WICKED SANTONE MUST GET BETTER

GOVERNOR DELAYS IN SIGNING COMMISSIONS OF BEXAR COUNTY OFFICIALS—THEY WORRY.

THE LAWS NOT ENFORCED

Sheriff and County Judge With Other Officials Wonder Where "They're at."

Special to the Times.
Austin, Tex., Dec. 12.—Governor Campbell's authority in declining to sign the commissions of the Bexar county officials is declared here today to be his right to exercise such a prerogative as recited in their commissions.

The Governor declares he is not refusing absolutely to sign the commissions because of alleged violation of the liquor law, adding that he has merely laid them aside for further consideration and may sign them later. It is not expected that the Bexar county officials will promise to support Baskin McGregor law, as that would be equal to a confession. It is believed that an effort will be made to secure a supreme court mandamus to compel the Governor to sign the commissions.

Creates Sensation at San Antonio.

San Antonio, Dec. 12.—That Governor Campbell is unsupported by the law in his demand for promises from Bexar county officers regarding the enforcement of the liquor and gambling laws, or any laws, is the opinion of three of the principal officials against whom the governor's unique performance is directed. These three officials are District Attorney Baker, County Attorney Newton and Sheriff Lindsey.

Judge Shook could not be seen. These same three officials openly announce that they do not intend to make such pledges prescribed by the governor and maintain that he has no right to withhold their commissions, although whether they will mandamus him if he persists in his demands is undecided, the officials being somewhat surprised when informed of the Governor's position.

Succeeding themselves, the county and district attorneys say they can collect fees and transact the full business of their offices "until their successors qualify," and the governor's attitude therefore does not seem to worry them much.

With Sheriff Lindsey, however, it is different. He is entering upon his first term and does not know whether his acts will be legal without a state commission.

The news of the governor's position had created a sensation here.

Can't Draw Pay Without Commissions.

Austin, Tex., Dec. 12.—While signing the commissions of a number of county officials today, the governor failed to sign the commissions of the county officials of Bexar county, whose duty is to administer and enforce the law. When questioned as to his reason for not signing these commissions, the governor answered that they are being held up for future consideration. This step on the part of the governor is regarded as quite significant when it is reported that the Baskin-McGregor liquor law is being openly violated. Just what effect this action on the part of the Governor will have on the Bexar county officials is not known, but it is likely to cause a stir, as they cannot draw money from the State without commissions. The officers whose commissions are held up are B. D. Lindsay, sheriff; Phil H. Shook, county judge; T. J. Newton, county attorney; and B. S. Flisk, Walter Trainer and Joe Umschied, constables.

Darkey Has Success With Cotton.

Jim Norford, a darkey living near the creamery, planted two acres in cotton last season and reports that he sold the cotton of one acre in the field for $20 and that the other acre produced a bale of cotton weighing 500 pounds.

Jim says he used ordinary seed, but gave it good care with the results noted. Jim bears the reputation of being law-abiding and it is self-evident that he is a pretty good worker.

Loves Recommendations.

Special to the Times.
Austin, Tex., Dec. 12.—Insurance Commissioner Love says that he will recommend legislation for the regulation and supervision of unincorporated or co-operative insurance companies.

BLOODY FINGER PRINTS.

Are Only Clue That Police Have in Baffling Murder Mystery.

By Associated Press.
New York, Dec. 12.—The police are scouring the city for trace of the man who committed what appears to be one of the most baffling murders in the city's criminal record. The body of a young woman was found with her head almost severed lying on a blood soaked bed in a padlocked and barricaded room on East Eleventh street. The condition of the body indicated that the woman had been dead not less than two weeks.

The only clue the police have is the bloody finger prints of the murderer on the knob of the door and on the sheets.

Steamer Ashore.

By Associated Press.
New York, Dec. 12.—Reports from Fire Island early today said that the Belpoit life saving station had reported the steamer Harburg, bound from Foley to New York with a cargo of pipe clay, was ashore about half a mile west of that station. The crew were still on board. She carries no passengers.

More Railroad Talk.

The Quannah Acme & Southwestern will be connected before three years with Ashland, Kans., while the owners of the Young county coal fields are very anxious to bring the Wichita & Northwestern here from Frederick. That will open this southwestern territory to them, and furnish them a field that no other coal mines can touch.—Quannah Tribune Chief.

Japanese General Dead.

By Associated Press.
Tokyo, Dec. 12.—General Okasawa, chief aide de camp to the emperor, died yesterday.

NEW INDICTMENT MAY BE RETURNED

By Associated Press.
Union City, Dec. 12.—An attorney investigating the Reelfoot Lake night rider cases stated today that when the grand jury adjourned today all the work accomplished by the last grand jury would be gone over by the jury now sitting. Only thirty-three indictments have been returned so far this term. The above statements seem to indicate that about ninety indictments will be returned today.

PLAY HENRIETTA TODAY.

Second High School Foot Ball Team Trying to Retrieve Late Defeat.

The second foot ball team of the Wichita Falls high school left at noon today for Henrietta where they will put forth their best efforts to retrieve the defeat of Thanksgiving day.

The Henrietta team will play a return game here on Christmas day.

The line-up of the local team in this afternoon's game is as follows:
Eugene Isley—Center.
Swartz—Right Guard.
Carter McGregor—Right End.
Homer Dodge—Left End.
Lather Wilson—Quarter.
Jerome Stone—Full Back.

FIGHT TO RETAIN FRANCHISE.

Austin Don't Propose to Allow Okla- homa City to Get Baseball Franchise.

Special to the Times.
Austin, Tex., Dec. 12.—The directors of the baseball Association here today express confidence in keeping Austin in the Texas League and preventing the sale of its franchise to Oklahoma City. Three thousand dollars are needed to prevent the transfer and two thousand has been raised. The directors declare they will place a winning team in the field the coming season.

TO INVESTIGATE PRISON AFFAIRS

Special to the Times.
Guthrie, Okla., Dec. 12.—Governor-elect Stubbs, of Kansas, after reading Kate Barnards expose of the Oklahoma prison conditions requested William Allen White to investigate the Kansas prisons in the same way. Miss Barnard will furnish data for an investigation which may spread to other States.

NOT TO SEIZE MERCHANT SHIPS

DUTCH GOVERNMENT DOES NOT CONTEMPLATE SEIZURE OF VENEZUELAN TRADERS.

SECRET SERVICE BOATS

And Vessels Belonging to Venezuelan Navy Will Be Seized by Dutch Vessels.

By Associated Press.
The Hague, Dec. 12.—It was stated in official quarters today that the seizure on the high seas of the Venezuelan merchant ships or the stopping of other vessels from trading between Venezuelan ports is not contemplated in the present instructions to the Dutch warships now on duty in Venezuelan waters. Such action will only be taken against vessels connected with the Venezuelan navy and the marine police service.

CHILD LOST IN WOODS.

