

Bull Town Bulletins By Bill Elks

MAYBE THERE'S HOPE for a more natural way of cleaning up after massive oil spills such as the Exxon Valdez off the coast of Alaska and the Mega Borg accident in the Gulf of Mexico.

The Texas General Land Office has been experimenting with a type of microbe that news reporters have laughingly referred to as the "Texas bugs" that saved the Gulf of Mexico.

But the oil-eating microbes introduced to the world in the wake of the Mega Borg oil tanker incident are no joke. They are serious about gobbling up oil. They eat it like a kid with a sweet tooth going after chocolate pie.

Tests conducted by the Texas General Land Office and Alpha Environmental, an Austin-based firm that developed the microbes, have indicated they can be effective against oil spills that threaten one of Texas' most precious natural resources—its Gulf Coast beaches.

Land Commissioner Garry Mauro, who manages 20.5 million acres of state-owned and state mineral-right lands, including four million offshore acres and the beaches, bays and estuaries, became intrigued by the microbes about a year ago after meeting Dr. Carl Oppenheimer, a University of Texas microbiologist and oceanographer.

Dr. Oppenheimer has toured the world seeking out naturally-occurring microbes that seemed to have a particularly voracious appetite for oil. He also developed a process to freeze-dry them into a powder for easy storage and transport. And he has a catalyst that causes them to quickly multiply.

Trillions of them can easily fit into a hand-sized packet. A hundred pounds of them were used in a special test in the Gulf in the wake of the Mega Borg oil spill.

"Sometimes you have to believe your eyes," said Mauro. "After a few hours, there was no more oil in the test area."

Mauro cautions that additional scientific analysis is needed. But he is convinced that more emphasis should be put on technology in combating oil spills, and that the microbes ultimately will become useful tools to keep Texas beaches clear of contamination from spills.

In the meantime, the commissioner wants everyone to know that the "bugs" are otherwise harmless. They will not creep up onto the beach and eat the sun-tan lotion off your back. They metabolize crude oil into fatty acids which are then eaten by marine life, causing no harm to the food chain.

The "Texas bugs" could become the basis for a new Texas industry and the state of the art in fighting oil spills.

With the conclusion of the sixth special session devoted to public school finance, Senator Teel Bivins will hold a Town Hall meeting in Friona July 11 to discuss the school reform measure and seek public input as he prepares for the upcoming 72nd Legislative session.

The meeting will begin at 8:30 a.m. Wednesday, July 11 at Friona State Bank, 1105 Cleveland. The public is encouraged to attend and visit with Senator Bivins.

Because the Legislature has been in session for the better part of two years, Bivins said these Town Hall meetings are an essential means of communicating with the citizens of the 31st Senate District.

TRUCK TRAILER FIRE....Pictured are Bovina firemen as they extinguished a fire Monday afternoon. The fire began as cotton burrs smoldering caught a pile of wood on fire and then the semi trailer belonging to Ken Jamerson caught fire. The trailer wasn't badly damaged but four tires burned on the trailer.

MELON FEED...People really enjoyed the watermelons at the July 4th celebration, due to the hot temperatures. This event was sponsored by the Bovina Fire Department.

During the week of July 16-21, he will join the other 31 all star football players in Stephenville where they will work out and participate in a wide variety of activities during the week preceding the game.

His athletic honors were many. During his junior year, he received the All South Plains Defensive End Award, All State Defensive End Award and All District Defensive End.

His senior year, he received the All South Plains Defensive End, All Star, All District Defensive End, All District Running Back and All State Defensive End.

In addition to the 6-man All Star Football game on Saturday night, July 21, Stephenville will be the site of boys and girls all-star basketball games that same weekend. The all-star basketball teams are from the schools which play six-man football.

Committee Member Election Set

The Farmers Home Administration (FmHA) will begin accepting nominations July 5 for election of county committee members under new rules that make it easier for farmers to qualify as candidates and to vote, Bobby Murphy said this week.

