string and brass clasp which give more evidence of cheapness than the beads.

Needlework Notes.

Did you know that Valenciennes lace and insertion has a string on both sides which can be drawn, making tiny ruffles on lace or will gather insertion for fancy effects upon waists? When purchasing this lace, look for the kind that has the draw strings.

You can make pretty birthday gifts with raffia or fashion something neat and useful for the prospective bride. A raffia outfit for a small table on which one serves tea is an excellent idea, and the nimble-fingered woman could accomplish a great deal in this artistic work. Mats, the cozy trays, etc., are all pretty and useful.

If delicate material is soiled from the oily machine, the blemishes may be removed by rubbing with a soft cloth dipped in gasoline. Brushing the seams lightly with a toothbrush dipped in finely powdered magnesia is another good method. Avoid washing new prints, but try the above method, which insures good results.

ST. LOUIS CAPITALIST HERE.

W. C. Fordyce Inspects the Wichita Falls and Northwestern.

W. C. Fordyce, of the Continental Trust Company of St. Louis, and a prominent capitalist of that city, was in Wichita Falls last Saturday.

Mr. Fordyce is a director in the Wichita Falls and Northwestern railway company and in company with Messrs. R. E. Huff and Frank Kell made a trip of inspection over the line.

He expressed himself as greatly pleased with the condition of the line and the rapid development and prosperous condition of the Big Pasture country.

He was especially pleased with the prospects for a good business by the Northwestern when that line is completed into Frederick.

Mr. Fordyce had been on a visit to Southwest Texas and left yesterday morning for his home in St. Louis.

Women Worse Than Men.

Say, brother, never by word, sign or insinuation malign the character of a girl or woman. No matter how pure or sweet a woman may be, the meanest scoundrel on earth can damage her character, tarnish her fair name and forever cloud her life by a suggestion or insinuation. The meanest man on earth is he who would resort to such a damnable thing.—Ladonia News.

That is all very true, but your remarks should not have been addressed to your brother alone. Your sister should have been included. It is a fact that has always been past my understanding, that the most dangerous enemy to a woman's character is another woman's tongue. Men are bad enough, but they are not so bad as women in this respect. It is the exception when a man speaks slightingly of a woman's name, but it is the exception when a woman will not do it. As a rule, when a man says anything that casts a shadow on the chastity of a woman, he knows what he is talking about. A woman speaks of what she suspects, or hints at what is possible, and makes her language as hurtful in suggestiveness as a direct charge. It seems that one woman would have sympathy for another woman, even if she knew her sister were weak. But not so. Men forgive woman any sin, but women never forgive the slightest indiscretion in one another and, furthermore, they never permit it to be forgotten.

I heard a woman just the other day speak of the girlish prank of one who is now the mother of a family of sons and daughters who has lived a model life for years, but the incident was spoken of in a way that left little doubt in the mind of the hearer that the good woman had once fallen very low. The truth is that there was nothing wrong in the act spoken of, save it had given ground for a suspicion, which suspicion originated in another woman's heart and had been spoken by her lips, and had lived to throw a shadow over an innocent life.

A woman whose hearts are so tender (?) that they cannot bear to see a worm dangling from a hook, and who shudder at the thought of a wounded bird, but who will deliberately stab a sister woman with words that cut and kill—words that bring more agony to a suffering heart than if they were blades of steel thrust into the vitals. They know no pity when their victims writhe under the torture, but they seem to think that they have done a righteous deed.

Oh! The pity that it is true! Oh! The shame that we tolerate women who make it their pleasure to tell their suspicions, to recite, with nod and wink, the "things they have heard" concerning another. They are more dangerous than vipers, more despicable than those thieves who steal our purse, and are worse at heart than the weakest of their sex.

Yes, when it comes to the meanest and lowest and most despicable character of slander of a woman's good name—the kind that surmises and suspects and damns with spoken doubt and half-concealed truth, woman can carry off the palm. I hate the devil, whose children they are. I had rather live in a den of snakes than to be associated with them, and I think the poor, nameless girls who fill the dens of infamy are spotless characters compared to the woman who will blight the life and kill the soul of her innocent sister with words of venom and shame.—Bonham News.

