WICHITA FALLS, TEXAS, MONDAY APRIL 5, 1909

NUMBER 281

To the Citizens of Wichita Falls

We ask your solid support at the polls Tuesday for the issuance of $15,000 bonds for a new jail. This measure is unanimously recommended by the directors of our Chamber of Commerce as being needed.

We do not believe it will necessitate any change in taxation whatever, but it could not possibly exceed fifteen cents per year on each $1000 of taxable property. Be sure to go to the polls and vote "For Bonds."

Let us keep up our record of standing together and never failing to get what we go after.

SENSATION IS EXPECTED

It is Believed That the Defense Will Spring Sensational Counter Charges.

By Associated Press.
Tulsa, Ok., April 5.—Gov. Haskell and six other prominent Oklahomans, under indictment for alleged fraud in the Muskogee town lot cases, appeared in the United States circuit court today ready for trial. Judge Marshall of Utah is the presiding judge. The day's program first called for the disposition of the motion to quash the indictment, which was filed at Muskogee March 14th by the defendants, in which sensational allegations are made.

The defense has demanded the notes taken during the grand jury investigation. It is evident that the defense expects to spring sensational counter charges. The arguments will probably last several days.

THREE ELECTIONS FOR TOMORROW

COUNTY WILL DETERMINE JAIL BOND ISSUE MATTER—OPPOSITION HAS DEVELOPED.

SEVEN SCHOOL TRUSTEES TO REBUILD DISTRICT

For Independent District Also to Be Chosen—Three Councilmen to Be Elected.

Along with Clean-Up Day tomorrow, the citizens of Wichita Falls will be interested in three elections.

One is an election to determine whether the county shall issue $7,000 in bonds for the purpose of building a new county jail. Qualified tax-paying voters can vote on this question.

Another election that will be held tomorrow is for the election of three new members of the city council to succeed W. E. Skeen, G. D. Anderson and B. J. Bean, whose terms will expire with the election of their successors.

The third election, which is fully as important as any of the others, is to elect seven members of the board of school trustees for the Wichita Falls independent school district. Qualified tax-paying voters residing in the school district can participate in this election.

Much interest is manifested in this election, as the trustees who are elected tomorrow will select the sites for the new school buildings and will have charge of the expenditure of thousands of dollars for the erection of new buildings. Two tickets are in the field, as follows:

W. J. Bullock, T. J. Taylor, L. C. Hinckley, J. L. Downing, W. W. Brown, W. E. Frieze, M. J. Gardner.

The other ticket is comprised of the following: T. J. Waggoner, E. B. Stevens, W. F. Jourdan, W. W. Brown, L. C. Hinckley, W. E. Frieze, M. J. Gardner.

Testimony Shakes McCue's Alibi. Texas News Service Special.
Fort Worth, Tex., April 5.—The State spring sensational evidence today in the case of Frank McCue, charged with the murder of Earl Mabry over two years ago in Dallas. It is expected that all the evidence will be in tonight.

George Hare, a motorman, testified that he saw McCue talking to Mabry shortly before the killing.

W. H. Earby, a saloon man, said he saw McCue walking from the place of the murder on the night of the crime.

Today's evidence to a large extent shakes McCue's alibi.

LOSS ESTIMATED AT THREE MILLION

FIRE INSURANCE ADJUSTERS WILL BE KEPT BUSY A WEEK IN FORT WORTH.

FASHIONABLE RESIDENCES WILL GO UP

Where Flames Made Clean Sweep Saturday Afternoon.

Texas News Service Special.
Fort Worth, April 5.—Investigation today following Saturday's fire which caused over three million dollars loss here, has revealed the fact that the Texas and Pacific railroad lost thirty-five first-class twenty engines in the destruction of the round house. This increases the total loss two hundred and ten thousand dollars, making their total loss three-fourths of a million.

The fire insurance companies are adjusting claims today but will be at least a week before they are finally settled.

Because of the clean sweep of the flames contests are unlikely.

The burned area will be rebuilt into one of the most fashionable districts of the city. Five hundred linemen and workmen were busy all night and today clearing away the debris and stringing wires. Two hundred children were unable to attend school today, their books and clothing were lost in the fire.

In another fire which destroyed six small dwellings early this morning Mayor Harris fought the flames in his night clothes.