FmHA county committees perform a variety of duties for the U.S. Department of Agriculture's credit agency, including deciding whether an applicant is eligible for a farm loan.

"One important change broadens the definition of a farmer to anyone who has an interest in a farm in the county as owner, tenant or sharecropper," Murphy said. "The new definition also includes the spouse of an eligible farmer. An old requirement that more than half of the candidate's income come from the farm operation has been dropped."

"The nominating period has been extended to 45 days from the previous 25 days, thus allowing more opportunity for people to run for the committee," Murphy said. "At least three eligible farmer voters, including the nominee, must sign the petition."

Two of the three committee members are elected by farmers in the county, and one is appointed by FmHA. Anyone interested in running for the committee can obtain a petition and other information from the FmHA county office at 207 Avenue, Farwell, Texas.

Facts About The BIBLE BY JOHN LEHTI

"LET'S GO TO MARKET!"

SUPER ACE MARKET DRUGS

IN THESE MODERN TIMES, GOING TO MARKET IS A MATTER OF GETTING INTO A CAR AND DRIVING TO THE SHOPPING CENTER. WE NEVER SEE THE MAN WHO GREW OUR FOOD, THE PEOPLE WHO MADE OUR CLOTHES, OR THE OTHER ARTICLES WE BUY AND USE. EVERYTHING IS PACKAGED NEATLY AND SHIPPED TO THE STORES WHERE WE DO OUR SHOPPING. BUT...

... THE BIBLICAL MARKETPLACE WAS ANOTHER MATTER. A CITY'S GATEWAY OPENED INTO A KIND OF PLAZA—HERE WAS THE MARKET, WHERE EVERY KIND OF TRADING AND SELLING TOOK PLACE. AN ANCIENT SAYING DECLARED, "ONE CAN BUY ANYTHING IN THE MARKETS OF JERUSALEM, FROM A FINE CAMEL TO A FALSE TOOTH!" AND YOU WOULD MEET THE MAN WHO RAISED THE MEAT YOU BOUGHT, OR THE GRAIN YOU WANTED FOR A FINE FLOUR—THE SHEEP-RAISER, THE OLIVE OIL-MAKER, THE FARMER, THE POTTER, THE CLOTH-SPINNER, WERE HERE TO PERSONALLY SELL YOU THEIR OWN GOODS. PEOPLE OF MANY NATIONS THROGGED JERUSALEM'S MARKETS—A DOZEN LANGUAGES MIGHT BE HEARD WITHOUT TAKING MORE THAN A FEW STEPS—A CONSTANT DIN OF VOICES, CRYING THE VIRTUES OF THIS MELON, THAT PERFUME, AGAINST A BACKGROUND OF THE CLINK AND JINGLE OF THE MONEY CHANGERS WITHOUT WHOM THE BUYING AND SELLING OF ALL THESE GOODS COULD HARDLY BE MANAGED. A POLYGLOT OF ACTIVITY WAS THE ANCIENT MARKETPLACE WHEN "GOING TO MARKET" WAS AN EXCITING EVENT, INDEED!

Ostrich Farming Is New Local Industry

The newest farm product in Parmer County these days is ostriches, as residents continue to devise ways of making money on the farm.

Kenneth Hall and Howard Fleming own a herd of 11 of the exotic birds in the Hub vicinity, and passers-by sometimes do a "double take" when they see the gangly fowls.

Hall said he bought his first pair of birds in May of 1989. They were ten months old at the time. Then later he bought a pair of two-year-olds.

The older birds are just about the right age to begin laying, but have not begun as yet. When the laying begins, Hall hopes to begin trying to get back his investment and eventually make some money.

Breeding-age ostriches have sold for as much as $50,000 per pair, but a pair can sometimes be bought for $25,000 to $35,000. Ostrich chicks eight to ten weeks old have sold for as much as $3,000 each.

Ostrich eggs have sold for up to $1,000. Hall was busy recently building a brooder, anticipating the time he would have eggs for hatching.

"A serviceman told me the other day he saw one of the roosters breeding a hen, so they should commence laying one of these days," Hall said.

