WICHITA FALLS, TEXAS, WEDNESDAY JUNE 2, 1909

OUSLEY ATTACKS CAMPBELL'S VETO

STAUNCH ADMINISTRATION DE-FENDER TURNS AT LAST UP-ON CHIEF EXECUTIVE.

SAYS "OX-CARTECONOMY"

Record Editorial Flays Governor For Hindering Progress of Education.

Fort Worth, Texas, June 2.—The Editorial by Ousley in the Record, heretofore a staunch defender of Gov. Campbell, is attracting much attention.

The most serious mistake made in the public affairs of Texas in a quarter of a century was Governor Campbell's ruthless mutilation of the general appropriation bill.

It was so unnecessary and so cruel to the highest and best interests of the commonwealth that it is almost vandalism.

The bad statesmanship of the wholesale vetoing consisted in crippling the public service and arresting the growth of the state's educational institutions in order to make the empty boast of a tax rate of only 6 1/2 cents on the hundred dollars. There is not a self respecting patriotic and thoughtful tax payer of Texas who will appreciate low taxes obtained at price of the efficiency of public institutions.

The people have approved the establishment of these institutions and demanded their liberal support. The platform upon which Governor Campbell was elected and which he has so justifiably defended in other respects made specific pledges for "wise and liberal support of our public schools and all our state educational institutions," and the grant of "adequate authority and ample means to properly safeguard the public health."

What is an increased state tax rate of three or four or five cents on the hundred dollars compared with college students sleeping in tents, schools crying for trained teachers, young women begging for an opportunity to learn trades and 5,000 people dying of consumption every year?

It is an affront to the intelligence and the patriotism of the citizens of Texas to assume that they will approve this radical exercise of the executive veto when they understand its consequence.

We deny that a 6 1/2 mill tax is the measure of Texas aspirations in public service, public health and public education.

GAINESVILLE MAN MAY BUILD COTTON GIN HERE.

A Gainesville man, owner of several gins in this section of the State, was gins in the neighborhood of this city are not conveniently located and it is more than likely that one will be erected in this city, as the prospective

DYNAMO GOES DEAD AT WATER AND LIGHT PLANT.

Wichita Falls was in darkness for an hour or so last night, beginning about 8:20, due to an accident at the plant of the Wichita Falls Water and Light Company. One of the dynamos "went dead," due to some defect, and it was over an hour before it could be repaired sufficiently to furnish lights for the business section. Several of the residence circuits were switched off so as to supply the downtown customers, but this was not done until late, so there was little inconvenience.
The Elks minstrel performance was delayed by the accident for nearly an hour. The damage was thoroughly repaired this morning.

Principal Fairchild Resigns.

Mr. H. H. Fairchild, for the past several years principal of the high school for another year, has tendered his resignation and is making his arrangements to leave for Austin the latter part of this week, where he will enter the State university and prepare himself for the profession of law. After he has accomplished his purpose it is his intention to return to this city and practice his profession.

While connected with the public schools of this city, Mr. Fairchild has given universal satisfaction and his numerous friends will regret to learn of the severance of his connections
with our schools.

INDIANA PARTIES PURCHASE LANDS

ACQUIRE OVER ONE THOUSAND
ACRES OUT OF THE WAGGON-ER COLONY TRACT.

NEARLY $40 PER ACRE

Total Consideration is $41,500. Will Be Settled Up By Indiana Farmers.

By the terms of a real estate deal
recently consummated, Indiana parties
became the purchasers of over a thousand acres of the Waggoner Colony lands near Electra. W. G. Michener and Charles F. Myers of Indiana have bought the land in question, paying $41,500 for the total tract of 1053.6
acres.

The land was purchased through Reese S. Allen, a real estate dealer of Electra, the former owner being R. E.
Brooks of Houston. The deal includes all of subdivisions 239, 240, 258, 259, 260, 100 acres out of the east side of subdivisions 238 and 48 acres out of the north end of subdivisions 278.

