MURDER IS AVENGED

CHESTER GILLETTE DIES IN ELECTRIC CHAIR FOR KILLING OF GRACE BROWN.

FACES DEATH UNMOVED

Gillette Walked Unflinchingly to Death Seat—Electrocution is Performed Without a Hitch.

By Associated Press.

Albany, N. Y., Mar. 30.—Chester Gillette was successfully electrocuted at the Auburn prison this morning at 6:18 o'clock. It was the most successful electrocution ever held in the Auburn prison. One contact of 1,800 volts at 7 1/2 amperes was all that was necessary to kill. This was turned on at 6:14 and the man was declared dead by Warden Benham at 6:18.

Gillette was unmoved and did not show the faintest sign of emotion of any kind when brought into the execution chamber. Rev. Henry McIlravy, who has been with Gillette, was so overcome that he was taken from the death chamber before the contact was turned off.

When the murderer was brought into the death chamber he walked firmly and looked neither to the right nor the left. The strapping of Gillette into the chair was soon completed and the current was turned on.

Gillette made a confession to his spiritual advisers, Revs. McIlravy and Herrick, who stated that they did not deem it wise to make a detailed statement, but simply said that no legal mistake was made in the electrocution. Gillette also issued a communication appealing to all young men to lead Christian lives.

By Associated Press.

Auburn, N. Y., Mar. 30.—The crime for which Chester E. Gillette was sentenced to forfeit his life in the electric chair at Auburn prison today, was the murder of his sweetheart, Grace Brown, near Big Moose in the Adirondacks on July 11th, 1906. Gillette was convicted on circumstantial evidence after a sensational trial in which the pathetic love letters of "Billy" Brown, as the girl was familiarly known among her associates to Gillette played an important part. The girl who perished in the waters of Big Moose lake had trusted Gillette to make amends for the wrong he had done her by making her his wife, and her letters which were found in the young man's room after his arrest at Eagle Bay, have been considered by many as classic in their simplicity and their tender pleading for the right that was her due.

Her last letter to her lover, written a few days before her fatal trip to Big Moose, was particularly pathetic. "I have been bidding goodbye to some places today," she wrote. "There are so many nooks, dear, and all of them are so dear to me. I have lived here nearly all my life. First, I said goodbye to the spring house with its great mass of green moss; then to the apple tree where we had our playhouse; then the 'Beehive,' a cute little house in the orchard, and of course all the neighbors that have mended my dresses from a little top up, to save me a thrashing I really deserved."

Gillette had been more or less of a rover up to the time he became foreman in his uncle's shirt manufactory in Cortland, N. Y. He had led a somewhat gay life, but was given to understand upon his arrival in Cortland that he must conduct himself so that his wealthy relative might at least recognize him. He soon became interested in church work, made many friends and apparently conducted himself with propriety.

Grace Brown was a farmer's daughter from South Otselac, who worked in the same factory with Gillette. Although he did not pay her unusual attention, her companions were not long in recognizing that she was somewhat of a favorite with the young foreman. He began to call on her at the home of her married sister, who lived in the city, and soon won her trust and affection. The girl's confidence in Gillette and his promise of marrying eventually led to her undoing and in the summer of 1906 she went home to prepare for her wedding, which she felt could not long be postponed. It was during her stay at her home in South Otselac that she wrote him the remarkable series of letters which were found among Gillette's effects after his arrest.

In these outpourings of her soul she breathed the poignancy of her sorrow, and her sweetness of girlish youth, faith and self sacrifice were ever apparent. In her misery she pleaded with her lover to come to her, saying that she had been brave, but was beginning to feel discouraged. In spite of her suffering she thought first of all of him and how she might lessen any burden that he was destined to bear.

"I am so lonesome for you—oh, as I thought I'd never be. I don't believe you've even missed me," she wrote soon after her arrival home. "I did not think all the home folks would be so glad to see me. They ate me up, and if you have ever thought I was spoiled, I don't know what you will think of me when I get back. Do you or any one else won't be able to do anything with me."

A few days later she wrote: "I have done nothing but cry since I got here. If you were only here I would not feel so badly. I try to be brave, dear, but how can I when everything goes wrong? I can't help thinking you will never come for me, but then I say you can't be so mean as that, and besides you told me you would come and you have never disappointed me when you said you would not."

