WICHITA FALLS, TEXAS, TUESDAY MARCH 2, 1909

NUMBER 252

THE FIRE LIMITS ARE EXTENDED

COUNCIL PASSES ORDINANCE EXTENDING AREA EMBRACED IN THE FIRE LIMITS.

NEW OFFICERS SELECTED

A. J. Humphries is Appointed Night Watchman and J. A. Staley Night Policeman.

At the regular monthly meeting of the city council last night Andrew J. Humphries was appointed night watchman and J. A. Staley night policeman to succeed Tom Pickett and Tom Arthur. Humphries' salary was fixed at $25 per month in addition to which he will collect fees for his services as a night watchman. Staley's salary was fixed at $65 per month.

These appointments were announced after the council had gone into executive session, before which Officers Arthur and Humphries appeared. Before the council went into executive session Mr. Arthur stated that he intended to make a statement for the purpose of exonerating himself and Mr. Pickett from the complaint that they had neglected to perform their duties in that on one occasion he (Arthur) had been found asleep at the city hall during his hours for duty and that Mr. Pickett could not be found.

Mr. Arthur said that on that occasion Mr. Pickett had gone to the meat market to get meat to take to his home for the breakfast of the city prisoners and that he himself had just come into the city hall after a long walk over the city and had sat down to rest his limbs. He said that he was dozing, but that he was not asleep. Mr. Arthur further stated that he had intended to resign yesterday, but that since the charges had been made he wanted to be given a hearing. As the session was executive, a detailed account of the proceedings cannot be published.

Upon a motion, the secretary was authorized to give an order payable to I. H. Roberts for the sum of $102.50. This is a balance due Mr. Roberts for the construction of the drain from Crescent Lake, for which a number of property owners made bond to pay the cost. The city attorney was authorized to take action to collect the same from the signers of the bond.

The salary of City Engineer L. C. Hinckley was reduced from $125 to $100 per month at Mr. Hinckley's request. Mr. Hinckley had been tendered an increase in salary if he would accept additional duties as inspector of plumbing, wiring and gas fitting, requiring all of his time if he accepted. He stated that the acceptance of this work would be at a pecuniary loss to himself and accordingly his request was granted and his salary again reduced to its former figure.

The reports of the city treasurer, tax collector and engineer were received and approved.

An ordinance was adopted amending and extending the fire limits, to be comprised of the territory embraced in the following described limits: Beginning at the intersection of the Fort Worth and Denver tracks and Sixth street; thence in a westerly direction along Sixth street, covering blocks 153 and 152; to the alley in block 151; thence south along said alley, crossing blocks 151, 164, 175 and 182, to the intersection of Tenth street; thence east along Tenth street, crossing blocks 182 and 181, to the intersection of Michigan avenue; thence north on Michigan avenue to the Fort Worth and Denver tracks; thence along the Fort Worth and Denver tracks to the place of beginning.

MRS. POOL DIES AS RESULT OF BURNS

Mrs. Virgil Pool, who was horribly burned over a month ago at her home about twelve miles northeast of the city, died this morning and her body will be brought here tomorrow for burial in the Riverside cemetery.

An Explanation.

Officers Arthur and Pickett tendered their resignations to the city council at its meeting yesterday.

An executive session was held to act on the matter of accepting the resignations of these two officers, but just what transpired the Times is unable to say. Mr. Arthur says he was not asleep, as charged before the council at a previous executive session, and says that he spoke to the party who came to the city hall, and further declares that Officer Pickett could have been found had the party who claimed to have been looking really desired to find him. Mr. Arthur says that he went before the council and made a statement of the foregoing facts and that his explanation was accepted.

Officer Arthur, on behalf of himself and Officer Pickett says that the charges as briefly outlined in a recent issue of the Times are erroneous and not true to the facts in the case and that after his explanation of the matter; these charges were withdrawn and that if the council had known the real facts in the case the charges would not have been made.

Mr. Pickett to Continue as Watchman.

Tom Pickett authorizes the statement that he did not resign from the city police force, but that he was fired. Mr. Pickett, however, will continue to serve his patrons as night watchman and would appreciate the continuance of your patronage.

