When the stomach and digestive organs fail to perform their functions, the strength lets down, health gives way, and disease sets up. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure enables the stomach and digestive organs to digest and assimilate all of the wholesome food that may be eaten into the kind of blood that rebuilds the tissues and protects the health and strength of the mind and body. Kodol cures Indigestion, Dyspepsia and all stomach troubles. It is an ideal spring tonic. Sold by Perkins Bros.

Now then, it is a fact, Nacogdoches is not dead and the traders of her name will please take notice of the fact that the business men of the city are ready and willing at any time and under all circumstances to do all within their power for the betterment and upbuilding of Nacogdoches.

Mr. Branch has appointed his aides and from the personal of some of the readers will observe that the word "fail" has been totally eliminated from their vocabulary and that they always wear the smile of success, no matter what the undertaking may be.

The Sentinel dots at Panama to the general manager and his able corps of assistants, both ladies and gentlemen, and here's to the greater Karnival.

Karnival Notes

Mr. H. Deil has been put in charge of the fruit and truck exhibit. He will have it in fine shape on the public square.

Mr. E. M. Roberts will have charge of the public comfort department. There will be greater crowds here this year than ever before. Every one in town who has a room to spare will please report to Mr. Roberts, giving rates. He will keep a systematic record and fill them up.

The ladies are taking hold of the Karnival interest with a vim as usual. The prospects now is for a great many beautiful buggies and carriages.

The Karnival manager requests all parties who have photographs of buggies, carriages and floats used by previous Karnivals loan them to him for awhile. It is his intention to put them on exhibition at different towns on the road to show the people what Nacogdoches can do. The photographs will be a real treat for the eye and a real help to the cause.

The committee has decided to hold a meeting on the 22nd day of May at 8 o'clock in the evening at the Nacogdoches Hotel. The purpose of the meeting is to discuss the matter of the Karnival and to elect a committee to handle the same.

A New Town

There is a new town in the State of Texas, and it is called Nacogdoches. It is a beautiful town with a fine harbor and a great many fine buildings. It is a town that is growing and improving every day.

R. W. HALTOM, EDITOR

ALL aboard for Dallas.

THE President has turned his course eastward.

BIG crops in Texas this year is only a guess at this stage.

COMPLAINTS come from the grain sections of the state that wheat, oats and corn are still on a standstill for want of rain.

THE gap on the T. & N. O. has been closed and we are at least fifty miles and a day's travel nearer Dallas, and points beyond.

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT is to make a good road speech at St. Louis. He ought to be well posted on the subject after he returns from his western trip.

THE insect that is depredating upon the fruit in some sections of the State has been declared not to be the boll weevil by the state entomologist.

THE South needs the North in her business, but she can get on very well without the aid of the Northern politician, speaking with reference to the race problem.

As long as the sons, daughters, brothers, sisters and cousins of legislators are eligible to hold office through the influence of that body it seems useless to talk against nepotism.

THE withdrawal of John H. Hendrick from the democratic nomination for governor of Kentucky, leaves Governor Beckham without opposition in the primaries to take place May 6th.

GOV. LAMAM has instructed the legislature to patch up the poll tax law so that fellows who can't vote may set on juries. It's sort of like hearing the cattle that have "broke out" of the pen.

THE rice straw in South Texas is to be utilized in making hats. A colony of Japanese have settled near Port Lavacca for that purpose. The day of letting things go to waste has passed in Texas.

THE Austin dam will not be rebuilt this year. It has been decided not to make any effort to organize a company for that purpose until another cotton crop has been harvested, as financial condition in that section are not propitious at present.

As a comparison, crop prospects in East Texas are far better than those of the northern and northeastern portion of the State. From Shreveport to Mineola on the T. & P. there are no crops in sight. From Mineola to Fort Worth prospects are better.

A MAGNIMOUS GIFT.

Andrew Carnegie has given $500,000 5 per cent U. S. Steel corporation first mortgage bonds to the Tuskegee Normal Industrial institute in Alabama, known as the Booker Washington School. In his letter containing this magnimous gift, Mr. Cornegie writes concerning the famous colored educator as follows:

"I give this without reservation except that, I require that suitable provision be made from the gifts for the wants of Booker T. Washington and his family during his own or his wife's life. I wish that great and good man to be entirely free from pecuniary cares, that he be free to devote himself to his great mission.

"To me he seems one of the greatest of living men because his work is unique, the modern Moses, who leads his race and lifts it through education to even better and higher things than a land overflowing with milk and honey. History is to tell of two Washingtons, one white, the other black, both fathers to their people.

"I am satisfied that the serious race problem of the South is to be solved wisely only through Mr. Washington's policy of education—which he seems to have been specially born—a slave among slaves—to establish, and in his own day greatly to advance.

"Glad am I to be able to assist this good work in which you and others so zealously labor."

THE 84th anniversary of the Order of Odd Fellows was celebrated in many towns throughout Texas last Sunday.

A JEWELER is a very generous person. He will sell you a clock on tick, and fix your clock if you never pay for it.

THE supreme court has ruled that Grayson county shall be "dry." That settles it so far as courts are concerned, and that county will be just as dry as the officers who are to enforce the law will make it.

WE are not inclined to be pessimistic, but those big crops some of our exchanges are predicting for Texas this year are not as promising in fact as they appear on paper. A trip throughout the state, and a close observation of real crop conditions, is not calculated to inspire one with enthusiasm. Still there is time yet and it is possible that the optimistic dreaming of the press of the state may be realized.

