TRUSTS AND TARIFF

ARE THE ISSUES OF THE COMING CAMPAIGN, DECLARE W.
J. BRYAN.

IS GIVEN GREAT OVATION

Commoner Delivers a Characteristic Address Before Nebraska Democrats.

Omaha, Neb., Mar. 5.—Instructing their delegates to "vote as a unit" for the presidential nomination of William J. Bryan at Denver next July, the members of the Kansas democratic convention today made clear officially that his home State will support Bryan principles throughout the national convention of the party. They followed this action by turning out en masse tonight to cheer a platform which, admittedly, reflects Bryan's views on national affairs, and to greet their leader with an outburst of cheering that brought a flush of pleasure to the countenance of the recipient.

Mr. Bryan made a magnificent address before a great audience at the auditorium.

Two significant points were noticed in Mr. Bryan's speech. In one he acknowledged his debt to the Populist party, and in the other he replied to a criticism of his policies which Secretary Taft is reported to have uttered in a recent speech in Oklahoma.

"My creed is to exterminate the private monopoly. A legitimate corporation can be regulated, but a criminal corporation is beyond the reach of regulation," said Mr. Bryan. "Mr. Taft said I wished to annihilate business conditions, while he declared himself willing to regulate the great corporations. I accept this issue. And in reply I will call attention to the fact that the trusts have regulated the republicans, not the republicans the trusts."

Concerning the Populists, he said:
"If any democrat has any prejudice against Populists, I would admonish him that a Populist who crosses the road to vote for a democrat is not to be despised by a democrat who has merely to vote the ticket of his own party."

Mr. Bryan began his address at 9:30 p. m., and for nearly two hours he preached democratic doctrines to a willing audience.

Mr. Bryan entitled his speech "A Word of Encouragement," and devoted his remarks to the producing of evidence to show the growth of democratic policies and principles and the basis for democratic hope.

Our troubles, he declared, used to be to persuade the republicans to accept democratic policies; our work now is to expose the limitation by them of democratic ideas and to point out wherein they come short in their efforts to appropriate democratic doctrines.

Mr. Bryan here particularized the various limitations practiced.

The present financial stringency, he said, is another illustration of republican incompetency. In the full possession of power, it has allowed the country to be run by Wall street financiers, and in the crisis is impotent to do more than furnish money out of the public treasury to support the market.
It has made no effort to stop gambling—the fruitful cause of panics; it has made no effort to furnish government notes for an emergency, and it has made no effort to protect depositors. While it demands security for government funds, it has left the individual depositor to risk his scanty savings without protection against mismanagement by bank officials.

The republicans admit that something must be done, and they know not how to proceed. They are so convinced that the present conditions are deplorable that they applauded the president's last message, which was an indictment of republican misrule, for all abuses of which he complained are traceable to republican legislation or lack of legislation.

The democrats face the future with hope and their hope rests on a firm foundation. Democratic policies have grown in popularity as the voters have become better acquainted with the evils to be remedied. The democrats have been looking at public questions from the standpoint of the people, while republican leaders have been looking at them from a standpoint of a few.

Another reason for hope, he declared, is to be found in the fact that the democratic party is united while the republican party is divided, and the reunion of the democratic party is due to the same causes that have brought division in the republican ranks.

As the republicans used one faction of the democratic party to defeat us in 1896, we shall return the compliment this year and use part of the republican party to defeat the other, for it is so hopelessly divided that it cannot be trusted to do anything at present.

The third cause for hope, he emphasized, is to be found in the moral awakening. Never within a generation has there been such a stirring of conscience, and the sense of justice inherent in the people has been made sensitive to the democratic appeal, which is essentially an appeal for justice. The democratic party has been doing pioneer work and now it will enjoy the gratitude and the appreciation showered upon the pioneer when the character of his work is fully understood.

WORRY CAUSED SUICIDE.

Kills Himself.

By Associated Press.
Detroit, Mich., Mar. 6.—Elwood T.
Hance, first vice president of the Union Trust Company of this city, and former postmaster of Detroit, shot and killed himself today at his home here.
His friends say that he has been greatly depressed over financial affairs for some time. Mr. Hance's health also had not been good and it is supposed this aggravated the worry and impelled him to shoot himself.

