PETITION IS FILED

GOVERNMENT ASKS FOR REHEARING OF THE STANDARD OIL COMPANY CASE.

TO PRESERVE ELKINS LAW

Petition Represents Administration's Attempt to Prevent Act From Becoming Useless.

BULLETIN—Chicago, Ill., Aug. 21.—The motion of Attorney General Bonaparte for a rehearing of the Standard Oil case, in which the twenty-nine million dollar fine was assessed, was unexpectedly granted this morning in the United States Court of Appeals, which reversed the decision of Judge Landis, when he found the company guilty and assessed the fine.

By Associated Press.

Chicago, Ill., Aug. 21.—The government's petition for the rehearing by the United States Court of Appeals of the case against the Standard Oil Company of Indiana was filed today and represents, it is authoritatively stated, the administration's attempt to save the Elkins act and interstate commerce commission law from becoming futile. The filing of the petition marked the appearance of Attorney General Bonaparte in the case, as well as Frank B. Kellogg, who is special assistant to the attorney general. Besides these two names the petition is signed by Edward W. Sims, district attorney at Chicago, and Special Assistant James H. Wilson, both of whom presented the government's side of the case in the original hearing before Judge Landis, who administered the famous fine of $29,000,000 against the defendant.

The petition is very lengthy and sets forth that the point on which Judge Landis was reversed by Judge Bonaparte's decision relates to his ruling on evidence and his charge to the jury with reference to ignorance on the part of the Standard Oil Company of the lawful rate as a defense.

It is said in the opinion that he refused to admit evidence to the effect that the Standard Oil Company did not know what the lawful rate was. The fact is, and the record so shows, that all evidence tending to show ignorance on the part of the Standard Oil Company was admitted for the consideration of the jury.

This evidence was largely that of the traffic manager of the Standard Oil Company, Bogardus, who swore to a conversation with Hollands, the rate clerk of the Alton, in which he said Hollands told him that the rate had been fixed. The government met this testimony by a great array of circumstances which tended to disprove it and the jury found in favor of the government.

The trial judge ruled that ignorance on the part of a shipper of what the lawful rate was could be interposed as a defense, but that it would not constitute a defense if it appeared that the ignorance was the result of neglect on the part of the shipper or of willful failure on the part of the shipper to resort to the sources of information which were available.

The government contends that this is the correct construction of the statute on this subject.

The court of appeals lays down the rule that it is necessary for the government to show beyond a reasonable doubt, as a part of its case that the shipper actually knew what the lawful published and filed rate was.

The government contends that this is an impossible rule; that it is contrary to the purpose of the Elkins act; that it is contrary to the general rule applicable in criminal cases; that put into effect it would make of the interstate commerce act "a mere will-the-wisdom legislation, a phantom statute, destitute of strength or substance."

The government strenuously contends that the effect of the construction of the statute announced by the court of appeals is to nullify the interstate commerce act so far as shippers are concerned; to make its enforcement impossible, and to plunge the country again into the deplorable condition of railroad discriminations and favoritism which existed prior to its passage.

The government contends that each shipment is the basis of a distinct offense; and that in this case each carload was a separate shipment.

The government takes issue with the circuit court of appeals as to its proposition that a defendant cannot be fined more than the value of the property which he possesses and states that this rule is an innovation in criminal law and if applied would destroy the enforcement of most statutes.

The government claims that the facts before the court of appeals justify the imposition of the penalty inflicted by the trial judge.

The government claims that on account of the size of the fine alone, there is no necessity for retrial of the case; that the circuit court of appeals may, itself, name the fine which should be imposed and calls upon the court to do so in case it adheres to the view that Judge Landis abused his discretion in imposing so large a fine.

The petition concludes: "It is therefore respectfully submitted:

"That the opinion of this court is based upon a misconception of the record with reference to the rulings of the trial judge as to the admission of evidence tending to show want of knowledge, and with reference to his construction of the statute on that subject, and the theory on which the cause was tried; that the evidence of Bogardus which it is claimed showed want of knowledge was admitted, that it was overcome, however, by the facts and circumstances of the case, and that the evidence as an entirety was sufficient to show actual knowledge, or what in law was its equivalent.

"That the interpretation of the statute by this court, imposing no duty on the shipper and permitting a defense of ignorance to be made without regard to the negligence of the shipper, is contrary to the language of the statute and to its purpose, and seriously impairs the efficiency of the act.

