

A VICTORY FOR KELL

JUDGE GILLETTE HAS RENDERED DECISION.

CAN OCCUPY LEASEHOLDS

And Proceed With Building Operations Undisturbed.

Word from an authoritative source has reached this city that Judge Gillette at Anadarko has rendered a decision in the Kell injunction suit favoring the defendants, the Wichita Falls and Northwestern railway company, John W. Fields and the citizens of the townsite of Kell.

Under the decision of Judge Gillette, the defendants will be permitted to occupy their leaseholds undisturbed and can proceed with their building operations and other improvements practically as they could in Wichita Falls.

It will be remembered that a temporary injunction was issued several months ago restraining building operations in Kell and the occupying of leaseholds. This restraining order was subsequently modified and the hearing of the injunction was held in the Federal court at Anadarko on Monday of this week.

There has been much rivalry between the government town of Eschitt and the railroad town of Kell. Arrangements are now under consideration, it is said, which will be mutually advantageous to both towns.

TAFT WAS INDORSED

By the Nebraska Republicans and His Friends are Highly Pleased.

By Associated Press. Columbus, Ohio, Sept. 25.—A. I. Vorhes, manager for Secretary Taft, gave out the following statement today:

"The indorsement of Secretary Taft by the Nebraska Republican State convention is extremely gratifying. It is responsive to the overwhelming sentiment prevailing not only in that State, but everywhere. While Kansas has indorsed Taft through its Republican State committee, Nebraska is the first to indorse him through a State convention and the Nebraska convention is the first of any outside the favorite States to take any action in the presidency."

GOEBEL'S BROTHER DENIES THE STORY

By Associated Press. Phoenix, Ariz., Sept. 25.—Justus Goebel, brother of the late governor of Kentucky, residing in Phoenix, in commenting on the affidavit made by the woman in Richmond, Ind., who alleges that Governor Goebel was killed by Turner Igo at the instigation of a son of John Sanford, says the story is a pure falsification. He says the facts as set forth in the affidavit are so at variance with the proved facts, that they cannot be considered. He denies that the prosecution of any person is a political persecution.

THE LOST TRANSFER BOOKS.

General Auditor Says They Were Never in His Office.

By Associated Press. New York, Sept. 25.—Wade Hampton, general auditor of the Standard Oil Company, was again on the witness stand a few moments today when the hearing in the Federal action for the dissolution of the oil combine was resumed. After testifying that he audited all departments of the Standard Oil Company, and stating that the books showing the transfer of the certificates and of the stock buying during the liquidating periods were never kept in his office, he was excused by Mr. Kellogg, who said he would likely call Mr. Hampton again.

The Purchase of the Corsicana Co.

P. C. Folger, a director of the Union Tank Line, told how he and C. M. Payne bought the Corsicana Oil Company of Texas with funds furnished by the National Transit Company, a Standard subsidiary, and held the stock in their names until 1896, when they purchased the stock from the National Transit Company because of anti-trust legislation. Folger says the agreement to buy the Corsicana company was made verbally with John D. Archibald. The witness testified that the management of the Corsicana company had continued unchanged and that its accounts were forwarded to Mr. Chesborough at 26 Broadway, New York, headquarters of the Standard Oil Company.

MARKED INTEREST IN SEC. TAFT'S TOUR

By Associated Press. St. Petersburg, Russia, Sept. 25.—Secretary Taft's tour of the world is being followed with unusual interest here. The government is taking measures to surround his journey through Siberia and European Russia with attentions usually observed for rulers of States, and the press is busily speculating on the likelihood and advantages of a Russian-American convention, the object of Taft's visit to Europe being, it is alleged, to negotiate arrangements between the United States and Russia. The conviction prevails here that war between Japan and the United States is inevitable in the no distant future. In an article today on the New World power, the Novoe Vremya says that America is about to challenge her rival for the throne of the Pacific.

FINED FOR FAST MOVING.

Prominent Citizens of Weatherford Pay $12.35 Each.

Weatherford, Tex., Sept. 23.—Many complaints have been made recently by pedestrians and others who do not like to be kept in terror on the commonwealth's highways, against the terrific speed maintained by certain owners and drivers of automobiles and fast horses, who have been wont to dash down the principal streets and flash around sharp corners on narrow streets in their high-g geared machines, or perchance never draw rein or slacken speed behind their high-steppers. And all regardless of the town ordinances against fast driving and the State laws regulating the speed of automobiles. A number of protests were voiced in the local press by various citizens, but all to no avail. Consequently, two of Weatherford's most prominent citizens were haled before Mayor Miller by the chief of police and a charge of fast driving entered against them. The gentlemen stood for a plea of guilty and they were assessed a fine of $12.35 each. The mayor declares he will stop the practice and compel obedience to the laws.

BIG RAILROAD MERGER

Made Possible Through Immunity to Alton in Rebate Case.