It is understood on good authority that the land will be settled by parties from Indiana, and it is believed that a number of homesteaders from that state who passed through this section recently will occupy the tract. This, however, is not authentic. The land is in excellent wheat country, but so far little of it has been under cultivation.

The price per acre for this land is $39.58, which is considered a very fair valuation on the tract. It takes quite a large chunk out of the old Waggoner tract.

Tuesday to attend the normal school
during its summer session.

day afternoon on business.

graduates of the Wichita Falls high school, is spending the vacation rounding up cattle on his father's ranches around Iowa Park. The sun is working quite a change in Merle's complexion.

The new fixtures for the postoffice
have arrived and been installed, making everything more convenient and materially helping the appearance of things.

Miss Maude Scott had the painful misfortune of sticking a large splinter
in her foot Saturday and has not been able to be about since.

Noel Troutman, who has been attending Trinity university at Waxahachie, returned home today.

Kimmel-Utterback.

E. W. Kimmel and Miss Nellie Utterback, prominent young people of mony. The groom is prominent in

MANY ATTEND THE ELK'S MINSTRELS

LOCAL AMATEURS ENTERTAIN A PACKED HOUSE WITH EVEN-ING OF FUN.

PERFORMERS MAKE BIT

Songs, Jokes, Dancing and Special Features Are All Greatly Enjoyed.
Second Show Tonight.

Elkdom held sway at the opera house
last night and the minstrel performance was presented to an audience
that filled the house clear to the top,
and judging from the applause everybody from the top to the bottom, was tickled to death with the show. The performers pulled off their stunts with the ease of trained minstrels, the singing was excellent and the special features of a decidedly entertaining sort.

There was some delay at the start on account of the lights going out, but
by 9 o'clock this had been remedied.
The show opened with the ensemble selections, which included several songs from this season's successful attractions. Following this came the soloists, and interspersed between the songs, the end men carried on the usual animated conversation with the interlocutor. The latter was Mr. O. E.
Maer, and his work was excellent. The evening's jokes were uniformly fresh and amusing, and the hits at local people were heartily appreciated.

M. G. Scoville was the first singer with "A Friend of Mine." This was rendered naturally and melodiously by Mr. Scoville and was thoroughly appreciated. Then the clear and ringing voice of W. A. Clarke in "To the End of the World With You" was heard, followed by Clint Draper's song and dance, "Oh, come, mah Lou." This was presented in a clever and finished manner. A stirring melody, "In Grandma's Day," was then rendered by T. M. Sims, and Sam Sealing followed with "I'm Going Away." This was one of the real minstrel stunts of the evening. J. W. Clabey added the richness of his voice to the melody,
"Lovin' Time," then the low difficult notes of "When the Bell in the Light-house Rings Ding Dong" were rendered by J. T. Speaker in a much enjoyed solo. "The Glorious Highball" was then presented by J. H. Burnett. This is a very pretty song and was well sung. Claude Woods brought up the rear of the singers with "Ephraim Johnson." To the real minstrel way in which he sang this, Claude added
some fancy steps that won him several encores. The chorus, "Down in Georgia on Campmeeting Day," concluded the first part.

The first part scene was arranged to represent a bower of roses, with four tiers of seats. The musicians and performers occupied the first two, back of them being seated a number of the members in powdered wigs and dress costumes.

Among the comedians taking part in the first part's fun were Sam Sealing, Claude Woods, J. W. Clabey, M. G.
Scoville, Jas. Prathers, Abe Marcus,
Chas. Slusher, Clint Draper, the first two being end men.

The vocalists included J. H. Burn-
nett, J. R. Hyatt, C. V. Durland, Piner
Avis, M. J. Stinson, A. H. Graves, J. P.
Schwab, Chas. Crowell, H. B. Patterson, A. L. Huey, Tom Waddington, W.
A. Clarke, Mark Walker, L. A. Wilson,
M. A. Marcus, T. M. Sims, W. P.
Lampkin, W. M. Haigler, Linn Boyd,
E. E. Gorsline, Fred Smith, Ellis Robertson, Newton Maer, M. M. Murray,
Bentley Bacon, Prentice Bryant, Lamar
Fain, and Sam Stevens.

