REAL MISSING LINK FOUND ON ISLAND

New York, Oct. 12.—The experts at the Bronx Zoo are puzzled over a strange new monkey from Java which is the nearest so far seen here to the long sought "missing link," the dream of science ever since the day the Darwin theory of evolution was propounded. The simian in question was brought to New York a day or so ago by the captain of the steamship Clan McDonald. He was taken off the ship in the Hudson and conveyed to the zoo in a stout cage. The captain said he had never seen a monkey like it in all his travels in the East Indies. The folks at the zoo have never seen anything like it either.

The creature is supposed to be some kind of a gibbon. It stands three and one-half feet high and has an unusually intelligent face. The body is covered with long black hair.

Professor Melvin Hagerdy of Harvard University, who recently made a study of the monkey dialects at the Bronx zoo, is to apprise of the "find" in order that he may examine the creature and talk to it if possible in the hope that it may turn out to be the real "missing link."

A total of $150.50 has been forwarded by the Times to the treasurer of the democratic national committee. Since making the last remittance the following additional contributions have been made:
T. J. Waggoner $1.00
A. A. Hughes 5.00

FARMERS AND LABORERS

Are Urged to Vote for Democratic Principals By Bryan.

By Associated Press.
Tokamah, Neb., Oct. 13.—In a series of speeches made on the first day of his campaign in Nebraska, which will end on Thursday, W. J. Bryan appealed directly for the farming and laboring vote on the ground that he was the logical candidate of the producer and the wage earner. The candidate also appealed for votes for the State ticket.

COTTON FIELDS DRAW LABORERS

The demand for cotton pickers has made a great scarcity of unskilled labor in Wichita Falls and in all lines of construction work, such as railroads, sewers and excavations for buildings the work is being retarded on account of lack of labor.
The clear, fair weather, and warm, sunny days form a combination of conditions highly favorable to the rapid maturity of the cotton crop, and every available man, woman and child is at work in the cotton fields.
Cotton is coming in to the gins here at the rate of about seventy-five bales a day and the crop is generally reported to be making a fair yield.
A few weeks continuance of the present favorable weather will see most of the crop in this section picked and ginned.

AN INVESTIGATION

INTO OSAGE INDIAN OIL LEASES WILL BE DEMANDED BY GOVERNOR HASKELL.

A LETTER TO ROOSEVELT

Made Public By Oklahoman While in Kansas City in Reference to Libel Suit Against Hearst.

By Associated Press.
Kansas City, Mo., Oct. 13.—Governor Haskell of Oklahoma arrived here today to consult with attorneys in reference to the suit he says he intends to bring against William R. Hearst, charging the editor with libel. Governor Haskell stated that he had already placed the matter in the hands of his attorneys and that the petition would be filed by them whenever they saw fit. The suit, he said, would probably be brought in the circuit court, but just when he was unable to say.
The case grows out of the publication of the Standard Oil story, which controversy led to Haskell resigning the trusteeship of the democratic national committee.

A few hours after his arrival here Governor Haskell gave to the Associated Press a signed statement addressed to President Roosevelt, contributing another chapter to the controversy arising over the leasing of 680,000 acres of the Osage Indian oil lands. The governor says that he will insist that congress take action to declare the leases unjust, void and to secure for the Osage nation the just and honorable compensation other owners of oil lands are receiving.

PLAN STAMFORD-GRAHAM LINE.

Winchell Advises That Engineer Will Be Sent to Go Over Route.

Stamford, Tex., Oct. 12.—A telegram was received here by E. P. Swenson from B. L. Winchell, president of the Rock Island railroad, from his headquarters in Chicago, announcing that Engineer J. J. Berry of that road would arrive at Graham, Young County, Wednesday evening, Oct. 14. The object of his visit is to locate the line for the extension of the Rock Island from Graham to Stamford. This extension has been talked of for several months, and the visit of Engineer Berry to locate the line is taken to mean that the Rock Island will begin the construction of the extension from Graham to Stamford at a very early date.