By Associated Press. Chicago, Ill., Sept. 25.—The Inter-Ocean today says that the granting of immunity to the Chicago and Alton railroad for paying rebates to the Standard Oil Company removes any obstacle to the ratification of the sale by the Rock Island railroad of the controlling interest in the Alton to Toledo, St. Louis and Western or Clover Leaf railroad, and the consolidation ultimately of the Alton, Clover Leaf, Minneapolis and St. Louis, and the Iowa Central railroads.

MUCH COTTON BROUGHT TO GINS

Cotton is selling in the local market at prices ranging from 4.00 to 4.15 in the seed and from 11 to 11 1/4 cents in the lint. Not much cotton is being sold at these prices, as the farmers are showing a disposition to hold it for higher prices.

Nearly seventy-five bales were brought into the city yesterday for ginning and nearly that much will be brought in today. The gins at Iowa Park, Byers and Holliday report large receipts this week.

VOLCANIC DISTURBANCES

Create New Mountain Peak and Raise Ocean Bed.

By Associated Press. Seattle, Wash., Sept. 25.—Capt. A. J. Henderson of the revenue cutter Thetis, who arrived here yesterday from an Arctic expedition, confirms with official reports the accounts of a violent eruption of Mount Makupin on September 1st and the existence of a new peak rising from the sea and forming a part of the Bogoslov formation. The bottom of the ocean has raised until channels formerly sufficiently large for the passage of ships are now dry land. The reports made to Capt. Henderson in the North state that three similar volcanic disturbances occurred along the Alaska coast during the summer.

TAKING TESTIMONY IN BORAH TRIAL

By Associated Press. Boise, Idaho, Sept. 25.—The government today began the introduction of testimony in support of the charge that Senator William E. Borah, in conspiracy with twelve other persons, defrauded the United States out of the titles to 108 timber tracts of 160 acres each in central Idaho. Much of the testimony, it is declared, will be documentary. Other phases of it will come from men who will confess they swore falsely in taking out timber claims.

Fraudulent Papers Introduced. The entire morning session of the court was taken up with the introduction in evidence of thirty-one sections of alleged fraudulent papers filed in the land office by dummy entrymen, who afterwards turned their claims over to the Barber Lumber Company. S. R. Ruhs of Omaha, special assistant to the attorney general of the United States, has charge of the introduction of this testimony and read some of the papers to the jury.

For drinking whiskey on a passenger train and using abusive language, Z. J. Steen of Dundee was arrested by Deputy Sheriff Harve Stearns near the passenger station this afternoon. Steen was aboard the outgoing Valley passenger. At first he was requested to be quiet by Conductor Smith, but when he began to use abusive language and defy the conductor Uncle Harve was called and placed Steen under arrest. Steen gave bond for his appearance in court here to answer the charge and was allowed his liberty.

WOULD OUST TWO

SUITS AGAINST WESTERN UNION AND PULLMAN COMPANIES.

ASKING PERMIT FEES

Courts Also Petitioned to Force Payment of $100,000 From Each Concern.

Austin, Tex., Sept. 24.—Attorney General Davidson today instituted suit to oust the Western Union and Pullman companies from Texas and to require each company to pay $100,000 due the State as permit fees, that being the amount of tax based on their respective capitals of $1,000,000. The suit against the Pullman company is in the Twenty-Sixth District Court, Judge Brooks, and that against the Western Union before Judge Calhoun in the Fifty-Third District Court. Attorney Claude Pollard brought the suits and said this evening that if the companies will pay the required tax and present the permit in court, the suits will be dismissed, provided the defendants pay the court costs. He said the idea is to compel the payment of the tax, and if that is refused, to oust the companies from Texas.

The suits are based on the fact that the companies have no permits to operate in Texas and have never had any. Both claim to be interstate organizations, and say permits are not required.

The Western Union has taken the position that it should be required to pay permit fees only on the Texas pro rata of the capital stock and not on the entire one million of capital stock; that if taxation should accrue on the entire amount of capital stock, such taxation would be many times duplicated, would prove oppressive and that it would be confiscatory.

Petitions are Almost Identical.

The petitions are almost identical, except insofar as they describe the property and general business of the two concerns. The Pullman petition is somewhat longer than the other, but the allegations are practically the same. It recites that the principal office of the Pullman company is in Illinois, and that it has operated sleeping parlor and dining cars in Texas, and without a permit. In all other respects the petitions are practically the same.

FIRE AND ROBBERY.

The agent discovered the loss upon opening the drawer. One man has been arrested.

Steamer Badly Damaged.

By Associated Press. Halifax, N. S., Sept. 25.—The Allen line steamer Mongolla, which was in the collision with the steamer Hurona Sunday in the vicinity of the Straits of Belle Isle, was so seriously damaged that she is compelled to return to Quebec. The Hurona is also returning.

