WICHITA FALLS, TEXAS, WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 4, 1908

NUMBER 152

DEMOCRATS OVERWHELMED IN CRUSHING DEFEAT

Republican Victory Grows In Magnitude As More Com- plete Returns Are Re- ceived.

TAFT MAY RECEIVE MORE ELEC- TORAL VOTES THAN ROOSEVELT

Bryan Is Overwhelmed In Republican Landslide But Showed Strength In Central and Western States.

OUR NEXT PRESIDENT?

WILLIAM HOWARD TAFT.

TEXAS GIVES HER USUAL MAJORITY

DEMOCRATS CLAIM PLURALITY OF 165,000 FOR BRYAN IN THE LONE STAR STATE.

CAMPBELL WINS BY LESS

Col. Simpson, Republican Candidate, However, Fails to Poll as Many Votes as Expected.

Wichita county gave her usual majority for Bryan and the democratic State ticket. In most instances the candidates on county democratic tickets have run slightly behind the State and national tickets, but all have been elected by a good vote.

The local option election in the Burk-burnett commissioners precinct resulted in a victory for the rdies, who had a majority of eight votes in the two voting precincts.

With the exception of the Beaver Creek box all the returns had been sent in to the county clerk this afternoon and the tabulation of the county will be published in the Times tomorrow.

Texas Delegation is Republican.
Campbell is keeping even with the ticket and Simpson has made a gain of only 1500 over Taft in fifteen counties.

Tarrant county gives Bryan and Campbell pluralities of over 6,500.

Gillespie is re-elected to congress in the twelfth district, and Sheppard in the first. Stevens is elected in the thirteenth and Smith in the sixteenth.
Hardy in the sixth, Small in the fifth,
and Russell in the third.

The latest returns indicate that Garner is safely elected, although by a small majority over Moore.

In the congressional districts the democratic candidates are all elected.

At least one republican representative will be in the next legislature, Baal,
republican, defeating Onion, democrat,
in the San Antonio district.

Campbell Runs Behind.
Special to the Times.
Lagrange, Tex., Nov. 4.—Eighteen precincts out of thirty-four give Campbell two hundred majority. All republican boxes report all democratic candidates elected.

Results at Dalhart.
Special to the Times.
Dalhart, Tex., Nov. 4.—The returns are incomplete, but the indications are that all the democratic candidates have been elected. Hartley county reports all democratic candidates elected.

Garner is Re-Elected.
Special to the Times.
Houston, Tex., Nov. 4.—Nine counties out of twenty-two in the fifteenth district give Garner 3294; Gore, 2068; Moore 2068. Of these only Webb county west for Moore. Garner's election to congress is conceded.
Baal, republican, defeated Onion, democrat, for State senator by a large vote.
Simpson is not piling up the vote in South Texas that was expected.

Every Candidate Elected.
Special to the Times.
Fort Worth, Tex., Nov. 4.—Additional returns received here today indicate that every democratic candidate in North and West Texas has been elected by a large majority.

Refugio is for Taft and Simpson.
Refugio, Tex., Nov. 4.—Taft received 105; Bryan, 79; Campbell, 70; Simpson, 115. The county will likely go republican, but the democrats claim to have carried it.

Seguin is Republican.
Seguin, Tex., Nov. 4.—All the precincts in this city give Taft a plurality of 151 and Simpson a plurality of 226.
The complete returns of Guadalupe county are not in yet, but the vote will be close between the democrats and republicans, with the democrats slightly leading in the precincts outside of Seguin.

Garner Will Win By Close Shave.
Special to the Times.
Sabinal, Tex., Nov. 4.—Partial returns give Bryan 1,500; Taft, 48; Campbell, 1,500; Simpson, 48; Garner, 153; Moore, 53. It appears that Garner will win by a small majority.

Special to the Times.
Dallas, Tex., Nov. 4.—The State

Illinois Gives Taft 175,000.

By Associated Press.
Chicago, Ill., Nov. 4.—The early morning returns will not materially change the figures sent out last night.
Taft's plurality in the State is estimated at from 100,000 to 175,000. The entire republican State ticket has been elected, Deneen for governor receiving a plurality of about forty thousand.

The congressional delegation will consist of nineteen republicans and six democrats.

Taft Leads in Maryland By Narrow Margin.

By Associated Press.
Baltimore, Md., Nov. 4.—The latest returns show that the result in Maryland for president is very close. The latest figures show that the plurality for Taft is 163 votes.

New York City for Taft.

By Associated Press.
New York, Nov. 4.—Taft's plurality
in Greater New York is 15,645.

Democrats Make Big Gains in Indiana.

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 4.—Marshall,
the democratic candidate for governor,
leads Watson, the republican candidate, by eight thousand. Taft's plurality will be about fifteen thousand. The congressional delegation will probably be seven democrats and six republicans.
The legislature is in doubt.

