Constantinople, April 24.—Heavy fighting here early today marked the culmination of the expected clash between the troops of the Constantinople garrison and the army of investment, which began its advance on the city yesterday. The fighting started in the southwest part of Pera, near Yildiz Kiosk. The firing had almost ceased at 10 o'clock, but at long intervals field guns could be heard, together with a scattering fire from heavier artillery. The casualties are reported to be heavy.

ROOSEVELT AT HIS CAMPING GROUNDS

FORMER PRESIDENT SPENDS HIS FIRST NIGHT UNDER CANVAS IN AFRICA.

LIONS ARE PLENTIFUL

All Varieties of Game Abound and Huntmen Will Lose No Time Getting Started.

Kapiti Plains, British East Africa, April 23.—Theodore Roosevelt has reached the hunting grounds and tonight spent his first night in Africa under canvas. A big camp has been established near the railroad station here for the Roosevelt expedition and last night lions were prowling about in the vicinity of the tents. The country is green, owing to the recent rains, and there is every prospect of good sport. The common varieties of game are plentiful and the huntmen will lose no time getting started on their shooting trip.

The special train bearing the Roosevelt party from Mombassa arrived here at 1:30 o'clock this afternoon. Only the members of the party got off at Kapiti Plains. F. J. Jackson, the acting governor of the protectorate, and the other officials who came up from Mombassa, continued on to Nairobi.

The camp established for Mr. Roosevelt is most elaborate. The caravan will have a total of 260 followers. There are thirteen tents for the Europeans and their horses and sixty tents for the porters. An American flag is flying over the tent occupied by Mr. Roosevelt. All of the native porters of the expedition were lined up on the platform when the Roosevelt special pulled in, and as Mr. Roosevelt stepped down from the train they shouted a salute in his honor. In responding, Mr. Roosevelt raised his hat. He was welcomed at the station by Sir Alfred Pease, who will be his host on the Athi river. Mr. Roosevelt was dressed today in a khaki suit and white helmet. The weather was bright and warm.

Mr. Roosevelt was on the plot of the engine when the train pulled in, having occupied that position for seventy-nine miles. He said he was intensely interested in the country and expressed his gratitude and delight for the hospitality shown him by the acting governor and Mrs. Jackson.

The caravan awaited the Roosevelt party, including four head men, nine gun bearers, twelve guards, two hundred porters and nine horses.

Mr. Selous is going on a lion hunt with Mr. McMillan. He is not attached to the Roosevelt party, the only members of which are licensed to shoot lions being Mr. Roosevelt and Kermit.

Texan News Service Special. Fort Worth, Tex., April 24.—Crackmen dynamited the large safe at the Artesia Bottling Company's plant here early this morning, escaping with a small amount of money. OTHER ARMENIAN VILLAGES ATTACKED

By Associated Press. Beirut, April 24.—The Armenian village of Kessa has been burned and many persons killed by the fanatical Moslems. At Beirut the situation is critical.

WHEAT KING PATTEN IS NOW AFTER TROUT

Trinidad, Colo., April 23.—James Patten of Chicago, the wheat king, and for the present the sphinx of the Rockies, set forth to catch trout this morning and kept right on saying nothing. The nearest he came to discussing the wheat situation was when he directed a liberal supply in the shape of bread to be packed in his lunch basket. According to the men at the ranch, the broker has not seen a newspaper or received a dispatch from Chicago since Tuesday. Patten slept thirteen hours last night.

It is thought that the extension of the road from this place to Waurikar, Oklahoma, will be built in the next few months. This will put Byers in good shape to receive her share of the prospectors from the northern and eastern States, as we will be on a line from Oklahoma City to the Southwestern part of the State, whether the largest immigration is tending. If we can get the people to look over our country there will be no trouble in getting them to locate with us.—Byers Sentinel.

BODIES OF WEST AND ALLEN ARE BURIED AT MOBEETTE

By Associated Press. Mobette, Tex., April 24.—The bodies of Jesse West and Joe Allen, two of the four prominent cattlemen lynched Monday night at Ada, Oklahoma, arrived here late yesterday afternoon. GRAYSON COUNTY HAS BOASTED FOR YEARS OF AN ALFAFA KING WHO HAD ALMOST 1200 ACRES IN ALFAFA

For the benefit of the Sherman Courier, we wish to state that one Hardeman county farm now has 1700 acres of a splendid stand of alfalfa, and is preparing to put in 2300 acres more, a total of four thousand acres. This Hardeman county farm is acknowledged to produce the best alfalfa in the entire Great Southwest.—Quannah Tribune-Chief.