"That the ruling stated in the opinion (Continued on Page 8.)

What Wichita Falls is Doing in the Way of Building.

There are more than twenty-five new residences now going up, and some of them will be really beautiful structures and will cost between $5,000 and $10,000 each. Among the latter is that of Mrs. Addicks on West Tenth street, which is now nearing completion.

Mr. C. E. Reid has also let the contract for a handsome residence to be constructed on the lot between G. D. Anderson and O. T. Bacon on the west side of Burnett avenue, between Ninth and Tenth street. The old house which formerly occupied this lot has been removed and the work of laying the foundation for the new building is under way.

Jones & Orlopp, architects, are preparing plans for a new residence for Mr. Frank Kell, to be erected on the site of the one he and his family now occupy on the west side of Scott avenue, between Ninth and Tenth streets. It will cost when completed between $6,000 and $10,000.

Mrs. Page has constructed on the rear end of her lot on the northeast corner of Lamar avenue and Tenth street a neat two-story frame residence.

The Moore & Beaman building on the southwest corner of Eighth street and Indiana avenue, is nearing completion, and when completed will cost in the neighborhood of $15,000, aside from the value of the 50x150 foot lot on which it stands. It will be the handsomest, if not the most expensive two-story brick structure in the city.

Work on the foundation of the new $35,000 opera house on the northeast corner of Indiana avenue and Tenth street, is again under way after a delay of a few days caused by lack of a sufficient amount of crushed rock.

The work of excavating for the foundation for the new city hall, a building that is to cost over $15,000, is about completed, and material for putting in the concrete foundation is being placed on the ground. It is expected that the cornerstone for this handsome structure, which is to be constructed on a 50x150 foot lot on the northwest corner of Ninth street and Ohio avenue, will be laid by the Masonic order on September 26th. The reason for selecting this date for the cornerstone event is that Wichita Falls was organized on September 27, 1852, but as the 27th falls on Sunday this year it was necessary to either celebrate on the day before or the day after, and it has about been decided to set the 26th for this important event, at which time Wichita Falls is expected to do her best in the way of entertaining the crowds of visitors expected here on that occasion.

A great deal towards getting ready for the making of pressed brick at the Wichita Falls brick and tile plant has already been accomplished and it is now thought that the plant will be in active operation by early fall. This enterprise represents an investment of over $60,000 and will give steady work to more than forty people the year round.

There are now at work a force of more than fifty men on Wichita Falls' sewerage system, in addition to the force which is operating the two large ditching machines, the largest of which digs a ditch to the depth of sixteen feet. This work will cost the city about $35,000 and when completed will cover all the business portion and a greater part of the residence portion of the city.

The new 50x130 foot one-story brick building on the west side of Indiana avenue between Seventh and Eighth streets, will be completed and occupied by the Wichita Valley Mercantile Company by September 15. This building is the property of the Wichita Falls Investment Company.

There are plans being made for many other business houses and residences and the outlook is that there will be no let-up in the building line in Wichita Falls for some time to come.

DARING ATTEMPT TO CHLOROFORM WOMAN

Gainesville Messenger.
Tuesday night about 12 o'clock the occurred at a home on South Dixon street one of the most daring plans of robbery which this city has experienced in a long time.

A lady who was sleeping near the window was awakened at the hour named by a peculiar hissing sound and thinking that her daughter, who was sleeping by her side, was ill, she spoke to her and inquired if anything was the matter. The child answered in the negative and in a few minutes the lady heard the sound again and this time discovered it was some one just outside the window using an atomizer filled with chloroform, which he was endeavoring to spray in her face. Just as she looked out of the window a voice said, "If you make a noise I'll kill you." The lady screamed at the top of her voice and the man broke and ran through the yard and jumped over the fence and hid in R. S. Rose's back yard. A young man was coming along about this time and hearing the lady scream and seeing the man fleeing, tried to stop him, but he tore loose and jumped over in the Rose yard.

By this time the neighbors had become aroused and many of them saw the man running away. A party thoroughly searched the neighborhood, but were unsuccessful.

The lady was badly frightened and a doctor was called. She was in bed all yesterday as the result of the scare. The burglar has never been found.

Good rains are reported east of Henrietta yesterday along the Katy line. Showers are also reported to have fallen in the vicinity of Oklaunion in Wilbarger county.

