DEFENSE SEVERELY ARRAIGNED

Texas News Service Special.
Tulsa, Ok., April 7.—Special Counsel Rush, representing the government, severely arraigned the defense here today in the case in which Haskell and others are charged with fraudulently obtaining lands. Rush denounced the defense for filing a motion to quash the indictments and scored the attorneys for saying that the government had used improper methods to secure evidence.

Haskell's attorneys are aroused by the attack and will likely reply in a similar spirit. Rush said that the attorneys could be debarred for false statements.

Judge Stuart will follow for the defense. United States District Attor-

General Bonaparte.

Texas News Service Special.
Austin, Tex., April 7.—In the house today, Fitzhugh, joint author with Robertson of the bill regulating the liquor traffic, disowned the measure, declaring that it had been so amended and altered that it had fallen from the high plane of the strongest measure for controlling the liquor traffic to the weakest and that to pass it was a fatal mistake. Davis offered an amendment striking out the names of Fitzhugh and Robertson as authors in inserting in their places the names of Lee and Stratton. The amendment was ruled out of order.

The discussion of this bill occupied the house all morning and a number of minor amendments were offered.

NOTES ON "CLEAN-UP"

If the citizens of Wichita Falls had taken a stroll through the alleys in the down town business district a few days ago and compared their appearance of today, they would appreciate in a measure what was accomplished by Clean-Up Day. Considerable hauling needs to be done yet to remove all the debris gathered together.

The captains who accepted their district and did active work are as follows and these gentlemen deserve much praise for their labors: John G.
Gilbert, Harley Hoath, H. M. Hughes,
J. Barnett, F. M. Tidwell, J. M. Hooper,
J. M. Bland, W. Lee Moore, M. A.

W. M. Stannforth and J. C. V. T.
Christensen.

In many instances the captains were assisted only by one or two volunteers and these cleaned up several blocks and loaded the wagons. In fact, less than two hundred men, practically all unused to muscular work, did a most strenuous day's labor, so that the city might be clean and healthful. It was thought that many residents would assist captains in their neighborhood, but strange to relate very few did and in some instances two or three men far from their own respective neighborhoods cleaned the alleys, vacant lots and streets for those comfortably seated inside.

Of the captains who worked like Trojans and had exceedingly dirty districts may be mentioned H. M. Hughes, J. Barnett, J. M. Hooper, J. G. Gilbert, W. Lee Moore, M. A. Marcus, P. H.
Pennington, John W. Bradley, C. H.

captains worked under difficulties,
however.

J. M. Hooper worked alone on the block bounded by Indiana and Ohio and Sixth and Seventh streets until in the afternoon, when J. Barnett with

OPPOSES NATIONAL BANK GUARANTY

FITZHUGH DISOWNS MEASURE. SAYS PASSAGE WOULD BE A FATAL MISTAKE.

HIS VIEW IS SWEEPING

By Vote of Seventy to Forty—Attempt to Set Hour For Adjournment
Meets With Failure.

Under date of the 6th, the Washington correspondent of the Dallas News-wires that paper as follows:
Attorney General Wickersham today
submitted to the Controller of the Currency his opinion of the legality of National banks in Kansas to avail themselves of the Kansas guaranty bank law.

The opinion has not been made public, but Gov. Stubbs says it is a sweeping decision against National banks entering into schemes to guarantee deposits. The principal objection in the Kansas case is the conflict between the State and Federal laws over winding up the affairs of insolvent guaranty banks.

Against Guaranty.

Attorney General Wickersham tonight in an interview with the News correspondent confirmed the statement that he does not believe that National banks can guarantee their deposits through insurance associations or State guaranty bank laws without an act of congress amending the existing Federal statute.

Commenting on the Kansas situation
Mr. Wickersham said:
"The Kansas legislature attempted to avoid Mr. Bonaparte's objections by providing the limited guarantee. But with the limitations the same objections hold. The National banks would still run counter to the supreme court decision which governed in Mr. Bonaparte's opinion. Only an amendment of the National banking act would remove the objections to National banks participating in guaranty deposit schemes.

