As has already been stated, the Times has reopened its Bryan campaign fund, and contributors can hand in their dollars between now and the 28th. The party needs every dollar it can get hold of, and even after all subscriptions are in, the total will be much smaller than that of the republican campaign fund.

The Times, just for the present, is giving up a great deal of its space to keep its readers posted on the presidential race, but the election will soon be over and then it will get down to its real mission—that of telling of the wonderful advancements made by Wichita country during the past two or three years and what we, as a people, expect to accomplish in the way of town building in the future.

Governor Haskell was given an ovation on his visit to Dallas, which is an indication that the people of Texas, at least, admire a man who has the backbone to defend his honor, when attacked even by the President of the United States. Of all the prominent men whom Hearst has tried to blackmail, Haskell is the only one who has forced him to a show-down. It begins to look as if he had gotten the New York gub'ner in a hole that will cost a nice chunk of his fortune to get him out.

On the way New York goes depends largely the result of the present presidential contest. The indications are that the republicans are fearful it will go for Bryan and in order to prevent, has apparently agreed to make a sacrifice of their republican candidate for governor to gain votes for Taft. The various polls taken by the World indicate a plurality in the State of New York for Taft of less than 25,000, while the same polls show that the democratic candidate for governor will be elected by an overwhelming majority. There is nothing against Hughes, the republican candidate for governor. He is a clean man and has made the State a good governor, but in order to gain the presidency he, apparently, has agreed to make a sacrifice of himself, with the understanding, perhaps, that he will be taken care of in the event Taft is elected. That is good politics, and the republicans know how to play the game. They will lose the governorship of a great State in order to save their presidential candidate from defeat.

Want Better Service.

The Wichita Falls and Southern railway is doing a large business these days, in fact so large that seats in their combined mail, express and passenger coach are filled before they get to Archer City, forcing us people to stand in the aisle or on the platform or perhaps ride in a box car. We pay our money and should be entitled to a seat. It is the exception and not the rule that proper accommodations are furnished.—Archer City News.

Of course, the people of Archer City are entitled to the best there is, and just as soon as it can be done, we'll wager that the company will put on a regular passenger train and there'll be no more complaint on that account.

Three Names for One Town.

H. F. Caultie of Grandfield, Oklahoma, was a visitor here today. Mr. Caultie is postmaster at Eschtl, a postoffice not yet having been established in the new town.

A rather complicated situation prevails at the new town. The railroad station is officially known as Kell, the postoffice as Eschtl and the town as Grandfield.

Steps have been taken to have this confusion of names simplified and to have the postoffice established at Grandfield.

READING THE STARS.

An Author's Mastery of the Science of Navigation.

"By the end of the week, teaching myself," writes Jack London in Harper's Weekly of his mastery of the science of navigation, "I was able to do divers things. For instance, I shot the North star, at night, of course—got its altitude, corrected for index error, dip, etc., and found our latitude. And this latitude agreed with the latitude of the previous noon corrected by dead reckoning up to that moment. Proud? Well, I was even prouder with my next miracle. I was going to turn in at 9 o'clock. I worked out the problem self instructed and learned what star of the first magnitude would be passing the meridian around half past 8. This star proved to be Alpha Crucis. I had never heard of the star before. I looked it up on the star map. It was one of the stars of the Southern Cross. What, thought I! Have we been sailing with the Southern Cross in the sky of nights and never known it? Dolts that we are! Gudgeons and moles! I couldn't believe it. I went over the problem again and verified it. Charmin! Ah had the wheel from 8 till 10 that evening. I told her to keep her eyes open and look due south for the Southern Cross, and when the stars came out there she shone the Southern Cross low on the horizon. Proud? No medicine man nor high priest was ever prouder. Furthermore, with the prayer wheel I shot Alpha Crucis and from its altitude worked out our latitude, and still furthermore I shot the North star, too, and it agreed with what had been told me by the Southern Cross. Proud? Why, the language of the stars was mine, and I listened and heard them telling me my way over the deep."

Weight of a Lion.

What does a lion weigh? Those who know the look of the king of beasts best and how small his little body really is will probably come farthest from the truth. About 300 to 350 pounds is a usual estimate, but a full grown lion will tip the scales at no less than 500 pounds. Five hundred and forty pounds is the record for an African lion. His bone is solid and heavy as ivory. The tiger runs the lion very close. A Bengal tiger killed by an English officer scaled 520 pounds. A tiger this size has, however, considerably more muscular strength than the biggest lion.

The Comparative Method.

Theodore had twice been sent to wash his hands and was now returning for the second inspection.

"My child," said his mother, comparing the two hands critically, "your right is just as dirty as your left. What have you been doing all this time?"

"Why, mamma," explained the youth, "last time you said that my left hand was cleaner than my right, so I tried to make them even. I'll go again."—Youth's Companion.