PARKER SPEAKS TO SEATTLE DEMOCRATS

By Associated Press.
Seattle, Wash., Aug. 21.—Judge Alton B. Parker spoke to an audience of about 1,800 people at the Coliseum last night. The meeting was held under the auspices of the Kings County Democratic Club and Bryan Volunteers. Judge Parker dealt with the issues of the national campaign, and he devoted his principal attention to the evils of great corporations, which he declared were fostered by the present high tariff. The remedy, he declared, was in the lowering of the tariff. He doubted if this would be done if the republicans were elected to power for the next four years.

He recommended a statute imposing jail sentences upon corporation officials convicted of contributing money to the campaign fund.

THE SPIRIT OF 1892

STEVENSON SAYS DEMOCRATS ARE STANDING SHOULDER TO SHOULDER.

PREDICTS BRYAN VICTORY

In Maine the Party is United, Says Leader, and Will Wage an Aggressive Fight.

Chicago, Ill., Aug. 20.—Former Vice President Adlai E. Stevenson, Democratic candidate for governor of Illinois, came to Chicago today from his home in Bloomington and for more than an hour conferred with Chairman Mack on the general situation.

In company with Francis Peabody, his campaign manager, Mr. Stevenson called on Chairman Mack at the national committee headquarters and discussed the problems that the democrats will meet in the fight in this State. Mr. Stevenson told the national chairman that from reports he had received he believed Illinois would go democratic for both the gubernatorial and national tickets.

Mr. Mack informed the former vice president that the national committee had planned an effective campaign in this State and that it would lend any aid required by those directing the gubernatorial fight. Mr. Stevenson will make several speeches in the State during the next two months and it is not unlikely that he may be called upon by the national committee to go outside his State on a short stumping tour.

Speaking of the democratic outlook in the national campaign this year, Mr. Stevenson said in his address at the Iroquois luncheon:

"It looks like a return of the democratic spirit of 1892 when Cleveland was elected. Everywhere I have spoken I have found democrats, formerly antagonistic to Mr. Bryan, with him now and they tell me that they wish to support me also. It is astonishing the assurances of support I have received from republicans, who declare that they believe the time has come for a change. If we put our shoulders to the wheel we can bring about a great democratic victory in November."

Hot Springs, Va., Aug. 21.—The delegation of Virginia republicans who arrived here today looked with apprehension on the lowering clouds, but the residents explained that the rain clouds were always out of the way by 2 p. m., when Judge Taft will make his speech to the Virginia republicans. The Chesapeake and Ohio railroad stopped selling excursion tickets to this place, explaining that they could not handle any more people.

Facts About the GREAT MAJESTIC RANGE

It is the only range in the world made of Malleable and Charcoal Iron. It has, beyond any question of a doubt, the largest and best reservoir. It uses about half the fuel used on other ranges and does better work by far.

The Majestic All Copper Nickered Reservoir heats the water quicker and hotter than any other. It is the only reservoir with a removable frame.

The Charcoal Iron Body of the Great Majestic Range lasts three times as long as a steel body.

Being made of non-breakable material, there is practically no expense for repairing the Majestic.

As for baking, it is perfection; not only for a few months, but for all time to come.

A Great Majestic Range lasts three times as long as a cheap range, but it don't cost three times as much.

PROOF—We don't ask you to take our word for any of the above statements, but if you will call at our store, a man from the factory, where Majestic Ranges are made, will prove to your satisfaction that these are absolute facts, and will show you many more reasons why the Great Majestic Range is absolutely the best that money can buy.

FRANKLIN STRATEGY.

How He Got People to Talking About His Almanac.

Benjamin Franklin was the first real American advertiser, and he turned some tricks in the publicity line that haven't been excelled yet.

When Franklin decided to publish Poor Richard's Almanac there was already an almanac in existence published by one Titan Leeds. Leeds' publication was well known, and Franklin, on the other hand, was not. How to get himself talked about was the problem that was up to Benjamin the wise.

In those days almanacs made a pretense of predicting the weather for the year to come. Franklin went one better and in his first issue gravely stated that his dear friend Titan Leeds and himself had disputed for nine years over a matter of a few days' difference in the dates which they had determined would be the day of Leeds' death.

According to Franklin, Leeds was to die on Oct. 17, 1733, while Leeds, according to Franklin, fixed the date at Oct. 26.

