CARMACK KILLED IN PISTOL DUEL

SENATOR AND EDITOR OF THE NASHVILLE TENNESSEAN SHOT DOWN ON STREET.

ROBIN COOPER HIS SLAYER

Public Between Men Grows Out of Editorial Written by Carmack Ridiculing Cooper's Father.

Nashville, Tenn., Nov. 10.—E. W. Carmack, ex-United States senator and editor of the Nashville Tennessean, was shot and killed in a pistol duel yesterday afternoon by Robin Cooper, a young lawyer, aged 27 years, a son of Colonel Duncan B. Cooper, prominent politician of this State. The tragedy was the sequel to the bitter democratic primary for the gubernatorial nomination in which Carmack was defeated by Patterson. The tragedy occurred on Seventh street, and it appears that Carmack fired two shots from his revolver before he fell. Young Cooper was accompanied by his father, and both were shot. His son fired three times, every shot finding lodgment in Carmack's body. Two of the wounds were in the chest, but these were not considered fatal. The bullet which killed Carmack struck him in the neck, and he died immediately without uttering a word. Young Cooper was slightly wounded in the shoulder and another bullet fired from Carmack's pistol went through his coat.

Cause of the Trouble.

Since his defeat for the governorship Senator Carmack has repeatedly made attacks upon Colonel Cooper, and the latter had warned him that such attacks must cease. The editorial that led up to the tragedy appeared in yesterday's Tennessean, under the caption of "The Diplomat of the Zwieband" and has reference to a recent conference held between Governor Patterson and ex-Governor John I. Cox, between whom the feeling has been anything but cordial, and in which Cooper figured prominently. The editorial is as follows:

"To Major Duncan Brown Cooper, who wrought a great coalition, who bled the harmonious influence of compatible elements, who welded the warring hands to the wooden spoon, who grafted the dead branch to the living tree and made it bloom, and bourned and bend with golden fruit, who made playmates of the lamb and the leopard, and boon companions of the miser and the fly, who made soda and beer to dwell placidly in the same title and taught oil and water how they might agree—to Major Duncan Brown Cooper, the greatest diplomat of our political zwieband, be all honor and glory forever."

Statement of Woman Eyewitness.

"We were walking down Seventh street in the direction of Church street and had just passed the entrance of the Polk flats. Mr. Carmack came the street toward us, smiling as he recognized me. He was some steps away and there were few people on the street. Mr. Eastman and I were near the edge of the sidewalk and Mr. Carmack would have passed between us if he spoke. He had his right hand up as if about to make a remark when somebody said—it was the older voice

"We've got you, all right," or something to that effect. I can't say positively what the exact words were. It never occurred to me that it was any more than a friend speaking. Mr. Carmack raised his eyes, instantly put on his hat and ran his hand back, when the same voice said: "You coward, you are hiding behind a woman, are you?" Senator Carmack jumped out so as to get clear of me and I jumped into a gateway. I saw that Mr. Carmack had a pistol. I turned and said: "For God's sake, don't shoot." I saw Mr. Carmack wheel and fall in a heap in the gutter."

Mrs. Eastman said that she saw the young man standing over Mr. Carmack and that he put something into his own pocket.

Career of Ex-Senator Carmack.

Memphis, Tenn., Nov. 9.—Former United States Senator Edward W. Carmack, who was shot and killed late today at Nashville, was born near Castilian Springs, Sumner county, Tenn., Nov. 5, 1858. He had an academic education. (Continued on Page 4.)

WARM DISCUSSION IS PROMISED

By Associated Press. Denver, Colo., Nov. 10.—The second day's session of the American Federation of Labor was taken up in listening to the report of the executive council. A number of resolutions have been presented. One resolution which is scheduled to come up for discussion is expected to signify the entrance of the federation into politics. This resolution will doubtless be the cause of a prolonged discussion.

APPROVES RAILROAD BONDS.

Commission Acts on Petition of Orient and Two Wichita Falls Lines.

Austin, Tex., Nov. 9.—The railroad commission today approved three applications for bond issues made by railroads of the State. The first was the application of the Kansas City, Mexico and Orient railroad for an order directing the registration of additional first mortgage 4 per cent gold bonds to the amount of $785,000, the same being issued at the rate of $12,000 on sixty-five miles of completed railway between South Wichita and the Red river. The bonds are of the denomination of $1,000. The issue is approved and the secretary of state directed to register the bonds.

The Wichita Falls and Northwestern was authorized to issue and the secretary of state directed to register $2,000 of additional first mortgage bonds bearing 5 per cent interest. The bonds are issued on additional permanent improvements and betterments.

The Wichita Falls and Southern railroad is authorized to issue $780,000 mortgage bonds of the railroad, bearing 5 per cent interest. The bonds are issued on the road constructed from Wichita Junction to Newcastle, a distance of fifty-two miles. The road is also authorized to issue certificates of capital stock in the sum of $53,000. The secretary of state is directed to register $700,000 of the bonds.

Special to the Times. Weatherford, Tex., Nov. 10.—The case of Sicks Clarke, charged with the murder of Ranger Homer White, has been continued until December 8th, on account of a flaw in the summoning of the special venire.

RECENT LETTERS ARROUSING JOHN D. ROCKEFELLER

New York, Nov. 9.—John D. Rockefeller is attending to business again at Broadway. For some weeks past he has been making almost daily visits to the Standard Oil headquarters, although for several years previous to the past month or so he has not been there at all.

Mr. Rockefeller has been observed strolling down lower Broadway pretty early every morning of late. He wore red mittens and paper waistcoat on the occasions when he was seen.

What has caused Mr. Rockefeller to take a renewed interest in the business at 26 Broadway is not known, but there is much speculation on the subject, and it is said that it may have relation to politics and to the appearance of John D. Archbold as a candidate in the campaign, as the result letters read by W. R. Hearst.

At the Standard Oil building little or nothing could be learned of Mr. Rockefeller's visits. A reporter who made inquiries there this afternoon met H. H. Rogers, who was just leaving the building.

"Is it true that John D. Rockefeller has been coming down here pretty nearly every day for ten days past?" he was asked.

"No, that's not so," he said.

"Has he been down here half a dozen times in the past three months?"

"No."

"Has he been down here three times in the past three months?"

"That's about it," said Mr. Rogers. Nobody could be found in the Standard Oil building who would admit having seen Mr. Rockefeller there recently.

PIERCE SAYS HE WILL BE ACQUITTED

OIL MAGNATE APPARENTLY ANXIOUS FOR CHARGE TO BE TRIED IN JANUARY.

