COUNT'S AIRSHIP HELPLESS IN WIND

CRAFT, WITH COUNT ABOARD, IS THE PLAYTHING OF THE ELEMENTS.

AUTOMOBILES IN PURSUIT

Soldiers Follow to Be on Hand in Case Descent is Attempted.

By Associated Press. Munich, April 1.—The Zeppelin airship with Count Zeppelin on board is a plaything of the winds and is being swept helplessly over the country. She is out of control and is drifting, with no hope of being able to make headway against the increasing wind. The wind is too high to attempt a landing. Soldiers in automobiles are racing after the vessel in order to be on hand if a descent is attempted. The Zeppelin airship, driven before a storm that is increasing in violence, passed over here at 11:45 today. The airship passed over Landshut at 12:10, going to the northeast.

BULLETIN—Dingling, April 1.—The Zeppelin airship landed safely near here at 3 o'clock this afternoon, after having been eleven hours in the air.

RAPID SUCCESSION OF EVENTS OCCUR IN TULSA CHURCH.

Texas News Service Special. Tulsa, Ok., April 1.—The closing of prayer service, the calling of a business meeting for the purpose of declaring the pulpit vacant and a personal encounter between the pastor and the leader of the faction seeking his resignation followed in quick succession last night at the First Baptist church here and resulted in the arrest of Rev. T. L. Slaughter, pastor, and C. A. Mitchell.

Both cases were dismissed in the court this morning. Slaughter came to Tulsa from Waco, Texas, two years ago.

The faction of the congregation opposing the pastor collected after the benediction and police interference was necessary. The pastor has a very strong following in the congregation.

He was a former Federal judge in the Indian territory and was one of the best known citizens of north Texas. He was born in Indiana. His remains will be buried here. He has lived for twenty-one years.

RAIN WILL GREATLY BENEFIT ALL CROPS.

Everybody was wearing a broad smile this morning as the result of the rain last night, which will greatly benefit all farm and garden crops.

The snow extended as far south as Electra and reports today indicate that the rainfall was heavier in that section of the country than here.

A heavy snow is also reported from Frederick, Oklahoma. Frost was formed here last night, but it is believed that no great damage, if any, will result from that source.

Granite Cutters are On Strike.

Texas News Service Special. Fort Worth, Tex., April 1.—Two hundred granite cutters of the National Union in Texas struck today for a 25-cent day increase in wages. This being April 1st, the time for the renewing of the contracts between the unions and their employers, the demand for the increase was made effective at once. The cutters are out in Dallas, Houston, San Antonio, Austin, Fort Worth and Waco. One firm in this city has signed the new scale.

DALLAS PAPER HANGERS AND PAINTERS ON A STRIKE.

Texas News Service Special. Dallas, Tex., April 1.—Refused an increase in wages beginning today, two hundred paper hangers and painters struck. The employers have signed the scale giving work to a small proportion of the union membership.

STILL SEARCHING FOR CRAZY SNAKE

Texas News Service Special. Muskogee, Ok., April 1.—Fear of a clash between the government and State troops over the wholesale arrest of the Snake outfit was dispelled by the release of a number of all bloods today by Chief of Police.

The search for the Snake is now going forward in the harmony. It is believed that the Indian chief will quit and surrender at Pierce today, though his exact whereabouts are not known. Quiet was restored in the negro section of the camp near here last night.

Hoffman, confident that the Oklahoma national guardsmen have the Creek Indians under control, began reducing his force today, dismissing all but three or four of the deputies reporting to him. WILL SOON START EXTENSION WORK

WICHITA FALLS NORTHWESTERN WILL BE EXTENDED INTO KANSAS.

ROUTE NOT YET DECIDED

Financial Arrangements are Progressing Favorably—Engineers Will Soon Go Out.

The Times is reliably informed that work will soon begin on the extension of Wichita Falls and Northwestern railroad from Frederick, Okla. The financial arrangements of the company are progressing favorably, although the exact route to be taken has not yet been selected. It was the original intention of this company to build via Olustee or Alva, Okla., west nearly to the Texas line, thence north through the border counties of Oklahoma to a point at or near Englewood, Kansas. However, some of the directors advocate a more easterly route, which if selected would pass in the neighborhood of Alva, Okla., or Woodward before going into Kansas. The surveyor will likely soon run a trial line via Muskogee and Mangum as far north as Muskogee City, and also over the Olustee route as far north as the Choctaw, Oklahoma and Gulf R. R. (Rock Island system), and the engineers report will be examined before the final decision is made.