DEATH FROM SNAKE BITE

Dr. West reports having been called to the home of a new comer Saturday, whose 3-year-old boy had been bitten by a rattlesnake. It seems the father had taken his child out into the field, and was cutting down a mesquite, when a cry from the child on the other side of the tree attracted his attention. It had been bitten on the leg by a snake with eight rattles.

This happened at 9 o'clock in the morning and when the doctor arrived at the home, six miles northeast of town, at 1 o'clock, the child was in hard shape, the leg swollen and almost black. Its death occurred at 10 o'clock that night.—Quannah Tribune-Chief.

and when the time came for them to be taken to the place where they were to work on the parish road a great crowd collected and everything imaginable was provided for their comfort. It was in effect one of the biggest orations ever attempted, and especially under similar circumstances. It appears to be something of an honor to violate the liquor laws in Louisiana. Well, it's different in Texas.—Mineral Wells Index.

GUARD ACCIDENTALLY KILLS HIMSELF

Hillsboro, Tex., April 24.—Advices received here today state that John Wylie, a guard at the Steiner Valley convict farm, was instantly killed by the accidental discharge of a shotgun. Making a Spring Poem.

First taking up the subject, binds,
I'll pour my verse, which naught can stem,
In nice, alliterative words
On them.

Next, neatly switching to the skies,
I shall remark that they are blue,
A circumstance, which I surmise,
You knew.

But never mind, next comes the breeze,
Perchance, a zephyr, whereup
Think you that I'll ring in some trees?
You're next.

Then, probably some rural shack
Into my rhyme I'll gently shove
Mid purring rivulets, then
Back to love.

With variations, "Cupid's spell!"
"Delicious longings!" "Pangs of Spring!"
Next, next, ahem, I'll try to sell
The thing.

WEATHER FORECAST.

For Wichita Falls and Vicinity
—Tonight and Sunday, partly cloudy weather. Warmer tonight.

Wichita Falls, Texas, April 24th, 1909.

Governor Wilson of Kentucky has issued a full pardon to ex-Governor Taylor and ex-Secretary of State Chas. Finley, who were charged with the assassination of Governor William Goebel. The two men had never been tried on the charge, and since the commission of that foul crime have been fugitives from justice in the State of Indiana, Taylor claiming that he was afraid to return to the State which had elected him governor for a trial through fear that he could not get justice. Be that as it may, but there are thousands of good people who firmly believe that the reason he fled was because he knew he was guilty of Goebel's assassination and the reason he would not return was not because he feared that he would not obtain a fair trial. The only man of the gang that is being punished for the Goebel assassination is Youtsey, who was Gov. Taylor's private secretary, and who made a confession, telling of how the plot to take Goebel's life was formed and carried out. Youtsey was let off with a sentence of ninety-nine years in the penitentiary.

Petrolia Wants Stock Pens.
C. T. Taylor was circulating a petition praying the Wichita Valley to build a stock pen and loading chute at this place for the benefit of the public. The petition was already signed by a number of our most prominent citizens and will receive the signature of all of them. We have long felt the need of this necessity, as our people have to go quite a distance to get this accommodation. We hope that the railroad officials will grant Petrolia this favor.—Petrolia Round-Up.

Perfectly Reckless.
The members of the church voted that their dearly beloved and devoted pastor should have a vacation, and so he decided that he would visit a brother worker in the neighboring village. This good brother, recognizing his fellow worker in the Lord way back among the congregation on Sunday morning and wishing to show every courtesy, asked him to lead in prayer. But the visitor calmly replied: "You'll have to excuse me, dear brother. I'm on my vacation."

The Sun a Star?
The sun is one of a stream of stars moving in the same direction and with equal velocities. Thus says Professor Kobold of the observatory of Kiel, who has become convinced by his studies of star currents that the sun does actually form part of such a current, which is moving toward a point on the edge of the Milky way. Kapteyn of Groningen has come to the conclusion that the stars drift in two directions. This conclusion is based on the examination of 2,500 stars observed repeatedly.

LOST CHILD FOUND IN BRAKES OF THE WICHITA.

Some excitement was created here Tuesday by the news that a little boy 3 years of age was lost on the Wichita. A party of about twenty of our citizens left to join the search party, but were met with the news that the child had been found.
Monday morning about 9 o'clock Mrs. Hilliard Wallace, who lives about twenty miles north of Versa, missed her little boy. In her wild search she came across one of Waggoner's line riders, who took the news to Vera. A large party was made up there at midnight and reached the Wallace home at break of day. Citizens of Crowell and Thalia and all the neighbors joined in the search until there were 150 or 200 people hunting the child. It was found by a neighbor, Mr. McMurray, about a mile and a half from home. It had fallen in a hollow hole and was discovered by accident. It was very cold, but otherwise was unharmed. The child was found on the edge of the Wichita brakes.—Seymour Banner.