ENJOYS HIS TEXAS VISIT IN JAIL AT HENRIETTA

And Austin Friends are Trying to Persuade Him to Remain There for a Longer Visit.

Special to the Times. Austin, Tex., Nov. 10.—H. Clay Pierce and his party will likely spend several days in Austin and other Texas cities. Attorney E. B. Perkins is especially urging the oil magnate to remain longer than he had expected. It has been several years since he visited Austin and he has many friends here.

The proposed coast fishing trip has not yet been decided upon.

Attorneys declare that the alleged defect in the indictment against Pierce is too insignificant for the magnate to base any hopes upon and that his attorneys will not contend on that score.

Pierce said today that he will insist upon a trial when he returns in January and will oppose any delay then. He seems confident of acquittal, but if convicted will give an appearance bond, and again go free.

Pierce Will Give Up Hunting Trip.

Special to the Times. Austin, Tex., Nov. 10.—It was announced late this afternoon that Pierce (Continued on Page 8.)

BAND CONCERT MUCH ENJOYED

Standing room was at a premium at the Aldrome last evening during the excellent musical treat accorded the citizens of Wichita Falls through the courtesy of the Stamford representatives and P. O. implement firm, which was occasioned by the arrival of the special implement train of forty carloads of plows. The band is the Fifth Regiment of Canton, Illinois, and is composed of thirty-four pieces.

Mr. J. N. Bennett, a member of the band, rendered two vocal selections and was cheered vociferously by the audience.

The place of this free entertainment was transferred from the court house through the courtesy of Mr. Henry Edmondson, proprietor of the Aldrome, who donated the use of his accommodations for the concert.

Mr. Homer D. Wade, secretary of the Stamford Commercial Club, addressed the audience and in a ringing talk gave the particulars of the enterprise and merit of the country of which Stamford is the commercial center.

Mr. Wade introduced Mr. R. L. Penick, of Stamford, the merchant who ordered the train load of plows and Mr. C. S. Taylor, traveling representative of Parlin & Orendorf, who sold the consignment.

The train arrived during the afternoon and was greeted at the depot by a good crowd, the band playing one selection on its arrival. At 3:30 this morning the train departed for Stamford, its destination.

Stamford has achieved one of the master strokes of publicity for their section through the arrangement carried out along the route and Wichita Falls folks will long remember the delightful entertainment and its origin.

General Superintendent George F. Cotter of the Denver road gave a 6 o'clock dinner last evening to the representatives of the special implement train and a few citizens of Wichita Falls at the St. James. Mr. R. E. Huff delivered the address of welcome to the visitors and commented on the enterprise of the Stamford people and the friendliness of the Fort Worth and Denver system, the building of whose roads made the development of this country possible.

Mr. Wade of Stamford replied to a call and in his remarks took occasion to compliment the Wichita Falls spirit and invited the business men of this city to pay Stamford a visit and become better acquainted with each other. He added that in Wichita Falls was the building of a second Fort Worth, but if our people did not take advantage of their splendid resources that Stamford would compete with them for this distinction.

CROWELL HELD FOR MURDER

TRUE BILL FOUND AGAINST FARMER BY CLAY COUNTY GRAND JURY.

Man Well Known in Wichita Falls Awaits Trial Charged With Killing His Wife.

An indictment was returned by the grand jury in the Clay county district court on Saturday charging M. J. Crowell, a farmer living about six miles east of Wichita Falls in Clay county, with murder in the first degree.

Crowell is charged with the death of his wife, whose body was found at the foot of a stairway at her home on the afternoon of November 2nd.

Crowell is held in the Clay county jail without bail and his case will be called in the district court at Henrietta next week. The defendant has retained Attorney R. E. Taylor and Allen & Westland of Henrietta to look after his defense. District Attorney P. A. Martin will represent the State in the prosecution.

It was rumored on the streets here yesterday that Crowell had made a confession, but an inquiry by telephone to Henrietta fails to confirm this rumor.

The city council at Clarendon has ordered an election held at that place on December 7th to determine whether that city shall issue $25,000 in sewer bonds.

WANT EXHIBIT BROUGHT HERE

An effort will be made to bring the tuberculosis exhibit now in Texas to Wichita Falls.

Dr. Coons, who was a delegate to the international congress recently held in Washington for the prevention of tuberculosis, has written to State Health Officer Brumby to learn whether the exhibit can be brought here and for details as to the cost of such an undertaking and for any other information he can give.

Dr. Coons will present the matter before the meeting of the Chamber of Commerce tonight.

The project has the hearty endorsement of all the physicians of the city, and both the city and county governments will be asked for small appropriations to help defray the cost of bringing the exhibit here.

This exhibit was shown at the State fair at Dallas and later was taken to Fort Worth.

It is universally pronounced to be the best and most effective means of educating the general public concerning the great white plague that was ever conceived.

BAPTISTS MEET IN FORT WORTH.

Two Thousand Delegates Attend State Convention—More Coming.

Special to the Times. Fort Worth, Tex., Nov. 10.—Two thousand delegates are attending the Baptist State convention and two thousand more are expected. The session will continue all week.

A slight alteration was made in the constitution this morning.

Officers were elected as follows: Rev. Robert Wilson, Marshall, president; W. C. Lattimer, Denison, vice president; M. T. Andrews, Lampasas, secretary.

Dallas, Houston and Waco are seeking the next convention.

Boy Shot in the Eye.

Special to the Times. San Antonio, Tex., Nov. 10.—Phillip Marx, aged 12 years, was shot in the eye while hunting. A stray bullet hit him. There is no clue as to who fired the shot. The boy will recover, but he may lose the sight of his eye.

White Man Shot at Negro Dance.

Special to the Times. Nacogdoches, Tex., Nov. 10.—Dick Moore and J. H. Shannon, two white men, were shot at Press, six miles west of here today at a negro dance. The men were brought to a hospital here. A negro did the shooting.

A marriage license was issued yesterday to Arthur Williams and Mrs. Jennie B. Farlow.

HATFIELD WILL SOON BE FREE.

At Hearing Tomorrow Testimony as to His Identity Will Be Heard.

Special to the Times. San Jose, Cal., Nov. 10.—William Hatfield, who was arrested in Texas, and was alleged to be J. C. Dunham, who killed six persons near here, will be released in a day or two, according to the authorities. A hearing will be held tomorrow, when Hatfield and witnesses will be permitted to testify as to his identity. It is believed that Hatfield for the first time will reveal his past life. The officers say that Hatfield is the wrong man and that the hearing is only a formality to hasten his release.

Hatfield was pleased when told that he would soon be freed.

Constable Henslee Gets Bond.

