BAILEY TICKET VICTORIOUS.

Saturday's Primary Results in Defeat of Johnson Ticket

The verdict of the people has been written, and it is favorable to the ticket headed by Senator J. W. Bailey, and he and his associates will be sent as delegates to the National Democratic convention, which meets in July.

In Nacogdoches county less than 1800 votes were polled, and Senator Bailey's majority will reach nearly 200 in the county.

The vote by precincts is as follows:

Voting Box	Bailey	Johnson
Nacogdoches, E	122	129
Nacogdoches, S	117	111
Nacogdoches, W	93	90
Alazan	29	25
Appleby	78	75
Douglass	78	71
Garrison	114	102
Linn Flat	96	92
Cushing	77	72
Nat	7	15
Sacul	19	30
Melrose	48	32
Chireno	44	16
Attoyac	11	15
Martinsville	13	18
Shady Grove	13	15
Etoile	1	1
Libert	1	1
Woden	21	20
Total	922	768

Total vote polled, 1744. Bailey's majority in the county, 154.

It will be seen from the above table that one box—Etoile—has not yet been reported, but it is conceded that the vote of that box was small and will not change the result very materially.

The election was an unusually quiet one, and no ill feeling was engendered at any time between the opposing factions.

Facts From Fitze

Fitze, May 2—Crops are doing very well considering cold weather.

Peach trees are growing fine and prospects are good for a bumper fruit crop next year. There is but little fruit on the trees this year.

The people who attended the Primitive Baptist church at Mayo Saturday and Sunday from Fitze report a good meeting. Elder Thomason from Anderson county preached a good sermon to the satisfaction of the hearers, from the text—"Come and see where the Lord lay."

JUDGE MIMS COMMENDED

A Former Fellow Townsman Speaks Words of Praise.

The following from a letter recently received by Judge C. D. Mims from a former fellow townsman shows how the judge stands among the people with whom he formerly associated, and gives some idea of the favorable view his old friends have of his candidacy for district judge.

"A little paragraph in one of the papers here a few weeks ago is expressive of the good will your old friends out here feel toward you, and we all hope you will be successful in your race.

"I note that you are receiving many favorable notices from the press of your district and hope that a majority of the voters will feel the same way toward you at the polls.

"While you are not now a sojourner among us, we still feel an interest in you, that is all of us of the old school of democracy.

"I only wish we had a man for district judge who would be as free from extraneous influences in deciding according to law as it laid down as I believe you would if you were in a like position.

These expressions show the high regard in which Judge Mims is held by the people among whom he has lived in other parts of the state.

A Sad Accident.

Woodburn, the 18 year old son of Rev. J. A. Smith of the Baptist church of Center, while out last Saturday gathering Magnolias for decorating the church for Sunday, fell from the Magnolia tree, a distance of 38 feet, his head striking the fence, fracturing his skull, resulting in his immediate death. Rev. Smith was well known throughout Sabine county. At the time Rev. Smith had exchanged pulpits with Rev. John Mare of this city, and was at Pine-land while Bro. Mare was at Center. The remains of young Smith were not disinterred until the following morning. The news was a shock to Shelby county and to his entire section.

BAILEY'S MAJORITY

Conflicting Estimates Given by the State Papers

The majority received by the Bailey ticket in Saturday's election is yet an unknown quantity.

The Galveston News returns give the total vote so far reported as follows:

For the Bailey ticket, 108,092; for the Johnson ticket, 89,093, making the majority for the Bailey ticket 18,099.

The Houston Post reports returns received as follows:

For the Bailey ticket, 131,000; for the Johnson ticket 90,000, making the majority for the Bailey ticket 35,000.

It is estimated that the total vote of the state will reach 775,000.

It has been suggested that the black hand be whitewashed.

There is going to be considerable truck raised in Nacogdoches county this season. Fact is, it is already growing.

The Bonham News says the strawberry season lasts longer in old Fannin than it does anywhere else. That is because the berry season comes later in Fannin than it does in this section of the state, and the Bonham people get the benefit of two crops.

GEORGE K. GIBBS has sold the Bronson Bugle to J. D. Woods, who has changed the name of the paper to the Bronson News. Mr. Gibbs has done a good work for Bronson and Sabine county, and he leaves an influence for good that will long be felt by the people whom he has served so faithfully.

The panic is pinching East Texas just now as hard times never pinched this section before, but if her people can "tide over" until the bumper crop that is being made can be harvested, we can laugh adversity in the face and bid defiance to future money stringencies.—Center News.

Must be some mistake. No indication of a panic over here. However, "the bumper crop" will be given the glad-hand this fall. Remember, brother, that Shelby county is not all of East Texas.

The Indiana man who boasts that he has stayed at home 19,000 consecutive nights convinces us of one of two things. His wife is either an angel or a Tartar.—Houston Post.

It convinces me that he is either dead or a remarkably old man.

NACOGDOCHES has a diamond on her breast, a base ball diamond, and it is mounted with the best ball team in East Texas.—Nacogdoches Sentinel.

This is rather a broad assertion for the Sentinel to make and if it is not taken back immediately together with a plea for forgiveness, we will send the Lufkin aggregation of ball twirlers to Nacogdoches and settle the question, and we will see to it that all of the regular players go along. Take it back!—Lufkin News.

Well, really, The Sentinel had overlooked the "Lufkin aggregation," but since the Nacogdoches team has already defeated the Lufkin twirlers some four or five times in succession this season, we hardly think The Sentinel should ask forgiveness for its assertion. We are from Missouri. Come and show us.