When Franklin's almanac came out Titan Leeds was furious. He tore his hair and went about calling Franklin a liar and a bun predictor. Leeds made so much fuss and to so many people that they flocked to Franklin's office to buy the almanac, just to see what it was all about.

Franklin, however, was too wise to be dragged into an argument with Leeds. He smiled and deprecated Leeds' excitement and kept his head and his temper.

The year rolled around, and Leeds did not die. When Leeds got out his almanac for 1734 he called attention gleefully to the fact that he was still alive and that Benjamin had guessed wrong.

In his 1734 almanac Franklin gravely stated that he could not say for sure whether Leeds was dead, according to his prediction, but he felt sure that it must be so, because while an almanac had appeared in Leeds' name somebody else must have written it. Said Franklin: "My dear friend Leeds was both a scholar and a gentleman and he never would have used such language about me as appears in the almanac bearing his name. We had always been the best friends and loved each other dearly. Leeds would never have forgotten his native courtesy so far as to attack me in this way. So Leeds must be dead."

By this time Leeds began to see that his tactics were a losing game, and he quit being a foil for Benjamin's wise moves.—Silent Partner.

INFORMATION ABOUT NEW SCHOOL BOOKS

What will the change in text-books to be used in the city schools cost the patrons?

The above question is one that is being discussed by patrons of the schools, teachers and others just now and opinions differ regarding the answer. Some maintain that it will cost several thousand dollars; others believe that the cost will be little or nothing.

Dealers who will handle the books in Wichita Falls say that taking this and next year into consideration, the change will cost but little more, if anything, than if the old texts had been retained. A little more will be expended for books this year, they say, but the decrease in what will be paid next year will almost make up for the difference.

School books are handed down from one child to another in most families and many of the books that would have been pressed into service this year are old ones that are in a very dilapidated condition. Some of the books could not last through the term and the pupils would be forced to purchase new ones to replace them. Many of the books have been in use from two to ten years.

The new books that are being sold will be used in the schools for the next five years without change.

Pupils have already begun to secure books for the coming term and the book dealers are receiving stacks of old books. Many of these old books are dog-eared, backs broken, covered with ink and finger prints, showing hard usage. As school books they have outlived their usefulness, but they are received by the dealers in exchange at half price. Later on these old books will be shipped to Dallas, where they will be sold by the pound to paper manufacturers to be ground up and made into new paper.

The following is a list of the new text books and their cost and the amounts that will be allowed in exchange by the dealers:

Tears, Regrets, Death and the Grave Follow Every Life.

They are inexorable, they are immutable! With life comes action, and actions cause regret, regrets cause tears, and tears are shed with every death, and with every death comes the grave. Our sorrow is lessened if we feel that our loved one sleeps well, and if in the seclusion of memory we cherish some kind act, we are happy with the thought that the dear departed sleeps more peacefully, knowing that they are not forgotten. It is a natural desire to live, to want our name perpetuated, so we erect monuments in memory, out of respect, and so that our loved one's last resting place will be marked. If you have not bought one, we know you are humane and intend to, but before doing so get our prices, let us show you the class of work we do, and the class of people who have already placed their orders with us.

Be kind to the old people! Have patience with what you call their childishness; their idiosyncrasies. Remember you were just as shockingly young and they looked with patience on your faults of youth and lovingly condoned them. They have had much more to bear from you than you have (in your imagination) now from them and at best, they can only remain with you a little while. So be patient, loving, kind and thoughtful of the old, and appreciate their wisdom which the weight of years has brought them. This they will gladly share with you, if you in your impatience do not disdain it. In return take a few minutes each day to show some thought or kind act for some old person of your acquaintance. Perhaps your beloved father and mother have passed into the realms of eternal brightness and you have no longer the opportunity to shower on them the love, respect and care which you rightfully owe them. If this is so, look about you, be kind to someone else's mother. You who have not thought upon this subject old are and how little there is left for them to enjoy in life. Neither do you know, unless you have tried, how much they do appreciate even being thought of, let alone receiving some act of thoughtfulness. Try it and see. If you haven't the money to do things material for them, then make up for it in deference to them. Listen to what they have to say, respectfully, even if you do not endorse it. If you are bound to disagree, there is a respectful and pleasant way in which to do so, and when you meet them have a smile, a pleasant word of greeting to send them rejoicing over a friend, and a pleasant place in life's highway. It takes little time only to be kind to the old. It is your duty, and should be your pleasure, to help make them happy.—Cleburne Enterprise.

