SMOKING ACCIDENT

DAISY SMITH IS RUN DOWN BY AUTOMOBILE—HER RIGHT HAND IS CUT OFF.

BABY ALSO INJURED

Four Rescued Four Year Old Child—Four Persons Narrowly Escape Fatal Injuries.

One of the most deplorable and shocking accidents ever known in this city occurred at about 11 o'clock this morning, just after the street parade of the Sells-Floto shows, when Miss Daisy Smith, a daughter of J. K. P. Smith, living on Indiana avenue, was struck by an automobile driven by Ed. Lysaght, of the Coleman-Lysaght-Blair wholesale grocery, at the crossing of Scott avenue and Eighth street, her right hand being cut off by the chain of the machine just below the wrist and severe bruises inflicted in several parts of the body.

In the same accident, the fourteen months old son of A. R. Duke, the dry goods merchant, was thrown from the buggy which was being pushed by his grandmother, Mrs. J. H. McCauley, and sustained a severe cut on the forehead and other injuries. Mrs. McCauley also fell to the ground in her effort to protect her grandchild and was slightly bruised.

Thelma Smith, the little sister of the injured girl, was pulled from a perilous position in the path of the machine by a negro whose name could not be learned, but whose act probably saved the child's life.

These tragic happenings occurred almost in an instant and the victims themselves were so shocked by the accidents and the attention of the spectators was so deeply concentrated on the sequence of the accident that accurate details of the deplorable affair are difficult to secure.

From the best information obtainable it appears that Miss Smith, her sister, and Mrs. McCauley and her grandchild were among a party of persons crossing the street on their way home after seeing the parade.

While crossing the street their attention was directed to an automobile passing west on Eighth street, so that they did not see the automobile driven by Mr. Lysaght coming south on Scott street.

On approaching the crossing Mr. Lysaght was compelled to turn his machine to the east in order to avert a collision with a team at the crossing. At this juncture he saw, to his horror, a woman pushing a baby buggy across the path a few feet in front of the machine. On the instant his whole effort was directed to avoid running over the woman and the baby; to avert such an accident, he turned his machine to the north, making a complete circle and was headed west when he stopped. When he did so, Miss Smith, whom he did not see until the machine struck her, was hurled to the ground in front of the auto. While the machine was passing over her, it is believed that in her effort to save herself, Miss Smith grasped the chain which drives the machine and before the machine could be brought to a stop, her hand was cut off in the cruel cogs.

The auto was brought to a stop a few feet and the victim was pulled beneath the machine when it stopped. A score of persons were on the scene within a few seconds, but with difficulty was experienced in rescuing the injured girl from her perilous position.

After she had been pulled from beneath the machine she was carried to a nearby house, while awaiting the arrival of physicians. Several physicians were on the scene within a few minutes and Miss Smith was taken to her home, where her hand was amputated just above the wrist at noon by Dr. Miller, he being assisted in the operation by Doctors Burnside and Walker.

At 4 o'clock this afternoon Miss Smith was resting as easily as could be expected and the conditions are favorable for her recovery.

The injuries to Mr. and Mrs. Duke's baby and to Mrs. McCauley it is believed will have no serious results. The occupants of the automobile were almost prostrated by the shock. Mr. Lysaght immediately gave himself up to the authorities and is now under bond to appear before the court on Monday morning to answer whatever charge may be brought against him.

Statement of an Eye Witness.

Mr. J. H. Hatcher, a real estate man, who saw the accident and was the man who took Miss Smith from under the machine, says that he saw the machine coming down Scott avenue and when it got to the corner of Scott and Eighth street that it turned as if to go east on Eighth. At the corner a lady pushing a baby in a buggy was coming from the Argyle hotel to the opposite side of the street, and that close to the lady with a baby buggy was a lady leading or pushing before her a girl 3 or 4 years old. The man driving the machine seemed to have his entire attention drawn to the lady pushing the baby buggy and was doing his best to keep from running over them, and did not see Miss Smith and the little girl until just before the machine struck and ran over her. The machine made almost a complete circle, but stopped within four or five feet of the place it struck Miss Smith, knocking her down, and as it passed over her the drive chain caught her right hand, cutting it off just below the wrist. He got to Miss Smith as soon as the machine stopped and with the assistance of others carried her into a nearby house, from which she was soon after conveyed to her home. Mr. Hatcher says the machine was moving at a slow or moderate speed at the time the deplorable accident occurred.

