PROPOSED BILL LOWERS MANY TARIFF SCHEDULES

DUTY ON WOOL GREATLY RE-DUCED—HIDES ON FREE LIST.
OTHER SCHEDULES CUT.

REVENUE $300,000,000

Is Estimated if New Tariff Goes Into Effect On Day Following Its Enactment.

By Associated Press.
Washington, D. C., Mar. 17.—The house at 12:35 o'clock adjourned until tomorrow.

By Associated Press.
Washington, D. C., Mar. 17.—The tariff bill as introduced by Representative Payne in the house today shows an additional duty of one cent a yard on mercerized fabrics and an increased duty on cotton stockings. In the metal schedule, iron ore is placed on the free list and steel products are materially reduced, in some instances being cut in half. Cotton ties are cut from five-tenths of a cent a pound to three-tenths, and sawed lumber, with a few exceptions, is cut from two dollars to one dollar a thousand feet; fresh meats from two cents to one and a half cents a pound. Sugar, refined, is reduced from one and ninety-five one hundredths of a cent to one and ninety-one hundredths of one cent a pound. Some products of flax go on the free list and wool and many of its products show a marked decrease.

Hides of cattle are reduced from 15 per cent ad valorem to the free list.
Other products of leather show a decided reduction.

Agricultural implements from any country admitting American agricultural implements free are placed on the free list. The tax on cigarettes has been increased.

The bill provides for reciprocal free trade with the Philippine Islands, but limits the amount of articles that can be imported free of duty.

The estimated revenue under the tariff duties prescribed in the bill amounts to about three hundred million dollars, provided the bill goes into effect the day following its enactment.

DRAWING OF TOWN LOTS AT ARCHER

Trains coming into Wichita Falls today were loaded with lot purchasers on their way to Archer City, where 836 lots have been sold by Sol. Williams, the veteran townsite promoter. These lots were sold at $50 apiece and the drawing will start tomorrow and continue until all lots are drawn.

WANT DUTY ON HIDES MAINTAINED

TEXAS CATTLEMEN PASS RESOLU-TIONS FOR ASSESSMENT TO FIGHT REDUCTION.

ELECTION OF OFFICERS

Will Take Place Tomorrow—McFadden and Allen the Only Candidates for the Presidency.

Fort Worth, Tex., Mar. 17.—The Cattlemen in convention determined today to appeal to the Interstate commerce commission for relief from the railroad tariff assessing twenty-five per cent additional freight charges on practically all cattle shipped from the State. The tariff applies to shipments above a nominal value and few will escape.

The resolution also favored a one dollar assessment per car for conducting the fight for the maintenance of the hides duty.

This afternoon it was decided to elect officers tomorrow morning and close the business session.

A resolution from Graham county, demanding that the wool duty be maintained, was not adopted, but was referred to a committee.

The election of the president of the Texas Cattleman's Association will be marked by no bitter feeling, as any selection will be approved by the other contestant, James Callahan of Menardville and Al McFadden of Victoria are the only candidates prominently in the race now. Since the others have retired these candidates are offering the honor to each other. At headquarters the sentiment is divided, possibly favoring McFadden.

PROPOSE NEW ASSOCIATION

ORGANIZATION OF NORTHWEST
TEXAS AND SOUTHWEST OK-LAHOMA CLUBS PLANNED.

BITULITHIC PAVING

Its Merits Presented Before Chamber of Commerce Directors This Morning.

The directors of the Chamber of Commerce met this morning and acted upon the acceptance of the local organization's invitation to the Oklahoma City Chamber of Commerce to visit Wichita Falls on May 3rd. A banquet will be tendered the aggregation of Oklahoma City boosters, the cost of same to be borne by the local Chamber of Commerce. An invitation will be extended the members here to attend the banquet at a cost of $3.00 a plate and this matter will be taken up by the secretary next month in time to secure the acceptances of those who will attend. A committee consisting of C. W. Bean, C. C. Huff and Secretary Gohlike will arrange the details of the banquet and of the entertainment.