Too Much of a Tease.

Blough and Neighbors were chatting on the porch. Mrs. Blough was in the parlor near the window. Blough knew she was listening and wanted to tease her.

"Had a little experience today," he said to Neighbors confidentially. "Prettiest little girl you ever saw. She was sauntering along the street some feet behind a strolling couple. I was walking faster, and as I caught up with her I couldn't help looking at her, she was so pretty. She caught my look and smiled. I had no intention of flirting, of course, but that smile was irresistible. Then our hands touched accidentally, and we let them linger a minute. She began walking faster to keep up with me, and we passed the couple ahead together. When we got some distance ahead of them I mustered up nerve enough to speak. 'Good evening,' I said, and she replied the same very roguishly."

There was a swish of skirts in the parlor, and Blough turned in time to see his wife vaulting toward the hall. "Thunder!" he exclaimed. "Of course the little girl was only about six years old, but my wife didn't wait to hear that. She's gone upstairs to cry now, and even if she accepts my explanation it means flowers and a party dress. What fools we husbands be!"—St. Louis Republic.

If it is necessary to use iodine for painting the skin in medical treatment it is worth remembering that the painting should be done in the dark or in a red light such as is used in photography.

If this is done and the painted portion of the skin is covered without being exposed to white light it will not blister nor stain the flesh even if the painting is repeated a good many times.—New York Sun.

Deer.

Deer will eat almost any kind of grain or grass, even preferring the rankest weeds to the choicest hay. They should always have an abundant supply of clear, running water. About the greatest item of expense connected with raising deer is the cost of fencing. The fawns are usually born in the spring or early summer. Does, as a rule, have but one fawn at first, but subsequently twins are born and in rare cases triplets.—Kansas City Star.

British Army Intelligence.

An army order gave the following as the occasions on which the union Jack is to be flown:

- (a) On anniversaries only, or when specially required for saluting purposes.
- (b) On Sundays and anniversaries.
- (c) Daily.

—Punch.

Not Like Father.

"Do you think Mr. Skinnum's baby will take after its father?"
"Not at all. The other day they persuaded it to cough up a nickel it had swallowed."—Washington Star.

No man has ever by complaining of his ill luck induced others to have confidence in him.—Chicago Record-Herald.

SLANG OF THE SAILOR

The Lingo That Is Used by Uncle Sam's Bluejackets.

MANY QUAINT EXPRESSIONS.

The Man-of-war's Man May Be a "Snowdigger" or a "Sloper," but He Uses the Language of Every Other Sailor.

There is a language that is neither English nor American, down east nor southern, western nor Yankee. It is just sailors' lingo.

No matter what part of the country may be the birthplace of a bluejacket or what his language at home, sooner or later he uses the language of every other sailor.

To the civilian a conversation between two bluejackets about his life on shipboard is hardly intelligible. The other day on the water front two sailors were overheard talking, says the San Francisco Bulletin.

"Oh, he's nothing but a beach comber. He was run up for breaking it once and got sent to the pie wagon," said one of them.

"I heard he got six months and a bob before he come here," replied the other. A small boy standing near asked what all those things meant. The sailors were in a good humor and explained.

"Beach comber, lad? Why, that's a fellow who hangs around a saloon ashore and never wants to work. 'Breaking it' is staying overtime on shore, and 'run up' is brought to the mast for offenses. The 'pie wagon' is the place where they put prisoners, and 'six months and a bob' is sentenced to six months in prison and given a dishonorable discharge."

There are many other terms and expressions that do not show their meaning on the surface.

A "rookie" is a recruit. A man who "ships over" enlists again. A man who is on the report for mast call is "down for a chance." Canned beef is known as "canned Willie," and a bottle of liquor is a "dog." All things lost on shipboard are put in a room called the "lucky bag." An honorable discharge is "a big ticket," and desertion by a sailor is "jumped." When the mail arrives on board and is ready for distribution "mallo" is the cry which carries the news. A ship's carpenter is called "chips," a cooper is "coppers," a blacksmith "blacky" and the chief of the engineering department "the chief."

When a ship is traveling at sea it is "seagoing," and if it hurries it is "making knots." A prison on shore is a "stone frigate." When a man is degraded to a lower rating he is "busted," when he deserts and voluntarily gives himself up within a period of six months he is a straggler; when he is sitting next the dealer in a friendly game of "draw" he is "under the gun;" when he is continually quoting the naval regulations he has "swallowed the blue book," and when he thinks he knows more about the blue book than the captain he is a "sea lawyer."