Infant Crawled Three Miles From Home—Will Die of Exposure.

Ahlene, Texas, Dec. 12.—Information has been received here to the effect that the 18-month-old baby of Henry Russell, residing fifteen miles north of Aspermont, in Stonewall county, was lost Monday afternoon and was not discovered until yesterday morning, dying a short while after it was discovered from hardships and exposure. The father and mother left the child in the house last Monday afternoon lying on the bed asleep; and went out a short distance into the field to pick cotton, and when they returned about dark the child was gone. The alarm was spread among the neighbors and the entire community turned out to look for the child. All that night and the succeeding days and nights were spent in a fruitless search, the entire county being aroused over the matter, until finally yesterday afternoon the child was discovered lying in the woods about three miles from the father's home, still breathing but almost dead. It was badly emaciated and fearfully bruised and scratched from falls, as it was just learning to walk. It is supposed after leaving the house the child crawled and tottered on and on until stopped from exhaustion.

HORSEMEN WIN VICTORY.

Kentucky Judge Holds That Betting on Horse Races Is Not Gambling.

Frankfort, Ky., Dec. 12.—Justice Lassing in the Court of Appeals today rendered a decision giving horsemen a sweeping victory, holding that betting or wagering on a horse race is not gaming and can not be construed as a felony. Attorney Henry Meyers, the Latonia Jockey Club's president, brought the case to get the Court to construe Sec. 1955 of the statutes against gaming. Justice Lassing decided that B. M. McDavitt, a Louisville pool room operator, can not by Court aid collect $5,840 due him in wages from R. L. Thomas, a noted Bourbon County turfman.

"The words 'betting' and 'wagering' have a broader and more comprehensive meaning than the word 'gaming.' The object of the wager frequently is perfectly innocent pastime or legally authorized act, such as a test of animals' speed, an election result or a mere matter of judgment."

Have any of our readers had practical experience with one or another of the several mechanical cotton pickers supposed to have been perfected this season? It seems that most of the inventors have failed to raise money enough to manufacture machines for actual work or have found it more profitable to keep the money for which they sold stock than to make machines. Regardless of the fact that many patentees have claimed to have invented successful cotton pickers the niggers and greasers have almost as secure a monopoly in gathering the fleecy staple as Standard Oil has upon the politics and finances of the Nation—and are quite as sure to hold it for a long time at least.—Farm and Ranch.

A Case of Smallpox.

By Associated Press.
Colombo, Ceylon, Dec. 12.—The battleship Georgia, preceding the American battleship fleet under Rear Admiral Sperry due here tomorrow morning, came into port today with a smallpox case on board. The patient was at once removed to a hospital.

NEW MOVEMENT WILL BE LAUNCHED

TEXAS FARMERS UNION TO INAUG- URATE FAR-REACHING CAM- PAIGN.

TO RAISE ALL PRODUCTS

President Neill Issues Call to County Presidents for Meeting December 22 and 23.

Special to the Times.
Ft. Worth, Tex., Dec. 12.—President Neill of the Texas Farmers' Union today announced that about two hundred county presidents will convene here on December 22, and 23, to launch the "Live At Home" campaign the purpose of which is to induce the members to raise all necessary land products on the farm and buy no produce whatever. Commissioner of Agriculture Kone, will address the meeting. It is believed the result of this meeting will be the most far reaching and important of any action ever taken by the Texas Farmers.

Yokum Plans to Spend $30,000,000 on Road.

St. Louis, Mo., Dec. 12.—Benjamin F. Yokum, chairman of the board of directors of the Frisco-Rock Island System, came to St. Louis today to review the plans for the expenditure of $30,000,000 in improvements of the Frisco-Rock Island lines.

This immense improvement fund was borrowed in New York recently, the Frisco bonds being furnished as collateral for the loan.

Mr. Yokum said that railroad traffic is improving substantially and the Frisco-Rock Island roads are enjoying a reasonable degree of prosperity.

Regarding the announced advance in freight schedules, Jan. 1, Mr. Yokum declined to talk, saying this matter rested primarily with the traffic department, and he was not in a position to discuss it.

GIN EMPLOYEE ASSAULTED.

G. B. Moore Seriously Injured In At- tack by Three Masked Men.

Special to the Times.
Ruak, Dec. 12.—G. B. Moore was attacked and perhaps fatally hurt late last night at the Hammond Gin, a few miles from here, by three masked white men who escaped. Bloodhounds were put on their trail. Moore is a gin employee and it is believed from his semi-conscious utterances, that he accosted the men while they were trying to set fire to the plant.

BOATMEN STRIKE.

Thirty-Three Boats of New York Cen- tral Lines Are Idle.

By Associated Press.
New York, Dec. 12.—Because the New York Central railroads marine superintendent refused to reinstate a tugboat crew he had discharged when they refused to work half an hour overtime last night without pay, thirty-three tugs of the company did not move today. Two hundred men took part in the strike.

LOST CHILDREN FOUND.

Little Tots Lost Their Parents While Shopping—Wander Five Miles.

Special to the Times.
Waco, Tex., Dec. 12.—Two of the children of T. F. Renfro, aged five and seven, were found late last night five miles in the country after having disappeared here. The Renfro's live at Hewitt, nine miles south of Waco. The children strayed away while the parents were shopping.

No Truth in Report.

Special to the Times.
Omaha, Neb., Dec. 12.—The Cudahy Packing Company today denied the report that they will build a large plant in Texas, declaring the proposition had not even been considered.

ANOTHER 2 STORY BUILDING TO GO UP

G. D. Anderson yesterday awarded the contract for a substantial two-story business building on Eighth Street to Fred Smith. The amount of the contract has not been made public.

The building will be erected on the lot recently purchased by Mr. Anderson from the Wichita Investment Company, adjoining the new office building now being erected by Anderson and Patterson.

It will have a frontage of fifty feet on Eighth Street and will extend along the alley one hundred feet and will join at the rear with the building now occupied by the Wichita Valley Mercantile Company.

Construction will start as soon as suitable arrangements can be made for Mr. Fletcher whose coal office now occupies a part of the building site.

Bill Passes in Lower House.

By Associated Press.
Washington, D. C., Dec. 12.—Immediately after the convening today the House passed bills providing for the holding of terms of the United States court at Clarksdale, Miss., amending the penal laws of the United States relating to the postal service and dividing the State of Indiana into six judicial districts.

Sheriff Elect is Silent.

Special to the Times.
San Antonio, Tex., Dec. 12.—The Bexar county officials whose commissions remain unsigned by Governor Campbell have not announced a plan of action. Sheriff Lindsey refused to discuss the matter. District Attorney Baker says he is willing to do his part but can't do it all.

Taking Rebuttal Testimony.

Special to the Times.
Fort Worth, Dec. 12.—The State today commenced the taking of rebuttal testimony in the case of Frank McCue charged with the murder of Earl Mabry near Dallas. The defense rested late yesterday. The arguments may commence Monday.