The little girl, whom Miss Smith seemed to have charge of was uninjured, a negro man whose name could not be learned having dragged her from under the machine before it could run over her and carried the child to some white man, who turned her over to her parents.

Mrs. J. H. McCauley, who was pushing the baby buggy which contained her grandchild, the little son of Mr. and Mrs. Rhea Duke, escaped with slight injury, but the auto struck the baby buggy and upset it, throwing the child out on the ground, and it sustained an ugly cut over one of its eyes by either falling against the machine or by striking the ground. Its injuries, however, are not of a serious nature.

Mr. Lysaght's Statement.

A Times reporter called at the residence of Mr. Lysaght, the owner of the machine, and who, with his daughter, Miss Magrie Lysaght, Miss Brooks, Mrs. D. P. Woodward and Mr. John G. Gilbert of Weatherford, were in the machine at the time of the accident. Mr. Lysaght was driving the machine. He says that in trying to avert running into a team on the

FIRST COTTON BALE

BROUGHT TO MARKET TODAY BY ARCHER COUNTY MAN.

FOUR AND A QUARTER CTS.

Trevathan & Bland the Purchasers—The Grower Will Receive Substantial Cash Prize.

The season's first cotton was brought into the Wichita Falls market this morning by Elmer Threet, who lives in Archer County, two miles south of Archer City.

The cotton was in an unginned state and when Mr. Threet stopped his wagon on Indiana avenue early this morning it soon became the center of attraction and occupied the center of the stage until time for the show parade.

Owing to the fact that no cotton was expected in this market for a week or ten days no provision had been made to receive and sell the first bale, but several dealers were soon on the scene and to the firm of Trevathan & Bland was given the distinction of being the purchasers of the first bale, the purchase price being four and a quarter cents for the unginned product. Mr. Threet will also receive about $35.00 in cash as a bonus for bringing the first bale into market. This amount will be paid from the subscription being raised by Mr. E. N. Lawler. So far about $70.00 has been raised for this prize, and while it was intended to award it to the first bale grown in Wichita county, it was decided to reward Mr. Threet's enterprise and he will be given one-half of the sum already subscribed and the remainder will be held to be given the first bale raised in Wichita county and brought to the market here.

The cotton brought to town this morning weighed 1490 pounds gross. Arrangements have been made to have one of the gins opened at once.

NARROW ESCAPE FROM AWFUL DEATH

A man whose name could not be learned had a narrow escape from a horrible death this afternoon in attempting to board the Wichita Valley passenger as it was leaving the Denver depot. The train was moving at a good speed when the man ran down the track and grasped the hand rail at the front of the last coach.

In attempting to pull himself upon the steps he lost his hold upon the rail and fell beneath the train. Seemingly by a miracle he rolled between the rails out of the way of the wheels and the entire car passed over him without so much as turning a hair.

At their regular mid-week meeting last night the congregation of the First Baptist church unanimously voted to extend an invitation the Rev. Mr. Fry of Goldsboro, N. C., to become the pastor of the church. At the same meeting a committee was appointed to notify Rev. Fry of this action and it will probably be a week before an answer can be had. Rev. Fry has been pastor of the Baptist church at Goldsboro for the past seven years and is well commended by those who have met him and who heard his sermon at the church last Sunday.

UNION WILL ACT.

Expects to Expel Five St. Louis Operators Who Refused to Go Out.

St. Louis, Mo., Aug. 28.—Charges were filed with the union today against five commercial telegraphers of St. Louis who refused to desert the keys when the strike was called. Notice will be given to the members to appear and show cause why they shall not be expelled and their insurance policies canceled. The operators carry from $300 to $1,000 fraternal insurance. The policies of the five persons who did not live up to their union obligations will probably be canceled by order of the union.

A bulletin from Chicago today stated that the business men there were refusing to contribute to the strike fund, but that they were signing petitions to President Roosevelt to use his influence to settle the strike.