The railroad company's decision will be guided mainly by the character of the route and the amount of business to be secured, yet any special inducements that may be offered along either route will be carefully considered before making the final decision.

The corporation commission of Oklahoma has so far shown a spirit of fairness and liberality in this new company, and the officers hope to be able to obtain the necessary means for considerable building if the course of the commission in railroad matters is such as to convince capitalists that the fixed policy of the Oklahoma commission will be broad and liberal.

BRYAN CAPTIVATED LARGE AUDIENCE

OVER THOUSAND HEARD COMMONER SPEAK AT THE OPERA HOUSE.

THE PRICE OF A SOUL

Was Theme of His Address—Distinguished Visitor in Wichita Falls But a Short Time.

"The Price of a Soul" was the subject of the lecture delivered at the theater today by Hon. William Jennings Bryan. The train bearing the distinguished Commoner arrived here from Amarillo, where he lectured last night, at 11:30, and he was met at the Denver station by a large crowd of people and the reception committee.

As there was but little time to be lost, the reception committee took charge of the distinguished visitor and escorted him to an automobile in waiting at the station and he was driven through the business portion of the city to the opera house, where more than one thousand people had secured seats to see and hear the greatest American citizen of today.

As soon as the large audience was comfortably seated, the curtain rose, and in a few well chosen remarks, Rev. W. T. Morrow introduced Mr. Bryan, who was given a rousing cheer. He immediately launched forth upon his subject and for more than an hour charmed and captivated his audience and was frequently applauded.

His lecture was a great treat to those who heard it, but the general opinion of those who have heard him make political speeches is that he is much better in the latter role than in the former.

In the outset, Mr. Bryan explained to his eager listeners that he had been criticized, when making a political speech, for preaching a sermon, and when delivering a lecture that he was making a political speech. He excused his critics by explaining that it was difficult to distinguish the difference between a good democratic speech and a sermon.

Immediately after the conclusion of his lecture, Mr. Bryan took dinner with the ladies of the M. E. church South, who were serving public dinner, and from the dining hall he was driven to the Denver station and boarded the train for Fort Worth, where he is to lecture tonight.

One-half of the money realized from the sale of tickets to the lecture is to be divided equally between the school library and the Ladies' Aid Society of the Methodist church South.

Mr. Bryan was in the city but one hour and a half, and therefore did not have time to hold a public reception.

At first, it was his intention to accept the invitation of the Chamber of Commerce during his short stay here and deliver a public speech, and on this account many who wanted to and would have greatly enjoyed the opportunity of hearing him in the role of a political speaker, were greatly disappointed.

YOUTHFUL HIGHWAYMEN REPENT IN JAIL.

Special to the Times. San Antonio, Tex., April 1.—James Valentine and Emmett Shaffer, two small boys, are now repenting in the city jail, after attempting highway robbery last night. They stole a pistol and a bottle of whiskey at Gonsler's saloon, then attempted to hold up the proprietor and ran. Driving in a buggy to a point near Pleasanton, they attempted to hold up Charles Banks, a negro, who escaped. They were arrested this morning upon their return in the buggy.

By Associated Press. Washington, D. SOLDIERS GUARD PRISONERS IN FIRE

By Associated Press. Leavenworth, Kan., April 1.—It took twelve hundred United States soldiers to maintain order and prevent the prisoners from escaping during the fire which destroyed four buildings in the Federal military prison here early today. All of the eight hundred prisoners were marched out of the cell houses when it seemed that the whole prison would be destroyed and held under heavy military guard until the fire was under control and afterwards marched back into their cells again. The fire consumed the tailor and carpenter shops and laundry, with a loss of about $65,000.

CURETON BANK GUARANTY BILL STILL BEFORE HOUSE.

Presbyterians Want Dr. McKee.

Owing to the inclement weather only a few members were present at the called meeting of the congregation of the Presbyterian church last night. It was the sense of the meeting that a call be extended to Dr. McKee of Kansas City, but definite action was deferred until a later meeting, when a fuller attendance is expected.

