Cars were wrecked in the rough-and-tumble fight and over one hundred persons more or less seriously injured. Policeman Levy was shot during the fray and may die.

Most of the trouble occurred in the factory sections of Kensington and a number of burned and wrecked cars there this morning bear evidence to the fury of the mob. SHOE FACTORY WANTS TO COME TO WICHITA

A shoe factory for Wichita Falls is now among the probabilities of the near future a very worthy proposition having been submitted the Chamber of Commerce by the St. Louis parties who are figuring on the cotton mill proposition here. Secretary Gohlke of the Chamber Commerce received a letter from these people this morning, the following being submitted:

"We would be willing to make you the following proposition on the shoe factory. We would establish and operate a shoe factory in your city, manufacturing from 50 to 700 pairs of shoes per day, to cost in the neighborhood of from fifteen thousand to eighteen thousand dollars and employing from 25 to 60 people, provided we can secure a subscription of at least ten thousand dollars to the capital stock of the proposed shoe factory."

This matter will be taken up at once by the Chamber of Commerce directors and if it looks good, as it undoubtedly will, the money will be raised and the stock subscribed.

LAKE PAVILION IS LARGEST IN STATE

WORK ON MAGNIFICENT AMUSEMENT STRUCTURE HAS BEGUN AT LAKE WICHITA.

TO BE IMPOSING EDIFICE

Large, Handsomely Appointed and Illuminated—Other Attractions To Be Provided.

The largest pavilion in the State of Texas will be erected at Lake Wichita this summer, the plans for it being complete and the lumber on the way. It is to be built by the parties interested in the amusement features at the lake and will be erected in conjunction with a "Figure 8," "Shoot the Chutes" and other amusement park attractions. The pavilion will be in keeping with the spirit of the city, both in size and appointment.

Three stories in height, 100 by 126 feet long, built specially of lumber, illuminated by three thousand incandescents and costing nearly $30,000, the pavilion will be in a class all by itself in the State, surpassing even similar structures at San Antonio, Ft. Worth and Dallas. But that's Wichita's way.

The ground floor will be of reinforced concrete, and on it will be located the cafe and similar features. On the second floor will be the soda fountain, shooting gallery and other such amusements. The dance hall will occupy the entire third floor, with polished maple floor, no posts, and contain 60 by 80 feet of unobstructed dancing space.

An attractively finished roof completes the structure.

Around each floor will run a twenty foot promenade. The floors will be supported by attractive arches finished in ornamental plaster—similar decorations being a marked feature of the building's exterior. There are to be fourteen of these arches on the sides and eleven on the ends, making a total of fifty to each floor.

Approximately 3,000 incandescent lights will give the structure the brilliance of noonday. These lights will follow the lines of each arch and also the straighter lines of the structure. Three mills were given special orders for the pavilion lumber and some of the larger beams had to be specially cut from the trees. Most of this lumber is now on its way to Wichita Falls.

Work has already been started on the foundations, and they are nearly completed. The construction details will be pushed rapidly and the building completed early in August, if possible. The cost will be approximately $30,000, and the contract will be let this week. To Jones and Orloff, the architects, is due much of the credit for the attractiveness of the building.

The erection of this building is but a part of what is going on at the lake while the car line is building. The syndicate has boat-builders, brought here all the way from New Jersey, at work constructing new boats and similar craft for the lake.

Work on the "Figure 8" and the "Chute" will start shortly and when the pavilion is completed these attractions will be ready for the public. No other city in the South of the size of Wichita Falls will be as well equipped from the amusement standpoint. But that's the Wichita way.

Eclipse of the Moon Tonight.

Washington, June 3.—Tonight the inhabitants of the greater part of North America will have an unusually fine opportunity to see a total eclipse of the moon. The moon will be in the shadow of the earth for over an hour and practically the only light from the heavens will be that of the stars.