Bryan Leads in West Virginia.

By Associated Press.
Cincinnati, Ohio, Nov. 4.—Early today the vote in West Virginia indicates an even break between Taft and Bryan, with the democratic candidate having less than a score of votes the better of it.
Bennett, the democratic candidate for governor, was elected by a plurality of several thousand.

Ohio Gives Taft 50,000.

Cincinnati, Ohio, Nov. 4.—Taft's plurality in his native State will not be less than fifty thousand. The indications early today are that Harmon, democratic candidate for governor will have a plurality of ten thousand, although the republicans have not given up hope.

The democrats have gained one in the congressional delegation. Longworth, republican, has been re-elected.

Republicans Carry Montana.

By Associated Press.
Helena, Mont., Nov. 4.—Indications show today that Taft will carry the State, but Norris, the democratic candidate for governor, will be re-elected.
Long, democratic nominee for congress, is also elected.

By Associated Press.

New York, Nov. 4.—Returns up to 10 o'clock today indicate that Taft will have at least 298 electoral votes and at that time it began to look as if the figures would reach the 325 mark and possibly approach 326 votes.

Republicans Will Control Congress.

By Associated Press.
Chicago, Ill., Nov. 4.—It is now certain that the republicans will control the next house of representatives. Returns from three hundred and fifty-five one hundred and fifty-nine. Thirty-six are missing. The number necessary to control is one hundred and ninety-six.

Bryan Carries Nebraska.

By Associated Press.
Lincoln, Neb., Nov. 4.—Bryan has carried his own county by a handsome plurality, reversing the republican majority of two thousand. He will carry his own State by ten thousand. Schallenberger, the democratic candidate for governor, has been elected.

Maryland is Democratic.

By Associated Press.
Baltimore, Md., Nov. 4.—Later returns indicate that the slight plurality for Taft has been wiped out and that Maryland has gone for Bryan.

Hadley Leads in Missouri.

By Associated Press.
St. Louis, Mo., Nov. 4.—Hadley is leading Cowherd by 15,042 votes for the governorship, according to incomplete returns from forty-nine counties, including Kansas City and St. Louis.

Republicans Win in California.

By Associated Press.
San Francisco, Cal., Nov. 4.—It is estimated that Taft will carry the State by a plurality of seventy-five thousand and possibly that all the republican congressmen are elected.

Sixty Thousand in Iowa.

By Associated Press.
Des Moines, Iowa, Nov. 4.—The entire republican ticket has been elected by a plurality of sixty thousand.

Taft Expresses Gratification.

By Associated Press.
Cincinnati, Ohio, Nov. 4.—"I believe that I have been elected by the business men of the country. Democrats as well as republicans, and that I have received my share of the labor votes, and that the farmers generally have stood by me. I am very much gratified," said Judge Taft in an interview today.

Maryland is for Bryan.

By Associated Press.
Baltimore, Md., Nov. 4.—According to the latest figures, Bryan leads Taft by about one thousand.

Kentucky for Bryan.

By Associated Press.
Louisville, Ky., Nov. 4.—Bennett and Langley, both republicans, have probably been elected to congress from Kentucky. Bryan's majority in the State is between eleven and twelve thousand.

Tennessee is Democratic.

By Associated Press.
Nashville, Tenn., Nov. 4.—Both the State and National democratic tickets have won in Tennessee by from twenty to thirty thousand. The democrats have carried all the congressional districts, excepting two.

Utah is Republican.

Salt Lake City, Utah, Nov. 4.—Two-ty thousand plurality for Taft and ten thousand for the republican State ticket was indicated early today.

Arkansas—Bryan has carried Arkansas by a reduced majority.

California—Taft has carried California by 50,000.

Connecticut—Taft has carried Connecticut by a majority of 30,000. Lilley, republican candidate for governor, has a majority over Robertson, democrat,

of 15,000.

COLORADO—The State of Colorado is democratic by at least 10,000.

DELAWARE is very close, the republicans claiming the State by 2,500 at last accounts.

FLORIDA is democratic by 18,000 or 20,000. Owing to the slow count of the vote actual figures cannot be given.

GEORGIA, the home State of Tom Watson, has gone democratic, but the usual majority has been reduced.
Clark Howell, national executive committeeman, claims the State for Bryan by at least 20,000.

INDIANA has probably given a majority of 15,000 for Taft, but elects a democratic governor and seven congressmen. The legislature is in doubt.

IOWA has given Taft a majority estimated at from 40,000 to 60,000. A solid republican congressional ticket has been elected. Roosevelt carried the State by 158,000.

