WICHITA FALLS, TEXAS, FRIDAY, MAY 8, 1908

NUMBER 308

COME OUT TO-NIGHT

MASS MEETING OF CITIZENS WILL BE HELD AT THE COURT HOUSE TONIGHT.

OPERA HOUSE QUESTION

Will Be Finally Settled and Seats for the First Performance Will Be Auctioned.

C. W. Bean, president of the Chamber of Commerce, has issued a call for a mass meeting of citizens to be held at the court house tonight for the purpose of determining definitely the question as to whether Wichita Falls shall have a $25,000 opera house.

Up to date $20,000 of the capital stock has been subscribed and paid for, secured by note. It will require the sum of $36,250 to buy the lot, erect the building and equip the same.

The lowest bid for the construction work was that of Brown & Cranmer of this city, which was $27,900. The job will cost $3,000. Architects, $1,395, and seating and furnishing, $4,000, making a total of $36,295.

The purpose of the mass meeting tonight is to sell tickets for the first attraction to appear in the opera house after its completion and those at the head of the movement hope to raise as much as $8,000 or $10,000 by advance ticket sales. This is the plan that most towns adopt when they construct first class opera-houses. This plan will appeal to many who did not feel able to subscribe for stock, but who doubtless will gladly encourage the movement to secure for Wichita Falls a first class opera house by buying tickets at fancy prices for the opening night.

As the Times understands it, the seats are to be auctioned off and this of itself will create a great deal of interest at the mass meeting.

Everyone interested in the growth and prosperity of Wichita Falls should manifest a sufficient amount of patriotism to attend this mass meeting tonight, which is to finally determine whether or not this city is to build the opera house on the plans already drawn up, and which will be exhibited and explained to the audience tonight at the court house.

Don't fail to attend. Every ticket sold will help the movement along and nothing should be allowed to interfere.

The Christian Church Revival.

The audience last night was large and the attention was all that could be wished for. The sermon was the best of the series on "Bearing the Cross." The glory of the crown that awaits the cross-bearing is sufficient compensation for all the sacrifices made in bearing the cross. "No cross, no crown" was forcefully put.

The service tonight will be of unusual interest. Prof. Ridenour will render a song, "The Ninety and Nine," illustrated with ten fine strophical views. This will put real life in the song.

The sermon will be on "Counting the Cost." We appreciate the attendance and interest manifested in the meeting. Some of all the churches are attending. The ministers of the city are co-operating beautifully and many of the people are becoming interested, but so many are indifferent.

I wish that all would realize that this life is fleeting and passing and that eternity is before us, and that Christ alone can save and gain for each one an entrance into the home of the blessed on the other side of this life. Preachers can conduct funerals, but they cannot save the man or woman who neglects or rejects the Christ and His salvation here, from hell and everlasting despair. Then I warn the unsaved to prepare for that great day which is fast coming to us all. Come and surrender to the Christ and be saved. This is the message we bring you, kind friend.

No day service tomorrow. Service at 8 p. m.

Men's meeting Sunday at 3 p. m. All men cordially invited to come.

A. J. BUSH, Pastor.

Funeral of Mrs. Giles.

The remains of Mrs. Frank Giles, who died in a hospital at Dallas yesterday, reached here this afternoon and were met at the Denver depot by a number of friends of the family and escorted to Riverside cemetery, where interment took place.

The family formerly resided in this city, Mr. Giles being a plumber by trade. From here the family moved to Gainesville, and Mrs. Giles, becoming very ill, was taken to Dallas to have an operation performed in the hope of saving her life, with the results as above stated.

Finding of the Tenth Body.

By Associated Press.
LaPorte, Ind., May 8.—The tenth body was turned up by the diggers at the Guinness farm shortly before 9 o'clock this morning. It is apparently the skeleton of a man.

Only Three Bodies Identified.

By Associated Press.
LaPorte, Ind., May 8.—New evidence connecting Roy Lamphere with the more recent deaths at the Guinness farm and the possible discovery of additional graves on the premises were the chief developments expected today.