SCHUBERTS WILL BUILD THEATERS IN SAN ANTONIO.

Texas News Service Special. San Antonio, Tex., April 1.—The Schuberts will build a modern theater in the heart of this city on land bought today from Mrs. J. Z. White for $17,500, by J. W. Nix, representing an outside syndicate.

FIRE FIGHTERS ARE ORGANIZED

PURCHASE OF FIRE ENGINE

is Favored by Department—New Members Will Be Added to the Roll.

Harmony prevailed at the meeting held last evening at the Chamber of Commerce quarters for the purpose of reorganizing the volunteer fire department, but the decision reached was that the old department was still in existence, although it was in need of new members and keener interest than prevailed in the past few months owing to the demoralized condition of the equipment.

B. J. Bean called the meeting to order stating that he had been requested by the city government, business men and some of the department to call the meeting to re-establish or organize a competent fire fighting force. Frank Kell spoke of the importance of the department getting into immediate training with a competent force and suggested that those of the old department present should state their views. N. Henderson was chosen chairman of the meeting and F. H. Gohlike temporary secretary.

Chief E. B. Mellam, in behalf of the members of the old department stated he could see no reason why a reorganization should be effected when the old organization was still in force with the exception it needed some new members. The boys, he said, had purchased $100 worth of clothing and hats for fire fighting purposes but had never had an opportunity to use them owing to absence of team and wagon being in commission to carry their heavy equipment. This is now remedied by the installation of the team and wagon in the new City Hall.

I. H. Roberts then moved that the old company be continued, strengthened and given the support of the community, this motion meeting with general accord.

The roll call of old members was made and the following announced their desire to continue under the old company: Everett Hughes, E. B. McHam, Fred Smith, Ross Robertson, Ben White, Will Bachman, Lloyd A. Wilson, Vic Stampfli, H. J. Naylor, J. L. McClure, Morton Allman, A. K. Collins and G. F. Collins.

There was a disposition on the part of the meeting to consider the members not present dropped from the rolls but this was supplanted by adhering to the by-laws and constitution and a meeting was called for Friday night, at which time those of the old members not present who wished to announce their membership under the new order of things be given an opportunity to do so. Appointments will then be made by the company to fill all vacancies.

The meeting went on record as favoring the purchase of a steamer to safeguard proper water delivery at a fire. Should the city not be in a position to buy one, expressions from business men seem to favor it bought by popular subscription.

A motion requesting all present last evening to turn out on Clean-Up Day and help in the good work received unanimous consent. Attention was also called to the department about keeping alert on that day, owing to the number of the bonfires adding additional risk.

Death of Mrs. Van Loving.

Mrs. Van Loving died at the Wichita Falls Sanitarium at 3:30 o'clock this morning, following an operation several days ago for appendicitis. The funeral arrangements had not been completed this morning.

SPECIAL TRAIN FOR ELKS.

Denver Prepares Special Arrangement for Los Angeles Meeting.

Because heavy travel is expected from Texas, the Fort Worth and Denver is preparing to operate a special Elks train out of Fort Worth to Los Angeles in connection with the Denver and Rio Grande and the Salt Lake route.

N. S. Davis, traveling passenger agent of the Fort Worth and Denver, went over to Dallas this week and succeeded in having the Dallas lodge designate the Denver the official route for that lodge. The Colorado and Southern, Denver and Rio Grande and the Salt Lake route were also included in this designation.

The travel to Los Angeles from Texas promises to be good.—Fort Worth Star-Telegram.

The Income Tax or Receiver for the Nation.

Alfred Henry Lewis in New York American.

Washington, Mar. 30.—Mr. Taft believes in an income tax. He also believes that the country will soon have to have an income tax or go into the hands of a receiver. There is deficit which has the growing qualities of a pumpkin vine. The one sure thing about it is that it is bigger every morning than it was the night before. Mr. Payne's tariff bill to be sure, intended to take care of that deficit. But no one believes it will. Mr. Taft, in particular, has doubts. He does not look to see the revenue total increase under the Payne measure. Wherefore he falls back, or, rather, is driven back upon that scheme of an income tax.