Special to the Times. Caldwell, Tex., Nov. 10.—Constable Henslee, who shot and killed J. H. Merrin yesterday, waived examination today. His bond was fixed at $3,000, which was promptly given.

NEW SHERIFF IS SWORN IN

J. W. Walkup has filed his bond as county sheriff and tax collector and is now in possession of the tax rolls and has been duly installed as sheriff.

The accounts of former Sheriff A. M. Davis are now being audited and as soon as the work is completed will be turned over to his successor.

B. M. Bullard, who has been office deputy under Sheriff Davis, will be retained for the present at least by Mr. Bullard.

Lewis Jerntson, who has been a member of the city police force for several months, has been appointed deputy sheriff and will take charge of the jail.

EIGHT CHILDREN BITTEN BY RABID PUPPIES

Chicago, Ill., Nov. 9.—Eight children bitten by pups which had been fed by a mother afflicted with rabies, will arrive here from Terre Haute today for treatment at the Pasteur institute. The mother dog was killed, not because she was thought to be mad, but because it was believed she had an incurable ailment. The ten pups were distributed among neighbors.

Peter Grosse, 12 years old, one of the boys bitten by the pups, died last Friday. The other victims are Anis and Harry Grosse, his sister and brother, Cecilia; a cousin, Charles; John and Lula Gary and Lena and Walter Endcott. The children range in ages from 2 to 4 years. The families are poor and $600 was raised by popular subscription to send the children here.

Mrs. Barbara Dvork of Waukesha, Wis., was taken to the Pasteur insti-

GROUND BROKEN FOR NEW CHURCH

WORK STARTED ON NEW INSTITUTIONAL CHURCH HOUSE THIS AFTERNOON.

TO COST NEARLY $25,000

Building Will Have Modern Gymnasium and Library as Well as Home for Church.

Ground was broken this afternoon for the new institutional church at the corner of Seventh street and Lamar avenue, which is to be built under the auspices of the Methodist Episcopal church.

The building when completed will be one of the handsomest church structures in Northwest Texas. It is to be built on the plans outlined several months ago, and its construction will cost approximately $25,000. The material used in its construction will be pressed brick and cast concrete.

The basement and first half story will be the headquarters of an institutional organization on the plan of a Y. M. C. A.

This will contain arbitrary 20x40 feet, a gymnasium 44x47 feet, fully equipped with baths, lockers and other equipment pertaining to a first class gymnasium.

The second floor will be occupied by the church auditorium, Sunday school room, pastor's study and pipe organ loft.

Affairs are now in such a shape that Rev. H. E. Farley, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church in Wichita Falls and who was the promoter of the Y. M. C. A. idea here, is warranted in announcing that the work on the building will not be subject to any delays.

The board of directors of the church are: A. L. Thornberry, F. A. Carlson, E. E. Frieberg, T. C. Thornberry, E. G. Cook, W. W. Swartz and Arthur Reed.

A Mark of Genius.

At a recent sale of the superb and priceless Stanford White collection Miss Elsie De Wolfe, the actress, told a not inappropriate architect story, says the Washington Star.

"A gentleman stopped an architect on the street," she began.

"Good morning, Mr. Blank," the architect said. "Are you thinking of building again?"

"No," said the other. "I stopped you to inquire if you could take my son into your office as an apprentice. With training I think he would some day prove a magnificent architect."

"He has shown some talent, has he?" said the architect, a trifle glumly for he was disappointed in not getting another contract.

"Talent? Genius, sir, positive genius!"

"What's he done?"

"He designed a garden for our Christmas tree."

"Well what is there remarkable about it?" said the architect, impatiently.

"Why, sir," said the other, "he designed that garden for $3 and it cost $37."

Sparrow Market Was Steady.

The Rev. Simon Turple was an eloquent speaker. A young man in the congregation was about to leave for South Africa, but the Sunday before he departed he attended the church service.

In the course of his lecture the minister used an illustration in which were the words: "A man can easily purchase two sparrows for three pence."

The young man, after being absent for about three years, returned, and again on the first opportunity attended divine service. Strange to say, he heard the same narrative by the same minister.

At the close of the service the minister in his courtesy came and shook hands with the youth, and asked him if he noticed any change about the place.

The young man, evidently quiet concerned, replied: "Aye, man, there's two or three changes, but there's yin thing I can see, the price o' sparrows is aye at the same auld figger."

An Exception to this Rule.

"It is an invariable fact," said the professor at the club, "that the sense of sight travels more rapidly than the sense of sound. You will observe, sir, that when a bit of ordinance is fired from a fortress or a man-of-war you see the plif of smoke that comes coincidentally with the explosion several moments before you hear the report thereof, 'cus it is always--"

"Not always," said little Todgers from the corner. "I know of a case where hearing antedates seeing by really considerable lapse of time."

"I know of no such thing in the whole broad range of science," retorted the professor, pompously. "Perhaps you can enlighten us, sir."

"Well said Todgers, "its the case of an Englishman and a joke. In almost every case the Englishman hears a joke about a week before he sees it, and--"

But the professor had gone, and they say that nowadays when he sees Todgers he shies off like a frisky horse in the presence of a motor car.

A New Version.

The young father had trimmed a switch and was about to wear it out on the small boy, when Grandma jerked it out of his hand.

"You shan't touch him with it, Benjamin!" she shrielled.

"That's alright, grandma!" said the young father, with a grin of ferocious sarcasm. "Spoil the child--and preserve the forests!"

OF INTEREST TO WOMEN

An English woman, Hon. Mrs. Assheton Harbord, has a notable record and has had most interesting experiences as a balloonist. She has made 100 ascents in her own balloon, and has taken part in six balloon races. The time she crossed the English channel by balloon, and in one of the races referred to she counted twenty-five balloons around her in the air. In another race her airship covered 146 miles in seventeen hours, and during much of the time floated so near a rival in the contest that the occupants of the two could converse.

An exchange offers some very good suggestions for the arrangement of the china closet, as follows:

One of the first things that the housekeeper-to-be thinks of, when she has finished ascertaining the bare necessities of the household life, is the china closet and its contents.

Few are the women who do not pride themselves on their china closet. Well arranged and full of handsome wares, it ranks among the best ornaments in the house. But a common trouble is that each meal finds it depleted for the table, and the harmony of its arrangement destroyed. Now, silver of any sort has no standing in the china closet. It should be kept in separate boxes in the buffet drawer, and purely ornamental objects of silver, silver-gilt and cut glass ought to be confined to the buffet, for properly the china closet holds only china, glass and heavier clay wares.