It is just as easy to raise a bale of cotton on land which can be bought in this county for $30 as it is to produce the same amount on land which sells from $50 to $75 per acre in the black waxy district of Texas. Those who do not happen to own their farms in the black waxy district are now beginning to realize this fact, and are coming in droves to this section of the State where, instead of being tenants, are buying and paying for their farms. In fact, there are instances where farms have been bought and paid for out of the money received for the first crops produced on them. Where this can be done, there is no reason why farmers in other sections of the State should continue, year after year, to rent land and pay for it from $5.00 to $7.50 per acre, when they can come to Wichita county and buy better land for from $25 to $35 per acre and pay for it at about the same rates as they are now paying rentals for the land they are farming.

Henry Clews says the silly war talk with Japan is subsiding. Probably so, but why should Henry know more about such matter than other people? Japan, beyond a question of doubt, is preparing to "start" something. She has whipped Russia to a standstill, and it now begins to look as if she has an idea of doing the same to "Uncle Sam," and is only delaying matters until such time as she can undertake the job with better assurances of success. The authorities at Washington seem to understand the situation thoroughly and by making preparations to meet Japan's threatening attitude toward this country is doing exactly the right thing. Japan needs a sound thrashing and from all appearances will get it.

It's all right to impose the maximum fines on the trust companies for violations of the anti-trust laws, but if one real trust president should be placed in the penitentiary for a term of years, the result aimed at by the law would be much easier reached.

It requires some brains and a little "horse sense" to edit a newspaper. Our farmer friend who presented us with a dozen fine roasting ears was evidently of the opinion that we were short on the latter. In order to have "horse sense" you must eat corn.

Beyond a question of doubt, the nomination of Taft for the presidency will add "weight" to the republican ticket.

POISON THE BOLL WORMS.

W. G. Bentley Tells of a Practical Method.

Wichita Falls, Tex., Aug. 12, 1907.

Editor of the Times:—

In view of the fact that boll worms are damaging many fields of cotton very seriously, it might be well to suggest to farmers that it is entirely practicable to poison the worms. It is not only practicable, but it may be done easily, cheaply and rapidly.

About two pounds of Paris green per acre is sufficient. It may be used pure or mixed with flour.

The old method of dusting poison through bags tied to each end of a stick and carried by a man on horseback, is as good as any. By this method two rows may be poisoned at once.

To be effective the poison should be applied as soon as the boll worm millers are seen depositing their eggs on cotton stalks.

About the first of August or as soon as the corn dries up, these millers may be seen, early in the morning or after sundown, busy in the cotton fields. Each female miller lays from 500 to 3,000 eggs. The eggs are scattered over the entire plant and usually hatch in four or five days. When first hatched the worms are very small and spend considerable time wandering around over the plant, evidently hunting the tenderest parts. It is this wandering habit of the young worms that makes it possible to kill a large per cent of them by dusting poison over the plant.

The boll worm is a voracious feeder and during the twelve or fifteen days of its life that it feeds on the cotton plant it is difficult to tell how many squares and bolls are destroyed by each worm.

When fully grown the boll worm leaves the plant and burrows into the ground and enters the pupal stage. In about two weeks it emerges a miller and begins the job of laying two or three thousand eggs.

The cultural methods used in making cotton under weevil conditions are equally sufficient for boll worms. Poison may be profitably used on cotton for boll worms, but not for boll weevils. Yours very truly,
W. D. BENTLEY, Special Agent.

The following from the Leon, (Ia.) Reporter of August 1st will be of interest to the many friends of Mr. and Mrs. Frank N. Hansell in this city.

"Frank N. Hansell is about the busiest man in Leon this week. In the first place it has kept him on the jump preparing copy for a full page advertisement in the Reporter this week, and getting his big department store arranged for the bargain sale and then on Tuesday morning a charming little daughter arrived at his home and Frank had to drop everything and get acquainted with her. With the two fine boys which Mr. and Mrs. Hansell possess, they now have a trio of bright and interesting little ones."

RESOLUTIONS ADOPTED

By Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers Upon Death of C. W. Stone. Wichita Falls, Texas, August 10.

Whereas, it has pleased the Divine Ruler to take from our midst Brother C. W. Stone, who has been a member of our order for the past five years, we find that in the death of Brother Stone the members of the Division 574 and visiting members of J. H. Kelly Division No. 500, of which lodge the deceased was a good and loyal member, in days gone by, that we have lost one of our truest and best brothers.

Therefore, be it Resolved, That we, the members of Division 574 and Division 500 offer to the bereaved family, relatives and friends our heartfelt sympathy in this sad hour of grief.

Be it further Resolved, That we wish to thank those who rendered their able assistance and for the many contributions of floral offerings and to the Rev. Stuckey for conducting the services and for the appropriate and heartfelt funeral oration which he delivered on this sad occasion.