Confident that the country must by a soon day come to it, Mr. Taft has had Mr. Wickersham, his attorney general, prepare the crude draft of a bill. It is a graduated plan of taxation, and begins by exempting incomes under $4000 a year.

Mr. Taft had Representative Stevens, who also believes in an income tax, up to the White House to go over it with him. Not even a crude outline of what Mr. Taft has in mind can be gained. He guards the secret of his income tax feeling, at least so far as details are concerned, very jealously. He does not hide his belief, however, that the popular alternative is income tax trouble.

Aided by Mr. Wickersham, Mr. Taft and Mr. Stevens, whose Minnesota constituents, like himself, incline toward an income tax, will lick what Mr. Wickersham has got ready into final shape. Mr. Stevens will then introduce it.

The measure will be introduced during the present session. There will be no effort to pass it or make it a part of the present tariff bill. Mr. Taft believes in "every tub on its own bottom" and will make the income tax tub a thing by itself. At the regular session, next December, he will press the matter in a special message. Meanwhile the members of congress may look the business over in the hope of being inspired to suggest something better than this Taft-Wickersham measure which Mr. Stevens is to introduce.

The supreme court, forty-odd years ago, decided that an income tax was constitutional; something more than a decade ago, it decided that it was not. Mr. Taft is willing to put an income tax to a third and final test before that tribunal. The decision declaring an income tax to be in the face of the constitution was arrived at by a majority vote of one. Mr. Taft thinks that, given a third chance, the court will go back to its original view.

Before an income tax could come before the supreme court for adjudication as to its constitutionality, at least two, and perhaps three, supreme court vacancies will have occurred, and no one will be named, therefore, who is not a believer in the legality of an income tax.

Mr. Aldrich, the war chief of the senate republicans, is against an income tax, just as he is against an inheritance tax, a tax upon company dividends, revenue stamps and a tax on coffee. This position Mr. Aldrich has laid bare to Mr. Taft. The latter, however, keeps pegging away at the idea, and the words of Mr. Aldrich go by him like the idle wind. With a president urging it, and a deficit crying for it, an income tax within the twelve-month need not be a surprise.

Speaking of tariff, Mr. Aldrich's finance committee is already going through every dark and winding in-and-out of the Payne bill with a lantern. Mr. Aldrich wants his committee work to be as farward a state as is possible when the bill comes over from the house.

Yesterday chemicals was the subject. Today the earthenware schedule came in for a looking over. With all this time-saving industry and work in anticipation, however, the old experienced scouts of tariff do not say that the bill will be ready for the signature of the president before August.

They refer to the Dingley bill. Congress convened March 15. An industry equal to the present was shown at both ends of the capitol. And yet it was July 26 before the completed measure was sent to the White House. Some of our statesmen offer a unique

 'dry.'

Curing folks of the whisky habit means a falling off of revenue. To meet that falling off, the tax on tea was conceived. The tax is proposed more readily since, almost to a man, or rather woman, those warriors of reform, now fighting the demon rum,
 drink tea.

Our statesmen insist that a tax on tea, under the circumstances, is poetical, not to say political, justice. It compels those who produced a shortage to meet it, and make good from their own pockets.

A Study in Anatomy.
 The brain is the headquarters of the nervous system and contains the central offices of the Anatomical Telephone company.

When the suburban nerve center
 says, "Hello, central," the brain either replies "What number?" or "Busy" or
 "Out of order," as the case may be.

Sometimes the wires are crossed and the company fails to declare any dividends, thus placing the entire brain in the hands of a receiver.

From the brain issues the spine,
 which is sometimes useful in matrimony, although rarely strong enough in man for practical purposes and constantly growing weaker the longer he is married.

On top of the head the hair grows, or is supposed to. In some cases, however, it fails to grow despite the most painstaking efforts.

In ladies there are two kinds of hair —viz, the imported and domestic. In gentlemen also two kinds—namely, permanent and transient. The permanent is seen in wild men, the transient in civilized men when young.

At one time all the hairs were carefully numbered, but the practice has been discontinued owing to great pressure of other matters.—Lippincott's

New Livery Stable.