This will give an outlet to this section to the coal field of Young county, and will open up a large agricultural country in Throckmorton, Young and Jones counties.

Judge W. T. Andrews of this city will meet Engineer Berry at Graham, and will accompany him over the proposed line. This announcement, coming immediately after the visit of President Frank Trumbull of the Colorado and Southern railroad to this city, and his close investigation of the country from Stamford to the Spur ranch in Dickens and adjoining counties, is considered very significant.

While no official announcement has been made as to when work on the construction of the Stamford and Northwestern will begin, rapid developments of the past few days are convincing arguments that it will be only a short time.
The latter line has already been surveyed and the construction of the extension of the Rock Island will not only give the Stamford and Northwestern ample fuel, but will give a working connection that would be vastly beneficial to both lines.

When questioned upon receipt of the telegram from Mr. Winchell, Mr. Swenson, one of the leading spirits of the Stamford and Northwestern, had nothing to say, further than that there were great things ahead for Stamford.

Seasonable Recipes

By Emma E. Pirie, Supervisor of Domestic Science, San Antonio Schools.

Roiled Oats

One cup of oats, two cups of water. Put two cups of water in the upper part of the double boiler; put it directly over the flame; add one-half teaspoonful of salt; when it boils rapidly add the oats gradually, so as not to stop the boiling; stir while putting in the cereal; boil for ten minutes over the flame, stirring as little as possible, not more than twice during this time; fill the lower part of the boiler one-third full of water; put the upper part in it and place where the water below will boil; watch the lower part and replenish the water when needed; boil for two hours.

Cream of Wheat

One cup cream of wheat, five cups of water, one teaspoonful of salt; cook for one hour; proceed as for roiled oats with this exception, stir very often while over the flame to prevent burning.

Cabbage With White Sauce

Cut the cabbage into eights, removing as much as possible of the coarse stem; leave only enough to hold the leaves together; cover with cold water; let it stand for thirty minutes; fill a large saucepan two-thirds full of water; bring to the boiling point; then add salt, allowing one teaspoonful to each quart of water; put in the cabbage; let it reach the boiling point, then cook very gently for twenty minutes, or until tender; it must not simmer; drain well; cover with a white sauce and serve. Cabbage cooked in this way will be white and tender. Long continued cooking at a high temperature makes cabbage dark and strong. If preferred, a few slices of salt pork may be boiled in the water for fifteen minutes before the cabbage is put in, then cook as directed, drain and serve, or if desired, cook the cabbage in salted water, drain, chop and season with melted butter. For white sauce take two tablespoons of butter, two tablespoons of flour, one cup of milk or thin cream, one-fourth teaspoon salt, one-fourth teaspoon white pepper; melt the butter in a small sauce pan; add flour; rub until quite smooth, then add milk gradually; stir over a moderate flame until it boils; remove from the fire; add salt and pepper.

Cold Slaw

One small firm cabbage, one cupful of cooked salad dressing or mayonnaise; remove the outside leaves; cut the cabbage in quarters and lay in very cold water for thirty minutes; drain; shred very fine with a vegetable shredder or sharp knife; place in salad bowl and pour over it cooked dressing or mayonnaise. Slaw must not be dripping with dressing, but should be nicely coated. This is particularly good with baked or broiled fish. For a small family one-half head of cabbage can be used for slaw and the remainder cooled for the next day.

Boiled Cabbage

Remove the outer leaves from a small, firm head of cabbage; cut into quarters and lay in cold water for one-half hour; drain and cut as for slaw, but not so fine, removing every particle of stalk. Cook uncovered in boiling salted water until tender; drain well and season with pepper and melted butter or sauce.

Glazed Sweet Potatoes

Wash and pare six medium sized potatoes, put them in a saucepan; cover with boiling water and cook for ten minutes; drain and cut into quarters, lengthwise; lay them in a buttered pan and bake for fifteen minutes, basting well every five minutes with a syrup made by boiling one-half cup sugar and four tablespoons of water for five minutes, then add one tablespoon of butter.