The reason why the moon will be invisible, as the phenomenon is explained by the astronomers, is the influence of the earth's atmosphere, which bends the sun's rays at the edges of illuminated hemisphere of our planet and throws on the moon a faint glow, usually of a red copper hue. It results from the absorption in our atmosphere of the green blue and violet rays in the sun's light while the red rays pass through it. It is much the same as the sunset glow, though indefinitely more faint.

The moon will not pass through the central, and deeper part of the shadow, and so will probably not be entirely lost to view at any time, although it will appear of a dull-red, and the stars will give so little light that darkness will prevail for more than an hour, and the stars will shine as brightly as on a moonlight night. Were the moon to pass through the center of the earth's shadow, there would be a black course of which the moon would probably disappear entirely from sight.

If the sky is clear, tonight's eclipse can be seen without the aid of glass or telescope of any kind. Persons living in the eastern section of the United States and Canada will see the moon rise before the shadow has advanced very far, while in some parts of the west the moon will be entirely covered when it rises.

Wedding in Thaw Family.

New York, June 3.—A despatch from Rome says that the wedding of Miss Beatrice Thaw and the Marchese Theodoli took place today at the Thaw villa in that city and was largely attended by the aristocracy of Rome as well as the leaders of the American colony in the Italian capital.

The bride is the daughter of Blair Thaw, a half-brother of Harry K. Thaw. The family belongs in New York, but has lived in Rome for the last three years, and it was there that Miss Thaw met her future husband.

Miss Thaw's girlhood was spent at her father's country estate at Sparrkill on-the-Hudson, where he had built one of the finest summer palaces in America. The death of two younger Thaw children induced their parents to seek a change of scene, and they enjoyed a brief sojourn in California. When the terrible tragedy on the roof of Madison Square Garden darkened their door Mr. Thaw determined to seek a permanent home abroad, and located in Rome, where the education of Beatrice and her younger sister, Barbara, was completed.

The family soon became a part of the Rome social life. In the round of society functions Miss Thaw met the Marchese Theodoli, tall, handsome, aged 23. It was a case of love at first sight and within a few weeks the couple were betrothed. The civil marriage took place in London the latter part of April and now that the religious ceremony has been performed it is expected that the Marchese and his bride will soon come to America to spend their honeymoon.

CRUELITIES IN CHINA.

Torture of Prisoners Carried to Point of Refinement.

HOME OF THE WATER DEATH.

A Worse Infliction Than That of Being Tied to a Beam by the Thumbs and Big Toes—The Bastinado and Flogging With Split Bamboo.

China is a land of contradictions and mysteries. It bristles with surprises. The phlegmatic nature of its natives is in marked contrast to their inherent cruelty.

"What a poor, weak looking baby!" you might say to a Chinaman about his offspring, and he will merely shrug his shoulders in reply. Meet him in a month's time and ask him how the youngster is getting on.

"The disease was a fatal one," he will answer, with another significant shrug. If the child were a girl you could safely draw your own conclusions as to its fate. John Chinaman has no use for deformed or very sickly children, particularly girls.

Torture of prisoners has been carried to a point of refinement. One of the most terrible was surely the cage in which a man was placed so that his head just protruded at the top, while his toes only touched the ground sufficiently to prevent dislocation of the neck.

His hands were bound behind him so that he could not relieve himself, and he was left to be jeered at by the public until hunger and exhaustion put an end to his sufferings.

The day of the bastinado, too, is by no means over. The prisoner is strung up in a reverse condition, and the naked soles of his feet are pounded with a cane, with the result that the victim seldom recovers.

But the more common form of flogging is to beat the thighs with the concave side of a split bamboo, which cuts at every stroke into the flesh.

China, by the way, was the home of that terrible death by water drops. The victim's head was placed on a low hard block, and drops of water at short intervals were allowed to fall from a height on to his forehead—a far, far worse infliction than that of being tied to a beam by the thumbs and big toes.