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT LEAVES OYSTER BAY

By Associated Press. Oyster Bay, N. Y., Sept. 25.—President Roosevelt began his journey to Washington at 10 o'clock this morning, ending his summer vacation, which began on June 12th. The trip from Jersey City was made in a special train in which the president will make his western trip, on which he starts next Sunday, accompanied by Mrs. Roosevelt, Miss Ethel and Quentin. The leave-taking at Oyster Bay was a typical scene. The villagers gathered at the station and many shook the president's hand. He heartily expressed pleasure at seeing his neighbors.

WAS SHERMAN MAN

CLEW TO IDENTITY OF THE BODY FOUND IN DENVER TANK.

COMING TO INVESTIGATE

Son of the Man Who Left Sherman Two Weeks Ago Believes Dead Man His Father.

It is now believed that the identity of the dead man found in the Denver tank on September 16th will soon be established. G. L. Wagner, clerk at the St. James hotel, was called up over the long distance telephone this morning by J. F. Madden, who conducts a plumbing establishment at Sherman.

Mr. Madden wanted to know the particulars concerning the finding of the body. Mr. Madden had in his employ, he explained, a young man named Koriath, this being the name in the watch found upon the body of the dead man. Young Koriath's father left Sherman about two weeks ago to visit another son, who lives at a small town near Chillicothe. Nothing has been heard from him since he left Sherman and it is believed that he is the man whose body was found here.

Young Koriath, Mr. Madden stated, would leave Sherman on the first train for Wichita Falls to investigate the matter.

The Gospel Meetings.

The services continue and souls are being saved. While the larger number are going to the carnival, yet we have good audiences and are doing the best we can. If souls will go on heedless of all the warnings God has and is giving them, they must be lost. "My people must be a willing people in the day of My power." God will not force man, but will only use persuasion and appeal to his higher and better nature, and he can shut his eyes to the light and stop his ears to the truth and go on in sin and be lost.

CHAIRMAN NEW FOR TAFT.

Head of Republican National Committee Antagonistic to Fairbanks.

New York, Sept. 25.—Harry S. New, chairman of the republican national committee, an Indiana man from the top of his head to the soles of his patent leathers, has been in New York city, and it was learned yesterday, says the Sun, that personally he is for the nomination for president of Secretary Taft. Mr. New holds his place as chairman of the national committee and is to retain it in December, when the committee meets at Washington to name a time and place for the National convention, and from that time until the gathering of the national convention by the grace of President Roosevelt and the president's friends.

Mr. New's friends said yesterday that he was personally antagonistic to Vice President Fairbanks, but that the vice president would, without the slightest doubt, go into the national convention with a solid delegation from Indiana at his back.

According to members of the republican national committee in town yesterday, the Knox boom has not materialized. In their judgment there was a good deal to be said about a ticket running "Cannon and Hughes" and it seems that Speaker Cannon's friends still believe that Governor Hughes would accept second place on the ticket to be headed by the speaker.

Cannon Needs Robust Mate.

"It isn't very nice to speak in cold-blooded fashion about matters of this kind," said one of the speakers intimate friends, "but he is 73 years old and, while he presided with Elihu Root in 1904 at the Roosevelt convention just as briskly as Mr. Root, it must be remembered that the republican party must provide a robust candidate for vice president."

Senator Dick of Ohio is to be in New York City within a few days and Vice President Fairbanks' political representatives from Indiana are to be in town. Secretary Taft, before his departure for the Orient, believed that he would have the solid support of Missouri in the republican national convention. This was disputed yesterday and the statement was made by those supposed to be familiar with the Missouri situation that there is a combination being made in that State which is not entirely friendly to President Roosevelt or to his most prominent candidate, Secretary Taft.

Governor Hughes, it was stated by the republican national committee-man here yesterday, had strength in Indiana, Missouri and Ohio, and it was added by these people that President Roosevelt, a New York State man, would have difficulty in controlling a New York delegation for an Ohio man like Secretary Taft as against Governor Hughes, a New York State man.

It has been rumored that Dr. H. A. Waller would give up the practice of dentistry and engage in the show business. Dr. Waller emphatically states that this rumor is without foundation. He wishes it to be understood that his dental office will be open from 8:30 a. m. until 5 p. m. 365 days in the year and that he will be ready to treat any dental case that is brought to him.

Do You Know That Coffee is a Valuable Food as Well as Drink?

Coffee is more often that of a drink than a food, but it has a very distinct value as a food.

The coffee berry is one mass of little cells which contain a rich aromatic oil.

It is this oil which, after the coffee berry is properly roasted, produces the coffee flavor and this oil also has a food value, for it enriches the blood and feeds the nerves, giving them a gentle stimulation which is especially beneficial these cool mornings.

The important thing to remember tho' is that this oil is of no value as food until it is properly developed by roasting, just the same as unbaked flour is unfit for food.

And coffee roasting is a very difficult process, requiring great skill which accounts for the large number of inferior grades of coffee on the market today.

Spurr's Mocha and Java Coffee is the result of years of careful and close study of the coffee business from the plantation to the consumer, and our constantly increasing sales prove to us that it is satisfying the public taste.