President Ewing said that he did not anticipate any peace negotiations for at least another ten days.

Conditions at the telegraph offices are unchanged in St. Louis.

AN APPEAL TO ROOSEVELT.

Announcement of Petition to Roosevelt Made in New York.

New York, Aug. 28.—An appeal is to be made to President Roosevelt by the leaders of the Telegraphers' Union to take some action in the present strike. It is the plan, according to the announcement made today, to first have an appeal signed by representative business men and then forward it with the signatures to President Roosevelt.

There was but little change in the general situation today. At the offices of the Western Union and Postal it was said that everything was moving in a satisfactory manner.

General Superintendent McRea of the Long Island railroad, received a committee of telegraph operators to discuss a request of the men for an increase in pay.

Old Settlers' Picnic.

The Old Settlers' Picnic is to be held at Weeth's Grove on September 6th and the Times is authorized to say that prominent speakers of the democratic, republican and socialist parties will deliver addresses on that occasion. Various kinds of amusements for the entertainment of both young and old have been provided for. The music will be furnished by the Iowa Park band and a big dance will be given at night. A hearty invitation is extended all to come with well-filled baskets and enjoy a day's outing.

Bond Election Invalid.

San Angelo, Tex., Aug. 28.—The attorney general has held that the recent bond election held in this city on the proposition to issue bonds for a city hall and crematory was invalid because of the fact that two propositions were included in one. The city council will likely call a second election at their next regular meeting in September.

John W. Wright of Tyler has been appointed by Governor Campbell as financial agent of the State penitentiary to succeed Benton McMillin, resigned. Mr. Wright will assume the duties of his office on September 1st. He is now a member of the penitentiary board, and Col. O. T. Holt of Houston will succeed him.

BIG STREET PARADE

THOUSANDS WITNESS MAGNIFICENT SPECTACLE.

"PAPA" IS AT THE SHOW

To Take the Children, of Course, and So Are All the Rest of the Family.

The Sells-Floto street parade was pulled off on scheduled time this morning and several thousand people who came down to Seventh street had an excellent opportunity to see it in all its glory. There were the elephants, the tigers, the bands, the clowns, the pretty women dressed in outlandish costumes, the mysterious looking wagons, which are gaily painted on the outside and lead the small boy to wonder what is on the inside. That ended the long parade. This afternoon at 2 o'clock the usual big crowd went to the show ground, where it was entertained after looking at the animals. A large number of papas were there to take the children to see the animals; the usual number of red lemonade stands were there, and the man who sells peanuts from a great big scoop. It was a real show alright and it had the real attraction and it pleased the crowd and that was what it came for.

There will be another performance tonight. The doors open at 7 o'clock and the show starts promptly at 8 o'clock.

Fine Horses Admired by Critics.

The Sells-Floto people have been advertising their horses, but they have not exaggerated the quality of the horseflesh with the show. Wichita Falls' old horsemen gazed in admiration this morning and all agreed with Jim Burnett when he said he never saw any finer display at one time. Undoubtedly the best draught horses to be seen here are those in town with the show today. The pride the show people take in their horses is evidenced by the manner in which they are cared for under the direction of Charles Saunders, the boss hostler. Any one on the show lot will stop and talk if you refer to the horses, from Manager Frank Tammen down. This interest in the show is unusually strong with the Sells-Floto people. They have a pride in the show not ordinarily found and to a man who went over the grounds this forenoon every man employed seemed to be a press agent. They all bragged on the show, its features, manager, class of people and other things as well as the horses.

Altus Coming to the Front.

J. C. Ross of Altus, O. T., is visiting his brother, J. T. Ross of this city. Mr. Ross says that conditions as regards crops are about as promising as could be wished for in his section of the country. Altus, near Quanah, Texas, is a small city, but is coming to the front. This latter city Mr. Ross says is on a boom. No less than twenty-two brick buildings are now in course of erection there. Over a half mile of street paving is now nearing completion and improvements of many kinds are being pushed. Mr. Ross says that the farmers from Wichita Falls, west on the Fort Worth and Denver road, have been more universally favored by the matter of rains this summer than have those east of that point and a resultant comparison of the crop conditions is to be made.—Fort Worth Record.