The cage is regarded as a comparatively mild sort of punishment. This consists of a wooden collar, about four feet square and four inches thick, which is placed over the prisoner's head, so that its full weight falls on the shoulders.

A description of the offense is also attached to the victim's body, and as he cannot feed himself he has to rely on the public for sustenance.

Conservative to a degree, it is not surprising to find that the wheelbarrow as a passenger conveyance is still in vogue, as, too, is the ferry, consisting of a light canoe, towed across the water by a number of swimmers.

Machinery for the most part is despised, and the mill, still used for winnowing the staple diet, rice, is of the simplest and most out of date description possible.

The rice is placed in a cement basin, over which is a heavy stone at the end of a long lever. This is worked up and down by two boards, in the form of a cross, attached to the axle of a huge hand turned wheel.

For simplicity of keeping a city informed of the time Canton would be hard to beat. In one of the temples are four large earthen jars on successive shelves.

Water descends by slow drops from one to the other, a brass scale on a float in the bottom one indicating as it rises the hour of the day.

At 5 o'clock every afternoon the lowest jar is emptied and the upper one refilled. On the outside walls of the city are displayed boards with the number of the hour on them, so that all may see. And this has gone on without a break since 1321.

Funerals appear almost a mockery to the visitor. If money can be freely spent a manager is appointed, and from the highways and the byways street boys and beggars are collected, dressed up in amazing costumes, supplied with dazzling umbrellas, standards and boards, which are carried over their shoulders in a long straggled line.

Others carry small houses and carts made of card paper, horses, men, women, etc., indicative of the dead one's treasures, and these, with heaps of paper coins and paper money, are burned at the grave so that they may be enjoyed in the life beyond.

Hired mourners with cymbals, gongs and wind instruments keep up a continuous series of howls and noises, to which is added the boohoo, boohoo, of an ear-ringing horn worked something like a garden hose.

Women are regarded as nothing in China. They are brought up in ignorance of the world outside, the one object of their life being to get married and have sons to follow the fathers. A girl is not even allowed to look upon her husband until she is actually wedded.—London Ladies' Field.

Net Very Neighborlike.
Dugald—You was not a verra neighborlike thing to be doin'. Angus, when you was telling the whole town that I was drunk and the week that we was in Glasgow, Angus—I never said no sich word out o' my lips. Dugald Mackay. Aa! I said was that you was perfect sober on the Sabbath day?—London Opinion.

Though you drive Nature out with a pitchfork, she always comes back.—German Proverb.

CENTRIFUGAL FORCE.

Some of the Wonderful Properties of Rapidly Revolving Bodies.

It is probably well known to our readers that by means of revolving soft copper disks, the edges of which are served with diamond dust by beating it in, diamonds can be sawed up. By means of sharp, rapidly revolving iron disks it is possible to cut through heavy steel armor plates of four to eight inches in thickness. These phenomena belong to a very interesting department in physics, the physics of revolving bodies, that doubtless still has a great deal that is remarkable to offer. The rotation of a wheel results in the phenomenon that keeps the wheelman or bicyclist without exertion free on his seat—i. e., the so called free axis. We can also observe it easily in a top, which, its equilibrium disturbed, as long as the rotation is rapid enough always resumes a certain position in regard to its axis without requiring pivot bearings. Rotation also exercises a tension producing effect on the substance of a revolving body, and it is this tension that imparts to the soft saws referred to their notable efficiency. If, for instance, a disk of thin cardboard is caused by a suitable transmission to rotate very rapidly on the lathe the rotatory tension causes the card to behave like sheet metal.

As the Naturwissenschaftliche Wochenschrift states, the cardboard can in such case no longer be bent and if struck with a hammer gives off a sound as though we were striking bronze. This is, however, only the beginning. If we place on the shaft of an electromotor a disk of good paper, cut into an exact circle about eight inches in diameter, this paper disk can be made at the highest rotating speed of the motor to saw through clear box wood. At the cutting surface it acquires a fine brown polish. The publication in question shows other interesting experiments. We can, for instance, fit on the shaft of the rotatory apparatus a drum, about which may be passed an annular closed little chain in such a manner that at the highest rotatory speed of which the motor is capable it can be slipped off the drum. The chain will then behave like a solid ring, roll across the table and when it strikes the ground bounce up like a hoop. The active principle on which all these tension phenomena are based is centrifugal force.