A party of negroes today reported to the police that Saturday's fire was incendiary and was started by a negro for malicious purposes.

A negro, George Harris, is under arrest, but nothing has been proven against him yet.

The negroes threaten to lynch any black proven guilty. The police are investigating the rumors.

Aftermath of the Fire. Dallas News.
Fort Worth, Tex., April 4.—With 320 acres of the area of the city swept bare by fire, causing a loss of not less than $2,000,000 and very probably $2,500,000, and with 5,000 homeless people, citizens of Fort Worth this morning faced the emergency which confronted them and decided to meet it themselves without the intervention of outside aid.

Within a short time they had subscribed $15,000 to a relief fund and expressed the determination to make it $20,000 before another twenty-four hours passed.

Today the homeless people have all been given shelter of some kind or fashion, principally in the homes of friends, neighbors, acquaintances or even strangers, though some few have been given direct assistance. Their belongings are scattered far and wide, principally under cover, but some lying exposed to the weather on vacant lots and in the railroad reservation under guard of some small boy or other member of the family.

The burned area is a blackened waste, patrolled by the militia, whose yellow government tents are arranged soldier-fashion on the lawn of the High school and this charred expanse of what was once a populous residential section is now peopled, and only temporarily, by an occasional late property owner, armed with a permit from the authorities, and seeking to recover something that had been lost.

Thousands of sightseers, not only from this city, but from surrounding towns and cities, have thronged the streets and bridges within sight of the ruined district, deterred by the soldiers from getting a closer view.

To Captains, Volunteers and Citizens

the district will unquestionably be rebuilt. He says that it will either be rebuilt in residences or in business houses, or both.

The excitement has died away; there is no actual suffering and the situation has resolved itself into one wherein many have lost the roof that sheltered them, if not their worldly belongings as well, but these are not in actual want, and the most prominent people of the city, with the United Charities, have the relief work firmly in hand and anticipate no trouble, confusion or difficulty in bringing it to a successful conclusion.

PLATFORM DEMANDS URGED BY BRYAN

PARTY PLEDGES ARE BINDING—DECLARES COMMONER IN ADDRESS IN AUSTIN.

BANK GUARANTY BILL

Is Especially Urged By Nebraskan. Bill for Relief of Fort Worth Fire Sufferers.

Texas News Service Special.
Austin, Tex., April 5.—William Jennings Bryan, not having a "big stick" cracked the party whip above the heads of the legislators here today. Its snap aroused much comment among the members.

Bryan spoke in the house and at once launched into a heated discussion of the bank guaranty deposit bill, which is having a difficult time in the legislature.

"Party pledges are binding," declared Bryan. "I am indifferent to what your platform pledges may be, but live up to them. I know that national platforms stand for protecting depositors and if not observed in Texas then what I say goes for naught. You had better read it before adjourning."

Bryan said that he had bought a ranch on the Rio Grande and will feel more like depositing his profits in the Texas banks if the guaranty bill is passed.

Bryan also reviewed the cause of his recent defeat, but always he would return to the guaranty measure with intense positiveness. Gov. Campbell, seated near him, smiled broadly.

The opinion is expressed here that Bryan's address will lose rather than gain votes for the measure.

Wortham and Fitzhugh are drawing up a measure to relieve the inhabitants of the burned area in Fort Worth from paying taxes in 1909. It is believed the measure will be passed promptly.

MISTOOK HIS WIFE FOR A BURGLAR

Texas News Service Special.
Beaumont, Tex., April 5.—Clifford Cogburn, formerly of Houston, now manager for the Texas Loan Company, mistook his wife for a burglar early this morning and shot her through the neck. Her condition is critical, but she has a chance to recover.

Cogburn was awakened by a noise and investigated. His wife followed him and when the two met in the darkness, he fired. The husband is frantic.

$15,000 Fire Loss at Gainesville. Texas News Service Special.
Gainesville, Tex., April 5.—Fires here early this morning destroyed the residence and contents belonging to W. G. Wofford and Davenport's confectionery store. J. M. Patterson's dry goods store was damaged. The loss will reach $15,000. The origin of the fire is unknown.

"Annie Laurie," that favorite old Scotch ballad, sang as a beautiful duet tonight by the Putman sisters at the Majestic.