By the discovery of the bodies fresh mysteries confront the authorities. Thus far only nine victims have been identified. Despite the searching investigation of the sheriff and the State attorney, there is yet almost no clew to the identity of these bodies. Their task is complicated by the fact that the bodies have been in the ground at least fifteen months.

LOSS OVER $1,250,000

BUSINESS SECTION OF ATLANTA, GA., SWEEP BY DISASTROUS FIRE TODAY.

FIREMEN HANDICAPPED

Low Water Pressure Prevents Effective Work—Fire Brought Under Control at 8:30 O'Clock.

By Associated Press.
Atlanta, Ga., May 8.—The fire in the business district was under control at 8:30. The loss is estimated at a million and a quarter dollars.

By Associated Press.
Atlanta, Ga., May 8.—A half dozen business blocks lie in ruins this morning as the result of a fire which started near the terminal station at about 3:30 o'clock and which at 7 o'clock was sweeping through the business section of the city. The loss is already estimated at a half a million dollars, with a prospect that before the fire is brought under control the amount will be doubled.

Several small hotels and one large one have been reduced to heaps of brick and mortar. Four business blocks are wrecked and the fire is eating in all directions. The block bounded by Madison, Forsythe, Nelson and Mitchell streets has been destroyed.

The firemen are handicapped by a low water pressure and the situation had not been remedied at 8 o'clock. At a later hour the fire was wiping out the business blocks in the direction of the center of the city and was threatening the entire business district. So far as is known, no one has been injured.

The "500" Club Entertained.

Several guests, besides the members of the "500" club, were delightfully entertained yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. C. B. Toney. They were received at the door by the hostess and escorted into the parlor, where bowls of deepest red lac roses shed forth a glow of beauty and good cheer.

After a most exciting game, the prize was cut for, Mrs. J. T. Montgomery being the happy winner of a lovely water color, the work of the hostess' sister, Miss Lucile Sherrod.

A brief business meeting was held, Mrs. Woodward, the president, presiding. It was with much regret that her resignation was received, Mrs. Woodward having to give up the office on account of bad health. Mrs. Tom Reese was chosen for the new president.

Mrs. Toney, in her usual gracious manner, made everyone enjoy themselves. It was one of the gayest parties of the season.

A two course luncheon, consisting of shrimp salad pimentas, sandwiches, olives and wafers, and ice cream and cake was served. The meeting adjourned to meet next with Mrs. Walsh.

THIS CITY WILL HAVE BALL TEAM

It is now almost a certainty that Wichita Falls will have a ball team this season. Money is being raised today for a fund to repair the ball park and if the necessary amount is raised the owner will not sow the ball grounds in millet, as he had planned, and the name of Wichita Falls will again be heard in baseball circles in this section of the State.

About one hundred dollars will be required to make the necessary repairs at the ball park and a considerable part of this has already been subscribed.

The team this season will be comprised of all home players, who are waiting only for the citizens to fix up the park before they organize to devote a part of their time and energies for the pleasure of the fans.

Among those who are mentioned as probable members of the team are Arthur and William Huff, Elmer Fligo, Ira Brown, Joe Jones, Fred and Carroll Smith, Oscar Black and William Biberback.

Last year's experiment in baseball was not very satisfactory for Wichita Falls, and it is believed that a home talent team, managed by some home man, will draw as good crowds and will certainly be more successful in a financial way than a team of professional players, costing a lot of money to maintain.

ANOTHER IS SLUGGED

J. B. CHANEY IS FOUND UNCONSCIOUS AFTER HE HAD BEEN ROBBED.

TWO ARE UNDER ARREST

Bad Hold-Up Men are Caught With the Goods on Them.

J. B. Chaney, who recently moved back to this city from Amarillo to engage in the blacksmithing business, was found lying unconscious on the Katy tracks near the Katy depot at about 11 o'clock last night, with an ugly wound in and above his left eye, which had apparently destroyed the sight of that member.

A heavy ash board about four feet in length was found lying near where Chaney was found and it is believed to have been the weapon with which he was struck.