Too Much for the Bonham Editor.

Bonham has been claiming to be the banner Sunday school town of America, but Blue Mountain, Miss., has us skinned several country blocks—that is unless the biggest liar on earth has been sending out dispatches from there. Out of a total population of one thousand, seven hundred, are regular Sunday school attendants, and on a recent special occasion 885 registered present. The one thing that puts a doubt in my mind concerning this report is that the teller thereof goes on till he goes too far. He adds that on a late date a circus came to that town and advertised over the country before it arrived. It set up its tents for business, had the band play, gave a street parade, but with all this less than 200 people attended either of the two performances night and morning. I can believe that 700 out of 1000 people in a town belong to a Sunday school; I can conceive of the possibility of getting 885 of that thousand to attend a special service, but when it comes to asking me to believe that less than 200 of that thousand attended a circus that pitched its tents right in the middle of the town, I positively refuse. The whole thing looks like the work of a liar who doesn't know when he has told a good story.—Bonham News.

Frederick Men in Auto Accident.

Five Frederick men had a narrow escape from death Sunday night in an automobile accident. Some of them were pretty badly bruised up as it was, and the car, a new machine, will have to go to the factory to be rebuilt.
The trouble occurred some four miles north of the city. James Carr, owner of the car, with Messrs. Crawford, Warren Carr, William Null and James Richardson, were in Snyder, and started out to beat the Frisco passenger train into Frederick. They were going at a fast pace when the machine struck a culvert and while the rear wheels were off the ground the front wheels turned. This made the car 'buckle' and threw the passengers out and turned over.
The driver, Mr. Crawford, was injured internally, and as first it was feared that his injuries would prove serious, but he is now recovering all right. James Carr had a wrenched shoulder, and Mr. Null was so badly cut that it required six stitches by the surgeon called to render aid to him. The others were not injured to amount to much.—Frederick Leader.

SAN JACINTO DAY IN THE BURKBURNETT SCHOOLS.

On the 21st inst. it was our pleasure to visit the Burkburnett schools. It being San Jacinto Day, the regular exercises were dispensed with, and in their stead was substituted those more appropriate to the occasion. Prof. John Finney, Miss Alida Roberts, Miss Annie Staley and Miss Ella Powell are the teachers in charge.

Before leaving the car, we observed at a distance a United States flag floating above a certain building and immediately below said flag another, a Lone Star flag. These were sufficient to plot us to the school house. The neat appearance of the building in the center of a four-acre grass lawn gave one a favorable opinion of the location, especially so when considering the bevy of happy school children in holiday attire, scattered here and there on the lawn, playing as only school children can play. Entering the building, which contains four large rooms and a hall, with porches at either end, we found the teachers and some pupils busily completing preparation for the afternoon exercises. We observed on the inside that the walls of the rooms were beautifully decorated with pictures and appropriate mottoes, and that the entire furniture of the building, although having been in constant use for seven months, showed but little wear, evidencing the fact that the government of the school had been good. At the noon hour, we were invited out to the play ground to partake, with the teachers and pupils of a most bountiful feast. This feast, it seemed, was the joint production of teachers, children and parents and we could not have failed to note the beautiful harmony that existed between them. Each class speaking well of the other and each bent on adding to the pleasure of all others. Not a discordant note did I hear. We could not help but think how significant for good to the town would be the keeping up of this fraternal interest of good will between teacher and pupil and between both teacher and pupil and parents, as manifested on this occasion. The element of discord has no place in the right relation of these classes of persons, then how anxious we should all be to nip in the bud the growth of anything that disturbs this proper relation.

After enjoying to the full said feast, all parties repaired to the building to hear the rendition of patriotic class songs, recitations and speeches. It is enough to say that all were highly entertained, that the expectations of the teachers were fully met, and that there were many happy surprises for the parents. They could not help but note how sensitive the feelings of children are to the touch that comes from an author or teacher whose brain is illumined by the thoughts of love of country. It is well for the child, good for the town and better for the State, to have developed in each one proper sentiments of patriotism. The teachers of Burkburnett comprehend the duty that rests upon them in this particular, and are not shirking that duty. The school officers of this same town deserve praise for their judicious selection of teachers. M. F. YEAGER.

TRAPPING A GORILLA

Story of a Vicious Struggle in the African Jungle.

A NET THAT FAILED TO HOLD.

The Snared Monster Broke Through Its Meshes and Was the Cause of One Death Before He Was Himself Killed by the Attacking Party.