Be it further Resolved, That in respect to our deceased brother our charter be draped for a period of thirty days, and that a copy of these resolutions be mailed to the bereaved family of our deceased brother and to Division 574 of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, and that a copy be given to the daily press.

ers' strike had become a serious matter, the following was received:

Telegram From Charles P. Neill. "Washington, Aug. 10.—S. J. Small, Oakland, Cal.: Telegram received; Also telegram from Stuart. It is useless for me to attempt to do anything at this time, as I do not understand precisely the issues or the exact cause of the strike. I assume the various strikes have been without your authority and thus far illegal. If locals have no respect for the constitution of the organization and the National officers cannot control, what guarantee can you give me that any adjustment satisfactory to you will be accepted by the men on strike? I am entirely at your service and willing to do all in my power to assist you in bringing about a fair settlement of this controversy. Will you advise me definitely and specifically what the demand for which the strike has occurred and upon what terms you would take the responsibility of ordering the locals back?"

CHAS. P. NEILL.

Reply States Alleged Grievances. "Charles P. Neill, Commissioner of Labor, Washington: Cause of present trouble is repudiation of San Francisco agreement which settled strike. Local Manager O'Brien, Chief Operator Jeffs and Superintendent May have repeatedly discriminated against strikers. Women telegraphers, after returning to work, humiliated to such extent resigned. Western Union reinstated less than one hundred strikers, many still out of employment, including married men. Notwithstanding agreement provides reinstatement strikers without prejudice, outsiders given preference and employed. Present strike illegal but provocation great and resentment against Western Union officials because of bad faith so universal that general strike be authorized Tuesday unless we can find way to bring about conciliation. Answering your last question, I guarantee resumption of work if Government will insist upon investigation or arbitration of propositions embodied in memorial addressed to board of directors of Western Union last June. Local management's petty discrimination and favoritism toward William Nichols on Los Angeles circuit caused transfers and dismissal of men long in the company's service and finally strike.

S. J. SMALL.

Telegram to Secretary Russell.

President Small also announced he had wired National Secretary Russell, his deputy at Chicago:

"Answering messages from Neill, wired him could guarantee immediate resumption of work if Government will insist investigation or arbitration of propositions embodied in memorial addressed board of directors Western Union last June. Get Gompers, long distance, urge him see Roosevelt, inform him Clowry and San Francisco agreement not lived up to. Will be with you in a few days."

Uncle David Rodgers, postmaster and general merchant at Jolly, Texas, is in the city today transacting business.

THE "MAD DOG."

Often the Animal is Needing Only Water and Rational Attention.

Among other "nature fakers" there is the "mad dog" of the hot and silly season. He appears as a ferocious beast, galloping along with frothing, distended jaws, biting recklessly as he goes. It is instructive to compare this fanciful victim of rabies with a real victim, as described in "The Dog's Medical Dictionary," by A. J. Sewell, M. R. C. V. S.

Dr. Sewell is canine surgeon to King Edward, to the Kennel club, to the Dumb Friends' league and to various English associations and institutions. Referring to the oft reported detail of the frothing mouth of the rabid dog, he says: "This is a mistake. The mouth may certainly be a little moister than usual at first, but it soon becomes dry and of a dark red color."

In the earlier stages of rabies, the suffering animal shows an inclination "to hide in dark corners, though when called by his owner he comes forward and is very affectionate, licking the hand and even the person's face, if allowed." Later the rabid dog "is much disposed to wander if he can only get his liberty, and once he gets out he often goes for miles on a sort of jog-trot, with head and tail down, going out of his way to attack other dogs, but not so much people, unless they get directly in his way or interfere with him." Left to himself the dog may wander for hours or for a day and a night, and then return home. A dog gone mad changes in nature and in voice. He will not often attack his owner unless to resist an effort to restrain him. Contrary to popular impression, he is not afraid of water. He drinks freely during the first symptoms of his trouble and will thrust his muzzle into water even after he has lost the power to swallow. There is no cure for him. Eventually his hind legs weaken, and, if he is not killed before, he dies usually within four or five days.

Dr. Sewell crushes the foolish idea that if a dog bites another, or even a person, and then sahh ever go mad, his victim will go mad, too. He quotes from Pasteur to the effect that a bite from a dog is not dangerous even two days before signs of rabies are observed. His book will strengthen the belief that the "mad dog" of the summer news is as a rule, in a fit, needing only water, quiet and rational attention.—New York World.

FRIGHTENED BY AN AUTOMOBILE.