We desire to announce to the public that our new brick livery and feed stable, located on Sixth street and Ohio avenue, is now open to those who wish to secure board for horses. Our facilities for caring for horses are unexcelled, and we will appreciate your patronage. Within a few days our buggies and horses will arrive, at which time we will be in a position to take care of a fair share of the livery business of this city. Yours to please,

Really Good Butter is Not Common

That's why we have it always in stock. We like to have uncommon things to please our customers and we make a specialty of good butter.

The chief difference in butter is care in milking, care in making, and care after it is made. We make a point of knowing about our butter from the cow to us—and then caring for it so you get it fresh and pure. This doesn't mean our butter is 'expensive'—only that it's good and costs no more than any other really good butter.

WEATHER FORECAST.

For Wichita Falls and vicinity
—Tonight fair and warmer with frost. Friday fair and warmer.

A Great Mystery.

There is one great mystery in God's universe—somehow flows a fountain of life, where is one of God's secrets. How far its waters flow we cannot tell. No human feet have tracked its streams in their wanderings. The Father has decreed that we must drink of it to live, and yet he blinds our eyes with sleep before he lets us drink. When we awake the strength of the stream is in us, and so we make the journey of the day. And the strange waters have strange powers. Soul darkness and despair are melted in them; fear and trouble shrivel; hope and strength are held in sweet solution in their wakes. Worn and weary with the care and fret, closing her eyes as the tired lids fall in the gloom of night, the faint mother slips into the stream of sleep, and then in a little while the morning comes, and a new woman looks out upon the day with the secret of a new creation in her soul, new power and courage born of the waters of life.—Sturges (Ky.) News-Democrat.

"Humble Pie."

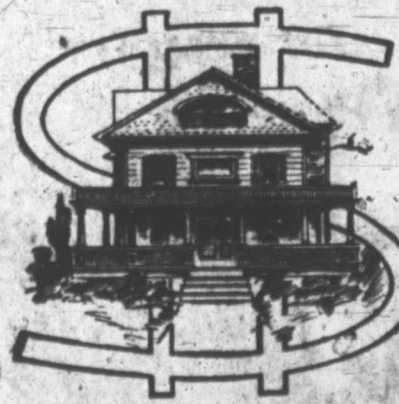

Originally the term "humble pie" carried no opprobrious meaning. The pie was one made out of the "humbles" or "numbles," from the Norman French "nombria"—i. e., the entrails of a deer. To this day it is highly esteemed in Scotland and in northern parts of England. So late as the time of Pepys "humble pie" was served as part of the menu of a gentleman's table on an extraordinary occasion. Some writers derive the contumelious use of the phrase "to eat humble pie" from an alleged custom of serving "umble pie" below the salt, or at the second table. But this is not supported by authority. It more probably came into use simply through the similarity of sound, there being no similarity of meaning whatever between the noun umbles or numbles and the adjective humble.

The Law of Gravitation.

In 1686—seventy-seven years before the publication of Newton's "Principia"—Shakespeare in the play of "Troilus and Cressida," act 4, scene 2, makes one of his characters say: "Do to this body what extremity you can. But the strong base and building of my love is as the very center of the earth. Drawing all things to it." This would seem to look very like the announcement of the law of gravity, and yet nothing can possibly be truer than the fact that the great poet did not in any substantial sense anticipate the philosopher. Between Shakespeare's fancy and the scientific triumph of Newton there is an infinite difference.—New York American.

Moral Courage.

A schoolteacher once told her class that the courage which makes us do what we think right, regardless of the sneers of others, was moral courage, the best kind. "Then if a boy has a box of candy, like me yesterday," said a lad, "and if he eats it all himself, without giving any to people that have no right to it, no matter how much they call him mean and stingy, that there's moral courage, ain't it, teacher?"

A Thrifty Hungarian.
A certain Hungarian peasant named Jan Hirsch made a business trip to Budapest, and while there he had the idea of ordering a hundred visiting cards. When he returned home he found, to his dismay, that the cards bore the name of Mavisch instead of Hirsch. It was only a printer's error, but to Jan Hirsch it meant a loss of a shilling and sixpence unless he could make use of the cards. He accordingly purchased for the sum of a shilling an official form of petition and filled it with a request to be allowed to alter his name to Mavisch. His prayer was granted. He is now Jan Mavisch—London News.