Notice.

The Callahan Sensation is getting to be the talk of the town. Some think it is a circus coming to town, some think it is a magician coming, while others in their wild excitement don't know what to think. It is going to be the greatest mercantile battle that has ever taken place in this community. Mr. Morrison, the salesman and artistic decorator, states that the big parade will take place in the morning at 8:30 sharp. Something new and catchy. Watch for it. Bring the children.

"Holy Smoke" Replies to "Regular Reader."

Wichita Falls, Tex., Aug. 21.
Editor Times:—
After some genealogical ingenuity we reached the conclusion not long since that we were of Scotch-Irish descent, but recent discoveries prove that "it's" just "Wholly Smoke," not by any change of blood, but by information obtained through your correspondent, "Regular Reader."

It affords us mitigation to be allowed to express our regrets for calling "Regular Reader" a knocker, a title which "she" so much objects. We are glad that "Regular Reader" informed us that "she" was of the feminine gender, and on this information, together with the belief that what she said was for the good of the Times, we must sustain her objections, reversing our former opinion and allowing "Regular Reader" to remain as Wichita's bureau of "free advice."

Not since the days when we wore safety pins and three-cornered garments of security have we been accused of calling our mother a "knocker." You are right, for there's a bare possibility that we are neither of the feminine or masculine gender, but are just some "creeping-and-a-crawling-thing," looking after others of the "quid-nunc variety." Encircle this globe from Hong Kong to Hell Gate, from Honolulu to Hot Springs and from Helena to Halifax and you would be unable to find a man who would call his dear old mother a "knocker" just simply because she gave him castor oil instead of the much desired Castoria.

When we read "Regular Reader's" satirical discourse, "gently" informing us of "her" objections to being called a knocker, we were thrown into a seamyish quassation which necessitated the calling in of a couple of M. D.'s. We expected the doctors to come running, with hats and coats off, sleeves rolled up, ready not only to alleviate our pains, but also to form a belligerent power with us against "Regular Reader," but to our great chagrin and surprise they came in serene with a smile on their faces that reached from the point of their chins to the crown of their heads and were finally lost in their "whiskers." When we explained the matter to the doctors, telling them that never before had we "dabbled" in the newspaper business like "Regular Reader" had, we soon had their sympathy and are now able to report our convalescence.

"Regular Reader" says that we are "wholly smoke, fume without fire," but to prove to her that where there's fire there will also be found smoke, we quote from Exodus 19:18, in which we find the following comforting passage: "And Mount Sinai was altogether on a smoke, because the Lord descended upon it in fire; as the smoke thereof ascended as the smoke of a furnace, and the whole mount quaked greatly." This ought to satisfy "Regular Reader."

With railroad shops, twenty to fifty trains daily, flour mills and compresses, oil mills and ice plants, machine shops and iron foundries, cotton gins and electric light plants all smoking, why in the world does "Regular Reader" object to "Holy Smoke" doing some smoking through the columns of the Times? Yet she says here's for a "wholly smokeless Wichita Falls."

We believe in great truths of religion and the "gentle" influences of prayer, but realize that neither will stop a stampede of "Regular Reader's" defeated bronchos or even put out a holy smoke.

To show "Regular Reader" that the editor's salad recipe was something interesting, we give a "scripture coffee recipe" which would be a credit to the front page, even of the larger metropolitan daily papers. This recipe was handed us by a Wichita lady with the request that we ask the editor of the Times to publish it for the benefit of "Regular Reader."

Four and a half cups of 1 Kings 4: 22; one and a half cups of Judges 5:25 (last clause); two cups of Jeremiah 6:20 (sugar); two cups of 1 Samuel 30:12 (raisins); two cups of Nahum 3:12; one cup of Numbers 17:8; two tablespoonfuls of 1 Samuel 14:25. Season to taste of 11 Chronicles 9:9; six of Jeremiah 17:11; a pinch of Leviticus 2:13; half cup of Judges 4:19 (last clause); two tablespoonfuls of Amos 4:5 (baking powder). Follow Solomon's prescriptions for making a good boy (Proverbs 23:14) and you will have a good cake. We venture to say should this recipe miss the waste basket there will be more bibles handed within the next two days than ever before known in Wichita Falls within the same period of time.

