HEARST'S PRIVATE CAR SCENE OF EXCITEMENT

DEPUTY SHERIFF CREATES STIR IN SERVING PAPERS FOR HASKELL'S LIBEL SUIT.

BROKE INTO STATEROOM

Mrs. Hearst Started and Indignant. Husband Unruffled When Service is Read.

Special to the Times. BULLETIN.—Omaha, Oct. 16.—After a dramatic scene on a Union Pacific train last night in which three of his state-rooms were burst open by a deputy sheriff, Wm. R. Hearst, the millionaire newspaper publisher and founder of the New York Journal, was served with papers notifying him of a suit for six hundred thousand dollars, brought against him for slander and libel by Governor Haskell in Douglas county, Nebraska, district court.

Hearst was found in a toilet adjoining state-room which had been broken into by the deputy sheriff. Mrs. Hearst who was partially disrobed refused to allow the entrance of the deputy, and ran screaming through the door into the aisle and when Hearst emerged from the toilet room the papers were served. He appears less indignant than his wife and stated that he did not believe that the suit would ever come to trial.

TO WELCOME FLEET

JAPANESE NAVY AND PEOPLE PREPARED TO GIVE AMERICANS MAGNIFICENT RECEPTION.

SENTIMENT OF FRIENDSHIP

Prevails and Visiting Fleet Will Be Given a Most Royal Entertainment.

Tokio, Japan, Oct. 16.—Some time between dawn and noon of Saturday, October 17th, the American fleet of sixteen battleships, escorted by a squadron of Japanese war vessels, will swing around Hachiojyama into the beautiful harbor of Yokohama. Sixteen welcoming men-of-war will salute and three hundred and sixty harmless guns will voice the sentiment of the whole people of Japan.

The first scene of the first act of the week's engagement of the American fleet in Japan will doubtless be the most impressive, but every number on the long program, carefully prepared and as carefully rehearsed, will be new evidence that the welcome found in Japan has been unexcelled, unequalled perhaps, by any of the hearty welcomes extended to it since it left the Atlantic seaboard.

Sixteen Japanese war vessels are now awaiting the battleships at their quays and throughout the visit each battleship will have officers and men representing the entertaining emperor and people at its beck and call. A high Japanese admiral, speaking of October 17th, said: "When the first gun of welcome sounds American week will have begun and a new page will be turned in the history of the relations between the two countries."

Immediately the vessels come to anchorage Captain Dougherty, the naval attaché of the American embassy, will board Admiral Sperry's flagship and the exchange of visits between the admirals and officers from ship to ship will commence. While this is going on, thousands of persons ashore, lining the basin of the harbor and occupying every vantage ground will wait the first landing. Two special landing places have been arranged in the center of the Yokohama Land, a broad avenue facing the sea. They are for the exclusive use of the fleet's boats. By official orders the American flag will be everywhere displayed with the Japanese flag and at night every house in Yokohama and Tokio, as well as in the villages between the two places, will put out lighted lanterns having the American and Japanese flags on them.

ors daily. The government has provided guides for the visitors, and instructions have been issued to the men of the Japanese fleet, as well as to the people generally, that every assistance should be given to the American sailors. The merchants have been warned that exorbitant charges will not be countenanced.

The first large affair ashore will be the dinner given by Admiral Ijima, commanding the Japanese welcoming fleet, to the officers on Saturday night. This will be followed by a reception. On Sunday the mayor gives a dinner and the men will be provided with a regular program of entertainment. A reception will also be given on Sunday by the governor of Kanagawa.

Figures Mean a Bryan Landslide.

Buffalo (N. Y.) Times.
With the view of getting a line on the drift of political sentiment in these last weeks before election, the Cincinnati Enquirer has been taking a secret ballot. The canvass is accurate, the results being ascertained and verified by mathematical experts. The figures show big democratic gains and are such as to put the election of Bryan beyond any doubt.