FOR CIVIC IMPROVEMENT.

Don't forget that your town needs some cleaning up as well as your politicians. Let's not exhaust all our energies in one place.—Nacogdoches Sentinel.

The simple truth is, if we could induce the investment of as much energy and money in a general campaign for civic improvement that we find invested in this pending political campaign Texas would be benefited several million dollars. At best this campaign can not be worth any great deal to the future of the commonwealth, while the same expenditure of energy and means invested in permanent betterments and the industrial advancement of the state there can be no question but that the valuation of the accrued benefits would be incomputable. The Statesman hopes to see a general civic improvement crusade waged all along the line in Texas. We owe it to the state as well as to ourselves to prosecute that character of campaign with all vigor. Who is in for the fray? Speak out in the meeting.—Austin Statesman.

Suppose the same amount of energy and money were expended in behalf of good roads in Texas, what mind can estimate the value it would be to this state? And who can deny the fact, without doing violence to his conscience, to that it would not be far more beneficial to the people than this campaign, regardless of what today's election may be? But Nacogdoches can yet redeem herself by inaugurating a vigorous crusade for the improvement of our civic conditions, in both the city and the county.

A Good Roads Suggestion.

Rusk Press-Journal.
In San Augustine county they are agitating the question of better roads, and the people of Nacogdoches county threaten to do something along this line. Both these counties, like Cherokee county, are sadly in need of better roads, and it is to be hoped that they will build them. We are, however, very much in earnest in the belief that we will never have any permanent good roads in this region until we get rid of the narrow tired wagons now in use. Suppose you spend thousands of dollars on your roads they will be cut to pieces as fast as built by these sharp tired vehicles. It would be cheaper to have the wagons work the roads. If the tires were broad enough they would do this by rolling and packing the roadways. Then by the use of clay the roads could be easily made and kept up. Agitate wide tires, gentlemen, as the most direct route to good, permanent roads.

Trustee Election.

HOW EAST TEXAS TOBACCO IS GROWN UNDER SHADE.

FRANK PUTNAM, IN HOUSTON CHRONICLE.

The last time I saw Mr. Arthur Brisbane in New York he told me of his plan to grow garden truck for the New York market under glass. He had then recently bought 200 acres of land in New Jersey. He said he meant to develop it into a great truck garden, to supply New York with fresh vegetables and berries through the winter. The New Jersey soil in that section is light and warm, but the climate in winter is severe. So Mr. Brisbane had formed the purpose to put his farm under glass, beginning with a 10 acre field.

"How high will your glass roof be?" I asked.

"High enough to work a team under it, plowing," Mr. Brisbane replied.

That was something brand new in the farming line, for me, but it seemed feasible, considering the prices that rich New Yorkers are able and willing to pay for green vegetables and fruits out of season. It did not occur to me that a plan so costly could be made use of away out in the country, remote from city markets. A little later, riding down the Connecticut river valley, I saw some small tobacco patches—say from one to five acres—under a cheese cloth shade supported on posts. But it was not until last week, on a farm near Nacogdoches, in East Texas, that I saw a 10 acre field really cultivated under cover.

President Bob Lindsey of the Nacogdoches Commercial club drove a two-seated carriage out to the farm, taking with him Mr. J. A. Arnold, the leader of the Texas commercial secretaries in their campaign for conservative legislation, and Prof. Wellborn of the Agricultural and Mechanical College. Mr. Guy Blount and the writer followed the leaders in a light rig, and if there is a more reckless horseman in the state of Texas than Lindsey I should like to see the pair of them drive in competition. He finally landed his party at the Hall farm, up on the hill, without actually turning the carriage over on its side, and we went inside the field, which is not only covered, but is enclosed with a high, tight-boarded fence.

Mr. Hall met us half way across the field and explained things. The roof, or shade, is made of lath-like sawed slats, woven into wires supported on posts placed in rows 10 or 12 feet apart. The slats are one inch wide and are placed two inches apart. You'd think the sun would have strong play on anything growing under such a shade, but it doesn't. It was like walking out of the sunny street into a cool parlor.

The tobacco plants had just been set out and some pretty girls were dropping a paris green mixture onto them to kill insects. Each girl carried in her right hand a stick something like a cane. At the lower end of the stick a tomato can was attached. The bottom of the can was punched full of holes, and at each plant the girl, walking steadily down the row, gave the stick a light jerk and showered the plant with the mixture in the can.

The effect of the shade was to keep the hot sun from burning the young plants. It looked like it would be a big, laborious task to set out so many plants, until Mr. Hall showed us his transplanting machine. This too, was something that would have looked good back on the Iowa farm. But it wasn't invented until afterward. This machine, drawn by a pair of mules, rolls down the row marked out, driven by a man on the front seat. Two boys sit on low seats at the rear. Each boy carries a basket of plants in his lap. There is a canopy shade over these boys riding so luxuriously about their work. They take turns in dropping a plant into a little hole that one part of the machine makes for it, a few inches apart, and another part of the machine draws the loose earth up around the roots of the plant, while still another part of the machine squirts water on the new formed hill from a barrel carried on top of the machine.

It was easy to get boys to work the first riding plows when they made their appearance in the cornfields of the West. It ought to be easy to get boys to pay for the privilege of "working" on one of these transplanters.

"Can you get a straight row with this machine?" Mr. Lindsey required.