Officers Pickett and Jernigan of the city police force were immediately notified of the assault upon Chaney, and after carrying him to a physician's office they started out to look for his assailants. Within less than an hour after the discovery of the assault, they found two men sleeping in a car of brick not more than one hundred yards distant from the scene of the assault and at the head of one of the sleeping men was found a pocket knife and a gold watch which Chaney had been wearing. Both men were arrested and are now held at the county jail awaiting a preliminary hearing bearing upon a charge of assault and murder.

Chaney was on a "jamboree" when he was assaulted and has not fully recovered from the effects of the blow dealt him by the robbers and this morning was still too dazed to tell a clear story of the affair. He maintains, however, that there were four men in the party which assaulted him and claims to have had about $13 in money in his pocket, which has not yet been recovered. The watch found with the men has been fully identified as the one worn by Chaney.

Chaney also believes that he was assaulted some little distance from the spot where he was found and that he was dragged to the tracks, probably for the purpose of having his body run over by a passing train.

The two men arrested give their names as W. F. Randle and Tom Phillips. Both are tough looking customers and the officers are convinced that they have the right men. The two men were first seen in town a few days ago and on the evening before the robbery are said to have been in J. W. Roffig's saloon near the Denver depot.

Randle, who is about 32 years of age, gives Waco as his home. Like the fellow who was charged with the robbery of a Burkburnett man here about ten days ago, he pretended to be deaf and dumb and had been "panhandling" in the streets. Phillips, the other man, pretended to be a cripple and walked about with a heavy hickory stick, with which the officers believe he may have struck Chaney. He says that he came here from Fort Worth and that his home is in Kentucky.

One of the men arrested in connection with the assault and robbery last night waived the right of a preliminary hearing. The other is having his trial this afternoon before Justice Brothers.

At the Airdome.

A very clever and funny musical comedy was presented last night at the Airdome theatre by the Allen Curtis company in "A New York Girl," and the audience was just as much delighted over it and laughed just as much as at the other performances. The comedy work of the comedians, Messrs. Curtis, Clamage and Leonard was one scream of laughter.

The play was full of catchy musical hits and funny situations.

Herbert Lindly plays the straight part in the way you want it played, and as he has a very pleasing voice he received great applause.

Mr. Charles Figg's imitation of Buster Brown was clever and pleased the audience. He was also assisted by Miss Cleveland as Mary-Jane in a little sketch. In fact, the entire company is well balanced and the frequent applause and recalls showed how the spectators were pleased with each specialty.

"Whirly Girl" will be the play tonight and it promises to be one of the most laughable plays during the week.

Randlett Dons War Paint.

One of the principal characteristics of the towns in the Big Pasture in Oklahoma appears to be a disposition to quarrel with each other. Kell and Eschitt, it seems, are getting about ready to smoke the pipe of peace, but before the soothing nicotine can take effect Randlett sounds the war whoop and takes a belligerent attitude. The following dispatch appeared in the Lawton Democrat yesterday:

Randlett, Okla., May 6.—It is rumored upon reliable authority that the towns of Eschitt and Kell have decided to unite and build a big town on the line of the Wichita Falls and Northwestern railroad west of Randlett.

Whether they will move onto the Kell townsite or down on section 29, is not known. The Lawton, Wichita Falls and Northwestern railroad officials have secured twenty-three acres for sidings at the junction which may mean more than appears upon the surface. Another bank has been started in Kell and Frederick merchants are going to that town, but whether they will make that the big town or not is left for the future to determine.

It is said that the merchants are to start stores at the junction of the two roads on Section 29. But should they get too gay the people of Randlett will file protests with the secretary of the interior and prevent another rival town to be built between Eschitt and Randlett. The government must protect governmental townsites or suits will be brought to settle the matter according to contract.

A good audience at the skating rink last night heard Rev. George L. Bush deliver an able and inspiring message upon the theme, "Conviction of Sin." At this meeting there was another addition to the church.

Much interest is also being manifested in the afternoon meetings and there is reason to believe that much good will be accomplished.

Tonight at 8 o'clock Rev. Bush will speak upon the subject, "Bearing the Cross."

A most cordial invitation is extended to all to attend these meetings.

LIME AND ALFALFA.