"Pipe down" means in American slang "shut up." "Put in his oar" is "butt in." "Shove off, Jack," is a hint to move on. When a man is dishonorably discharged he gets a "straight kick." A sailor who draws more pay "draws more water." One who talks too much "blows off at a low pressure." Wednesday afternoon, when the crew overhaul their clothing, is "rope yard Sunday." Any part of the United States is called "God's country," and the man from the eastern coast is a "snowdigger," while his brother tar from the west is called "sloper." The duty of calling the men in the morning falls to the master at arms, and he says "show a leg" or "rise up and shine." When a man has had no night watch and gets up in the morning with a good appetite it is "all night in and beans for breakfast."

One of the more familiar sea terms is "caught a crab," meaning caught an oar in the water. When a sailor has several enlistments to his credit he is called "a sea dog" or "an old salt."

A gentle hint from one sailor to another that he does not believe something which is being told to him is "tell it to a marine." To re-enlist is to "slip over," and when more than half the enlistment is in a sailor is "going downhill."

HUMORIST'S ODD GRAMMAR.

Captain Derby Provided Literally For Figurative Expression.

Among the pieces which made up the quaint output of Captain Derby, whose too early death deprived America of one of the most original humorists, was one entitled "A New System of English Grammar." It seems never to have attracted much attention; but, though there are in the volume containing it articles more broadly amusing, there are none in which wit and wisdom are more fully blended. After the lapse of years the exact words and the particular illustrations employed escape me in part, but the line of reasoning adopted will not vary materially from what is about to be given.

The humorist proposed to have all descriptions and epithets marked on a sufficient scale of comparison—not the beggarly three to which we are now limited, but to a number large enough to indicate every variation of character in the object under consideration and every possible degree of human conception in regard to its nature. The lowest conceivable amount of any human quality consistent with its being at all would be indicated by 1. Its maximum would be represented by 100. Here, then, would be a wide range between the perfection of the idea expressed by the one number and its bare existence merely implied by the other, as well as the feelings of the speaker about it, in which all shades of thought and feeling would be fittingly represented. By prefixing to each epithet a figure between 1 and 100 the precise truth in regard to it as it appears to him uttering it would be conveyed to him hearing it. For example, you are asked about your health. Instead of replying pretty well, tolerably well, very well or some other ambiguous expression, you would say, bearing in mind that 100 indicates perfect health, I am 15, or 50, or 75, or 90 well, or any other number, as the case may be. By this means the inquirer learns definitely what he wants to know. He has not been put off with formulas of speech whose general applicability to different conditions of bodily health conveys nothing precise to the mind. The moment this method of expression comes into general use we shall speedily become exact, mathematical, truth telling in the highest degree.

How well the rule would work can be best illustrated by the narrative of a simple incident of news communicated by a man to his friend in some such words as these:

"On a 76 fine morning I was 65 slowly walking down the 33 clean avenue when I chanced to meet the 22 young and 85 charming Miss Smith, about whom you ask. We at once exchanged the 91 usual meteorological observation. 'It is a 76 beautiful day,' I remarked. 'Indeed, it is a 95 beautiful day,' she replied, 'and I am 97 glad to have met you, for it is a 99 long time since I have seen you.' I felt 77 flattered by words like these coming from a 79 lovely girl, but proceeded to make the 71 usual inquiries about her health, for I knew that on that point you had been 80 anxious. She told me in reply that it had been 78 poor, but she was 100 glad to say that it was now 87 good."—Professor J. E. Lounsbury in Harper's Magazine.

A Large Salary.
Mr. X., a prominent lawyer of Philadelphia, was much addicted to the habit of lecturing his office staff, and the office boy came in for an unusual share of admonition whenever occasion demanded and sometimes when it did not. That his words were appreciated was made quite evident to Mr. X. one day when a conversation overheard on the elevator between Tommy and another office boy on the same floor was repeated to him:
"Whatcher wages?" asked the other boy.

"I get $10,000 a year," said Tommy.
"Aw, gwan" ejaculated the other boy derisively. "Quitcheer kiddin'."
"Honest, I do," said Tommy; "24 a week in cash and the rest in legal advice."—Harper's Weekly.

Her Regret.
The Nobleman—You bought me—bought me as you would buy a hat. The Heiress—Yes, and what I'm—sore about now is that I neglected to wait for my change.—Cleveland Leader.

Your Highest Ideals of Dress For your Boys are realized here to-day! The fondest mother--the most indulgent parent could not hope to find anywhere happier combinations of distinctive smartness, good taste, economy and sound wear than the Ivan Frank clothes for boys afford.

And perhaps the strongest appeal to your interest lies in the fact that for all the superior features of these vastly superior clothes, there is no extra tax. You pay no more for them than garments from less desirable--less experienced, sources usually command.

Our Lines of Suits, Overcoats and Reefers are without the possibility of contradiction--the most attractively designed and best made garments for boys --big or little--that the tailor's art has ever produced.