Most interesting are the figures from Taft's own State, Ohio, and in his own city, Cincinnati. They show a state of affairs which admits of only one interpretation—that Bryan will carry Ohio by many thousands plurality. For example, the Enquirer made a canvass of the Lunkenheimer Brass works of Cincinnati, one of the largest concerns of its kind in the country. Out of those in the establishment who voted the republican ticket in 1904, forty-nine will vote for Bryan in 1908. Only sixteen who voted democratic in 1904 will vote for Taft this year, while eight republicans will vote for Debs, one republican for prohibition, one republican will vote socialist and three socialists will vote democratic.

The canvass made in the First National bank building showed thirty-nine republicans who will shift to Bryan as against nine voters who will shift to Taft. In the Fourth National bank building eleven republicans vote for Bryan, while only two who voted democratic in 1904 will shift to Taft this year. In the Mercantile library skyscraper is shown this extraordinary change: Republican to democrat, 51; democrat to republican, 4. In the Union Trust building, among bankers, lawyers, doctors and insurance men, forty-three shift to Bryan as against twenty-two to Taft.

In the canvass of the plant of Helmers, Bettmann & Co. one of the largest shoe factories of Cincinnati, seventeen republicans went over to Bryan, and not a single democrat will vote for Taft, this being equally significant as showing the Bryan trend of the labor vote.

The decisiveness of democratic gains is brought out with startling clearness by analysis of these figures. Among the professional and mercantile classes, as represented in the big office buildings, there is a republican shift of 17 per cent, while the democratic shift to Taft is only 8 per cent. Among the laboring people, as shown by the canvass of the Helmers-Bettmann concern, there is a republican shift to Bryan of 33.3 per cent and no shift to Taft at all.—It is fair to assume that workers and salaried people represent at least two-thirds of the entire vote of the country.

Now, the total republican vote of Ohio in 1904 was 600,959. The total democratic vote was 344,674. Applying the canvass in Cincinnati to general conditions throughout the State of Ohio, we have:

Total republican shift to Bryan	167,333
Deduct democratic shift of 8 per cent of professional and mercantile vote	9,200
Net republican shift to Bryan	157,133
Add total Ohio democratic vote in 1904	344,674
Estimated democratic vote in Ohio for 1908	501,807
Estimated republican vote in Ohio for 1908, after deducting net loss of 157,133	344,674
Estimated democratic plurality in Ohio for 1908	157,133

Similar or larger democratic gains are shown all through the Middle West. Every indication is that they will be repeated in New York. This extraordinary testimony to Bryan's strength is the unwilling evidence of a hostile witness, John K. McLean, proprietor of the Cincinnati Enquirer, which is making the canvass, has always been bitterly antagonistic to Mr. Bryan. His papers, the Enquirer and the Washington Post, are both fighting him. But he is compelled by the stern logic of facts, to make these remarkable concessions. And they agree with the admissions of Republican National Chairman Hitchcock, who is forced to admit immense democratic gains all through the West.

Public Penance.

In former times persons guilty of grievous and notorious offenses were required to make open confession and, further, to make satisfaction for the scandal given by their bad example by doing penance publicly in a white sheet in their parish church. The sheet was used to show clearly to every one which was the offender. The last time that public penance was done in an English church was on Sunday evening, July 30, 1882, when a man named Hartree, in the church of All Saints, East Cleveland, made an open confession of immorality and promised to perform the penance thus imposed on him by the vicar. No white sheet was used on this occasion. The last case in which one was used appears to have been one in St. Bridget's church, Chester, in 1851, but on that occasion the penance was not public, the church door being locked. In the previous year, however, public penance in a white sheet was done in a country church in Essex, and a similar thing occurred in Ditton church, near Cambridge, in 1849.—Stray Stories.

An Unexpected Check.

A man who won a reputation for cool daring and almost eccentric fearlessness along a thousand miles of the southwestern border was A. L. Parrott, at one time a sergeant in McNelly's company of Texan rangers. One night in 1875, about six months after Parrott left the state service, he was sitting in a house in a little town in southwest Texas playing chess with a friend. It was a warm night, and the chessboard was on a table close to an open window. Parrott had the white men. His queen was in a direct line with the black king, but a black knight was between the two pieces. It was Parrott's move. Suddenly there was a sharp report outside, and a bullet whistled in through the window, hit the black knight and buried itself in the wall. Parrott had been bending over the board, and the bullet was evidently intended for his head. But for a few seconds he did not stir. He saw the black knight suddenly vanish. Then in his peculiar drawing, hesitating way he said, "Check!"