Supreme Court Decision.

"I rather think the Supreme Court decisions stand in the way of National banks forming even voluntary associations for the purpose of guaranteeing each other's deposits. At this moment I do not see how any plan to guarantee deposits could be devised in which National banks could participate without an act of congress changing the National banking law."

His View is Sweeping.

The general proposition of whether National banks can enter into any kind of guaranty business scheme was not put up directly to Attorney General Wickersham by the Kansas officials, but the attorney general said that he is "strongly inclined to the opinion that a National bank has no right to make a contract to pay any money to guarantee claims in the hands of its depositors."

The opinion of the attorney general which was sent to the controller of the currency this afternoon is against the contention of the Kansas officials that the Kansas law presents no objectionable features to National banks participating in its provisions.

The opinion is based chiefly on the system of dual control involved in the Kansas law, which the attorney general thinks would force a national bank to put up assets, the security of which would rest upon compliance with the acts of a State official. This, he holds, would be illegal.

Sustains Mr. Bonaparte.

Incidentally, Mr. Wickersham sustains the opinion of Attorney General Bonaparte in the Oklahoma case that National banks may not participate in deposit insurance because that would be making a contract "for the benefit of a third party," which the Supreme Court has decided is unlawful.

NO SUFFERING IN DALLAS FIRE.

Oak Cliff Relief Committee is Finding Little to Do.

Dallas, Tex., April 5.—The relief committee of Oak Cliff citizens, organized to take care of the needs of the fire sufferers, is finding little to do. Less than twenty cases have been reported to the members and none of these was for charitable aid. Most of the inquiries were from people who were burned out and asked for advice as to insurance adjustments rather than for financial assistance.

Dr. B. S. Greer of the committee, after going through the burned area with some of the other members, said this morning that it was perfectly apparent that Oak Cliff can handle the situation without calling on Dallas.

"We find very little privation," he said, "and most of the families burned out seem already to have made their own arrangements. Many have friends with whom they are staying until they can find other locations. In many cases neighbors took whole families under their own roofs and are cheerfully providing for them. In view of the extent of the fire I regard the situation as unusually favorable."

At the meeting held in Dr. Greer's office today Rev. G. W. Owens was chosen permanent chairman of the relief committee.

Matrimonial Catechism.

What is marriage?

Marriage is an institution for the blind.

Why do some people never marry?

Because they do not believe in divorce.

When a man thinks seriously of marriage, what happens?

He remains single.

Should a man marry a girl for her money?

No. But he should not let her be an old maid just because she's rich.

When a girl refers to a "sad courtship" what does she mean?

She means that the man got away.

Is an engagement as good as a marriage?

It's better.

In selecting a husband, why does a girl prefer a fat man?

Because a fat man finds it hard to stoop to anything low.

When asking papa, how should a young man act?

He should face papa manfully and never give him a chance at his back.

When the minister says, "Do you take this woman for better or worse," what does he mean?

The bridegroom's people construe it one way, and the bride's family interpret it another. It is very sad.

When a man says he can manage his wife, what does he mean?

He means he can make her do anything she wants to.

When a child is smart and good, to whose family is it due?

When a child is bad and stupid, to whose family is it due?

We refuse to answer.

Is it possible for a married man to be a fool without knowing it?

Not if his wife is alive.—United Presbyterian.

A TIMES "WANT AD." FOR QUICK RESULTS

A Communication From Mr. Terrill.

