ORGANIZE FOR INSTITUTE WORK

WICHITA COUNTY FARMERS ORGANIZE ASSOCIATION AS RESULT OF KONE'S VISIT.

WILL HOLD MEETINGS

At Which Experiences and Ideas Will Be Discussed.

As a result of the visit of State Commissioner of Agriculture, Judge Ed. R. Kone, to Wichita Falls yesterday, the farmers of Wichita County have organized a county Farmers Institute Association from which much benefit to the agricultural interests is expected to come.

The purpose of the organization is to hold institutes at which farming problems and movements for the betterment of farming conditions will be discussed, and an exchange of experiences and ideas be made.

The officers of the association are: J. D. Cooper, president; George Simmons, vice president; H. G. Karrenbrock, secretary.

A number of farmers were enrolled as members of the association and will receive the bulletins of the State Department of Agriculture.

Those enrolled were John Fore, F. M. McKinley, William Hutton, W. F. Claer, W. J. Evans, L. Utsman, George Simmons, H. G. Karrenbrock, T. E. Ruddy, J. H. Osborne, Irvin Maha, Henry Ford, J. L. McConkey and J. D. Cooper.

Judge Kone made an interesting talk in the interest of more and better crops and better and closer relations between the people of the town and the country, emphasizing the importance of good roads.

The institute association is a self governing body and will meet from time to time upon the call of the proper authorities.

MAN FALLS DEAD AT SALOON BAR. Tom Murphy, aged about 45 years, was fatally stricken while standing at the bar of the White Elephant saloon shortly before midnight last night and death ensued about five minutes later.

Murphy, who is said to have been afflicted with tuberculosis of the lungs, had been drinking and when stricken was standing with his hands upon the bar rail. He fell back unconscious and dying.

Murphy had been a railroad contractor, but ill health had prevented him from active work for several months. Letters found upon Murphy's person prove him to have been a brother to the chief of police of Chicago and a telegram was sent to that official this morning after the body had been removed to Jackson Bros. morgue.

FIGHT AGAINST STATE GUARD APPROPRIATIONS

Texas News Service Special. Austin, Tex., April 27.—A fight over the appropriation for the State militia encampments and to pay for armories developed in the house today and will likely continue all afternoon.

This morning the house postponed a bill to extend the State railroad. Its third reading to Thursday and resumed work on the general appropriation measure. When the clause was reached which gave twenty thousand dollars to pay for the encampment of the State guard for two years, Strickland offered an amendment reducing the amount to ten thousand dollars. Reedy then offered a substitute cutting out provisions for the encampments altogether, also cutting out the appropriation to pay armory rentals during the two years. The discussion of this provision became general. The house recessed while the amendment and the substitute were pending.

President Expects to Visit Houston Next November En-Route to Washington.

By Associated Press. Washington, D. C., April 27.—At a conference between Representative Tawney, chairman of the appropriation committee, and President Taft this morning, it was practically decided that Taft will visit Texas while on his return from his Western trip during the coming fall. It was agreed at the conference that the general deficiency bill shall provide $25,000 for the president's traveling expenses. Taft said that will assure his going to Texas. He expects to be in Houston in November.

First Summer Session A. & M. College.

Special to the Times. College Station, Tex., April 27.—The prospects are that the first summer session of the A. and M. college will be largely attended. Col. Milner, the president, and Secretary S. E. Andrews have received inquiries from farmers and teachers all over the State advising that they will attend and the delightful apartments that will be provided the ladies who attend the summer normal has proved a great attraction. Goodwin Hall, the new dormitory, is to be set apart for ladies and a matron will be put in charge.

College Station is a delightful place in the summer. The college buildings are located on the crest of a divide, and the south breeze has full sway. There are pretty walks, delightful parks, a wide lawn, many trees, tennis courts, a golf course, three baseball diamonds, and assembly hall for large gatherings, and many section rooms for classes. There are laboratories in every department for demonstration work, and the faculty is representative of the best educators in the State. There is nothing to take attention from the school work, and being a community of itself those who attend the summer normal and summer school can arrange their own hours for work and their hours for recreation. The teachers who attend the summer normal will find the best facilities for their studies, and the farmers who attend the summer school will have the opportunity to see the college dairy herd, the sheep, hogs and goats; the experimental plots; the machinery building where all classes of farm machinery are shown; the big milking barn; the creamery with its numerous machines; the growing plants in farm and orchard and to talk with men who write about and who teach scientific agriculture.