ONE HUNDRED SHOTS FIRED AT OFFICERS

The Stevens gang have for some time been terrorizing the inhabitants of the Big Pasture in the Red river valley country, and a few days ago the matter culminated, when some of the citizens of the community swore out a warrant for members of the gang for disturbing religious worship. Constable Frank Morgan of Randlett, who had the papers to serve swore in the deputies and started out to bring in the "bad men." The deputies in the officer's party were Jack Gray, Jack Davis and a representative of the Randlett Enterprise. A pitched battle was the result of the attempt to bring the Stevens boys in and over one hundred shots were fired in the melee, Deputy Jack Davis being slightly wounded in the arm. The gang made their escape across Red river into Texas, accompanied by a number of sympathizers. Mr. Morgan is a new officer and this was his first attempt to arrest violators of the law. The Red river valley is an ideal place for outlaws to evade the officers of the law, the canyons and sand dunes offering cover. Even an old timer is up against it in a man hunt in this neck of the Big Pasture.—Lawton Democrat.

Anti-Nepotism Law Now in Effect.

The recently enacted anti-nepotism law, which prohibits the employment of a relative who is related within the third degree to the public official who is doing the appointing, promises to become as popular as the anti-pass law both in respect to the publicity it will doubtless receive and the trouble that it will afford the able assistants of the attorney general.

Section 2 of the bill, which states that hereafter it shall be unlawful for any official to employ a relative who is related to him within the third degree settles the controversy which has resulted through the improper interpretation of the law as to whether a relative who is already employed under a public official shall be forced to vacate or not. Both the attorney general and two of his assistants have expressed themselves as confident that it does not affect those persons until their terms shall have expired. The following extracts from the law are self-explanatory and will doubtless aid in its correct interpretation:

"Section 1. Hereafter it shall be unlawful for any executive, legislative, ministerial or judicial officer of this state to appoint or vote for the appointment of any person related to him by affinity or consanguinity within the third degree to any clerkship, office, position, employment or duty in any department of the state, district, county, city or municipal government of which such executive, ministerial or judicial officer is a member, when the salary, wages, pay or compensation of such appointee is to be paid for out of the public funds or fees of office; provided it shall be unlawful under provisions of this act for any district judge to appoint as official stenographer of his district any person related within the third degree to the judge or district attorney of such district.

Section 2. It shall hereafter be unlawful for any such executive, legislative, ministerial or judicial officer mentioned in section one of this act to draw or authorize the drawing of any such ineligible person, knowing him to be ineligible; and it shall be unlawful for any such executive, legislative, ministerial or judicial officer to pay out of any public funds in his custody or under his control the salary, wages, pay or compensation of any such ineligible person, knowing him to be ineligible.

THE END OF THE WORLD.

Arkansas Farmer "Kept Moving" in New England, Returns to New York City.

New York, Aug. 27.—Though he is certain the voice of God told him on July 23rd that the world would come to an end in forty days, and commanded him to go and preach the doctrine of repentance to all mankind, the Rev. Samuel Wilhite, of Baxter county, Arkansas, but more recently of London, will return to Arkansas, not because he has lost faith in the vision, but because Mrs. Wilhite is of the opinion that if the world must come to an end so soon, it might as well find her in Arkansas.

"Seeing as how Mrs. Wilhite looks at it that way and the young people want to get home, too, and the people here allow they are willing to pay for totting us all back to Arkansasaw," said Mr. Wilhite, "I suppose we might as well go home, though I don't know where we are going to live when we get there."

Mr. Wilhite, who is 38 years old, is a native of the Cumberland Mountains of Tennessee, and is about four years his wife's senior. They have been married ten years and have five children, the eldest of whom is 9 years and the youngest six months. Up to July 24th they lived in Baxter, where he made a living farming and running a small store.

Appears as Loud Voice.

The day before their departure, he says, the Lord appeared to him in the form of a loud voice and told him to go forth and tell the world it was to be destroyed in forty days.

"I don't believe in no church," said the preacher, "and I haven't for a long time. When I was 20 years old I had religions as you folks have it. I joined the Baptist church and was ordained. That wasn't what I wanted, according to the voices from God, so I joined the Campbellites. They weren't much better; so for the last eight years I've been preaching the word as God has given it to me."