Beef Stew

Remove the fat and cut into one-inch cubes two pounds of beef from the round, measure one cup of the meat and put it in the refrigerator or a cool place; put the remainder of the meat and the bones in a bowl, pour over it one quart of cold water, soak for one hour, put in a sauce pan, beat slowly until the boiling point is reached. Put the fat in a frying pan, when the suet is fried out remove the fat to prevent burning, add one onion sliced thin, brown, then roll the cup of meat in flour and brown it in the hot fat, add it to the stew and cook slowly for two hours. Cut into dice one-half cup turnips, three-fourths cup carrots, slice four medium size potatoes in one-half inch slices, add vegetables, one teaspoon of salt and one-fourth teaspoon of pepper. When vegetables and meat are tender add four teaspoons of flour mixed to a smooth paste in an equal quantity of cold water, bring it to the boiling point and serve.

Hamburg Toast

One pound of steak, two ounces of marrow or suet, one slice of green or red pepper, one-half slice of onion, one-half teaspoon of salt, the yolk of one egg, one-fourth cup of crumbs, two slices of fat salt pork; Chop the meat, suet, pepper and onion in the meat chopper; soak the bread crumbs five minutes in cold water, then put them in a small piece of cheese cloth and squeeze dry. Mix meat and bread crumbs, add salt and the egg yolk well beaten. Mix all together very thoroughly, press into compact rolls of equal thickness. Put a slice of pork on the meat rack, set the roast on this, put another slice of pork on the top and bake in a quick oven. After six minutes reduce the heat and cook twenty minutes longer. If liked rare fifteen minutes will be long enough; baste with the fat in the pan every five minutes. Serve with tomato or brown sauce.

Creamed Sweetbreads

Sweetbreads on account of the ferments they contain decompose rapidly, so they should be cooked as soon as possible. Wash thoroughly and then drop into boiling water, enough to cover, and simmer gently for forty-five minutes. Drain, cool well and keep on ice till ready to serve. They may be kept for twenty-four hours in this way. After boiling they may be prepared in various ways. For creamed sweetbreads, use two sweetbreads, break the sections apart, removing the membranes. Mix the meat with five large mushrooms chopped fine. Prepare a sauce by melting two tablespoons of butter in a smooth sauce pan, rub it into two tablespoons of flour, add gradually one cup of thin cream, stir until it reaches the boiling point, add a dash of white pepper and of cayenne and one-fourth teaspoon of salt, let stand over hot water for ten minutes. Serve on toast, in individual dishes, in timbales or in pretty shells.

Apple Jelly

Four quarts of apples sliced thin, two quarts of water, one pound of granulated sugar to each quart of juice. Wash and dry the apples, cut into quarters and remove the cores. (If cores are not removed, the jelly will be sticky.) Put the apples in a porcelain kettle, add the water, cover and cook gently for twenty minutes after they reach the boiling point. Turn into a jelly bag and drain over night. Do not press the bag or the jelly will be cloudy. If desired, the bag may be pressed over another bowl and two qualities of jelly may be made. Measure the juice, put in a porcelain lined sauce pan and let it boil rapidly for five minutes; add the sugar, stirring until it is dissolved, then test immediately. When it jellies pour into sterilized hot glasses; have the lids boiling hot, cover the glasses immediately and when cool bind the edge of the lid with a double thickness of tissue paper dipped in white of an egg.

Test for Jelly

Immediately after adding the sugar put a little of the jelly in a very cold saucer; set the saucer on ice. Test in a few seconds by dropping the tip of a spoon across the top. If a film has been formed the jelly is done. Turn at once into the glasses. Remember that the jelly in the kettle is cooking while you are making the test. Test every few moments until the film forms.

New York temperance women are working to prohibit the selling of candies filled with intoxicating fluids. The women were very busily gathering evidence when the matter became inopportune public and as a consequence they were hampered in getting specimen samples. It is said that candies containing rum are sold to young girls, who, unused to the liquor, become intoxicated.