THE report of Gov. Miles concerning the cruelties perpetrated in the Philippine Islands by U. S. soldiers is true, and there is no reason why it should be doubted, there ought to be at least a few hangings or executions with the bullet among Uncle Sam's army. Citizens have been tortured and finally burned to death and numerous other atrocities are reported to the discredit and disgrace of the U. S. army.

WHEN is that big cleaning up campaign to be started?

THE Center Champion has gotten out a very creditable special edition this week in honor of the oil mill.

When the Nebraska band played, "Hail to the Chief," President Roosevelt bowed. The verse of kiplings. "Ten thousand million men are spread about this earth and I and you wonder when you and I are dead, what will these luckless millions do?" sounds like a duet soliloquy of Teddy and William the third.

EVERY man in Nacogdoches whether he personally wishes the Karnival or not, sees that it is necessary to the welfare of the city that it should not appear to drop back from the position taken for the past two years. Come to the meeting tonight and help decide the question.

THE republican editors met in Albany recently to discuss the negro franchise question in the South. They did not get very far from where they started out and the Brooklyn Eagle remarks that it was "not a case of fools going where angels fear to tread, but it suggests the match and the powder magazine.

HON. H. N. NOLIN, the only independent-populist republican member of the 28th legislature, raised a kick because he was put down in the legislative manual as a native of Illinois, claiming that he is a native of Kendall county, Texas. The legislature ought not to be blamed for charging such a political mixture up to some other state.

THE patriotism and philanthropy of Andrew Cornegie seems to have no bounds. He has tendered a gift of $1,500,000 for the provision of a temple for the International court of Arbitration, otherwise known as the Hague Tribunal. The gift is greatly appreciated by all the powers concerned and will have an influence in perpetuating the court.

THE president of St Edwards College at Austin refuses to accept donations from citizens for the rebuilding of the college, saying that the money necessary to build the college will be raised entirely by the congregation with which he is affiliated. This comes mighty near being "something new under the sun."

ALREADY the ladies are forming plans for decoration. The Karnival even at this early stage promises to be a success that will forever put a quietus on jealous contemporaries who state that "the best days of Nacogdoches is over," that "the bank failure and fires have given her a back set from which she will never recover," and that she is "on a rapid decline." Nacogdoches is "It," and to the gentlemen from Missouri who pretend to disbelieve it, just because they hate to acknowledge her superiority. The Karnival of 1903 will be an eye opener.

REFUSING ADVERTISEMENTS.

One of the readers of The Commoner has discontinued his subscription because the Commoner declined to publish an advertisement of the stock of a corporation in which the subscriber was interested. While one always dislikes to lose a subscriber it is impossible to so conduct a paper as to please every one, and The Commoner prefers to lose a few subscribers rather than risk the injury of the readers by the advertisement of stock in corporations. As a rule, the corporations that advertise stock for sale are purely speculative, such as mining, oil and developing companies are entirely legitimate, the value of stock depends partly on chance and partly on the management of the companies, and as the management may change any day The Commoner has thought it best not to take such advertisements. Of course in refusing such patronage The Commoner virtually loses the money that might be obtained from these advertisements, but the proprietor prefers to suffer this loss rather than make himself responsible for a far greater loss that might come to his readers, if through such advertisements they were led unto usate investments.—Bryan's Commoner.

The Commoner takes the proper view of the matter of receiving advertisements. The public, as a rule, would not believe that newspapers frequently turn down advertisements that might be run to a good profit for the paper, but it is true nevertheless. The Sentinel has recently undergone a lengthy correspondence with a patent medicine advertiser, whose goods it did not feel that it could advertise before its readers with propriety, resulting in its final refusal. Many ads have been refused by this paper from customers, either of doubtful characters, or who the paper did not think were engaged in a legitimate calling and whose business it was not willing to promote through its advertising columns, and like Mr. Bryan's paper, it has lost a few subscribers in the course of its existence by refusing to accept advertisements. But the paper is profited in the long run, and were such incidents made public we doubt not but that dozens of new subscribers would be received for every one lost.

THE railroad commission has given notice that it will bring suit against the S. A. & A. P. Ry. Co. for the forfeiture of its charter, because it has sold $1,700,000 of its bonds to the Texas & Pacific, virtually giving the latter control of the road. The S. A. & A. P. and the Sunset being parallel lines, the consolidation destroys competition and violates the laws under which the charter was granted. The commission is asking for a complete divorcement of the two companies and a scaling of the bonded indebtedness of the S. H. & A. P., or the forfeiture of its charter. The railroad companies do not deny the charges brought by the commission, and will no doubt find some way to smooth matters to the satisfaction of the Railroad commission. They most always do.

Now is the time when, free from care and sorrow, we turn gaily to the poultry column of the rural publications, and read how to raise chickens. How they must be kept from draughts in the hen house, or they will have roup or croup or something. How they must be sheltered from rain, etc. These instructions are followed by careful directions as to food and exercise. And you can't kill a chicken that has raised itself and roosted in a tree with anything short of an axe. There is lots of foolishness written about poultry. And a good deal of advice given: farmers by men that wouldn't know enough to plow a hill sideways, or know an oat field from an oil field.

OVER at Carthage another negro was lynched a few days ago for an attempted assault upon a little 4 year old white girl, the daughter of highly respected parents. The negro was arrested but was released on bond. He might probably have escaped the vengeance of an indignant public, but it is alleged that this was his second offense, and the lynchers did not want to risk his third. All good citizens explore these occurrences, especially when they occur in neighboring communities, but when they are brought home to us we all look upon it in a different light. We see no help for it. As long as the brute element in human nature predominates mob violence will prevail.