After the intermission Messrs. Miller and Draper presented a playlet, "The Man From Alabama," in which local people were the butts of numerous jokes. This concluded with a pretty song and dance stunt. Then Claude Woods told "the dark story of his life in an enjoyable and clever manner that smacked of real minstrelsy. He wound up with "No, Positively No."
"The Death of the Gladiator," presented by A. L. Huey, F. W. McGlas-son and T. M. Sims was one of the premier features of the evening. It was well gotten up and cleverly executed.
"The Dusky Belles and Beaux," an ensemble song and dance, concluded the evening's performance, and the laughter-dread crowd went home. The show will be repeated tonight with a changed program.

In the opinion of all present, last night's performance was a hit from beginning to finish.

was secured, but it was some time before the suffering was relieved. At last reports, however, he was recover-

lights permanent, thus adding materi-

YESTERDAY'S RAIN DID LITTLE DAMAGE TO WHEAT.

Quite a shower fell in Wichita Falls and vicinity yesterday afternoon, making good the weather man's predictions. The rain did no further harm to the wheat fields, it is learned, than stopping the bladders for a few minutes. A continued rain at this time would do some little damage to the crops being harvested, but yesterday's shower gave little trouble. The sun kept shining throughout the rain,
something not often witnessed.

REVISED FIGURES FOR COTTON CROP OF 1908.

Washington, June 2.—The finally revised figures for the cotton crop of 1908, expressed in equivalent 500-lb. bales and including listers, show a total production of 12,587,306 bales. This represents an increase over 1907 of 2,211,846 bales, or 19.4 per cent. It is the third largest crop ever produced being exceeded only by the crops of 1904 and 1906, and is 978,751 bales larger than the average crop of the last five years.

6,232,128 bales, or 45.9 per cent, came from the territory west of the Mississippi river, while the states east of the Mississippi contributed 7,355,178 bales, or 54.1 per cent. In 1907 the states west of the Mississippi river produced 42 per cent of the crop, and those east, 58 per cent; while in 1906 the former reported 53.2 per cent, and the latter 46.8 per cent.

The production reported for Texas is 3,913,048 bales, and is the second largest recorded, being exceeded only by that of 1906, which was 368,740 bales larger. This state showed a falling off in 1907 of 44.9 per cent as compared with 1906, but increased its crop in 1908 by 65.8 per cent over 1907. Texas produced 28.8 per cent of the total for the country in 1908; 20.8 per cent in 1907; and 31.5 per cent in 1906.

Other states showing large increases over 1907 are Arkansas, with 23.4 per cent; Alabama, with 21.3 per cent; and Mississippi, with 13.3 per cent. Louisiana has again sustained a great loss, reporting this year but 70.1 per cent of the quantity returned in 1907, and less than one-half of that returned in 1906. Oklahoma also shows a loss, since the crop of 1908 is but 80 per cent of that of 1907, and 77 per cent of that of 1906.

During the last two years especially favorable conditions have existed in Georgia, which state ranks next to Texas in production. The production in 1908 was 1,980,077 bales, the largest quantity ever grown in that state, and exceeding that for 1907 by 124,288 bales. Mississippi ranks third, with 1,704,972 bales, or 12.5 per cent of the total production for the country, and was followed by Alabama, with 1,374,140 bales, or 10.1 per cent of the total for the country.

Good "Dope."

If he pays you wages that supply you with bread and butter, work for him; stand by him and stand by the institution he represents.

If you live in a city, live for it; respect the greater power that protects you; that surrounds you with the advantages of advanced civilization, and that makes it possible for you to achieve better results.

Speak well of it; stand by it; stand for its civic and commercial supremacy.

If put to a pinch, an ounce of loyalty is worth a pound of cleverness.

If you must vilify, condemn and eternally disparage, why, resign your position and quit the town, but as long as you are a part of a city do not belittle it.