The railroads have made a very reasonable rate for the round trip which will last during the entire six weeks of the school, and the college authorities have put the expense of living down to a minimum, so that one can attend the entire six weeks and get board, room and laundry for the entire time for $40.50. Steward B. Shiba, who has been the college steward for thirty years, will serve the meals in the big mess hall, which seats six hundred.

The legislature has promised that a new dormitory which will accommodate a couple of hundred additional students is to be authorized for the A. and M. college of Texas. This will give many young men a chance to enter that school, who have heretofore been barred because of the lack of room. Names for the next session are now being enrolled by Secretary S. E. Andrews.

A SALUTE OF 110 GUNS

Proclaims Mohammed Reschad Effendi the New Sultan—Abdul Hamid Taken Prisoner.

By Associated Press. Constantinople, April 27.—Abdul Hamid the Second has been deposed as Sultan of the Turkish Empire and Mohammed Reschad Effendi, his brother, will be proclaimed his successor, probably by 3 o'clock this afternoon. The news of the deposition of the Sultan caused great excitement in Constantinople and crowds soon surrounded the Yildiz palace in anticipation of the proclamation of the new Sultan.

Sultan Taken Prisoner.

Special to the Times. London, Eng., April 27.—A dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph Company from Constantinople says that the troops under the command of Young Turk officers entered the Sultan's palace last night and took the Sultan prisoner. The latter is closely guarded, and will be removed to the Cheraghan palace on the Bosphorus.

Rumored That Abdul Hamid is Dead.

By Associated Press. London, Eng., April 27.—A dispatch received from Constantinople by a news agency here, says that rumors are current in the Turkish capital that Abdul Hamid is dead. The troops who are said to have taken him from the palace last night found him unconscious on the floor of the inner room of the harem.

The fate of an income tax bill is apparently already settled; while President Taft, in his message, spoke favorably of such a measure, he is not urging it now. Senator Aldrich, who is the republican boss of the upper house, does not favor it; neither do his millionaire colleagues. It is strictly a democratic doctrine and has been for many years, that wealth should bear its full measure of the burdens of taxation. Under the existing system, it escapes taxation and will continue to do that so long as seats in the United States senate are virtually auctioned off to the millionaires.

TROOPS GUARD JAIL AT MARSHALL

Texas News Service Special. Marshall, Tex., April 27.—The militia today is still guarding the jail where the negroes, "Creole," Mose, Pie Hill, Jesse Johnson and Mat Chase are prisoners, as a result of the murder of Deputy Sheriff Mark Huffman and the wounding of Constable Alex Carrell yesterday. Later evidence today causes the authorities to believe that Chase fired the fatal shot. Chase surrendered to the officers only after a most desperate fight and when all his ammunition was used up.

All negroes, however, fired on the officers; it was afterward learned. No attempt was made to lynch or seize the prisoners today. A few persons came in from Longview, but there is no excitement. Judge Buford will arrive in a day or two and the negroes will be given a speedy trial.

DISCUSSION OF BANK GUARANTY.

Wichita Falls Citizen Writes of Bills Proposed to Establish Such System.

Dallas News.

Wichita Falls, Tex., April 19.—I have read with great interest your editorials on guaranty of bank deposits and also several of the bills proposed on this subject.

It seems to me, however, that both the News and some of these bills proceed on false theories. When Controller C. G. Dawes first recommended that each National bank be compelled to pay over and have set aside a common fund, to be held by the United States Treasurer for protection of depositors in such banks as had failed, he took the record of all National banks for the entire period the National banking system had been in operation, and estimated that an annual payment of one-twentieth of 1 per cent of the average deposits of all the National banks in the United States during that time would have provided a fund sufficient to have made good all losses sustained by depositors.

He therefore recommended that such a fund should be set aside annually and its payment made compulsory on all National banks. His recommendation was based on a record of about forty years and included the period of the panics of 1873 and 1893. I have not his report before me and may be in error as to the exact amount to be set aside, but I am sure it was not as much as one-fourth of 1 per cent.

I understand that Hon. T. B. Love has estimated that thirteen one-hundredths of 1 per cent on Texas National banks alone for the same period would have provided a sufficient fund to have paid all Texas losses.