The party from the Queen City of Oklahoma will be about one hundred strong and will arrive at 6:00 p. m. and be taken direct to Lake Wichita over the Southern. Superintendent Orth of the Southern will have charge of the transportation feature.

Considerable importance is attached to the coming visit of the Oklahomans as a closer acquaintance with these enterprising people cannot help but redound to the benefit of Wichita Falls.
It is certain that a genuine Wichita Falls welcome will send them away enthusiastic about our city.

The directors authorized Secretary Gohlike to accept the invitation extended by the Hereford Commercial Club to attend a large booster meeting and banquet next Saturday evening. Mr.
Gohlike has been assigned a place on the program.

The matter of organizing the Commercial clubs of Northwest Texas and Southwest Oklahoma into an association similar to the Central West Texas Association was discussed and deferred until the next meeting for consideration. The idea is to cement the friendly relations of the towns within a radius of from fifty up to one hundred miles from Wichita Falls.

Mr. Carleton H. Wells, president of the Texas Bitulithic Co. of Dallas, visited the Chamber of Commerce this morning in the interest of submitting information on bitulithic paving, which is coming into extensive use in many Texas cities. Mr. Wells addressed the meeting and made a favorable impression on those present on the merits of this nature of paving. The cost, however, would be higher than vitrified brick and the matter will, as a matter of course, be left with the city officials. Before leaving town Mr. Wells will lay the matter before Mayor Noble and members of the city council.

A Real Good One.

Blondin's Big Show, under canvas, offering a grand novelty, 'The Cowboy, Indian and the Lady.' It's the newest play from a writer of real successes. It is a genuine western comedy with a plot of much historic interest. The scenes are western and true to life, with an unusual amount of pathos and a raft of comedy by the Chinaman and negro character of the most amusing sort, with a distinguished quality of naturalness that pleases both old and young alike. The show as a whole is entertaining, instructive and strictly moral; not founded on dime novel lines, and nothing better could be asked for. At Wichita Falls, Saturday, March 20th.

Is Worth Going After.

West Texas towns will now start a scramble for the West Texas Normal location. From experience let us say to them, it's worth going after and the town that secures the plum may congratulate itself now and forever.
Abilene, Stamford, Big Springs, San Angelo, Wichita Falls and Amarillo are candidates now with a big bunch of others prospectively so. Brownwood and a number of other live towns elgible for the location by being west of the 98th meridian have not been heard from yet and before the entries are closed the race will be a pretty one, the Robertson anti-racing law to the contrary notwithstanding.

COOPER-SHARP CASE NOW RESTS WITH JURY

DENTON PEOPLE FURNISH BOND FOR FRED MORRIS.

Fort Worth Telegram.
Bond for Fred Morris, charged with the killing of Otto Meyer in this Saturday night, is on the way from Morris' home town of Denton, and the young man will probably be released Tuesday afternoon.

The bond is said to contain signatures of so many business men of the city that it has more the appearance of a petition than a bond. An extra sheet of paper had to be attached to the bond to contain all the names. A dispatch from Denton states that the aggregate wealth represented by the signers of the bond would reach nearly $1,000,000.

RE-ELECTION OF THOMAS IS CERTAIN

Texas News Service Special.
Sulphur Springs, Tex., Mar. 17.— Firm in the belief that Thomas will expose more corruption in the legislature, the second district voters have practically assured his re-election.
The report that the senatorial committee will refuse to place his name on the ticket is groundless, as the race will be free for all.

A great demonstration was accorded Senator Thomas last night on his return from Austin. The district is more than five to one democratic and Thomas' fearless course evidently meets with the hearty approval of his constituents.

Notice to Stockholders.

All directors and stockholders of the Lake View Realty Company are requested to meet in the Chamber of Commerce office at new city hall on Thursday afternoon at 3 p. m. to transact business of special importance.