DUTCH TEARS.

Peculiar Qualities of These Little Globules of Glass.

"It is a great wonder to me," said an old chemist, "why more boys do not take up chemical experiments as an amusement. Why, I can do things with the common materials of everyday life which really seem to be more magical to the uninitiated than any of the wonders that are ordinarily performed by magicians on the public stage. Some of them are so simple that by carrying them out at a parlor entertainment a bright boy could achieve the reputation of a magician. Now, there are those curious little bubbles of glass known variously as 'Prince Rupert's drops' and as 'Dutch tears.' Apparently they are merely little globules of glass with elongated tails made by heating a small glass rod in a flame and allowing the molten drops to fall into water. After they have cooled you may pound the thick part with a hammer or mallet, yet you cannot break them. On the other hand, if you break a little piece off their tails or touch any part of them with a quartz crystal they will disappear into the surrounding atmosphere quicker than snow will melt on a hot fire. To the person who doesn't know how this has happened the performance is so astonishing as to seem uncanny.—London Globe.

Literary Tenants of Islington Tower. Canonbury tower in Islington, now encompassed by London streets, is all that's left of the priory of the canons of St. Bartholomew, which once stood in the midst of a "pleasance," as they used to call such private parks. In the days subsequent to its monastic history many persons of literary fame were tenants of the tower, among them Ephraim Chambers, originator of the modern encyclopedia; Speaker Onslow of the Georgian era; Woodfall, the printer of the "Junius" letters; the famous publisher Mr. Newbery (whose children's books are so well known), and also Oliver Goldsmith. Islington was a rural suburb, with pleasant country lanes, in which Charles Lamb dwelt and where he accomplished the feat of tiring out a dog in a persistent walk.—Westminster Gazette.

DO NOT MOLEST NEIGHBOR'S PECANS

There is a new law on the statute books of Texas which forbids the gathering of pecans on the land of another, such action being a misdemeanor and punishable by a heavy fine.

As Parker county has been blessed with a good crop of pecans this year and the nuts will soon be ready for gathering, parents should caution their children about gathering pecans on any man's land without his permission.

There are a number of land owners who will invoke the protection of the law, if there is any depredating.

The Press Should Be Consistent.

The American Newspaper Publishers' association, in advocating the removal of the duty on wood pulp and other materials which enter into the manufacture of paper, will no doubt obtain the earnest support of all the newspapers having membership in the association. The Washington Herald is one of the first to open its batteries on the trust, and it hands out this sound doctrine:

"The American public, no less than the American publishers, have something to gain by this proceeding against the white paper trust. The pocket of the press is touched—seriously touched—by the operation of a tariff law that likewise is oppressing people in almost every walk of life. While seriously deploring the situation confronting the newspapers of the land, all of them, it is easy to see that good may come out of it for the public at large. An object lesson close at home is the speediest and surest medium to cure or correct an existing evil. The press today has that object lesson.

"A conspiracy in restraint of trade by the white paper trust is made possible by the high—almost prohibitive—duty on Canadian paper and wood pulp and it is encouraging to see the publishers unite in a demand for the removal of that duty. Although at this time more aggravated, the situation is by no means new. Tariff legislation on this point—no more, however, than on other points—has been imperatively needed for years. American publishers have been keenly alive to this need. But the compilation of politics has stood in the way of concerted action and so the newspapers have come to suffer from their own shortsightedness."

The Post and its readers, like the Herald and its readers, are sufferers from the greed of the paper trust, and it favors the extension of the free list to curtail the power of the trust to rob its patrons. But we pause to ask: Are the American newspapers going to importune congress to grant them the privileges of the free list and remain silent upon the numerous instances where trusts are enabled to rob the consumers of the United States? Must we ask for ourselves a measure of relief that we are not willing that others, equally oppressed, should enjoy?

Many members of the American Publishers' Association are staunch advocates of the existing tariff. They have now placed themselves in the attitude of stand-patting for everybody but themselves. Is that consistent? Can they expect to influence congress by appealing selfishly for their own relief, and yet ignore the body of American consumers who are asking similar relief?

The oil trust, the harvester trust, the sewing machine trust, the steel trust and numerous other combinations are protected by exorbitant duties. Shall the press demand free wood pulp and paper-making materials and remain silent with respect to other protected monopolies?

Let the press demand justice for itself, but it will be the limit of inconsistency to ignore other oppressive features of the Dingley law.—Houston Post.

THE SOLAR SYSTEM.

Whence It Comes and Whither It Goes No One Knows.

The solar system is well enough when picturesquely expounded, but when the solar system becomes a mere atom traveling some 400,000,000 of miles per annum toward some inconceivable goal, and when millions of similar systems have to be contemplated, all pursuing some similar course, the lay imagination is completely baffled.