WEARIED RIDERS AHEAD OF RECORD

New York, Dec. 12.—With the end of their long journey only half a day distant, eight weary but determined riders are whirling around the track at Madison Square Garden today. At 8 o'clock this morning the three leading teams were more than ten miles ahead of the mark established nine years ago. At that time the leaders had covered 2,450 miles and the

SAYS CONNECTION WILL BE BUILT

PRESIDENT WINCHELL SAYS ROCK ISLAND HAS EVERY- THING READY TO BEGIN.

HELD BY TEXAS LAWS

Claims That Rock Island Will Under- take No Extensions Until Adverse Legislation in Texas is Stopped.

Secretary Gohlke and R. M. Moore had a rather exciting adventure on their trip to Waurika yesterday afternoon.

They had originally planned to go over the Wichita Valley to Byers, from where they were to make the remainder of their journey to Waurika by horse and buggy, but they got to the depot here in time to see the rear end of the train for Byers disappear around the curve at the end of the yards.

Knowing then that their only chance of reaching Waurika was to take the Katy for Ringgold and take chances of catching a north-bound train over the Rock Island, they tied themselves to the Katy depot and this time reached the station before the train pulled out. Upon their arrival at Ringgold they found that President Mitchell's special was due in a few minutes, but was not scheduled to stop.

The station agent told them that if they wanted to take the responsibility upon themselves they could take the flag and stop the train, and he would not interfere with them.

Mr. Gohlke agreed to do the talking if Mr. Moore would handle the flag, and when President Mitchell's special came thundering along the track the engineer on seeing Mr. Moore's frantic gestures with the flag brought the train to a stop and almost before the wheels quit turning Mr. Gohlke had climbed over the railing at the rear of President Winchell's private car and had explained the incident. Mr. Moore was taken on board and the train was again rushing on toward Waurika.

On the way President Winchell told the Wichita Falls men that estimates of the cost of the connection had been made and assured them that it would be made.

The railroad official said that no extension would be made in Texas, however, until the people called a halt upon legislation against the railroads.

He said that he considered Wichita Falls and Stamford the two most progressive cities in Texas but that he would not venture a definite statement as to when either the extension to Wichita Falls or the extension from Graham to Stamford would be built.

New Century Club.

It is being whispered that the New Century women have become visionary of late. Let us relieve you by saying that we have been visionary all the time. Our visions are growing. We have twenty-three of Wichita's fairest visions, and should you feel doubtful on this subject, you should have seen us as we were on last Wednesday afternoon at the bright little home of Mrs. W. E. Ogsten with our domestic science demonstrations. Mesdames McCune, McGregor, Ogsten and Miss Dora Coons.

Mrs. McCune prepared and served a dainty sandwich wrapped in tissue paper and tied with white and green ribbons—our Club colors. Mrs. McGregor a delicious chocolate pie with white icing, and Miss Coons the salmon loaf with mayonnaise dressing, while the "spirit" that added everything to the menu—coffee—was Mrs. Ogsten's. He ye not deceived in us: We "look well to the ways of our household, and eat not of the bread of idleness."

During the interval of waiting for the coffee to boil we were the charmed listeners to two beautiful vocal solos by Mrs. J. P. Schawb with piano accompaniment by Mrs. S. J. Ashmore.

We feel boastful of our musical talent as we possess most of Wichita's best—in fact we have entire programs devoted to music, vocal and instrumental, that inspire visions heavenly.

Friday afternoon from 3 to 5 we were royally entertained as a Club at the home of Mrs. P. P. Langford, by the Unity Club.

THE GOODNIGHT BUFFALO HERD

(By A. H. Thornton in the Decatur News.)

Fifty years ago this was a commonplace subject in Texas, for then the buffalo abounded on the prairies and plains of North and West Texas, but it seemed were destined finally to be destroyed and completely erased from their native soil.

Buffalo hunting was the occupation of many westerners at that time, the robe being the coveted prize, and some thought that by destroying the buffalo, the Indians, who were filling the country with terror by their ravages and massacres, could be more easily subdued. But for what reason they were hunted down it matters not, it is sufficient to say the buffalo was rapidly becoming extinct.

It was fortunate for us and succeeding generations of Texas that a wise and philanthropic couple lived on the trail of the retreating bison.

In the spring of 1878, Mrs. Mary Goodnight suggested to her husband, Col. Chas. Goodnight, a noted Indian fighter and successful ranchman, that they preserve to Texas a few of the buffalo. Acting upon this wise suggestion, the Colonel, while attending to his numerous duties in looking after his ranch one day in May, rode upon a few struggling buffalo at the head of Wagon creek in the Palo Duro canon, and by his skill lassoed two calves, as it chanced, a male and a female, and sent them to headquarters. A little later on in the same year, two other calves were caught by Mr. Dyer, a brother of Mrs. Goodnight, and brought to the ranch. These four calves formed the nucleus of the present famous herd of buffalo, now at Goodnight, Texas.

There are many very interesting things to be said about the buffalo, but we can mention only a few of these in this limited space.

It has been found by comparison that the brain of a buffalo is a third larger and also said to be better located than that of the common cow. Mr. Goodnight, who has been a close student of the bison for a number of years, says that they are also much more intelligent, have even shown evidence of being able to consider two things at once.

Another thing about them, growing out of their intelligence, is their habit of grazing. They never feed in reach of each other. While they all go in one herd, yet each one has ample room to move about without coming in contact with any other. This seems to be demanded, and each understands this part and knows that trouble will ensue if not heeded. As a result of this habit fighting among them is a rare occurrence. They are lovers of peace.

True, they have been domesticated, yet the leopard spot has not changed. They are not considered safe. No one is permitted to walk out among them; however you can ride up to within fifteen feet of them as they feed along. They sluggishly raise their immense shaggy heads, and with their keen, black, and slightly projecting eyes, seem almost to look through you. Just at this moment a feeling of fear creeps over you, but this is soon dispelled, for after a few seconds they again lower their heads and graze on seemingly unconscious of your presence. Their more vicious nature is shown when they are coerced, for they do not like to be driven. When it becomes necessary to pen them for any purpose there is usually trouble, and sometimes one in his fury and rage will blindly dash against some obstruction with his massive body, and it is a rare exception if he does not break his neck. If he kills himself he is dressed and divided out among the neighbors without price.

The one thing that has made possible the retention of this herd within a wire fence is that they are not of a roving disposition as you might think. It is a known fact that in an early day they migrated only as they would eat out the grass, or to find sufficient water. Thus as long as they are not in want they are perfectly contented.

We are not definitely informed as to their age limit, but Mr. Goodnight says he has kept a cow for thirty years and still she is productive, and it is his opinion that she will live to be fifty years old.