BASEBALL STRATEGY.

A Bit of Quick Thinking and Good Play on the Diamond.

The quickest thinking I ever saw on a baseball field was done by Tommy McCarthy, the Boston outfielder of years ago. Tom Browne, one of the speediest runners that ever played baseball, was on second base, and New York needed one run to tie the score. Jack Doyle, then a great batter, was at bat, and it seemed certain that a base hit by Doyle would tie the score and perhaps win the game, as there was but one out, and Browne was so speedy he could score from second base on almost any kind of a safe hit. McCarthy crept closer to the infield on left, realizing that, although he could throw with wonderful rapidity and accuracy, the chances were all against throwing Browne out at the plate unless he was close and the ball came to him quickly. Doyle drove a hard line hit straight to the left field. Browne went scudding toward third base. Doyle raced for first, and McCarthy plunged forward at top speed. The fielder reached the ball on its first bound, grabbed it and without stopping or looking threw with terrific force and perfect aim across the diamond into the first baseman's hands. Browne had stopped at third base. Doyle, who had turned first with the intention of sprinting to second, was caught standing still ten feet from first. The next batter went out on a fly, and Boston won the game.

After the game I asked McCarthy concerning the play. "Well," he explained, "Browne is a quick thinker. He saw just how hard that ball was hit and knew he would be thrown out at the plate unless I fumbled. Doyle doesn't think very fast, and knowing that he would turn first and stop to see if I was throwing home, I threw across to first and caught him."

He figured that out while the ball was screaming through the air toward him, probably reaching his conclusions and making the decision in four-fifths of a second.—Hugh S. Fullerton in American Magazine.

"Handle With Care."

In her assumed character of mother little Miss Dorothy, "going on five," spanked her new doll so vigorously that the eyes dropped out. This accident seemed to make quite an impression on the young lady, and when it came her turn to be reproved in the good old fashioned way a few days later she glanced up from her mother's knee as the exercises were about to begin and plaintively observed: "Better not spank too hard, mamma. 'Member what happened to the doll!"—Philadelphia Ledger.

A Familiar Trait.

"After an absence of twenty years a Chicago man walked in on his wife the other day. She didn't recognize him. He sat down and kicked because dinner was late." "Then she recognized him, eh?"—Kansas City Journal.

WEATHER FORECAST.

For Wichita Falls and Vicinity: Tonight and Friday, generally fair.

Wichita Falls, Texas, June 3rd, 1909.

Dallas county votes on prohibition June 7th. It is said the election will be close but that the anties so far have the lead.

Judge Brooks—the man who would employ state rangers to enforce the local option laws of Texas—has again announced as a candidate for governor.

The Abilene mob—or, rather, the mob at Abilene—had absolutely no excuse for their act. The man, Barnett, had been duly tried by the courts and given the extreme penalty.

Nearly a dozen towns are doing all they can to land the new state Normal schools. Wichita Falls is among the list, and the committee in charge of the work report it has some very encouraging news which is, as yet not ready for publication.

Hon. A. M. Kennedy of Waco, former speaker of the house of representatives, has purchased from Hon. B. H. Derriek of West, the Hill County Record, a weekly paper, and will take charge of it this week.

Editor Johnson and the whole Panhandle have been honored by his election to be president of the State Press Association. This honor well deserved and one which Bro. Johnson will bear with equal credit to himself and honor to the fraternity he represents.

SPEAKS WELL OF WICHITA FALLS

Quannah Observer. "United we stand, divided we fall. From the start made by the Lower Panhandle towns and Southwestern Oklahoma towns at the meeting Thursday at Wichita Falls there is no danger of their ever falling.