FIRE AT CHARLES BUTLER'S HOME

A blaze at the home of Charles W.
Butler, who lives on the irrigation ditch about a mile from town, yesterday morning destroyed two rooms which were detached from the other part of the house and destroyed several hundred dollars worth of furniture. The flames had gained considerable headway when discovered and it was then too late to attempt to save the furniture in that part of the house.
By hard work the flames were prevented from spreading to the other part of the building, but some furniture which had been carried from the house caught fire in the yard and was destroyed. The total loss will be between three and four hundred dollars.

Mr. Butler became overheated during the work and excitement caused by the fire and is quite sick today.

WATER, ICE AND LIGHTS.

Wichita Falls Man Makes Proposition to Childress People.

It now seems probable that a Wichita Falls man will help the people of Childress solve their water, light and ice problems.

The Childress Post this week in giving an account of the progress of the movement for these plants, says:

Something over $21,000 in stock had been subscribed for the purpose of installing an electric light plant when a gentleman by the name of P. C. Maricle of Wichita Falls appeared upon the scene and proposed to add $15,000 to the subscription if the people will assist in raising the stock to $35,000 or $40,000 and consent to put in a plant for ice and lights combined, the light plant to furnish unbroken service and the ice plant to be of twenty-five tons capacity. This proposition is meeting with much favor and there is strong reason to believe the matter will be closed up within a day or two.

Mr. Maricle is a man of practical knowledge and experience in these matters, having been engaged in similar work at Wichita Falls for some time. He says that he knows where he can get a complete outfit of machinery, the order for which was countermanded recently, and can have same shipped here at once. He estimates that he can have the plant ready for operation by June 1st or the 15th at the latest.

BIG CATTLE DEAL.

Oklahoma Stockman Buys 2,500 Steers at San Angelo for $65,000.

Special to the Times.

San Angelo, Tex., Mar. 6.—One of the largest cattle deals of the season was announced today when Brown & Brown, Oklahoma stockmen, bought 2,500 head of steers, three and four year olds, from the Bar Nine ranch, L.
L. Farrar and others at $25 a head or a total of $65,000. The cattle will be shipped to the Osage nation in the latter part of March.

WABASH ON RAMPAGE.

Thousands of Men Idle and Many Homes Damaged at Peru, Ind.

By Associated Press.

Peru, Ind., Mar. 6.—Nearly one thousand men have been rendered idle and seventy-five homes damaged by the high waters of the Wabash river, which is out of its banks. The river is rising one inch an hour and it is said that the south end of town will be submerged by night.

SHOT WHILE PLAYING; MAY DIE.

Accidental Wound of W. C. Watts Possibly Fatal Near Lawton.

Lawton, Ok., Mar. 6.—W. C. Watts, a farmer living in the Big Pasture, south of here, was accidentally shot today by a companion while playing with a revolver which was thought to be unloaded. The bullet penetrated Watts' abdomen, and he is not expected to recover.

FIRE DRILL SAVED CHILDREN'S LIVES

New York, Mar. 6.—A special call was sent to fire headquarters from the public school on 129th street between Amsterdam avenue and Broadway today. All the children escaped from the building. They were assembled in the yard and sent home. Parents who rushed to the building were prevented by the police from clogging the exits and sent away.

The fire was on the top floor of the building, which is five stories high.
The children marched from the building without panic or disorder.

IN THE POTTER'S FIELD.

Body of Lazarus Averbuch Was Buried Today.

By Associated Press.

Chicago, Ill., Mar. 6.—The body of Lazarus Averbuch, the anarchist who attempted to kill Chief of Police Shippy and was himself killed, was buried today in the potter's field at Dunning in a driving rain storm. None of Aver-buch's friends, not even his sister, Olga, were present at the interment, the police desiring that nothing in the light of a public funeral be held. The body will probably be exhumed later and buried in the Jewish cemetery.

NUMBER DEAD 167

TWENTY-THREE BODIES IN THE SCHOOL HOLOCAUST YET UNIDENTIFIED.

INVESTIGATION IS BEGUN

Coroner is Conducting Investigation Into Cause of Fire and Condition of Building.

By Associated Press.