AN oil painting and marble bust of Ex-Gov. F. R. Lubbock are to grace the State capitol. Gov. Lubbock was elected Chief Clerk of the House of Representatives of the extra session of the First Congress of the Republic of Texas, and while holding such position was appointed controller of the Republic by President Houston; in 1837 was appointed adjunct of a battallion that was raised for the protection of the frontier; in 1841 was again appointed controller by Houston, and in the latter part of the same year was elected Clerk of the District Court of Harrison County, and re-elected for six different terms; in 1861 was elected Governor of Texas, refusing the nomination for the second term for the purpose of entering the Army of the Confederate States, and upon such enlistment received a commission as Assistant Adjutant General, soon after which President Davis appointed him a member of his staff, which appointment was immediately confirmed by the Senate, with the rank of Colonel of Cavalry; to the end of the war he was with the president, was captured with him, taken to Fort Monroe, afterwards to Fort Delaware where he was kept in solitary confinement for about eight months and on his release returned home and became engaged in active business; in 1878 was elected State Treasurer of Texas, was re-elected for six consecutive terms and then retired on his own violation. Few men, if any, in Texas are more deserving of a place among the collections of patriots in the halls of the State capitol.

PICK AND PICK

The Post Dispatch reporter states that Senator Hanna's wife, when interviewed concerning his speech about typewriter girls, did, "what I have to say on that subject will be said to Mr. Hanna on his return home." It won't do any good, as Baby Burns says:

When in doubt it is usually a safe solution to don't.—Greenville Herald.

That's wrong "when in doubt, lead trumps."

The country would never hear of some of the greatest citizens if President Roosevelt did not dig them out of obscurity on his hunting trips. Buffalo Jones is the latest discovery.—Atlanta Journal.

We dont care, we'd rather drive a horse sho, than lead him.

The woman whom a coterie of French artists decided to be the most beautiful woman in the world lives in Denver. She was selected from among 30,000 contestants. The average reader will be surprised to know that there are only 30,000 women in the world.—Houston Post.

There are not that many. For every man there is "just one girl."

If a man could write all the funny things that come to his head when he has no pencil and paper he would be a humorist.—Austin Statesman.

Some men would, others would still have another guess coming.

Angels and ministers of grace defend us.

The cleaning out of the bayou will be a good thing. It is so choked with debris now in some places that a fish going up stream is compelled to climb out on the bank and go around.—Houston Post.

Fish shouldn't be allowed to make a run on the bank that way.

Those World's Fair commissioners that object to the scheme of having the Texas building in the form of a star have decidedly the better taste. Let the State have a building that shall be of grand and noble proportions, but chaste and simple in designs. The star is a beautiful and appropriate emblem on the State-flag, but a building so shaped would most probably appear freakish and undignified. A duplicate of our beautiful State capitol would be more appropriate and in far better taste.—Brownsville Herald.

Of course, Texas can have a building which will tell all nations of her wonderful resources and still not star-tell them.—Houston Post.

Don't plan-et, till we raise the funds.

LOOK OUT FOR MALARIA.

An epidemic of Malaria is sure to follow the wet season and the high waters which have prevailed all over the South. Malarial and kindred fevers will develop to an alarming extent. General health conditions will be bad; every precaution should be taken.

The System Must Especially Be Fortified to Resist Malarial Attacks.

A trial of fifty years has demonstrated that for this emergency, Dr. Harter's Iron Tonic has no equal. Iron is the fighting element in the blood, and the kind of iron supplied by Dr. Harter's Iron Tonic is just the kind the system requires to successfully combat malarial conditions. Don't wait until you are attacked. Take it now and fortify yourself; it is an absolute safeguard and, at the same time, it is the best tonic and invigorant for the entire system. On the other hand, quinine disturbs the system and its cumulative poison begets greater physical troubles than those it is employed to remedy.

Where a bad case of chronic Malaria already exists, take DR. HARTER'S FEVER AND AGUE SPECIFIC. It is guaranteed to cure. Price 50 cents. BUT IF YOU WILL

Things We Like Best Often Disagree With Us

Because we overeat of them. Indigestion follows. But there's a way to escape such consequences. A dose of Kodol will relieve you at once. Your stomach is simply too weak to digest what you eat. That's all indigestion is. Kodol digests the food without the stomach's aid. Thus the stomach rests while the body is strengthened by wholesome food. Dieting is unnecessary. Kodol digests any kind of good food. Strengthens and invigorates.

John H. Kirby started with no capital but brains, energy and ambition, and because he had the genius to see and the pluck and skill to utilize a great opportunity in the lumber business and make millions out of it, he has become already the target for ill-concealed envy and disparagement on the part of a few. As Texans we should be proud that our State has produced a man of Kirby's splendid ability, who has taken his place among the "Captains of Industry," and the more his kind of us can have the better for us all. Kirby does things—keeps capital in motion, creates employment for large numbers of people, and while he makes money on a large scale he spends it in the same way.—Conroe Courier.

There is an aching and tired feeling; the liver, bowels and kidneys become sluggish and inactive, the digestion impaired, with little or no appetite, no ambition for anything, and a feeling that the whole body and mind needs toning up. Enforcing Local Option.
Tyler, Texas, April 30.—There was quite a pathetic scene in the court room yesterday afternoon. An ex-saloon keeper, who had been arrested for selling liquor in violation of the local option law, pleaded guilty in two cases. He had already been tried and found guilty in one case. There is a total of 18 cases against him. By pleading guilty to two cases the county attorney agreed to pass over the others, and if the man would not sell any more liquor they would be dismissed. He promised with tears in his eyes and assured the court that never again would he violate the law. He will be sent to the poor farm for 60 days and pay a fine of $75 and cost, amounting to something over $300. Every case tried at this term of court has been convicted, and it is believed there will be no more whiskey sold in Tyler or Smith county.