"I usually work for awhile, and then go away for a short trip, preaching. Up to this time, I have left the family at home. But this time I gave my farm away and sold what I had at give-away prices, and went to London. There they wouldn't let me preach, and after a lot of trouble I came home. They didn't arrest me, but kept us moving. London doesn't want to be saved."

"I landed in Boston last Thursday and they sent us over here. A lady at the station sent us to this place."

Only Converted Wife.

"No, I never converted anybody, but my wife. You had better be converted though, for the end comes next Saturday. It sure does, for the voice said so."

Mrs. Wilhite is not so enthusiastic over the prospect of the world ending so soon.

"I am tired of gollivating around with these children, with two of them here and the other three in Belleville, where they are being treated for a little rash the doctors say is due to heat," said she. "If the world is going to come to an end I don't know what it matters whether I am in New York or Arkansas. I have lived God's way and I reckon I will be saved as quickly there as anywhere else. If it don't end, I'd rather be there with the little ones, anyway."

Sheriff Davis, who is ex-officio county tax collector, has made arrangements with the banks at Iowa Park, Electra and Burkburnett, whereby persons living in those communities may pay their taxes at the banks without having to make a trip to this city.

The following item has been going the rounds of the press over the State:

"Mr. Brown keeps a boarding house. Around his table sat his wife, Mrs. Brown, the village milliner, Mrs. Andrews; Mr. Black, the baker; Mr. Jourdan, a carpenter; and Mr. Hadley, flour, feed and lumber merchant. Mr. Brown took $10 out of his pocket book and handed it to Mrs. Brown with the remark that there was $10 toward the $20 he promised her. Mrs. Brown handed the bill to Mrs. Andrews, the milliner, saying: "That pays for my new bonnet." Mrs. Andrews in turn handed it to Mr. Jordan, remarking that it would pay for the carpenter work he had done for her. Mr. Jordan handed it to Mr. Hadley, requesting his receipted bill for flour, feed and lumber. Mr. Hadley gave the bill to Mr. Brown, saying: "That pays $10 on my board." Mr. Brown again passed it to Mrs. Brown, remarking that he had paid her the $20 he had promised her. She in turn paid Mr. Black to settle her bread and pastry account; Mr. Black handed it to Mr. Hadley, asking credit for the amount on his flour bill. Mr. Hadley again returned it to Mr. Brown with the remark that it settled for his month's board, whereupon Mr. Brown put it back into his pocket, observing that he had not supposed a green-back would go so far.

But suppose Mrs. Brown had sent to a mail order house for her new bonnet? Then the $10 would have gone out of town and never come back. —Ex. Moral—Spend your money at home."

The water tank between the Fort Worth and Denver and Katy railroads, south of town, was the scene of a merry picnic Wednesday evening. Among the party were Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Montgomery, Mr. and Mrs. Woodward, the Misses Orth, Gorsline, Babcock, and Mary and Flora Anderson and the Messrs. Greenwood, McCutchen, Colgen, Man and Walker.

Acting Postmaster Ralph Darnell is wearing several yards of bandage about the index finger of his right hand. Mr. Darnell was out picnicing with some friends Tuesday and while shooting at a target happened to get his finger over the muzzle of the gun, with the result of getting a bullet hole through that member.

IT'S DERISION, NOT DECAY.

C. E. Gilmore, of the Wills Point Chronicle, was florial representative in the late imbroiglio courteously referred to as the Thirtieth Legislature. Mr. Gilmore is now back in Van Zandt at the more useful occupation of conducting a real good newspaper such as the Chronicle has always been. However, he attempts to justify the acts of the last legislature, as follows:

All the proposed amendments to the State Constitution, save the one providing for a home for the wives and widows of Confederate soldiers, were defeated last Tuesday. The only thing that saved the Confederate amendment was the unanimous sentiment according to the veterans all the State can possibly do for them, but even this amendment was defeated by a large majority in some counties and the majority in the State—and it requires only a majority of all the votes cast to adopt an amendment to the Constitution—will not be so large as it should have been. The vote was exceedingly light, giving unmistakable evidence that there is precious little interest in governmental affairs on the part of the people, and the overwhelming defeat of some of the amendments shows a large number of those who voted refused to inform themselves as to the intent of the amendments. It is a well known fact that many people refuse to vote for any kind of a Constitutional amendment, voting against them on general principles. Thoughtful consideration of this state of affairs naturally creates alarm, for decay must of necessity be the end of any government whose people refuse to think or act on government questions of such nature as changing the Constitution.