Cleveland, Ohio, Mar. 6.—The body of Miss Katherine Weller, one of the teachers who lost her life in the Collin-wood fire, was positively identified today by her dentist. The body of Roseta Machinch, a former pupil of the school, was identified today by her shoes. When Mrs. Machinch was positive of the identification she fell upon the charred body of her little one.

There are twenty-three bodies unidentified. So far, one hundred and sixty-seven bodies have been recovered. The list of the missing now tallies with the number unidentified, which indicates that all bodies have been found. The total death list now stands at 167.

In an effort to fix the cause and responsibility for the holocaust the various investigations were set under way today. Coroner Burke issued subpoenas for the seven surviving teachers of the Lakeview school. The inquest was begun this morning, when a number of witnesses were examined without, however, developing anything in the way of testimony that was beyond mere opinion. An investigation was concluded by the Collinwood school board which lasted far into the night, at which a number of survivors of the horror told their stories, and brought forth these facts:

That one of the inner doors at the west entrance of the school was closed and fastened while children were piling up against it in the passage; wing partitions in the vestibules narrowed the exit by at least three feet. The flames came first from a closet below the stairway at the east entrance; the closet contained lime and sawdust; three little girls had been found hiding in play in the closet earlier in the morning; that there was but one fire escape, and that its use was never taught as part of the fire drill.

Survivors among the teachers estimate that only two or three minutes passed between the time of the alarm until all escape was cut off. The building was a fair sample of the kind of school in use in small towns. The hall and stairways were inclosed between interior brick walls, forming a huge flue, through which the flames shot with great rapidity.

The question much discussed is whether the doors opened inward or outward. Fire Marshals Brockett and Feigenbaum examined the doorways today and stated later that they were convinced that they opened outward.
Whether they were locked they have not been able to determine. They have testimony on both sides. Janitor Her-ter still insists that the doors were open.

Still Two Dozen Delinquents.

Austin, Tex., Mar. 6.—There are still twenty-four corporations which have failed to make their reports to the State tax commissioner in compliance with the intangible assets law. The time limit for these reports was March 1st, but the law allows fifteen days of grace and it is believed that all of the remaining companies which have failed to report will do so by March 15th.

TEMPLE CHILDREN TO AUSTIN.

Six Will Take the Pasteur Treatment For Possible Hydrophobia.

Temple, Tex., Mar. 6.—Six children, all of whom are of tender years, left here yesterday for the Pasteur institute in Austin, where they will take treatment as the result of the bites from a pet dog received by the children while at play with the animal.

At different times the dog bit the children, in each instance his teeth penetrating through the skin and bringing blood. The dog has shown no signs of hydrophobia, showing only peculiar actions, and the parents of the children feel as if they should be on the safe side and avert infection if possible.

The children, only two of whom are in their teens, will be accompanied by the parents of but two. All come from the same neighborhood and are the children of well known residents. Besides the parents the party is made up of Lewis Culpepper, Grady Barto, Grace Sifford, Curran Shaw and Joe and Lewis Hutchison.

The Prosperous Farmer.

R. T. Milner, commissioner of agriculture, remarked in a discussion pertaining to farming that "the little things of any business go to make up the mountain of life." Continuing, he said: "The most important question that can appeal to any farmer is, 'How Shall I Live?'"

"The basis of all substantial living is a well appointed and well supplied home. Mental progress is hampered by want and poverty. The trouble with many farmers has been the disregard and neglect of the little things that laure to the pleasures and comforts of the home. The physical needs of the home only are referred to here.

"In the first place, the home should be made with reference to health and comfort; trees and flowers should not be overlooked in adorning the grounds around it. Pure water should be supplied in abundance. Bad water is poisonous and breeds disease and death. A garden nearby is important. Vegetables are not only wholesome food, but they are money savers at the same time.

"Wise economy is always to be desired; it adds to the wealth and happiness of the family.

"The cowpen, horse lots, hog pens, chicken houses and the like are very necessary. To build them with reference to durability and convenience is the proper thing to do under any circumstances. All the fowls and live stock should be provided with suitable food in order to obtain satisfactory results.