TO RE-ESTABLISH FREIGHT BOAT LINE

By Associated Press.
Kansas City, Mo., Mar. 17.—The Commercial Club, the leading business organization of Kansas City, last night decided to raise half a million dollars to re-establish a freight boat line between Kansas City and St.
Louis. This follows the alleged discrimination by the railroads against Kansas City shippers in favor of Oklahoma merchants.

To hang window curtains, make the curtains the desired length, but do not cut them. Run a row of stitches an inch and a half or two inches below the fold, and make another row far enough below to admit the pole. Then fold what length there is left over and tack it behind the heading. This method of hanging is in general use, rings not being in favor just now.

JUDGE HART DELIVERS CHARGE
THIS MORNING AND JURY
NOW HAS THE CASE.

EXPLICIT INSTRUCTIONS

Were Given Jury and Charge Was the Most Thorough Ever Given a Tennessee Jury.

By Associated Press.
BULLETIN—Nashville, Tenn., Mar.
17.—At 2 o'clock the jury returned from luncheon and began further deliberations. There are no indications that a verdict will be reached very soon.

Nashville, Tenn., Mar. 17.—Judge Hart began his charge to the jury this morning in the Cooper-Sharp trial for the murder of former Senator Carmmack. The charge, numbered sixty-two typewritten pages of about 400 words each, and the lawyers say it is the most comprehensive and clear charge ever delivered in the Tennessee courts and includes the theories of the State and the defense and a digest of the testimony of every witness who testified on either side.

When Judge Hart began the reading of his instructions the court room was packed to the walls. Word had gone out that the final scene of the drama had been set and the audience rushed in to witness it.

"The law makes the judge a witness of the law," said Judge Hart, "so I will now take the witness stand and give my testimony." The judge then formally delivered his charge.

He said: "While this indictment contains but one charge upon its face, in the contemplation of the law it embraces four distinct felonies: Murder in the first degree; Murder in the second degree; Voluntary manslaughter; and involuntary manslaughter."

The judge then proceeded to explain to the jury what in law it takes to constitute each of these different offenses.
Judge Hart finished his charge at 11:45 a. m. and the jury at once returned to its room.

Responsible For Acts of Employees.

Texas News Service Special.
Waxahachie, Tex., Mar. 17.—The Katy railroad was forced to assume the responsibility for the act of its agent in a judgment for six hundred and twenty-five dollars, granted today to L. F. Day, a former section hand, who sued for damages as the result of a fight. Day's suit was founded on a personal altercation with a Katy brake tender, while Day was repairing the bridge. It is alleged that the tender stabbed Day, who instituted suit for $25,000 damages.

VIEWS OF ENGLISH EXPLORER

WINSTON SPENCER CHURCHILL DESCRIBES COUNTRY WHICH ROOSEVELT WILL VISIT.

FLIES DEADLIEST ENEMY

Tsetse Fly More Dangerous to Ex-President's Party Than the Savage Beasts.

The account given by the Right Hon. Winston Spencer Churchill, British Minister of Colonies, of his expedition in British East Africa (traces almost step by step the route to be followed by the Roosevelt party. During his trip Mr. Churchill's English servant succumbed to a mysterious and swiftly fatal fever, but the minister and the other two white men who accompanied him suffered no ill effects from their equatorial journey.

According to Mr. Churchill's observations, it would seem that by far the most interesting portion of the Roosevelt trip will be through the Uganda Protectorate, where travel is by foot, bicycle or caravan, unless one elects to ride upon a seat borne on the shoulders of the natives. The Uganda railroad, contrary to the suggestion of its name, does not penetrate Uganda, but only reaches it, its inland terminus being at Port Florence, on Lake Victoria. Not until the railroad has been left behind and the party enters Uganda, proper, the garden of flowers and butterflies, will the supremest possibilities of the exploration be realized. Sinister beasts there are without number, but the forests that contain them are of surpassing grandeur and the foliage of indescribable beauty. The natives are friendly, gentle of manner and of considerable intelligence. The air is soft and cool. Yet the contrast between appearance and reality is striking, for this enchanted land is cursed with malignant attributes. Every white man seems to feel a sense of undefinable oppression, and Mr. Churchill says that it will never be a white man's country. "A cut will not heal; a scratch festers. In the third year of residence even a small wound becomes a running sore. One day a man feels perfectly well; the next, for no apparent cause, he is prostrate with malaria, and with malaria of a peculiarly persistent kind, turning often in the third or fourth attack to black-water fever." A daily dose of ten grains of quinine served to ward off malaria in the case of the Churchill party.