A. D. McNair in Farm and Ranch.
I have never seen alfalfa do well, naturally, except in a soil which contains considerable lime, and any of the readers of Farm and Ranch have seen such a thing I shall be glad to know it. The black waxy soils of Texas are rich in lime and the alfalfa regions of other States are in the limestone regions. In Arkansas, there are three well defined alfalfa regions, two of which I have visited. One region is Southwest Arkansas, in the counties of Hempstead, Seyler and Little Rock, in the black waxy soils of these counties. Another region where it is doing splendidly is along the White River, particularly between Batesville and Newport. At Batesville and above, the water flows through the limestone hills and has carried a limy deposit down the river for ages; and while I have no analyses of the black loamy soils along the river between Batesville and Newport, I do not see how they can help being strongly impregnated with lime. In this vicinity the alfalfa business is growing rapidly as may be seen from the census returns of 139 acres of alfalfa in Independence county in 1900 whereas there are more than 1,000 acres there now; and I have a letter from a man who has 125 acres along the river and expects to sow another 125 acres next spring.

Outside of limestone regions I do not find alfalfa, or, at least, not more than an acre or two here and there, and that is having a hard struggle to live. I have seen, however, in South Arkansas, an instance of the effect of the application of lime on alfalfa on a sandy soil which is deficient in lime. A barrel of lime was spread over about one-fourth of an acre and the alfalfa was more than twice as large and a better color with the lime than without it. It was sowed last fall and I visited it the latter part of March, at which time the limed alfalfa was 15 inches tall, whereas the unlimed plants were but six inches tall.

In view of this effect of lime on the growth of alfalfa, it becomes a practical question whether or not it will pay to buy lime to apply to the non-limey soils for the alfalfa crop. I will say that there are numerous lime kilns in North Arkansas from several of which lime can be bought loose in car-lots at prices ranging from $3.30 to $4.50 per ton and that the freight to points within the State on the principal railroads ranges from a little less than two dollars per ton to a little more than that figure.

Assuming an application of 1,200 pounds of stone lime per acre (which will make approximately a ton of air slaked lime, and assuming that one application will last four or five years, the cost would be but a little more than a dollar per acre per year.

A good way to apply this lime is to put it in small piles at convenient distances apart, cover with fresh earth and let it slake and when the slaking is complete, scatter it with a shovel.

If any of the readers of Farm and Ranch have had experience with lime on alfalfa I hope they will send that experience in for the benefit of all.

The demand for residence or rent houses has not diminished. On the contrary, there are more people hunting houses in Wichita Falls today than ever before. Parties who have idle capital cannot do better than to buy lots and build houses on them for rent. Every new house that is going up now has from one to a dozen applications to rent. The scarcity of rent houses has been the cause in several instances of extortionate rentals, and there is nothing that will so soon and so effectively disgust prospective home-seekers with a town as the practice of extortion for the necessities of life. The company organized some time ago for the development of Wichita Falls, it occurs to the Times, could find a fine opportunity for the investment of a part of its capital stock in the building of a few neat cottages.

Mr. Hearst is not the first man to make the discovery that fusion in politics is a mistake. Mr. Bryan has made that discovery, and it is safe to assert in advance that the Denver convention is not going to make a compromise by nominating a democrat for the head of the ticket and a populist for the tail. There may be no chance for a democratic presidential victory this year, but the chances would be less were the party to make the mistake it did when it attempted to fuse with the populists.

The great majority of the people of Burkburnett are anti-Bailey from the fact that they are readers and thinkers and are against Bailey solely on his past record—not from the influence of campaign howlers and fictitious literature.—Burkburnett Star.

Crop Conditions. Messrs. C. Dean, who resides down the south side of the Wichita river, and Henry Ford of near Holliday, were in the city yesterday. Both are representative farmers and say that prospects for a splendid wheat and oat crop were never better, and say that the cotton and corn acreage is far greater this year than that of last.

 Before being controlled the fire destroyed two business blocks. The loss is conservatively estimated at a million and a half dollars.

The Terminal Hotel had two hundred guests registered when the fire started a block away. Everyone escaped.

The fire is believed to have originated through some defect in the electric elevator in the Schlessinger building.

The fire was controlled at the east terminal, after ruining the Chilias hotel.