Now it may be that a compulsory assessment or tax to the amount that experience has shown would have been heretofore sufficient would be upheld as a matter of public policy. But a system such as is advocated by Hon. W. J. Bryan for putting "every bank behind every other bank," thereby making them partners for payment of losses when they have no possibility of sharing in profits, is more vicious than his "16 to 1" theory on the coinage of silver, which the News so vigorously opposed.

Now, even with such a system as Controller Dawes recommended, every honorable banker is willing to get behind his bank in time of storm and bolster it up with his private fortune and credit, but if all banks were chained together (as proposed by Mr. Bryan and some of our State officials) one failure anywhere would intensify the scare in time of financial stress and banks would go down like forests in a tornado.

It is useless to argue that there would be no panics. There was no real good reason for the last one, but people didn't stop to reason when scary stories are afloat. I have witnessed two panics, and customers who apparently had never before seen the "closing sign" have rushed home after noting these signs and told their neighbors certain banks had "closed," and they do many other things equally as unreasonable or foolish.

My idea would be that all of the guaranty fund should be kept in such shape as to be immediately available if any bank should fail, for nothing allays a panic like quick payment. I am rather inclined to think the whole guaranty idea tends to cramp individuality and promote reckless banking, but would have no objection to a reasonable law along the lines recommended by Controller Dawes.

The News likens guaranteeing of deposits to insurance.

Ordinary insurance companies don't grant the same rates to all customers, nor after collecting the premium, have the right to collect more on paid-up policies.

I would have it so that when a conservative banker pays his annual percentage (either one-tenth of 1 per cent or such amount as past experience has shown would suffice under conditions heretofore existing) that his duty is done and his responsibility ended, and the State or United States should have no more right to call on him again than an insurance company would have to levy an assessment on a paid-up policy to make good unexpected losses.

The great trouble, however, is that some of our would-be statesmen think that "bank guaranty" is a good hobby horse to ride into office, and politicians who have never had any business or financial experience think themselves qualified to "regulate" the business affairs of some one else to promote their political advancement.

No better illustration of the folly to which regulation might be carried is needed than one of the late bills offered requiring State banks to invest 37 1/2 per cent of their deposits in government, municipal or county bonds. If those who pose as friends of State banks load them down with restrictions like that, National banks need never fear the results of the agitation. The News in its anxiety to protect the depositors should not go so far as to attempt to make every man who enters the banking business responsible for his neighbor's losses.

Too much "regulation" and re-

Awkward, but No Chump.

Once there was a pretty woman who came upon a huge ostrich in the desert.

"Foolish bird," said the pretty woman. "You cover your head with sand and think you are out of sight."

The huge ostrich laughed.

"My dear madam," he chuckled, "there is nothing foolish about that. Don't you cover your head with a hat decorated with my feathers and think you are 'out of sight?'"

Oddity of Dreams.

"Nobody ever feels pain in a dream," said a psychologist. "Rage, terror, joy, grief—these emotions stab us as poignantly in dream as in reality. But physical pain, no. I have interrogated 2,000 persons, and none of them ever suffered dream pains. Yet they have dreamed of dreadful motor accidents, tortures, death. One young girl, indeed, dreamed time and again of being eaten alive by cannibals, yet even in that horrible nightmare she felt no pain."

The Verdict of Long Experience.

When you have used a thing twenty years you know pretty well what it is. A baker writes from Sidney, Neb., that for twenty years he has been using Cottolene in his bakery, and finds it the best cooking fat he ever used. He even recommends its use to those who are doing their own baking. This testimonial is noteworthy because it is from a man who makes baking his business and who therefore is in position to judge from long practical use.

Cottolene can be used for all shortening and frying purposes; makes plump, crisp doughnuts, flaky biscuits and light, rich cake. It is better, cheaper and more wholesome than lard.

WEATHER FORECAST.

For Wichita Falls and Vicinity
—Tonight and Wednesday, unsettled weather; colder tonight and warmer Wednesday.

Wichita Falls, Texas, April 27th, 1909.