Editor Times:—
As a matter of justice to myself allow me space to place myself in the proper light before my friends. My name was placed on a ticket as candidate for member of the school board, without my knowledge or consent. When I voted, no ticket with my name on it was presented to me. In fact, I did not know until today, April 7th, that my name was so used. If the motive for so doing was good and pure, I thank the originators. If not 'good and pure'—I would have doubly thanked them to have consulted me in regard to the matter. The result of the election shows that no good or evil accrues to anyone but myself. This at least is gratifying to me, but places me in a false attitude with those to whom I had talked previous to the election. I will see my distinguished and very distant relative, author of the election law, and have him include the school election hereafter in his mysterious conglomeration that is supposed to protect both the voter and candidate. Respectfully,

A. D. TERRILL,
Wichita Falls, Tex., April 7, 1909.

Queer Life in Johannesburg.
Here is an amusing description of queer life in a Johannesburg residential block: "Nearly every one has one room, and into this you cram nearly all your worldly possessions and learn all kinds of vanishing tricks and juggling feats, such as having a combination bed and piano, using your washing stand for your writing table and converting your hip bath by day with rugs and cushions into an armchair. In this abode of bliss you receive your friends, male and female, and, if the gentleman, sitting himself rashly on the bed-sofa, vanishes into the piano or the lady throws herself wearily into the hip bath armchair and it falls off the packing case with her inside it, no one will turn a hair. You will invite them to lunch or tea or dinner, which ever is approaching, and the gentleman will offer to go and buy chops or kippers and fetch the milk and when he returns will help you cook, and you'll sit together and eat it on the washing stand, which also does duty as a dinner table on such occasions."—London Standard.

The Chief Justice.
"There are very few people who know the proper designation of the man who presides over the supreme court," said the secretary of the senate.

"Generally he is referred to as the chief justice of the United States supreme court. In fact, he is the chief justice. That's his official title. Most of our presidents in nominating men for this office have fallen into the error of giving him the long title. When George Washington nominated Oliver Ellsworth of Connecticut for this post he described it as chief justice of the supreme court of the United States. Andrew Jackson made the same error in nominating Richard B. Taney. So did Abraham Lincoln when he appointed Salmon P. Chase. Grover Cleveland was the first president to give the correct designation. When he appointed Melville W. Fuller he nominated him to be chief justice and nothing else. Future nominations will be framed in this fashion."—Washington Star.

THE FAILURE OF PROTECTION.

St. Louis Post-Dispatch.
As a producer of revenue the Dingley law has failed miserably. It has been in operation during the twelve most prosperous years of the nation's existence and there has been a deficit in the national treasury six times within that period. In summing up for the twelve years the government's receipts have been approximately $65,000,000 in excess of expenditures, with an ultimate deficit so threatening that in the pending revision of the tariff the closest attention is being devoted to its revenue-producing qualities.

In the latest tariffs the protection idea has been exaggerated to the point of prime importance. Revenue has been the merest incident. But does the success attributed by its agent advocates to the protective principle find warrant in the facts? At the end of twelve years of superlative protection, in what condition does the nation find itself?

Truthful answer to the general query in terms of general results is not flattering to protection. Monopolies have supplanted competition. The trust evil has grown almost out of the list of iniquities. Prices are high and the cost of living appalling. Instead of a compensatory advance in wages they are falling. Half the States are facing deficits; tax burdens are growing and the industries, like steel, given the highest measure of protection, are in the most serious condition. Our captains of industry, or some of them, confess less protection would bring benefits, and it is apparent that a nation ambitious to deal in the markets of the world is hampered by an inordinate tariff at home.

Economists insist that the prosperity we had came not because of protection but despite of it, and that it was measured not by the activity in industrial fields, but by the development of natural resources and the reward of bountiful crops.

Has protection been a success? Everything points to its total failure. And the tariff under consideration proves it. Protection has made it necessary to tax poverty, while wealth escapes.

In some form or other bank guarantee deposits is bound to come. Our present legislature had as well recognize this fact and pass such a law as will protect depositors from dishonest bankers. There are only a very small per cent of dishonest bankers, but when one is found out it generally happens that he is the fellow who has succeeded in securing the confidence of a great majority of the small depositors and cleaning them out. Besides, the democratic party, both National and State, is on record as favoring this method of protecting depositors, and so long as Texas gives to the party the greatest majority of any State in the Union, she should not hesitate to enact a law of some kind that will be just both to the bankers and those who deposit their money in banks for safe-keeping.