TELL ABOUT CONFERENCE

Witnesses Tell Details of Meeting With Colonel Cooper a Few Hours Before the Tragedy.

By Associated Press. Nashville, Tenn., Mar. 2.—It was almost 10 o'clock when the trial of the Coopers and Sharp for the killing of Senator Carmack was resumed here today.

William Setzer, assistant superintendent at the city workhouse, who said that he was an expert in fire arms, showed that the chambers of Carmack's pistol could only be turned by pulling the trigger. This flatly contradicts the testimony of S. J. Benning, who yesterday swore that he saw Carmack testing the revolver a few minutes before the tragedy by whirling the cylinder with his finger.

Dr. Eyo testified that any of the wounds described by Dr. Glasgow, as brought out in an autopsy of the body, would have proven fatal. Dr. Eyo said that if the wound in Robin Cooper's neck had gone half an inch deeper it would have proven fatal.

Adjutant General Brown was called to the stand and detailed a conference in Bradford's office, where Cooper agreed not to send a note to Carmack and where Bradford said he would endeavor to patch up the trouble.

Judge James Bradford followed General Brown on the stand and detailed a conference in his office at 3 o'clock on the day of the tragedy, just as Colonel Cooper and General Brown had done. He told of the result and how the colonel and Robin started for the governor's mansion and also how Col. Cooper, after the shooting, had called him by phone and said: "Carmack shot Robin and Robin killed Carmack."

GOVERNOR'S VIEWS ARE NOT FAVORED

LITTLE CHANCE THAT PLATFORM MEASURES WILL BE TAKEN UP AT REGULAR SESSION.

AN UNFAVORABLE REPORT is Made By Senate Committee on Anti-Racing Bill—Racing May Be Permitted Under Regulations.

Texas News Service Special. Austin, Mar. 2.—The "house" having recessed yesterday, today is under a suspension of the rules when members may take up bills by a majority vote.

The first action today resulted in the killing of Briscoe's bill providing for a commissioner of highways and appropriating five thousand dollars for that purpose.

The house engrossed a bill requiring that railroads provide suitable sheds for the protection of their workmen.

The anti-racing bill, which passed the house, was today reported by the senate committee unfavorably, the pari mutuel amendment getting a majority until the bill was laid upon the desk of the senators. The date to consider it has not yet been fixed.

The house committee on private corporations today reported unfavorably Ray's bill requiring different telephone companies to connect with each other. The senate bill placing telegraph and telephone companies under the jurisdiction of the railroad commission has been favorably reported and it is believed will come up tomorrow.

After hours of discussion, the Jennings bill abolishing the first and second degrees of murder, the house killed the bill by a vote of 63 to 38.

The committee appointed to hold an investigation of employment and the salaries of the house employees met this morning and decided to hold executive sessions, excepting newspaper men.

The committee will begin its labors tomorrow morning.

The members of both houses appear indifferent to the governor's declaration that he will force the consideration of the platform demands, the majority of the members believing that the end of the regular session is near and preferring to work on "pet" measures during the special session, when the salaries of the members is five dollars per day. The members believe that the governor will include his measures in the called session.

PRIZE FIGHTING UNDER THE BAN IN SPOKANE.

Special to the Times. Spokane, Wash., Mar. 2.—Prize fighting, in the guise of trials of skill, strength and endurance, received a trouncing that will put the game in Spokane on the shelf for at least three months when Mayor Herbert C. Moore officially recognized the Amateur Athletic Union, thus shutting out battles for purses or gate receipts within the city limits.

Everything had been arranged for a series of four-round fights, ranging from a battle for $1,000 between "Boomer" Weeks, a member of the local fire department, and Dr. B. F. Roller of Seattle, who recently deserted the mat to don the gloves, to scraps of the meat ticket variety, when Mayor Moore gum-shoed to town from Southern California and handed Ren H. Rice, chief of police, an order which had all the characteristics of a juicy lemon from the fighters' view point.