The papers that have all along done what they could editorially and otherwise towards defeating the suit against the Waters-Pierce Oil Company for violating the Texas anti-trust law, are now, seemingly, worried about what disposition should be made of the $1,800,000 fine since it has been paid into the treasury. Some of them have made the suggestion that State taxes be reduced to something like 1 cent on the $100 valuation until this $1,800,000 fine shall be exhausted in paying the expense of the State government. This plan would make a splendid showing for the present State administration, but would cause trouble, and plenty of it, for the next. At present, State taxes are not so very high and there is very little complaint from the tax payers. By placing this $1,800,000 out on interest, or using it as a fund for the purchase of county and municipal bonds might be a better plan than fixing a low State tax rate for one year and being forced to place it back where it was, or perhaps a little higher, for the year following. If this could be done, the interest on the $1,800,000 could be used toward paying the expenses of the State government and in that way the State taxes could be reduced to some extent to cover a period of several years. It is not likely that another $1,800,000 fine will be paid soon. In fact, it looks as if the big concerns which have heretofore had a contempt for Texas laws have learned a lesson, and from now on will have a more wholesome respect for them. Again, if the big fine is retained by the State and placed where it will draw interest, it might be a reminder for years to come to those who contemplate the overriding of Texas laws. However, the disposition of this big fine, in the opinion of this paper, can be with safety left to the good judgment of those State officials who fought the case through the courts, and in doing this were forced to fight against all the great political influence that could be brought to bear by statesmen of great ability. These officials deserve and are entitled to great credit for the splendid legal fight they made in the collection of this fine, and the people of Texas will not lose sight of this fact.

Hon. O. B. Colquitt, railroad commissioner, made a speech a few days ago before the lumbermen's convention, which, to say the least, is surprising. That portion of the speech which appeared in the daily papers, appears in this issue of the Times-Review, and, in view of the fact that Mr. Colquitt is a prospective candidate for governor, his speech should be read by every man in Texas. He says in effect that the legislature of Texas should pay no attention to the demands of the State democratic platform, but should adjourn without taking action on the demands of the people of this State, including the submission amendment, which was voted on by the people. In other words, Mr. Colquitt holds to the doctrine of the "people be damned," but he adheres strictly to the idea that corporate and other special interests should have what they want. He takes a fling at Governor Campbell for calling the attention of the legislature to the fact that the people's demands have not been carried out, and seems to think that the governor should be as placid as a lamb while the lobby overrides the people's rights at the capitol. The people ought to read what he says, so they will know whose will he expects to carry out if he should be elected governor.—Mt. Pleasant Times Review.

The Wichita Times issued a special edition recently that does credit to the Times publishers and the enterprising little city. A splendid showing for this fast growing town and its contiguous territory. For some reason Devoil was left off the map. We are not prepared to say why this was done, but we feel sure the Times would as readily give a write-up of Devoil as any other place had they been given the proper inducements. It costs money to publish a paper and as a matter of fact, they can't well afford to do a great lot of advertising gratis. If Devoil gets her name and resources well before the world she will have to do as other places are doing, advertise.—Devoil Dispatch.

Mrs. Solomon's Philosophy.

My daughter, wouldst thou be a perfect lady? Then, I charge thee, divorce thy husband politely and with pleasant words and proper courtesy. For the divorce court is not a battlefield, but a matrimonial exchange; and a perfect lady is known by the way in which she treateth her ex-husband.

Nay, because a man hath gotten on thy nerves and hath become a nuisance and an abomination in thine eyes, is this a reason why he shall be branded as a pariah and a deep-dyed villain?

And because a man hath promised to love, honor and cherish a woman, is this a reason why he shall revile her and berate her, when he hath decided that he would take back his promise?

Lo, because a woman hath once thought a man worth loving, is this a reason why she shall fear out his hair when she hath discovered her own mistake?

Go to! Because thou canst not endure a man, this is no sign that he is not endurable. Then, consider the thousand and one other things which thou admirest, yet wouldst not care to have "around the house." For a husband and a wife, they are a matter of taste.

Nay, then, when a man parieth from his wife, why shall he cry out: "Thou art a shrew and a fright, a nagger and a holy terror!" Rather let him write her a polite note saying, "It is with regret that I must break my promise made to thee at the altar. Yet, lo, subsequent matters have arisen which shall prevent my returning unto thee for many years."

And why should a wife not bestow upon a husband a tip and a written recommendation, even a spon a butler or a French maid with whom she hath decided to part?

Verily, verily, I say unto thee, be not rude and boisterous in thy divorce proceedings, but of good cheer; for is not joy near at hand? Yea, this is the hour for mutual congratulations! And a perfect gentleman will celebrate this day for a long time to come, sending his ex-wife dainty gifts "in token of the many happy years" which they have spent apart." STEALING A SIGN.

That Was the Policeman's Charge, but It Was Not Sustained.