The Stone of Infamy.

In many Italian cities there formerly existed what was called "pietra d'infamia," or a stone of infamy for the punishment of bankrupts. In Venice one stands near the Church of St. Mark, and in Verona and Florence they are near the old markets. On a day in carnival week the old time custom was to have all traders who had become bankrupt in the preceding twelve months led to the stone, and one by one each stood on its center to hear the reading of a report of his business failure and to endure the reproaches heaped on him by his creditors. At the end of a certain time each bankrupt was partly undressed, and three officers took hold of his shoulders and three others of his knees and, raising him as high as they could, bumped him on the stone deliberately twelve times, "in honor of the twelve apostles," the creditors crowing like cocks while the bumping proceeded.

Falling in Love.

I do not doubt that as the world goes on a deeper sense of moral responsibility in the matter of marriage will grow up among us. But it will not take the false direction of ignoring these our profoundest and holiest instincts. Marriage for money may go, marriage for rank may go, but marriage for position may go, but marriage for love, I believe and trust, will last forever. Men in the future will probably feel that a union with their cousins or near relations is positively wicked; that a union with those too like them in person or disposition is at least undesirable; that a union based upon considerations of wealth or any other consideration save considerations of immediate natural impulse is base and disgraceful. But to the end of time they will continue to feel in spite of doctrines that the voice of nature is better far than the voice of the lord chancellor or the royal society and that the instinctive desire for a particular helpmate is a surer guide for the ultimate happiness both of the race and of the individual than any amount of deliberate consultation. It is not the foolish fancies of youth that will have to be got rid of, but the foolish, wicked and mischievous interference of parents or outsiders.—Grant Allen.

Knew the Sound of Wood.

There was an argument on a cricket field in a village near Nottingham, England, which interrupted the game for some time. The match was being played between the local tradesmen of the village. All went well until the bowler, who was the village constable, a man over six feet tall, sent a ball which bumped up from the ground and hit the village butcher, who was batting and who was exceedingly fat and perspiring freely, on the head. The wicket keeper, a remarkably thin and agile man, who was the village grocer, caught the ball and yelled, "Ow's that?" "Hout!" shouted the village baker, who possessed only one eye. "Hi say now!" roared the fat butcher, who refused to have it so. "But hit 'im on the 'ead." "Hi don't know where hit 'im," responded the umpire, who was the village undertaker, "but Hi knows the sound of wood when Hi 'ears hit, so hout you go."

The Tricksters.

"Political tricksters always give themselves away," said a congressman. "Their methods remind me of the two men who wanted to sell their corpses for dissection. These two men, miserably clad, called on the dean of a medical college in New York. "We are both on the verge of starvation, sir," the spokesman said. "We are well on in years, and it is clear that we haven't much longer to live. Would you care to purchase our bodies for your dissecting room?" "The dean hesitated. "It is an odd proposition," he muttered. "But it is occasionally done," said the spokesman in an eager voice. "Well," said the dean, "we might arrange it. What price do you ask?" "Over in Philadelphia," said the spokesman, "they gave us $40."—New York Tribune.

Not So Bad as She Feared.

"George," she whispered as she crept a little closer and placed her head against his left hand second story vest pocket—"George, I want to ask you a question, a very important one. Why do you allude to papa as a pirate? Surely you must have some good reason for doing so?" "I have, indeed," responded George, with a dreamy, faraway look in his eyes. "Pirates board people, you know, and I expect your father, if my plans work all right, to eventually board me." "Oh, how clever you are, George! You were going to get off that ancient chestnut about his being such an old freebooter, and I'm so glad you didn't, because all the fellows I've had have said that, and I was longing for something new."

Tricking the Men.

Chinamen have a way of tricking hens so that they assist in the hatching of fish. Fish eggs are carefully placed in an eggshell, which is then sealed and placed under an unsuspecting hen. In a few days the spaw is warmed into life, and the contents of the shell are then cast into a shallow pool, where the sunshine completes the work.