"Everything's off," quoth Chief Rice, who announced some time ago he would permit four-round contests, provided they are pulled off under the direction of recognized clubs, adding:

"The mayor has placed the boxing game where it belongs—a sport for pleasure and exercise. Any club complying with the Pacific-Northwest Association's rules can have boxing contests, but the participants must be amateur, boxing under amateur rules. This applies to every club in the city, including the Young Men's Christian Association. They all look alike to me."

Mayor Moore's announcement came as a surprise to the fighters and promoters, at least a dozen of whom traveled thousands of miles to get in on the ground floor. They say this is the first time in the history of the organization that the A. A. U. has been recognized by a city government.

Galveston, Tex., Mar. 2.—The Texas League managers adjourned at noon today until late this afternoon without accomplishing anything definite regarding the franchise muddle. It is expected that the meeting will last two days. The conference was executive and newspaper men were barred.

Following this morning's session, it was given out that the league has determined to be of only eight clubs, Austin or Galveston to be dropped. Galveston needs seven hundred dollars more to retain the franchise. Nothing has been done on the schedule.

Fishing Season Opens Early.

The warm, sunny days that have occurred recently have developed the fishing mania and it is not uncommon even this early to see some angler making for the country to try out his luck. The small boy is on hand, too, with his fishing pole and line, equipped with a bottle stopper for a float. The more sporty fishermen are out after the game fish, but the youngster has a piece of liver in his pocket and will be satisfied if he returns with a string of bull-head cats of any length from two inches up.

Stores that deal in supplies for fishermen are putting this class of merchandise to the front and some of the displays are excellent. Practically every device known to fishing in this part of the country is shown and the anglers may have their choice of a dozen kinds of an outfit, all warranted to be the best on the market.

PLANS OF THE PROS.

Sterling P. Strong Has Given Out a Statement.

Dallas News. State Superintendent Sterling P. Strong of the Texas Anti-Saloon league is in the city. He will remain until Sunday night. He says that realizing the unlikelihood that there will be submission of the State-wide prohibition matter by the present legislature, the league has only two things in hand. These are the enacting of legislation that will bring the enforcement of the laws in present local option territory and the securing of the control of the next legislature for prohibition over the State.

"We shall not again make the fight before the democratic primaries," said Mr. Strong. "That we tried, we won and the result is seen. Now we shall make the fight before the people in every district and in every precinct. We shall make it from this good day until the selection of the next legislature. The prohibition question will be the deciding issue and the standing of a man on this matter will mean his selection or defeat in every legislative district.

Will District the State.

"The State will in a few days be divided into five general districts, each with its superintendent. The superintendents will in each district determine the field workers needed there with the time and place for the precinct and district work. But we shall forward the movement rapidly. In every precinct and district there will be an organization, and the work of the organization will be the enlisting of votes. And the votes will be for the election of men favorable to the submitting of an amendment to the people giving State-wide prohibition and for the defeat of any man who opposes it.

"The action of the present legislature in disregarding the platform demand after the vote in the primaries means 25,000 votes added to our cause for the next contest. That's a pretty good start. We dare them to oppose us. It is no democratic primary fight now. It is the election of men who are ready to carry out the will of the people. We have been forced into this. Dallas will remain as general headquarters. There will not only be no letting up in the work, but on the other hand, a redoubling of forces and efforts. Men will no longer be neutral. They must come out for or against us and the aims we stand for.

To Enforce Local Option Law.

"As to the present legislature, we are now bending our energies for the enforcement of law in local option territory. Two laws have already been enacted with the emergency clause. These are the laws that tax frosty joints in prohibition territory, making the State tax $2000, and the county and city tax $1000 each, and the law that places a tax on cold storage houses where liquors are stored and from which solicitation is made in prohibition territory for the sale of liquors, the tax being $4000 for the State and $2000 each for the county and the city.

"There is now pending in the house and favorably reported in the senate a bill to make it a felony to carry on the occupation of a liquor seller in prohibition territory. It is not under this law necessary to prove a sale. The punishment is from two to five years in the penitentiary.

"Another law that is proposed and we believe will pass is that to prevent express companies from making delivery of a liquor package to a minor. It has passed the house and is favorably reported in the senate. It makes a fine from $25 to $100 for each offense. Others are being pushed. The enforcement of the present laws means a gaining for the prohibition movement."