To this the Lone Oak News replies: Not only some counties, but many towns voted almost solidly against each of the proposed amendments. We regret to say that even the Confederate amendment was badly beaten at the Lone Oak box. The truth is, prejudice against the Thirtieth legislature ran so high that it was almost impossible to get some voters to listen to any argument in favor of any one of the amendments. Before the day of election this editor endeavored to convince some good men of the justice of at least two of the amendments notably the Confederate and the right of counties and precincts to levy a road tax—being adopted, but it was no use. The reply to us invariably was prompt and positive: "I vote for nothing proposed by the Thirtieth legislature."

House famines are good indications of a town's prosperity. The "for rent" sign is no longer an eye-sore in Wichita Falls. In fact, people wear the soles of their shoes off trying to find houses to rent here. The contractors' records show that more than fifty dwellings are now in the course of construction and that more than one hundred have been put up and finished since January 1st. And yet rents are too high. In fact, in a few instances, prices that amount almost to extortion are asked for rent houses. The way to bring rents down is to build more houses and this is being done.

There is considerable talk of calling an extra session of the Thirtieth Legislature to consider the passage of a 2-cent passenger fare rate on all roads in Texas. If this could be done, the people of Texas—those who pay their railway fares—will have something to thank the members of that law-making body for.

Today is show day and all the children should go, even if their parents do have to tear themselves away from their homes and businesses long enough to accompany their offsprings. Those who have no children can borrow one or two for the occasion.

Death in a New Guise.

In a little village on the Hungarian frontier not far from Presburg a peasant woman recently received 400 kronen ($85) from her husband in America. She promptly deposited it in the local branch of the postoffice savings bank and then the next day went to withdraw the whole amount. The bank official was somewhat surprised and asked for an explanation, when she said that Death had appeared to her during the night and threatened to take her away with him unless she had the 400 kronen ready for him the next night. The gendarmerie were communicated with, and when Death made his promised appearance he was found to be very much alive in the person of the local judge. The woman's money, adds our Vienna correspondent who sends the story, is still in the bank, and the judge is in jail.—Paris Mail Gazette.

Danmark Original of Thule?

Was Denmark the original Thule, the world's end land of the ancients, beyond which lay only the Sluggish sea? Pytheas of Massilia, who was about contemporary with Alexander the Great, is believed by some to have referred to what we now know as Iceland by this name; but, as there is nothing to show that Pytheas had visited Thule himself, he was probably rather vague about it. Since he seems to have represented it as a land of the midnight sun, others have identified it as Iceland or even Greenland, and the Thule of the Irish monks of the sixth century A. D. was certainly Iceland. But the Thule of Tacitus, which lay near the Orkney islands, must have been part of the Shetlands.—London Chronicle.

It is really a serious reflection upon Wall Stret that prosecutions for criminal practices should produce a panic.—Atlanta Journal.

SHOCKING ACCIDENT.

corner of Eighth street and Scott avenue, he turned the machine in a direction which he thought he could with safety turn east on Eighth street, but to his horror he saw a lady crossing the street just in front of him, and she was pushing a baby buggy. That he fixed his whole attention on a plan quickly formed to keep from running over them and shouted at the top of his voice to the lady to look out, that she did not seem to hear him and that he was forced to turn in another direction to keep from running over them, and in doing this did not see the lady and little girl until just before the machine struck them. It was all done so quick that he hardly realized what had happened and just as quick as he could command his thoughts he asked someone to telephone for a doctor, but this had already been done.

The hand of Miss Smith remained in the wheel or drive chain after she had been taken from under it, and as soon as this was removed Mr. Lysaght sent for the officers to take charge of the machine and himself. He accompanied them to the City Hall and gave bond for his appearance in court to answer for any charge that may be preferred against him.