Mitchell street from Madison avenue to Forsythe, during the progress of the fire, was a great furnace, flames shooting across the street from either side and with falling walls everywhere.

Not a fireman, however, was injured.

What Present Day Methodism Is Expecting of the Young Person

PASTOR SMOKED UNTIL TIME HE ENTERED THE MINISTRY.

HE ENJOYED BILLIARDS

Noted New York Pastor Expresses Liberal Views on the Amusement Question.

- ◆ YOUNG MAN'S CONDUCT IF CHURCH MEMBER ◆
- ◆ May he play cards and billiards? ◆
- ◆ May he attend the theatre? ◆
- ◆ May he drink wine? ◆
- ◆ May he dance? ◆
- ◆ May he smoke? ◆

In cases of neglect of duties of any kind, imprudent conduct, indulging in sinful tempers or words, the buying, selling or using of intoxicating liquors as a beverage, signing petitions in favor of granting license for the sale of intoxicating liquors, becoming bondsmen for persons engaged in such traffic, renting property as a place in or on which to manufacture or sell intoxicating liquors, dancing, playing at games of chance, attending theatres, horse races, circuses, dancing parties or patronizing dancing schools, or taking such other amusements as are obviously of misleading or questionable tendency, or disobedience to the order and discipline of the church—first, let private reproof be given by the pastor or leader, and if there be an acknowledgment of the fault, and proper humiliation, the person may be borne with. On the second offense the pastor or leader may take one or two discreet members of the church. On the third offense let him be brought to trial, and if found guilty and there be no sign of humiliation, he shall be expelled.

Methodists are again face to face with the problem of the Young Person. Shall youths and maidens be permitted to dance, to go to the theatre and to join in the amusements of the world without endangering their spiritual life and bringing upon themselves the condemnation of the elders?

The question expressed in the form of overtures from various sections of the denomination, will come up before the general conference of the church, which met Wednesday in Baltimore.

That there is a strong tendency against the keeping on the statutes of the church drastic prohibitions against certain diversions is evident everywhere, and recently the New York conference adopted a resolution asking for the repeal of Section No. 248, about which the controversy has waged for years.

Theoretically, at least, the Methodist church is as much opposed to the giving of undue prominence to the amusements of the world as ever, but that leaders are beginning to recognize that the subject of recreation requires more study and attention than has hitherto been given it and that the time is at hand when new conditions must be met.

Methodism came into being when there was a reaction in England against the frivolity of the times. The church was founded in 1739 to use the words of the discipline, when "eight or ten persons who appeared to be deeply convinced of sin and earnestly desiring for redemption" went to John Wesley in London to advise with him how they might "flee from the wrath to come." It is set forth, therefore, that all those who wish to continue in the way shall continue to evidence their desire for salvation.

Slave holding, fighting, quarreling, vain, unprofitable conversation and such things were positively forbidden by the church. The whole Methodist attitude toward the world, however, is clearly expressed by John Wesley and those associated with him in the founding of the church in the simple words in which the prohibition is expressed:

"Doing what is not for the glory of God, as—
"The putting on of gold and costly apparel.

"The taking of such diversions as cannot be taken in the name of the Lord Jesus.

"The singing of those songs or the reading of those books which do not tend to the knowledge and the love of God."

Strict as were the Wesleyan rules, they never expressly prohibited the diversions later specified in section No. 248.

A chapter of advices was adopted which is simply admonition, and is begun with the statement that "improper amusements and excessive indulgence in innocent amusements are serious barriers to the beginning of the religious life and fruitful causes of spiritual decline." It is therefore suggested that the members of the church give due thought to their diversions and not make them merely the subjects of accident or taste or unguided inclinations, but that they rather apply "to their choice of their amusements a thoughtful and instructed conscience."

"It is the duty of every person who takes up the religious life," said the Rev. Dr. Goodell of Calvary Methodist Episcopal church, "to make the most of himself. I remember some years ago meeting two young men converts at the altar. 'Mr. Goodell,' asked one of them, 'if I join the church will I have to give up dancing, card playing and the theatre?' It seemed to me discouraging that a young man at the very beginning of his profession should have such a question as that uppermost in his mind.