WEATHER FORECAST.

For Wichita Falls and vicinity
—Tonight and Wednesday, fair and moderate temperature.

Many a slang word has become so aptly expressive that it passes into current phraseology as the correct thing. "Sand" is one of them, and the editor of "Success" uses it as a text for the following observations:

"Large numbers of people have brilliant qualities; they know a great deal, are well educated, but they lack sand, staying power. They can't stand by a proposition and see it through thick and thin to the end. They lack that dull dog grit which hangs on until they triumph or die. They lack the clinging ability that never lets go, no matter what comes. They work well when things go smoothly; they are fair-weather sailors, but are terrified in a storm, paralyzed in an emergency. Staying power is the final test of ability. Any ordinary merchant can do business in prosperous times when everybody has money, but it takes a great merchant to steer a big business through hard times, through panics, with short capital. It takes a man with staying qualities, with a cool, clear head to guide a business through commercial crises."—McKinney Democrat-Gazette.

The people of Charlesto, S. C., will have cause to celebrate on the 4th. With the inauguration of Taft, Roosevelt steps down and out, and with him, the negro, Dr. Crum, revenue collector at Charleston, also goes out. Crum, evidently, has received a hunch, and has decided very wisely to tender his resignation to a position he held only by the authority of the President of the United States, who placed him in that position merely because he guessed, and guessed rightly, that it would humiliate a proud people. The president is going to Africa. There is perhaps no significance in the choice of the country he has decided to visit, but should he decide to remain there the balance of his years, the white people of the South will shed no tears.

Fine Residences.
The Times desires to publish about three pages of half tone cuts of Wichita Falls homes. There are many really fine residences that have been built during the past year and there are many which, although not elaborately designed, are surrounded by fine trees and shrubbery and nice lawns. Already the Times has received about twenty photographs of Wichita Falls homes, and as many more are desired. The only cost entailed upon the owners of such homes as will appear in the big illustrated edition of the Times, which will be printed this month, will be the cost of the photo and the cut. If you have a good photo, the only cost will be for the cut. Come around to the Times office and see about it.

Notice.
Did you know that there are only twelve of those nice residence lots left in the Bellevue addition? If so, and you want one now is the time to get busy. They are nice and large, being 56x207 1/2 feet; prices, $325, $350 and $400 each, with a one-third cash payment, balance to suit purchaser. See Duncan, the real estate man, room 1, Kerr & Hursh hardware building.

The Milwaukee Journal wants Aunt Hetty Green to pick up a young man for herself. Oh, age would make no difference. She would make any of them skiddoo.

The senators, representatives, diplomats, journalists and naturalists who can escape the "Har's" brand for two days longer may count on a long period of epithetlessness.

This is the time of year when the town man resolves to plant a garden and the town hen determines to dig it up.

Some destructive persons take more pride in breaking records than in making them.

AMUSEMENTS

The District Leader.
San Antonio Gazette.
"What's the Use of Dreaming?"—when you can go to the Grand this evening or this afternoon and see one of the best musical shows that ever came down the Sanlone pike—"The District Leader," by Joseph E. Howard, author of "The Time, the Place and the Girl," "The Girl Question" and "A Stubborn Cinderella." But in this latter offering Mr. Howard has really outdone himself. His music has for me a peculiar fascination, and the "Dreaming" song never grows old, despite the fact that it is transplanted from "The Time, the Place and the Girl" show. It is a little musical portion of heart comfort and I love it.
The show is most certainly well worth while and anyone who misses it will have missed a real treat. Last night's house was a bumper one, and the advance sale for tonight indicates doings. Let's all go and see the show again, eh?"

Learning From Experience.
Wall Street Journal.
It seems likely that the State of Oklahoma will be able to furnish older States with some valuable object lessons. Its constitution was halled with a great flourish of trumpets. It had every possible improvement that any crank could devise. It was made on the plan of the Dingley tariff, where one man got what he wanted in return for conceding as much to everybody else. And its crowning glory was the guarantee of bank deposits.