Governor Haskell has brought suit against William R. Hearst for libel and slander and asks for damages to the amount of $600,000. So far Hearst has failed to make good his charge that Governor Haskell attempted to bribe with Standard Oil money Attorney General Monnett of Ohio, and unless he does the American people will believe stronger than ever before that he was hired to make this charge against Haskell in order to injure or defeat Bryan. Haskell has taken the only course left open to him, unless he should elect to hold the assailant of his character personally responsible and mete out to him the punishment that all assassins of character so richly deserve. Haskell stood high in the councils of the National Democratic party, until these Hearst charges were made. Hearst knew full well that it would be impossible for Haskell to disprove them in a court of justice before the November election and therefore they were nothing for Haskell to do but resign his position as treasurer of the Democratic Campaign committee. In the eyes of democrats, he has not yet been condemned and in the event he wins in the suit against Hearst he will come out from under this charge a greater and stronger man than ever. Hearst has assailed several leading men in both parties, but so far none of them but Haskell have dared to bring suit against him for libel and slander. This is a very good indication that Haskell, in this instance, at least, has been wilfully and maliciously slandered.

In this election it is well to remember that for the past forty or fifty years, every presidential election that has been held during that period, was won by the party which spent the most money to win it. When Cleveland was first elected the democratic party, according to the best authorities obtainable, spent more money than the republican party. When Harrison defeated him, the republicans spent the largest amount, and when he defeated Harrison the democrats for the second time spent the most money. In this election the democrats have less than $250,000 at their command. It is not known, and probably will not be until after the election how much the republicans spent, but if their donations come in $20,000 chunks like that contributed by "Handy Andy" Carnegie, it is pretty safe to make a guess that the republicans will at least have enough money to capture the salable vote. The question as to the result is to figure out how many votes are for sale and can be bought. There may not be a sufficient number in this election to determine the result, but if so, the presidential contest will be a record breaker and Bryan will have the distinction of being the only man elected president of the United States during the past forty years whose success in vote getting could not be traced directly to a large campaign fund, which was used lavishly to corrupt the ballot. These are facts that the history of every presidential election held since the war do not controvert.

Five Hundred Party.

Mrs. Matthew Murray delightfully entertained a number of her friends on Tuesday afternoon at her home on Travis avenue, in honor of Mrs. and Miss Ziegler, late of Houston, but now residents of our city, both of whom stole right into our hearts, till we truly feel that they are one of us.

The house was beautifully decorated in cut flowers and from a great bank of goldenrod and ox-eyed daisies in the dining room stole the sorcery of the fields and autumn woods.

The game was the ever popular "500" and was most enjoyable. Mrs. Ralph Darnell was the recipient of the souvenir, a lovely cut glass nippy. How we unsuccessful ones did wish we had been born under a lucky star.

The refreshments were delightful indeed, consisting of creamed chicken and peas, with mushroom sauce, served on rosette wafers, olives and cheese cakes, and hot chocolate served with whipped cream and cake. The exhilarating atmosphere had something to do with it, for we ate and ate like small children do when they come from school.

Those invited were Mesdames McCune, Fry, J. T. Roberts, Sanders, Marcus, Miller, Maer, Woodward, Huff, Smith, Shumate, Allen Campbell, DuVal, McGregor, Burnsides, Smith, Patterson, Simpson, Ogsten, Andrews, Beavers, Darnell, Montgomery, and Ziegler and Misses Dot Walker and Ziegler.

*Use Some of Heinz India Relish
On Your Next Roast...*

There are two good reasons why a good relish is almost essential on either hot or cold meats.

1st: It adds wonderfully to the taste of any meat or fish whether hot or cold—makes it doubly appetizing.

2nd: The materials from which a good relish—such as Heinz India Relish—is made are especially good for digestion. It stimulates a good healthy stomach action and thus aids the whole system.

Heinz India Relish is good and sharp—not too sharp—and has a very delightful and piquant flavor.

You will want and use it often after once trying it. 35c per bottle.