"Chester, there isn't a girl in the world as miserable as I am tonight," she wrote in her next letter, "and you have made me feel so. Chester, I don't mean that, dear; you have always been awfully good to me and I know

The National People's Party will hold its convention at St. Louis on Thursday of this week, at which time a candidate for president and vice president will be named. It is more than likely that Thomas E. Watson of Georgia will be given the nomination for president.

LAMENTS BOMB OUTRAGE

Hunter Explains He Would Have Spoken in Defiance of Prohibition, But Was Dragged Away.

New York, Mar. 29.—Robert Hunter, the noted sociologist, tonight declared that he was not only present at yesterday's demonstration of the unemployed in Union Square that ended in a bomb explosion, but that had opportunity offered, he would have addressed the crowd in defiance of police prohibition, and so brought about a test in the courts of the rights of free speech. Mr. Hunter's position in the whole matter was set forth in a statement over his signature given to the Associated Press. The writer deprecates the "outrage" of the bomb, and refers to its author as a fanatic, who has injured the cause of the unemployed. Mr. Hunter says until he arrived at the square he was ignorant of the fact that speechmaking had been forbidden. He learned this order by the police and then determined to speak, in order that the right of peaceful assembly and free speech might be tested in the courts. He adds that he had no chance to be heard, for presently the police charged the crowd with incredible brutality. Mr. Hunter describes his own escape from under a horse's hoofs, telling how he was dragged by officers from the steps of a building from which he had hoped to speak and how what was intended as a peaceful assembly in furtherance of aid for the unemployed was broken up with a scene that he thought "could not be duplicated outside of Russia."

CAMPAIGN WILL OPEN AT LUFKIN

Special to the Times.

Fort Worth, Tex., Mar. 30.—Senator J. W. Bailey is still in Fort Worth, conferring with his supporters on plans for a State campaign, which he will open on April 4th at Lufkin. His speaking itinerary will be completed tonight, when Senator Bailey will return to Gainesville for a brief rest. TO COPY RECORD IN OIL CASES.

Work to Begin Preparatory to Speedy Termination of Litigation.

Austin, Tex., Mar. 29.—Work will start immediately on preparing a copy of the record in the Waters Pierce Oil cases to be submitted to the Supreme Court of the United States. The State will make the usual motions to advance the causes on the docket of the court at Washington in order that they will be decided as early as possible. The United States supreme court allowed certiorari in this case and then granted the motion of the State to advance, and the case is to be submitted on April 6th. Attorneys T. W. Gregory and George W. Allen have gone to Washington, as has Assistant Attorney General Jewell P. Lightfoot, to prepare to argue the last mentioned case, and will make the motions to advance in the cases just appealed from Texas. Attorney General Davidson and First Assistant Hawkins will leave Austin Tuesday for Washington to participate in the submission of the anti-trust and other State cases to be submitted in April. One of the State cases of importance to be submitted is that against the Galveston, Harrisburg and San Antonio Railway Company involving some $300,000 of taxes under the Love gross tax receipts act, which levied 1 per cent on the gross earnings of the roads.

The supreme court of the United States will have two monster fines to consider, that of $29,000,000 imposed on the Standard by Federal Judge Landis of Chicago and that of $1,623,000 rendered by the Travis county jury which sat in the Waters Pierce Oil case.

$10,000 REWARD FOR WOULD BE ASSASSIN

Telluride, Colo., Mar. 30.—Rewards offered for the capture of the person or persons who dynamited General Wells on Saturday in an effort to kill him, aggregate $10,000. Sheriff Fitzpatrick said today that sufficient evidence to warrant arrests had not yet been obtained. General Wells is suffering greatly from the shock and has joined his family at Colorado Springs for a rest.

The Case of Harry Orchard.

Special to the Times.

Spokane, Wash., Mar. 30.—"If murder is punishable by death under the laws of Idaho, then Harry Orchard, who, in his ghastly recital of 'truth' showed himself to be the most cold-blooded, cruel, abandoned and dangerous wretch who ever bore the image of God, should suffer the extreme penalty, whatever may have been his motive for telling the truth."