In the election of yesterday on the proposition to issue $15,000 in bonds for the building of a new jail, the indications are at this writing that the proposition carried by a majority of about 150 votes. At Iowa Park 114 votes were cast, 112 of them being against bonds. Burk Burnett also voted against bonds by a vote of 31 to 15, while Electra voted in favor of bonds for a new jail by a vote of 24 to 9.

The Childress Daily Index, Vol. 1, No. 1, has reached the Times' exchange desk. It is a six-column, four-page paper and seems to have made a good start. L. E. Haskett & Son are the editors and proprietors, and say it is the intention to publish a daily edition of the Index as long as the patronage given will justify.

The business man who would have the newspapers spit and skewer the mail order houses and yet fails to let prospective customers know of his wares should ponder this from the Willis Point Chronicle, one of the most persistent anti-mail-order papers in the State:

The merchant who fails to keep his prospective customers informed about what he has to sell, through the newspapers, has no kick coming if they send to mail order concerns for things they did not know he had or could sell at the same price charged by the foreign concerns. The people read the newspapers for information to guide them in their buying of supplies as well as get the news about other things. If the local merchant stands back and lets the mail order house convince his customer that it is better to send off after supplies he has no one but himself to blame. If the home merchant would keep the people informed about what they have for sale and their prices they would get the trade.

FARMERS' UNION MAY MOVE.

Offers Said to Have Been Made By Other Cities.

Fort Worth, Tex., April 6.—Because of the offers made by other cities of the State the Farmers' Union State headquarters may be removed from Fort Worth.

This information was secured from a reliable source this evening and the matter is now before the State executive committee, now in session at union headquarters. It seems that up to the present Dallas is receiving most favorable consideration as the place for locating the State headquarters, although there are other cities which have offered equal inducements to those proposed by that city, which consists of furnishing the necessary office room for the State officers free of rent.

When questioned relative to the matter, President Neill admitted that the matter was being considered by the executive committee, but that he was not prepared to say what the result would be. Mr. Neill said:

"Personally, I would like to see headquarters remain in Fort Worth, for the reason that it is the best distributing point in the State. From Fort Worth, we can reach every part of the State with letters or other communications within forty-eight hours, and even much less time is required to reach the greater part of the State. This city also has an advantage as a railroad center, as a place for holding our committee meetings and conventions, and also a place easily accessible to our organizers; however, if the committee considers it to be to the financial interest of the union to make a change, I will offer no objections."

The committee definitely decided to put six additional organizers in the field, the names of these to be announced soon, the work of organizing new locals will be pushed vigorously and all strength possible given to the organization now existing.

The Zanonettes were the attraction at the Vendome last night and the patrons were well pleased, in fact many say this is the best team that has yet played that popular amusement place. Tonight they have an entire change of program and special costumes. These people carry a large and expensive wardrobe. If you wish to spend a pleasant evening, go to the Vendome tonight.—Childress Index.

The Zanonettes will appear at the Majestic Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights of this week. 283-11

Fully Aged Pure Cider Vinegar

Possibly you don't know just how much time, care and what special processes are necessary to make a good vinegar.

There are artificial methods for aging, coloring and flavoring vinegar but vinegars so treated are never as good as the properly made vinegars are.

It sometimes takes months or even years to age vinegar properly and for this purpose the Heinz people have large storage tanks and warehouses kept at certain temperatures where their different kinds of vinegars are kept until "ripe."

The right color, rich full flavor and exquisite aroma of Heinz Pure Cider Vinegar are all natural and due to the use of first class materials and methods.

Fifty Dollar Dinners.

"Dinners at $50 a plate are as common in New York as five dollar dinners are in London and Paris," said a chef. "Our extravagant dinners are no better than the cheaper foreign ones. Their cost is caused not by the exquisite cooking of exquisite materials, but by the use of exotic foods whose expense is their chief recommendation. What do I mean by exotic foods? Well, I mean cane sugar instead of the ordinary beet root kind for the compote; I mean wild rice instead of the cultivated for the canvasback; I mean sole brought alive from England and stried from Russia, when our own native fish is better conditioned; I mean hothouse strawberries as big as apples, pears as big as coconuts and grapes as big as peaches, all tasting rather like raw pumpkin, but looking very fine in blizzard weather. Foolish foods; but, then, it's only foolish people who eat fifty dollar dinners."—Cincinnati Enquirer.