YOU MAY CHOOSE FOR YOURSELF

Either "Hard Times" or "Good Times," for It Has Come to be a Personal Problem With Each Business Man. . . .

THE "hard times" are over, generally speaking. They are not over for those people who are content to have them continue. With the advent of Fall activities in business will come to each merchant, to each man who is conducting a business, the opportunity to say a long good-bye to "hard times," or to cling to them a little longer. It is to be largely a test of courage--the making of this choice. A test of advertising courage--mainly.

The stronger business men will choose good times as a matter of course--and will proceed to make the choice effective by a campaign of real advertising. There will be better, bigger, more effective advertising done this Fall than ever before.

The afraid-merchant will wonder "where the money is coming from to pay the bills," He will, in some cases, decide that he must not "take the risk." That will be HIS DECISION FOR "HARD TIMES" in preference to "good times," so far as he, personally, is concerned.

Prosperity is now a personal question. Yours is a personal question with you. This is both true and important.

GALE WAS TERRIFIC

CABOOSE FILLED WITH LABORERS LIFTED FROM TRACK AND ROLLED DOWN HIGH HILL.

SIX KNOWN TO BE DEAD

Thirty Others Injured—Worst Storm in Several Years Sweeping the Laramie Plains.

By Associated Press. Cheyenne, Wyo., Oct. 20.—A terrific gale last night at Lone Tree Creek on the Union Pacific railroad, picked up the caboose of a work train and fore it away from its couplings and carried it over a thirty foot fill. Forty persons, nearly all of whom were section laborers, were in the caboose, and the men were piled among the wreckage when the car landed.

Six laborers are known to be dead, and several others probably met death, while twenty-five or thirty were injured, many very seriously.

One of the worst storms in years is now raging over the Laramie Plains between here and Rawlins. The storm is accompanied with snow, and the most terrific winds. All trains are six hours late and it is reported that several trains were blockaded between Laramie and Rawlins, unable to proceed owing to the intensity of the wind and drifting snow.

A SHREWD LAWYER.

The Way Jeremiah Mason Floored an Important Witness.

Jeremiah Mason, a celebrated American lawyer, possessed to a marked degree the instinct for finding the weak point.

He was once cross examining a witness who had previously testified to having heard Mason's client make a certain statement, and so important was this statement that the adversary's case was based on it alone.

Several questions were asked by Mason, all of which the witness answered with more or less hesitation. Then he was asked to repeat once more the statement he had heard made. Without hesitation he gave it word for word as he had given it in the direct examination. A third time Mason led the witness round to this statement, and again it was repeated verbatim.

Then, without warning, he walked to the witness stand and, pointing straight at the witness, said in a perfectly unimpassioned voice, "Let's see that paper you have in your waistcoat pocket."

Taken completely by surprise, the witness mechanically took a paper from the pocket indicated and handed it to the lawyer.

There was profound silence in the courtroom as the lawyer slowly read in a cold, calm voice the exact words of the witness in regard to the statement and called attention to the fact that they were in the handwriting of counsel on the other side. He then gathered up his papers with great deliberation, remarked that there seemed to be no further need for his services and departed from the courtroom.

Mason was asked how he knew that the paper was in the witness' pocket. "Well," explained Mason, "it seemed to me that he gave that part of his testimony more as if he'd learned it than as if he had heard it. Then, too, I noticed that at each repetition of his testimony he put his hand to his waistcoat pocket and then let it fall again when he got through.—Chicago Record-Herald.

The Home of Good Clothes

DESIGNED BY SPERO, MICHAEL & SON, NEW YORK

Copyright 1908 by Hart Schaffner & Marx

One of the most essential features of Clothing is style. It is not put into like starch in a collar; it is not added to the garments when they are nearing completion. Style is built into clothes from the very start; from the chalk lines on the cloth before the shears starts their work and goes hand-in-hand with every operation in clothes making to the last stitch.

Hart, Schaffner & Marx and Spero, Michael & Son's clothes have real style and also the other necessary accomplishments; excellent material high grade workmanship and splendid wearing qualities. We are showing a surprising assortment of fall styles in all the modish fabrics and collar for men and young men. Price $10 to $20. All men and young men suits bought from us will be kept pressed and repaired free of charge.

Smoke-Up We Are Displaying

The Largest Line Pipes Ever Shown in Wichita Falls

These pipes were bought direct from the manufacturers and importers and we are selling very much cheaper they are ordinarily sold. We wish especially to call your attention to the Antidote Pipe, a scientific nicotine destroyer. This pipe is a French invention of recent date and is endorsed by Physicians and Chemists everywhere. This pipe does not trap nor absorb the nicotine, but burns it up and passes off in smoke and improves rather than detracts from the flavor of the tobacco. We also carry a line of fancy, domestic and imported Smoking Tobacco and Cigars.