A Peculiar Accident in Everyday Railroadings
A wreck occurred on the E. & W. Monday morning, near Appleby; that smacks of a miracle. A car loaded with mules jumped the track and landed bottom side up at the foot of an embankment, and strange to say, no damage, except to the car, was sustained, the mules escaping without a scratch. Even a three weeks old colt came out of the wreck unscathed. The conductor and train crew broke in one end of the car and the mules walked out and took kindly to grass that grows so luxuriantly along the railroad. They belonged to a grading outfit, and that probably accounts for their indifference to such a small thing as a wreck.—Logansport Journal.

WE are going to have the Karnival. That's sure. Now, dig up.

THERE are some good movements on foot for the advancement of Nacogdoches. Are you taking stock in them?

THE best hour's work done in Nacogdoches in many a day was accomplished yesterday in the permanent organization of a Business League.

THE Timpson Times has donned a new dress and has let out several "tucks." May the Times continue to grow and prosper is all the harm we wish it.

THOSE who view Nacogdoches from afar and think she is a "dead town" will find her about the liveliest corpse they ever saw if they will pay us a visit.

THE civic club is being organized at a most opportune time. Nacogdoches has long needed it, and when the ladies come to a city's assistance that city's success is assured.

GOV. ODELL, of New York will have an escort of one thousand soldiers to attend the St. Louis dedicating services, and the trip will cost the state $50,000. He seems to be going Roosevelt one better.

GOV. LANHAM is a little sore over the acts of the legislature in many respects but he is equal to the emergency and will find some way to extricate himself from the many difficulties imposed upon him by that body in the passage of the appropriation bill, which entails a possible deficit of nearly a million dollars.

The Center Champion has a column editorial on "Our women, one and all." The article is able, but we are inclined to think the Champion trekked too big a job. It would take an entire special edition of the Sentinel to praise the ladies of Nacogdoches as they deserve, and then the half would not be told.

THE prohibition sentiment is sweeping Texas. Success is written upon the prohibition banner and whether for weal or for woe it is going to soon envelop the entire State. We merely mention this as matters of fact, not from a sentimental standpoint. Nacogdoches county will be added to the prohibition column next June if there is anything in signs.

THE meeting of the Business League yesterday has the right ring, and marks a new era in the prosperity of Nacogdoches. Every man interested for the best interests of the town is expected to back up this committee. There is no assessment on the general membership. The only thing asked of you is to subscribe to the league, pledging yourself to say and do nothing detrimental, to say and do everything for its best interests. This is easy and inexpensive. See Mr. Wilson, the secretary, subscribe to the membership, and let's make a new start.

HARD COMPETITION.

The Farmers and Merchants National Bank of Henderson has been secured. The bank will be organized with a capital stock of $25,000, which amount has been subscribed. The papers asking for a charter were forwarded to Washington last Monday, and within twenty or thirty days the new bank will have been organized and ready for business. Let us again repeat that Henderson and Rusk county are taking on new life, and the future of both is brighter than at any period since the war. Our territory will increase, and those who left us during the last few falls and winters to trade at other points will return. Nacogdoches, which has been our hardest competitor is on a rapid decline. The railroad running now from Beaumont to San Augustine has already reduced the cotton receipts of Nacogdoches over 4,000 bales though it arrived at San Augustine late in the season. People do not want to go to a declining town, and that is the reason why The Times has labored so heroically for Henderson, and now that we have succeeded in restoring confidence and placing the old town and county on a firm foundation, let us all rejoice and be exceedingly glad.—Henderson Times.

Bro. Milner has strange ideas of prosperity and adversity. Henderson has been a co-sufferer in the ills that have befallen Nacogdoches of late and cannot possibly claim any advantage over us in her power of resuscitation. Nacogdoches will never be led by Henderson.

A new bank was organized here before Henderson recovered from the shock of the Westmark failure and would have been in operation two months ago only for the fact that there is not a vacant building in the town in which it could open. There are people out of business now on account of the fires, that must stay out until the burnt districts are rebuilt.

The railroad to San Augustine will doubtless take away some of the trade hitherto enjoyed by Nacogdoches, but we are "hedging" in various ways; in fact we feel confident that we are gaining in volume of trade. At any rate, the least we can say for Nacogdoches is that she will continue Henderson's hardest competitor.

If you want to make a trip anywhere enquire about excursion rates. There is most always an excursion rate on for some point at this time of the year.

HON. V. E. MIDDLEBROOK returned yesterday from Austin, the legislature having adjourned finally for the term. The Judge was a faithful steward and a watchful sentry during the entire term of the 28th legislature, and if he did those things that ought not to have been done and left undone those things that should have been done, it was no fault of his. He did his duty to the best of his knowledge and ability, with profoundest sincerity and the purity of purpose that characterizes an honest man. He has the congratulations of the Sentinel for the successes he achieved among his peers, even though the veto power of the governor sat heavily upon him in several instances of more than casual interest to his constituents.

A DISGRACEFUL hand to hand fight occurred in the Slavonic Roman Catholic church at Joliet, Ill., Sunday, between women and men. The Priest tried to stop the row at first but finally took a hand in the knock down and drag out performance, which was kept up until the police arrived and threatened to shoot if the row was not stopped. Broken noses and blackened eyes were numerous, and the police made many arrests. The row was started by women while the contribution box was being passed around.