"Easily," said Mr. Hall, and he showed a brake that makes it impossible for the machine to depart from a straight line.

"Wouldn't this machine work equally well transplanting potatoes, tomatoes, or other plants?" Mr. Blount wanted to know, and Mr. Hall assured him it would.

"Pretty expensive, isn't it," I ventured.

"Costs only $45 delivered," said Mr. Hall.

So it begins to dawn on me that farm machinery has been quite as thoroughly revolutionized in the 15 years last past as farm literature. It is today not at all necessary to guess what crops are suited to any given soil and climate, if the farmer will take the trouble to consult the authorities; and it is no longer necessary for the farmer and his boys and his hired men to break their backs with long days of tedious manual labor—most of it has been taken on and is done better as well as faster and cheaper, by machines. Up in Kansas they are husking corn with machinery—even the hateful "down row," they tell me. And still some men, poisoned by the air of cities, deny that the world is growing wiser and better.

"Where is your market?" I asked Mr. Hall. And he told me a firm in St. Louis had offered him 40 cents a pound for his tobacco, before it was planted. But as the market price of equally good wrapper imported is nearer to $2.50 a pound than 40 cents, Mr. Hall had decided not to accept the St. Louis offer, but to take his chances when he got the crop ready.

Two cigars made of Nacogdoches tobacco are on the market over there, and the one that is sold at 10 cents, or three for a quarter, is a good cigar indeed. A local company was engaged in making them until the panic of 1907 came along and put a stop to the work, as it did to a good many other projects. I filled my pockets with those cigars twice, at the hotel cigar stand, smoked nearly all of them during that day and the following day, and found that although the Nacogdoches tobacco has a "different" flavor, it is a flavor that the smoker comes to like before he has lighted his fourth cigar. Nothing coarse, or rank, or bitter about it—and it is entirely possible that in the near future these Texas cigars will rank with the best Havanas in the Eastern markets.

There is any amount of the red lands suitable for tobacco growing all the way down from San Augustine to and below Nacogdoches, and the shrewdest of the farmers are watching Mr. Hall's experiments with keen interest. If he makes money on tobacco (and he will, because he is that sort of man), you will see a big development of the East Texas tobacco industry. And it is going to lift the price of those red lands—amazingly.

On the way back to town we passed several peach orchards—in them the trees were ly neglected. Mr. Blount told me the three years last past the peach trees had not made much if any crop, and some of the orchardists had lost heart. But others were still confident and believe that region will presently compete successfully with the country around Palestine in growing fine fruits. Mr. Blount has a fine orchard of young peach trees, interspersed with pecans, and he is experimenting also with Japanese plums and quinces. He plants his pecan trees forty feet apart, and sets a fruit tree midway. By the time the fruit trees have lived out their period the pecans will be ready to use all the air space and will be immensely valuable.

In Nacogdoches, as in all other portions of Texas that I have visited this year, there is a surface fury of political excitement, but there is elsewhere the young men are steadily pushing forward their schemes for the material development of the state. Nacogdoches, one of the oldest cities in Texas, promises, in the hands of the men of Guy Blount's generation, to become one of the thriftiest and handsomest commercial centers in East Texas. It has wealth, many of its sons and daughters go to distant schools to be educated, and when they return, they bring with them something of the outer world's new ideas and its forward impulse.

On the way into town from the farm we passed the snug little cottage that Sam Houston dwelt in during his residence at Nacogdoches. One of these days that little cottage is going to be a shrine to which many pilgrims will come. And down on a vacant lot near the railroad depot is an elm tree, enclosed with a picket fence, under which the Texas declaration of independence, they told me, was signed, and beneath whose shade was preached the first Protestant sermon ever delivered in Texas. It was under an elm tree, very like that one at Nacogdoches, that General Washington took command of the Revolutionary army at Cambridge, just outside of Boston, in 1776. The Washington elm tree is still standing, but was stricken by lightning a year or two ago and despite the most watchful care will soon fall into the duct. This Texas independence elm gives promise of a long and vigorous life.

No one there was able to tell me who owns the ground on which the tree stands. It ought to be owned, and cared for, by the State Historical Society, so that Texas children yet unborn may come to stand beneath its mighty branches and bare their heads before it as a living link connecting them with a glorious

NATURE AND A WOMAN'S WORK

LYDIA E. PINKHAM

Nature and a woman's work combined have produced the greatest remedy for woman's ills that the world has ever known.

In the good old-fashioned days of our grandmothers they relied upon the roots and herbs of the field to cure disease and mitigate suffering. The Indians on our Western Plains to-day can produce roots and herbs for every ailment, and cure diseases that baffle the most skilled physicians who have spent years in the study of drugs.

From the roots and herbs of the field Lydia E. Pinkham more than thirty years ago gave to the women of the world a remedy for their peculiar ills, more potent and efficacious than any combination of drugs.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is now recognized as the standard remedy for woman's ills.

Mrs. Bertha Muff, of 515 N. C. St., Louisiana, Mo., writes:

"Complete restoration to health means so much to me that for the sake of other suffering women I am willing to make my troubles public.

"For twelve years I had been suffering with the worst forms of female ills, during that time I had eleven different physicians without help. No tongue can tell what I suffered, and at times I could hardly walk. About two years ago I wrote Mrs. Pinkham for advice. I followed it, and can truly say that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Mrs. Pinkham's advice restored health and strength. It is worth mountains of gold to suffering women."

What Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound did for Mrs. Muff, it will do for other suffering women.

INJUNCTION DENIED.

Judge Mims Holds That He is Without Jurisdiction.

An application for writ of injunction, restraining C. G. Bruton from selling hiawatha, was argued before Judge C. D. Mims in the county court today on the question of jurisdiction.

As is generally known, the recent grand jury returned two bills of indictment against Mr. Bruton for violating the local option law in selling hiawatha. Mr. Bruton gave bond in both cases, and continues to sell hiawatha.

The law passed by the 30th legislature makes it obligatory upon the county attorney, where indictments are returned for violation of the local option law and the party indicted continues to sell, to bring injunction proceedings against him. In compliance with this law, County Attorney Russell made application to County Judge Mims for a writ of injunction.

After argument of counsel this morning Judge Mims held that he did not have jurisdiction in the case, and the application was denied.

It is understood that County Attorney Russell will make another application to Judge Perkins of the district court for a restraining order against Mr. Bruton.

In each of the conventions the delegation was divided equally between the Bailey and anti-Bailey forces, but it was tacitly agreed that the county convention should select a delegation to the state convention favorable to the ticket that should carry the county in the primary.

Cure every kidney ill.

Nacogdoches citizens endorse them.

W. H. Wood, farmer living in the Northern part of Nacogdoches, Texas, says: "I first began to be troubled by a constant dull aching across the small of my back. I never thought for a moment that my kidneys were out of order until a short time ago when I noticed the kidney secretions were rather scant at times and were accompanied by a burning pain. I tried several remedies without finding any relief. Hearing about Doan's Kidney Pills and the benefits many of our citizens had derived from their use, I went to Mast Bros. & Smith's drug store and got a box. They certainly did me a lot of good. My wife has also used them with excellent results. I therefore take pleasure in recommending this really valuable kidney medicine."

Wasted Energies.

Don't forget that your town needs some cleaning up as well as your politicians. Let's not exhaust all our energies in one place.—Nacogdoches Sentinel.

That's pretty good advice. Fact is, if the people of East Texas would relegate politics and politicians to the background and devote their time, their thought and their energies towards securing cleaner and more sanitary towns, more parks, better school buildings, etc. the country would be more greatly benefited and there would be fewer jealousies and heart burnings. Can't we try it?—Orange Leader.

There is no economy in wasted energies, but it is hard to get the world to see it. Man-power only amounts to so much in each generation, and upon the way it is devoted depends the progress of that generation. In Texas at present a large percentage of it is being wasted.

Through Life With no Ambition.

The world is full of people, staggering from pillar to post; seeking situations they can not fill, and whose ability is wholly inadequate to meet the requirements of modern methods of business; agriculture, science or art. Unfortunately they believe themselves fully equipped to do that which seems easy for others, but when put to the test they are discharged for some reason unknown to them, but which is entered on the register as "incompetent." They stagger along, cursing their ill luck, never looking within themselves for the real cause of their misfortunes. Not even blessed with sufficient intelligence to know (and indeed this is a blessing) they tread life's pathway with no real purpose in view and worse still, never equipping themselves to do any one thing well. In later years they find themselves dependent upon the uncertain charity of the world, realizing that they have been negligent of the needs for mature years, and at last go down to death "unknown, unhonored and unsung." And with all these object lessons staring in the faces of the younger people, one sees them blindly plunging into the whirlpool of a strenuous world with no education, no special training, no real knowledge, no nothing—just following the footsteps of those who have gone before; going through life with no weapon but gall, no qualification but instinct, no ambition that's elevating, no determination save a good time. It is a great pity that there is not some automatic airbrake attachment which could be applied to this branch of human industry to further prevent flooding the land with fools, sops and useless grub consumers. There should be as much attention given to raising high-grade humans as there is to the live stock industry. But there isn't.—McGregor Mirror.

Treat Your Employes Right.

It seems as if the advice contained in the title should be unnecessary, but is it? Watch the proprietors of many stores as they enter their places of business in the morning. Do they address each clerk cheerily? Have they a hearty "good morning" for anybody? Often not. They tell themselves, "I'm it. Why should I kow-tow to my help?"

Now, this is absolutely foolish. No man has yet been found who is entirely independent, and should there by any chance be any, they surely will not be found amongst merchants. The success of all merchants depends largely upon the degree of co-operation they can

Guaranteed Cure for Constipation

After watching results for sixteen years, during which time many millions of bottles were sold and thousands of letters from users were received, the originators of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, the great herb laxative compound, feel safe in guaranteeing it in the various diseases of the stomach, liver and bowels, such as chronic constipation, dyspepsia, indigestion, biliousness, flatulency, sour stomach, bloated stomach, heartburn, etc. There is an absolute guarantee to refund the purchase price if Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin does not do what is claimed for it.

For sixteen years this remedy has been recommended for stomach, liver and bowel complaints and the fact that each year more and more families are using it proves that it has the merit claimed for it, and the letters we are constantly receiving prove that it is curing these diseases. Hence the guarantee is justified.

Mr. Alton, of Boynton, I. T., considers Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin the best laxative on the market because, to use his own words, "it does all you claim for it and I do not know of another medicine of the kind that does." Mrs. Williams, of Sidney, Ill., writes—that she has used it in her home all her married life and would not be without it. Thousands of others have written to the same effect.