The Auctioneer's Hourglass.

An auctioneer of Philadelphia collects all sorts of objects pertaining to his ancient calling. He has, among other things, an interesting set of auctioneer's hourglasses. The auctioneer a century or so ago concluded a sale not by saying "Going, going, gone!" and rapping the counter with his hammer, but it was his better method to turn up a free running glass toward the end of the bidding and to end the sale irrevocably when the sand ran out. This saved confusion and dispute. The auctioneer's glasses in the Philadelphia collection are picturesque. One is of tortoise shell and mother-of-pearl. Another is of amber and gold. A third is of teak and ivory.

Appropriate.

A clergyman went to have his teeth fixed by a dentist. When the work was done the dentist declined to accept more than a nominal fee. The parson, in return for this favor, insisted later on the dentist accepting a volume of the reverend gentleman's own writing. It was a disquisition on the Psalms, and on the fly leaf he had inscribed this appropriate quotation: "And my mouth shall show forth thy praise."—Harper's Weekly.

Gave Him a Pointer.

George Ade was once stranded in a small town. He went into the barber's shop to get shaved and endured even unto the end. When the barber had completed his operation the humorist arose and, putting a handkerchief to his face, said gravely: "Sir, you have missed your vocation. You ought to be an oyster opener."

The new buttons for the Chamber of Commerce have arrived and are being distributed among the members. In the center of the button traced in gold lines on blue enamel are the railroads entering Wichita Falls. About the rim of the button on white enamel in gold letters are the words "Wichita Falls Pull Together."

The button is of very neat design and it is expected that every member of the Chamber of Commerce will wear one.

STYLISH SPRING

SUITS

WORSTEDS AND LINENS

The new shades of light weight worsteds in Spring suits are extremely delicate and very pleasing to even the most critical.

They are especially well suited to the prevailing styles of tailoring and makes it possible for even the lighter and darker complexions and slight and plump figures to secure not only a highly attractive and becoming shade but also a design that is most becoming.

The linens will be fully as popular too and the new weaves are going to induce many women who have never used linens before to use them this Spring and Summer.

We want you to call and see our Spring suit display for we have by all odds the largest most complete and—better than that—the most attractive line of suits at moderate prices while we also have the more expensive weaves also.

Better call soon for the extremely attractive display is producing rapid sales even now, and before long the selection will be broken.

Club House Brand Stands for Quality

You can safely buy Club House Goods, because only the very best is packed under that brand. Have you ever tried Club House corn? Perhaps you think there is no difference in canned corn, but there is, nevertheless. Most of it tastes like canned corn. Club House Corn tastes like roasting ears. The difference is in the variety. Club House Corn is grown in Maine and Maine corn ranks highest in the commercial world, especially for canning purposes, because it retains the roasting ear flavor longer than any other kind of corn.

The Senter-Hume Bill.

The Senter-Hume bill, which was passed by the senate by a majority of 17 to 15—the seventeen votes being claimed by one of the authors of the bill to have been pledged in advance—is not the kind of measure the friends of a bank deposits guaranty law expected or desired. What was desired and expected was a measure based upon the idea of mutuality and co-operation among the banks for the protection of their deposits in times of trouble, the same as is done in all other fields of business activity for the purpose of limiting and distributing risks and maintaining stability and confidence. In other words, any deposit guaranty law, to be effective, must be based on the insurance plan where all contribute a little to indemnify the losses of the few. The Senter-Hume bill, on the contrary, is based upon the most extreme individualism, where each bank must take care of itself, as if no organized form of government or society was in existence and which does not insure prompt payment of depositors in case of a failure. No bank conducts its business that way in any of its other business relations. No bank assumes all the risks of fire or burglary, or even the honesty of its servants. It is a distinct step backward, reminding us of the time and circumstances where there was no organized society and where every man was the enemy of every other man—if such time and circumstances ever existed.