The headquarters of the Clean-Up organization will be at the Chamber of Commerce in the new City Hall and volunteers not otherwise assigned should report there in the morning. Drivers of wagons should do likewise unless already assigned to some district. More wagons are needed and should tender their services.

Captains should phone headquarters, No. 309, reporting condition of their forces, need of wagons, etc., as early in the morning as they can size up the situation. This will enable the proper distribution of forces.

A sack of lime will be given to every team to deliver to captain of each district to scatter in places deemed necessary and along the gutters. Captains not receiving sand will notify headquarters.

Volunteers should come equipped with rake or shovel. In the absence of equipment citizens in the district volunteers work are requested to loan desired implements. Citizens are also requested to volunteer their assistance in the general work of cleaning up vacant lots, streets and alleys. Each resident is expected to clean his own premises but a large number of volunteers are yet needed for the general work.

Captains, volunteers and wagon men are urged and directed to cease their labor at 11:30 a. m., and go to the Airborne for dinner. Music will be furnished by the Wichita Concert Band. Overalls will be appropriate at the dinner as it will not be a dress affair but a dinner for workers. All business houses will be closed for the day.

R. J. BEAN, MYLES O'REILLY, J. T. MONTGOMERY, Clean-Up Committee.

Clean-Up Day Notes. Postmaster Bacon is in receipt of a letter from first assistant postmaster general giving permission to observe holiday hours at the postoffice tomorrow so that the employes can help in the clean-up day work.

A Good Dinner Resured. Out of twenty ladies committee appointed at the ladies meeting for the purpose of soliciting eatables, eighteen of the committee reported excellent results. This is a gratifying result and verifies the interest the ladies are taking in the clean-up movement.

The big picnic dinner will be given at the Airborne tomorrow at noon and a general good time with plenty to eat is assured. All workers are urged to avail themselves of the ladies' hospitality. Music will enliven the noon hour and photographs will be taken for publication purposes in newspapers.

Intense interest is being displayed by all citizens and much work has already been accomplished. Tomorrow every loyal citizen of Wichita Falls is expected to do his share and not go fishing.

A "Marked Man" Alive and on Top.
Mention of the police recalls one of the strange reverses which time is said to bring about. A few years ago when the force in this city was being investigated by the legislature's "Lexow Committee," the thing most necessary that some police officer of prominence should be forced or coaxed or otherwise moved to "peach" on some of his associates, on the theory that "When rogues fall out," etc. He was found—an industrious, fearless, useful young giant named Schmitzberger, a man who had been known to tackle single-handed a frenzied murderer, a gang of toughs, or with a handful of men do a "forlorn hope" act so gallantly and successfully as to win the admiration of battle-scarred soldiers. But there were wrongdoings in town that required a different kind of courage; they needed the moral grit that can overcome an itching palm of one's own when somebody stands ready to poultice the palm with greenbacks. Urged by his wife and by her pastor, it is said, he went on the witness stand and confessed misdeeds of his own to an extent that was assurance of some gray indictments and the regulation number of prison stripes. He also charged so many crooked doings to some of his high-up associates that when proceedings against him were suspended everybody wondered why he did not skip the town and hide himself in Darkest Africa or go in search of the North Pole and remain as far out on the ice as he could get. Some men exposed by him were as brave as he and not of a kind to forgive an injury; and they knew how to hit a man from ambush without a possibility of detection. Besides, he professed to be penitent; a penitent and a hypocrite are one and the same thing to some men, and a hypocrite is fair game for anybody. Plainly, Schmitzberger was a marked man; his life was not worth a year's purchase; some people said he would be killed within a month.

All this occurred more than a dozen years ago, but Schmitzberger still lives. Instead of going into hiding or wasting his savings on a bodyguard, he put himself under charge of Rev. Dr. Parkhurst, the city's most prominent vice-chaser, who is said to have declined the job, apparently doubting the penitence of a police officer as much as anybody. But Schmitzberger insisted on reporting to Parkhurst frequently, almost daily, and not only on unbosoming himself, but giving some "straight" information concerning varieties and whereabouts of crimes which the reverend gentleman held in special detestation and which he was trying to run down with agents of his own anti-vice society. In time he won Parkhurst's respect and esteem, he returned to police duty, made a better record than before, maintained it year by year, and cleaned up or cleaned out one after another of the most vice-infested police precincts of the city. A few days ago, after the retirement of Chief Inspector Cortright, long and justly known as "The Honest Cop," Schmitzberger was promoted to the highest position under the Police Commissioner. Some of the worst offenders against whom he turned informer still live and their memories and wits are as keen as ever; perhaps they are "laying" for him; but any veteran policeman has taken his life in his hands so many times and against so many enemies, seen and unseen, that his last moment is the last thing he ever thinks of. Now that he is at the Commissioner's right hand perhaps the aldermen will vote General Bingham the money he still asks for secret detective work, but I wouldn't like to say so to an alderman until quite sure that he knows how to take a joke.