In talking to the Times reporter shortly after the accident, Mr. Lysaght broke down and cried like a child. He seemed to regret it deeply—as much so as if the victim had been of his own flesh and blood.

He was driven to his home by friends, and from there called up Dr. Miller, who was called to attend the injuries of Miss Smith, and gave instructions for him to spare no expense in trying to alleviate her sufferings, and that if necessary to have her taken to the hospital at Fort Worth on a special train where she could receive better attention, perhaps, than it is possible to obtain here.

Dr. Miller, however, did not think this necessary, and thought that, with the assistance of other local physicians, he could do all that is necessary to be done.

Deaf Mutes to Have a Church in North Fort Worth.

Fort Worth, Tex., Aug. 29.—North Fort Worth is to be the home of an institution that is not only entirely unique in its conception, but is the only thing of its kind in the United States and possibly in the world. It is a church—but such a church—no carefully worded flights of eloquence will soar out over the audience from the pulpit—no music will call the worshippers to divine service—the audience will not indulge in audible conversation prior to the opening hymn—in fact, a death-like silence will pervade the entire house of worship, the only noise being the shuffling of feet as the congregation take and leave their seats.

In other words, a church for the deaf people is being planned, and actual construction work will be begun early in September. A pastor who will expound the holy word to his congregation in the sign language is already secured—one of about four in the United States. Part of the money necessary to defray the expenses of building the church has been secured, and October should see the silent congregation worshipping in peace where, before they could but gather in their brethren's houses on those rare occasions when a circuit preacher was able to reach them on his rounds.

H. B. Pool gave the following written interview of the plan:

"There are about fifty deaf mutes in North Fort Worth, about thirty-two of this number being men, the balance women and children. They work at nearly all kinds of trades, and most of them own their own homes. The church will be built for the different denominations, and will be so named that all denominations will be pleased to help in the good work. The name of the church has not yet been decided upon.

"The money will be raised by contributions. We already have contributed $400 among ourselves and have deposited it in the bank. Considering our small number, this amount speaks for itself. Our hearing brethren have helped us to the extent of about $150.

"The clergyman conducts the service in the sign language and finger spelling, which every educated or uneducated deaf mute in the United States understands. Our clergyman can preach as good a sermon as any other preacher, the only difference being in the manner of delivery of their sermons. Either way is just as effective. Any deaf and dumb preacher who happens to be in Fort Worth will preach to us. There are only three or four of these preachers in the United States and they are always on the circuit.

"Our preacher is Rev. J. W. Michaels, of Little Rock, Ark. He was the principal of the school there for twenty years, but resigned last year to take up the ministry. He will be here about September 1st to begin the construction of our church. The funds are in sufficient at present, but we hope to raise enough by contributions to build a church costing $1,000 or $1,200.

"On a day to be decided later we will break ground for the church and we want everybody to be present. Speeches will be made by our pastors and others not yet decided upon.

"This church will be the only one of its kind in the United States and possibly in the world. Texas in general and Fort Worth in particular should be proud to have the church, and should help us liberally in building it. We have a lot at the corner of Lincoln and Park avenues, donated by the North Fort Worth Townsite Company. Our preacher has bought a lot adjoining and may move here some day."

The building is to be a frame structure, with all modern conveniences. Mr. Pool is receiving the contributions at present, during the sickness of J. G. Woolverton, the regular secretary.

Rising Ball Player Sick at Sherman.

The sad report has just reached us that young Touchstone, the Trinity College twirler who came here with Wichita Falls, and who has pitched some very fast ball for the last two or three years, is very low with the fever at his home in Sherman and is hardly expected to live. Touchstone, it will be remembered, left the Wichita Falls team and joined the Midland Colts. While at Midland, he became ill and left for his home to recuperate. He got worse, however, and his case was pronounced to be typhoid fever. It is thought that the gyp water at Midland caused a weakening of his constitution and made him an easy prey to the typhoid germs.—Ablene Reporter.

Shooting Tournament One of the Best Of the Season.

The three days shooting tournament given by the Wichita Falls gun club were brought to a close yesterday afternoon. The tournament is pronounced by all visitors to be the best and most successful event of its kind that has been held in the State this season and some very high scores were made both by professional and amateur shots.