In at least half the houses it is built into the wall. This disposes of location. But it is imperative to have good shelves and plenty of them. Sometimes it is possible to make the very high shelves answer by screwing hooks on the under sides, and hanging there cups, mugs and little pitchers. Hang the saucers against the wall back of the cups by means of flat wire china racks. There may be a double or even a treble row of the racks. In filling them study color as much as possible. With saucers put the biggest at the bottom, unless this arrangement disturbs the color scheme. Leave the shelf surfaces plain and cover them with heavy linen cut to fit, and ornamented with a line of drawn work. Heavy butcher's linen is best, and a pad of the same will safeguard the glassware shelf.

Claret jugs can be hung from the shelves—a corner position is best for them. Saucers and other flat things may go in the rack at the back. In that case the shelf needs a padded linen at the back, like the shelf proper. Test hanging things by swinging them so as to make certain that they will not strike anything else.

Keep plates carefully sorted and piled, size and pattern together. Give big platters room on the lowermost shelf. If it is not properly grooved for them tack strips of lath along it, and cut the linen for it wide enough to go in and out. Stand the platters on edge, the biggest next the wall, graduating them toward the front. With a very high shelf space they look prettier on end, the highest in the middle, and getting smaller toward the sides. Handsome covered dishes are best; keep the whole shining with cleanliness.

Make the most of every good bit and set in a row in front of the flat ones.

A Few Health and Beauty Hints.
Soft, flabby skins that fall into folds and pucker need only cold water to give the nutone. Thick, oily skin, however, should be washed with hot water.

A healthful and refreshing mouth wash is made by boiling cinnamon bark in water and mixing it with equal parts of the purest alcohol. This is good, both for the gums and teeth, and makes the breath more fragrant.

A camphor bath is said to be an excellent thing for the nerves. It is made from an ounce of tincture of camphor, half an ounce of tincture of benzoin, and two ounces of toilet vinegar. Bottle this mixture and add enough of it to a warm bath to scent the water. Do not stay in the tub longer than ten or fifteen minutes, and after the bath lay down for half an hour.

"Eat less and chew more," is excellent advice for dyspeptics on the food question. It is, for that matter, good advice for everybody. It is a prescription that is without doubt more than the whole pharmacopoeia of drugs. The reason why stomachs break down is that they have to do their own work and in addition that which should be done by the mouth.

The hair is almost invariably an index of the physical health, its vigor and abundance depending on the strength of the whole system, and no feminine harm suffers more disastrously from disease and sickness. Nervous, irritable women seldom have fine hair; worry or overwork, as well as anything which exhausts vitality, quickly impairing its health, even changing its color and almost invariably causing it to fall.

Two or three times a day open the windows wide in your working room and then close them again, all save a generous space at the top, and see how quickly the freshened air will warm up. Someone has spoken of "taking great draughts of the atmosphere." Don't treat it as an enemy to be barred from the home or it will grow resentful and "avenge itself upon you as soon as it finds you unprotected. Make friends with it bid it welcome with open windows and doors and eager lungs, and it will prove an incomparable health and beauty giver.

To Succeed in Business Girls Must Be Prompt.

Never get careless about your work and think you are indispensable.

No one is indispensable, so you can't afford to do anything but your best. No difference how small the undertaking, do it as well as you can.

If you are not reliable in small things you can't be trusted with big undertakings.

Be cheerful over your work. If you have to earn your living you might just as well be happy as grumpy over it.

Put your whole heart and soul into doing your work and treat all with whom you come in contact courteously. Attend to business during business hours.

And be punctual. "What has become of your secretary," said one merchant to another. "I had to get rid of her," was the reply.

"Get rid of her?" You told me she was the cleverest secretary you ever had."

"She was. But she was never punctual. In the morning when I was ready to dictate letters, Miss Jones had either not arrived or was removing her hat to rush breathlessly, with her note book forgotten and her pencils unsharpened.

"After luncheon it was the same thing. Her letters, perfect when finished, were never finished without my either having to wait late to sign them or hold them over until the next day.

"I stood it as long as I could, because she was thoroughly conscientious and dependable in other ways. But her want of respect for the clock ruined her for business.

"My present secretary hasn't half her faults, but she's punctual."

If you are unpunctual, says Horne-Chat, you are undependable; if you are undependable, you are not wanted. Therefore, don't get into the habit of being late—or if you get into it get out of it as soon as possible.

Afraid It Would Be Missed.

Tommy learned to swim in Huckle's Cove, an arm of the sea. Consequently, when he went, at his father's invitation, to the swimming pool of his father's city club he felt cramped, somehow and afraid of getting in the way. After a while that feeling wore off. He began splashing about and doing a few tricks that he thought his father might not know. Suddenly his head and shoulders emerged from the water. "Oh, daddy," he said, in an anxious whisper, "I've swallowed some of the water! Do you think they'll mind?"

The demand for employment by educated women is greater proportionately in England than in any other country. Nowhere in the world is the dilemma of a woman accustomed to luxury and suddenly thrown on her own resources so distressing as in England.

SCARLET FEVER.

A scourge of White Races in All Ages and Countries.

Now that smallpox, thanks to compulsory vaccination, has become a rarity in civilized communities, scarlet fever steps forward as the worst of the eruptive diseases of childhood. It is a malady of enormous antiquity. Thucydides, writing nearly 500 years before the beginning of our era, called it a heritage from the remote past. It has scourged the white races in all ages and all countries, and the physicians of all schools have leveled their heaviest artillery upon it. Yet it remains a puzzle unsolved and an enemy unconquered even today. We are in doubt as to its cause, and there is no drug or antitoxin that will cure it. But despite all this the death rate from scarlet fever is steadily declining, and we may expect it to decline more and more as the years go by. The reason for this, I take it, lies in the fact that the modern doctor is a great deal more sparing with pills and powders than his predecessor and a great deal more lavish with water, air and antiseptics. In the old days it was customary to dose scarlet fever patients with all sorts of violent remedies in staggering quantities, and as a result many of them died. Today medicines are but minor auxiliaries in the sickroom, and both doctor and nurse devote their main energies to preventing a spread of the infection. Delineator.

USE FOR A TELESCOPE.

Interesting Discovery One Woman Made by Use of the Glass.

"I thought it was a pretty fair sort of telescope for one that wasn't very big," said Uncle Silas. "I fixed it up in the attic by the high north window, and had it fixed so it would swing around easy. I took a deal of satisfaction in looking through it, the sky seemed so wide and full of wonders, so when Hester was here I thought I'd give her the pleasure too. She stayed a long time upstairs and seemed to be enjoying it. When she came down I asked her if she'd discovered anything new.