Judge George W. Belt, formerly of the Spokane county superior court, thus expressed himself against Judge Wood's recommendation for mercy in passing sentence on the confessed assassin of former Gov. Frank Steunenberg, adding:

"I am unable to see that Orchard is entitled to any particular credit for telling the truth. He had been reveling in crime for years, leaving a bloody trail behind him, and when at last the law laid hold of him it was but natural that he should believe the State had evidence against him which he could not escape and, besides, it is claimed that before he confessed he was led to believe that the men who had employed him for his bloody work had abandoned him to his fate. I have pity and sympathy for the man who, in the heat of passion, kills another, but the hired assassin is beyond the pale of human compassion. No man's life is safe so long as there are men in the world who will kill for a fee."

Hardesty-Hutchcraft.

Miss Dora Hutchcraft and Roy Hardesty were united in marriage at the Tenth Street Methodist parsonage at 10:30 o'clock Saturday night. The wedding was a very quiet affair, only a few of the friends of the couple learning of their marriage until Sunday morning.

Both the bride and groom are well known and popular young people and have many friends who extend congratulations.

They will make their home in this city for the present.

DOINGS IN POLITICS

BAILEYTES AND ANTI-BAILEYTES ARE GIRDING FOR A DEATH STRUGGLE.

WILL CALL A MEETING

County Committee Will Be Called to Meet to Arrange For Primary.

At the Bailey convention in Fort Worth Saturday, the following nominations were made:

Delegates at Large:
Hon. Joseph W. Bauey of Cooke.
Hon. M. M. Brooks of Dallas.
Hon. James L. Storey of Caldwell.
Hon. A. J. Baker of Tom Green.

Alternates:
Hon. Ben F. Looney of Hunt.
Hon. J. R. Kubena of Fayette.
Hon. J. R. Bowman of Potter.
Hon. C. L. Brachfield of Rusk.

Presidential electors:
Hon. H. A. O'Neal of Cass.
Hon. Hampson Gary of Smith.

The Wichita Falls delegates at the Bailey convention are unanimous in saying that they never saw such a magnificent ovation given any man anywhere as was given Senator Bailey. The local Baileyites are much enthused over the meeting and are firm in their belief that the junior senator will be victorious at the primary in May and will receive a magnificent vindication. Some of the more enthusiastic of the delegates declare that there were fully 25,000 men wearing Bailey badges in Fort Worth Saturday. Others place a more conservative estimate of from 8,000 to 15,000 delegates in attendance.

At the meeting of the anti-Baileyites in this city last Saturday a motion was passed authorizing the president of the organization to appoint three vice presidents in each voting precinct in the county. The anti-Baileyites will make an effort to perfect a thorough organization throughout the county.

C. C. Huff, chairman of the Wichita County Democratic Committee, announces that he will issue a call this week for a meeting of the committee, at which arrangements for the Bailey primary will be discussed and also the proposition to hold a primary for the selection of county officers. This call will be issued some time during the latter part of the week.

A Warm Time at Lufkin.

Lufkin, Tex., Mar. 29.—That there are to be some warm doings in this city next Saturday is evidenced by the fact that the anti-Bailey crowd here is doing everything possible to get a well-known orator in Lufkin to espouse their cause on the day Senator Bailey is to open his campaign here, and it is understood that Martin Dies of Beaumont has already accepted an invitation to come.

The citizens responded promptly to a call for donations for a barbecue and basket dinner and over $500 has been raised to entertain the people Saturday. The provisions to be furnished will be of the best and the day is going to be one long to be remembered in the history of fights for the safety of democracy.

Although the friends of Senator Bailey here would not for one minute think of having him divide time with some person who is trying to down him, and it is understood by everybody that the affair is in charge of the senator's friends, there will be speakers for the other side here and they will be given the platform some time during the day. There will be excursion rates on all roads entering Lufkin for the occasion.

Everything else seems forgotten in the Bailey controversy, and for the time interest in the city election next month has been relegated to the rear. However, the candidates for the offices of mayor and tax collector are doing some quiet campaigning and the closing week of the canvass gives promise of becoming spirited.