KENTUCKY—Bryan's plurality in Kentucky will not be less than 12,000.
Nine, and probably ten congressional districts were carried by the democrats, which is a net loss of two to the republicans.

IDAHO—Complete returns have not yet been received, but the majority of 20,000 claimed by the republicans is thought to be conservative from returns that have been received.

ILLINOIS—The national ticket has won in Illinois by a majority of 175,000 and the State ticket is elected by at least 75,000. Chicago and Cooke county gave a plurality for Taft of 60,000.

KANSAS—The State republican ticket is elected by a plurality of at least 20,000, the national ticket by a few thousands more.

LOUISIANA—The State has gone for Bryan by 40,000 or more. All democratic candidates for State offices were elected by about the same sized majorities and the democrats won every congressional district.

MAINE—This State gave a republican plurality of 31,500.

MASSACHUSETTS—Taft carried this State by a 220,000 majority.

MARYLAND—The latest bulletins
from Maryland give the State to Bryan by a small majority, about 1,000.

MISSOURI—This State has again dropped back into the democratic columns, after having given its vote four years ago to the republicans. The majority for Bryan is at least 30,000.

Cowherd, democratic candidate for governor, defeats Hadley, republican, by about 20,000 majority. The latest returns indicate that Stone has defeated Folk for the United States senate.

MISSISSIPPI—The usual 50,000 majority was given the democratic ticket.

MICHIGAN—It is conceded that this State has gone republican by a majority of 100,000 or more. In the race for governor, the contest is very close, but the republican candidate has probably been elected by a majority considerably less than that given to the national ticket.

MINNESOTA—This State went republican by a plurality estimated at from 10,000 to 25,000, but elected Johnson, democrat, for governor.

MONTANA—Bryan carried Montana, though the vote is close.

NEW HAMPSHIRE—The count is slow, but enough is known to estimate the republican majority at 20,000.

NEW JERSEY—The republicans swept everything clean in this State by a majority of 80,000.

NEW YORK—The latest estimate of the vote of New York gives the State to Taft by a majority of 150,000. Taft carried Greater New York by a majority of 15,000.

NORTH CAROLINA—This State
showed not the slightest indication of parting company with the Solid South.
The majority given the democratic ticket is at least 40,000.

NEBRASKA—Bryan carried his home State by a majority of 12,000. He also carried Lincoln, his home town, and the precinct in which he resides.
The State democratic ticket was also elected by a majority little less than given the democratic national ticket.

Oregon—It is estimated that Oregon has given the republican national and State tickets a majority of at least 25,

PHONE COURTSHIP BARRED.

Billing and Coaling on Wire Forbidden to Trenton Teachers.
"Billing and coaling" between young women school teachers and their sweethearts over the telephone wire must cease, at least during school hours, because, say the Trenton school authorities, such conversations are not seemly should anyone inadvertently break in on the line, and also because the telephones are for school business and not for "spoonging."

The order, of course, has caused criticism and considerable indignation among the 500 pretty young school maams of the city, all of whom, it is said, are positive in their denials that they never "spoon," either on the telephone or elsewhere.

The incident which stirred up the trouble occurred when Supervising Principal Mackey, in trying to reach one of the schools by telephone, interrupted a conversation made up mostly of endearing terms and giggles. In the two minutes he was on the wire Dr. Mackey heard more "dears," "sweet-hearts," "honey boys" and "darlings" than probably he has heard in a long time. It was like a passage from Romeo and Juliet, with the telephone wire substituted for the balcony.

It was when a teacher's voice declared that the man on the other end of the wire was the "only one!" and the man promised the girl a dozen kisses duplicated a hundred times, which jarred on Dr. Mackey's mathematical nerves. At this point communication was cut off, probably by a sympathetic telephone girl, who had heard the third party break into the conversation.

At any rate, Dr. Mackey hung up the receiver, called a meeting of the school principals and directed them to instruct their teachers that "love-making" over the telephone during school hours would not be tolerated. The school board will back up Dr. Mackey if for no other reason than that it is difficult to fill places of many teachers who are resigning to become brides.

because the head of the family had made a success and sought a wider field. In the field he broadened, developed, got new ideas, while the wife clung to her old-fashioned, or rural point of view.

Not all such domestic tragedies have for their chief actors a Pittsburg millionaire and a chorus girl. We can see them on a smaller scale every day. The husband goes out in society, but his wife always remains at home "with the children;" the husband travels in summer, ostensibly on business, but in reality taking in considerable sight-seeing as an adjunct, while the wife possibly goes to some farm in the country for a few weeks' rest and seclusion; the husband's name gets into print, he begins to be talked about as a coming citizen, later as a prominent man of town. Perhaps he drifts into politics and party honors are thrust on him. Then it is suddenly discovered that he is married, and more or less embarrassment for both wife and husband results when the people with whom they are forcibly thrown in contact suddenly discover that "she is so different."