"Yes," she says, "Why, it made everybody's house seem so near that I seemed to be right beside 'em, and I found out what John Pritchard's folks are doin' in their outkitchen. I've wondered what they had a light there for night after night, and I just turned the glass on their windows. They are cuttin' apples to dry 'em as rich as them cuttin' apples." "And actually that was all the woman had seen? With the whole heavens before her to study, she had spent her time prying into the affairs of her neighbors! And there are lots more like her—with and without telescopes."—Christian Union.

Fiddled into Office.

Lossing relates that in 1818 he met at Oswego, N. Y., Major Cochran, then nearly eighty years old, a son-in-law of General Philip Schuyler, who told the story of his election to congress during the administration of the elder Adams. A vessel was to be launched on one of the lakes in interior New York, and people came from afar to see it. The young folks gathered there, determined to have a dance at night. There was a fiddle, but no fiddler. Young Cochran was an amateur performer, and his services were demanded. He gratified the joyous company, and at the supper table one of the gentlemen remarked, in commendation of his talents, that he was "fit for congress." The matter was talked up, and he was nominated and elected a representative in congress for the district they comprising the whole of New York west of Schenectady. He always claimed to have "fiddled himself into congress."

A Worthy Desire.

An ambitious young Chicagoan called upon a publisher of novels in that city, to whom he imparted confidentially the information that he had decided to "write a book" and that he would be pleased to afford the publisher the chance to bring it out.

"May I venture to inquire as to the nature of the book you propose to write?" asked the publisher very politely.

"Oh," came in an offhand way from the aspirant for fame, "I think of doing something on the line of 'Les Miserables,' only better, you know?"—Lippincott's.

Spoiled His Appetite.

"Every bit of food on this table," said the serving lady to Lamson as he sat down to eat at the church supper, "was cooked by your wife."

"Oh, I don't mind," rejoined Lamson faintly, "I'm not a bit hungry, anyway!"—New York Times.

A Foolie.

Evelyn—I just met Clarence. He is a conventional foolie. George—How's that? Evelyn—He makes love when he ought to play golf, and he talks golf when he ought to make love.—Illustrated Bits.

Added a Little Sulphur.

Doctor—Did your husband follow my directions? Did he take the medicine I left for him religiously? Patient's wife—I'm afraid not, doctor. He swore every time I gave him a dose.—Boston Transcript.

No Better Half.

She—So the fortune teller told you that you would never marry. He—Yes—that is, indirectly. She—What did she say? He—She said I was born to command.—Exchange.

Insomnia and Alarm Clocks.

The patient complained of insomnia. "You must get an alarm clock at once," said the physician. The patient stared. "I mean it. What time do you waken usually in the night?" "Two o'clock lately."

"Set the alarm for fifteen minutes before 2. As soon as it strikes, get up, dress for the day and take a walk of not less than two miles. Do not go to bed again that day under any circumstances, nor take a nap, even sitting in your chair.

"The next night set the alarm at a quarter past 2. You will sleep until it wakens you. Get up as before and take another two mile walk.

"The third night you can venture to set your alarm at 3. Repeat the walk. If you are not cured by that time, you will be a more difficult case than any I have had heretofore, but if the habit of lying awake is not broken begin back at 2 o'clock again and repeat."—New York Press.

Wonderful.

Two sailors noticed that a shark was following their ship. Not knowing how to get rid of it, they threw a chair overboard.

The shark swallowed this, but still followed.

The sailors then threw a box of oranges overboard to it.

The shark swallowed this and still followed.

The men seemed completely beaten for a moment what to do until one of them said that those on board should draw lots for who had to satisfy the shark.

It fell to an old woman. So the sailors tossed her overboard, and the shark ate her at one bite.

This did not content the fish, which still followed. So the sailors harpooned it and dragged it on board.

On opening it they found to their surprise the old woman sitting on the chair selling oranges "three a penny."—Pearson's Weekly.

The Mere Formality Won.

"Yes, sir," said the pale, youthful sailor: "I have come to ask you for your daughter's hand. She is fair as lilacs, charming."

"Is that Mary you're talking about?" asked papa.

"Yes, sir. It is a mere formality, I know, this asking for your daughter's hand, but we thought it would be pleasing to you if it were observed."

Mary's papa stiffened.

"And may I inquire," he asked, "who suggested that asking my consent to Mary's marriage was a mere formality?"

"You may, sir," replied the young man simply. "It was Mary's mother."

Paraguay's Sweet Plant.

A herb called by the natives canabe, but botanically Eupatorium rebaudianum, grows wild in Paraguay. It is remarkable for its sweetness. Indeed, the native name means the "sugar plant." It grows along the borders of the river Amambaiti and attains a height of only about five inches. The smallest bit of this plant when placed upon the tongue produces a surprisingly sweet flavor, which, it is said, lasts for hours. The saccharine power is much greater than that of sugar.—Youth's Companion.

The Sleepless Seven.

"There were seven of the twelve," said one of the discharged jurors in speaking of the matter next morning, "who didn't want to sleep themselves and wouldn't let the rest of us sleep. Whenever we dropped into a doze they came around and shook us till we were wide awake again."

"And you had to submit, I suppose, for they constituted the majority?"

"Yes. They were a rousing majority," said the hollow eyed juror, with a pensive attempt to be facetious.—Chicago Tribune.

A Life Note.

"Life is what we make it," said the philosopher.

"Alas," exclaimed the practical one, "that we can't make it a million!"

"We ask Providence to make us thankful for what we receive and then go to figuring on just how much Providence is going to send us.—Atlanta Constitution.

A Present.

"That's a very fine purse you have, Henry."

"Yes. My wife gave it to me on my birthday."

"Indeed! Anything in it?"

"Yes; the bill for the purse."

One Exception.

The Husband (during the quarrel)—You're always making bargains. Was there ever a time when you didn't? The Wife—Yes, sir; on my wedding day.

Turn yourself to the true riches and learn to be content with little.—Success.

Wichita Falls, Texas, Nov. 10th, 1908.

The Cincinnati Enquirer says that the entire State democratic ticket in Ohio seems to have been elected, although the republicans are still claiming the election of a part of their ticket.

It is now certain that the democrats of Indiana will have a majority of the newly elected legislature which is to elect a senator, and John W. Kern, defeated candidate for vice president on the democratic ticket, is a candidate for the position.

The republican party is now discharging its campaign obligations to the Standard Oil company. Today's dispatches say that the government's petition for a rehearing in the case in which the Standard Oil company of Indiana was fined $29,240,000 by Judge Landis of Chicago, has been denied by the court of appeals. The whole matter will now doubtless be dropped, or perhaps, to make some sort of a show, the defendants may agree to pay a fine of 29 cents instead of $29,000,000.