The candidates for the county offices for which there are contests welcome the suggestion of a primary, provided it is called at an early date. They are anxious to have the contest decided early, so that they will know what arrangements to make for the future.

you will always be. You just won't be a coward, I know. You must write more often, please, and dear, when you read my letters, if you think I am unreasonable, please do not mind it, but do think I am about crazy with grief and that I don't know just what to do."

In her next letter she told of receiving a letter from a girl friend. "This girl wrote me," she said, "that you seemed to be having an awfully good time, and she guessed that my coming home had done you good, as you had not seemed so cheerful in weeks. I should have known, Chester, that you did not care for me. But somehow I have trusted you more, than anyone else. Perhaps you don't think or you can't help making me grieve, but I wish things were different. You may say you wish you do, too, but you can't possibly wish so more than I. I have been very brave since I came home, but tonight I am very discouraged. Chester, if I could only die. I know how you feel about this affair, and I wish for your sake that you need not be troubled. If I die I hope you can then be happy."

The coolness of Gillette's replies to the girl's fervent pleadings caused her to say in her next letter:

"I was glad to hear from you and surprised as well. I thought you would rather have my letters affectionate, but yours was so business-like that I have come to the conclusion that you wish mine to be that way. I may tell you, though, that I am not a business woman and so presume that these letters will not satisfy you any more than the others did. I think, pardon me, that I understand my position and think it is rather unnecessary for you to be so frightfully frank in making me see it. I can see my position as keen as anyone, I think. You say you were surprised, but you thought I would be discouraged. I don't see why I should not be discouraged. What words have I had from you since I came home to encourage me?"

Then further along in the same letter the girl's spirit of self-sacrifice asserted itself and she wrote:

"Chester, I don't suppose you will ever know how I regret being all this trouble to you. I know you hate me and I can't blame you one bit. Of course, it's worse for me than for you, but the world and you, too, may think I am the one to blame, but somehow I can't just simply can't, think that I am, Chester.

"My little sister came up just a minute ago with her hands full of daisies and asked me if I didn't want my fortune told. I told her I guessed it was pretty well told now."

Plans were arranged by letter for a meeting at DeRuyter and Gillette secured leave of absence from the factory. He arrived at DeRuyter on the evening of July 8th and registered at a hotel as Charles George. The next Grace Brown left South Otselec, ostensibly for Cortland, but changed cars for Utica at DeRuyter, where she was joined by Gillette. On the journey to Utica, Gillette did not share the seat with "Billy," but chatted with other girls on the train and made an appointment to meet them later in the week at Eagle Bay. At Utica Gillette registered Grace Brown and himself as Charles Gordon and wife, New York. They left the next morning. Gillette did not pay his bill, but directed that some laundry, which he had left behind be sent by express to Eagle Bay.

The couple went to Tupper Lake, registering at a boarding house there as Charles George and wife, New York. While at Tupper Lake, Gillette inquired for a quiet lake and Grace Brown threw herself into the arms of a maid who had brought her a glass of water and burst into tears.

On the morning of July 11th the couple retraced their journey to Big Moose, where Gillette registered at the Glenmore as Charles Graham, Albany, and on the next line on the register wrote the girl's correct name and address. Gillette inquired for good places to take pictures and securing a boat, rowed away over the blue waters of the lake. Gillette carried a small suitcase, camera and tennis racket. The girl's baggage had been checked to Old Forge and she left some of her wraps and hat at the hotel.

Late that night Gillette appeared at the Arrowhead on Eagle Bay, twelve miles from Big Moose. He had walked through the woods, carrying the suitcase and camera, but the tennis racket was missing. His clothing and baggage were dry. The next day he went on an excursion with the young women from Cortland, whom he had promised to meet.

Alarm was felt in Big Moose over the failure of Gillette to return with the boat he had rented and search was made the next day. The boat was found floating bottom up near the shore in a secluded part of the lake, and a woman's wrap spread over the bottom. The lake was dragged and the body of Grace Brown was found about 300 feet from the shore. Gillette subsequently was arrested at Eagle Bay on July 14th.