What of It? A Republican Confession and a Republican Defi.
"The Chicago Inter-Ocean, a republican paper, in its issue of October 7th, printed an editorial from which the following is taken:
"Judge Parker let out a whoop at Baltimore on Monday over the $100,000 that the republican national committee received from the Standard Oil company—and did not return—in the Roosevelt campaign of 1904.
"As a matter of fact, the republican campaign fund got $100,000 from the Standard Oil company, as in 1896 it got $50,000 from the New York Life Insurance company, and in 1904 $260,000 from E. H. Harriman. What of it?
"The only questionable feature of these transactions is that in 1904 the country was given Mr. Roosevelt's word of honor that his campaign fund had not received contributions from large corporations, when, in fact, it had. However, that is Mr. Roosevelt's affair, not the party's.
"Otherwise, what of it? What effect did these contributions have except to promote the political education of the public?"

MOUNTAIN SLIDING.

Hawaiian Small Boys Simply "Drop Down the Edge of the Scenery."

Water sports are by no means the only vigorous athletics indulged in by the boys of Hawaii. Mountain climbing is a favorite pastime, for there are peaks 4,000 feet high within easy walking distance of any part of Honolulu, and on the island of Hawaii there are two mountains fully 14,000 feet in height. Not infrequently the Honolulu schools give picnics on the mountain sides that the pupils may gather land shells. It is on these excursions in search of land shells that the Hawaiian schoolboys revel in the once national sport, mountain sliding.

A very steep mountain side is selected, where the grass is long and sloping downward. Every one gathers his own ti leaves. The ti leaf is something like the banana leaf, but not nearly so long. With a bunch of ti leaves in his hand the first boy steps to the edge of the slide, grasps the leaves by the stems in both hands, places the leafy part under him and sits down, gives himself a start and drops down the edge of the scenery like a flash. I was assured that it was an easy matter to regulate the speed of descent by merely grasping the ti stems firmly and lifting them upward, this acting as a brake. I longed for the thrill of dropping down over the edge of a mountain and upon my brief sled of ti leaves began the descent. I went like the wind. It seemed as though my breath would be taken away from me or that I would plunge head over heels, to be dashed to pieces among the trees below. I thought of my brake and drew up on the ti leaves with all my might and came up with a jerk that jarred every bone in my body. There I sat, looking downward almost perpendicularly, held in position only by a few leaves resting on the smooth, slippery grass, but the sliding grass is nearly a foot long, and it is only after it has been repeatedly slidden over and beaten down that it approaches perfection in the eyes of the Hawaiian small boy and sometimes leads to accidents. When, for instance, the thin layer of ti leaves wears out beneath the slide a gentle tug at the stalks parts the sled and sends the slider whizzing downward in a most uncomfortable and ungraceful manner, all arms and legs. Lucky is the victim of such an accident if he is not stopped in his downward career by the trunk of a tree.—St. Nicholas.

SCARED THE ROBBERS.

Odd Incident in England in the Eighteenth Century.

For a time during the eighteenth century in England there was a lull in the robbery industry owing to an odd incident. Shortly after the execution of an English burglar named Elliston a curious communication purporting to have been written by him was put into circulation. "Now, as I am a dying man," it ran, "I have done something which may be of good use to the public. I have left with an honest man—the only honest man I was ever acquainted with—the names of all my wicked brethren, the places of their abode, with a short account of the chief crimes they have committed. In many of which I have been the accomplice and heard the rest from their own mouths. I have likewise set down the names of those we call our setters, of the houses we frequent and all of those who receive and buy our stolen goods. I have solemnly charged this honest man and have received his promise upon oath that whenever he hears of any rogue to be tried for robbery or housebreaking he will look into his list and if he finds there the name of the thief concerned to send the whole paper to the government. Of this I here give my companions fair and public warning and hope they will take it." It is said the list was so effectual that for a long time pickpockets and burglars in that part of England went into panic stricken retirement. And, this being so, it is just as well they did not know that the letter was a clever forgery, the work of that prince of wits and humorists, Dean Swift.—New York Tribune.

Climatic Changes.