Lucky.

"Benoit, did you break the water bottle?"
"Yes, madame, but fortunately I broke it into only three pieces."
"Fortunately! How's that fortunate?"
"Oh, madame, when a thing breaks into many pieces it is so hard to pick them all up!"—Paris Journal.

The Producer.

"Does your husband play poker?"
"I don't know," answered young Mrs. Torkina. "From what I hear he simply sits up to the table and enjoys seeing other people contend for what he puts up."—Washington Star.

STYLISH SPRING SUITS WORSTEDS AND LINENS

The new shades of light weight worsteds in Spring suits are extremely delicate and very pleasing to even the most critical.

They are especially well suited to the prevailing styles of tailoring and makes it possible for even the lighter and darker complexions and slight and plump figures to secure not only a highly attractive and becoming shade but also a design that is most becoming.

The linens will be fully as popular too and the new weaves are going to induce many women who have never used linens before to use them this Spring and Summer.

We want you to call and see our Spring suit display for we have by all odds the largest most complete and—better than that—the most attractive line of suits at moderate prices while we also have the more expensive weaves also.

Better call soon for the extremely attractive display is producing rapid sales even now, and before long the selection will be broken.

Washington, D. C., April 1.—Although the Taft administration is not yet a month old, its startling contrasts to the Roosevelt regime are already sticking out like burrs on a chestnut.

In everything that President Taft does, whether in the line of work or play, politics or religion, exercise of brain or exercise of body, he is the absolute antithesis of the man who is now on the high seas bound for the Dark Continent. The very trip Mr.

Roosevelt is taking is typical of the differences between the two men. No

by the wildest stretch of the imagination could anyone conceive of a resident Taft forsaking the comforts of civilization for an invader of the African jungle. Moreover, it is doubtful if Mr. Taft ever killed a living creature knowingly; certainly he has not hunted for many years, and if he indulged in squirrel shooting or muskrat trapping

in his younger days, his oldest friends

have forgotten the fact.

The Roosevelt household goods were scarcely out of the White House before the attaches of the establishment realized that the "old home isn't like it used to be." The blue-coated police officers at the front door of the mansion disappeared, and two tall, chocolate colored negro butlers, with white shirt bosoms and gray vests, took their places. The white man at the door of the secretary to the president also vanished to make way for a colored man. The stable housing the jumpers, pacers and gallopers provided for President Roosevelt's use was transformed into a garage and two magnificent automobiles replaced the carriages that had conveyed the White House family

from place to place about the capital.

President Roosevelt never acquired a liking for devil wagons; President Taft fell in love with them on the first whirl.

From the first day of the administration the manner of handling visitors at the White House underwent a change.

The strenuous gave way to the peaceful. Roosevelt shot his handshakers through at the rate of fifty a minute.

Taft, when rushed, disposes of twenty or twenty-five. To hurry his business visitors out Roosevelt would invite half a dozen senators or congressmen

into his office and in a loud tone of voice would discuss the matters of appointing this or that man to this or that job. The statesmen who had expected to buttonhole the president in a corner and "pull off something on the quiet" were glad to get through the conversation in a jiffy, for every other man in the room was sure to go out and tell about it. This expedited things wonderfully, but it hurt the dignity of the lawmakers. That's one reason why so many senators and representatives carried paying blocks in their pockets for Mr. Roosevelt.

When President Taft makes an engagement to meet a senator or a con-drawbacks. It means more hard work, more hours of work for the president.

It means that scores of men who call at the White House do not see the president, after all. But those who do get in go away with a warmer regard for the man at the helm. They believe that the president has taken their stories to heart, and feel that he has, in a measure, assumed part of their burdens. Even if he has not been able to grant their requests, he has, at any rate, assured them of his friendliness.

In this, Mr. Taft resembles the late President McKinley. He has, also,

many of McKinley's mannerisms, and,

like the martyred executive, will undoubtedly go down in history as a

"placator"—a president who smoothed things with oil rather than the ax.

President Taft has announced that he will abandon the "referee" system in the South. He will allow the congressmen and senators some say-so in the selection of Federal officials

even though they be of the opposite political party. Mr. Roosevelt's appointments were made upon the recommendation of a small coterie of Southern republicans, many of whom were not in good odor with the best people of Dixie and whose selections

were often obnoxious to Southern sentiments.