If you do, you are loosening the tendrils that hold you to the community, and the first wind that comes along you will be uprooted and blown away; and probably you will never know why. Such has been the experience of many.—Exchange.

Several years ago Thomas W. Lawson wrote a series of magazine articles entitled 'Frenzied Finance.' In one of those articles Mr. Lawson gave the following character sketch of Henry H. Rogers: 'Away from the spell of dollar making, this remarkable man is one of the most charming and lovable beings I have ever encountered; a man whom any man or woman would be proud to have for a brother; a man whom any father or mother would give thanks for as a son; a man whom any woman would be happy to know as her husband, and a man whom any boy or girl would rejoice to call father. But once he passes under the baleful influence of 'the machine' he becomes relentless, ravenous, pitiless as a shark, knowing no law of God or man in the execution of his purpose. Between him and coveted dollars may come no kindly human influences—all are thrust aside, their claims disregarded in ministering to this strange cannibalistic money-hunger which, in truth, grows by what it feeds upon. Above all things, Henry H. Rogers is a great actor. He knows the human animal from the soles of his feet to the part of his hair and from his shoulder blades to his breast bone and, like all great actors, he is not above getting down to every part he plays. . . . Truly a man of blood and iron, as Bismarck or Von Moltke was, his erected will is a sword and a vice. To gain a predetermined goal, Henry H. Rogers will go through hellfire and water, swing about and make the return trip and then repeat until death interferes or his object is attained. Such men as he in other days subjugated kingdoms or made deserts where they operated; in religion they became St. Pauls and Savonarolas.'

Politics and Politicians.

The Florida house of representatives has passed a bank guaranty bill, differing but little from that of Oklahoma.

Some of the Democratic leaders in Ohio are reported to be planning a boom for Governor Harmon for the Presidential nomination in 1913.

Four separate organizations have been formed in New York for the purpose of combating Tammany Hall in the municipal election next fall.

A well informed Washington correspondent rates Senator La Follette of Wisconsin as one of the wealthiest members of the United States Senate. To the large income derived from his law practice have been added the profits from many fortunate investments.

President Taft is preparing to make a short tour of New England before occupying his summer home at Leverly in early July. He will begin the tour at Norwich, Ct., where he will attend the centennial celebration of the founding of that city on July 4.

The indications are that all the members of the Kansas delegation in Congress will have opposition in the coming primary election in that state, with the possible exception of E. H. Madison in the Seventh district and Victor Murdock in the Eighth.

Gen. James F. Smith, retiring, governor-general of the Philippines, is being talked of as a possible candidate for mayor of San Francisco. General Smith is a Democrat and was a resident of San Francisco until he was appointed to the Philippines in 1906.

In case Governor Johnson of Minnesota should refuse to enter the domain of national politics, friends of Governor Burke of the neighboring State of North Dakota will urge him as a candidate for the democratic nomination for vice president in 1913.

Governor John F. Shafron of Colorado has accepted membership on the national committee having in charge the proposed change in the date for presidential inauguration, making in all forty-six governors of states and Territories who have joined the movement.

John L. Wilson, who was a United States Senator from Washington from 1895 to 1899, filing out the unexpired term, is said to be seriously considering the question of entering the senatorial fight next year for the seat now occupied by Senator Piles.

The rival factions that have split the Republican party in West Virginia for several years appears to be on the verge of harmony. The era of good feeling results largely from the policy pursued by Governor Glasscock, who in making of the appointments has refused to recognize factional differences.

T. B. Walker, of Minneapolis, who is said to be the largest owner of standing timber in the United States, will probably be a candidate for the United States Senate against Senator Moses E. Clapp, whose term will expire in 1911. It is also said that Frank B. Kellogg of St. Paul, special Government prosecutor, will be a candidate.

Mrs. Ruth Bryan Leavitt, daughter of William Jennings Bryan, has arranged for a convention to be held in Denver next month of all the Jane Jefferson clubs in Colorado, at which an address by Mrs. Leavitt, the president, on the upbuilding of the democratic party from the feminine standpoint, will be the principal feature.