Nor is it easy to believe that the most eager astronomer is not sometimes perplexed and dismayed by the vistas opened up before him. For everything he learns merely opens up vaster problems, and when he has extended his vision to stars from which light would take 2,000 years to reach this earth he is no nearer finally than the child who thinks the sky but a spectacle of revolving lights.

We are told that the heavens as we see them are occupied by two great streams of stars moving in opposite directions. That suggests at least two centers of revolution at some unimaginable distance and adds to our achining embarrassment. We ask: Whence? Whither? And with all our science there is no answer.—London Times.

Wichita Falls, Texas, Sept. 25th, 1907.

In a well prepared article which appeared in the Fort Worth Record of the 25th, Hon. J. G. Witherspoon, who represents this district in the lower house of the Texas legislature, takes the position that the interests of Texas will suffer if railroads are forced to lower passenger rates from three to two cents per mile, basing his argument on the mileage of roadbed in Texas, the earnings of the roads per mile for the year 1906, as compared with the mileage and earnings per mile of railroads in the States of Indiana, Missouri, Ohio, Kansas, Georgia, Arkansas, Oklahoma, Pennsylvania and Alabama, in all of which States the earnings per mile of railroads, according to the figures furnished by Mr. Witherspoon, range between $2,000 and $9,000. The figures show for the same period in Texas the earnings of railroads per mile was only $1,243.12. All the States above mentioned, have or are now preparing to reduce passenger rates. The Times is not in a position to dispute these figures, but granting they are correct, it is still of the opinion that since the enactment of the anti-pass law the railroads can well afford to make a reduction in passenger fares. The mere fact that Texas roads make such a very poor showing in earnings per mile for the year 1906, as compared with other States, is evidence that the roads were loading entirely too many free passes. Now that the anti-pass law protects the roads from this evil (which, in the opinion of many, was one from which they did not desire protection), every one who rides must pay car fare or walk, and if the railroads obey the law, there can be but little doubt their earnings per mile of track will be greatly increased. In fact, in States which have made laws forcing the roads to reduce passenger fares from three cents to two cents per mile, the people were not long in finding out they could now ride one-third further for the same money than they could before the law was enacted and in many instances the increase in passenger traffic was so great that the roads were forced to invest in additional equipment in order to accommodate the increase in that line of their business, due solely to the reduction in passenger fares. These are facts that can be substantiated. Texas is ready for a reduction in passenger fares, Mr. Witherspoon, and unless the railway commission makes this reduction now, the next legislature to be elected by the people will not have more than 10 per cent of its members who will oppose such a measure.

Under ordinary circumstances it is not only more pleasant and comfortable, but safer to travel in a Pullman car, but the heretofore popular phrase that "a Pullman car ticket is equal to an accident policy" has suffered to some extent at least. These cars are heavily constructed, and ride much easier than the ordinary railroad coach but it must be remembered that any road which has heavy rolling stock and equipment should keep the roadbed in good repair. In the accident near Vernon on the "Denver" three weeks ago, the entire train with the exception of the heavy Pullmans passed over the piece of defective roadbed with safety, but when the Pullmans struck this piece of rotten track they not only left it, but turned over twice, and some say three times before they stopped. Of the twenty-five passengers who were injured, some are yet in the hospitals at Fort Worth, though at the time of the accident the railroad officials denied most positively that anyone had received serious injuries. If more attention is not given to keeping up roadbeds on some of the roads doing business in Texas, they will soon be in such bad repair that it will not be safe for an ordinary street car to pass over them. If the street car to pass over them.

CHAMPS ELYSEES.

Paris Has the Most Light Hearted Street in the World.

From the Avenue des Champs Elysees to the Boulevard des Capucines in Paris is but a step, but there the tune is even merrier. It is a place of noises, blare, glare, the perfume of women, the raucous honk-honk of automobile horns, by day the street of costly shops, by night the promenade in chief of his most Satanic majesty. It is at its best—or worst—in February, during Mi Carême, when the air is thick with confetti and the denizens of the boulevards are beside themselves. No use then to sit at one of the little tables on the sidewalk, thinking to sip your bock while you enjoy the swiftly changing panorama of the festival. In a moment you would find the bock a porridge of confetti; your hat jammed over your ears; the chair jerked from under you and your erstwhile happy self flat on your back. It is marvelous, the penetrating quality of confetti! I have shaken it out of my innermost pockets; out of my shoes. I have even found it in my socks and hobnobbing with the fringes in my purse. It fits everywhere, and when Mi Carême is over the streets are thick with it, a multicolored snow. You buy it at so many sous the package from vendors on the boulevards, until the desire for more of it becomes an obsession.—Aubrey Lanston in Bohemian.

A Brave Briton.

When the attack was made on Sidon, during the war with Syria, it became necessary for the British troops to advance across a long, unprotected bridge in the face of a battery of six guns, which completely commanded the approach. The men were unwilling to expose themselves to certain death, when Arthur Cumming, carefully dressed in full uniform, stepped forward to the middle of the bridge. It was immediately swept by the fire of the battery. When the smoke had rolled away, there stood Cumming intact, carefully brushing the dust from his boots, after which he stood erect, fired a single glass in his eye and looked back at the men. This was too much, and they captured that bridge and battery with a whoop.