"Select the chickens, hogs and cows with reference to raising an abundance for the needs of the family. The farmer who raises all the chickens, eggs and dairy products for his own family will be agreeably surprised to find how short the while before he will be raising enough of these things for several other families. The same can be said with reference to fruits and vegetables.

"The farmer's road to prosperity is already established when the surplus fowls, eggs, hogs, corn and fruits and vegetables begin to leave his home in pursuit of the market. Some farmers are so absorbed in making a large money crop that the necessities and comforts of the home are overlooked. The farm dividend is that which remains above what is used or needed—in other words, it is the surplus.

"The farmer who starts out with a firm resolution to first make a living and thus solidify his home, using sound judgment, diligence and economy, will find that he is building on a good foundation and fortifying himself against dependence.

"Debt should be avoided in every way possible. Going in debt beyond purchasing a home is a dangerous policy for any farmer to pursue. It is encouraging to see the farmers adopting resolutions in their unions to the effect that crop mortgages and other obligations shall be excluded from their business. The farm debt, generally known as crop mortgages, has reduced thousands of people to chattel slavery. Once the great body of the farmers of the South shall clear themselves of debt they will be able to turn the key on their cotton crop and fix the price. "But don't forget it is the little things that make up the mountain of life. The most successful business men are those who started out in life with a full consciousness of the value of little things. They have taken care of the dimes, on the principle that the dollars will take care of themselves. The smallest items in the mercantile world represent a value, and on them the largest profit is realized."

WORK FOR SOUTHERN BRYAN CLUBS.

There is every reason in the world why Bryan clubs should be organized in Texas and in all the Southern States. Every community should organize such a club and every club should become an active political influence. The need of these organizations does not grow out of any danger of Mr. Bryan's defeat for the nomination, but to assist in the campaign after his nomination. If such a club were organized in every community in the South, great assistance could be rendered in the way of collecting campaign funds. We must remember that the democratic party will have to depend upon the masses for its campaign fund this year. It will receive no assistance from corporations, railroads or trust magnates and no contributions from those interests are desired. The republican party will enjoy a monopoly of the generosity of the interests which enjoy special privileges and it will as usual have a large sum at its disposal to use as Hanna and Cortelyou used the millions dumped into their hands in 1896, 1900 and 1904. No attempt to collect an adequate democratic campaign fund from the masses can succeed unless there is a club in each community to see that every democrat willing to contribute has a convenient opportunity to do so.

Texas ought to contribute at least $100,000 to the Bryan campaign fund. That would represent less than 25 cents per capita of the qualified democratic voters of the State, and surely every democrat who has paid his poll tax can at least contribute something to a national campaign fund.

It requires a large sum of money to conduct a national campaign in modern times. Thousands of dollars are needed to pay the railroad fare and other expenses of the campaign orators. It requires tremendous sums to pay for the printing and dissemination of campaign literature and many other expenses which are perfectly legitimate, and the democrats have no source of revenue save the patriotic people who desire to witness a return to constitutional government.

We mention this matter because in Texas, where the result of the convention as well as those of the elections is a foregone conclusion, democrats are prone to think there is nothing especial for them to do but vote, whereas they can assist much in the strenuous campaign that will have to be waged in the debatable States which are essential to success.

Fort Worth has led off with a thriving Bryan club and the democrats of other cities and towns ought to follow this wholesome example and do their part toward achieving a great democratic victory next November.—Houston Post.

Laid to Rest.

At the Presbyterian church at 10 o'clock this morning an impressive funeral service over the remains of the late Col. L. T. Miller was held, which was attended by many of the deceased friends.

The service was begun by the choir rendering "Nearer My God to Thee," which was followed by the reading of a passage of scripture by the pastor, Dr. J. J. Dalton, at the conclusion of which he gave a biographical sketch of deceased and of the life he had lived, his devotion to his family, his church and his home town, paying to his memory a beautiful tribute. "Lead, Kindly Light" was then beautifully rendered by Mr. Krueger, accompanied by Mrs. Maer on the pipe organ.

This concluded the service at the church and the pall bearers, composed of Judge Barwise, W. E. Brothers, H. T. Caufield, W. A. Taylor, J. H. Barwise, Jr., J. T. Montgomery, N. Henderson and R. E. Huff, took charge of the remains and escorted them to Riverside cemetery, where they were laid to rest by the side of his wife and daughter.