The train of forty cars of implements which passed through this city yesterday was by far the best advertisement ever put out by Stamford and the Stamford country. It was the largest order ever given for farming implements by a single firm in Texas, and the largest, in fact, ever filled by the manufacturers for a single customer. The people of Stamford are to be congratulated. When they do something out of the ordinary, they let the world know it.

ARCTIC TEMPERATURES.

Zero Weather is Regarded as Mild and Agreeable.

According to eminent arctic explorers, physical sensations are relative, and the mere enumeration of so many degrees of heat or cold gives no idea of their effect upon the system.

One explorer states that he should have frozen at home in England in a temperature that he found very comfortable indeed in Lapland, with his solid diet of meat and butter and his garments of reindeer.

The following is a correct scale of the physical effects of cold, calculated for the latitude of 65 to 70 degrees north:

Fifteen degrees above zero—unpleasantly warm.

Zero—mild and agreeable.

Ten degrees below zero—pleasantly fresh and bracing.

Twenty degrees below zero—sharp, but not severely cold. One must keep one's fingers and toes in motion and rub one's nose occasionally.

Thirty degrees below zero—very cold. Particular care must be taken of the nose and extremities. Plenty of the fattest food must be eaten.

Forty degrees below zero—intensely cold. One must keep awake at all hazards, muffle up to the eyes and test the circulation frequently, that it may not stop somewhere before one knows it.

Fifty degrees below zero—a struggle for life.—Chicago Record-Herald.

PETTING A HORSE.

If You Want to Please Him Rub Him Between the Ears.

"Not many people know how to pet a horse, from the horse's standpoint, at any rate," said a trainer. "Every nice looking horse comes in for a good deal of petting. Hitch a fine horse close to the curb and you'll find that half the men, women and children who go by will stop for a minute, say 'Nice horse' and give him an affectionate pat or two.

"The trouble is they don't pat him in the right place. If you want to make a horse think he is going straight to heaven hitched to a New York cab or delivery wagon, rub his eyelids. Next to that form of endearment a horse likes to be rubbed right up between the ears. In petting horses most people slight those nerve centers. They stroke the horse's nose. While a well-behaved horse will accept the nasal caress complacently, he would much prefer that nice, soothing touch applied to the eyelids. Once in awhile a person comes along who really does know how to pet a horse. Nine times out of ten that man was brought up in the country among horses and learned when a boy their peculiar ways."—New York Globe.

CARMACK KILLED IN PISTOL DUEL

education, studied law, practiced in Columbia, Tenn., was a member of the legislature in 1884.

He was a delegate to the national democratic convention of 1896 and a member of congress from 1897 to 1901 from the Tenth congressional district of Tennessee.

He served with distinction in the United States senate for six years, being defeated for re-election in the primary a little over a year ago by former Governor Robert Taylor.

Senator Carmack then resumed the practice of law in this city, which was then his home, but within a few months removed to Nashville.

Last spring he opposed Gov. Patterson for the democratic gubernatorial nomination, championing the cause of State-wide prohibition. He was defeated.

Shortly after his defeat Mr. Carmack was offered the editorship of the Nashville Tennessean. He accepted the offer and since then and for the last two months has been at the head of the Tennessean.

Senator Carmack's newspaper career began in 1886 as a member of the editorial staff of the Nashville American.

He founded the Nashville Democrat in 1889 and when it was merged into the American became editor in chief of the latter paper. In 1892 he became editor of the Commercial-Appeal at Memphis.

He married in April, 1890, Miss Elizabeth Cobey Dunnington of Columbia, Tenn.

By Associated Press.

Nashville, Tenn., Nov. 10.—Messages by wire and mail from various sections testify to the tremendous sensation throughout the State and the South caused by the killing of former Senator Carmack by Robin Cooper in a street duel here late yesterday afternoon.

With constantly increasing crowds about it and in the neighborhood, the body of Carmack lay where he fell for half an hour before it was removed to the undertaking establishment and there prepared for burial and then removed to the home of Frank Laidler, business manager of the Tennessean. Today the remains will be taken to Columbia, Tennessee, for interment.

Although almost prostrated, Mrs. Carmack came to Nashville last night, and will return with the remains this morning.

After the shooting, young Cooper, who was slightly wounded, was taken to the hospital, where he remained during the night. Col. Duncan Cooper was held at police headquarters and at an early hour today was sleeping soundly.

Col. Cooper Held Without Bond.

Special to the Times.
Nashville, Tenn., Nov. 10.—Colonel Duncan Cooper was brought before Squire Levin this morning and was charged with murder and carrying concealed weapons. He waived examination and was remanded to jail without bond.

Warrants were sworn out today against Robin Cooper, charging him with murder and carrying concealed weapons. He is still at the hospital.

There are no new developments to yesterday's deplorable tragedy, but there are many rumors afloat.

Carmack's Funeral.

Special to the Times.
Nashville, Tenn., Nov. 10.—The funeral of Senator Carmack will take place at Columbia, Tennessee, tomorrow at noon. Bishop Hiss of the M. E. church South, will preach the service.

The Complete Alpinist.

The young millionaire had climbed the Jungfrau, Monck and Eiger.

"It is more dangerous work than motoring," he said, "and, dear me, how the climber is loaded down. He resembles a peddler more than anything else. He carries wood to make a fire with. He carries nails for his boots. He carries a lamp. He also has an ax wherewith to cut steps for himself in perpendicular ice walls, and he has a cord wherewith to rope himself to his companions, and he has a staff to help him up and down the steeps. In the sack on his back there are all sorts of things—tubes of concentrated soup, tea, coffee, candles, socks, extra shirts, gloves, pins, brandy, meat extract, smoked glasses. And dangling between his shoulders is a pair of snowshoes, without which in the hot August sun he would sink in the soft snow quite up to his knees at every step."—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

Wanted the Other One.

A handsome and neatly dressed young woman was walking down the street the other day, followed by her favorite, dachshund pup. It was market day, and the pavement being somewhat crowded caused the dog to get some distance behind his mistress. Fearing it would lose sight of her, she called, "Come along, sir!"

A would be wit who was near stepped up to her and with great politeness said, "Certainly, miss."

"Ah," she exclaimed as her pet came running up, "you have made a mistake! This is the puppy I called."—London Tit-Bits.