The impression gained from Mr. Churchill's writings is that the traveler has less to fear from the ferocious beasts that inhabit the alluringly beautiful fastnesses than from the fever transmitted by the tsetse-fly, which, when infected in a manner undetermined by scientists, becomes a deadly assassin. But the zone of the tsetse-fly is known. His home is in the trees and bushes and near the water, and he may be avoided. Thus the danger from this source, broadly speaking, may be said to be proportionate with the risk which the explorer voluntarily assumes in the pursuit of his explorations, allowance being always made for bad judgment and the unexpected fortunes of the hunt. Then there are leg-long boots, gloves that reach to the elbow and veils to completely protect the head and neck. Mosquito netting encloses the camper at night and in the morning he habitually empties his boots of any undesirable tenants that may have wiggled in under cover of darkness. In the case of the Roosevelt party Major Edgar A. Mearns will be always at hand with his antiseptics.

But, however handicapped the tsetse fly may be in the future pursuit of his nefarious calling, his assassinations of the past are worthy of record. According to Mr. Churchill, this deadly insect first appeared in the Kingdom of Uganda in the summer of 1901, and within five years had killed two out of three of all the inhabitants, no less than 200,000 persons dying from the poison which he spread. "It might have been expected," wrote Sir H. Hesketh Bell, the Governor of Uganda, to Mr. Churchill, in reply to a query on the subject, "that, even though the negroes showed inability to grasp the theory of the transmission of disease by the agency of insects, the undeniable deadliness of the countries bordering on the lake shore would have induced them to flee from the stricken land to have sought in the healthier districts inland a refuge from the pestilence that was slaying them by thousands. An extraordinary fatalism, however, seems to have paralyzed the natives, and while deploring the sadness of their fate, they appear to have accepted death almost with apathy."

But the helplessness of the native has given place to the knowledge of the white man, before which the tsetse fly has fallen back, and the sleeping sickness, if not conquered, is less to be feared than a few years ago. Miles

Pickles That Look Good and Taste Good

If "genius is the infinite capacity for taking pains" every package of Heinz 57 varieties is a product of genius. Especially is this true of Heinz Pickles, whether in bulk or in glass. They are firm, uniform in size and color, and they are packed in Heinz vinegar with the very best spices for seasoning. We have them sweet, sour mixed or plain—to suit your taste. They are crisp, dainty and appetizing, and the price is right.

of brush, fertile breeding places of disease, have been cut away, and in its place is growing the vigorous citronella grass.