The commercial value of the buffalo is enormous. A grown cow when sold will bring from $500 to $900. The long life of the cow makes possible an increase of thirty from one brute, valued when grown, at $1500. Buffalo steak sells for 50 cents per pound. A young calf for $350. A mounted head brings $100, and even a foot, when made into a stand for an ink well sells for a good sum.

While these buffalo are the most uncouth, ungraceful and unspeakably ugly masses, yet they are wonderfully admired, for they are the souvenirs of prehistoric days in Texas, when only the buffalo and Indian roamed its fertile soil together. As China has preserved to the world the ancient manners and customs of its people, so the buffalo speaks to us of the antiquities of Texas. As we stand gazing at these unsymmetrical masses of flesh, many thoughts chase through our minds of all the bloody days when Texas soil was red with the blood of Indian massacre, Spanish treachery, cowboy rule and destructive prairie fires. Like a panorama the formation period of Texas civilization, with one mighty sweep passes before our eyes; then as we turn and think of the glorious present, a land with all its crowning beauties, queenly cities, stately homes, magnificent churches and christian institutions, we leave the park better, wiser and more appreciative, all for having seen the buffalo.

Oil Field Notes.

Petrolia, Texas, Dec. 11, 1908.—The Field is again widened by bringing in a find well on the west line of Carroll in the 740-foot sand which flowed over the top when tubing. A good well was also brought in Tuesday on the south line of Clayco 20 on Lockridge in the 740-foot sand.

Eight teams loaded with pipe for the Wichita Falls and Henrietta gas line went south through the Field this morning. A large force of men are at work on the pipe line and two miles on the Field end has been laid. There is also a crew on the Wichita Falls end.

The gas line to Petrolia has been connected with the wells and the Petrolia people are enjoying the luxuries of both light and heat by gas. The bringing in of new wells and increasing in production has made it necessary to double the capacity of the loading racks at Petrolia.

Allison & Sanders have moved their rotary rig to Frank Snell's farm and are setting up in the big 80-foot derrick for a deep test. They are under contract for Navarro Refining Co., who hold a lease on the Snell farm.

The refinery which burned all the woodwork connected with it some two weeks ago has been rebuilt and is again working.

The Divorce Evil.

Altus (Okla.) News.
We hear a great deal of late upon what is called "The Divorce Evil." That the unhappy condition of many married people leads them into the courts for a dissolution of their marital relations is a fact or condition that is awakening the thoughts of the clergy, the courts and society, to that extent as to be called an evil. The compilation of the census bureau shows that these legal separations are increasing to an alarming extent.

We have given the subject some little study and have come to the conclusion that those who are decrying the divorce evil, have made a mistake in the diagnosis of the case; that instead of calling it the divorce evil, it should be called "The Marriage Evil," for if there had been no mistakes in the marriages, the divorce habit would not be so prevalent.

It is a solemn fact that too many couples are unevenly yoked together in what is termed the holy bonds of matrimony. More care is taken in these times in mating the lower animals for the propagation of the species than is taken in mating human beings for the propagation of man. Persons of temperaments as opposite as the antipodes are joined together, only to war with each other continually. Parents will allow their daughters to marry anything in the shape of a man, providing he has money; other parents do not take their daughters into their confidence and teach them the solemn duties and relations of the marriage state. The law permits those of certain ages to marry, regardless of their physical condition, and woe's they may bring upon their posterity. Then this is a fast age; parents seem to have turned their boys and girls loose, and the children have taken to the wild bunch and often are compelled to marry to hide their shame. Another condition of the fast age is, either one or both the spouses have the extravagant habit; live beyond their means, which sooner or later will cause the devil to come into their way and separation follows. The extravagance of many wives drive husbands to crime or separation; often the wife will spend more than her husband can make; involves him in debt; to rid himself of the spendthrift he either deserts her or commits suicide, or to keep her in funds to spend commits crime to get money for her to spend, and ends his days in a felon's cell. Often the husband is a profligate; spends what means he has without thought of the morrow. Often he is nothing more than a moral pervert dragging his wife down to shame and disgrace and destitution. No the "doctors" have misnamed the evil; it is the evil of marriage and not the evil of divorce, and the divorce court is the only legal means of setting aside the marriage relations, which is a veritable hell, and bequeathing to society a race of criminals, diseased humanity both physically and morally, and a race that will rise up and curse their progenitors.

To cure the evil, let the ministers and magistrates refuse to join in the holy bonds of matrimony those that are unfit from any condition of mind or body, temperament or habit for the married state. Let the parents love their sons and daughters into their confidence and teach them the solemn conditions of the married state. Let the family physician stand as a guard over those who have entrusted their health and happiness to his care and let him have the professional manhood to warn parents of impending dangers. Teach the young men and young women that there is more in the marrying relation than sentiment. Let legislators quit politics and cunning political chicanery and legislate for humanity; provide laws against imbeciles, drunkards, moral perverts and putrid diseases from entering the married state. Let the minister preach purity in the lives of his members and their households, direct to higher state of humanity, and preach less of church doctrine. If these things are done, then and not until then will the divorce mill cease to grind, and until these things are done the divorce mill must keep grinding for the benefit of humanity.

Saw Him First.

About the year 1707 William Penn became heavily involved in a lawsuit, and the author of a recent biography, entitled "Quaker and Courtier," says that he was greatly in fear—under the laws of the day—of being arrested. Many notable personages were in the same plight, but no other, it is believed, resorted to Penn's expedient in meeting the situation.

In the door of his London house he had a peeping hole made, through which he could see any person who came to him. A creditor one day sent in his name, and having been made to wait more than a reasonable time, knocked for the servant and asked him:

"Will your master see me?"
"Friend, he has seen thee," replied the servant calmly, "and does not like the looks of thee."—Youth's Companion.

BORDEN, THE BANNER BRYAN COUNTY.

Dallas News.

Democratic newspapers all over the country have been making much ado over the fact that Zapata County, Tex., had proven to be the banner Republican County of the United States by casting exactly 424 votes solidly for each of the Republican nominees of all other parties, and that it did this notwithstanding only 296 poll tax receipts had been issued in the county, payment of poll taxes being a prerequisite to voting, except one under 21 or over 60 on January 1, the second preceding date of the election.

It seems to have been overlooked, however, that Texas also captured the Democratic banner, or rather the Bryan banner. Mr. Bryan received 180 votes in Borden County, of which Gall is the county seat, and other candidates for the Presidency none. How is that for condensed milk of human kindness? Other Democratic nominees did not get off without a scratch. Col. Simpson, the Republican nominee for Lieutenant Governor, got two votes, and Mr. Atwell, the Republican nominee for Attorney General, got one vote. It will be seen, therefore, that while Mr. Atwell received only one-fourth as many votes as Col. Simpson, he ran ahead of the ticket.

But Borden is the banner Bryan county. Bully for Borden! Its ratio of votes to poll tax receipts, however, is not so great as is that of Zapata County. Zapata cast more than two votes for each poll tax receipt. Borden issued 259 poll tax receipts and cast 180 votes for Mr. Bryan.