"The other one said, 'Now that I have made up my mind to lead a Christian life I shall do all that I can to make the most of myself. I am much interested in science, and I shall give a good deal of attention to that, and there are many other subjects in which I will find means of occupying my time.'

"I wish that I might have changed the point of view of the first young man. It is the duty of everyone to make the most of himself in every way. If he does not he surely will fall behind in the race of life.

"It is easy enough to apply the test to amusements. Many practices that are innocent enough in themselves cause us to set a bad example to others. I know many godly and noble men who are smokers, yet the law of our church forbids its ministers to use tobacco. The candidate for the ministry is always asked if he uses tobacco in any form. I smoked when I was in college and gave up the habit when I entered the ministry.

"If the minister smokes he sets an example which may result in the boys and young men of his congregation adopting a habit which may prove harmful to them. Certainly no one could say there is anything harmful in playing billiards, but, unfortunately, the game is often linked with evil associations.

"When I was a student for the ministry I was very fond of the amusement, and one day I met a fellow student and he said he wished we could have a game of billiards. We were then in Boston and we started out to find a place where we could play. We went to a dozen or so and did not find one where liquor was not sold or the surrounding were unobjectionable.

"I do not mean to say that there were no places in Boston where the conditions were desirable, but we did not happen to find them. No Christian could have played in such places. In recent years, however, some of the church clubs have set up billiard and pool tables in their rooms.

"I do not care to go into an opinion on the subject of dancing, but surely it must be admitted that young girls should not be permitted to go unchaperoned to public dance halls and there dance with anybody who may happen to be there. Yet there are such places, and many of them in Harlem. Certainly such amusements as this cannot be countenanced by Christians.

"Some men are able to have wine on their tables and to hold themselves in such perfect control that they are in no danger whatever of yielding to over-indulgence in intoxicating drink. As a clergyman in the Methodist church, however, I consider it my duty to refrain from drinking wines because it would be regarded as setting a bad example.

"And, by the way, it seems to me that every Christian should in the choice of his diversions and amusements consider the question of the effect that his acts might have upon others. Card playing in itself is an innocent enough amusement, but the young men and women of the Methodist church must consider to what it is likely to lead.

"May it not develop a love of play which is excessive and will eventually lead to race track betting and other objectionable forms of gambling? The same rule must be applied to the going to theatres as to everything else in the way of amusements. I would leave such matters to the individual conscience.

"In connection with the use of the subject I was recently placed in a false light before the community. There was a young woman singing in the choir of Calvary church who was also connected with a chorus in one of the theatres. I was not aware of the fact and knew nothing of it until she came to my house one morning and told me she had received an anonymous note to the effect that owing to the fact that she sang in a chorus her presence was not desired in the choir.

"I told her to pay no attention to the note and told her that as far as I was concerned she could remain in the choir as long as she wished.

"She had hardly left my house before the telephone bell began to ring and I was besieged with inquiries from the newspapers concerning her. I was even quoted as saying I did not believe that a person could be a Christian and yet remain on the stage. I never expressed such a view. Had she been a relative of mine I would have strongly advised her not to remain in comic opera chorus, but as taking so narrow a view as has been attributed to me, I would not stand in the way of anyone who came to church for the purpose of taking part in the religious exercises. If, however, the idea uppermost in the mind of such a person was self-advertisement rather than sincere worship my view would be different.

"I think that much in the present vaudeville performances does not conform to high ideals, and I do not think young men and women who wish to lead Christian lives should seek such entertainments.

"The Methodist church is trying to do all that it can to point out that the amusements are secondary in the Christian life, and that they must not interfere with its members attaining the highest ideals, and, in short, with their making the most of themselves."

"Those who have followed the situation in the Methodist church believe that the opposition to the repeal of section No. 248 will largely come from the west.

This is the Cream of the Agricultural Land of Texas.

That fact alone would insure the future success and prosperity of Olney. But the half is not told. Within twelve miles of Olney lies Thousands of Acres of Coal.