If you have any complaint for which Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is recommended go to your druggist and get a 50 cent or $1 bottle. There is no harm in trying it, and if you do not know of another medicine of the kind that does, it works promptly and efficiently, and unlike purgative waters, salts and cathartic powders or pills, does not strip and leave you feeling weak and torn. It is safe to say that you will like it and use it regularly when you have call for a laxative. It is especially suited to children and weak people because of its gentle action.

FREE TEST: These tablets by Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin were sent to you by the druggist. This offer is to prove that the remedy will do as we claim, and it only costs you the price of the bottle. If you do not get relief from the use of these tablets, we will refund the purchase price. Do not fail to get this offer. Write to Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin Co., 112 Caldwell Bldg., Monticello, Ill.

arouse on the part of their clerks, and treating clerks distantly is not one way of rousing this co-operative spirit. A cheerful "good morning, Miss Sweet," or a hearty "good morning, Mr. Walker," on the contrary, will accomplish wonders. This is a little thing, but it pays.

Then, do you invite co-operation or do you repel it? Do you permit your clerks to give you suggestions, or do you know it all? Have you ever a word of praise or do all things look alike to you? Do you dock a man for being late, and work him overtime without compensation? Do you raise a clerk's pay when it should be raised, or do you "work him" for all you are worth, and for all he will stand? Answer, "yes" or "no," as your conscience dictates, and take a look at yourself in a convenient mirror, and view a man who knows a man who doesn't, a happy man or a duffer and rascal. Which? What's your answer?—Advertising World.

Weekly Sentinel

HALTOM & HALTOM, Proprietors.

WILL T. HAWKINS, Editor.
GILES M. HALTOM, Manager.

LET US HAVE PEACE.

The Sentinel notices an inclination on the part of a few, on both sides of the Bailey question to keep up the fight. The people have settled this matter by their ballot and it makes no difference what your private opinion may be—right or wrong—the question is settled. There has, perhaps, been a great deal said that should not have been said, and for the time friends have grown cold toward one another because they could not agree. As the issue warmed up supporters of both factions grew more enthusiastic and more rabid in their views, and in some cases the feeling was so great that the opposition could not be tolerated. Now that the question is settled we can look back and see how foolish it is to allow ones self to become so intensely embittered over an issue that they would be ready to sacrifice their life long friends for the predominance of an opinion. It does not matter whether Joe Bailey is the best man that ever lived on earth or the most corrupt criminal that ever broke into congress, is he, and all that he may ever do, worth to you what a life long friend would be for just one hour? In this connection we want to state that this paper has always, from its first issue, been against Bailey, and when the Bailey matter was being discussed before the legislative investigation The Sentinel's position was well known. When the investigating committee reported on the charges against Mr. Bailey and dropped the issue The Sentinel had nothing more to say until Mr. Bailey became a candidate for delegate to the National convention and his candidacy was placed in the form of a vindication of his past acts. When the factions on both sides organized in Nacogdoches county The Sentinel naturally sided with the anti-Bailey faction. The majority of the voters were against us and being a democratic paper we take off our hat to the majority and yield to the verdict. Again we say that the people have settled the question and now lets all fall in line and take up the Democratic battle and elect W. J. Bryan president of the United States.

The Shreveport Times is entirely too inquisitive. It says: "Here is what a strenuous Texan matron says: 'I was married at 16 and am only 28 years old now, and all I love is a gun and a horse and other animals.' Is the husband included in the list?"

This report shows also all the votes cast for Democratic candidates for governor in 1906.

Respectfully submitted, Ingraham, Blackwell, Sitton, Fuller and Jopling, committee.

Hon. W. U. Perkins offered the following resolutions: "Be it resolved, that we are opposed to our members in congress taking fees, loans or employment from public service corporations."

The reading of this resolution created a considerable flurry in the convention, and after some discussion it was referred to the committee on resolutions, who reported it back to the convention with the following endorsement: "We, your committee on resolutions, recommend that the above resolution is offered for the purpose of attempting to reflect on our United States senator, and that this convention heartily condemns any such action."

"S. M. Adams, Chairman."

The following resolution was then submitted by the committee as a substitute for the resolution offered by Mr. Perkins:

"Be it resolved by the democrats of Nacogdoches county in convention assembled, That we do hereby declare our faith in the Hon. Jos. W. Bailey as a true and loyal public servant; that he is the peer of any man in public life; that he is honest and incorruptible, and that he has with unswerving fidelity and undeviating rectitude been the constant defender of the rights of the people, and that he stands today the greatest exponent of pure democracy in the halls of the American congress.

S. M. Adams, W. S. Beeson, J. D. Irvin, H. A. Hardeman, J. S. Doughtie, Committee.

The resolution was adopted. The following was also adopted by the unanimous vote of the convention:

To the Democracy of Nacogdoches county in convention assembled. Be it resolved, That the delegates selected by this convention to the state Democratic convention at Fort Worth be instructed to support the Hon. S. W. Blount as one of the congressional delegates to the National convention to be held at Denver, Col., and with confidence we commend him to the democracy of this congressional district as a loyal and unswerving democrat in whom they may safely place their commission."

Mr. Blount gracefully thanked the convention for its endorsement, and stated that should he be so fortunate as to be selected as one of the delegates to the national convention he would exert all the influence at his command to secure the nomination of that great commoner and matchless statesman, William J. Bryan, for the presidency of the United States, which announcement was greeted with cheers.

On motion of W. S. Beeson the delegates to the state convention were instructed to vote as a unit for Senator J. W. Bailey and those who were placed on the ticket with him as delegates and alternates to the national convention.