Captain Fritz Duquesne, the Boer ivory hunter, was commissioned by a German naturalist society to capture one of each species of African quadrupeds. He was entirely successful in the work, except that he could obtain no gorilla. Finally a pygmy pointed out a portion of the dank jungle in which a gorilla had been seen.

The captain immediately arranged his camp and laid his plans and made preparations to trap the monster and get him alive if possible, though he fully realized the danger of the undertaking.

"For four days," said the captain, "we camped in this hotbed of disease. Beaters went out in all directions searching for the gorilla. At last some deep, wide scratches were found on a cluster of vines. On close examination the unmistakable hair of the gorilla was found on a broken twig.

"After some hours we found the tree where the gorilla lived. We could tell it by the greasy appearance of the bark, made so by the repeated rubbing of the gorilla's body. We could tell by the fresh marks, with sap still wet, that the animal had recently ascended the tree. The scratches were short and deep, showing that it had lifted itself up and had not slid down, which would have made a long, shallow scratch.

"We spread a strong net around the tree in a circle sloping upward on the outer side. Around the top of the net there were drawn ropes from four directions, held by half a dozen natives hidden in the bush. These were to bring the top of the net together and thus bag our game.

"After waiting some hours the leaves above rustled and then opened as a six foot male gorilla descended unsuspectingly and entered the trap. I signaled, the four ropes were pulled at once, and we had our animal—for a moment. He roared in fury, twisting, jumping and biting the rope into pieces. The natives were pulled about like dolls as he tried to reach first one and then another. The professor jumped about in excitement, trying to focus a camera on the infuriated animal.

"At last the mighty arms of the gorilla broke a hole through the net, and he tore the rest from him as though it were a rotten rag. Most of the natives fled in dismay. The professor dropped his camera and tried to escape. In a moment the gorilla grasped him in its terrible hands.

"I seized my rifle and fired in the air to frighten the animal. In my position I could not shoot at him without hitting my friend. For a moment the gorilla stood still, holding the now unconscious man as though he were a baby, the brute's lips drawn back from his glistening teeth.

"I thrust another cartridge in my rifle. As I did so there was a buzz in the air, and an arrow, shot by a native, pierced the gorilla's side. A roar burst from his red throat, and he dropped his victim. Like a flash, before I could shoot, a native sprang from the leaves and, half throwing, half thrusting, drove an assagai into the gorilla's heart. With a groan the brute fell dead.

"Examining the professor, I found that his right arm was broken and that some of his ribs were crushed into his lungs. We gave up the effort to get a live gorilla and, placing the injured man in a hammock, carried him back toward the east coast.

"He died on the road. Out on the veldt beside a native village a lonely little slab marked 'Carl Bloch' sticks up above the grass. It is the professor's grave. Hunting is not all exciting adventure and laughing victory. It has its tears, like other things."—Hampton's Magazine.

Chances in Gambling. Henri Poincare, the leading mathematician of France, declares that there is no infallible martingale or method of doubling one's stakes after every loss. "All one can do," says M. Poincare, "is to combine one's play so as to have a great chance of winning a little and a little chance of losing much or a few chances of gaining much and many chances of losing little. One can arrange his play so as to have one chance of winning a million francs and a million chances of losing a franc or a million chances of losing a franc and one chance of losing a million francs—and that's all."

Incompatible. Towne—Well, well, the idea of his marrying Miss Goldie! Why, he's a dyspeptic. Browne—What has that to do with it? She's got plenty of money, and so— Towne—That's just it. She'll never agree with him; she's too rich.—Catholic Standard and Times.

It Had a Charm. "I do miss Mrs. Jones. She told me all the news of the parish." "Oh, that was only gossip—no truth in it." "Well, there, I liked to hear it. Truth or lies, 'twas all news to me."—Punch.

The hours we pass with happy prospects in view are more pleasing than those crowned with fruition.—Goldsmith.

The Phoenix Sanitary Duster

This duster is made from rope manilla. It will outwear any duster of any other material costing five times the price. Being of glazed rope manilla dust will not adhere to it as to other dusters, as it can be gathered upon it and readily shaken off. It will do the work other dusters fail to do, as it can be shoved into corners, shelves and crevices without being injured. It will not scratch fine surfaces as other dusters will. Moths or other insects will not destroy it as other dusters. It does not contain or will it convey any germs of disease, and is absolutely the only sanitary duster offered the public. The lasting qualities of the Phoenix are greater than any other duster, and it is sold under a guarantee to last ONE YEAR. The price is ridiculously cheap--15c with wire handle and 25c with wood handle, and are far superior to any feather duster-made.