The greatest bituminous deposit of the Southwest in inexhaustible quantities underlie this entire region. Experts who have prospected and tested this field assert that

The Coal Field near Olney, Texas,

Is greater than McAlester, more extensive than Lehigh and compares favorably with Pittsburg, Pa.

THE THREE GUARANTORS OF GREATNESS FOR ANY CITY ARE

FUEL, WATER, TRANSPORTATION

OLNEY Has the fuel. There is enough high grade coal in this locality to turn the spindles of 1,000 looms for a hundred years.

OLNEY Has the water. From a few feet to the depth where Artesian wells overflow with a bountiful supply equal to all demands.

OLNEY Has the transportation facilities. "THE WICHITA ROUTE" running two ways out of Wichita Falls, Texas, making connection with the FRISCO on the Northwest and the TEXAS & PACIFIC on the south, leading to all parts of the world and to the gulf ports.

OLNEY Without a railroad has been one of the busiest inland towns in middle west Texas. Since the advent of the Wichita & Southern Railroad a new townsite has been surveyed to better serve the increasing demands of this growing city. Every citizen of Olney has his shoulder to the wheel. Every man is a walking, talking advertisement who has looked into the merits of Olney.

OLNEY Presents an unexampled opportunity for the investor to come in on the ground floor, secure these business and residence lots at first prices. Start with this future metropolis and keep pace with our wonderful civilization.

You will have to act quickly to get the benefit of this offer. He who hesitates is lost. The prizes of life go to the bold, the daring, where they belong. The man who works for wages gets all he asks, all he expects—his regular pay. The laboring class ever neighbor with poverty. No man ever made a fortune or even a competency working for wages. Investing your dollars is the sure way that leads to the golden castle on the hill of wealth. The surest of all sure ways is real estate investment.

The lots will sell cheaper on the day of sale than ever after. On that day your price is our price. The highest bid gets the lot. Positively, every lot goes.

One and one-third fare the round trip. Ft. Worth & Denver Railroad, Ft. Worth to Childress, Wichita Valley Railroad from Byars to Abilene. On the M., K. & T. from Sherman, Denison, Denton and intermediate points.

SENATE OF LILLIPUT.

The Way Dr. Johnson Outwitted the House of Commons.

Parliamentary bodies were long a great stronghold of resistance to the press. Reporters were strictly barred from them, and reports of their proceedings were sternly punished. It was among the triumphs for the right and for common sense which Franklin achieved that he caused the chamber of the provincial assembly of Pennsylvania to be thrown open to publicity. Nevertheless no reports were allowed of either the Continental congress or the constitutional convention.

Dr. Johnson's violation of the cherished privacy of the British house of commons is a classic story. He reported its debates without entering its sacred precincts, and in order to escape the severe penalties of the law he reported them without mentioning the body or any of its members by name. Setting up an imaginary "senate of Lilliput" and giving fictitious names to the leading members of parliament, he edified for years the readers of the Journal which then boasted the "largest circulation" in England.

Receiving a few scanty notes of what was going on at Westminster, he elaborated them into a brilliant spread. He was, indeed, the illustrious founder of the immortal craft of rewriters. His discerning readers came to know not only that the senate of Lilliput was the house of commons, but that "Blifscud" stood for France and "Mildendo" for London; that "Sprugs" meant pounds, that "Narcac" was the Duke of New castle, and so on. What his notes lacked his imagination readily supplied.

Never was the eloquence of parliament more brilliant than in Johnson's reports of the debates, in which he admitted, he took care that the Whig dogs got the worst of it, although Pitt himself must have felt mollified when he read the wonderful outburst attributed to him by Johnson on "the atrocious crime of being a young man." It is the best remembered of all Pitt's speeches, and it was written by Johnson "in a garret in Exeter street."—Boston Globe.

A SMART ENGLISHMAN.

The Story He Told of His Experience in "the States."

A tall, practical Englishman went over to "the States" the other day from London. He took lodgings at an inn in a small village, which shall be nameless. He had dinner, and among those who sat at the table with him was the waiting maid, whom he designated as "servant," but he received an indignant correction from the landlord.

"We call our servants, sir," he says. "They are not oppressed; they are not Russian serfs."