It is very doubtful if in the state of Texas there has ever been brought together such a crowd of town builders and boosters, the town was full of them.

Wichita Falls is all right as entertainers. They have the reputation of having the strongest Commercial organization almost in the state and they lived up to their reputation Thursday.

The speaking for the evening was principally on the booster order. Each town was invited to participate in the program, a few minutes talk by some member of their Commercial Club was in order.

The visitors were next entertained at the St. James hotel with a banquet, during the evening an orchestra rendered excellent music at the hotel and everything was done to make the visitors feel at home.

The night session was strictly a business session. Many committees were appointed and business of perfecting the organization, electing officers was attended to—Quannah feels that she is indeed honored in having the president of this great organization, M. E. Kerrigan was unanimously elected to this office.

The place of the next meeting was the next question and Mangum, gained the day. So the next meeting which will take place the last of June will be held in Mangum, Oklahoma.

Gov. Campbell seems to have gone the limit on cutting down the appropriation bill passed by the legislature. Economy is a great and necessary quality in the business but when it cripples the educational institutions of the state it may be questioned whether the knife should go very deep.

It may not be deemed lese majeste to remark, also, that "since statesmen such as I am came into power" the trusts have had nearly everything their own way.

The only mitigating thing about the young man home from college for the summer is his youth. From the youth he will recover, and an optimistic world believes that other recoveries will be simultaneous.—Ft. Worth Record.

Gov. Campbell needn't be so anxious to leave us a 6 1/2 c tax rate to remember him by. Hardly a man in Texas but has one or more reasons to remember the Campbell administration without that.—Denton Record and Chronicle.

The evasion and refusals to obey the laws by the corporations is the most conclusive evidence that the Farmers' Union was not organized a minute too soon for the safety of the country.—Cass County Sun.

The Dallas postoffice receipts gained 21 per cent in May, 1909 over May, 1908. The Wichita Falls receipts gained 83 per cent for the same period. There's a reason.

Seant Working Clothes

In Singapore and Penang may be seen people from almost every part of the globe and representatives of almost every race except our North American Indians. The greater proportion of Malays, East Indians and Cingalese, with their bronze black skins, make the Chinese and Japanese seem almost like white people.

Two Bootblacks. The bootblacks had no regular stand, but each had his box slung over his shoulder and, standing on the curbstone, solicited the passersby to stop and have a shine.

The cry of the first boy was "Shine your boots here!" It announced the simple fact that he was prepared to shine their boots.

Was it merely good luck that this boy secured twice the business of the other?—Lorin F. Deland in Atlantic.

Perfectly Correct.

A young minister in the course of an eloquent sermon on the pomps and vanities of the world staggered his congregation by exclaiming:

"Here am I standing, preaching to you with only half a shirt on my back, while you sit there covered with gewgaws and other baubles."

"Oh," said the lady, "you mentioned in your sermon on Sunday that you had only half a shirt on your back."

"Quite true," added his reverence, "but you seem to forget that the other half was in front."—London Answers.

A Novelty In Concrete.

Very Desirable Interior Arrangement—Cost Complete
About $4,000.

PERSPECTIVE VIEW—FROM A PHOTOGRAPH.

FIRST FLOOR PLAN.

SECOND FLOOR PLAN.

The above photograph shows a design in which the cement block and cement brick are combined with pleasing effect. The structure has the appearance of solidity, yet the upper story is light and cut with graceful lines. Rise 32 by 35 feet, about, exclusive of front and rear projections. The basement and first story above grade are of rock face cement blocks, natural cement gray color, and the second story is built of frame with a veneer of red cement brick. Variation in color effect can be had by making the water table, belt course dividing the blocks and bricks, the window sills and caps and all corner blocks of bluestone. The contrast in color between the red brick and the gray block is striking and agreeable, giving a life to the exterior which the photographer cannot reproduce. The rooms are all of good size and well arranged for convenience. Estimate of $4,000 includes furnace heat and plumbing.