But the aldermen are not always stingy with the city's money. They have just voted three hundred thousand dollars to the Commission which has charge of next September's twin memorial celebration, the discovery by Hendrick Hudson of the river which bears his name and Robert Fulton's inauguration of steam navigation on the same river. The State has promised a half million dollars more and private subscriptions are to increase the total to a million and a quarter. The Commission has planned festivities that will fill an entire fortnight, and there are to be private and semi-public additions and sideshows almost numberless. September is yet almost half a year distant, but now is the time for out-of-town people who wish to take in the entire show to make positive arrangements for their bed and board. New York's hotels are fairly full, even when nothing in particular is going on; I have known respectable people with plenty of luggage and money to be driven to several in succession before they could get rooms. In times of stress and press the managers can squeeze many cots into a single room, but there are limits and no hotel has yet been built of India rubber. One of the attractions of the occasion will be the new river steamer Robt. Fulton, which is to be the finest thing of her kind afloat, being about three hundred and fifty feet long, with more than ten horse power per lineal foot, capacity for four thousand passengers, and a speed of twenty-five miles per hour. And she was designed to do all her running by daylight and on the handsomest and most interesting river in America.

More than a Half Million a Year for Doing Nothing.

It is generally believed that anyone in New York who is really willing to drop a large sum of money for a specific purpose can find some one ready to take it, especially when the taker is not expected to give up any visible tangible property in return. Yet it seems that fifty thousand dollars a month, more than half a million a year has been waiting for a long time for the only man entirely appropriate as a taker yet who refused to touch it. He was not even asked to do anything in return for the money; on the contrary, he was merely expected to refrain from doing anything whatever regarding certain matters within his purview—matters which presumably might be let alone without anyone being the wiser. The name of the offerer of the money has not been divulged, but he who refused the cash was General Bingham, our Commissioner of Police. Quite naturally he thinks that if his office could be put up at auction it might bring a big price from some one of the many shrewd chaps whose knowledge of the inside of things enables them to see what money might be made out of the job. If a Commissioner could make more than half a million a year by doing nothing whatever in certain matters there probably are other matters that also might be let alone at a stipulated price, and so long as the police continue visible and draw their pay, and do their full duty at parades and fights and fires, as they always do, who would be any the wiser? The subject is worthy of contemplation by the thoughtful residents of every city and also of every town big enough to have a police force, for the police are the only disturbers to be feared by certain kinds of business which consist principally of profit—big profit.

A Four-Million Dollar Building on Leased Ground.

Another biggest-thing-of-its-kind is about to appear in New York, and, for obvious reasons, to remain here. It is a four-million-dollar department store which is to occupy the full front of a Broadway block, be four hundred feet deep, a hundred and fifty feet high and has twenty-three acres of floor space. Aside from the cost of the building is the rental charges on the site; the ground could not be purchased, but New York shop keepers don't let a little thing like that stand in their way when they are ready to put four millions into a building. One of them is known to be paying, on a sliding scale, an even hundred thousand dollars a year for ground rent. Unlike merchants in most other lines of business, who look for a site apart, where they may control the trade of the vicinity, the department store people seem to delight in getting as close together as possible, as if they were satisfied to catch the overflow of their neighbors. In the block next to the new building referred to is one of the city's newest and largest in the same line of business; on the next block to this is another, equally new and enormous, and all day long both of them are as full of men and women as can move about uncomforably in. Where all the customers come from is a mystery to city folks who are accustomed to such places, of which New York has many. Where all the customers' money comes from is still another mystery. But the owners of the stores are not worrying on either subject, for their patrons seem to be getting what they want and they themselves are sure that they are getting the money. Neither do they lose any sleep over the appearance of a new competitor, for they know that "Competition is the life of trade," would-be monopolists to the contrary notwithstanding.