There were many beautiful floral tributes, which completely covered the casket, and the church was appropriately decorated with potted plants.

The deceased was a native of Indiana. He came to Wichita Falls in 1882 and was one of the nine charter members of the Presbyterian church, which was organized at his home in 1882.

The shoe question is a very important one when it comes to getting properly fitted.
A perfect fitting shoe never gives any trouble from the start while if you put a shoe on your foot that was not made for your size and shape of foot there is bound to be trouble until your foot has forced the leather into the proper shape.
Such troubles are due to two things; 1st, incompetent clerks and poorly made shoes; we have neither.

Small, But "Husky."

A. H. Bevering was home with the folks over Sunday, and in a brief interview told some of the doings of the small cyclone which lately touched the earth three miles northwest of Charlie. The cyclone did its work on a space of about twenty yards wide and three-quarters of a mile long. Its first "tracks" appear within two hundred yards of a house belonging to Mr. Bevering and occupied by A. B. Brandenberger, the family numbering seven. It was about 9 p. m. and the family had no warning until the thing took hold of the house and tore it literally to pieces; and it is a wonder that the inmates escaped only with bruises, more or less severe, but none of a dangerous nature. An elderly man who had gone to bed was carried about three hundred yards and let down easy without injury, and a girl was taken fifty yards or so and severely bruised by a part of the roof falling on her. Mr. Brandenberger got a severe contusion on the head which nearly took off an ear and Mrs. Brandenberger was severely bruised. Furniture, bedding and clothing, everything the house contained, was destroyed, most of it being carried away, with no vestige or fragments to be found. Even the stoves and sewing machine were torn to pieces and most of the pieces carried to some other country along with lighter stuff. The house was extra strong and well built, Mr. Bevering having built it for himself and family and occupied it before removing to Charlie.

A few of the capers that identify the husky visitor as a cyclone are that a new wagon standing near the house had the tongue torn off from the houns and broken into three pieces, and the wagon left standing, but with its wheel pressed into the ground several inches. Beside the wagon was a hack that was totally demolished, and on the other side a buggy with the top up was not harmed or even moved. There were other notunate antics, but these fix the identity.—Henrietta Review.

BIG PASTURE TIME IS EXTENDED.

Gore Secures Senate's Concurrence in Amendments Put to Bill.

Washington, D. C., Mar. 4.—The senate this morning, on motion of Senator Gore, concurred in the house amendments to his bill extending the time within which purchasers of land in the Big Pasture have to make payments.

The bill as amended extends the time of payment one year, but provides as a condition precedent to such extension, that where the settler had no preference right of purchase he must pay in trust 4 per cent of the deferred payment, while a settler who has a preferential right of purchase must pay 5 per cent.

These trust payments will be subtracted from the amount due at the end of a year, and are exacted now somewhat as a pledge of good faith. A further provision of the amended bill is that all whose applications to purchase were rejected because they were sublessees shall have the right to purchase under the provisions of this act the land originally applied for by them.

Cleaning-Up Day.

The ladies of the Civic League are urging the citizens of Wichita Falls to observe clean-up day on March 10th. This day is generally observed by cities throughout the State and special efforts will be made to improve the sanitary conditions.

Wichita Falls should be no exception to the general rule and the town would be greatly benefitted if the citizens would work together and get both public and private property in presentable shape. To do this will, of course, take some work, but by each one looking after his own property the labors would be divided and no one would be forced to undertake more than could be done. The city, too, it would seem, should get in line and make an effort to have the streets and public places cleaned up. Considerable work that would be of advantage could be done in the ditches, along the streets and in other places where trash and dirt have accumulated.

The Childrens Enrollment.

The Childrens public schools continue to grow beyond all expectation. The enrollment three weeks ago had reached 1,018 and others dropping in. Only four more rooms can be arranged for in the present building and it is estimated that the teaching force will have to be increased to twenty or more teachers next year. The authorities are doing everything possible to relieve the situation and still almost every room is badly crowded. This is a condition that cannot be avoided, hence must be borne with until more teachers and buildings can be provided.—Childrens Post.