THE saloon men of Houston have "riz up" in their great magnanimity and have agreed to close up their saloons during church hours on Sundays; that is from 9 a. m. to 1 p. m. We have no doubt that the christian people of Houston feel grateful to them for their kind consideration. But in Nacogdoches there seems to be a state law that leaves no choice to the saloon man as to what hours he shall keep closed on Sunday, inasmuch as he must keep closed from midnight Sunday morning to midnight Sunday night. Why the same state law is not operative in Houston is a question to be referred to the officials of that city.

JOHN T. CRISP, the noted Missourian, died on April 21st and the Post Dispatch of that date contains a sketch of his life, every sentence of which has the sting of a scorpion. Were Crisp alive and the writer his enemy, this description of all Crisp's foibles, this sneer at his weakness, this underrating of his worth, would be excusable; but the man is dead. He has passed beyond the reach of petty human shafts, and death has removed him from the life of the man whose path he crossed. We have not followed the political career of Col. Crisp, but to sneer at the dead is an unworthy thing to do. As far back as human records go, the opinion of man on this subject is crystallized into a proverb, "Speak naught but good of the dead," and perhaps the best reason for this universal feeling of all mankind was given three or four years ago at a decoration of the Knights of Pythias. The orator of the day, Mr. John T. Garrison, said in the course of his speech, "No true man ever beheld his enemy lying cold and still in death without feeling a pang of remorse that he had ever harbored an unkind thought toward the helpless clay." The quotation is from memory and may have lost some of the beauty of the original sentence, but the gist is the same. In the presence of death one instinctively feels that the human foibles, egotism and enmity are left behind with the other earthly garments of the wearer and the soul is being judged before its maker. There shall we too stand one day, and with the judgment ye judge shall ye be judged."

That New York policeman who went into bankruptcy ought to be forced to tell what he did with the money.—Shreveport Times.

It might be harder on him to tell where he got it.

Our Tobacco Farms.

The tobacco farms are interesting places to visit just now. On the patch north of Judge Berger's the soil is gray sand and light-red sandy land. Five acres are already set out and about two acres are just ready to set out, being delayed till the patch was wired and canvassed; the tobacco growers state that the plants grown under canvass will beat those grown in the open field, from one to two weeks now, even when the field plants have the start they have. On the farm on Judge Ratcliff's place the soil is chocolate, and the two kinds, experienced tobacco men say, will make perfect cigars; the plant grown on one kind of soil making the filler, and the other the wrapper. The young plants have leaves nearly two inches long already from only four days' growth, and are as thrifty and promising as can be desired. Not a weed is to be seen, and if the favorable conditions continue the result of this year's experiments will be that tobacco will be added permanently to the long list of the valuable products of Nacogdoches county.

What Shall We Do With Them?

Some time ago a number of the leading teachers of the H. E. & W. T. territory came to the conclusion that we needed a Teacher's Association in East Texas, and the result was the H. E. & W. T. Teachers Association, which held its first meeting at Timpson in March 1903.

The next meeting will be held in Nacogdoches Friday and Saturday May 8th and 9th 1903.

The promoters of this association decided at the beginning that all teachers who attended these meetings should go to hotels and pay their own way so as not to burden the towns where these meetings were held. But when we arrived in Timpson in March those good people declared that decision unconstitutional and would not hear to it. They met the teachers at the train and would not let them go to hotels at all but carried us to their homes and entertained us royally.

Now I ask again, what shall we do with them?

More anon,
R. F. Davis.

A Mother's Fatal Love.

One of the most pathetic tragedies on record occurred at Dallas Sunday. The fruit store of Joseph Manichio was burned. When the family, who lived in the same building, rushed out it was found that the 7-year-old girl was missing. Parents and firemen searched the burning building and found the charred corpse of the little one under the bed, where she had fled in her childish terror. The mother, heedless of pain, in her wild search, received burns from head to foot which are fatal. A stronger instance of motherly love was never chronicled.

Wettermark and Busby and Flaeger are not happy—they can't be—it they stop long enough to think how pretty everything in East Texas is looking now.—Timpson Times.

Perhaps "distance lends enchantment to the view."

CHAS. A EDWARDS, for the Democratic Congressional Committee, sends out the following, which is well worth considering: "Prosperity strikes is the very significant designation of a New York newspaper for the strikes on April 1, when several hundred working men stopped work when their demand for higher wages was refused. The workingmen are simply striking for some of the prosperity which the trusts and monopolies have been enjoying for several years. The workingmen, along with the rest of us, have been paying the high prices and rates which have made the trusts and railroads prosperous, and they are now asking for their share of prosperity. As a matter of fact it will take an increase of 40 per cent in money wages to put real wages as high as they were in 1897, for, according to Dun's tables of prices, the cost of living is 40 per cent higher now than in 1897. Yet we call this prosperity." The greater part of this boasted prosperity goes to those who already have too much without special benefit to those who, by the sweat of their faces eat scant bread.

Spray Your Trees.
Allan Seale, Esq.
Nacogdoches, Texas.

Mr. Langston brought out or sent out some snout beetles, which he says you state are injuring your peach trees by eating the buds and foliage. If that is the case spray your trees well with a solution of one pound of arsenate of lead to 25 gallons of water. This is perfectly harmless upon the trees and will kill out all the weevils and other leaf eating insects, such as are likely to injure the trees for a month yet.