The Matterhorn.
Many mountains which long enjoyed a reputation of being absolutely unclimbable are now considered as almost ordinary excursions. The Matterhorn for many years repulsed men who were among the foremost mountaineers of the day. Professor Tyndall and Edward Whymper were felled on more than a dozen occasions. But on July 15, 1865, with Lord Francis Douglas, Hudson and Hadow, Mr. Whymper eventually reached the summit, and it was in descending that the fatal slip occurred which cost the lives of his three English companions as well as of Michel Croz, one of the most competent of Swiss guides. Nowadays the peak is constantly ascended (with the help of guides) by tourists who have no pretensions to be mountaineers at all.—Dundee Advertiser.

A Hindoo Legend.
A Hindoo account of the creation represents the deity as dividing himself in two and making of one half man, the other woman. The legend indicates, as many other things in the sacred books of India do, that the position of woman was once very different there from what it is today. In the laws of Manu it is said, "Where women are honored the gods rejoice, but where they are not honored all rites of worship are unacceptable."

Manufacturing the Truth.
A gentleman was staying at an English country house, when, hearing a great clatter below one morning, he looked out and saw a couple of grooms holding one of the servant maids on a horse, which they led with difficulty once round the yard. He asked them what it all meant.

"Well, you see, sir," said they, "we're going to take the horse to market to be sold, and we want to be able to say that he has carried a lady."

ITCHING CHIGGERS DRAW POEM.

James B. Elmore Writes Verses Between Scratches.

Crawfordsville, Ind., Sept. 24.—Another poetic stunt has been "pulled off" by James B. Elmore, the Bard of Alamo. Ever since he was a guest at the Country Club, some time ago, of a half dozen business men of Crawfordsville, who were spending their nights in a tent on the grounds at Water Babble, Mr. Elmore says he has been "pondering o'er" the delights of life in camp. Being too busy upon the farm, he himself has never taken an outing. So, the life these business men were living, every night, after they had completed their day's work in the city, struck the Bard so forcibly that his thoughts immediately began to take him off galloping away in the mysterious realms of poetic fancy.

A Little Poetic Jaunt.

Mr. Elmore has had several of these little "poetic jaunts," as he calls them, and on each inspiration he has added a fresh verse to the new poem, to which he originally gave the title of "An Outing and the Midgets," and then changed it to "An Outing and the Chiggers." Finally, before he was ready to give the poem to the public, he changed the title to the shortened form, "An Outing."

"An Outing" is the Bard's latest gem. It is the second poem he has written since he spent that memorable night down in camp at Water Babble, some weeks ago. The other poem, which is in the nature of a formal commemoration of the event, will appear in his forthcoming publication, "Autumn Roses." "Autumn Roses" will soon be off the press at the Nashville (Tenn.) printing house, where it is being printed.

Mr. Elmore wishes "An Outing" to be included in the new book and last night sent it to the publishers with the request that they "get it in" if possible. Here it is, just as he sent it:

An Outing.

As we wander in the forest
Viewing nature at our ease,
There the lovely little thrushes,
Sing their sweetest melodies.

There the naughty little chiggers
Lie in wait and watch a catch;
All our joy is turned to sorrow,
Face awry, we dig and scratch.

Now the greensward is our cottage;
It is proper, it is fit;
But the midgets that annoy us
Do not let us rest a bit.

And the fair one, coy and lovely,
Such as kings have ever grudged,
Keeps her fingers ever tugging
At the bands about her waist.

Who could bore the bill of insects
That are hidden to the eye;
Yet they scarf and chafe the armpit
And we weep and writhe and cry.

All our hopes lie in the frost wane
That will turn the sylvan red;
O'er the hills we then can ramble
When the scarlet fiends are dead.

Peace and joy abound in autumn,
With the woodland turned to gold;
There as children we will ramble,
Though by nature we are old.

As the passing of the frost line
We are moving every day
To a fountain that is fairer
Where we live for joy for aye.

Big Pasture Picnic.

Special to the Times.
Eschitt, Okla., Sept. 25.—The people of the big pasture will give a big picnic on October 4th and 5th, to get the people together for the purpose of signing a petition asking that they be put to go trouble in getting homesteads cancelled, or if this be rejected, asking for an extension of time. They seem to be very confident that they will have no trouble in getting what they ask for. Everybody is invited to come and bring full baskets. The picnic is to be held three miles north of Eschitt. Scott Ferris and others will address the people on this occasion and everybody anticipates a big time. At a meeting at Eschitt in August J. A. Chenoweth was elected president, Mr. Lindsey secretary and M. P. Roberts manager of the settlers' picnic.

At Sea on Maskat.