The world did not stop rotating to admire the Oklahoma constitution, rather to the astonishment of its framers, but it is at least satisfactory that vicious experiments in government are being tried out where they will do relatively little harm. The rest of the United States would continue to attend to business if all the banks in Oklahoma shut their doors, and nobody outside that State would be much hurt, while the lesson in sane banking would be invaluable.

It is now admitted by enthusiasts on the guarantee of bank deposits that the plan is proving dangerous already. As might have been expected, banks have been started in Oklahoma, whether they were needed or not, by people with absolutely no banking experience. Any capital seems to be considered sufficient, and it is now proposed to insist upon a capital stock of at least $15,000, among other amendments to a preposterous law.

As might have been expected also, impossible rates of interest have been bid to secure deposits, and it is now proposed to forbid banks in the State from advertising that those deposits are "guaranteed by the State of Oklahoma." It seems difficult to see why the banks there should not so advertise. If their deposits are not guaranteed by the State, what is the guarantee worth? The guarantee fund is re-deposited with the guaranteed banks, and so suspicious are the State banks themselves of the solvency of each other that it has now become necessary to forbid them from keeping more than 10 per cent of the reserve fund with such national banks as are still trying to do business in Oklahoma.

(1) forbid them from keeping more than was predicted at the time the scheme originated—a prediction repeated over and over again when the plan was made the principal issue of the democratic campaign. A premium is placed upon reckless and dishonest banking, and banks which are properly conducted will have to pay the losses incurred by their fraudulent and ignorant competitors. The crisis has not come yet in Oklahoma, but that it cannot be far away is shown by the urgent efforts to amend the law providing for the guarantee of bank deposits. It is even beginning to dawn upon the statesmen of Oklahoma that there is a distinction between commercial banks and savings banks. This is a hopeful sign, at least, but it comes late in the day.

That the party now in power in Oklahoma is committed to the guarantee plan is obvious, and moreover it is prepared to go to any length to vindicate its policy. Its last and most reckless proceeding is the introduction of a bill to allow public funds to be deposited in the guaranteed banks without security to the State. It is an ingenious idea and insures that when the inevitable smash comes the State will be involved as well as every guaranteed bank.

Millinery Opening.

TWELVE SENATORS AND SEVENTY-SEVEN REPRESENTATIVES LEAVE CONGRESS MARCH 4.

OUT OF THE LIMELIGHT

Many Statesmen, Whose Names are Bywords in Newspapers, Including Foraker, Hepburn and Teller.

Washington, D. C., Mar. 2.—Twelve senators and seventy-seven representatives who are members of the present congress will be absent when the sixty-first congress assembles in special session on March 31. The re-election of Mr. Hopkins of Illinois and Mr. Stephenson of Wisconsin, not yet having taken place and their possible failure of election will augment the number of senate absentees to fourteen. These changes in the personnel of the senate and the house include many whose names are bywords to every reader of newspapers.

The seventy-seven representatives who retire on March 31, one, Mr. Hepburn of Iowa, has served twenty-two years in congress, and another, Mr. Sherman of New York, who becomes vice president, has served twenty years in the house. Mr. Cousins (Iowa) and Delegate Smith (Ariz.) have served sixteen years, while Jenkins (Wis.) Cooper (Texas), Overstreet (Ind.), Williams (Miss.) and Acheson (Pa.) each have served fourteen years.

Teller Refused Re-Election.
In years of service Senator Teller of Colorado is the nestor of the retiring statesmen, having been elected senator upon the admission of his State into the Union, taking his seat December 4, 1876, since which time he has been continuously and prominently in the public eye. He resigned from the senate in 1882 to enter the cabinet of President Arthur as secretary of the Interior, re-entering the senate March 4, 1885. A republican in politics, he withdrew from the republican national convention at St. Louis June, 1896, because of the financial plank adopted by that party, which he has never since approved. He was re-elected to the senate as an independent silver republican, and in 1893 was re-elected as a democrat, with which party he has been affiliated since he withdrew from the republican convention. He will retire voluntarily on March 4, having declined re-election. He is a member of the national monetary commission and will continue his public service in that connection.