CAPT. GOODNIGHT
AT YOUNG RANCH

Captain Charles Goodnight, owner of the famous Goodnight buffalo ranch near Clarendon, was in the city yesterday afternoon to look after some personal matters, and he improved the time by going out to the Young ranch to look at the imported Russian sheep brought here by Dr. Young. Capt. Goodnight is a sheep fancier himself and he was very much interested in Dr. Young's importations. He was taken out to the ranch by W. F. Jordan of this city. Capt. Goodnight owns some Persian sheep that are believed to have a Russian strain in them. He admired the Young importations very much, but found them superior to his Persians in several ways. The wool staple is considerably longer in the Russians, though there is little difference in the quality, and the coats of the young Persian lambs are not nearly as valuable, he states, as those of the Russians.

There are now eighty full-blood buffalo on the Goodnight ranch, and about one hundred "catlow" as the half-breeds are called. Capt. Goodnight returned home last night.

WEATHER FORECAST.

For Wichita Falls and Vicinity
Tonight and Thursday, partly cloudy to cloudy weather.

Wichita Falls, Texas, June 2nd, 1909.

SIDEWALKS TO THE NEW HIGH SCHOOL BUILDING.

The Times wishes to call the attention of our citizens to the fact that no sidewalks reach the new high school building site except from the south.

New sidewalks are needed on Broad street from Tenth and both Eleventh and Twelfth from Bluff street.

We believe the enterprising property owners along those streets will put them down if requested.

Will not either the city authorities or the Chamber of Commerce take the matter in hand, so that the children can have the walks when school opens?

Texas needs as her governor a clean, courageous, high-minded, dignified gentleman. A man who is too honorable to stoop to dirty tricks employed by politicians to gain office. In Horace Chilton she will find all the qualities that go to make material out of which real statesmen are composed. He would be Texas a governor of which the State could justly feel proud. It is true, he was defeated for a second term in the senate, but time has proven that a great mistake was made, and now, if given the opportunity, the people of Texas will, so far as is possible, correct that blunder. It matters not whether Chilton favors State-wide prohibition or not. Out of all the men so far aspiring for that honor, he stands head and shoulders above them all. Besides, prohibition should not have been made an issue in the campaign. That matter should have been settled like the democratic party of Texas wanted it settled—by a direct vote of all the people. Should Chilton's friends succeed in getting his consent to make the race, the matter of picking out the winner will be easy.

From the gubernatorial headquarters comes the discouraging announcement that the preliminary investigation will be postponed because of a technicality. The far-sighted legislators forgot to attach the emergency clause to the measure. Open charges of official misconduct and graft among the employees of the State penitentiary have been made. Terrible stories of cruelty and the abuse of the lease system have been circulated. Men have been accused, either justly or unjustly, of grave crimes. This has gone too far to be dropped. Why was the emergency clause left out of the bill? The people of Texas do not want an investigation at some remote time when present conditions have been changed. They want an investigation now. Our prisons have been pictured as model institutions and as hell holes. The people of Texas want to know which picture is true.—San Antonio Light.

"What have you to say to the Abilene lynching?" inquires a correspondent. What have we to say? Nothing, except that it was brutal, cowardly, unnecessary, inexcusable and disgusting, as most every lynching is.—Houston Post.

Swearing has gone out of date. There are no oaths and very few negroes to swear at the males. The boys are afraid to swear over the telephone, gentlemen seldom swear and others are ashamed to swear. It is a bad habit, and its passing is a matter of rejoicing. There never was any excuse for it. Its place has been taken by ideas.—Sulphur Springs News.

That's the way it is in Sulphur Springs and in the Sunday school of Bonham, but it is hardly that way in every Texas town. In Fort Worth negroes don't swear loud enough to be heard on the streets, and decent white men never think of doing the like of that. When ideas take the place of oaths words then society will be greatly improved. Unfortunately, however, there will always be men standing around who wouldn't know an idea if they were to meet it in the road.—Fort Worth Star-Telegram.