The Sailor's Prayer Book.
"This is what you call the sailor's prayer book," a seaman said bitterly as he kicked a holystone out of the way. "Why is it called that? Well, in the first place, it is called that because in using it, in holystoning the deck, the sailor has to kneel down, and, in the second place, because all holystoning is done on Sunday. Don't you know the chantey—
"Six days shalt thou work and do all that thou art able
And on the seventh holystone the decks and scrape the cable.
"The stone is called holystone because the first holystones were bits of tombs stolen from cemeteries. It's got a pious, religious sound—holystone and prayer-book and Sunday and all that—but it is when he is using this stone that the seaman is most profane."
—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

It Happened Before.
A self made, self satisfied and self assertive itinerant preacher was ex-patriating to a college graduate on his own eloquence.
"Colleges," he declared, "ain't necessary when a preacher's got a genuine call to the ministry. I'm thankful to say the Lord opened my mouth without education."
"That's interesting," returned his hearer. "Time to think of it, something like that happened several thousand years ago in connection with Balaam, wasn't it?"—Circle Magazine.

In a Nutshell.
"Big talker," declared the Indian

BANK WITH THE OLD RELIABLE

Management

The success of a bank and the safety of the funds intrusted to it depend upon a judicious administration of its affairs.

Every officer of The First National Bank is a practical banker of life-long experience.

Its directors are all well known men selected for their business ability and financial standing.

The strength of this bank lies not alone in its large capital, surplus and resources, but in the character and financial responsibility of the men who conduct its affairs.

A GOOD LOSER.

Honey Grove Signal: The fellow who doesn't learn to be a good loser not only lacks that much of being a well-rounded man, but he is very apt to grow into a very dangerous man. Down in Louisiana a few days ago a man who had lost out in a love affair followed his successful rival and bride into a train and shot the former dead. Had he been a good loser he would have congratulated the bride and groom, sent them a nice present and perhaps have found a prettier girl later on; but, being a fellow who had not trained himself to meet disappointment with a smile, he must spend his days in the penitentiary or a mad house. One of the first lessons for a fellow to learn is that everybody and every-thing are not going to bend to his desires and whims. If he learns it well the chances are that he will become a good citizen; if he does not, he will go through life unhappy and the world will breathe a sigh of relief when he is finally called hence.

GRADUAL MARKETING THE ONLY RELIEF

SOUND EDITORIAL IN DALLAS NEWS AFFORDS MUCH FOR STUDY.

VIOLENCE & CRIME WRONG

Most of Reports of Night Riding, Says the News, Are Baseless. Results Do Not Warrant Excitement.

The price of cotton can not be raised or kept up by threats, express or implied, nor violence and crime. There is one way to defeat the bears in their efforts to bring about slumps for high gambling purposes, and it is a practical and perfectly legitimate process.

Gradual marketing must be brought about, if at all, by methods that are practical and legitimate. The warehouse is one provision that is necessary. The cotton factory yard by the cotton field is the best means to this end.

While there is considerable excitement over sensational reports touching the doings of night riders in the cotton States, the News is convinced that the reports thus far have really amounted to little when duly sifted. The News has published probably a dozen items of the kind, not a half of which have been found baseless, as shown by published corrections.

It has not failed, however, to publish corrections as they were sent in. The results thus far do not warrant the excitement that has come of it or the untimely intimations, predictions and implied threats that have been made.

The one thing to do is for all parties interested in securing a fair price for cotton to co-operate along lawful lines to bring it to pass. It would seem that something might be done at the Memphis meeting on the 10th of November.

Of course impossibilities are not expected by any reasonable person. It is certainly possible to do something to encourage and provide for a more gradual marketing of cotton. Much has been done already. In fact, a great deal is being done every day, largely through private transactions that are not matters for publication.

HOW HE SLEPT.

His Experience With a Noisy and Persistent Cuckoo Clock.

Wertz recently was presented with an old fashioned clock. That evening he hung it on his bedroom wall, wound it up and after admiring it awhile went to sleep. He was drifting into very pleasant dreams when he was startled.

"Coo-coo, coo-coo!" Wertz sat up with a start, but in an instant recovered his wits and listened to eight more coo-coos with a foolish grin. Then he lay back and went to sleep again.

He had got into a fine doze by the time the thing went off again. This time he didn't grin. Wertz is a light sleeper, and though he tried to get used to the thing, he gave up after the cuckoo had announced 2 o'clock and got up and stopped the clock.

Next evening Wertz junior, who had not seen the clock, went to look at it. "Why, it's stopped," he said. "What is wrong?" Wertz senior stroked his chin. "Maybe I didn't wind it this morning," he replied. "Ferd," he continued, "if you will promise to wind that clock every morning I'll let you have it for your room."

Wertz junior was delighted, and the transfer was made. At the breakfast table next morning the heir of the house of Wertz looked tired and somewhat sheepish, but offered no explanation. After considerable general conversation his father said:

"You look tired. How did you sleep last night?" Wertz junior yawned. "By the hour," he answered. Kansas City Times.

SAVED THE GIRL.

An Old Time Adventure With Solomon Island Cannibals.

One day on a Solomon beach a little girl ran to me and, before I was aware of it, placed my foot on her neck. One knows what this means well enough. In hot war it means that if a chief allows his foot to rest on the defeated one's neck the man's life is safe, but he is a slave forever, rescue or no rescue. I was puzzled at the child's action. It was soon explained. Shortly afterward down came a lot of villagers and insisted on taking the youngster. I told them what she had done. They said they did not care. Her mother was being cooked in the town, and the child should go to the ovens with her.

"Never!" I said. "What! We, who have eaten betel nut together many times, to quarrel for a mere child to whom I have granted life in your own way!" I swore they should kill me first. They replied:

"Oh, that is an easy thing to do." A bold front was the only thing now. Luckily I had my sixteen shooter. Springing back and putting a mark on the sand with my foot, I swore I would shoot the first man who crossed it. They knew I could answer for a dozen of them or so, and although clubs were up and bows bent, they hesitated, as well they might, and I knew I had mastered them. Then one proposed I should buy the child fairly. They cared not to fight a friend. To this I at once agreed, and a muss was thus avoided, and a mission as worth tenpence made me a slave owner. "Among the Man Eaters," by John Gaggin.

The Century Plant.

The century plant, so named because of the popular idea that it blooms but once in a hundred years, in one sense makes good its name, for it blooms only once, then dies. In the genial climate of southern California it reaches maturity and blooms in fifteen or twenty years, while in colder climates the period may range from forty to fifty years. There are many species of the agave family native to northern Mexico, where it is called the maguey. The plant furnishes "pulque," the national drink of Mexico. At the time of blooming the plant throws up a single stock of rapid growth to the height of twelve to twenty feet, from which the tassell-like flowers sprout forth. This great flower stalk draws all the sap and vigor from the body of the plant, which soon withers and dies.

Apt Pupil.