Diamonds for luncheon at bridge parties is the latest innovation by Mrs. Mary Freeman, the novelist. It was involuntary, though, for when Mrs. Freeman baked a big cake to regale twenty-five New York friends she forgot she had on a big solitaire. The cake was eaten to the last crumb. Mrs. Freeman sent out notes to her friends, asking: "Did you eat my diamond? If so, please return." Answers so far received only praise the cake.

OF INTEREST TO WOMEN

Furs for Blondes and Brunettes.

It is the easiest thing in the world to fall into the mistake of thinking that any fur is becoming to any woman. Nothing should be selected with greater care than the fur. For instance, a fallow-skinned, dark-eyed, dark-haired woman will look the very worst in seal skin. She should wear the lighter shades of mink, red fox, yellow-fox, and silver-grey fox. Red haired blondes can wear seal skin, but the genuine brunette with dark hair and eyes may wear golden and light brown shades, such as mink, martin, brown or yellow fox, and chin-chilla.

Soft suede kid belts will probably never go out of style, and those for early fall can be found in a large variety of shades. Among them are blowns, from chamois color to golden, plenty of blues, red to crimson, greens in all tones and many in heliotrope.

The Correct Gloves.

Opera length silk gloves will again be largely worn this winter with short sleeved frocks for every occasion save the most formal. Many of the afternoon costumes are shown with the long tight fitting sleeves. Silk gloves are very popular also for wear when a muff is carried. They do not sweat the hands as a kid glove does.

Marie Weldon, fashion editor of the New York Times, has this to say about the glove: "For evening wear there is no doubt that the elbow and short sleeves will prevail as usual, and therefore long gloves of 12, 16 or 20 button length will be worn. In purchasing silk gloves for evening wear, the long lengths should always be selected, as when properly worn, they go with the elbow short sleeve."

Buckles for hat trimming are only a little smaller than the gigantic roses which are now so popular. Some measure fully nine inches on each side. The roses are in dark tones shading through deep rich greens, reds, etc.

The Laundry Question.

New York women, and in fact, women all over the country, are buying silk underwear in self-defense against the laundries, which ruin dainty muslin lingerie. The advantage of the Italian silk is, that it may be washed at home, and in those houses where no laundress is employed, the usual maid of all work can easily wash the silk underwear with success.

The laundries in many big cities have such a press for work that they cannot give the fine pieces any care in handling. The women are retaliating by equipping themselves with the silk. This seems at first an expensive method of self-defense, but it is not when the extraordinary strength and wearing qualities of the Italian silk are considered.

One of the most recent novelties in jewelry is the heavy sterling silver hat pin of Japanese hand work. Japanese designs are seen universally in much of the popular jewelry.

CAMPAIGN CONTRIBUTIONS.

The Times is in receipt of the following from the treasurer of the Democratic National Campaign Committee:

Chicago, Ill., Oct. 11.—Gentlemen: Your favor inclosing check for $27.00, also one for $29.00, together with list of contributors, has been received. Souvenir receipts will be issued promptly and forwarded to you for distribution. Thanking you for your splendid work I am yours very truly,
"J. B. DOOLIN,
Assistant Treasurer."

The total number of poll taxes assessed in this county for 1908 is 1,705, an increase over 1907 of 505. This shows a very substantial growth in our population. In assessed values of real and personal property the increase over that of last year is $4,440,868. The decrease in taxes for 1908 as compared with 1907 is $541.95. This is a very good financial showing, as well as growth in population, but the condition of our public roads, it seems, is such that really does not justify the commissioners in making a reduction of taxes. Wichita county is populated with a progressive people and they do not object to paying taxes to keep up the public roads.

Notice to Classified Advertisers.

Hereafter the Times will refuse to accept ads for its "want ad" or "classified column" which are not signed by the parties ordering same, unless such ads are paid for in advance. House, street or phone numbers will not do, as it is more trouble to keep track of and collect for unsigned ads than the price charged for such ads are worth. Advertisers will please bear this in mind when they want to use the "want or classified" columns.

CULBERSON PREDICTS VICTORY.

Texas Senator Declares Change of Sentiment is all Toward Bryan.