Not all such situations result in separation, but too many of them do. And the pity of it all is that in most cases the husband is too blind and the wife too timid to arrive at a frank understanding of their difficulty and a respect of each other's really good qualities before it is too late.

Perhaps Mrs. Voorhees, on her Illinois farm, rising at 4 o'clock in the morning to get breakfast for the hired hands, looks more or less contemptuously on her husband's book learning, while he, on the other hand, was mortified every time he thought of her uncouth phraseology of the farm and the joy she seemed to find in a life of domestic drudgery.

Possibly he was selfish enough not to share with her his education as he progressed; or she may have been indifferent to any overtures he may have made. Whatever the facts it would seem that neither has cause for pride in the situation that has resulted.

Domestic happiness calls for frankness, for a perfect understanding, for self-sacrifice on the part of those who would enjoy it, for an honest appreciation of the worth of each party to it; and, best of all, for simple, honest love.

November magazines
Are out.
And we have read them all
About,
From start to finish, thick
And thin,
We got them—and went Splashing in
And wading through them all.
Indeed,
We love to sit all night
And read,
And so we've sat night
After night
And burned the midnight
"Electric light,
And the most thrilling thing
Of all,
The thing that held us most

BROWNSVILLE CASE DEC. 7.

Negro Private Appeals to the Supreme Court in Suit for Pay.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 2.—The supreme court today advanced and set for hearing on December 7 the appeal of Oscar W. Reid, one of the negro privates of the Twenty-fifth United States Infantry, who sued to recover his pay for the time since he and the other enlisted men of companies B, C and D were discharged from the army without honor for complicity in the shooting up of Brownsville, Texas, two years ago.

The federal court at New York dismissed his suit and he brought an appeal to the supreme court, on the ground that the president had exceeded his constitutional power in dismissing the three companies without a trial by court-martial.

Early Hearing Asked.

The government today asked the Supreme court for early hearing of the appeal of Morgan, Villereal and Rivera, members of the alleged junta at St. Louis, on the charge of organizing a military movement against Mexico.

The appellants were first arrested in St. Louis on charges of libel, but the case was dropped. Then the Mexican authorities asked their extradition on charges of murder and robbery in that republic, but the case was dismissed for lack of proof. Finally they were indicted in Arizona on the present charge, and when arrested in Los Angeles, Cal., attempted to secure their release on a writ of habeas corpus. They have been in jail since August, 1907.

TO WED CHORUS GIRL.
Wife Committed Suicide But a Few Months Ago.

Chicago, Ill., Nov. 3.—Miss Mabel Sheppard, a chorus girl playing in a local theater, will be married in this city Thursday night to Edward Hunter of New York. Mr. Hunter was formerly a social leader and merchant in Memphis, Tenn., the home of Miss Sheppard. Some time ago the first Mrs. Hunter committed suicide before an altar, crucifix, candles and mirrors which she had carefully arranged for the purpose. Her husband was so affected by her death that he gave up his business in Memphis and has been traveling for a New York firm. He met Miss Sheppard here while she was playing here and induced her to quit the company.

Texas Paid $21,395.
Austin, Tex., Nov. 3.—Gov. Campbell today received a check from the federal government for $21,395, being the balance due the State of Texas for services rendered by Texas troops for the protection of the frontier between 1855 and 1860. The total amount due the State was $396,814, and the State collected in 1906 $375,418.

The above claim is in the nature of reimbursement of Texas for amounts paid out during the period given above.
It is now claimed that Texas has another claim for similar services against the government for $100,000, and this is being investigated.

The King's Messenger

(Original.)
"Captain Piccard," said the king, "a treaty is in process of arrangement between us and the king of Prussia favoring a defensive and offensive alliance against the French. The final draft has been made, and the Prussian envoy has requested us to forward a copy of it to his sovereign for approval. King Louis of France knows that a treaty is being discussed and is anxious to defeat it, or if it is made to know its terms. The real king of France, Cardinal Richelieu, has placed men on every available route between here and the Prussian capital, and it is next to impossible to transmit a copy.

"You have been recommended to me not only for your daring, but for your ingenuity. Invent a plan for concealing a bit of paper which when compressed will be about the size of an almond. Go and bring me a solution as soon as you have made it."

"I have often thought of such a necessity and have invented such a plan, but several weeks are required for preparation."

"We can wait that long provided the plan will surely succeed."

Three weeks from that day spies of Cardinal Richelieu located near the boundary line between Holland and Germany were notified that the messenger had left Zwalle the day before, though they were not furnished with a description of him. There were few travelers in those days, and the only person the spies encountered was a friar, who said he was starting on a pilgrimage to the Holy Land.