Stealthily the policeman stole out from behind the side door of the saloon and quickly pounced on some Columbus college boys who were carrying a long board sign that had hung over some tobaccoist's shop. The youths protested against the officer's interference, but he told them that they would find it a hard job to turn little 'old New York into a college town, and off to the lockup they went, college boys, sign and all.

"What's the charge?" asked the sergeant as he looked out at the aggregation of the coming great men of learning.

"Stealing a sign," answered the cop as some of the boys bumped it into the station house, where it reposed against the wall.

"We did not steal it," spoke up one of the youths; "we only borrowed it."

The sergeant turned to the cop and told him to call up the owner and find out what the true state of the case was. The policeman read the sign slowly and then turned to the telephone book to look up the owner.

"Hello! Did you lose a sign?" And the answer made the policeman scratch his head.

"What did he say?" asked the waiting sergeant. The reserves were beginning to grin, and the policeman looked very uncomfortable.

"It is all right," he said, scowling at the youths. "The owner says they rented the sign for the night and are to return it tomorrow morning when he is ready to do business again."

A about went up from the youths as they were ordered out of the station, and they took up their triumphal march and sought out some other unsuspecting cop to dupe, and far down the street came back their triumphal yell:

"Co-l-u-m-b-i-a!"

The cop laughed to himself as he started out again on his beat, and a friend at his side asked him the cause of his merriment.

"The owner of the sign was mad all the way through and wanted me to hold the sign. He had rented it all right, but he said that was the third time he had been called out of bed tonight, for the boys had been pulled in in three other precincts, but as long as I was a goat for him I thought I would let the rah-rah boys have some more fun with some other cop and sent them on their way."—New York Press.

RAW DRUGS.

Castor Oil Comes as Pretty Little Brown and Black Beans.

Upon going into a pharmacy and looking over the mysterious jars and bottles and boxes that line the shelves did you ever wonder where on earth all of the drugs came from and how they appeared before they were ground up and made into oils or dried or pulverized or crystallized into queer shaped lumps? Each jar and box seems to hide some secret which you immediately become curious to solve. How many different lands do they represent? And, after they leave the jars that hold them now, what are they made into?

Who, for example, would connect a great pile of dry, thin twigs, neatly tied into small bundles, with sarsaparilla? These twigs are the creeping roots and rootlets of a prickly shrub that grows in Jamaica, and they are worth from 10 to 50 cents a pound. Somewhat similar in appearance is Ipecacuanha, which also comes to us in dry twigs, which are part of the trailing root of a plant found in the damp forests of Brazil.

These roots receive no preparation save drying before they are shipped off to the United States. They are packed in large sacks, and the workmen who open the bales must beware of breathing the pungent, irritating dust given off, which is productive of unpleasant results if incautiously inhaled.

Castor oil, too, is hard to recognize in the pretty little brown beans, spotted with black and with polished skins, that arrive in bags from India. They look far too attractive to suggest the much hated dose of our early days.

Aloes, the base of many nauseous medicines, may be seen in its crude form as a solid mass resembling brown sealing wax, packed in heavy wooden boxes, from which it is chipped out in flakes with a chisel and hammer.

It is of different qualities and prices, according to whether it comes from Arabia, Socotra or the West Indies, and may bring any sum from $4 to $45 per hundredweight. Aloes is the juice of the big fleshy leaves of the plant of that name. This juice is pressed or evaporated from the leaves and poured into chests or kegs in a semifluid state, hardening presently into a solid block. Not infrequently it is inclosed in the dry skins of monkeys and in this strange form brought to market.

One of the most interesting of drugs is opium, both on account of its awful potency and by reason of its great value. A case of opium, about 225 pounds, is worth $400 roughly. The case is of rough deal lined with tin and contains a number of soft, dark lumps, like large handfuls of dough packed very closely together in a quantity of dry, chaffy seeds.

The opium which reaches America is of two qualities, one for medicine, the other for smoking, and comes from Persia and Asia Minor, China and India.—St. Louis Republic.

Right to the Point.

ANNIVERSARY OF FOUNDING OF ODD FELLOWSHIP IN AMERICA.

Throughout the United States last night the Odd Fellows celebrated the nineteenth anniversary of the founding of that fraternity in America.