Now, Duval County has a habit of going nearly all one way in the Democratic primaries, and in July it gave Campbell for Governor 4 votes and his opponent 514 votes it gave Davidson for Attorney General 2 votes and his opponent 618. Time seems to have reconciled its people to Campbell and Davidson. In the recent general election it made a nice division between the Democratic and Republican parties giving 700 votes to each of the nominees of the former and 519 to the nominees of the latter, except in the case of the Presidency and Congress. Mr. Bryan received 692 votes and Judge Taft 585; Mr. Garner (for Congress) 787 and Mr. Moore 540. The nominees of other parties were uniformly goose-egged.

Only one Duvalian voted on the proposed constitutional amendments. He voted for the school amendment and against both the precinct and salaries amendments, which shows that he is somewhat versed in the art of picking winners.

The deficit in the postoffice department at Washington for the past year was $16,873,222, or about 20 cents per head for every man, woman and child of the 90,000,000 population of the United States. One reason for this is the fact that the government furnishes envelopes, stamps, prints and delivers them to its customers for a much less price than regular dealers can buy the plain envelope for at the mills where they are made. Only last week Uncle Samuel took orders from large business concerns in this city alone for something in the neighborhood of 150,000 two-cent stamped envelopes.

Mineral Wells is getting down to brass tacks. It has cut the salary of the mayor $50 per month.—Hall County Herald.

And now if Mineral Wells is down to brass tacks when her mayor's salary is reduced to fifty dollars per month, where is Wichita Falls whose mayor receives only $10 per annum? Will Brother Johnson please solve the problem?

It is said that Governor Campbell has refused to place his official signature to the Commissions of certain officers elected or re-elected at the recent election for the reason that these officers fail or refuse to enforce the law. If this is true, and Governor Campbell only be firm in this matter, it will not be a great while until Texas will have for her officers men who will do their duty.

If the farmers in cotton producing states want to reduce the acreage and hereby increase the price of the fleecy staple, there is no quicker way to accomplish that end than to petition our next legislature to enact a compulsory education law. When the time comes that the farmer who raises cotton will have to do all the chopping out of the crop himself in the spring, and pick it in the fall while his children are at school, he will not be able to cultivate and market quite so large a crop, but the law of supply and demand will give him a better price for the amount he does raise, and the children will get what is their due—a common school education.

Representative E. C. Gaines of Comanche County, has prepared and intends to introduce during the session of the next legislature a bill providing for an Agricultural and Mechanical College in each Congressional district—sixteen in all, to be branches of the A. & M. College at College Station. This, it occurs to the Times, is spreading it on pretty tolerably thick in the way of establishing A. & M. Colleges.

The shoppers, merchants and their sales people are well pleased with the success of the early Christmas shopping movement here. The merchants generally report that the Christmas shopping has begun a full two weeks earlier than usual and their sales have been most satisfactory.

Coffee With a Character to It

Our Paul Revere Coffee has a character to it that makes it the favorite of every discriminating coffee user after one trial. This character is the result of great care in the selection of the raw coffee's and the final blending and roasting. In fact the last two processes are extremely delicate when it comes to producing coffee's. Too much or too little produce an unpleasant taste, while after the blending is completed a little over roasting or not enough will make the coffee taste either raw or burned, but our Paul Revere has the character which makes it the kind you like.

Farm Stock.
(Farm and Ranch.)
Give your animals plenty of elbow room in the stables. Get the right seed and make the land right for the seed. Have you decided what you are going to plant next year? The best of farms that have no live-stock will soon run down. If you don't know about a balanced ration you should find out. A good pasture is necessary for cheap production of good pork. Build up the country roads and decrease the wear and tear on your wagon. While many find it profitable to raise Johnson grass hay, others find it better to kill it and substitute other crops.

A hog that has a good grazing place is not so subject to disease as one kept in a close pen.

Cotton is a very uncertain crop at best, so why not plant some other crops in connection with it?

Animals that receive good care almost without exception look well, work well and bring good prices.

Good hogs are capacious consumers of things on the farm, and are as profitable as the intelligence of the owner will permit.

The value of shade trees around the home, in the horse and cow lots, in pastures and around watering places should be ever borne in mind.

A good strong winter oat pasture is a blessing that needs no disguise. The usual results of this are yellow butter, foaming milk and fat cattle.

A diseased cow may cause sickness among many people and perhaps death. It would be well to have a competent veterinarian look over your sick stock.

The man who fails to select seed corn in the field according to the type suited to his farm is either a frequent buyer of seed corn or what is worse, a chronic corn buyer.

Hog-killing time is on now. If you have been keeping your smokehouse in Kansas City or some other place, just try it at home this year. It might be well to buy one side of bacon or one ham put up by your former packers and compare it with your own. This will satisfy you that you should kill your own hogs.

When alfalfa hay is thrown for the other stock, and the leaves shatter, it is well to save them as they are fine for the fowls. Dampen them a few hours before feeding and they will green up as in life.

The Subalter's Retort.

Sir Ian Hamilton, who recently visited the States to visit a rather large depot of which a young officer was in command. Going through certain papers General Hamilton found that these were not quite in order, and at last said rather wearily to the officer: "You know this sort of thing will not do at all. What do you suppose your brains were given you for?" "I am sure I don't know, General," was the cheerful reply. "Since I came here I have worked sixteen hours a day and more. I have acted as mule teamster, porter, van guard, supply clerk, station master, orderly, room clerk, typist and a dozen other things. I think if I had not been endowed with brains I might have managed to take on two or three more jobs as well, but as it is I must admit I am somewhat handicapped." Sir Ian Hamilton was forced to laugh, and shortly after the young officer found himself attached to the general's personal staff.—Tit-Bits.

Another Texas Scandal.

A Chronicle subscriber writes to inquire if the editor had heard that Governor Bob Taylor had publicly stated from the platform, and confirmed the report while recently in Colorado City, that James S. Hogg had told Governor Sayers that he overheard Joe Bailey tell Charley Culbertson that Roosevelt had intimated to his cabinet that he had understood from the secretary of war that the attorney general of Texas, in the presence of Charles N. Haskell of Oklahoma, heard from the lips of Governor Lanham that the Governor of North Carolina had said to the governor of South Carolina that in a conversation which he had with the mayor of New York the latter stated to the former that he was reliably informed that William Jennings Bryan had heard William Randolph Hearst tell W. G. (Bill) Sterrett that Grover Cleveland had understood from Judge Parker that farmer Shaw said Aunt Lucinda Rainwater had heard Puss Peavinc tell Jeema regardless of the people all over Mitchell and surrounding counties, that it takes more to keep a man and wife and seven children than I thought it did.—Houston Chronicle.