Assuring "Regular Reader" that we have unswerving faith in God Almighty as the source of all good, the defender of every righteous cause and believe he has guided us in making reply to your objections, while in the meantime we remain with pleasure,
HOLY SMOKE.

B. F. YOAKUM SAYS 40,000 IDLE MEN WAITING TO VOTE

New York, Aug. 20.—Railroad employees, according to B. F. Yoakum, chairman of the executive committee of the Rock Island-Frisco lines, are losing every day through the present depression in trade $1,000,000 a day, or $25,000,000 a month. One-quarter of them, or about 400,000 men, are out of employment and are living on their rapidly diminishing savings. They will not forget this on election day, Mr. Yoakum says.

Construction of new lines has almost entirely ceased and for every 1,000 miles of new track that are not built 6,000 men lose permanent employment and 24,000 people a good living. The railroads are purchasing supplies at the rate of $500,000,000 instead of $1,250,000,000 a year. These facts, Mr. Yoakum believes, will have a marked influence upon the political situation at the November elections.

Mr. Yoakum has been speaking lately in Texas and St. Louis, and urged there that the most important element in the present industrial conditions was the enormous losses in wages and the stagnation caused by the stoppage of the development of the country. He has considered this phase of the present crisis deeply.

A reporter sought him yesterday at his farm at Farmingdale, L. I., and asked him how he believed the railroad men of the country would vote this year. Mr. Yoakum declined to answer directly, but said that he could at any rate say what is pressing itself day by day on the minds of the railroad men. He said:

Enormous Losses to Workers.

Hard times are now costing railroad employees $25,000,000 a month, or $1,000,000 for each working day. This decrease of the employee payroll is approximately the same amount as the government's daily deficit at Washington. The government's deficit of $1,000,000 is shared by the entire population of 85,000,000 people, while the other $1,000,000 daily loss is borne by the railroad employees.

"This loss in wages indicates that the means of living for 400,000 railroad men has been cut off, and that not only themselves but the 1,500,000 persons comprising their independent families are living out of their savings of better days.

"I have been asked how the railroad men will vote in November. Frankly, I do not know, but I believe I know of what they are thinking. They are thinking of the next winter's fuel bill, clothing bills, and keeping their children in school. They are wondering what will be done to remedy the present industrial conditions and stop the appalling loss from enforced idleness.

"Railroad workers are thrifty and they help one another. Their savings and mutual bearing of the burdens of adversity have prevented much suffering up to this time, but they have greatly reduced their surplus bank accounts, and when winter comes the story will be different unless business conditions materially improve.

"The more than a million and a half of former railroad workers have in mind that one-fourth of their number are out of jobs or on short pay. They are thinking of their lost jobs, not worrying over foreign policies or tariffs on imports, or how this government should deal with the Philippines, and such questions, which the government authorities and congress must deal with.

Work the First Consideration.

"The railroad employees are more interested in what is going to be done to start up the work which will bring back to them regular and permanent employment. They are tired of seeing dead engines, idle cars, neglected tracks, and rusty signs of disuse. I will not try to say what they think should be done, but I do know that they are listening for words of encouragement.

"To think what it means in thousands of homes is not a pleasant topic, but we should look the situation squarely in the face, and each man should be pressed to share his responsibility in seeking a remedy.

"The campaign orators of September and October must face the country full of men out of employment. The stump speakers will be seeking votes and the idle will be seeking work.

"Of what else can the railroad men be thinking except of what caused the reduction in their income of $300,000,000 a year? They are listening for those who have suggestions as to how to get on the payroll again and at old wages.

"But there are other factors in the railroad situation?" It was suggested to Mr. Yoakum.

"The railroad employee," he replied, "is the most important factor in the railroad situation from every point of view. The owners of the railroads, known as bond and stockholders, are less in number than the employees and have less at stake. One year ago there were, according to the interstate commerce commission's figures, 1,675,000 employees, and they received $1,075,000,000 as wages, and, according to Slason Thompson, statistician, there are only 1,000,000 of both bond and stockholders receiving less than half the amount paid as wages.

"Out of every dollar earned by the railroads the employee gets 42 cents of it in wages, while the bond and stockholders combined only receive 21 cents out of each dollar, or one-half as much as the employee. Therefore, numerically and financially, the employees have by far the greatest interest in the railway revenues, and are the ones who are now asking the most pertinent questions. They have more at stake than the owners, and are just as capable of deciding for themselves and taking care of their own interests.