There is plenty of evidence of the very best sort which goes to prove that not only Europe and North America, but the lands situated within the arctic circle, must have enjoyed a tropical climate. The numerous fossil remains found in those regions are those of plants and animals which, according to the present state of our knowledge, must have lived under conditions now found only in the equatorial belt. Nothing is clearer than the fact that the polar cold is steadily gaining on the temperate and tropical zones and that eventually the land will be all ice fields.

Donald Knew.

Margaret, aged ten, was a beguiler in history. "Mamma," she asked "what does 'behead' mean?"

"To cut off a man's head, dear."

There was a moment of silent study then another question.

"What does 'defeat' mean, mamma?"

Little Donald, aged four, was interested.

"I know, mamma," was his logical conclusion. "Defeat" means to cut a man's feet off."—Delineator.

Very Different.

"In the olden days a reformer was liable to be burnt at the stake."

"Yes, and now we put him on the lecture platform and give him 50 per cent of the gross receipts."—Washington Star.

Talking and eloquence are not the same. To speak and to speak well are two things.—Ben Jonson.

Saw It.

"There's been a conflagration here," said Cumso, looking at a tall building.

"How do you know?" asked Fangle.

"I saw the fire escape."—Kansas City Independent.

TO THE FIRST VOTER.

Bryan's Commong.
 Young man, great responsibility attaches to your first vote. As you begin, so are you likely to continue. The momentum that carries you into a party at the beginning of your political life is apt to keep you in that party unless some convulsion shakes you out of it. Start right, and in order that you may start right, examine the principles of the parties and the policies which they advocate.

There are two great party organizations in the United States, one fifty years old and the other more than a century old. The republican party has been in power almost uninterruptedly for more than half a century and under its reign abuses have grown up which threaten the perpetuity of the government and endanger our civilization. So great are these abuses that republican reformers are now pointing out that something must be done—and what can be done? The first thing is to undo the things that have been done, and the party to undo these abuses is not the party which has done them, but the party which has protested against abuses and pointed out the remedies.

The republican party has turned the taxing power over to private individuals; it has allowed monopolies to grow up and assume control of the industries of the country by granting privileges by law and by giving immunity to the large violators of the law; the republican party has permitted the fortunes of the predatory rich to become so large that government is corrupted, politics debauched and business polluted.

The democratic party proposes to withdraw the taxing power from private hands, to so legislate as to make a private monopoly impossible, and to enforce the law without discrimination. It proposes to protect legitimate wealth and punish those who attempt to plunder the public for private gain. On which side do you stand, young man? Are you with the masses in their effort to restore the government to its old foundation and make it a government of the people, for the people and by the people, or are you with the republican leaders in their effort to perpetuate the party in power by selling immunity in return for campaign contributions?

There are always two parties in the country, and one is necessarily nearer to the people than the other. In this country the democratic party is nearer to the people than the republican party. Its leaders have more faith in the people. Take the election of United States senators by the people as a test. The democrats want to give the voters a chance to elect and control their representatives in the United States Senate. The democratic party in the house of representatives passed the first resolution for the submission of the necessary constitutional amendment. They did this eight years before any republican congress did it. The democratic party has thrice demanded this reform in its national platform. The republican party has not done so. Why do democratic leaders insist upon this reform and republican leaders oppose it? There can be but one answer—the democratic party is nearer to the people than the republican party. Young man, will you stand with the people or against them?

The answer to this question affects your country. If you are with the people your influence, be it great or small, will hasten their victory. If you are against the people your influence may retard that victory. But while in the first instance it is your country that may gain or lose by your action, you must remember that in the long run your position in politics will depend upon your conduct. You cannot fool the people always. You may lead them astray if you dare, but they will punish you when they find you out. You may work for the people without recognizing it at first, but you can trust them to discover the character of your work and to reward you accordingly.

About the Care of the Teeth.
 A sweet breath has an influence on beauty and on the preservation of the teeth. In fact, it is quite self-evident that pure and fragrant breath is a matter of supreme importance to a woman and no one can afford to neglect care of this detail. In a few rules we may sum up the general conditions which keep the breath pure and fresh: Sobriety, good health, an avoidance of onions and garlic, and clean, healthy teeth.

Should the breath be objectionable, such a condition may be caused by the stomach.