The Senter-Hume bill is in other ways a pernicious measure. It is an ingenious device for destroying the very essence of a bank guaranty scheme, as has been repeatedly pointed out by the News. If the most uncompromising enemies of the guaranty of bank deposits had gone to work to insidiously undermine the very idea of a bank deposit guaranty and nullify the efforts of its friends, under the pretense of contributing to the solution of the problem, they could not have done better than to father the Senter-Hume bill. It is not to be conceived that the house, after passing by an overwhelming majority a sane, bona-fide measure like the Curreton bill, will stultify itself by accepting the Senter-Hume bill, if worse comes to worst, the people will have something to say on the subject, and will make themselves heard. But if by some accident the Senter-Hume bill is accepted by both branches, there is still the governor and his veto to be taken into account. The News does not believe that the governor, who, we are assured is a sincere friend of the insurance of deposits idea, can be imposed upon by such subterfuge as the senate bill appears to be.

Better, far better, that no law to insure deposits be enacted at this session than to put up with such a crude and insufficient measure that which is now attempted to be forced upon the people by the senate. Two years is not long to wait for another opportunity. In the meantime the bank deposits insurance proposition will sink deeper into the minds of the people and more perfect plans of operation may be formulated. The idea involved has come to stay and can afford to wait for a proper embodiment—for a form of law to be framed by its friends and meant to be effective. Perhaps in two years some of those who are now prominent in opposition will become the best friends of a genuine and efficient guaranty law.—Dallas News.

OF INTEREST TO WOMEN

Cornbread to Serve With Vegetables.
 Three cups of sifted cornmeal, three cups of sweet milk, one egg well beaten, two tablespoons of melted butter, one teaspoon of salt, six level teaspoons of baking powder; sift meal, baking powder and salt together; beat the egg in a large bowl, add melted butter and milk, stir in the meal quickly, pour into a well greased baking pan, having the batter three-fourths of an inch thick, or fill muffin cups half full and put immediately into a quick oven; cook about twenty-five minutes.

Boiled Beets.
 Wash the beets retaining the leaves and roots. Cook in gently boiling water for one hour or until tender. Unless beets are very young at least an hour will be required. The cellulose in old beets has hardened into wood and no amount of cooking will soften it. When the beets are done drain and plunge into cold water a moment so that the skins will slip off. Peel, slice and serve with the following sauce:

Sauce for Beets.
 Sugar one teaspoon, butter one tablespoon, vinegar one teaspoon, salt one-fourth teaspoon; melt sugar and butter, add salt and vinegar; beat well then pour over sliced beets.

Stewed Rhubarb.
 Wash the rhubarb thoroughly but do not remove the skin, cut into pieces one inch long; weigh and to one pound of rhubarb in a porcelain saucepan, pour the sugar over it and let stand on the back of the range until sufficient sugar and juice have melted to prevent burning, then increase the heat and simmer gently until tender. Do not stir it while cooking and turn out very carefully.

To Wash Berries.
 All berries obtained in our markets have been exposed to the dust and should be washed before being used. Pick over the berries and remove the hulls. Shortly before serving place them in a large wire sieve and wash by dipping up and down in a bowl of water. Change the water if necessary, drain, turn on a soft cloth and press gently with another. Blackberries may be cleaned in this way also.

Strawberry Short Cake.
 Two cups of sifted flour, one-half teaspoon salt, four level teaspoons baking powder, four tablespoons butter (or two of lard and two of butter), one cup of milk. Sift flour, salt and baking powder together, cut in the shortening, then add the milk, mixing the dough with a knife. Turn on a lightly floured board, pat and roll into shape. Roll the dough quite thin, as it is baked in two layers. If for a round pan, divide into two parts before shaping. For a square or oblong tin it may be cut in half after rolling. Handle the dough as little as possible to have it, smooth. Grease the pans lightly with melted lard, lay one-half the dough on, brush the top with melted butter; lay on the other half; have the edges even. Bake in a quick oven twelve or fifteen minutes; split the cake and lay one-half on a large platter with crust side down, spread with butter and cover with strawberries crushed and sweetened. Lay on the other layer with crust side down and cover with berries. On top of berries pile whipped cream or a strawberry meringue. When berries are scarce the meringue may lessen the quantity of berries needed. Two boxes of berries should be allowed for a cake, if no meringue is used. Berries for cake are better if crushed and sweetened and placed where they will warm slightly.