"The 42 cents for the employee and the 21 cents for the bond and stockholder only account for 63 cents of each dollar earned by the railroads, but shows the combined interests of the 2,675,000 employees, bond and stockholders in the railroads of the nation. Of the remaining 37 cents of the dollar, 7 cents go for taxes and insurance, and the balance of 30 cents largely for material and supplies, in the manufacture of which labor is the largest item.

Curtailed Purchases of Railways.

"The loss to the entire country on account of inability of railroads to purchase supplies is as serious to the public as the forced reduction in the pay rolls. Last year the total amount of the railroad purchases was one and a quarter billion dollars. At the present time they are only buying at the rate of one-half billion dollars per annum, which, at this rate, means a loss to the manufacturers and the general trade of the country of more than seven hundred million dollars a year or two million dollars a day. If to this is added the approximate one million dollars a working day which the railroad employee is suffering of this heavy loss, it is apparent that the business of the country is losing at this rate approximately three millions dollars a day on account of shrinkage directly connected with railroad operation.

"Do you wonder why the labor commissioner of the State of New York is reporting that one-third of the union men are idle because there is no work, or that Jacob Schiff is appealing to the city officials of New York to open up municipal work for their relief? Instead of asking how these men are going to vote, ask of what they are thinking. It is easier to answer.

"There is another phase of railroad activity not included in the foregoing," Mr. Yoakum added. "It is that which is seldom mentioned in connection with figures dealing with employees, wages, and material. I refer to construction of new railroads and more extensive improvement of existing ones to meet the growth of the nation's traffic. I refer to the army of men usually employed in this work and the large amounts expended for supplies, tools, fuel and other material, the greater part of which has been cut off.

"The railroad employees are well-informed and capable citizens. They give due credit for the good which has been accomplished through healthy reforms within the last few years. They are not unmindful that proper regulation to prevent abuses and to give fair treatment to the public are necessary. They see the danger of continuing the warfare by state railroad commissions and legislatures which are antagonistic to the railroads, thereby causing the employees to pay longer such a tribute from the support of themselves and families.

"How the railroad employees will vote is something I do not care to discuss, but in making up their minds they will naturally consider that which concerns their income and the present and future comfort of their families. A majority of the bond and stockholders have other resources, and the situation is less pressing with them. They can wait for a time, placing their hopes in the future, but the large army of strong men willing to work is concerned about tomorrow, next week and next month.

Encouragement is Needed.

"There should be no difficulty in surmising the thoughts of the railroad man. He knows that one out of every four of his fellow workmen is idle or working short hours. He fully realizes that something is wrong. He understands that the man who constructs 1,000 miles of railroad gives actual and permanent employment to 6,000 railroad men, and thereby furnishes the means of living for 24,000 souls constituting their families, and he is looking around for the party which holds out the most encouraging hope for a quick return of prosperity to all classes.

"He is thinking and hoping for better times. The vital issue will be the man and the job, and the candidates of both parties will have to meet it in both national and State campaigns, lon as to the basis for determining the number of offenses involves an erroneous construction of the statute and falls to take into consideration that the thing which is prohibited by the act is the transportation of property at the unlawful rate.

"That the criticism of the trial judge for abuse of discretion rests upon a wrong assumption of what the trial judge actually did and assumes that he attempted to try and punish the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey, when in fact, as appears from the record, the entire proceedings were directed against the defendant the Standard Oil Company of Indiana.

"That the ruling stated in the opinion to the effect that a fine is excessive when it exceeds in amount the ability of the defendant to pay is an innovation in criminal law and if generally applied would prevent the practical enforcement of most criminal statutes.

"That, in short, the opinion as it stands, erroneously states material portions of the record; does injustice to the trial judge; leaves doubtful in a new trial the rule of law to be applied, both as to knowledge on the part of the shipper, and as to the number of offenses; appears to be in conflict with the language of the Supreme Court and with the previous language of the presiding judge of this court, and with the great weight of legal authority; and, if permitted to remain unmodified, will tend to encourage disobedience to law, to impede the enforcement of salutary statutes and largely to defeat their purpose.

"For the reasons stated we respectfully request that a reargument of this case be granted."