Some newspapers in Texas are worrying themselves with a discussion of the possibility of Governor Campbell's becoming a candidate for a third term in office. Thomas M. Campbell will not be a candidate for re-election. He said not long ago, in the presence of the writer, Hon. F. O. Fuller and several other representatives: "This talk about my becoming a candidate to succeed myself is simply wild speculation; it won't." "But," he added significantly, "if the man who succeeds me does not tote fair with the people, I might become a candidate to succeed him."—Pleasanton Monitor.

Judge M. M. Brooks, chief justice of the State Supreme Court, is the last patriot to submit his name as a contestant in the sweepstake race for governor. The News has not been able to keep count on the entries, but this must be about the "steenth"—Abilene News.

There would be just as much policy in a man knocking on his own warts and telling it over town that his stock was out of date as for the citizens of a town to knock on the enterprises which the town supports.—Shafter Lake Herald.

Missouri must feel mighty foolish for barring oil trusts from the State. Just see what a success Texas and her legal craft have made out of just one company.—Austin Statesman.

Why Men Cook Seldom Smoke.

"Men cooks make a mistake to smoke. Men cooks that smoke have a hard time to get work."

"Why so?" inquired a woman cook.
"Because you don't like your cook to bend over the cooking with a cigar in his mouth. It doesn't look neat when you go down into the kitchen to see him finger the wet stub of a cigarette and then plunge his hands into the puff paste. Sometimes, in fact, if you have a man cook that smokes you will find ashes on the steak. I know a corporation lawyer who once found a cigar end in the soup. Do you think he'd ever employ after that a smoking cook?"—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Hurt Worse Than the Razor.

The Barber—You got a nasty, deep lot of crow's feet, sir, and them lines runnin' down from the corners of the mouth is something fierce. A massage—The Patient (sternly)—You're got a hump like a camel and a chest like a doughnut, and I don't believe, with legs like those, you could stop an elephant up an alley, let alone a cow. But, hang it, man, do you want to be reminded of it every-time you get a shave?—Philadelphia Bulletin.

Porcine Geometry.

Seven-year-old William had become the proud owner of a pet pig and insisted upon having all the care of it himself. After a few weeks, as the pig did not seem to thrive, his father said to him:
"William, I'm afraid you are not feeding your pig enough. It does not seem to be fattening at all."
"I don't want him to fatten any yet," William replied knowingly. "I'm waiting until he gets to be as long as I want him, then I'll begin to widen him out."

After the Honeymoon.

He (at a picture gallery)—I wonder what that painting represents?
The youth and the maiden are in a tender attitude. She—Oh, don't you see? He has just asked her to marry him, and she is accepting him. He—Ah, how appropriate the title! She—I don't see it. He—Why, that card at the bottom says "Sold."

Her Reason.

He—Do you know any good reason why women should vote?
She—Yes, I do.
"What is it?"
"Well, because."—Yonkers Statesman.

The Kaffeeklatsch.

The difference between a 5 o'clock tea and a German Kaffeeklatsch is enormous. The tea is a pleasant go-as-you-please meeting, where we balance our teacups in hand periously handicapped by our multitudinous possessions, augmented by the frail saucer on which a top heavy piece of cake finds an insecure resting place. We may enjoy a variety of creature comforts augmented by ices and cups on festive occasions.

Not so the German Kaffeeklatsch. That is a ponderous affair which you take sitting at tables. Coffee and saucers mark the beginning of the meal, followed by numberless cakes which the Germans know so well how to make. This is followed by some creamy preparation or a beautiful device made in ice. This again is succeeded by the choicest fruits.

The Kaffeekanne is meanwhile still busily plying its trade. There is a well known German song which ends with the refrain, freely translated: "Thank you, thank you, hostess mine, I never drink more cups than nine."—London Queen.

The Fairy Hounds.