New York, Oct. 12.—The following interview was given to the New York World by Senator Charles A. Culberston today:

"Since coming to New York in August, in connection with the national campaign and after looking into political conditions here, the change of sentiment toward Mr. Bryan as it developed from week to week has seemed to me remarkable.

"The indications published in the World of last Sunday on the vote of New York State bear out my personal observation and opinion. When it is remembered that Mr. Bryan lost the State of New York in 1900 by 143,000 plurality, the indicated plurality against him now of only 15,000 is under the circumstances astonishing, particularly when looked at with reference to the fact that the change has taken place in a large degree since his nomination in July. This is due, in part, I think, to the platform upon which his candidacy is based, most of which appeals strongly to the great body of the people, in part to the manly and eloquent campaign he is making, in part to the practical unification of the democratic party and in part to the passing away of the apprehension among the unprejudiced of all who conduct legitimate business that his election would produce commercial and industrial disaster.

"Assuming that the tables of the World are correct and reliable, and that the process adopted in estimating the vote not shown in the responses as correct, still when the silent non-committal vote, which is greater than in any recent campaign, is considered, the outlook for Mr. Bryan is even more favorable than appears from the figures of the World.

"Indeed, if the campaign is properly and wisely and vigorously conducted from now on, there is every reason to believe that he will carry the State of New York, and be elected to the presidency. The friends of good government here and throughout the country are entitled to feel that the situation is most encouraging and that with redoubled energies during the remainder of the campaign to meet those which the republicans will put forth, the victory should be won."

Miss Helene Miropolsky, who is considered one of the most beautiful women in Paris, and who is a lawyer as well as a beauty, has just won her case in the defense of a young woman who was charged with the murder of her own child.

In the University of Berlin there are twenty-seven American women registered as medical students to take the course for the coming term.

There are seven women physicians in New Orleans and all of them are struggling to be admitted to membership in the Orleans Parish Medical Society. So long as they are debarred from membership in this society they will not be received in the Louisiana State Medical society or in the American Medical Association. The doctors who oppose the admission of these women into the parish society declare that in their belief the great professions are not suitable spheres for women.

STRONG EXPRESSES CONFIDENCE.

Submission Leader Says Anti-Prohibition Meeting Was a Frost.

Dallas, Tex., Oct. 12.—Sterling P. Strong, leader of the submissionists, returned today from Houston, where he visited the anti-prohibition convention. He says the meeting was a "frost" and that there were three factions that wanted different policies adopted. Mr. Strong is confident that prohibition will prevail when the matter is submitted to a vote of the whole people of Texas.

Anti Executive Committee, Houston, Texas, Oct. 12.—Jake Walters, chairman of the anti-prohibition executive committee, appointed at yesterday's convention, announced today that there had been no meeting of the committee called and as yet he was unable to say just when such a meeting would be called.

The democratic delegates to the convention today were expressing satisfaction over the result of the convention, while the leading republican were dubious. Cecil Lyon was disappointed.

J. F. Walters of Houston was chosen chairman of the anti-prohibition organization, and the executive committee is composed of the following representatives of State senatorial districts, those not yet selected to be named later:

- N. A. Shaw, Texarkana; Carter Kirvin Jr., Corsicana; W. H. O'Brien, Gainesville; John L. Wortham, Dallas; Monta J. Moore, Cameron; J. B. Bland, Orange; Paul D. Page, Bastrop; J. O. Boettcher, Weimar; Miles Crowley, Galveston; Jonathan Lane, Houston; George W. Littlefield, Austin; Adolph Seideman, Seguin; J. G. Wilacy, Corpus Christi; John H. Bailey, Cuero; George Pendleton, Temple; R. N. Stafford, Mineola; C. G. Harpold, Italy; H. S. Moorehead, Franklin; O. C. Guessaz, San Antonio; D. M. Payne, El Paso; C. W. Bean, Wichita Falls.

It is intended by the organization formed today to check the spread of prohibition sentiment in Texas and to defeat the constitutional amendments making prohibition possible, whenever they are submitted to a vote of the people.