"All right," said the Britisher; "I shall remember."

And he did, for in the morning he awoke the whole house by calling out at the top of his voice, which was like the tearing of a strong rag:

"Help, help! Water, water!"

It is an instant every person equal to the task rushed into his room with a pail of water.

"I am much obliged to you, I am sure," he said, "but I don't want so much water, you know. I only want enough to shave with."

"Shave with?" said the landlord, "What did you mean by calling: 'Help! Water?' We thought the house was afire."

"You told me to call the servant 'help,' and I did. Did you think I would cry 'Water' when I meant fire?" The explanation, it would seem, was satisfactory, and he can call the servants "servants" as much as he likes at that place now.—London Answers.

Not Very Flattering.

When the artist had finished his scenic sketch of the stretch of woods skirting the suburban road, he looked up and beheld a serious faced Irishman whom he had previously noticed digging in a trench by the roadside gazing queerly at his canvas.

"Well," said the artist familiarly, "do you suppose you could make a picture like that?"

The Irishman mopped his forehead a moment and, with a deep sigh, answered: "Sure; a mon c'n do anything if he's driv to ut!"—Argonaut.

Some Good Anagrams.

The following is a list of very remarkable anagrams:

Astronomers, no more stars; catalogues, got as a clew; elegant, neat leg; impatient, Tim is a pet; matrimony, into my arm; melodrama, made moral; midshipman, mind his map; old England, golden land; parishioners, I hire parsons; parliament, partial men; penitentiary, nay, I repent it; Presbyterian, best in prayer; revolution, to love ruin; sweetheart, there we sat; telegraphs, great helps.

A Neat Selection.

"That's a nice umbrella you have there?"

"Ain't it? Reflects credit on my taste, doesn't it?"

"It certainly does. Where did you get it?"

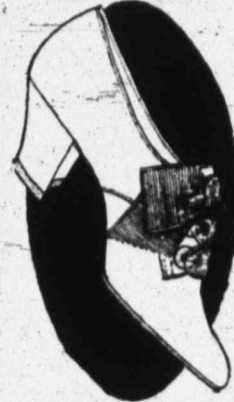

"Picked it out of a bunch of seven that were standing in the boarding house hall this morning."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Prohibition Issue Certain.
Sterling P. Strong, chairman of the prohibition submission committee, says the submission of the prohibition issue at the coming democratic primaries is now assured beyond all chance of doubt, as petitions already have more than 29,000 signatures. Thousands more will be obtained, however, according to Mr. Strong.

"The petitions are still being circulated," he said. "We want to get as many signatures from every section of the State as possible before going before the democratic executive committee, in order to show the politicians of the State how strong the prohibition sentiment is in Texas."

"We have until June 4 to present the petition to the democratic executive committee, and as it will comply with the statutes, they will have to submit the prohibition issue to the democratic voters. I think there is no doubt about the result of the primary election as far as that issue is concerned. We are directing most of our attention to county organization now. I am elated over conditions."

"A prohibition rally will be held in Dallas, Fort Worth or Waco, June 15. The name of the city in which the rally will be held will be announced by the executive committee later. It has not yet been definitely decided."

Pastors' Association Notice.

The pastors in their regular meeting Monday morning, May 4th, 1908, after a general discussion of the work, desiring to co-operate with one another in all revival services, yet in view of the fact that the meetings already announced for the summer will cover a period of time to such an extent that a suspension of Sunday night services throughout all of these services would practically close some of our churches, it was determined that all should dismiss one Sunday night service for each meeting. All prayer meetings will be dismissed during the meetings, but not the business meetings that may need to be called from time to time.

The pastors desire that their respective congregations attend the various meetings and work together, showing a co-operative Christian spirit.

All the churches will dismiss their morning service next Sunday morning in deference to the baccalaureate sermon.

All the churches will hold their regular services next Sunday night, dismissing their services in behalf of the revival of the Christian church Sunday night, May 17th, and dismissing the regular night services June 7th in behalf of the meeting of the Methodist Episcopal church and one Sunday night for the meeting of the Methodist Church, South.

J. J. DALTON, President.
R. E. FARLEY, Secretary.