The best brand is Swift's arsenate of lead and do not accept any other. You can get it of L. V. Edler of Galveston, Texas. He is state agent for it and will give you the best there is at the closest margin. If the druggists at Nacogdoches do not have this in stock see them and have them order enough for the town from Mr. Edler.

I used this in all my state experimental work and know it is all right. With best wishes,
Very sincerely yours,
Fred W. Mally.

Stewart Robson the popular comedian died on April 29th in New York. He had been on the stage longer than any other star, with the exception of Jefferson and Stoddard, and those who have ever seen him once in his inimitable robes, regret the loss of a friend. His last trip to Texas was starring in the "Comedy of Errors."

The elevated track for the Armour Cold Storage plant is nearly completed, the grade being nearly up the eight feet required. A large crew is at work on the grade, and the work is being rapidly pushed to completion.

How Men are Ruined.

John A. Lee was a clever, popular, prosperous traveling salesman, and later a successful editor of a trade paper at St. Louis. As a member of a political club he got to be quite a party leader. Then he got ambitious, and was easily persuaded by designing friends to seek office. He got the nomination for lieutenant governor of Missouri without trouble after he got his club behind his candidacy. He was easily elected, and his political future seemed to be assured. But all this success had cost more money than he could pay from legitimate business. He needed money, and had to raise it. Scheming lobbyists knew his condition, and knew how to insure his help in controlling the state senate, over which he presided. He had lost some of his moral force in going through the experience of a candidate in such a corrupt political whirlpool as St. Louis and when he got into office he was short of something besides money. He was an easy prey for the tempter, with his blandishments and his big bills of new currency. Now he is a fugitive, seeking to escape the questions of a grand jury, and likely to be indicted for both perjury and bribery. He may escape prosecution, but he will not escape political odium.

The fate of Lee is like that of many a man who has entered politics without the money to pay his way, and to go the pace set for popular men. Politics in the large cities and great states have descended to a plane on which none but the strongest stand unharmed. Unless the clean, honest yeomany of the country districts can be organized to fight the prevalent corruption of politics many a man may be ruined like John A. Lee.—Fort Worth Register.

Senator Bailey has been considerably talked of in connection with the vice-presidential nomination, but while the senator has personally said nothing to indicate it, it is not believed among those in a position to know that he has any real aspirations that way, for it is certain as anything can be that no southern man will be nominated for vice-president by the Democratic party. In connection with Bailey's alleged candidacy for the vice-presidency it was stated Monday by a well-informed politician that in spite of the loyalty of the south and southwest to the Democratic party, and despite the fact that this section will support any ticket that is nominated by the Democracy, there is really more chance of the Republican party nominating a vice-presidential nominee from the south, than there is that the Democracy will take the step. The Republicans in 1896 came near nominating Evans for the vice-presidency, and he was only defeated by a coup d'etat. The gentleman said if Roosevelt is nominated for the presidency next year, there may be a southern man put in the Republican convention for the vice-presidency, and he thinks Pritchard of North Carolina would be about the right sort of a man.—Hallettsville Herald.

FREE 30 DAYS LONGER.

Dr. Sturgis' office is daily thronged with patients. On account of not being able to await their turn, many are unable to see him. Others who wish, have not had the opportunity. Therefore, for the time, in order to be fair to all, he extends the free period one month longer, during May.

This will positively be the end of the free services. It will not be repeated under any circumstances whatever, but will end with the month of May, after which time the usual charges will be made.

During the past four weeks Dr. Sturgis has been advertising free services and his office has been daily thronged with patients. In fact he has already had the greatest special practice ever known in Nacogdoches.

On account of not being able to await their turn, many patients have been unable to see him, and others who wish have not had the opportunity and still others have begged for an extension of the free services, and for that reason he has decided to once more and for the time extend the free period during the month of May, during which time he will continue to treat all who apply to him for the cure will cost. The actual cost of the medicines used in each case for a cure is all that will be charged anyone under any circumstances. These remedies Dr. Sturgis will furnish from his private laboratory. This liberal offer will be withdrawn fully and forever on the last day of May and under no circumstances will it be renewed, and after that time the usual charges will be made. Therefore to be sure of its great benefits it is advisable to act at once. Many persons will be turned away during the last few days as they have been in the past, as Dr. Sturgis insists on giving every case time and attention it deserves and it is better to apply now than to risk losing the offer, by deferring action until the last week or day. Medicine furnished from private laboratory.

All cities here are awakening to the fact that a "rest room" is a necessity to trade. The trade will go where the comfort of the ladies is provided for, for the ladies will see that it does. Given two towns, an equal distance apart and regardless of the price of cotton, the lady of the family will insist on going to the town where she will be treated hospitably. A "rest room" means thousands of dollars in actual returns as well as advertisement to merchants. Nacogdoches must have one, and it must be arranged in time for the Carnival. It is an imperative need that can no longer be done without. Start the good work for the Carnival, and then let it go on permanently.

The Appetite of Human Nature

When Uneeda Biscuit were first introduced, a conservative said:

"They are all right as far as they go, but they won't satisfy the worker. The worker, you see, wants something solid, and substantial, and plain—like potatoes, cabbage, or beef. These delicate and crisp biscuit, packed so daintily, in that In-cr-seal Package, will not appeal to him any more than winter strawberries."

That sounded like good reasoning. But fact upsets theory.

Workers everywhere have been great consumers of Uneeda Biscuit. The outdoor worker, seated at noon upon the sidewalk, a house wall for his back rest; mill hands in the mill yard, seated on comfortable bales; teamsters and draymen, on their high box seats—all have eaten Uneeda Biscuit, and their wives have eaten them, and their children have eaten them.