COMMENCEMENT PLANS AT ST. MARY'S ACADEMY

Preparations are being made at the Academy of St. Mary Immaculate for the annual commencement next Wednesday, when the young ladies will graduate from the institution. The program for the final exercises is being prepared, and will include several demonstration of the work and instruction at the school. Misses Bessie Tualls, Margaret Hatton and Ruby Gibburn will receive diplomas. Early next week the out-of-town pupils will begin leaving for their homes in various parts of the state. The past session, it is said, has been an unusually successful one at the Academy, the attendances being excellent.

The final exercises will be held at the Wichita theatre at 8 o'clock in the evening and Father Dolje will deliver the final talk to the graduates. An admission fee of 50 cents will be charged. A feature of the program will be a grand opera interpretation by one of the graduates. Next Tuesday will be Class Day and appropriate exercises will be held at the school. On Thursday, June 10, the alumni of the school will hold their annual reunion.

Many Wichita people do not properly appreciate what a school St. Mary's is, and it is to be hoped that all who can will attend the commencement and see the exercises. Reserved seats can be secured after 9 o'clock next Wednesday morning and a large crowd is expected.

Many former Academy students are expected here to attend the closing festivities.

WICHITA FALLS, TEXAS

Why the Criminal Weeps.

The central office detective had just sent one of the worst criminals in the city away for a long, long rest.

"Did he give you any trouble?" asked a friend.

"No; he did a good deal of crying, though."

"For some woman, I suppose?"

"Woman? Rather not! They never cry for human beings. This fellow had a wife who had stuck by him through the trial and who before he was caught worked her fingers off for him. Then there were two children. But he never mentioned them. He was crying about his flight—his pigeons, you know. He had about sixty fancy ones, and whenever he thought of what would become of them while he was away tears would spring to his eyes. A lot of the worst crooks and gangsters in the city are fanciers, and a kid couldn't be more sentimental than they are. Sometimes, too, they are sorry for dogs. I knew one who was more anxious about his ferret than anything else. At the same time I never knew a criminal, man or woman, who had a cat among the things they were sorry to leave behind."—New York Press.

Chess Word Wanderers.

An interesting set of word wanderers clusters about the game of chess. "Shah," the Persian word for king, was corrupted in French to "eschec," which has been transferred into English as "check." Our verb and noun check, in most of the common uses, has arisen from the cry of "Check!"—literally "King!" or "Look out for your king!"—which is given when a player puts his opponent's king in danger. When a player has put his opponent's king in such a condition that he cannot be rescued he cries "Checkmate!" a corruption of the Persian "Shah mat" or "The king is dead!" The chessboard was called in old French an "eschecquier." From this word are derived our "checker," both verb and noun; "checkers," the name of another game played on the same kind of board, and "eschecquer," so called on account of the checkered cloth on which accounts were formerly calculated.—Minneapolis Journal.

The Blushing Tree.

The blushing tree gets its name from the change of hue it assumes when the rain falls on it. As the drops drench the leaves, gradually but unmistakably the green tint gives way to pink. In a few minutes the green fades from sight. Only in a few half hidden spots beneath broad branches and on its trunk is there a tinge of green to be seen. After an hour or more, when the shower is over, the tree assumes its familiar green once more. Certain tiny insects, and not the tree itself, change color. These peculiar parasites are possessed of the power of chameleons. In the warm sunshine they are greener than the tree on which they live, but when the chilly rain falls upon them they contract their tiny backs and become a pretty pink in tint. Millions of these change the entire appearance of the tree and make it seem to be blushing.

Dresden a City of Pleasure.