Ask us about that special we have on assorted canned goods. It is a money saver.

The Season's Hat Agitation.
The "lords of the creation" are again side tracking the discussion of affairs of state in order that they may indulge in their favorite pastime of poking fun at the season's marvelous creations in woman's headgear. Having by their criticisms induced the relegation of the "Merry Widow" style of hat, a really lovely creation, to the past, they now seek to make odious the new style which succeeds it in the affection of the feminine world. The new creation had scarcely ventured out of the band box before the army of self-constituted, but ungallant critics, commenced their assault upon it.

As a sample of the ironical criticism to which it is being subjected, in the press, on the streets, everywhere, note the following from the Shreveport Times: "The new hat, instead of spreading all over creation turns down covering the head to the collarbone, or to the wishbone. If you want to be ultra-fashionable. It looks, ensemble, like a cross between a saloon sawdust cuspidor and what Mary Ann boils the spuds in. But we endorse the new hat, cheerfully and generously. It is not in the way. It will cover up freckles, bells and pug noses. It requires no hair to make it sit on right, and we'll pay loss for hair. It can be used as a waste basket, ash receiver or, to sleep the baby in. Yes, we editorially like that hat, bully. It, to be sure, may be carried to an extreme and make a woman look like a tom cat with his head fast in a tomato can, but the looks of the thing is a matter that is wholly up to the woman folk. Of course, it's something of a financial hardship for a fellow to have the style change radically before he's got the mortgage on last year's "Merry Widow" layout paid, but as heretofore intimated, we'll be able to make quite a saving on hair and so, Long may the new hat wave!"

While it is very true that "in her hours of ease woman is uncertain, coy and hard to please," still she is extremely sensitive to criticism, although in her resentment she may never confess it, and for this reason we here and now forewarn the critics of the new style headgear, having due regard for the welfare of their pocket books, that the milliners' art is quickly responsive to woman's changing whims, and it is, therefore, better to endure the hat of her latest choosing than to risk others that we know not of before the season is half gone.

By all means let's give it at least a fighting chance to win admiration.

Why Street Trees Die.

Street trees suffer more from lack of air than from any other cause. On one side is cement walk and on the other graveled, oiled or paved street. There trees usually die from an insufficient application of water, for if plenty were given the tree the soil would be fairly aerated. When water enters the soil the air is driven out, and as the water recedes fresh air takes its place, so that frequent waterings will result in frequent airings. Another cause of poor growth in street trees is lack of food. The space about the tree is limited, and seldom is fertilizer given or the minimum of soil stirred. Trees are unable to absorb mineral fertilizers except they are taken up by the roots in a solution of soil water. Many fertilizers now in the soil may be slowly "unlocked" by frequent cultivation. Applications of other fertilizers often hasten the same process. Keeping thrifty street trees by feeding them through the scant area usually allowed in parkways may be likened to keeping a human being in robust health by feeding him through a straw. Cultivate and irrigate street trees thoroughly and fertilize little, but often.

THE NEW VAGRANCY LAW.

The new vagrancy law, passed by the present session of the State legislature, has been signed by the governor and will go into effect 90 days from the date of adjournment of the regular session. It is one of the most sweeping acts ever passed by a State legislature, and if the courts hold it to be constitutional, it is going to work a very radical change in Texas. Able-bodied idlers of all classes will either have to go to work or land in jail, while those persons engaged in selling liquor in local option communities are going to find themselves classed as vagrants.

The new law is virtually a reproduction of the Mississippi law, and the minimum penalty for its violation is a fine of $200. Below is a portion of its definition of vagrants:

The list of persons defined as vagrants under this act includes fortune tellers, bands of gypsies, clairvoyants, etc. According to this act the following persons are and shall be punished as vagrants: Persons known as tramps, wandering or strolling about in idleness, who are able to work and have no property to support them; persons leading an idle life, immoral or profligate life, who have not property to support them, and who are able to work and do not work; all persons able to work, who have no property to support them, and who have no visible means of a fair, honest and reputable livelihood. The term "visible or known means of a fair, honest and reputable livelihood," as used herein, shall be construed to mean reasonably continuous employment at some lawful occupation for a reasonable compensation or a fixed and regular income from property or other investments, which income is sufficient for the support and maintenance of such person; all able-bodied persons who habitually loaf, loiter or idle in any city, town or village or railroad station, or any other public place in this State, for the larger portion of their time, without any regular employment and without any visible means of support; persons for the most part out of a job, is defined as a vagrant; persons trading or bartering stolen property or who unlawfully sell any vinous, alcoholic, malt or intoxicating liquors; every common gambler or person who for the most part maintains himself by gambling; all companies of gypsies who, in whole or in part, maintain themselves by telling fortunes; every able-bodied person who shall go begging for a livelihood; every common prostitute; every keeper of a house of prostitution; every keeper of a house of gambling or gaming; every person who shall abandon his wife or child or children without support or in danger of becoming a public charge; all persons who are able to work and do not work, but hire out their minor children; all persons between the ages of 16 and 21 able to work and do not work and have no visible means of support and who are not attending some educational institution; all persons who advertise themselves and maintain themselves in whole or in part as clairvoyants or fortune tellers of future events, or as having supernatural knowledge with respect to present or future conditions; all male persons who habitually associate with prostitutes or habitually loiter in or around houses of prostitution, or who, without having any visible means of support, receive financial aid or assistance from prostitutes.

THE WORLD'S EMPTY THEORY.

The New York World does not like the "new color line" which President Taft has established by declaring he will appoint no negroes to office against the wishes of the whites most directly concerned. And, it further says, it cannot approve of the virtual nullification of the fifteenth amendment. "Good as the president's intentions no doubt are," says the World, "it is hardly possible that the course which he has mapped out for himself is to be a finality in American politics."

This is a strange note to come from a great journal of democratic leanings, but the World has frequently advocated what has come to be known as Crumpackerism. It has no sympathy with the efforts of the white people of the South to preserve Anglo-Saxon civilization in the Southern States and at the same continue to bear the burden of preparing the negro for useful service and citizenship. It believes the time must come when the tenets of negrophilism will be enforced throughout the South, but it is greatly mistaken.

The most absurd theory of the World is that the unleashing of millions of ignorant negroes in the political arena of the South would elevate them. Men who are intelligent and informed know that it would be the very worst thing that could possibly happen to the negro, because it would first of all destroy the sympathy and encouragement of the white race for the negroes, and without this sympathy and encouragement, negroes could not rise in the world. Intelligent men know that it would create a condition of chronic disorder in many places, with the ultimate result, in all probability, of a race war of extermination. They know it would not only destroy many portions of the South in an economic sense, but would profoundly affect economic conditions throughout the United States.

The Southern people know their ground as well as their duty. They are going to hold their ground and discharge their duty and theorists of the World type or fanatics of the Crumpacker type will never be able to change the order.

True, the electoral and congressional representation of some of the Southern States may be reduced some day, but no threat of that character can ever prompt the Southern people to place their local governments in the hands of negroes. Mr. Taft has a more intelligent understanding of conditions in the South than the World has, and he seems to be endowed with a vaster quantity of common sense for which the country should be profoundly grateful.—Houston Post.

The report of the grand jury of Fannin county March 27, 1909, reports ninety indictments, thirty-three for felonies and fifty-seven for misdemeanors. This report comes from Bonham, whose papers are constantly having something mean to say of our beloved "Windy West."

The Times has no grudge against the doctors, but believes that if everybody will clean up on their premises on April 6th, there will be fewer calls next summer for their services.

Fully Aged Pure Cider Vinegar

Possibly you don't know just how much time, care and what special processes are necessary to make a good vinegar.

There are artificial methods for aging, coloring and flavoring vinegar but vinegars so treated are never as good as the properly made vinegars are.

It sometimes takes months or even years to age vinegar properly and for this purpose the Heinz people have large storage tanks and warehouses kept at certain temperatures where their different kinds of vinegars are kept until "ripe."

The right color, rich full flavor and exquisite aroma of Heinz Pure Cider Vinegar are all natural and due to the use of first class materials and methods.

The Hen and the Southwest.