Senator Platt of New York served in the forty-third and forty-fourth congresses as a member of the house of representatives, entering the senate in 1881. On May 16 of that year, when Senator Roscoe Conkling resigned his seat because of his difficulties with President Garfield, his colleague, Mr. Platt, joined him, thereby gaining the distinction of "Me too" Platt. It was always understood that Platt chafed under this nickname and determined to return to the senate as a vindication of his act, which he did March 4, 1897. Although he had been in very feeble health during several years, his attendance on the sessions of the senate has been marked with regularity.

Foraker One to Go.
Senator Foraker, whose political career is fresh in the minds of everyone, has served in the senate twelve years. Senator Hemenway succeeded Vice President Fairbanks. Previous to that he had been a prominent member of the house since the fifty-fourth congress, being chairman of the committee on appropriations when he resigned to go to the senate.

Senator McCreary also had a long experience in the house of representatives, having entered that body in the forty-ninth congress, and after serving six terms, entered the senate six years ago.

Other senators who will retire on March 4 are Ankeny of Washington, Fulton of Oregon, Gary of South Carolina, Hansbrough of North Dakota, Kittredge of South Dakota, Long of Kansas and Milton of Florida.

Representative Hepburn of Iowa has been conspicuously interested in all matters relating to interstate commerce, his connection with public affairs going back to ante-bellum days, he having been a delegate to the republican national convention of 1860. John Sharp Williams, former minority leader of the house, retires to enter the senate two years hence.

Bede and Cochran.
Representatives J. Adam Bede of Minnesota, who has contributed to the humor of many campaigns, and Bourke Cochran of New York, who has figured in many oratorical contests, also retire. Mr. Cochran was in the fiftieth congress, dropped out one term and reappeared in the fifty-second and fifty-third congresses. He was then out during eight years, returning to the house six years ago.

OF INTEREST TO WOMEN

Women and the Smoking Habit.

We scarcely ever pick up a paper these days that we do not see a printed discussion upon whether or not it is right for women to take up the habit of smoking. Here is what Lillian Bell has to say upon the subject:

'Yesterday was certainly Smokers' Day for the women.

'In the morning papers were authentic accounts of four ladies who smoked cigarettes at the public banquet of the Scandinavian Club. In the evening papers came the equally startling announcement that Mrs. W. K. Vanderbilt, Sr., smoked in full view of the people on the promenade deck of the Kroprinzessin Cecilie, while refusing to be interviewed by newspaper men.

'What are we coming to? 'Are European customs to be introduced here without a protest? 'No one nowadays is so stupid as to denounce cigarette smoking among women as immoral, or decadent, or anything so absurd and out of true perspective. Everybody knows that to smoke or not to smoke is not a subject of ethics, but a matter of taste only.

'The real question at issue is: Is it good form for American women to smoke in public? 'The answer is unhesitatingly: No.

'The ladies of the nobility of Austria smoke long black cigars, as I have seen them do at Ischl. Let English ladies of title smoke in public restaurants and at the races, as I have seen them at London and at Goodwood and at Epsom Downs. 'Let young countesses and princesses have their monograms on their gold-tipped cigarettes and diamond-studded cigarette cases, as I have seen in Poland and Russia and Vienna and Budapest.

'That does not excuse it among Americans—and why? 'Because we possess a standard of good taste which we claim is higher than that of any other nation in the world. 'We claim also a Puritan standard of morality which we consider cleaner than that of older nations.

'Why, then, should we ape the hallmarks of peoples we proudly consider beneath us in morals and a knowledge of what constitutes a standard of taste? 'Any woman who smokes in public in America runs the risk of being considered declassée as a woman who paints her face too vividly or who dresses so loudly that she causes questions to be asked about her place in the world.

'We recognize examples of bad taste instantly and intuitively. And smoking in public is one.

'Gentlemen instinctively dislike to see women of their families smoke, and if it is ever permitted in American homes as a custom it is because the men of the family have either become hardened to it or yield out of gallantry or policy to a compelling home rule.

'If women must smoke, let them do it privately, where it will neither shock nor offend.

'At present, however, it is still considered ill-bred and loose to do it publicly, and women of good taste would never make the mistake of laying themselves open to the criticism of those who hold themselves above any questionable practice publicly performed.