The trial began at Herkimer at a special term of the supreme court on November 12th, 1906 and on December 5th Gillette was found guilty of murder in the first degree and sentenced to death. The prosecution presented a chain of evidence which the defense was unable to break down. Gillette, who testified, denied none of the evidence except the actual killing of the girl. He said she had urged him to marry her, but that he was not in a position to do so at that time as he had but scant means and his marriage would mean the loss of his position in the factory. He said the girl arose in the boat, declaring that she would end the matter then and there, and leaped overboard. The boat was overturned, he claimed, and although he made efforts to save the girl from drowning he was unable to do so. The evidence showed that the water was but a few feet deep. Upon his failure to rescue the girl he said he had waded ashore. He explained the condition of his baggage by saying that he had left it on the bank, where they had partaken of some light luncheon. The tennis racket, with which the prosecution claimed he dealt the girl's death blow, was found hidden in the woods after weeks of search.

The execution of the death penalty was stayed by an appeal to the court of appeals on January 19th, 1907, and on January 8th last, the case was argued. The court affirmed the judgment of conviction and fixed the week beginning March 30th for carrying out the death sentence.

Gillette's mother visited Albany and pleaded with Governor Hughes to commute the death sentence to life imprisonment, but the governor declined to interfere.

The fact that a newspaper happens to be for or against Senator Bailey should not be taken as an evidence that its news reports of the various political gatherings held over the State are colored to suit the editorial columns. But that is the way some newspapers are now being conducted. As an instance, the Fort Worth Record, Bailey organ, says that 10,000 delegates attended the Bailey rally at Fort Worth Saturday. The Telegram and Dallas News, both anti-Bailey, gave the number including delegates and visitors at between 3,500 to 6,000. One Bailey organ says that 400 attended the rally from Denton, while the Denton Record-Chronicle says that only seventy tickets were sold from that place for the big blow-out. A special to the Gainesville Messenger from Fort Worth gave the number of those in attendance upon the Bailey rally at 25,000. The fact that the building in which the convention was held has a seating capacity of less than 8,000 people, and the further fact that photographs taken of the crowd just as Senator Bailey stepped to the front of the platform to deliver his address show that a few hundred more could have managed to get seats in the rear of the building is sufficient evidence to prove conclusively that the reports as to the size of the crowd has been considerably magnified by some papers and reduced by others. The Fort Worth Record, in giving an account of the anti-Bailey meeting held in this city Saturday evening, said that only about seventy-five were in attendance, when, as a matter of fact, the room was filled to the overflowing point, and it was necessary to have the speakers deliver their addresses, on the outside of the building in order that those who wished to hear might have a better opportunity of doing so. The Times gave a correct report of the Bailey meeting held at the Chamber of Commerce on Thursday evening of last week, and of the anti-Bailey meeting on Saturday evening, and its estimate of the size of the crowds in attendance on both occasions can be relied upon. There is no use to indulge in misrepresentation, and newspapers that do that kind of business will find out soon enough that the people will discredit their news reports of political gatherings in the same proportion that the paper has misrepresented gatherings in their own towns, of which they had knowledge, and perhaps were participants.

The demonstration last Saturday evening made by 10,000 unemployed people in the city of New York gives one an idea of how conditions are in the great labor centers. As in Chicago and other large cities, the unskilled laborers are mostly foreigners and are permitted to earn, when regularly employed, just a sufficient amount to keep soul and body together. When a panic comes on, or for other reasons, the concerns close down the men, women and children are thrown out of employment. They soon spend what little they have managed to save and then starvation stares them in the face. Is it any wonder that they grow desperate under such circumstances and rally together under the red flag of anarchy? And who is responsible for this condition of affairs? When laws are enacted that will forbid the importation of pauper labor, a blow will be dealt anarchy that will stamp it out.

Preserved Fruits for very Special Occasions

Most every housekeeper figures on putting up a certain amount of fancy preserved fruit for special occasions when company comes.

It's pretty hard to gauge the amount that can be used to good advantage, and very frequently the supply will run short unexpectedly or possibly for economical reasons none was put up at all.

The Heinz Pickle and Preserve Company realized this condition and met it by putting up various sized jars of fancy preserved fruits as nearly like the home preserved article as possible, and they have succeeded in doing it at a cost that places these delicacies within the reach of all.

Electra News Notes.

Electra News.