But it will be some time before the party reaches Uganda and for the first six months headquarters will be at Nairobi, from which point numberless excursions will be made. Nairobi is the capital of the East Africa Protectorate, and is 327 miles from Mombasa by rail. It is built on lowland, and is not particularly healthful and of its 14,000 residents less than 600 are white. There are ten thousand natives and the rest are Indians. Here is stationed a brigade of the King's African Rifles, and the town is the headquarters of the administration and the central office of the Uganda Railroad. Before Nairobi is reached the Roosevelt party will have an interesting railroad journey, which will be accomplished with less discomfort than one might imagine would be possible over a road the locomotives of which depend upon wood for fuel. Built by the British government and steadily improved, the road has reached a state of creditable efficiency. The roadbed is good and the gradual incline is overcome at fairly good speed. When Mr. Churchill made this trip he occupied a seat on the cowcatcher, and it is safe to say that the Americans will be satisfied with no lesser point of vantage. The magazine reader may expect before long to see pictured the members of the Roosevelt expedition viewing the country perhaps from an old-fashioned church pew above the cowcatcher of an engine. As the land unfolds itself before the travelers, game of endless variety will be seen, and deep gorges crossed, while occasional plantations of cotton, rubber and fibre and trim little railway stations will give a touch of modern color to the otherwise prehistoric scene. On either side of the train may be seen an endless procession of wild animals, which seem to have learned that the formidable-looking locomotive cannot leave the rails over which it moves through their domain. Troops of zebras, herds of antelope, black wildebeests, herds of red kongoni, and in fact, most every imaginable beast is to be seen, with the exception of the lion, the rhinoceros and the elephant. Good fortune may even bring these within the ken of the railway passenger, and at Simba, popularly known as "the place of lions," the guides generally promise the sight of the regal animal. But this is exceptional, and the paucity of this game is due to the greed of the hunter, for not so long ago it was the practice to stop these trains wherever opportunity offered to shoot a lion or two. The royal vermin have profited by the experience of unfortunate relatives, and now the stopping of a train or wagon is the cue for the exit from the scene of this wily animal. Hunters traveling by caravan upon sighting a lion are said now to drop unobserved from their wagon while the vehicle continues in motion. The absence of the rhinoceros from this railway review is popularly credited to the fate of an ill-advised member of the species, who tried conclusions with a swiftly moving locomotive. The elephant is still more reserved, and nothing but the rarest chance will permit a view of him while a train of cars is within his sight.

WEATHER FORECAST.

For Wichita Falls and vicinity —Tonight increasing cloudiness and warmer. Thursday partly cloudy.

Our county and city authorities owe it to the good citizens of Wichita Falls to protect them from the petty thieving and malicious mischief that is being done by a gang of night and day prowling boys, who, apparently, have no parents, or if so, have no control whatever over their trifling offsprings. Instances have been known where these prowling boys, not content with stealing the empty sacks and such other articles as they could lay their hands on, usually kept in the barns, but actually go so far as to empty the sacks of their contents, and then sell them to the feed dealers. These boys are incorrigibles and are no good to the town. In one or two instances the parents of some of these contemptible, thieving boys have been informed of the depredations, but instead of taking this information in the manner in which a right-thinking parent should, they grew indignant and denied that their sons would do such things, in the face of the fact that there was ample evidence to prove their guilt had the matter been taken into a court of justice. These boys are not receiving the right kind of training from their parents, and the only relief to be hoped for is that our city and county authorities will take them in charge, and if they are too young to be handled as criminals, they should be taken from under the influence of their parents and sent to a reform school where they will receive better training than can be hoped for by parents who will permit their boys not only to lay out of school, but loaf and prowl around and through the back alleys of the city looking for an opportunity to steal something or perform some malicious act. There are more than a dozen of these boys, and to stop them now in their meanness may later on be the means of keeping them out of the penitentiary or escaping the hangman's noose.

If all the new houses now building in Texas were set upon one another it would give the man in the moon a chance to climb down.—Dallas News.

Just so, but if the top house happened to be one of the artistic and luxurious homes now being erected in Wichita Falls, his Nibs would not want to come down at all, but would probably move in and remain in the higher altitude. Naturally, if by chance he should side-step one of our beautiful new homes and get to earth in the vicinity of Wichita Falls, like all newcomers, he would be so thoroughly satisfied with conditions that he would remain with us permanently.

We were passing along by a grocery store the other day, and we noticed a farmer loading up a lot of bacon, flour and a sack of chops, and we said no wonder the mortgage system is in vogue in this white man's country; here is a farmer who ought to live at home and board at the same place, living out of paper sacks. We will be dog-goned if we were living out on a farm, we would go bare-footed, in our shirt-tails and live on bread and water before we would go in debt either for victuals, feed stuff or dry goods. We have done it all the same and we got pretty dog-goned hungry and ragged, too.—Weatherford Democrat.

We Raise the Quality and Lower the Price

Is the verdict of all who visit our beautiful and modern store. It is surely a pleasure to us to hear this. Our principles on which we established our business, namely: One Price, Plain Figures and Full Values and to market only dependable merchandise backed by our own guarantee will make us the leading store of Wichita. We do not believe in exorbitant profits. Live and let live is our maxim.