In some years stunts appear to be more numerous than in others, and they are seen not in ones and twos, but in dozens, hunting together in small packs. The late E. T. Booth of Brighton, when shooting in East Lothian one autumn, met a pack of stunts which attacked a terrier he had with him and would not be driven off until he and the dog between them had killed more than a dozen. Stunts will hunt together from scent and in full cry like a pack of hounds, one always keeping the line and followed closely by the others. This sight has been recorded by different observers, who have also seen weasels hunting in the same way. There is a popular notion in the west of England that hares are hunted at night by packs of little fairy hounds, locally called "dandy dogs," and these are said to be weasels, which the west country folks call "fairies," pronouncing the word "valry" and "valr." Some of them declare that they have seen and watched the chase with awe.—London Graphic.

Poetic Justice.

A man whose soul had been tortured frequently by the remarks of his wife, who takes a fiendish delight in setting a price on the handsome clothes worn by other women, one day found sweet comfort in the incautious comment of a woman in a crowded car.

"Oh, yes," said that observing other woman, "the hat looks well enough, but it is cheap. It couldn't have cost a cent more than $3."

Thereupon said the man to his wife: "Why do you always pick out the most expensive clothes for especial notice? Why don't you look at something cheap once in awhile? There are cheap things worn. There is a hat in this very car that cost only $6. The woman just behind us pointed it out a minute ago."
"Well," said his wife, "you are the last person on earth who ought to feel proud of it. It was me she was talking about."—New York Times.

Old English Flint Glass.

Large quantities of lead and potash were introduced into the constitutions of the glass which in 1673 is described as being clear, heavy and thick as crystal.

A great impetus was given to the manufacture when the edict of Nantes in 1685 drove the skilled artisans from France. Many of them came to England, and the fame of British glass grew until it was considered superior to that of Bohemia.

From 1736 to about 1761 we have but few particulars. Then Michael Edlins, formerly a potter, became prominent as a maker of the highest class of enameled glass, which has become very scarce. It has an opaque white body, beautifully painted in enamel colors with figures, flowers, etc. In fact, it much resembles a glass porcelain. It is getting scarce, too, and fine pieces are increasing in value.—London Opinion.

Paradoxical.

Reporter—What do you mean by saying that I use "paradoxical expressions?" Editor—I mean that you say impossible things. This story of yours, for instance, contains the phrase "bag-pipe music."—Cleveland Leader.

Packing a Trunk.

"My dear, I cannot get any more things in, and yet everything in the trunk is absolutely indispensable."
"Yes, but the question is, 'Which of the absolutely indispensable things can we do without?'"

Bees that have honey in their mouths have stings in their tails.—Scottish Proverb.

Should and Will the South Remain Solid?

By John W. Tomlinson of Alabama, in National Monthly.

This question was agitated by the republicans during the recent presidential campaign. They played it as a long shot with the hope of possibly winning one of two of the Southern States. Local conditions were expected to help Mr. Taft swing through the South. A few over-apprehensive democrats urged the democratic national committee to have Mr. Bryan do likewise. This was deemed entirely unnecessary. The result showed the committee was in the right. The South remained, and will continue, solid in its adherence to democracy.

And yet the echo of this question still sounds in some quarters of the South. Newspapers discuss it as interesting speculation for the entertainment of readers. A few take the affirmative, possibly hoping to curry favor with the powers that be. Still a few others conscientiously think it would be for the South's best interests to be divided politically. All these represent a very small minority. The Southerner is a democrat from principle. It is untrue that he is a democrat only to maintain white supremacy. The negro question is no longer a menace. It has been solved by the South itself. Its solution has demonstrated the necessity and value of that democratic foundation principle, local self government, as is being shown now in the Pacific Slope States in the matter of the Japanese and the schools.