Neither will President Taft make so many "personal appointments" as his predecessor. It has been the custom for more years than the oldest politician can remember, for the president of the United States occasionally to send a nomination to the senate and request that it be confirmed on "personal"

grounds. Until Mr. Roosevelt's hand grasped the tiller these personal appointments were few and far between,

for few executives ever abused the privilege. But he handed in so many of this kind that

gress, no two men could be more widely different. Roosevelt wrote them, apparently, morning, noon and night. They ran a perfect stream of words from the White House to Capitol Hill, and were upon every subject under the sun. Matrimony, art, war, science, simplified spelling, in-God-We-Trust on the coins, the raising of babies and the raising of diversified trouble were all meat for the something-doing-every-minute president, and he kept the world busy thinking and talking about him for seven and a half years. Presidential messages were the longest on record, as well as the most numerous, under the Roosevelt regime, and if present indications may be taken as a promise for the future, those of the present administration will be the shortest and most seldom. The only one that has been sent to congress by Taft thus far was that sent to the opening of the present extraordinary session of congress. It contained just 340 words.

Roosevelt "buted" into every line of human endeavor; Taft is not inclined to worry with problems that do not concern him or his work.

Roosevelt gloried in fierce physical exercise, whether with the boxing gloves, single sticks, horses or tennis racquets; Taft rides a little to keep down his flesh and plays an occasional game of golf to make his blood flow freely.

Roosevelt selected certain administration newspapers in which he put out "feelers" to test the pulse of the country; Taft treats all newspaper men alike and does not "play favorites."

Roosevelt preached against "race suicide" and praised the fathers and mothers of large families as the most desirable citizens; Taft believes that there is something better than the mere numerical propagation of the race, and not very long ago emphasized his views by pointing out the good that "old maids" may accomplish in the world.

But, after all, both are great big, able-bodied, full-blooded, virile Americans. Each handles the problems before him in his own way. Roosevelt made good with the people, and Taft gives promise of doing likewise.

About Commission Form of Government.

Austria, Tex., April 1.—The Texas Commercial Secretaries' Association has printed for free distribution a copy of House Bill No. 595, an Act to permit all towns and cities having a population of less than ten thousand inhabitants, whether incorporated or unincorporated, to adopt the commission form of government, consisting of three commissioners, one of whom shall be the mayor, to be elected at large from said village, town or city, to fix duties and powers of same, terms of office and compensation and declaring an emergency.

The bill provides that whenever ten per cent of the qualified voters of any village, town or city having a population of less than 10,000 shall petition the county judge, if the town is unincorporated and the mayor if the town is incorporated for an election to determine whether such village or town shall adopt the commission form of government that the judge or mayor shall order an election; that there shall be a mayor and two commissioners elected to serve for a term of two years and said commission shall hold regular meetings once a month for one day and shall receive for their services five dollars per day while in session. The commission has authority to appoint a clerk, who shall perform the duties of clerk, assessor, collector of taxes and treasurer and the said clerk shall, before entering upon his duties give bond for double the amount of annual current revenue; the commission also has authority to appoint a city attorney and police force and fix their salaries. Keep the Cellar Clean.

Many a woman who thinks she is making every effort to preserve the health of her family overlooks one place of vital importance—the cellar.

There is no place in the house where microbes collect more quickly or do more harm. A dusty cellar, one that is not aired daily or has damp walls and defective drains, will soon mean sickness.

The cellar should be as carefully cleaned as the drawing room or kitchen, nor should this cleaning be left to servants without daily inspection.

Ashes should not be permitted to accumulate, and decaying vegetables should at once be thrown out; a window or ventilator should be open most of the time, even in bitter cold weather and dust should be removed so as not to be carried up through the heaters into the house.

The slightest dampness should be watched and the cause ascertained. Whitewash is a great purifier and the walls should be frequently treated to fresh coats in which a little carbolic acid can be mixed as an extra precaution in the interest of health.

In renting a new house, look at the cellar before any other part is inspected; if it be not sanitary the health of the family will never be good. In building sacrifice fine woodwork and other ornamentation to well-built, light, airy, cemented cellars.