Another conservative took another view:

"Uneeda Biscuit are all right," he said, "to sell to the workers, but you must not expect to sell them to the more prosperous people. They are too cheap. Five cents a package—that kills Uneeda Biscuit so far as the wealthy are concerned. The price should be higher—they are worth it."

That, too, sounded reasonable, but it also turned out to be only theory.

For the greatest grocers of the city and of the country say Uneeda Biscuit have taken the place of the more expensive biscuit. Over 200,000,000 packages have been consumed.

The whole world eats them because they represent the highest value as a food product—pure, wholesome, good.

with us and let us tell you something about the care of eyes.

Mr. Shindler has been fitting eyes scientifically for several years and is not only a graduate having all the latest instruments. His experience is large and his patrons have the benefit of it without extra charge.

It is extremely sad that so many overlook the fact that the eye is the most sensitive and delicate of all the organs. The nerves that govern the sight and the muscles of the eye are intimately connected with the stomach, and of course with all parts of the head. While head ache and neuralgia are frequently the result of other causes than eye strain, it is well known by the medical profession that studious persons or those whose occupation requires constant and severe strain upon the eye are much more subject to headaches, dizziness and other like ills than others whose occupation does not demand constant use of the eyes for close work.

Book keepers, accountants, school children, students of all kinds, artists, draughtsmen, especially if doing their work in a changing or insufficient light, almost invariably suffer more or less with headache, vertigo or other troubles resulting from constant over-use of this wonderful organ, and in a very large percentage the strain can be alleviated, and in many cases entirely relieved by glasses properly fitted and adjusted.

The writer when a young man once had a sick horse—a druggist or veterinarian and friends and neighbors around, with help and advice. One suggested a remedy for colic, which was given, but he got sicker, another called it bots, and he was drenched with another sure cure, and so on from drench to drench and the poor animal was dosed, and with the best intentions, tormented until he died, when probably if he had been left alone he would have recovered, and no doubt an experienced veterinary surgeon would have soon brought him around, sound and well.

In the same way many persons go into a store and buy a pair of spectacles, trying one pair after another until they find a pair they can see through, perhaps with one eye, sometimes with both, and if the frames accidentally happen to be the proper width, both eyes alike, the glasses properly focused, the purchaser goes off and recommends Jones & Co.'s spectacles as being the real thing.

Other purchasers, however, find something wrong with the spectacles bought from Jones & Company, and as their eyes have been irritated by misfit glasses, they either return them or go away dissatisfied.

Now, what is an optician? He is not a doctor, but a person who has made a careful study of the refraction of the rays of light with the purpose of correcting errors of refraction in the eyes of those calling upon him. If he is intelligent, experienced, patient and honest, and has all necessary instruments for accurately measuring errors of refraction, or to say, detecting the strain on the eyes, it is well to call on him, as he makes no charge for examination, and if glasses are not needed he will take pleasure in saying so to you. In fact, he would be the last man to recommend glasses, except where benefit would accrue to the wearer.

The writer finds his eyes benefited by the constant wear of glasses, yet he assures all that if he could get along reasonably without them, he would not go in forty yards of a pair of "spies," except to benefit someone who really needed them, for a "consideration" or otherwise.

All intelligent physicians, oculists and opticians agree that no person reaches the age of fifty years without having needed artificial aid for perfect vision either near and at a distance. One who has done without spectacles and can read fine print without them at the age of fifty or more, was short-sighted in youth, and still remains so for distant objects, or to say, detecting the strain on the eyes, it is well to call on him, as he makes no charge for examination, and if glasses are not needed he will take pleasure in saying so to you. In fact, he would be the last man to recommend glasses, except where benefit would accrue to the wearer.

The most common error of refraction is Hyperopia, mis-called farsightedness. Many, like the writer, reach manhood and early middle age without discovering the trouble, but oh! the headaches, dizziness and other worries that might have been avoided by going to a competent optician if such had been known thirty years ago.

Persons suffering from this trouble frequently do without glasses until the age of forty, and if the error is slight, perhaps forty-five, but if their occupation demands anything like constant use of the eyes at the near point, suffering ensues in proportion to the error, and the constitution of the sufferer.

Astigmatism is an error of refraction much more common than Myopia or nearsightedness, but far more uncommon than Hyperopia, tho' often combined with it, and studious persons, or those compelled by their occupation to constantly use the eyes for near work, and are afflicted with either or both of these errors, suffer more or less intensely according to their temperament or the amount of error of refraction.

Strabismus, or crossed eyes, is usually the result of an error of refraction, which ordinarily if taken in time, can be permanently cured by properly fitted glasses.

A competent optician can correct with spectacles all of the above troubles, which are not diseases, and if expert in his profession can also detect diseases of the eye, in which case he invariably advises the patron to go to the nearest competent physician or oculist.

The object of this writing is to explain that the optician while in no wise setting himself up as a Doctor of eyes, or one who can operate on, or treat with medicine, diseases of the eye, or eyelids, yet by his knowledge of refraction, or diverting the rays of light by properly fitted glasses can in many cases relieve troubles of the eye that no physician or oculist could help unless himself expert as a refractician.

Mr. Shindler has just received a new Geneva Ophthalmoscope, which enables physicians to examine the eye for disease, without the use of a dark room, and is an immense improvement over the old-fashioned instrument. The profession are cordially invited to examine and use it at any and all times.