The convention then adjourned.

Does This Fit You?

"Yes," said the beautiful young thing, "when I asked papa if I might go mountain climbing, he took my head off. But I had my own way, of course, and finally the crowd got started, and you know they made me put on a lot of wraps and things that simply suffocated me. And about halfway up I slipped and fell over a cliff and broke my neck! indeed yes. And when they had lifted and pulled me back on the trail I absolutely died from pain. But before long I was able to go on to the top, but by the time we were almost there I collapsed and sat down, for I could never breathe again. But they made me pull myself together, and in time we got to the summit, and there it was so cold I froze to death! Oo-oo! And I was glad, I tell you, when we came down at last, and as soon as they got me home, I went to bed, dead from exhaustion."—Exchange.

THE SPLIT LOG DRAG.

Mr. McKnight Advocates This Method of Working Roads.

"You can say that I am an advocate of the split log drag," said Mr. W. B. McKnight, candidate for county commissioner, to The Sentinel man Monday. "The fact is," said he, "I keep one on my farm, and have for a long time. I say that every road overseer in the county should be provided with a split log drag, and they should be required to drag the roads after each rain. The law provides how the public roads should be worked, and the split log drag is the cheapest and most effective implement with which to work the roads, as the law requires that the roads be worked so that they will be higher in the center, so the water will drain through the side ditches. Many of our roads are lower in the center than anywhere else, and when it rains the water all runs down the center of the road. Yes, sir, the split log drag is the thing."

The suggestion of Mr. McKnight that each road overseer should be provided with a split log drag is a good one, in fact this system has been adopted by some of the counties of the state. A recent news item sent out from Sherman says:

"Five new split-log drags have just been completed for Grayson county, and these will be sent out to road overseers. More will be made as rapidly as they are called for by overseers, or by responsible parties who desire to drag the roads."

Commenting on the action of the Grayson county commissioners the Blossom Bee very correctly says:

"There are energetic and public-spirited farmers in every locality who would spare their teams and spare no time to make good roads at least along their own property, and their neighbors would be ashamed not to do as well. They only need a little encouragement."

On Sunday, May 10, the New York World will issue a Twentyfifth Anniversary Number, which will be without exception the greatest, most attractive and best selling number of that great newspaper ever issued. It will contain in the neighborhood of two hundred full size newspaper pages. It will cost nearly $100,000 to print and distribute the issue. Each copy will cost about ten cents to produce.

MAJORITY IS REDUCED.

Reports Received Show Johnson Carried 72 Counties.

Houston Chronicle. Fort Worth, Texas, May 4.—Despite all claims of the Bailey campaign committee that the senator won in Saturday's primaries by a majority of thirty to fifty thousand, returns to date show Bailey's majority exactly 18,613.

Seven counties wired returns this morning from distant West Texas and Panhandle points showing Johnson majorities.

The Waco ticket carried 72 counties, a remarkable showing when it is considered Bailey declared in public that Johnson would not carry more than fifteen counties and said his (Bailey's) majority would be 100,000.

James Darden, leader of Tarrant county anti-Bailey forces, today declaring he was pleased with the result, even in this county, where Bailey received a large majority. The fact that Bailey claimed 100 citizens would vote against him here is significant as nearly 2000 voted against him.

San Augustine Tobacco Field.

John Blohm, a tobacco expert and an experienced cigar manufacturer, is in the city this week with a view of establishing a cigar factory here. Mr. Blohm is now running a cigar factory in Houston. He has a full knowledge of the leaf, from the plant bed until it is manufactured. He is favorably impressed with the prospects San Augustine has for becoming a great tobacco county, and in all probability he will locate here. He visited the Business Club Tuesday night and made an interesting talk on growing tobacco and before the club room he was an honorary member.—San Augustine Vidette.

Great is East Texas.

Lufkin News.

In his speech at Nacogdoches last Saturday Prof. Welbourn of the Agricultural College made the prediction that land values would soon double in East Texas, basing his conclusion on the adaptability of the soil, the abundance of water for all purposes, the unfailling seasons, the labor conditions and shipping facilities. He found that the men who were thrown out of employment at the mills during the panic are not in a hurry to leave the farms where they found their labor needed and appreciated, and are really in better shape financially than if they had been employed regularly at the mills. Comparing East Texas with other Southern states he finds that this is by far a better country in every way than those states. East Texas is a great country, and the half has never been told.

MISS ANNIE CATRON.

CATARRH MADE LIFE A BURDEN TO ME.

MISS ANNIE CATRON, 97 Main St., Cincinnati, Ohio, writes: "As I have found Peruna a blessing for a severe case of catarrh of the head and throat which I suffered from for a number of years, I am only too pleased to give it my personal endorsement. "Catarrh, such as I suffered from, made life a burden to me, my breath was offensive, stomach bad, and my head stopped up so that I was usually troubled with a headache, and although I tried many so-called remedies, nothing gave me permanent relief. I was rather discouraged with all medicines when Peruna was suggested to me. "However, I did buy a bottle, and before that was finished there was a marked change in my condition. Much encouraged I kept on until I was completely cured in a month's time, and I find that my general health is also excellent."

People who prefer solid medicines should try Peruna tablets. Each tablet represents one average dose of Peruna. Man-a-Lin the Ideal Laxative.

Shakespeare Class Notes.

The Shakespeare class held its last meeting for this season on Friday, April 24, at the residence of the president, Mrs. J. H. Barham.