A recent dispatch from Wichita Falls (Tex.) tells of the shipment of four cartloads of eggs from that place within the preceding week. To the lay mind in the East, Wichita Falls is "way out West." The Eastern pictures Wichita Falls as a place where the sixshooter and the sombrero are the principal requisites of the "gentleman person's" toilet, if one may add a pair of boots and spurs. Many pretty well-informed Easterners would not be surprised at any time to pick up the morning paper and read about the Indians having invaded Wichita Falls and massacred the population and burned the village.

Well, the "village" consists of about ten thousand of the liveliest and most modernized people one ever "jumped up." There is not an idea of modern convenience which is not to be found in Wichita Falls. The electric cars will be in operation in a few weeks and all other conveniences of modernism are already at hand.

These shipments of eggs are not the result of any special poultry raisers' efforts, but are the surplus hen fruit of the farms around that city and over the trade territory tributary to Wichita Falls. Be it remembered that Wichita Falls is not alone in the matter of car load eggs and poultry shipments to the East. Waxahachie, Hillsboro, Temple, Fort Worth and a number of other towns in the State are shipping regularly car loads of poultry and eggs to the East and every ounce of poultry and every dozen of eggs is strictly a by-product of the farms. This does not mean that there would not be good money in the poultry farm. There would be plenty of profit in making the hen the main feature of extensive operations, carrying on at the same time a small farm for raising the food for winter and for the broods. Chicken and turkey raisers in Texas say that this is the easiest money on the farm, and as the fowls roost out of doors all the year round with perfect impunity, the cost of buildings is practically nothing.

This is one of the other things that the Southwest has to offer the man who wants to make an easy living, or if he is willing to work diligently, the poultry field is an unworked gold mine.

Postoffice Receipts Continue to Show Good Gains.

For the year ending March 31, 1909, the receipts at the Wichita Falls postoffice were $23,306, a gain of $5,270 over the previous year.

The receipts for the quarter ending March 31, were $7,005.11, and for the month of March alone were $2,256.

STYLISH SPRING SUITS WORSTEDS AND LINENS

The new shades of light weight worsteds in Spring suits are extremely delicate and very pleasing to even the most critical.

They are especially well suited to the prevailing styles of tailoring and makes it possible for even the lighter and darker complexions and slight and plump figures to secure not only a highly attractive and becoming shade but also a design that is most becoming.

The linens will be fully as popular too and the new weaves are going to induce many women who have never used linens before to use them this Spring and Summer.

We want you to call and see our Spring suit display for we have by all odds the largest most complete and—better than that—the most attractive line of suits at moderate prices while we also have the more expensive weaves also.

Better call soon for the extremely attractive display is producing rapid sales even now, and before long the selection will be broken.

OF INTEREST TO WOMEN

To remove paint from window glass rub a little vinegar on the spots.

Art ticking braided in fancy designs, is much used for bureau covers.

Scarfs of black tulle draped around the shoulders are exceedingly smart for evening wear.

Cut glass should be washed in strong soap suds and then polished with sawdust and chamois leather.

All-over soutached net yokes and gumpes are considered an exceedingly smart finish to the one-piece dress.

The newest madras curtains no longer show the deep border at the bottom of the curtains, but use it as a frieze.

A new idea in trimming linen suits is to braid them with hempen strings, the same kind that is used for tying up parcels.

The craze for embroideries of every description on all kinds of gowns still continue with a preference for glittering embroideries.

When lamps are clogged with oil, the burners should be boiled in a very strong solution of soda and allowed to get thoroughly dry before being used again.

It is poor economy to use old and frayed rags for cleaning and the rag carried off into the pipes makes troubles for the plumbers and an unnecessary bill for the householder.

To preserve blankets that are badly worn, patch all holes too large to be darned; then cover with cheese cloth and tack with colored yarn or worsted.
Buttonhole with the yarn across the ends.

When stitching with a machine on muslin, gauze or other thin material, lay it over thin paper. This will prevent puckering and after the work is done the paper may be easily torn away, leaving the work smooth.

A point to be given the new waitress is that china plates, cups and saucers should not be piled one upon another while they are hot. They must be cool before they are packed, otherwise the glaze will crack easily.

Shoes that have become stiff and uncomfortable by having been worn in the rain or that have been lying unused for some time, may be made soft and pliable by vaseline well rubbed in with a cloth and rubbed off with a dry cloth.