For the preservation of the teeth the Japanese eat the bark of the cinnamon. The resinous substance which flows from the bark of the mastic tree hardens the gums and gives a delicious odor to the breath. The Roman dames, if history may be believed, used tooth-picks cut from the wood of the mastic tree.

A mixture of camphor and myrrh, a few drops of each in a glass of water is excellent as a wash for the mouth and for a gargle. If myrrh alone is used, ten drops will be sufficient.—Exchange.

Your Highest Ideals of Dress For your Boys are realized here to-day! The fondest mother--the most indulgent parent could not hope to find anywhere happier combinations of distinctive smartness, good taste, economy and sound wear than the Ivan Frank clothes for boys afford.

And perhaps the strongest appeal to your interest lies in the fact that for all the superior features of these vastly superior clothes, there is no extra tax. You pay no more for for them than garments from less desirable--less experienced, sources usually command.

Our Lines of Suits, Overcoats and Reefers are without the possibility of contradiction--the most attractively designed and best made garments for boys --big or little--that the tailor's art has ever produced.

YOU MAY CHOOSE FOR YOURSELF
 Either "Hard Times" or "Good Times," for It Has Come to be a Personal Problem With Each Business Man. . . .

THE "hard times" are over, generally speaking. They are not over for those people who are content to have them continue. With the advent of Fall activities in business will come to each merchant, to each man who is conducting a business, the opportunity to say a long goodbye to "hard times," or to cling to them a little longer. It is to be largely a test of courage--the making of this choice. A test of advertising courage--mainly.

The stronger business men will choose good times as a matter of course--and will proceed to make the choice effective by a campaign of real advertising. There will be better, bigger, more effective advertising done this Fall than ever before.

The afraid-merchant will wonder "where the money is coming from to pay the bills." He will, in some cases, decide that he must not "take the risk. That will be HIS DECISION FOR "HARD TIMES" in preference to "good times," so far as he, personally, is concerned.

Prosperity is now a personal question. Yours is a personal question with you. This is both true and important.

Who Paid the Bill?
 New York, October 9.—The fact that Andrew Carnegie has contributed $20,000 to the campaign fund of the republican national committee was announced today by State Chairman Woodruff.—Associated Press.

Twenty thousand dollars—that is but a little dab
 Andrew Carnegie has given Mr. Taft just the profit of an hour of his tariff grabbing power.
 Just a sample of his lucious tariff graft.

Twenty thousand families go hungry for a day.
 To help the "Laird o' Skibo" work his will;
 But amidst our toil and sweating there's no danger of forgetting
 That those who died at Homestead paid the bill.

Twenty thousand dollars—there's a red-brown, dirty stain
 On the money that can never be erased.
 'Tis the blood of honest toilers shed by greedy trust despoilers
 Who at vantage points their Pinkertons had placed.
 Just the profits of oppression wrought by those who had possession
 Of the power held by kings to save or kill;
 But the third day of November let the toilers remember
 That those who died at Homestead paid the bill.

The martyred dead at Homestead—green the grass above their graves—
 Green the memory of how the martyrs died.
 And again we see the battle; hear the rifles' crash rattle,
 See the blood of workers flow in crimson tide.
 Aye, upon that contribution is the stain of destitution—
 Hungry children, hopeless widows wan and ill—
 Woe and want the wogker pinching—gold the tariff baron elphing—
 And those who died at Homestead paid the bill.

—The Steel Worker.

Fall Days--The Weather Is Getting a Little "Snappy" Now

Makes a fellow "sit up and take notice" at meal time. Makes him want something a little more substantial. Let us suggest some fancy breakfast bacon, sliced right; a nice mild cured ham; a big fat mackerel.
 For desert you will want something a little heavier than you have been having. An occasional Mince Pie or Plumb Pudding. In mince meat we have New England and Atmores in packages; Erie in glass and stone jars; Erie and Atmores in 2lb tins and in 20 lb kits.
 In Plumb Pudding we have Libbey, Bishops, Atmores and a genuine imported English all good, all from different receipts so you always have a variety. Receiving fresh Colorado vegetables. If you trade with us you can live as well as though you lived in the largest city in the state.