The ostrich industry in this country has received a boost in recent years due to the import ban against South Africa, which was the supplier of most ostrich products to this country.

Estimates are that there are approximately 3,000 to 5,000 of the birds in the United States, and estimates are that the numbers should climb for awhile. Seventy-five per cent of the ostriches owned in the U.S. are believed to be located in Texas and Oklahoma.

Don Hall of Quail (no relation to Kenneth) said in a recent interview that there were 25 to 30 breeding pairs of ostriches in the Panhandle, and between 1,000 to 1,500 total birds.

Don Hall started with a pair of birds 11 years ago, and his herd has grown to about 150 birds.

Ostriches are slaughtered for their meat, and of course, the hides are used for fashionable boots and other products.

It may be a number of years before the ostrich growers in this area have any for slaughter purposes, since most of the birds are being sold to other prospective breeders.

They are a strange critter, Kenneth Hall says. He built a large shed for his birds to have shelter last winter. "But during the zero weather, they slept out on the bare ground—wouldn't have anything to do with the shed," he said.

Hall feeds his birds alfalfa hay, corn and (what else?) ostrich chow.

LHS Students Take Part In Program

Lazbuddie's National Honor Society members and their sponsor, Mrs. Thelma Coffey, established a new activity in their school during the last semester, which proved to be a very positive experience for them and for Lazbuddie's elementary students and teachers.

The activity is called the NHS Teacher Assistant Program. Members of the National Honor Society, which involves top academic students in grades ten through twelve, began the new project at the beginning of the second semester of this school year. NHS students made themselves available to help teachers in the elementary school for assistance in grading papers, preparing materials for lessons, and tutoring groups of students. With teacher supervision, some of the NHS students actually taught classes.

Roy Willingham, high school principal, said the program had a positive effect on all concerned, and plans are to use the program in the years to come.

NHS sponsor, Mrs. Thelma Coffey, praised her students for their dedication and sincere efforts to be of help to the elementary teachers and students. She stated that several of the NHS members, after working in the elementary grades, expressed an interest in becoming teachers.

Mrs. Coffey said that the most interesting aspect of the program was the response from the elementary students. For these children, it was a special treat to be guided by the high school students. The young students adored the older ones and they gave the new teachers undivided attention. Mrs. Coffey admonished the NHS members to be good role models.

She stated that the project had a very positive effect on the National Honor Society, helped the teachers and was a special experience for the young students as well as for the older ones.

Members of the NHS who participated were Casey Bradshaw, Diana Cozby, Lance Ivy, Mia

Jennings, Stacy Hodges, Gerardo Mata, Elsa Mendoza, Jana Vise and Eddie Zamora.

The following is a list of new members of the National Honor Society, who were inducted in ceremonies on March 22: Susan Alcalá, Stacey Barber, Doug Barnes, Frank Gonzales, Filemon Guzman, Holley Morris, Justin Morris, Sandra Martinez, Kevin McGehee, Juanita Ramos, Michael Williams and Raymond Zamora.

CHIROPRACTIC FOR BETTER HEALTH

DR. GERALD GLASSCOCK

IS YOUR CHILD ATHLETIC?

If your child is athletic, his enthusiasm for sports can sometimes lead to problems. Minor injuries are common enough when two bodies collide at full velocity. But body contact is not the only problem.

Starts and stops at high speed, twisting and turning into awkward positions may cause strains to muscles, limbs, and back. Untempered enthusiasm may cause a youngster to try harder and play longer than is good for him. If his body is fatigued, there is greater potential for accidents and injury.

And if he's too proud to complain of minor injuries, how do you find out if there's a problem that should be treated before it becomes worse?

The best answer is periodic chiropractic examinations. These are recommended before the season begins, so he can start in top form. They're also recommended whenever an injury occurs as well as at the end of the season. Any structural defects should get the correction and treatment needed to keep your child in good health.

Angler's Corner

By M.D. McCALLUM

In this area, just about every lake contains a panfish that seems to get every angler's attention sooner or later. This panfish is the crappie.