"Good father," said one of the gang, "was a patronizer for us?"

The friar made excuses which did not satisfy those who had stopped him, whereupon, concluding that he was a sham mendicant, who didn't know a prayer, they searched him. Not finding anything on his clothing, they stripped him and made an examination that would have discovered an object no larger than a pea. But they found nothing and permitted him to proceed.

Crossing the Ems, he went on, legging, by the way, till he reached the outskirts of Quakenbuck, where he was met by a man, who said to him, "Holy father, I have an order from his eminence Cardinal Richelieu to invite you to his palace in Paris."

"Lead on," replied the friar. "I am honored in an invitation coming from so great a churchman."

The man turned his back for a moment, and the friar brought his staff down on his head. He sank on the ground with a broken skull. "You think it heavy?" said the friar. "So it is. It is filled with lead." Then the ungrateful and unmerciful friar proceeded on his way.

The next of the cardinal's interceptors had not been so well informed as to the guise of the messenger of the king of the Netherlands. He was stationed at a ferry across the Weser river and did not suspect the friar.

"Ferry you across, holy man?" he said. "That I will."

There was now but one route available for some distance, and the cardinal had directed that every traveler passing that way be searched. A number of times the friar was stripped and carefully examined. One party, even broke to pieces the rosary that hung about his waist. For this the father called down upon the man who committed the sacrilege the anathemas of the church. They were a superstitious people in those days, and the fellow, convinced that the pilgrim was what he pretended to be, begged on his knees that he would withdraw the curse. The friar told him that he had often been molested on his pilgrimage and would not remove the curse unless he were furnished with an order that he be permitted to travel without further interference. This was given him. He withdrew his anathemas and gave the party his blessing. The friar went on, begging by the way, giving his blessing to those who gave him sustenance and shelter, till he came to the Elbe. On the banks of this river the passages were all guarded by the cardinal's secret emissaries, who had they been known to the Prussian government, would have been lured and quartered. This was the last lie it had been thought advisable to guard. The friar had crossed the river and was tramping through a wood when men sprang from behind trees and downed him. As soon as he could make himself heard he told them of his pass and produced it. They were much astonished, for they had been advised that the messenger was traveling in the guise of a mendicant. However, they knew the man who had given him a free passage and let him go. This was the last time he was stopped.

One morning the king of Prussia received word that an envoy from the Netherlands was in the antechamber. The king, who was expecting news of the treaty, ordered the envoy admitted at once. When he saw a friar he was astonished. But the friar, who had thrown off his salutary men, told the king that he had brought a copy of the treaty. When directed to produce it he said he must have a surgeon. A surgeon was called, and the friar, exposing his side under the ribs, told him to feel till he detected a small lump. The surgeon, having discovered it, was requested to make an incision over it. This done, a piece of wax was withdrawn from between the muscles. The wax was broken and a lump of thin compressed paper revealed. This being carefully unfolded, the king had a copy of the treaty.

Folklore Stories.
The Journal of American Folklore has some interesting folk tales of the Nez Percés Indians:

"Once the sun fell down from the sky just about sunrise. Mole caught it and held it up until people got there and helped him to shove it back. The sun had meant to roll along on the ground instead of in the sky. It was from holding up the sun that Mole's hands are bent so far back.

"Coyote and Cloud ran a race. Cloud bet storm and Coyote clear weather. They started far away to the south, and for awhile Coyote was in the lead. Then Cloud made fruits of all kinds to grow in front of Coyote, and he, looking back and seeing Cloud far behind, stopped to eat. In this way Cloud caught up and won. 'This is why we have storms in winter time.'"

Long Suffering Bill.
A correspondent sends the following to a remote rural organ of the people:

"Our esteemed fellow citizen, Mr. William M. Puckleton, has had several new 'No Trespassing' signs erected on his place. We have had the pleasure of perusing the one facing the Hedgeville pike. It reads:

"Notis—Trespassers will be persecuted to the full extent of mean mungrel dogs which ain't never ben overly soshibil with strangers an I dubbel bart shotgun which ain't loaded with no soft pillers dam if I ain't gettin tired of this belraint on my property. Yurs respectful. "BILL PUCKLETON."

Current Literature.
In the Customary Place.
A well-known English bishop some time since lost his third wife. A clergyman who had known the first wife returned from Africa and wanted to see the grave. He called at the cathedral and saw the verger.

"Can you tell me where the bishop's wife is buried?"
"Well, sir," replied the verger, "I don't know for certain, but he mostly buries 'em at Brompton."—Detroit Tribune.

True Both Ways.
"The die is cast!" hissed the villain. Then, shaking their gold locks, the chorus bounded on.
"It seems," the critic murmured, "that the cast is dyed too."—New York Press.