OF INTEREST TO WOMEN

The Haughty Head Waitresses.
"Before taking a course in Connecticut 'country hotels,'" said the New York woman, "I had believed that the haughtiest creature on earth was the 'forelady' in department store millinery and suit departments. Anyhow, she was about the only person I came in contact with who could make me cringe. But my travels in Connecticut have taught me that even the 'forelady' is very insignificant compared with the head waitress in New England hotel dining room. When she beckons, 'This way, please,' I follow as submissively as a child in pinafores and when having seated me in the most uncomfortable place she can find she stations herself opposite, coolly looking me up and down, I will completely. Experience has taught me how to deal with the lordliest of New York waiters, but before this female embodiment of power and aristocracy I am helpless. I become ashamed—of what I do not know, but ashamed I am—and awkward. 'I can not order, I can not eat what I do order. I nearly drop my knife and fork. The steady gaze of the head waitress has paralyzed me. She has brought it home to me what worm I am. I leave the table still hungry. After a succession of meals nibbled at under the eye of the head waitress I am nearly famished, and the first thing I shall do after reaching New York is to eat a good dinner in a restaurant where I am not afraid."

Jobs Men Yield to Women.
William Hurd, in December Every-body's:
Today in the stogy factories of Pittsburg there are 2,211 women and only 463 men. And in three particularly large "trust" factories, in which the last word is cheap, quick production has been spoken, there are 1,925 women and exactly ten men.
On the one hand there is the male hand stogy maker. He just takes tobacco leaves and with his own hands, without the help of machines or even of tools (except knife and clip), constructs, all by himself, a complete smoke. It took him a long time to learn how to do that. On the other hand, the most nearly perfected type of the team and machine process, which is taking the place, and which makes of his single, complete operation a triple one.
The girl who begins the process is not a stogy maker at all. She is only a "bunch breaker." With the help of her machine she gives the inside filler leaves of the stogy their first outside covering, the "blinder." The second outside covering, the wrapper, is still to be put on.
Then the half-dressed stogies, instead of being "shaped" deftly and delicately by the finger tips of a craftsman, are crushed and squeezed into form by "molds" and "pressed."
The finishing touches are put on by a most ingenious machine called a "suction table." It is full of little holes through which currents of air, sucked downward, straighten out the tobacco leaf and hold it taut and flat while a die, descending, cuts it into exactly the right size. The "suction table" (Mr. Ruskin would have called it a vampire) sucks the last few drops of blood from the art and craft of stogy making. The girl at the "suction table" takes the piece of tobacco designed for her by the machine and "rolls" it around the half finished stogy, giving it its "wrapper" and thus completing it.
Two girls and three machines have now done what one man did before. They haven't done it so well, but they have done it faster and cheaper. And there you have a little social revolution happening before your eyes. Women have driven men into a corner in the stogy trade in Pittsburg and they have done it through their natural affinity with the most modern, the most mechanical and automatic, the most simplified and cheapened factory process.

Coral Brooches.
The girl who has an old-fashioned coral brooch is fortunate. These are in the height of fashion this winter and they so singularly well with the old world habit of lace and what is now known as the portrait stocks of black satin wrapped around the neck. If the brooch is in the form of a ruyshay such the better. Those with old brooches are especially lovely.
Girls who wear the portrait stocks of satin and large loose Jabots of lace are also adding their baby necklaces of cut coral.—New York Times.

PROSPERITY AT NEWCASTLE
Did you ask how we are getting along? Well, we should say fine. With the post office coming our way, the Brazos bridge under construction, material on the ground for another telephone exchange and the big steam propelled self-dumping cages bringing out the "black diamond" at Shaft No. 2, we must say the prospects are indeed flattering for the new town.

Newcastle is a little over two months old. Fortune has smiled on this once desert spot and now our hundreds of people point the finger of pride to numerous enterprises. Activity is evidenced on every hand and a general "noise" of prosperity can be heard in the buzz of the saw and ring of the hammer. The boom will continue until Newcastle can stand on her paved streets and point the finger of pride to her sky scraping buildings and sing praises of her good citizenship when integrity and virtue are held in one esteem.

VICTIMS OF NEGLECT.

If You Ignore the Warnings Sent up by Ailing Kidneys You are on the Straight Road to Bright's Disease.

When anything is wrong in the kidneys the symptoms are manifest from the top of your head to the sole of your feet.

The following are some of them: Headache, dizzy spells, sluggish brain, drowsiness, dark rings and floating specks before the eyes, sallow skin, bad breath, heartburn, palpitation of the heart, sour stomach, disorder in the urine, backache, weak pulse, constipated or irregular bowels, aching at the knees, feverishness in the feet.

Prickly Ash Bitters is the right medicine for such symptoms; pre-eminently a kidney tonic, system cleanser and regulator. It contains all the necessary properties of a successful kidney medicine in addition to its admirable influence in strengthening and regulating the stomach, liver and bowels.

Prickly Ash Bitters begins right by cleansing the bladder and bowels—thereby driving out the impurities which started all the trouble. After this has been accomplished the healing and restorative element in the medicine will continue the good work, building up anew the weakened kidneys, stimulating the liver to greater activity, purifying the blood, and extending its restorative influence to every part of the body. As a result the appetite and digestion improve, the eyes are brighter, the strength returns, the hollow cheeks fill out, the complexion loses that sallow muddy cast, giving place to a clear skin and the ruddy glow of health.

Much depends on the promptness with which the treatment is commenced. Prickly Ash Bitters has cured many advanced cases that would not yield to other remedies, but it must be remembered that there is a stage in kidney disease beyond which no power on earth can save the patient. Take Warning! If you suspect anything wrong with your kidneys, begin treatment at once. It is your best hope of a cure.

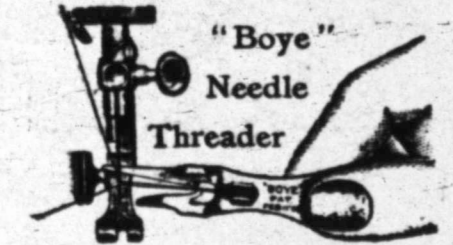

L. C. Zachery, Lodi, Tex., says: "I never tried anything like Prickly Ash Bitters before in my life. It does its work almost in a night. I am now telling all my friends about your great remedy and all who try it speak of the splendid results. It has done me so much good that I will never again be without it in my house."

The Hen is a Bird.

Come gentle reader, let us consider the case of the lowly but victorious hen. Her exact status before the American eagle is clearly to her credit, and her example of industry and benevolent activity is surely inspiring.

To begin with the hen sharpens in our minds that there are in these United States 232,958,005 of her, not counting retired veterans, immature pullets, and young chicks. In her collective status, the hen is valued at $70,000,000, and the entire number of eggs she lays would, if divided, allow 203 eggs to each inhabitant of this fair land—man, woman and child! The yearly product of the hen's industry weighs more than the combined output of dressed pork, beef, tallow and sausage—more by 100,000 tons.