We want you to see our $12.50 and $15 all-wool worsted suits. Some stores get $20.00 for them. We have them as low as $10.00—but not all wool. Make us a little visit; try them on and see how they fit.

Eat Buckwheat Cakes Now

In a few short weeks it will be warm spring weather again and buckwheat cakes will be out of season.

Eat them now. March is a buckwheat cake month because of the sudden changes that the weather man is apt to spring on us. Better get a sack or two of the flour now. We still have a small quantity of that genuine.

OLD FASHION PURE Buckwheat, in stock which sells at 50c, per 5-lb sack.

Real Maple Syrup

A solicitor who went from house to house at one time selling maple syrup said:

"This syrup is made from pure maple sap that came out of real maple trees, in the early part of the March run (you know the maple sap begins to run in March and it is then the real maple syrup is made each year) and I'll give you five dollars for every drop of anything but real maple syrup or sugar you find in it."

That's about the kind of a guarantee we'll make to you on our

ST. PATRICK'S DAY

March 17 is St. Patrick's day. It is a day out of the Catholic calendar, in which every day is assigned for the veneration of a saint.

St. Patrick is one who brought the Christian faith to Ireland in the fifth century. His work was the most remarkable evangelization since the preaching of the gospel at Pentecost. He converted an entire nation to Christianity during his own lifetime without the shedding of blood.

The calendar of the early Irish church had no Irish martyrs. The calendar of a later period supplied this deficiency; for three centuries the whole people were martyrs and confessors of the faith.

The Irish people celebrate St. Patrick's day to honor the saint who is apostle of their race. St. Patrick's day is also the national day of the Irish race. In no other people are the religious and racial aspirations so closely interwoven.

During the six centuries England tried to extinguish the racial consciousness of the people. It took away their national independence, their laws and their language in the effort to assimilate them in its own; the national spirit is today stronger than ever.

For more than two centuries the rulers of England tried to force the Irish people to an acceptance of the religious system of the sister island; though the trials were severe, they held to their religious faith with strengthened conviction.

Other Catholic countries have their patron saints' days; in Ireland alone is the patron saint day also the national day.

Nations and races begin to die, or are dead, when national consciousness ceases.

In the world's history we read of people and nations which have so amalgamated with others as to lose each its national identity. Europe is full of such fusions of peoples.

After six centuries of English domination, English law and English politics and language in Ireland, Ireland maintains its national identity, and its people their racial consciousness, not diminished, but stronger and world-wide because of expatriation. If the national spirit were ever at the point of yielding under oppression it was quickly revived by religion. Love of his land and veneration for his religion are nowhere so closely connected as in the Celt; hence the patron saint's day is the national day.

Denied the opportunity for development in his own beautiful land, the Celt has embraced it where offered abroad. Though intensely national, he has shown an adaptability to other conditions. In the lands to which he has been driven by bad government at home he has developed powers that at home were unrecognized. His emigration has been providential both for himself and for the country of his adoption. He has made Australia and New Zealand what they are, he has developed Canada and in our country has given elements of strength to our American population—and withal he has not ceased to be a Celt.

In the United States the Celt has not been the less loyal because of his race consciousness. He has taken his place in the history of the country, in the halls of legislation, on the bench, in the learned professions, in commerce; in the battles of his adopted country.

"There were blossoms of blood on the sprigs of green."

To American character he has contributed the humor and joyousness of his nature, imagination and enthusiasm, purity of domestic life, honesty and reverence for the higher and better things. The genial Celtic qualities could not well be spared from our cosmopolitan character. Even his intense interest in politics is a saving quality. It is sometimes charged that the people of Ireland waste their energies on political discussions and in political activity. Whatever of relief from oppression they have won at home has been through discussion and activity. His interest in politics reveals a ready adaptability for self-government, and a capacity for public affairs and a public spirit that on the whole is of benefit to the republic. This interest is not limited to those of the race who either hold political office or hope to adorn one; it is the universal interest of the race in governmental problems forced upon their attention by centuries of the worst possible government. A country is more likely to suffer from the indifference of its citizens to public affairs than from too much interest in what is called "politics."