A Blunder.

(Original.)
When I left home for Miss Harmon's school for girls my father lived in Illinois. When I was graduated he had removed to Bankton, N. Y. He gave me the street and number, but he was a lawyer, and lawyers were in those days proverbial for their wretched handwriting, so I found it difficult to make out the address. As near as I could come to deciphering the name of the street it was Lafayette. This was not correct. It was Sabelle street. Leaving the station on my arrival, I took a cab and told the driver to take me to 50 Lafayette street. When I saw the house I was surprised that my father could afford to live in it. I had left a two story frame cottage in the west to come to a four story stone front house in the east.

I paid the coachman and, going up the stoop, rang the bell. A maid came to the door whom I had never seen, and I told her to tell mother that I had come from school. She asked me whom she should say had come. I told her "her daughter, of course," and, going into the drawing room, looked about me at the handsome furniture, still wondering how father had been able to purchase it. The maid went upstairs to make the announcement.

I waited quite a long while for her return. When she came down she told me that no one was at home except my mother, who had recently had a cataract removed from one of her eyes and was obliged to remain in a dark room. I was surprised, for I had not been informed of there being anything the matter with her eye, and as the maid said I was to go up to her I ran upstairs and through a room that had been darkened so that one entering my mother's room should not let in any light. The chamber occupied by my mother was so dark that I could scarcely see my hand before my face. I didn't know which way to turn till she called me, and even then I went in the wrong direction till she had done so several times. Then I found her sitting in an easy chair and put my arms around her neck.

"Why, child," she said, "why did you write me that you would come tomorrow? Your brother would have met you at the station."

I was startled. My mother's voice had changed. Could it be that her trouble with her eye had broken her faculties?

"There's some mistake about that, mother dear," I replied. "I wrote that I was coming on Thursday. Thursday and Friday by a bad writer may be made to look alike. Perhaps there's where the error lies."

I was about to speak of her trouble when I heard the door of the anteroom open and shut. Then the door of the room I was in opened, some one hurried in, and a man's voice said:

"Where are you, sis?"

"I'm here."

"Ellen told me you'd come, and come a day ahead of time."

My brother Tom, ten years my senior, never called me anything but "sis" and "sissy," but there was something wrong with his voice. I had no time to wonder what had caused the change when I felt myself clasped in two strong arms and lips pressed against mine.

"What's become of your beard?" I asked.

"Beard? I never had one. We've been counting on your coming. Mother is shut up for the present, but she'll come out all right. The doctor says she may have the light in one week more. Awful glad to see you—I mean to feel you, ha, ha! Can't see anything in here. Have to rely on the touch." And he gave me another good hug and several kisses. "But come out into the light. I want to see how you've improved. You won't mind, will you, mother?"

"Not if you don't keep her too long."

Putting his arm around my waist, he led me out through the anteroom, and, opening the outer door, we stood on the threshold between the room and the hall.

I say we stood there, and so we did. We didn't get any farther, at least not just then. Never were two people more astonished, bewildered. We were entirely strangers to each other.

"Great Scott!" was his exclamation. "Heavens!" was mine.

He dropped his arm as if it had been shot, and I quickly drew away.

"How in the name of—"

"I must have—got into—the wrong—"

At this point he regained his equanimity. "If you're not my sister, you're certainly worthy to be any one's sister. At any rate, I'm happy to make your acquaintance, even by mistake, though I assure you I don't usually on so slight an acquaintance."

He paused, and my face flushed crimson.

"Come," he said reassuringly, "tell me how it happened."

I told him my story, and he replied that his own sister, who had been away from home on a long visit, was expected the next day. He insisted that I needed a luncheon and ordered one, and while I was eating it he telephoned for a carriage. When it came he got in with me, and began a hunt for me for my home. My father's name was not in the directory, but I told my new-found friend that he was an attorney, and, driving to the office of one of the profession, we learned the address. Ten minutes later I was with my own family.

The family into which I had blundered became my intimate friends. The daughter called on me, and the son has been so attentive to me as to—we shall see.

STAGE SCENERY.

Modern Settings Tax the Ingenuity of the Builders.

The big scenic artists do little actual painting beyond making the model, unless they have a panoramic effect. That they do themselves, standing on the paint bridge, many feet from the floor, while the canvas is raised or lowered. The panoramic effects are hard to handle. One difficulty is to avoid fluttering when a draft sweeps across the stage. Mountains that tremble hazily are not conducive to illusion.