Times Have Changed.
Beaumont Journal.
"The McKinney Courier-Gazette says: 'Don't stab your home merchant by trading in Dallas,' and in another paragraph in the same column rejoices over the fact that 'it is an hourly occurrence to see people from the smaller towns coming into McKinney on the interurban to trade with McKinney merchants.'"

The people who go from the smaller towns to McKinney to do their shopping are prompted by the same things which induce McKinney people to trade in Dallas. They are offered better and larger stocks from which to make their selections and are posted upon the offerings of the houses where their trading is to be done before they ever leave home. In other words, the people of the little towns around McKinney have read the advertisements of McKinney merchants in the Courier-Gazette, while the people of McKinney have noted the offerings of Dallas merchants in Dallas newspapers.

The old time habit of the newspapers urging their readers to trade with the home merchants was an excellent one, but the time has come when little attention will be paid to this class of argument unless the paper itself carries advertising that will induce such trade. People no longer look for stereotyped advertisements promising that Bill Jones will pay the highest market price for produce and that he will defy all competition when it comes to dry goods and clothing. They want to know exactly what Jones has to offer and at what price he offers it and if Bill is not modern enough to supply the information his friends will hunt up the man who does.

In Beaumont there is no complaint of patronage being given the houses of other cities. Beaumont dealers are liberal advertisers and while retaining the entire Beaumont trade they at the same time attract many purchasers from other important cities and towns of Southeast Texas. The Journal believes in patronizing home people first, last and all the time, but it has learned that the public will do this only when some equal inducement to that of other cities is offered by the home people.

Friendship is all right in its way, but friendship will no longer sell merchandise. It takes advertising, a liberal amount of it, and that gotten up in the proper way.

The Latchstring Always Out.

In commenting on the visit of the Wichita Falls business men to Byers last week, the Byers Sentinel says:

"Byers was glad to welcome her visitors and trust that this is but the beginning of many similar trips, as we will always have something new to show our neighbors. There is no doubt that what this delegation saw here was a revelation to them, and they will have much good to say of Byers on their return to citizens in their home town. Come again, gentlemen, and remember the latch string always hangs on the outside for the live, wide-awake, enterprising business men, such as your Chamber of Commerce sent out to visit us."

Notice.

To the friends who take a kindly interest in my efforts to prepare my book for publication, I desire to inform them that, by reason of having received some valuable delayed data, it will necessitate re-writing several chapters, consequently will delay publication longer than I anticipated. SPLendid BAND WITH THE BIG SELLS-FLOTO CIRCUS.

Music that clears away the blues and spreads over everything a rosy tint; music which sets feet a dancing, hearts a pounding and voices a humming; real circus music with a lilt and swing to it possessed by no other brand or variety is as indispensable with a big tented show such as the Sells-Floto circus as a rudder to a ship.

Without it, the circus man will tell you that the proper conduct of a circus would be practically impossible. In its absence the little, imperceptible hitches which now occur even in the best of programs would be magnified and multiplied, and others of greater magnitude would creep in and ultimately ruin the best planned performance.

Music is the governor of the circus engine. It is the balance wheel of the perfect mechanism which runs, wheel within wheel, as true and steadily as a well made watch.

From the time the whistle blows, five minutes before the performance until the last thrilling act is completed every attache, performer and employe of the big Sells-Floto circus depends upon the music to tell him or her the time and just what acts are on. Music is the chronometer of the circus.

Thirty minutes before the performance begins in the big top the famous Sells-Floto band of forty-six pieces—a band which, by the way, has won several prizes in musical contests in the larger cities of the country—renders a concert for the enjoyment of those patrons of the circus who appear early in order to secure the best seats.

When the whistle blows the band swings into a prelude and then, sharply at 2 o'clock, strikes up a medley of national airs. Instantly all is life. Seeming chaos exists in the dressing and entrance tents, but in reality all is orderly, each person and animal knowing his, her or its place. The chords of this medley are the signal for the grand opening pageant of life and color.