The old officers were unanimously re-elected by acclamation, and are as follows: President, Mrs. J. H. Barham; vice president, Mrs. Giles M. Haltom; second vice president, Miss Nettie Lewis; secretary and treasurer, Miss Berta Lewis. Miss Virgie Sanders was elected corresponding secretary.

The president appointed Mrs. Geo. F. Ingraham chairman of the next meeting, which is Richard The Third.

The class decided to start a library, although it will grow very slowly owing to the expensive nature of the books that it is desired to place therein. There are a number of valuable works of reference in the class already owned by various members, but the class wants a library of its own, the books not necessarily being confined to commentaries on Shakespeare but including any valuable reference work.

The class closes an unusually successful study year and looks forward to an even better session the coming fall. Three new members were elected to membership. The open meeting usually held at the close of each year's work was unavoidably postponed and will be given some time during the summer.

Work will be resumed on the first Friday in October, the first meeting being with the president, Mrs. Barham.

The dancing crowd had the pleasure of two very pleasant little dances at the Elks club rooms during the week just ended, one on Wednesday night, and one on Friday night, the latter complimentary to Miss Decker, the guest of Miss Jones.

NACOGDOCHES REPUBLICANS.

They Met in County Convention and Passed Resolutions.

Pursuant to a call made by Chairman P. M. Wagner of Cushing, the republican county convention was held in Nacogdoches Tuesday.

T. K. Raynor of Decoy was elected chairman of the convention and Geo W. Eason secretary.

Resolutions were adopted endorsing the administration of President Roosevelt, the official acts of Cecil A. Lyon as state chairman and national committeeman, and instructing the delegates to the state convention to insist on the delegates to the national convention using all means at their command to support Col. Lyon for national committeeman.

The candidacy of Secretary Wm. H. Taft was indorsed for the presidency.

Geo. W. Eason of Nacogdoches and H. L. Doolittle of Appleby were elected delegates to the state and congressional conventions, and T. K. Raynor of Decoy and H. A. Atkinson of Appleby were selected as alternates.

Cecil A. Lyon and Chas. W. Ogden of San Antonio were endorsed for delegates at large to the national convention.

Cum Concilio Club.

The Cum Concilio club was delightfully entertained Thursday afternoon at the beautiful cottage home of Mrs. Neil Ingraham on North street, Mrs. C. W. Butt presiding, Mrs. M. C. Bay secretary.

Minutes of previous meeting, written by Mrs. Marcus Smith, were read and approved. Responses to roll call consisted of brief sketches of Danish Sovereigns. The new treasurer, Mrs. G. H. News, reported a neat skin in the treasury.

Mrs. Henry Garrison, chairman of the board of trustees of the Stone Fort, reported that repairs on the Fort were completed. Other business being disposed of the hostess called for the literary program.

Mrs. M. C. Bay substituted for Mrs. Roland Jones by reading the beautiful poem from Longtellow, "To an Old Danish Song Book."

Numbers that should have been given by Mrs. Sam Stripling and Mrs. Joe Jackson were deferred until the next meeting. The hostess served strawberry cream and cake, and the meeting closed with a pleasant social hour.

Mrs. B. K. Smith of Fort Worth and Mrs. George Barham were guests.

The next meeting will be with Mrs. P. C. Meador on May 14.

SPLENDID SUCCESS.

Large House Witnessed Female Masonry Last Night.

The ladies of the Cum Concilio club, under whose auspices the entertainment was given at the opera house last night, have every reason to congratulate themselves for the success of the undertaking.

Not only are they to be congratulated upon the large attendance of the citizens, but the splendid manner in which the excellent program was rendered was all that the most exacting could expect, and it was equally as gratifying to their friends.

The first number on the program was a vocal solo "Spring Song" — by Miss Emma Schmidt, and she did not only fully maintain her splendid reputation as a vocalist, but she was the recipient of a hearty encore.

A reading—"Aunt Elinora's Hero" — by Miss Alice Harrington was very much enjoyed, and it was the unanimous verdict of the large audience that Miss Harrington possesses very rare elocutionary talent.

"Don't you Want a Paper, Dearie?" an octette, was the treat of the evening, the best vocal talent of the city rendering this splendid number.

Next on the program was the principal feature of the evening's entertainment — "Female Masonry"—with the following cast of characters:

Most Illustrious High Mogul—Mrs. Willoughby Johnson.

Grand High Pull Hauler—Miss Clytie Harris.

Sister Royal Panjandrum—Mrs. Neil Ingraham.

Sister High Muck-A-Muck—Miss Geneveive Jones.

Sister Hobble-De-Hoy—Miss Racheal Zeve.

Ball Game Yesterday.

The Nacogdoches base ball team met the B. P. O. E. team on the diamond in the new park yesterday afternoon, and succeeded in making it interesting for the Elks. The infield of the Elks team was sewed up, it seeming almost impossible for a ball to go through. The outfield was also fast and some great running was made by the fielders. The batting was strong, and in fact, the whole team is there with the package, but on account of not being in practice the regular team beat them by a score of 26 to 6.

Isn't it Laughable.