On the national day of the Irish people, when their patron saint is venerated and thanks are given for the faith he brought, what are the aspirations of this people? This national consciousness looks to a future in which Ireland, as a separate nation, will take its place in the sisterhood of independent nations. A dream, you say. But this people will be satisfied with nothing less than political autonomy like that of Australia and Canada, under which Ireland will be governed by its own people, under its own laws, left to develop the material resources of a wonderfully fertile country without hindrance from the dominant power, free to work out its own racial destiny.

With such aspirations every American citizen must be in sympathy.

Coffee that is all coffee. Order Richelleu and be convinced of its merit. 25c and 35c a pound. 265-2t TREVATHAN & BLAND.

POOR SCHOOLS GREAT WASTE

THOROUGHLY TRAINED AND EQUIPPED MEN ARE IN DEMAND.

ARE POOR INVESTMENT

Statistics Show That Earning Capacity of the People is Greatest Where Best Schools Exist.

Poor schools give poor educational advantages and do not adequately train for successful participation in commercial, industrial and social life. Thoroughly trained and equipped men are the potent factors in all lines of human thought and activity. Texas boys and girls can not prove superior in skill and effectiveness if they are educated in poor schools. There is vast potential wealth in the unlimited natural resources of the State; shall the children of Texas be neglected and fail to receive the training adequate for leadership and control in this bountiful inheritance? Why should the trained minds of other sections profit most from the exploitation of the great resources of the State and Texas' sons and daughters not have their rightful share in the riches that flow from such development? The State already sustains an incalculable loss because many of its children are not given the best educational advantages and as a result they have not the trained minds and skilled hands for the highest possible usefulness.

Poor schools are expensive in the waste of child effort. Without proper guidance and direction children make little progress in school, from bad habits of study, and lose the interest incident to healthy intellectual growth; while the loss in thought power, in the acquisition of useful knowledge, and in preparation for useful living is difficult to estimate. A few years' waste of a child's time in poor schools is often commensurate with a decade's loss of opportunity in manhood and womanhood. The continuance of poor schools is therefore a virtual denial of school privileges to many children.

Poor schools are costly to a community in the loss of bright, aspiring children, who go to other communities in search of educational opportunities and also in the loss of progressive and prosperous citizens who wisely demand the best education for their children. Thoughtful parents are determined to educate their children at any sacrifice and cost. The removal of useful citizens from a community is a distinct social loss; it creates dissatisfaction in existing conditions and makes residence in that community temporary and unpopular; it tends to a decline in thrift industry, and productiveness, it deprecates the value of all property; it takes away the men who have been accustomed to plan wisely and to give intelligent oversight to the affairs of the community.

Poor schools are a dear investment for the outlay; there is a loss in earning power due to defective and inefficient training. Statistics show that the ability of the people of different States to earn money is directly proportional to the amount of schooling the average citizen has received. The length of the public school term in Texas is below the average term for all the States of the Union; the productive capacity of the people of the State is, therefore, less than that of the average citizen of the United States. It has been shown by competent authorities that the average earning power of each person in Massachusetts is 79 cents a day, while for the country at large, it is only 40 cents; the explanation is given that each child in Massachusetts receives an average of seven years' schooling, while each child in the United States at large receives only 3.3 years' of schooling. It follows that the most effective and the most profitable service in vocational life is dependent upon the suitable development of the child's capabilities. Schools maintained for short terms are in many cases necessarily poor schools and certainly they are not as efficient in proportion as schools of long terms. Satisfactory results in the training for useful activities are not, therefore, probable or possible when the opportunities for education are inadequate to reasonable demands. Is not the sacrifice in child-effort and in social service too great for the people of Texas to be content with the present unsatisfactory conditions in so large a number of country schools?—Ex.