This complete, the participants disappear behind the canvass of the tents and the first equestrian acts are on. The rings are filled with galloping horses and lively riders, while in the hippodrome tracks the chariot races between two-wheeled, cumbersome looking vehicles drawn by powerful, speedy Arabian horses thrill the spectators.

All this time the band is playing, and its music instills spirit and vim into the performance, even the animals, seemingly, being imbued with its rhythm and swing.

In fact, the circus men with the Sells-Floto aggregation say music is of paramount importance in dealing with the animals. The horses do their tricks readily and easily while the music continues, prancing and cavorting about. But let the music stop for a few minutes and much of the life and spirit seems to depart from them.

So it is with the other animals. The elephants do their stunts better while the music is playing, and the savage animals, such as the lions and tigers, are less prone to sulk or to become victims of hysteria—that bugbear of the trainer who handles species of the feline family—while the music is sounding through the big tent.

It has even been found that slow music is best for the large tuskers in Carl Zeltz's wonderful troupe of elephants, and that catchy, rag-time music will quiet the lions and tigers better than the variety used during the stunts of the larger animals.

Verily, in the circus world, at least, there is, truth in the old saying that "Music hath charms to soothe the savage breast."

All will have an opportunity to note the effect of music upon animals when the big Sells-Floto circus shows here on Thursday.

Circus Comes Thursday.

"Whoop-la, this is circus week! The big show is here on Thursday. I know because I saw it in the Times."

So say the kiddies, and of course they know. Any time a circus is in town or anywhere for many miles around you may depend upon the children to know all about it.

And speaking of children. Tell us, just who is there in this whole community that can not be included in this category when circus day comes around?

It has been said that men and women are simply children of an older growth; children who have had experiences and who have profited thereby. The truth of this will readily be seen when the circus comes here on Thursday, for the Big Sells-Floto circus is an aggregation which makes old hearts beat to a livelier tune, sets the blood of these grown-up children leaping through their veins, of course, they try to maintain their dignity of growth and appear nonchalant and careless—and makes them think of long ago when they went to see their first circus, just as scores of children will do here Thursday.

The big tented show always has with it an enthusiasm which is contagious and infectious. It spreads into every nook and cranny in the city and country for miles around. It is concomitant; the word circus is practically synonymous with the words enthusiasm and delight.

From the instant a score or more of men appear in a community armed with buckets of paste and with brushes and begin to post flaring pictures of the wild animals brought into captivity and the many daring and skillful feats which are a part of the every-day life in the circus world, the enthusiasm begins. Children stop and gaze open-mouthed at the wonderful representations and then rush home to tell papa and mama "the circus is coming!" Then people begin to talk about it, the news spreads, and soon the wave of enthusiasm has spread throughout the country for miles around and when the circus appears everyone who has any possible excuse for being in the vicinity is there to see the parade and to take in the big show.

The Big Sells-Floto circus is better than ever this year, and it presents high class acts never before seen in a circus arena. It will be in Wichita Falls on Thursday, and the performances will be preceded by a monster, glittering street parade at 10:30 in the morning.

YOU MAY CHOOSE FOR YOURSELF

Either "Hard Times" or "Good Times," for It Has Come to be a Personal Problem With Each Business Man. . . .

THE "hard times" are over, generally speaking. They are not over for those people who are content to have them continue. With the advent of Fall activities in business will come to each merchant, to each man who is conducting a business, the opportunity to say a long good-bye to "hard times," or to cling to them a little longer. It is to be largely a test of courage--the making of this choice. A test of advertising courage--mainly.

The stronger business men will choose good times as a matter of course--and will proceed to make the choice effective by a campaign of real advertising. There will be better, bigger, more effective advertising done this Fall than ever before.

The afraid-merchant will wonder "where the money is coming from to pay the bills." He will, in some cases, decide that he must not "take the risk. That will be HIS DECISION FOR "HARD TIMES" in preference to "good times," so far as he, personally, is concerned.

Prosperity is now a personal question. Yours is a personal question with you. This is both true and important.