A funny scene occurred many years ago in congress. A present of Arabian horses, a sword, etc., arrived from the Imam of Maskat for President Adams. A western member with some heat moved that the gift should be sent back, with a letter from congress informing the ruler of Maskat that the president of the United States was no king, but the servant of the people, and was not permitted to give or receive presents.

Another member rose. "Such a letter, Mr. Speaker," he said, "can easily be written. But where is it to be sent? Where is Maskat?"

There was no response. Apparently not a member of the house was prepared to answer, nor could Maskat then be found in any atlas published in this country. It was found at last on a German map. A civil answer was returned, and the geographers made haste to insert Maskat in the next edition of their maps.

Humor of Animals.

Even a toad laughs when he has swallowed a large beetle and it begins to walk about inside. It does tickle so! Ducks laugh most when they come out of water. The ground feels so funny under their feet that they cannot help themselves. But they have much more humor than fowls at any time. A duck is born with a twinkle in his eye and a smile at the end of his tail. Tragedy does not suit him so well—one cannot be very tragic or very dignified with a waddle for a walk.—London Captain.

Didn't Interest Him.

A prominent Bostonian recently put up at his club a Chicago man bearing letters of introduction from a common friend.

After dinner the two were lounging in the club library when the Bostonian chanced to ask:

"By the way, what do you think of the 'Origin of Species'?"
"Never read it," was the reply of the man from Chicago. "In fact, old man, I'm not in the least interested in financial subjects."—Success Magazine.

TRADE MARK REGISTERED U.S.A.

THE original shape of a garment fits it only for the form it was made over, and when you crowd yourself into one not made over your form you destroy the lines and ruin the shape.

This is why ready-made clothing never holds the original lines over which it was built. You are bound to crowd it out somewhere and it is bound to cave in somewhere.

All of this can be avoided if you will order clothes made expressly for you. Then you have assurance of pleasing, permanently fitting garments, without mar or blemish.

Order your clothes from us—have them made for you from honest fabrics by our Chicago Merchant Tailors, Ed. V. Price & Co., and then judge for yourself—you'll never wear the "made up" kind again.

has settled to the required depth, and then the water is evaporated from the asbestos, and there you have the little gold mold firmly imbedded in practically solid material and ready for use.

The inlay will be made in the mold from a porcelain powder. Porcelain powders for dental use are made by the manufacturers of dental supplies in endless variety of shades, so that it is easily possible to get a powder whose finished product will match any tooth. The dentist has a great assortment of teeth made from porcelain powders; these all named or numbered, and he matches up your tooth with one of these and uses for the inlay the powder of the corresponding number.

With the little gold mold all ready, the operator now mixes a sufficient quantity of the porcelain powder with alcohol to give him the material in a plastic form, while at the same time the alcohol will evaporate quickly. He wets also the asbestos in the mold holder to keep that from absorbing the alcohol in the porcelain powder.

And now with his porcelain in workable form he fills the mold with it, to make there the shape that is to be set into the tooth, and then he proceeds to fashion in the plastic material its outward part. This may be simply a slightly rounded surface, for an inlay that is to go into the flatter part of a tooth, or the inlay may include an edge or corner of a tooth, or both; but whatever the outward part may be, the operator so molds and fashions it that it will continue and complete naturally the contour of the tooth in which the inlay is to be set.

With the modeling thus finished, the inlay is ready for the final process, and now, with the holder, mold and all, it is put into a tiny electric oven, out of which after a suitable time it is taken, baked into a solid bit of porcelain, the inlay completed.

It is set in place with cement, and so perfectly is porcelain inlaying now done that except upon the closest inspection it may be impossible to tell in an inlay tooth where the natural tooth ends and where the inlay begins, a nice operation in modern dentistry.—Washington Post.

FISHES IN SLEEP.

Most Species They Experience a Change of Color.

The way fishes sleep is a study which few people have taken up, but which is nevertheless very interesting. They are very light sleepers and frequently assume singular positions, but the most remarkable thing is the change of color which the majority of them undergo while asleep. Usually their spots and stripes become darker and more distinct when they have successfully sought temporary oblivion.

Sometimes the pattern of their coloring is entirely changed. The ordinary porgy, for instance, presents in the daytime beautifully iridescent hues playing over its silvery sides, but at night, on falling asleep, it takes on a dull bronze tint, and six conspicuous black bands make their appearance on its sides.

If it is suddenly awakened by the turning up of the gas in the aquarium it immediately resumes the silvery color that it shows by daylight.

Naturalists ascribe these changes to the principle of "protective coloration" and point out that the appearance of black bands and the deepening of the spots serve to conceal the fish from their enemies when lying amid the seaweeds.—Buffalo Times.

CHASING RAINBOWS.

Folks to Whom Happiness is Always Just Out of Reach.

How many people go through life deluded with the conviction that if they could only get a little more money, get into a little more comfortable position, own a little better home, or if they could only get over the particular trouble that is annoying them at the time, they would be happy.