Dresden is essentially a city of pleasure—of fair, wide prospects, of hearty river life, of zest in nature and art. Even the public buildings cluster about the Elbe just as the huts of the first settlers clustered. A circle of Wendish herdsman's huts on the right bank, a line of fisher shanties on the left—these were the unlikely beginnings of Dresden in the sixteenth century. But the settlement lay at the only point in the river valley where a ford was practicable, tempting the Germans to settle on the left bank between the Wends and the swamps, or Seen, unlovely places that have long since disappeared, leaving behind only the names Seestrasse, Am See and Seevorstadt. Indeed, the very name of Dresden is derived from the Slavic dresjan, which means "dwellers in the swamp forest."—Robert Haven Schagler in Century.

Not So Short.

He was supposed to be a poor but otherwise honest young man, while she was admittedly a thing of beauty.

"Will you marry me?" he asked.

"No," she answered.

"You are very short," he muttered.

"Ditto," she replied. "That's why there is nothing doing in the matrimonial line."

"Oh, I don't know," he sneered, as he extracted an obese billbook from an inside pocket and displayed a number of $1,000 bills. "I'm not so short."

Whereupon the unwary maid tried to fall upon his neck, but he gracefully sidestepped, and she fell to the floor in a faint.—Chicago News.

Made It Clear.

Sergeant of Royal Irish Constabulary (interviewing new member of the force)—Well, Maginnis, 'tis the fine, strong, fleshy lookin' fella ye are. Now, if a desprit man attacked ye wid a knife an' a pistol, would ye run or fight? Recruit—Shure, yer honor, I would! Sergeant—What, ye would? Recruit—Begorra, I mane I would not, so! Sergeant—All, now that's better! G'long, wid ye, me bucko!—London Punch.

Sure to Respond.

Mother—My other little girl is very frail, but I've taken precautions to have baby grow up into a big, buxom girl. Visitor—Indeed, and what have you done? Mother—I've had her christened "Fairy."—Boston Transcript.

The Sweet Girls.

Maud—You say Jack once proposed to you. I don't believe it. He said I was the only woman he ever loved. Ethel—Yes, dear, but he didn't class me among women. He used to call me his angel.

A Thrifty Wife.

A careful, prudent wife is a blessing to a man, especially to a poor man, but some wives are a little too careful. Lord Eldon's wife was somewhat "near," as they say in England. His lordship was very fond of hunting and retired to the country for a few weeks toward the end of the season, where he was in the habit of riding a little Welsh pony, for which he gave 50 shillings. One morning his lordship, intending to enjoy a few hours' sport, ordered Bob to be saddled. Lady Eldon objected, but an company was present gave no reason. In a few moments, however, the servant opened the door and announced that Bob was ready.

"Why, bless me," exclaimed her ladyship, "you can't ride him, Lord Eldon! He has no shoes on."

"Yes, my lady, he was shod this week," said the servant.

"Shameful!" exclaimed her ladyship. "How dare any one have him shod without orders? John," she continued, addressing her husband, "you know you rode the pony only a few times last year, so I had the shoes taken off and have kept them ever since in my bureau. They are as good as new, and these people have shod him again. We shall be ruined at this rate."

First of the Swifts.

Gustavus Franklin Swift, the first of this commercial dynasty, was a Cape Cod Yankee, who bought a steer now and then and peddled the meat from the back of a certain gocart which has since become famous. He moved to Albany and went deeper into meats, discarding one after another partners who had not the foresight and daring which he possessed. He located in Chicago at the beginning of those days of great possibilities in bringing into touch the new west and the older east. It was he who invented the first refrigerator cars. This was the one revolutionary act which put his sons and a few other sons in very fair control of half of the meat of America. He saw the market for dressed beef extended only after the hardest of fights. All great revolutions are fought against. All the rest, all England, all Europe, fought the idea of dressed beef and then accepted it. I doubt if we could do without it now.—Cosmopolitan Magazine.

A Voice From the "Gods."

In a certain theater which makes a specialty of melodrama there is a large following of gallery "gods," and very naturally the "sky" assemblage is composed of knowing critics, who are loud in their demands to be pleased. Woe unto the actor who is unfortunate enough to incur their displeasure!