Captain Jones (giving a short lecture to the recruits of his company on their demeanor in public)—If a civilian should make offensive remarks in a public house and try to induce a quarrel the well conducted soldier should drink up his beer and go quietly away.

After his address Captain Jones questioned his audience to ascertain if they had comprehended his remarks.

"Now, Private Jenkins, what should you do if you were at an inn and a civilian wanted to quarrel with you?" "I should drink up his beer, sir, and look it."—London Pick-Me-Up.

FEVER TICKS INCREASING.

Despite the Efforts of Experts and Cattlemen. (From Ft. Worth Live Stock Reporter.)

According to Captain S. B. Burnett fever ticks are increasing in Texas, and cattle are suffering more from that pest now than for a long while. Captain Burnett has a ranch in King county, in the modified quarantine area, and he finds that his cattle on that ranch are worse infested with ticks now than they ever have been. This is not an encouraging report from a county that ought to be making progress in exterminating the ticks and getting out of quarantine. It goes to show that in that part of Texas ticks are making headway against the efforts of the National and State governments to destroy them. Talking further along this line, Captain Burnett is quoted in the Fort Worth Record as follows:

"In former years ticks have appeared on my cattle to some extent, but not until this year did any cattle die from the pest. This year over 150 head on my ranch have died and had I not dipped the entire herd twice in the best available exterminator I believe I would have lost 25 per cent of the herd. Twelve days ago I put my herd through the second dipping and yesterday the ticks had almost entirely disappeared. During the past three years the winters have been warm and rainy. This sort of weather has been favorable to the multiplication of ticks and despite the good work accomplished last year the ticks are thicker than ever this year. The only thing to do is to follow the advice of Dr. J. H. Wilson of the State live stock sanitary commission and dip as often as necessary in arsenic, tar and salisoda. From my experience my advice to cattlemen is to dip with the first appearance of ticks. This tick problem is getting to be immensely serious to the cattlemen above the line. They are co-operating generally in an effort to eradicate the ticks, but this year the loss, coupled with the cost of protection, is an apparent need for some method which will effectively rid the infested area of ticks. State legislators should most certainly view with favor the movement to secure ample appropriations to carry on the fight against the pests and the Federal government can not expend too much in this work. The aggregate losses reach annually into millions of dollars and it comprises a problem that must be solved."

The National government is doing all that it can to eradicate the cattle tick pest. Some of the infected States are co-operating with it in this work, but the State government of Texas is giving very little help. Because this State is the worst sufferer of all, because we have more cattle than any other State in the tick territory. Of the 7,000,000 or 8,000,000 cattle in Texas four-fifths are in the tick territory. Their owners suffer loss not only by their death, as reported by Captain Burnett, but a greater loss on account of the ticks depleting the vitality of the cattle and keeping them in low condition. And more than that, quarantine cattle cannot command the prices that they would if they were free to go to any market. This handicap means a depreciation of about $5 a head, and if the owners of cattle in the quarantine counties of Texas would contribute not $5 but $1 on every head, they would have a fighting fund that would enable them to get rid of the ticks in two or three years.

Making Happy Days.

How often on seeing children playing and enjoying the pleasures of childhood we say they are enjoying their best days. True, they are enjoying life. They know not the sorrows and trials that come to us in after years, but there is joy all along the journey of life if we will only try to find it. If we sit down and think only of our own interests and our own troubles, the hours of real pleasure will be few. Let's forget self for one whole month put every effort forth to be of some pleasure to some one. Think kind thoughts, say kind words. We don't have to do great things that bring the most enjoyment to ourselves. There are few people who have not had the opportunity of being a friend to some one at the time when they needed that one most.

We so often let opportunities pass by, when if we would lay aside our selfish thoughts and let the sunshine in our lives reach out we would realize great joy. I have in mind a woman who is always thinking of the pleasures and comforts of others. She always has a pleasant word for all. It matters not what their station is in life, if she feels that she can in any way help them, she does not let an opportunity escape. She has sorrows and has many things to worry her, but she overcomes them to a great extent in helping and trying to cheer others.

A girl once came to her who needed some one to love her, to say the words of cheer and comfort to her. When she found that she had some one to sympathize with her, some one to share her sorrow, the joy that came to that girl's life is untold. Words are inadequate to express the gratitude of that girl to this woman who had done that which she felt was her duty. As long as this girl lives she will have words of praise and a heart full of love for that woman. There are many women just like this one, but who seldom hear praise of the good they do. Noble deeds that women do for each other. Many will be the "happiest days" if we will try to make them such.—Birmingham News.

A NEGRO UPRISING.

Anonymous Communication Says Negroes Plan Slaughter of Whites.
 Special to the Times.
 Dallas, Tex., Nov. 10.—The police department today received an unsigned letter saying that the negroes throughout the country are planning an uprising and that the "whites are to be slain without discrimination." The writer says he has traveled from Kentucky to the gulf and that all the blacks are arranging for concerted action. The authorities are investigating the source of the letter.

REHEARING IS DENIED.

Court of Appeals Denies Rehearing of $29,240,000 Fine Case.

By Associated Press.
 Chicago, Ill., Nov. 10.—The government's petition for a rehearing of the case in which the United States circuit court of appeals reversed the trial court in fining the Standard Oil Company of Indiana $29,240,000 for alleged rebating, was denied by the court of appeals today.

It is authoritatively stated that the government will now attempt to bring the whole matter before the supreme court on a writ of certiorari.

Cotton Conference in Memphis.

By Associated Press.
 Memphis, Tenn., Nov. 10.—The Southern Cotton Conference was called to order in the auditorium at 10 o'clock today. There was a good attendance of delegates and visitors. Addresses of welcome were delivered by Governor Patterson and Mayor Malone in behalf of Tennessee and Memphis, and responses were made by Charles Gay of Montgomery, Alabama, and Harvie Jordan, who was made permanent chairman.

The temporary organization was perfected by the selection of W. J. Crawford, temporary chairman and George Bishop of Memphis and W. H. Gilbert of Chiclet, Ark., as temporary secretaries. Bishop Gallore, the Episcopal bishop of the diocese of Tennessee, delivered an address on "The Keynote of the Conference. President Jordan also delivered an address, in which he made numerous suggestions and recommendations. The afternoon session was taken up with addresses, including those by Governor Noel of Mississippi and Lee Richardson of Vicksburg, Miss.

His Wish Fulfilled.

A German peddler rapped timidly at the kitchen entrance. Mrs. Kelly, angry at being interrupted in her washing, flung open the door and glowered at him.

"Did yez wish to see me?" she demanded in threatening tones.

The peddler backed off a few steps. "Veil, if I did," he assured her with an apologetic grin, "I get my wish; thank you."