Team Runs Away and Little Girl is Slightly Injured.

A team belonging to a man whose name we were unable to learn took fright at an automobile near the stock pens southeast of town Saturday afternoon and ran away, throwing a little girl out of the wagon and dislocating her wrist.

The automobile contained Messrs. Moore and Smith and several others from Dallas, who are said to be on their way to Denver. The autoists were placed under arrest, but upon investigation it was found that they had not violated the law and they were released.

Plain Facts in the Case.

Our newspaper friends have said a great deal about the anti-pass law—so far as the "monstrous thing" affects them. We give the matter no concern at present. On January 1, 1907, we made contracts with several railroads to do so much printing for so many dollars payable in transportation at three cents per mile. We went ahead and proceeded to carry out our contracts, which terminate January 1st, 1908. We have fully paid for every mile of transportation we possess, and we still hold the books. As to whether or not we will ever use them—well, that depends. At any rate, we will always hold that the railroads we did and are doing business with owe us the amount in dollars and cents of unused mileage. And we intend to claim it. The mileage is ours by right under the Constitution of Texas and under the Constitution of the United States. Our contracts were made with the railroads before even the Legislature was a law-making body, and were to continue until January 1, 1908. And we have complied strictly with their terms, and have fully paid for every mile of transportation we possess. The railroads seem not to be troubled in the least—however, it is said they like the way the cat has jumped. All right. They may profit. It will take a higher authority than has yet spoken to convince this editor that his contracts with the railroads are not binding.—Lone Oak News.

The Battle of San Jacinto.

The following story of the battle of San Jacinto from the Metropolitan Magazine will be read with interest by all Texans:

"On the morning of the 21st of April, 1836, the day chosen for the battle which was to decide the fate of Texas, Houston's first words had been: 'The sun of Austerlitz has risen again.' He then called a council of war and asked the opinion of his six field officers as to whether they should attack the enemy or wait for the attack to come from them.

"The four senior officers counseled delay, but their arguments did not convince Houston, who declared that the hour for action had arrived and plainly announced the intention of his own responsibility to risk a general engagement. He then dispatched Deaf Smith, his most trusty scout, to cut down the bridge which offered the only means of escape to either army.

"'Make the best of your way,' he said in his habitual tones of kindly friendship, 'to Vince's bridge, cut it down and burn it up and come back like eagles or you will be too late for the day.' And just as the first charge was started a horseman flecked with foam from his panting charger had dashed along the line of the patriot army, as Houston had arranged that he should do, calling out clearly that all might hear, this death knell to all hopes of possible escape: 'I have cut down Vince's bridge! Now, fight for your lives and remember the Alamo!'

"The Texan army, with Houston riding at the head of the center column, had been dashed forward against the Mexican breastworks, behind which stood the army of Santa Anna, drawn up in perfect order and calmly reserving its fire for short range. Their first volley, however, by the grace of a divine Providence, as the Texans declared, went too high. Houston's leg was shattered at the ankle and his horse severely wounded, but his columns still advanced uninjured.

"Then came the answering volley, 'poured into the very bosoms' of the astonished Mexicans—unable to reload and without bayonets for the charge, the Texans had clubbed their muskets and dealt desperate blows, and finally when they had thus battered their way into the very center of the Mexican army, they had drawn their murderous bowie knives, and 'literally cut their way through the dense masses of living flesh.'

"The battle had lasted only twenty minutes, but in that time a new nation had been born into the world. 'From the Battle of San Jacinto,' said Webster in 1842, 'war was at an end.'

THREE STRAIGHT GAMES.

Locals Won Again From Fort Worth Team—Score 10 to 6.

The Fort Worth Telephones were defeated in the third game of the series at the ball park yesterday afternoon by a score of 10 to 6.

The Telephones touched up pitcher White pretty lively in the first two innings, making four runs in the first and two in the second. In the third inning Netherley was put on the slab and the Telephones didn't get any more runs. At the proper moment Lucid instructed his men to bunt the ball and when the dust had settled down on the diamond at the end of the sixth inning, the locals had eight scores. In the succeeding innings they added two more.

Wichita Falls left this morning for Denison, where they play a series of three games. Ables, Randall and Long, three slabmen who are hard to beat, will do the pitching for the locals. The latter part of the week Lawton is to come for a series of three games, and it is thought probable that either Lawton or Abilene will play here next Sunday.

Yesterday's game was enlivened by the presence of over a hundred fans who came on a special train from Byers and Petrolia, and who rooted vigorously for Wichita Falls.