If this isn't a fine showing we would like to know what would constitute one. It demonstrates that the hen is strictly attentive to business and, like the little busy bee, neglects not to improve each shining hour. It makes plain the fact that the hen is not unusually concerned about the length of her work days nor the frequency of recesses from steady employment.

The hen is very domestic. There are no woman's clubs in her domain; evidently, neither do such questions as those usually agitating the minds of the feminine section of humanity invade the peace and calm of the barnyard. In the life of the hen there is an abundance of dignity, and when she retires at eventide it must be with a conscious void of offense and mind at ease with the world.

Notwithstanding the fact that the hen does all this work, however, and accomplishes the wonderful good we herein suggest, the roosters do all the crowing and by far the greater part of the strutting. That's manlike, however, and it should fool no one as to the truth of the situation.—Washington Herald.

Yes, the hen is a bird—and so is the rooster, and for that matter the crow belongs to ornithology, though he gets into the gastronomic limelight only at post-election banquets, and is there more enjoyed in the observance than in the process of absorption. The turkey, male or female, is also a bird, and engages our attention and much of our space on Thanksgiving Day, however, the election has gone and on Christmas.

But as shown by the Washington contemporary the hen is the boss of birds as a prosperity-producer—and panic-resister. She pioneered old Missouri before the advent of the mysterious Stranger, eclipsing annually the output of the Joplin zinc and lead district and putting to shame the famous achievements of the republican executive contributions to put the fixin's on Gurnshaw Bill and Colonel Dave Ball, of the classic shades of old Pike. She has often been the salvation of Bleeding Kansas after the ravage of the hopper grass left nothing but Pefferian whisks to illumine the miles and miles of desolate waste. What she has done for Texas is simply beyond computation or comparison—and that is going some when you come to estimate the achievements in the way of taxation schemes by "Intangible Bill" Williams, "Gross Receipts" Kennedy and "Full Rendition" Campbell.

Sure, the hen is a bird—the very bird of birds—the friend and helpmeet of the farmer, the joy of the housewife and the solace of the preacher—though, it must be admitted that it is mostly the sedate young roosters that, at the synods and quarterly conferences, enter the ministry. Here, it is to be remarked, the Herald is hardly fair to the rooster. The rooster is manlike in other respects than those suggested. He is, like other husbands, afraid to do much crowing or strutting until a wife does something worth while. Then, of course, he has the conjugal permission to turn all throats loose. Generally, it transpires that several of his multiplicity of wives have done something worth while at the same time. The old Mormon is too smart to make invidious distinction and the consequence is that he transforms himself into barnyard bandmaster. It must be confessed, however, that he imitates some husbands by shouting in a way to convey the idea that he and not his wives, has just laid a crate of eggs. Long live the hen. Also the rooster.—Paris Advocate.

RAILROAD NOTES.

If it is true, as rumored, that the Pennsylvania's pension rules are to be amended to the extent of reducing the age limit for retirement from 70 to 65 years, it means that a number of men will be out of active service earlier than they have expected.

The Illinois Central and Yazoo and Mississippi Valley will obey, under protest, the order of the Mississippi railroad commission and make specified freight rates into Gulfport from Mississippi, and will appeal to the courts for judicial determination of the questions involved.

There will be a joint conference in St. Louis on December 15 of the Southwestern tariff committee, the Mexican lines, the steamship lines and the New Orleans terminal lines, the principal topic slated for discussion being proportional rates from Galveston points to Mexico.

California has already overwhelmingly surpassed her last year's record to the output of fresh fruit shipped to the East. Up to November 14 of last year the season's record of shipments was 7401 carloads. This season, up to the same date, the total was 12,638 carload so far many tons to the car.

The Orient bridge across Pease river is now complete and the first train crossed over it yesterday at noon. Chillicothe will now enjoy through service to the north on this new trunk line, and this, coupled with her being situated on the Fort Worth and Denver, makes the city's future seem bright.

Weed killing on the Oregon Short Line has been made successful by the use of salt water, at a cost of $18.96 a mile. In one locality on a stretch of more than seventeen miles, west of Oregon, the ground was covered twelve times, more than 10,000 gallons being used. On the Utah division 894,600 gallons were required for 162 miles of road.

In educating the heads of departments on his lines E. H. Harriman has been following original plans. In addition to the practice of other roads of having meetings for decisions at stated periods, he has been sending his operating officials over the lines of other companies to pick up new ideas. In this way many valuable suggestions for improvements have been obtained.

The Harriman interests have placed orders for a general freight equipment valued at $1,250,000 for the Oregon Railway and Navigation company. The new order consists of 1000 fifty-ton box cars, and the deliveries will begin some time in January. This addition to the rolling stock of the company is exclusive of the $2,000,000 requisition which was honored about two months ago.

Concentrator in the Wichita Mountains

CACHE, Okla., Dec. 12.—That the problem of mining in the Wichita mountains has been solved and that, with the use of the recently installed concentrator for low grade ores, mining processes will be so completely revolutionized that the poorest ores obtained from mines in the Wichita can be worked with profit is the belief of mining enthusiasts who have this season begun renewed efforts to wrest from the southwest her hidden treasures.

The new concentrator machinery which was recently installed near Mt. Sheridan made a most successful test run for several days, when a shaft was broken, necessitating a lay up for repairs, but they are now running steadily again.

It is known as the Horton process and is backed by Kansas City capitalists with whom are associated T. B. Newton, S. P. Newton, S. P. Isles, Jas. Utley and other local men.

C. M. Slaughter has visited the plant and is highly enthusiastic.

He declares that $6.00 can be concentrated at a big profit and that in the neighborhood of the mill there are thousands of acres of low grade ore. A big shipment of concentrates has gone to El Paso for final treatment and all the miners are waiting expectantly for the returns that will mean so much to them.

INVENTIONS THAT ARE CERTAIN

(Thomas A. Edison in New York Times).

The next era will mark the most wonderful advance in science and invention that the world has ever known or hoped for. So vast will that advance be that we can now have scarcely any conception of its scope, but already a great many of the inventions of the future are assured. It is only of those which I regard as practical certainties that I speak here.

First—Within the next twenty or thirty years—and it will start within the next two or three—concrete architecture will take enormous strides forward; the art of molding concrete will be reduced to a science of perfection and what is equally important, of cheapness; there will rise up a large number of gifted architects, and through their efforts cities and towns will spring up in this country beside which Turner's picture of ancient Rome and Carthage will pale into nothingness and the buildings of the Columbian exposition will appear common. But great expense will not attend this; it will be done so that the poor will be able to enjoy houses more beautiful than the rich now aspire to, and the man earning $1.50 a day, with a family to support, will be better housed than the man of today who is earning $10.