M. Potter, one of our city butchers, had the misfortune to get a finger cut on Wednesday while operating his sausage machine.

The People's Ice Company of Wichita Falls started the construction of an ice house on the right of way of the Fort Worth and Denver railway and we will not be short of ice this summer, from the present outlook of the spacious building.

The Waggoner Bank of Electra has made all arrangements and all material is on the ground to commence a fine two-story brick block on the corner of Main street and Cleveland avenue. The first floor will contain the banking department, with a suite of directors' offices, also a suite of offices on the Main street side in the rear. The second floor will have a hall 25x42, which will be occupied by the K. of P., I. O. O. F. and M. W. A., also two suites of offices.

D. T. Cross of Ferris, Texas, spent several days at Electra in the interest of a new cotton gin to be located here. He has made all plans to start about May 1st to build and equip a five-stand gin with sufficient room and power to handle more if necessary. We are very much gratified to know that he has decided to come here with the plant, as he is a man of business integrity and in a position to carry out any undertaking that he starts. The incapacity of the present gin was a daily complaint during the past ginning season, but our farmers will have a guarantee that such will not be the case the coming season, therefore we advise our farmers to make every effort to raise more cotton.

Blodhounds trailing a thief near Ridgeway, Ohio, twenty miles, came to a sudden halt when they smelled the odor of cooking food in a restaurant.

No Reduction at Childress.
Childress Index.

While the men in the Fort Worth and Denver shops at Childress have been put on a five-hour schedule, no reduction in the working force has been made and from what the index learns will not. All mechanics will remain here, as no shops in the State are running on full time and the Denver's shop in Childress is the only one that has not been reduced in working force. It is said that the company has more work on hands now than during any time the past two years and yet the men are working on shorter time. The shops will be a harvest for several months after they are put on full running time.

From the Coal Fields.
Sam Hardy, the coal expert at Belknap, was in town last Tuesday. In speaking of the new coal fields, he said that he was then in town after lumber to be used in the sinking of a shaft and that everything was being pushed forward to be in shape to begin the shipping out of coal as soon as the railroad reaches the place. Belknap, he believes, will make a good town, as there will be likely from 200 to 500 men regularly employed. This, of course, will depend upon the demand for coal. Like all others who have examined the coal out there, Mr. Hardy says the quality is all right.—Graham Leader.

J. J. Cowden, of the Fort Worth and Denver at Henrietta, was in the city today en route to Petrolia to visit his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Cowden.

T. H. Marberry, formerly cashier of the Farmers' and Merchants' National Bank of Henrietta, but now a business man of Corpus Christi, was here today en route to Archer City on business.

Mr. Charles A. Tuttle and wife and Mrs. C. L. Kingston of Fairmont, North Dakota, and Mr. H. E. Crandle of St. Paul, Minnesota, who have been touring in California, were in the city yesterday, the guests of Col. A. F. Fassett.

E. M. Rodgers, manager for the Southwestern Telephone Company of this city, who has been in Dallas under treatment of specialists for his eyes, returned yesterday and took charge of the company's business this morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Mont Hart of Archer City were in the city today on their return from San Antonio and Weatherford, where they had been visiting relatives. They were accompanied home by Mrs. C. C. Wall, Mrs. Hart's sister, who will visit with them indefinitely.

James McGrath, one of Wichita county's successful farmers, who resides four miles southwest of this city, was in town today and reports crop prospects very flattering in his neighborhood. Mr. McGrath says that he has been farming in Texas fourteen years and that this is the first time he has been able to plant his corn in March. He has also a good stand of cotton that he planted early for an experiment that is now looking nicely.

Keep us in mind for your April trade. We can handle it to your satisfaction.

BISHOP'S CUP CHOCOLATE

CONVENIENT—because only boiling water is required to prepare Cup Chocolate—and it is ready for drinking in a minute's time.

ECONOMICAL—because the chocolate, milk and sugar for one cup of Cup Chocolate costs but 2½c. The milk alone for chocolate made in the old way costs about 2½c.

SAFE—because milk used in Cup Chocolate is carefully sterilized, and there is nothing safer or more nourishing than Bishop's Cup Chocolate. 10c, 20c and 30c packages.