To clean tarnished silver it should be well washed in a strong solution of soda in hot water, then re-dipped into fresh boiling water, dried, afterward cleaning in the ordinary way with whitening, mixed into a paste with methylated spirits or ammonia.

At last some one has discovered how to make down pillows, which will not shed their feathers. Wax the inner covering and the down will not be able to work through the two covers. To do this, iron the wrong side of the ticking wit ha hot flatiron, liberally rubbed with beeswax.

Ivory knife handles may be whiten-ed and kept white if they are occasionally soaked in alum water. The alum must boil first and then be allowed to cool. After the knives have remained in the water an hour, remove them and brush with a nail brush and then allow them to dry slowly in a wet linen towel.

ed by Thos. T. Christian, also from the Kansas City Veterinary College, and who is on the ground ready for business. Office, room 8 in Moore-Bate-

NEW HIGH SCHOOL BUILDING.

Mr. Huff Thinks It Should Not Be Located On the Tenth Street Site.

Editor Times:
As Mr. Bullock has asked for an expression on the school question, will state that I do not think that the new High School building should be erected on Tenth street property. I do not consider that a suitable place even now, and as the city grows it will be worse.

The new building should be erected on a higher location where more room can be had. Even High School students should have enough grounds for exercises and recreation.

The Board should grant the request of A. D. Terrell and give that section a school building. I think the citizens north of the Denver should have a Ward building, rather than make small children cross the railroad yards to get to school.

I should not object to spending $50,000 on school buildings if the money can be raised on this class of improvements, directly beneficial to the majority of our people, and indirectly benefitting all.

WILL BE READY FRIDAY

Times Illustrated Special Edition Can Be Mailed On a 2 Cent Postage Rate Per Copy.

The Times Illustrated Special Edition will be ready for distribution on Friday the 9th. It will be 40 pages, consisting of about 190 half tone cuts. The postage on this edition will be two cents per copy. The price of the Times Illustrated Special Edition is 10 cents exclusive of postage. Those wanting any of this edition should put in their orders immediately because the indications are that they all will be sold out by the middle of next week. The demands for copies of this special edition have been, we believe, unprecedented in the careers of any newspapers of Texas, published outside of Dallas or Houston, and certainly never approached by any newspaper published in any city of less than 20,000 population in this state.

Put in your orders now. The Times will mail copies of this Special Illustrated Edition to any part of the United States or Mexico, postage paid, at 12 cents per copy. Don't delay ordering and get left by so doing.

Orders can be given to the Times' agent, Master Leslie Howard, or phone No. 167.

AMUSEMENTS

The Big Bittner Company Will Remain.
 Manager C. W. Bean, recognizing the immense hit that has been made by the Bittner Company, has arranged to prolong their stay for another week, which will in turn be extended to three weeks if business warrants it. The Bittner company are due in Waco for a two weeks engagement starting May 3rd and will extend their engagement here until April 24th if conditions warrant it. During the coming week the Bittner company will present on Monday night, "Adrift in New York," Tuesday night "The Opium Fiend," Thursday night "Eben Holden," Friday night "The Squaw Man," Saturday matinee and night "The Black Flag."

In spite of the fact that the company has already been here for two weeks there seems to be no cessation in the demand for seats. Tuesday night Manager Bittner hopes to have another packed house, so he can have a flashlight picture taken to go with the one he has of the Grand Opera House in Amarillo.

Revival at the Christian Church.
 At the meeting of the official board of the Christian church yesterday it was decided to begin a revival on April 25th to last indefinitely, the meeting to be conducted by home forces. We ask the co-operation of all the church people over the city and confidently expect our own people to put their best energies and prayerful efforts into the meeting.

Now let's sidetrack all else for a time and work for the salvation of lost souls and the reviving of the indifferent ones who have professed the name of Jesus. Our brother, J. W. Bradley, will lead the song service and all who will are earnestly asked to aid in this part of the service. The pastor will do the preaching and asks the prayers and the helpfulness of all who desire the upbuilding of the cause of our common Lord to join in this effort. May we have a glorious revival.
 A. J. BUSH, Pastor.

Card of Thanks.
 I wish to thank the people who so kindly contributed money to Mr. M. J. Gardner for the expenses of the burial of my wife and for sending my children to their grandparents at Quana, and also to the neighbors and friends who gave their help and sympathy during her illness and at her death.