Strawberry Meringue.
 One-half cup powdered sugar, one-half cup crushed berries, white of one egg. Crush the berries and drain off the juice (the juice may be used on short cake). Place crushed berries, white of egg and sugar in a large cold bowl and beat with whisk egg beater until very stiff; pile on short cake.

Pretty Concepts in Fashion's Realm.
 Checks and plaids are very popular. Many variations of bolero are seen. The dainty embroidery vogue increases.

For the most part, hat shapes are towering.

There are more draperies than ever in the past.

Silver is the latest fad of Parisians in jewelry.

The square velvet dot is the leader in veillings.

There is very little demand for silver slippers.

Fabric Shoe to Be Worn This Year.
 The new fabric shoe is one of the most attractive of the new footwear.

They are shown in all the popular shades of cravenetted cloth, with the flowers of the same color, but satin striped.

No more luxurious shoe could be imagined. The white shoes of the coming summer are to be of linen, canvas and kid, and many will be very high boots, although the white headed tie will be popular.

Suede in all colors still holds its own.

One dainty house slipper in delicate colors has set at one side a bewitching little bow of matching chiffon.

Reflections of a Bachelor.
 The fatter a woman gets the easier it is for her to believe nobody notices it. A girl's idea of a strange man is somebody it would be exciting to know because she doesn't.

The cynic can smile now and then; he is rarely called upon to shed a tear over his disappointments.

The queer thing about a wedding tour is what a complete cure for a man wanting to travel with his wife it always seems to be.

To Keep Violets Fresh.
 With the coming of spring, the violet is more and more in evidence. Some people have the knack of keeping bunches of these flowers fresh many days. One who succeeds tells how she does it. If they seem wilted after being worn, she clips the stems just a tiny bit and then puts them in a glass so that the water reaches quite up to the blossoms.

The glass and flowers are completely covered with a large piece of wax paper, the edges being twisted very tightly, so that the air will be excluded. This is then set away in a very cool place. It is not a bad plan to set the glass with its paper-inclosed flowers into a tin pail and put on the cover before putting in a cool place. When taken out the flowers will be found fresher looking.

By carefully following these directions the flowers will keep for some days.

Business Change.
 Having purchased the interests of Mr. White in the firm of King & White, I will continue the business in the future as in the past. Thanking you for your patronage which has been and will still be greatly appreciated, yours truly, Modern newspapers may brag of their circulation, but none of them can compare with the Ulster County Gazette. There must be at least a million copies extant with an account of George Washington's inauguration. That and the New York Herald with an account of Lincoln's assassination are almost tied. Of course, most of the copies nowadays are from a facsimile process, but their owners don't seem to know it, and every now and then somebody "busts" into the dispatches as owning a copy of one or the other.—Denton Record and Chronicle.

You May be Particular about your Clothes as You Like about style, about the cut and model, about fit, about quality; you may even think you can't get what's good enough ready made. All right that means you haven't seen our new suits from Hart, Schaffner & Marx and that means, if you are as sensible as we think you are, that you're going to see them before you spend any clothes money. We tell you this: For style, for tailoring, for models, for all-wool, honest quality of fabrics, no tailor or clothier can match them; and we know it. It's money in your pocket to let us prove it; and you'll get better clothes than usual. SUITS $20 to $40; others $10 to $20. Lots of other things, too. Shirts, Easter neckwear of all kinds, gloves, fancy waistcoats, walking sticks, derbys, soft hats. We'll outfit you right.