Those who contend that the Solid South should be broken, suggest that such is the only method by which the South can get into the game of federal government. They seem to think the country is hopelessly republican and the only way out of the dilemma is to join the republican party. We believe that democratic principles will ultimately triumph in the nation; that the contested States in the North and West are democratic; that influences are used, however, in those States to thwart the will of the people; that the enormous corruption funds that are used in each presidential year do this; that in the South no amount of money can buy an election; that the South stands today as a bulwark against such methods; that the time will come when such methods will not be tolerated anywhere; that a party that is against the publicity of campaign funds will not triumph; that campaign committees will not be allowed to collect or use any more money than is necessary for paying the legitimate expenses of the campaign.

It is further agreed that on account of its solidity for democracy, the South is not given proper recognition in the democratic national conventions nor in the democratic councils. A Southerner was the permanent chairman of our last democratic national convention. An Alabamian was chairman of a sub-committee of the national committee having in its charge the work of organization during the campaign; a North Carolinian was chairman of the press bureau of the democratic national committee; another Southerner was chairman of one of the most important committees at our Eastern headquarters; our Southern senators, representatives and prominent democrats took a most important part as speakers in the contested States.

It is urged that the democrats of the South show cowardice in adhering to their party. This is not true. If there is any cowardice displayed anywhere, it is on the part of those who are really at heart republicans, but who have not the courage of their convictions. They should join and affiliate with the party in whose principles they believe. They should not remain in the democratic party, seeking at all times and on all occasions to undermine and overthrow that party. If two parties in the South, divided on matters of principle, all right. But to suggest the splitting up of the South to get recognition or for any other matters of expediency is unworthy of consideration.

How is the South to be helped by division? What democratic principle or policy is detrimental to the South or any other section? We are told we must progress, yet when democratic principles are applied to the solution of present problems, we are warned to get back to old-fashioned democracy. On the other hand when a protest is made against republican measures striking at the very foundation of our form of government, we are charged with being obstructionists. In the meantime, the gratuitous advice comes from the same sources to split up the Solid South in order, first, that some future Southern republican may become a cabinet officer under a republican administration. Such is the logic of Mr. Julian Harris and others who have written recently on this subject.

President Taft's proposed policy toward the South, as outlined in his recent utterances on the subject will have little bearing upon the question. His policy to reward democrats who are untrue to their party will not, in my opinion, tend to strengthen the cause of his party in the South. The only way for the republicans to build up their party in the South, in my opinion, is to convince democrats that republican policies are the best. Then for such as are convinced, to join the republican party boldly, and advocate its principles and receive its reward. Democrats are not going to split up by the undermining process of rewarding those who fight for the democratic party from the inside.

Pierpont-Chauncey Wedding.
New York, June 2.—Old Trinity Church was the scene of a fashionable wedding this afternoon, when Miss Nathalie Elizabeth Chauncey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ellhu Chauncey, became the bride of Seth Low Pierpont, son of Henry E. Pierpont of Brooklyn. The attendants of the bride and bridegroom included representatives of the oldest families of New York and Brooklyn. Within a few days the bridal couple will sail for Paris, where Mr. Pierpont is stationed as Third Secretary of the American embassy.

The Clothes You Wear

reflect your taste and business ability. Their style and goodness is soon known to your friends. That's the sort of advertising we want. If there is anything that will put a man down and out in the matter of dress it is clothes—that fit intermittently. Lumpy clothes are about as unsightly as anything can be and that is why we place fit ahead of many other points. You will find that our clothes fit snug to the neck, show a smooth shoulder and feel comfortable at the armholes. They have the proper quantity of cloth at the right place; they hang gracefully and they have all the niceties of good style and perfect tailoring. The effect of our choice clothing on the public is such now that when a man has a suit in mind he naturally thinks of the excellent style and taste shown in our ready-to-wear garments.

THE FAVORITE GAS RANGE

Made entirely of stamped steel. No other like it. See it before you buy a gas range. Has heavy cast bottom and asbestos lined ovens. Rust does not affect them like the cheap, poorly constructed gas ranges.

When you buy the genuine FAVORITE you can bake beautifully cakes, pies and puddings. A poorly made gas range upsets the whole household, and a good one is necessary to the welfare of the kitchen. When you buy the FAVORITE you get our guarantee and the company's guarantee.