With the elaborate productions of late years the importance of the builder of scenery has increased, says Everybody's Magazine. Formerly, when the scenery consisted merely of canvas stretched over a wooden frame, it was simple enough. But the struggle for realism and sensational effects has developed difficult problems for the builder of stage scenery to solve. Every piece of scenery must be made so that it can be folded into strips five feet nine inches wide, because the doors of the baggage cars in which it is transported are only six feet in breadth. Also every piece must be light and so constructed that one scene can be removed and another put in place within ten minutes. It may take thirty hours of continuous work to get the scenery "set up," to use a technical expression, after it is brought into the theater. After that the work of changing a scene is comparatively easy.

A DOGS' CLUB.

London's Luxurious Resort For Aristocratic Canine Pets.

London is the only city in the world boasting a dogs' club. The club is in a pleasant suit of rooms near the Trocadero and close to Regent street. Hand-some rugs cover the floors, the windows are veiled in lace and silk, and luxurious sofas are ranged against the wall—while a profusion of soft pillows are scattered about for the comfort of aristocratic dogs who prefer the floor for a nap. Dainty satin lined wicker baskets are provided for the smaller pets. The membership fee is half a sovereign, but this does not include meals, baths or tips to the attendants.

Ladies going shopping or to the theater leave their pugs and poodles at the club and give the attendant in charge at the time a few shillings for looking after it, but if the dog is fed half a crown a day and milk. A whole crown provides the little animal with minced chicken. For a half sovereign Fido is bathed, brushed and perfumed, and if he is a French poodle his hair is carefully curled. A veterinary is attached to the club to see that only dogs in perfect health are admitted, all sick members being quarantined in a separate room. Blankets, boots, collars, harness, soaps and brushes and all the accessories of a fashionable dog's toilet as well as dog medicines are sold at the club.—New York Press.

A Candid Critic.

"A criticism that has helped me a great deal in my work came from a man to whom I took a picture to be framed," said a young woman who spends much of her time copying in the Metropolitan Museum of Art. "As the picture progressed my friends told me it was fine. Some of the other copyists said it had value, character, good coloring and all those things, and even one of the guards in the gallery got real friendly one day and remarked that it was the best copy of that picture he had seen. I began to think that maybe, after all, my several years of study were beginning to bear fruit. At the framer's I picked out a nice frame, and the framer began to figure on the cost. 'I'll tell you, mks,' he said, 'that frame will come to $3.98. If I were you I'd get something cheaper for that picture.'—New York Sun.

"Setting the River on Fire."

In old English times, when each family was obliged to sift its own flour, it sometimes happened that an energetic man would turn his sieve so rapidly as to cause it to catch fire. The style of sieve used in those days was called a "temse," and it became a customary saying that a lazy man would never set the temse on fire. Now, it happens that the name of the river Thames is pronounced like the name of this old flour sieve, and after many years, when the old fashioned temse was forgotten, it was thought that setting the temse on fire meant setting the river on fire, and that is why today we say that a stupid person will never set the river on fire.

Eloquence of the Welsh.

Here is a little story of an Englishman in Wales: "On the comparative qualities of the English and Welsh tongues let me tell of the Welshman who saluted me in the Welsh. I was compelled to confess ignorance. 'Ah,' he said, turning fluently enough to English, 'you should learn the Welsh! My wife was English, and she can speak conversations now quite well.'

"I acknowledged my shortcomings and admitted that I had always understood the Welsh to be a remarkably eloquent tongue. 'Yes, yes, it is so,' said the native. 'In Welsh a man can express exactly what he means. As for the English, I call it not a language at all—only a dialect.'

"You had noted that an Englishman or a foreigner in speaking his language waves his hands and arms about to help out the meaning of the words, but a Welshman who can speak Welsh well has no need to move his hands. In the Welsh he can say all that he means."—Chicago News.

Fife Wheat.

Years ago, about a century, David Fife, a Scotchman of Otonabee, Ont., sent to a friend in Glasgow for a small bag of seed wheat to try in a cleared patch of the backwoods. The friend obtained some seed from a vessel just in from Danzig. Unfortunately it was a fall wheat and reached David Fife in the spring. Nevertheless, David Fife sowed it in spring. One can guess how feverishly the backwoods farmer watched for the growth of his experiment. Only three wheat heads survived till the fall, but those three wheat heads were entirely free of the rust that had ruined his neighbor's crops, and those three heads really represented a new variety of wheat, a fall wheat turned into a spring wheat. David Fife treasured the three heads and planted them in spring. Such was the beginning of Fife wheat in America.—Agnes C. Lutz in Outing Magazine.

Vanity of the Peacock.

Our favorite and much petted peacock, says a correspondent of the London Spectator, can be kept happy any length of time looking at his reflection in the window pane of a looking glass. He comes in daily to tea, making no mistake about the hour, and spends much time en route in gazing at himself as he appears in the glass of the French windows by which he enters the room. If I am sewing and do not speak to him when he comes into the room, he will gently put his head quite close, almost touching my ring or needle, for he likes bright things, till I have to give up working and talk to him as with a small child whom one is afraid of pricking.