The crappie is easy to fillet and once located can be caught by almost anyone. It has been said over and over that everyone is an expert crappie catcher during the spawn. As for the rest of the year, this critter can be mighty difficult to locate as they are a schooling fish that roams the reservoirs in search of food.

Crappies are sensitive to light and prefer to feed at dawn, dusk or night. Crappies also like some type of cover, usually wood, and during the day, will stick tight to this cover.

Of the two species of crappie, black and white, the white is more common to southern lakes. While the whites do not school as tightly as the blacks, they still stack up when compared to other schooling fish.

These fish are usually found in one spot at one particular depth in such a way as to keep one fisherman from catching one while their partner, just a few feet away, cannot seem to keep them off his line. These fish have frustrated more than their fair share of fishermen.

Depth and location of the school is so critical that it seems they might fit into an area no larger than a 55-gallon barrel. Once located, any variance in depth or location of your rod, no matter how small, will stop the action immediately. If you are catching them at 15 feet, dropping your bait to 16 feet will defeat your purpose. It is better to present your bait a little higher as the fish almost never look down.

One of the biggest arguments in fishing for crappie is whether to use minnows or small lead-head jigs. Certainly the minnow has its own action and crappie will hit a lifeless minnow when the action is steady.

The jig has to be presented in such a way as to imitate a baitfish. This requires an up and down movement of the lure or casting out and allowing the lure to glide down on an arc while maintaining a semi-tight line. This fish is also known as the papermouth as a hard hook-set can rip the lure out of the tissue of the mouth.

The crappie is another fish that will go deep during the day to escape the heat. Deep water to the crappie can be as little as 15 feet in stained or muddy water or as deep as 35 feet in clear water.

Other panfish are naturally curious, not so with crappie. Noise can disturb the school. When suspended in open water, even the most experienced angler can come home with an empty stringer. Suspended crappie are the most difficult to catch of any panfish.

Crappie are known to be light strikers. A tight line will help in detecting this type of strike. Many anglers prefer to use a float, but with the loose line, concentration is essential. The bobber may barely move or appear to not move at all until the fish is excited and moves to free itself. When casting jigs a slow retrieve will produce more hook-ups than a faster retrieve.

Ultralight or light gear spooled with 4-6 pound test line will work best. Spinning reels or spincasters produce much better than even the lightest baitcasting gear.

Large crappie (slabs) are in the 1-1½ pound range in this area. Two pound crappie and up are considered to be huge. Most area crappie anglers probably catch more crappie in the ½ pound range or even smaller. Crappie tend to group according to size. If small crappie are all that you can catch even when probing the deeper parts of the school, it is better to move on and locate another school.

In Texas, there is a statewide 10-inch minimum. Check with the local lake officials to make sure of the minimum as some lakes have their own set of regulations. Crappie caught under the limit and from deep water have little chance to survive and grow. Returning the undersized fish to water as quickly as possible will increase its chances of survival.

One phenomenon inherent to crappie fishing is the fact that every three to five years the size of the fish will increase dramatically. This is due in part to fishing pressure and too many crappie competing for the available forage base.

As the smaller crappie are weeded out over time, the more aggressive feeding survivors are then allowed to grow larger. This accounts for the one or two years of bigger crappie and better fishing.

A fishing diary will provide much needed information as to how and what to do during a specific time of the year. If you caught crappie at eight feet during early spring, this same depth will rarely produce any other time of the year. Transversely, deep fishing will rarely produce during the spring. A diary will eliminate a lot of frustration when properly documented.

While crappie can be caught on worms and other live bait, the minnow far outpaces any other bait. If you are the type of fisherman that prefers to tie up and fish, go with the minnow. The constant working of a jig can be tiring and decrease your fishing time.

When you're out on the water hunting the crappie, pay attention to the details of forage, water temperature, depth and the time of year.

Until next week, keep those lines tight and take someone fishing if you have the opportunity. Good luck.