'Things Worth Knowing.

To clean table knives, cut an Irish potato into blocks. Rub these on Sapolio and then rub the knives.

When spreading butter on sandwiches or toast, do not try to soften the butter, but heat a silver knife by placing it in boiling water. The difficulty is overcome at once.

When baking cookies, use a large, round pancake griddle to bake them on. First heat it on top of the range, and have it well greased.

Prune pies are improved by adding one teaspoonful of vinegar to each pie. Prunes are rather flat tasting, and the vinegar cuts the sweetness.

A pinch of soda, put into green vegetables while they are boiling, acts like magic. It makes string beans deliciously tender. It keeps the fine color of spring peas; while a more generous pinch performs a miracle for cabbage, causing it to cook in about half the usual time, and keeping it as fresh and green as when it came from the gardener.

Table linen will not become yellow if folded in an old sheet that has been well bleached.

Novel lamp shades are made of Chinese lanterns of unique shape. The chain at the top is divided, and the links bent out to make hooks that pass over the chimney.

Brumby's Amazing Statement.

The statement of State Health Officer Brumby that unfit cattle are slaughtered and the flesh disposed of in this State demands not only a searching investigation, but such action by the legislature as will prohibit this sort of traffic in the future and severely punish those who attempt it.

It is not charged that any of the packing houses which have Federal inspection slaughter crippled or diseased cattle, but that they cull their cattle before submitting them to Federal inspection and sell the culls to purchasers who slaughter them and dispose of the meat within the state.

Dr. Brumby says he has made a sufficient investigation of the matter to know that this sort of traffic is carried on, but that under present laws he is unable to protect the public against it.

The legislature should lose no time in ascertaining the facts and enacting laws to put an end to this traffic. No punishment would be too severe for men who would deliberately and knowingly sell the flesh of diseased animals to the public. Burglary is a gentlemanly occupation compared to it.

In the meantime, it is proper to say that the packing houses of Texas are all under Federal inspection and that the meat they sell is wholesome. The large number of people they supply are entitled to know they are not injured by the traffic of which Dr. Brumby complains. But the people who make a practice of disposing of bad meat ought to be ferreted out and punished.

INVESTMENTS

Under Amended Robertson Law Can be Made Gradually.

Austin, Tex., Feb. 27.—The Robertson (Travis) bill amending the law relating to life insurance companies, which passed the house Thursday, does not relieve foreign companies of the obligation of investing 75 per cent of their accumulated Texas reserves in Texas securities. It, however, gives them ten years in which to gradually make such investment, instead of requiring that it shall be effected within two years, as at present. The bill provides that all life insurance companies writing insurance in Texas shall invest in Texas securities 75 per cent of the current reserves apportioned to Texas policies, and gives to companies that have a past accumulated reserve upon Texas business the right to conduct business in Texas, provided that, in addition to annually investing 75 per cent of their current reserves in Texas securities, they shall in such securities annually invest at least 10 per cent of the 75 per cent of their past accumulated Texas reserves, until the full 75 per cent of such reserves shall have been invested in the State.

The adopted Wortham amendment, provided for a graduated reduction of the gross premium tax, as an inducement to the investment of accumulated reserves in Texas securities, reads as follows:

Provided, That when the report of the investments in Texas securities of any company, as of December 31 of any year, shall show that such company had invested on said date as much as 25 per cent of its total Texas reserves in Texas securities, upon which the interest paid does not exceed 5 per cent per annum, the rate of said occupation tax shall be reduced to 2 1/2 per cent, and when such report shall show that such company had invested on said date as much as 50 per cent of its total Texas reserves in Texas securities, upon which the interest paid was not more than 5 per cent per annum, the rate of such occupation tax shall be reduced to 2 per cent; and when such report shall show that as much as 75 per cent of the total Texas reserves of such company was invested on said date in Texas securities, on which a rate of interest not exceeding 5 per cent per annum was paid, the rate of such occupation tax shall be reduced to 1 1/2 per cent; provided, the investment in Texas securities of 75 per cent of the Texas reserves provided for by this act shall in any event be required of all such companies.