Second—Moving picture machines will be so perfected that the characters will not only move, but will speak, and all the accessories and effects of the stage will be faithfully produced on the living picture stage. This, of course, will not be done as well as on the regular stage, but its standard will approach very near to that, and the fact that such entertainment will be furnished for 5 cents will draw vast numbers of the working classes. The result will be that the masses will have the advantage of the moral of good drama, they will find an inexpensive and improving way of spending the evening, and the death knell of the saloon will be sounded.

Third—In perhaps fifteen or twenty years—depending on the financial condition of the country—the locomotive will pass almost altogether out of use, and all our main trunk railways will be operated by electricity.

Fourth—A new fertilizer will spring into existence, containing a large percentage of nitrogen. This will be drawn from the air by electricity, and will be used to increase the arability of the land. Even now this is done to a large extent in Sweden.

Fifth—All our water power will be utilized by electricity to an extent now almost unthought of, and will be used with great advantage, both industrially and for railroads.

Sixth—A successful aerial navigation will be established—perhaps for mails—and will achieve a sound, practical working basis.

Seventh—We shall be able to protect ourselves against environment by the use of serums and things of that sort so that the general state of health will improve and the average span of life will increase by a large percentage. The grand fight which is being made against tuberculosis and cancer will reach a successful culmination and those diseases will be entirely mastered.

Eighth—A new force in nature, of some sort or other, will be discovered by which many things not now understood will be explained. We unfortunately have only five senses; if we had eight we'd know more.

Ninth—We will realize the possibilities of our coal supplies better, and will learn how to utilize them so that 90 per cent. of the efficiency will not be thrown away, as it is today.

Finally, let it be said, hardly any piece of machinery now manufactured is more than 10 per cent perfect. As the years go on this will be improved upon tremendously; more automatic machinery will be devised, and articles of comfort and luxury will be produced in enormous numbers at such small cost that all classes will be able to enjoy the benefits of them.

These are some of the inventions which the world is awaiting which it is sure of seeing realized. Just how they will be realized is what the inventors are working now to determine.

Clerical Advice.

A suffragette sneered at Mrs. Humphrey Ward's queer logic the other day. "I knew the prolix lady was against votes for women," she said. "At a luncheon of suffragettes in New York, by means of a parable she pointed out her belief that the immediate home circle, not the distant polling booth or senate chamber, was the true feminine sphere of usefulness. We didn't applaud, I assure you."

"She said an aged Scot told his minister that he was going to make a pilgrimage to the Holy Land. "And while I'm there," said the pilgrim complacently, "I'll read the Ten Commandments aloud from the top of Mount Sinai."

"Saunders," said the minister, "take my advice. Bide at home and keep them."—Tit-Bits.

The Prince of Peace.

All the old troublous questions of the origin and destination of the Gall-lee Carpenter have passed. All the medieval worriment in discriminating between human and divine has gone all the puzzled inquiry into the miraculous. No longer is mankind stirred over the nonessential. Theories of Him fade away, dogmas on His gentleness has conquered. His influence continues and widens. Slowly brightening, the gleam that touched Him spreads through the world. His spirit moves on the face of civilization, and makes it kindlier every generation. The touch of His hand is on the grief-stricken. Nurse, physician, and nun are the messengers of His teaching. The vestal fires burned out, but never the fires of His spirit, which answer each other from mountain top to mountain top across the continents. And deep in the heart of the people they make family life sweeter, and ease the bitterness of failure and ignorance and all life's incompleteness. That wonder working personality was never so potent as today—so insistent and tenderly sure. Under a thousand forms, creeds and names, men serve Him. And however far we go in the conquest of nature, identifying the North Pole, climbing the sky, prying open electrical forces, mapping out the subliminal, diminishing sin, disease, war, poverty, ignorance—always in the advance will be that gracious figure of the Sinless One, who showed Love as the rule of life. One Perfect Man—ardent and gentle—the race will never tire of Him.—Collier's Weekly.

Lincoln Birthday Celebration.

On the 12th of the forthcoming February the nation will celebrate Abraham Lincoln's centenary. The event will doubtless be a memorable one both for the number and character of celebrations arranged in honor of the man who, in the opinion of many, is the most representative American the country ever produced.

It is doubtful if there are a people anywhere who honor and respect Lincoln more than the people of Oklahoma. Our cosmopolitan citizenship, gathered from the four corners of the universe, is perhaps more typically American than any other state boasts and, naturally, shares a uniformly high admiration for the humble son of Kentucky who, starting with nothing, worked his way to the presidency and afterward saved the union.

The method in vogue of celebrating events of this nature is the banquet. The after-dinner speaking program is better designed to admit of studying the vicissitudes, recounting the achievements and drawing inspirations from the same than any other means known or followed.

Already three organizations or voluntary associations in the state are preparing to celebrate the Lincoln centenary. One of the number is the republican state committee, a partisan organization.

It is neither the province or purpose of The Oklahoman to suggest to this organization what course it should pursue upon any occasion, particularly in a matter animated by partisan considerations, and yet at the risk of protruding our unwelcome nose into a matter where we may get it deservedly tweaked, we cannot help from saying that we regret to see this occasion seized upon for a partisan purpose.

The memory of Lincoln is no longer sacred in republican precincts only. The glory of his genius and achievement extends to every broad-minded and patriotic American citizen, democrat and republican alike. No man who has ever studied Lincoln's life work, no matter what his political beliefs may be, can possibly fail of doing him honor in equal degree with the stoutest republican partisan; for he was an American in all things—and a partisan but incidentally.

In celebrating his memory partisanship should be laid aside. How much more fitting it would be; how much more in keeping with the spirit of Lincoln, chief among whose characteristics was his ability to compromise all difficulties, if all the organizations now planning the celebration of the Lincoln centenary were able to get together and arrange for but one affair which necessarily would be more successful, more profitable and more elaborate than three separate celebrations and which also would be the Lincoln way of doing the thing? Let us hope that the Lincoln spirit is not overlooked in commemorating his memory.—Daily Oklahoman.

The Home of Good Clothes. IF ANYBODY asked you what kind of clothes you want, you'd say, Good Clothes, and nothing else, that's your rule for clothes isn't it? It's ours, too, as sellers, we make a specialty of quality; we aim to make high quality higher; to put more and more value and merit into each range, to improve the goods in every way. Not merely that we aim always at higher methods of dealing, of accommodation of satisfaction giving, to make it more and more a pleasure to you to come here, we have the policy, the store, the organization, the fixed purpose to do things exactly right; better each day if we can. We shall have eventually, the trade of every man who wants good clothes and nothing else. We'll show better clothes than even the best of special tailors, except possibly, two or three in the whole country. But we are not infallible; except in this. That when we do make a mistake, we are always ready to correct it as fully as we can. We make a specialty of Hart, Schaffner & Marx Clothes because they are better than any other we know. Most perfectly fit our ideas as here expressed. They are nothing else than Good Clothes; as profitable for you to buy as to us to sell.