Lost Charm of the Wayside Inns.

The Inns of England, celebrated by Harrison and famous far and wide at the beginning of the last century, have degenerated into sad places which we visit only of necessity. Little did Stephenson think when he proposed the line from Manchester to Liverpool that he would ruin the wayside inns of England and kill the art of cookery.—Blackwood's Magazine.

A Reassuring Truth.

A lady on one of the ocean liners who seemed very much afraid of icebergs asked the captain what would happen in case of a collision.

The captain replied, "The iceberg would move right along, madam, just as if nothing had happened." And the old lady seemed greatly relieved.—Success.

A PRETTY WOMAN ALWAYS HAS SUITORS

And a good bargain or a good opportunity, always find takers. When something of real value is advertised—something unusual—you will not be the only one to see the ad., or to investigate the offer. But, if you are as alert in seeking a bargain, as you were—or are—in affairs of the heart, you will win! In fact, you will win if you have a tenth part of as much determination and enthusiasm in business as in playing your game with Don Cupid.

GIVE US A TRIAL WE CAN PLEASE

REAL SERVICE TO YOU

IF, BY some persistency in giving advice, this newspaper can convince every merchant of the wisdom of telling you all of his store-news that is important—of using enough space in which to do it, and of telling as much of his store-news in every issue as you would be interested in knowing—and— If, at the risk of over-iteration, this newspaper should convince you that this same store-news is of real, live, palpitating importance to you, as fully worthy of your attention as politics, or base ball, or Crowned Heads, or elopements, murders, riots, fashions or functions of the rich—and— If it should follow that the merchants should prosper in exact ratio to their energy in advertising and that you should thrive in proportion to your intelligence in spending your income—then this newspaper will feel that it has accomplished so real a public service that this city will be a better place in which to live and to do business

YOU COULDN'T BE FOUND ANY OTHER WAY

So the man concluded to advertise for you. He had hoped you would happen to come around to see him of your own accord—or, that somebody would tell you about what he has to tell you—or, that necessity would drive you to search for him. But, you didn't come—you didn't "happen" to hear, or to see. His message for you wasn't delivered. His offer—the offer that is really more to your liking and to your interest than any you've had for months—is, at last (as it should have been at first) put into the form of an ad., and awaits you in these columns. You'll know it when you see it—

WILTON TERHUNE IS DEAD.

Popular Assistant Cashier of First National Bank Dies at McLean.

The following telegram was received this morning by Cashier W. M. McGregor of the First National bank:
McLean, Tex., Nov. 4.—W. M. McGregor: Milton is dead. Will take remains to Iowa Park. Will reach there about noon tomorrow. Funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon.
J. A. TERHUNE.

Milton Terhune was one of Wichita Falls' most popular young men, and for the past two or three years has held the responsible position of assistant cashier at the First National Bank in this city.

He had been in bad health for the past three or four months, and one day last week decided to take a vacation visit. Shortly after reaching McLean, he was stricken with typhoid fever, which caused severe hemorrhages of the lungs.

But few of his friends knew of his ailment, and his death as announced in the telegram from his father was rather shocking.

Deceased was a member of the Christian church and lived a consistent Christian life. To know him was to be his friend, and no death that has occurred in this city for quite a while will be read with more sorrow than this one.

Before coming to Wichita Falls, he was connected with the First National bank at Iowa Park, at which place he had resided since childhood, and where his father now resides.

Many from this city will go from here to Iowa Park tomorrow afternoon to attend his funeral.

WILTON TERHUNE IS DEAD.
Popular Assistant Cashier of First National Bank Dies at McLean.

The following telegram was received this morning by Cashier W. M. McGregor of the First National bank:
McLean, Tex., Nov. 4.—W. M. McGregor: Milton is dead. Will take remains to Iowa Park. Will reach there about noon tomorrow. Funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon.
J. A. TERHUNE.

Milton Terhune was one of Wichita Falls' most popular young men, and for the past two or three years has held the responsible position of assistant cashier at the First National Bank in this city.

He had been in bad health for the past three or four months, and one day last week decided to take a vacation visit. Shortly after reaching McLean, he was stricken with typhoid fever, which caused severe hemorrhages of the lungs.

But few of his friends knew of his ailment, and his death as announced in the telegram from his father was rather shocking.

Deceased was a member of the Christian church and lived a consistent Christian life. To know him was to be his friend, and no death that has occurred in this city for quite a while will be read with more sorrow than this one.

Before coming to Wichita Falls, he was connected with the First National bank at Iowa Park, at which place he had resided since childhood, and where his father now resides.

Many from this city will go from here to Iowa Park tomorrow afternoon to attend his funeral.