The tournament opened on Monday afternoon with a preliminary shoot in which there were many contestants.

On Tuesday morning the contest was opened for the prize money.

Five professional shots—F. Farote, Wilcox, Wade, Murrelle and Jackson, representing some of the leading cartridge companies of the country—participated in the tournament, but their scores were not considered in the contest for the prizes.

Scores of Tuesday's Shoot.

Taft and Tariff Revision.

"The paramount weakness of Mr. Roosevelt's administration," says the Washington Herald, "is its failure to deal with this question of the tariff. Four years ago the republicans were saying that the tariff was to be revised—revised by its friends—after the election of 1904. All this we vividly recall. But the years have passed, and the situation today is the same as in 1903. Again we are promised—Mr. Taft being the spokesman—that the burdensome Dingley rates will be altered, after the election of 1908. Will the promise this time be kept? Possibly, in the event that Taft reaches the White House; yet nobody can tell for a certainty so long as Uncle Joe occupies the speaker's chair and Mr. John Dalzell remains so vigilantly on guard in the house and Mr. Aldrich in the senate."

The republican willingness to revise the tariff is merely a nebulous suggestion held out before a presidential election to influence the Western republicans and keep them in good humor. After an election, when the republican party is successful, it is stated that the vote shows the people are in favor of continuing the high protection scheme of the Dingley law. Then the whole question is permitted to drop until the off year congressional elections and then something more is said about the revision of the tariff "by its friends."

Mr. Taft at Columbus gave a more positive assurance of tariff revision after the next election than any of his republican associates have yet given but nevertheless his pledge lacked that degree of positivity requisite to convince tariff reform people, after the consistent flim-flamming to which they have been subjected for some eight years. But Mr. Taft will not be able to make his race upon his Columbus generalizations. He may depend upon it that Foraker will compel him to come out and inform the Ohio wool growers what he proposes to do with the wool tariff; the steel trust will compel him to say what he will do with the iron and steel schedules; the oil trust will desire to know his policy as regards the oil schedule, and so on down the line.

Mr. Taft will not be able to promise the wool growers impunity from tariff scaling without drawing the fire from other interests which he proposes to deprive of their protection. He will have to outline a general scheme of alleged tariff reform protection.

Such is bound to be the case where a man declares for moderate revision and the maintenance of the protective principle. The democrats are in no such dilemma. They can declare for tariff for revenue only and declare for the fair treatment of all interests in adjusting the tariff to a revenue basis—a far more satisfactory plan than Taft's, which embraces protection as its primal basis.

Then what? Suppose for instance that the democrats should be successful—a far-fetched supposition, perhaps, but surprises happen. Where would Taft and his revisionists stand? Would they join the real tariff reformers in an effort to abate the abuses of protection? We fear not. All republican tariff reform is unmitigated nonsense and a bluff that ought never to fool an intelligent voter.—Houston Post.

Referred to the Henrietta Review.

What's the matter with the Henrietta road? Archer City is not hearing anything about it, must be something wrong somewhere. The Henrietta road will have to get a move on if it gets to Archer City before the Wichita Falls and Southern, as they have already laid off plans for the switch track. The Wichita Falls and Southern is a sure thing now, so let us hear something from the Henrietta road. Archer City needs it.—Archer City Reporter.

—AT LAST!

We have been trying for a good while to buy some genuine Sockeye Salmon, but each time they have turned out to be Alaska Reds or something else. But this week we have received a shipment of

Unicorn Genuine Sockeye Salmon!

You know the kind--hard, firm, bright red, oily meat. It's been a long time since you have seen any, as the catch has been nearly an entire failure for a number of years. We also received in the same shipment Premier Columbia River Salmon Steak in one and one-half pound cans—the very best Columbia River Salmon Packed. So it's a sure shot we can suit you in High Grade Salmon. We have also received some of Poter & Writington's Boston Brown Bread in number three cans. Not "like Mother used to make," she couldn't make it, but the kind you have heard your father tell that HIS mother made. Take OUR word for it—it's Good. Among other new arrivals—Richardson and Robbins Plum Pudding Sauce. (We also have the Plum Pudding). If it's good to eat and on the market we have it. :: :: :: :: ::