Recently a play with a hair raising plot was put on the boards. The hero was evidently new to his part, for he fumbled his lines badly and spoke in a faltering tone. Perhaps it was for this reason that he did not meet with the sympathy of the gallery.

Just before the crisis of the play the hero clasped his sweetheart in his arms and said:

"Keep a brave heart, my darling. The worst is yet to come."

Whereupon a voice that had no doubt received its training in crying "Extry" on the street yelled out:

"What are y' goin' t' do, mister—sing!"—London Tit-Bits.

There Was Something Doing.

In a barber's shop the other day I saw a man for whom I felt sorry—not that he needed my sympathy from the standpoint of charity, for he was a well to do man, having many business affairs, but I felt sorry for him because of what he was doing. A barber was cutting his hair. He was having his left hand manicured. In his right hand he held a newspaper. He was smoking a cigar, and a porter was shining his shoes. There he sat reading a newspaper. Three persons were busy waiting on him, doing their best to please him, and he was oblivious to the joy which his opportunity afforded him.—Fort Worth Star.

What's in a Name.

Talking of names, what's in them? A good lot sometimes. We knew a girl named Rose once. She was a daughter of old Rose, and he, being a little romantic, christened her Wild. Certainly Wild Rose is a pretty name. But, alas, the old man was not farseeing! She married a man named Bull.

Then, again, we happen to know a carpenter named Piotrotzic Zrznchisz-owskikowaki. Now, whenever a nail fellow workman saws down on a nail this chap always sings out, "What is it?" He thinks they are calling him.

Yes, there's a good deal in a name.—London Scraps.

Partners in Crime.

The hard looking customer had been arrested for stealing an umbrella.

"What have you to say for yourself?" asked the police justice. "Are you guilty or not guilty?"

"I'm one o' the guilty ones, y'r honor, I reckon," answered the prisoner. "The umbrella had the name of J. Thompson on the handle, G. H. Brickley stamped on the inside o' the cover, an' I stole it from a man named Quimby."—Chicago Tribune.

Knowing.

"Does he know much?"

"Well, he not only knows that he doesn't know much, but he knows enough to keep others from knowing it."—Judge.

The Unfeeling World.

"Did you ever feel that the world was against you?"

"Sure, I felt it this morning when I slipped on the sidewalk."—Pittsburg Observer.

As we grow less young the aged grow less old.—Bacon.

Sculptor Ball 90 Years Old.
Montclair, N. J., June 3.—Thomas Ball, the famous sculptor, received many congratulations today upon the occasion of his ninetyeth birthday. Mr. Ball is quite vigorous for one of his years and has been actively engaged in his art until the past year or two.

The famous sculptor is a native of Charlestown, Mass., and received his education in Boston. He began his career as a painter, but in 1851 he decided to abandon painting for sculpture. For many years he lived in Florence, Italy. Since his return to America ten or twelve years ago he has resided in Montclair. Probably the best known of Mr. Ball's works are his equestrian statue of General Washington, in the public garden, Boston, and the statue of Danit Webster, in central park, New York.

Home of Good Clothes

reflect your taste and business ability. Their style and goodness is soon known to your friends. That's the sort of advertising we want. If there is anything that will put a man down and out in the matter of dress it is clothes that fit intermittently. Lumpy clothes are about as unsightly as anything can be and that is why we place fit ahead of many other points. You will find that our clothes fit snug to the neck, show a smooth shoulder and feel comfortable at the armholes. They have the proper quantity of cloth at the right place; they hang gracefully and they have all the niceties of good style and perfect tailoring. The effect of our choice clothing on the public is such now that when a man has a suit in mind he naturally thinks of the excellent style and taste shown in our ready-to-wear garments.

SUITS—$10.00 to $40.00

Everything in hats and Toggery for spring and summer that has the approval of fashion edict.