Thomas Wildey, the founder of Odd Fellowship in America, was born in London, Jan. 15, 1782. He went to school in London until he was 14, when he was apprenticed to the blacksmith's trade and became a skilled workman. He emigrated to America early in life. In 1817, when he was 35, he made a trip to England for the express purpose of getting a charter for a lodge in Baltimore, which was his home. He was not successful. In all, Wildey made three trips to England for this purpose, a fact that is regarded by so many devoted Odd Fellows as almost providential, in that Wildey was a poor man and could ill afford the time and money.

In April, 1819, Wildey, with John Welch, published a notice calling for a meeting. On April 13, Wildey, Welch, John Duncan, John Cheatham and Richard Rudwort met in response to the call. They were all members of the United Order, by whose laws any five members "by ancient usage" could organize a lodge. So it happened that in the city of Baltimore, in the Tavern of the Seven Stars, on April 26, 1819, they organized such a lodge. It was opened by Wildey, he taking the obligation "in the presence of the other four," after which "he administered the obligation to them," according to the ancient record on the subject.

The title "Independent Order of Odd Fellowship" was given to American Odd Fellowship probably because Washington Lodge No. 1, Baltimore, was chartered by the Duke of York Lodge, Preston, England, one of the subordinate lodges of the English Independent Order of Odd Fellows, Manchester Unity. The main English branch at that time was known as the United Order of Odd Fellows, but a division came, which resulted in the independent order. The United Order never obtained a foothold in America.

Wildey lived to see grand lodges formed in Pennsylvania, New York and Massachusetts within four years after the formation of the Grand Lodge of Maryland and United States. On Jan. 25 the Grand Lodge of Odd Fellowship of the United States was organized. On March 30, 1825, Wildey was installed grand sire. He died October 19, 1861, or forty-two years after the organization of Washington Lodge No. 1. At his death there were forty-two grand jurisdictions and 200,000 members of the order.

Story of the Rebekahs.

The Rebekah degree is second division of the order and differs greatly from the others in that it is the only degree in which women are admitted to membership. The 1851 grand lodge, now sovereign grand lodge, legislated, authorizing the adoption of a degree appropriate for wives and mothers of third degree members.

Schuyler Colfax is the author of the Rebekah degree, which has been changed but little since then.

The degree of Rebekah existed merely as a side degree, being conferred by the subordinate lodges until 1868, when charter rights were granted.

Mrs. M. Lily McCracken of Austin and one of the past presidents of the Rebekah assembly, was one of the charter members of the first lodge organized under charter rights at Cincinnati, Ohio. She was elected vice grand, and is the only living charter member of this lodge.

In 1878 the eligibility law was extended, making unmarried sisters and unmarried daughters over 18 years of age eligible.

In 1888 the privilege of conferring the degree was taken from the subordinates and vested solely in Rebekah lodges.

In 1894 the eligibility law was extended so as to include all unmarried white women who had attained the age of 18 years who believe in a supreme, intelligent Creator and Ruler of the Universe and who are of good moral character.

Thus the years 1868, 1878, 1888 and 1894 were eventful years in the Rebekah degree and mark epochs in its history as the liberal legislation which aided greatly in its growth, and each year more liberal legislation is granted.

Odd Fellowship was the first fraternal order to admit women to its ranks. The first Rebekah lodge in Texas was organized in Houston by Jacob De Cordova. The total Rebekah membership now exceeds a half million.

The membership in Texas is about 12,000, having more than doubled the past five years.

It was not until women were admitted to the order that Independent Order of Odd Fellows' homes for widows and orphans were built, the first being built in 1882 at Corsicana, Texas, since which time almost every State in the Union has followed our example.

The work of greatest importance of the Rebekahs in Texas is the support of the music and kindergarten department of the Widows and Orphans' Home.

The Phoenix Sanitary Duster

This duster is made from rope manilla. It will outwear any duster of any other material costing five times the price. Being of glazed rope manilla dust will not adhere to it as to other dusters, as it can be gathered upon it and readily shaken off. It will do the work other dusters fail to do, as it can be shoved into corners, shelves and crevices without being injured. It will not scratch fine surfaces as other dusters will. Moths or other insects will not destroy it as other dusters. It does not contain or will it convey any germs of disease, and is absolutely the only sanitary duster offered the public. The lasting qualities of the Phoenix are greater than any other duster, and it is sold under a guarantee to last ONE YEAR. The price is ridiculously cheap--15c with wire handle and 25c with wood handle, and are far superior to any feather duster made.