I know a man who had a very hard boyhood, suffered great poverty, who is now fifty years old, and he has always honestly believed that if he could only get the particular thing he was after or get over the particular difficulty that was annoying him at the moment he would be perfectly happy, but he is the same anxious, restless, expectant spirit today as when a youth. He has been quite successful and has done some very remarkable things, but he is invariably in hot water. There is always something that nettles him or destroys his happiness, and, although he is a well-meaning man, he has made his family, his employees and everybody about him very unhappy because he is always fretting and worrying, always borrowing trouble.—Success.

Charity.

"I understand you refused to accept a gift from my daughter, Sam?"
"Yes, sah; I did, sah."
"You looked upon it as charity, I suppose, Sam?"
"Yes, sah, and I's ob de opinion dat no man has a right to accept charity when his wife's got work, sah!"—Youkers' Statements.

A PORCELAIN FILLING

One of the Dainty Operations in Modern Dentistry.

THE WAY THE INLAY IS MADE.

Fashioned in Fragile Gold Leaf, the Matrix is Sunk by Vibration in Semi-fluid Asbestos and the Mold Waxed Set Filled With Porcelain.

This was an upper front tooth that had once been nicely filled with gold, but fresh decay having set in around that filling it had become necessary to fill the tooth again. This time, the dentist said, he thought he would fill it with porcelain.

All the processes of making a porcelain inlay are interesting. Having drilled the cavity in the tooth to its required depth and shape, the dentist next proceeds to make a matrix or mold of it in gold foil, which he is enabled to do without breaking this delicate material by the use of a bit of sponge between it and the crowding tool. So he crowds the gold foil down around within it everywhere to fit into the cavity perfectly and gets the depth all around the edge of the mold so exactly that the inlay to be made in it when set into place will not only fit perfectly in the cavity, but fit into it with its edges flush all around with the surrounding surface of the tooth.

The mold thus made of the cavity in the tooth may look like the tiniest of tiny gold cups or it may have some irregular shape, according to the shape of the cavity; but, whatever its shape, this mold of gold foil is so slight and thin that a touch would crush it, and it seems indeed as if a breath would blow it away, as probably it would, and you may wonder how a solid piece of porcelain can ever be formed in a mold so frail and delicate, but it is all really very simple, as you will see.

Now the dentist takes a small metallic holder about the size and shape of a very small clam shell, which he fills with powdered asbestos mixed with water, and on top of this yielding material, handling it gently with a pair of pliers, he sets the delicate little gold mold, with its closed end down, resting so on the surface of the moistened powdered asbestos. This holder has a lip on one side of its edge, by which it can be lifted with a pair of pliers made for the purpose and serving thus as a handle for it.

Lifting the little saucer now by this handle, the operator rubs on the handle very gently, as one might draw a fiddle bow very gently back and forth on the strings of a fiddle. A lead pencil might do for this, but he is likely to use some professional tool with a chased or engraved handle, whose irregularities will heighten the effect, and, rubbing gently with this on the handle of the holder, he communicates to it and to its contents and to the little gold mold on top continuous, gentle vibrations, which, slight as they are, still cause the mold gradually to settle and imbed itself in the semifluid mass in the holder, and this without in the slightest changing its shape. These vibrations are continued till the mold

SUNDOWN DOCTORS.

A Class That is Peculiar to the National Capital.

"Sundown doctors" are an institution peculiar to Washington city. They are an amiable company of medical practitioners who ply their trade only after nightfall. Not that these gentlemen prefer darkness to light if they had their druggists, nor are their deeds of questionable complexion that looks best in the shade. Sundown doctors have no ways that are dark or tricks that are vain. They are as open as the day that they may not utilize. If they practice their profession by candle-light rather than by the sunshine, that's Uncle Sam's fault, not their own. Sundown doctors begin to get busy only after 4:30 in the afternoon. From 9 to that hour, poor souls, they are holding their noses to the grindstones over the government desks, for one must live, don't you know, however soaring one's scientific ambition, and Uncle Sam's wages do come in mighty regular and handy. So that in a pigeonhole is the story of the origin of the struggling fraternity of sundown physicians at the federal capital.

There are thousands of instances. Embryonic young physicians, with their careers yet to carve, secure clerkships in some of the governmental departments of Washington in order to keep the pot bubbling while they are getting their medical education after office hours. Their diplomas thus laboriously achieved, they hang out their shingles tentatively, holding fast, however, to their government positions until securely established professionally. A job in the hand, you know, is worth a whole city directory full of unsecured patients. Never let go a sure thing till you are sure of a surer.—Washington Cor. Louisville Courier-Journal.

Considerate Bridegroom.

A girl and a young man, both of whom had steady jobs, were married the other day. The day after they were married the girl said to her fond husband, "Oh, George now that we are married there is only one thing I regret, and that is that I have to give up my fine position." The fond young husband stroked the stoken tresses of his young wife's hair and soothingly replied: "Now, darling, don't worry. You needn't give up your position. I'll give up mine."—Kansas City Star.