R. U. SHINDLER, Optician

Last Spike Driven.
Special to the Sentinel:
Mahl, Texas, April 29 — The fact that the T. & N. O. has been completed is a stern reality, and Dallas is now united with bands of steel to Nacogdoches (the metropolis of eastern Texas) and Sabine Pass the finest deep water harbor on the gulf coast.

The Jacksonville end and the Mahl end of the extension were connected at Mud creek this morning, and with the present forces at work leveling on the road bed, it will only be a matter of a few days or weeks, until the people of Eastern Texas will have double daily trains running from Dallas to Beaumont.

The line will also give the people of North Texas direct communication with Nacogdoches the center of the fruit, truck-farming and cotton and cattle raising industry of East Texas, and Beaumont the oil mart of the world.

During the past three months the contractors have experienced difficulties that were aggravating to say the least of it, and much credit is due the contractors, Messrs. M. Tansy, J. H. Parks, and John Ryan for pushing the line to completion as soon as they did owing to the long wet spell during the winter months. Much credit is also due Mr. Boschke, chief engineer, and to Messrs. Chase and Holman assistants to the Chief Engineer.

If your back hurts you, your kidneys are out of order. Don't neglect them. Bak Ake Specific is guaranteed to cure you. Sold by Stripling Hazelwood & Co.

Size of Fruit Package.
There is a feeling that fruit package of all kinds will become subjects of legislation in many states, with a view of securing uniformity. Some states in the west are now following the eastern states in this matter. Wisconsin goes at the question in direct, blunt fashion. The bill under consideration there simply provides that fruit baskets shall be made in certain standard sizes, quarts, pints etc., and that when the hucksters' wares are offered for sale, the receptacles must come up to the indicated capacity.

Minnesota is going at the question in more revolutionary fashion. The proposition before its legislature is to abolish entirely the customary measures of vegetables sellers, but only in the cities of 50,000 population—that is, Minneapolis, St Paul and Duluth. Henceforth, if the bill becomes a law, green apple, carrots, beets, parsnips, Irish potatoes, sweet potatoes, white turnips, onions and tomatoes are to be sold by the pound, and it will be illegal to sell them any other way. A bushel must always weigh sixty pounds, no matter how many nor how few rutagabas it contains. It will make the single mammoth potato wedged into the quart measure a thing of the past. It will be rather interesting, if the bill becomes a law, to see the opportunities for extra profit for the dealer who buys in the country by the bushel and peck, and sells in the city by the pound and ounce. —Jacksonville Fruit and Truck Journal.

FIRST TRAIN MAY 17.

Dallas—Beaumont Extension of T. & N. O. Road Will Then be Open.

A. G. Newsum, division passenger agent of the Houston and Texas Central, was yesterday advised from headquarters that the first train over the Dallas Beaumont extension of the Texas and New Orleans would be run on Sunday, May 17. This train will be known as the Confederate Veterans special. It will leave Dallas at 7 a. m. and will reach Beaumont in time to connect with No. 8 on the Southern Pacific bound for New Orleans.

Regular passenger service will be established after May 17. "This will give Dallas a short line not only to New Orleans but to South Texas," remarked Mr. Newsum. "It will also open to Dallas a rich agricultural and timber country. All the trade from the country through which our new road runs can be controlled by our Dallas merchants. We propose to put on a first class service and shorten up the time to New Orleans as well as the distance.—Galveston News.

The Wisdom of the Serpent.
Organized effort among farmers in selling their products is becoming every year more and more necessary. Commerce is organized for the purpose of obtaining farm products at as low a price as possible, and if agriculture is not organized for the purpose of securing fair prices, it is very easy to see who must suffer. Farmers generally have been too isolated, too individually independent to get together on any but immediate neighborhood enterprises. If a church or school house is to be built or a gin to be erected, it is generally easy enough to raise the money, and organize for its proper investment. But the prevalent idea among farmers has been that as they grow their own crops on their own land, and breed and feed their own live stock, that they are fully competent to sell or buy anything they have, or anything they want. The fact is, they are not more competent in their business than merchants and speculators are in theirs, and men in every commercial line have learned that by combination and thorough organization they can accomplish their purposes much more effectually than by individual effort. Farmers should look at things as they ought to be. A mob can't successfully contend with a disciplined foe, nor individual farmers with organized bodies whose interests are directly opposed to theirs. If farmers would receive even-handed justice they must meet organization with organization. If the business relations of the producers and commercial intermediaries is to be a war, then let the armies be organized, disciplined and drilled. In no other way can the contest be made interesting.—Texas Farm and Ranch.

All liberty-loving, law abiding people who believe in a government of the people, for the people, come to Texas.' —Dallas News.

Couldn't Even Swim.
"Schraeder came to grief in Honey Grove a few years ago. In addition to his gift of healing he claimed to be able to walk on water, and a number of ex-Missourians insisted upon being "shown." In spite of heavy kicks by Mr. Schraeder he was carried to a large pool near town and told to walk across the placid waters or he would be thrown in. He then declared that he couldn't walk on water and pleaded piteously, that he be not thrown in, as he couldn't swim and would drown. Finally he assured his captors that, if they would release him he would hit the grit and never show up in Honey Grove again. He has faithfully kept his promise." —Honey Grove Signal.

Don't need the factory, where there are up to date girls? They are always in "unison" and time. One of them can look at another in the most innocent mood, and all that the vigilant eye of the most scrutinizing teacher can see is a faint twitter of the lips in answer, but behind this is a volcanic reserve held by the dignity of the occasion, until the opportune time arrives for the beginning of a giggle that ripens into the joyous laughter of a lot of sweet school girls. By all means, begin with the girls. —Rusk Industrial Press.