It is laughable to notice the inconsistency of some people, especially some business colleges in their advertisements. Along about April each year some of them come out with glaring headlines: "Scholarships at a big discount for the next 30 days," then they will extend this 30 days from time to time until it reaches over into the fall. Another will state: "Our special summer rates: a $50 scholarship for $25." They will announce this rate about the first of April, run it through until about November, then announce their big Xmas gift to all who enroll during January, a big discount as a Xmas present. One came out this spring with the announcement that they reduced their scholarships from $50 to $25 because they had during the past four years, cleared over $80,000. If these schools can make money six months in the year by selling their scholarships at half price, it is hardly necessary to argue that they get twice as much as their scholarships are worth the other six months in the year. The school that claims to give its big discount because of its eightyodd thousand dollars clear profit proves conclusively by its own statement that it has been charging far more than its scholarships were worth. Merchants often make reductions in selling a bankrupt stock, or at the end of a season they will put on a bargain sale to close out surplus stock, rather than to carry it over, but what sensible reason can any business college give for selling its scholarships cheaper at one season of the year than at another? Wherein is the consistency of a man paying $25 for his education to be used throughout a lifetime, if he gets it in the summer, and $50 if he gets it in the winter? Their scholarships never run out or season like a stock of goods.

If you are going to attend a business college you would want to select one that follows sound business principles; one that has a fair profit on its scholarships throughout the entire year and that gives the very best instruction to be had by the aid of the very best teachers that money can secure, systems that are modern and revised right up to date. There is perhaps no other one thing that has done more to make the Tyler Commercial college of Tyler, Texas, famous than the fact that they have one price to all throughout the entire year; they are consistent in all their business dealings and their advertising. We trust the cut rate, cheap John business college will soon discover its error and either strengthen its courses or lower its prices to where it can be consistent throughout the year. It is very unsatisfactory for a student in one of these schools to discover, after he has been there only a few weeks and paid $50 for his scholarship, that his seat mate has only paid $25; he cannot help but feel that he has been robbed and that if the school is not

The Caro Meeting.
Rev. J. H. Thorn returned from Caro Monday where he closed a very successful meeting Sunday night. There were several conversions and a Baptist church was organized Sunday morning with eight members. Plans are already under way to build a church house, and the new church starts off under very promising auspices.

The Caro people are among the most prosperous and progressive in the county, and they never make a failure of any move they undertake to better the morals of the community.

Rev. A. L. Charlton, the county missionary, will have charge of the new church, and he contemplates holding another meeting there in August.

While Dan Tucker and Claude Fielder were delivering goods for Zeno Cox this afternoon about 2 o'clock, the horse became frightened near the box factory and ran away. Dan Tucker's injuries are only slight, but the wagon was pretty badly torn up.

Indigestion Causes Catarrh of the Stomach.

For many years it has been supposed that Catarrh of the Stomach caused indigestion and dyspepsia; but the truth is exactly the opposite. Indigestion causes catarrh. Repeated attacks of indigestion inflame the sensitive membranes lining the stomach and excite the nerves of the stomach, thus causing the glands to secrete mucus instead of the juices of natural digestion. This is called Catarrh of the Stomach.

Dear Sir: We are in receipt of your letters of the 17th, 18th and 20th instants, for which we sincerely thank you. It is a great comfort to us to know that our son had every care and we have not words to express our appreciation of the kindness extended to him during his illness at Nacogdoches.

TOBACCO INDUSTRY.

Large Crop Planted and Plants Doing Well.

The prospects for the tobacco crop in Nacogdoches county at this time are indeed flattering.

There are 80 acres already set out, and the plants are growing nicely and are in a healthy condition, and there will be 80 acres more planted.

The fact is the Nacogdoches crop this year will be the largest in the history of the industry in East Texas, and the prospects were never better.

Mr. Otto Olsen, the government expert, has moved out to the Thos. J. Hall tobacco farm, where he is conducting a demonstration crop under scientific instruction. In this crop he is experimenting with 48 different kinds of seed, his object being to determine which kind of tobacco is best suited to the Nacogdoches lands and will produce the greatest yield and profit to the grower.

The General Demand

of the Well-Informed of the World has always been for a simple, pleasant and efficient liquid laxative remedy of known value; a laxative which physicians could sanction for family use because its component parts are known to them to be wholesome and truly beneficial in effect, acceptable to the system and gentle, yet prompt, in action.

In supplying that demand with its excellent combination of Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna, the California Fig Syrup Co. proceeds along ethical lines and relies on the merits of the laxative for its remarkable success.

That is one of many reasons why Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna is given the preference by the Well-Informed. To get its beneficial effects always buy the genuine—manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co., only, and for sale by all leading druggists. Price fifty cents per bottle.

A Treatise on Horse Collars

BOTH men and horses wear Collars. The difference is not only in size and character, but a man can select a fit—a horse can't. Therefore the necessity for good judgment in buying the equine kind. A cheap, badly stuffed collar of inferior leather will not only harm a horse's skin, but break in important parts before it has been in use, maybe, a couple months.

Our No. 64 and 66 have never failed to give comfort to the horse and double the money's worth to the people. We are always particular about the fit, that's why we have so many sizes.

A Most Valuable Agent.

The glycerine employed in Dr. Pierce's medicines greatly enhances the medicinal properties which it extracts from native medicinal roots and holds in solution much better than alcohol would. It also possesses medicinal properties of its own, being a valuable demulcent, nutritive, antiseptic and antiferment. It adds greatly to the efficacy of the Black Cherry-bark, Bloodroot, Golden Seal root, Stone root and Queen's root, contained in Golden Medical Discovery in subduing chronic, or lingering, coughs, bronchitis, throat and lung affections, for all of which these agents are recommended by standard medical authorities.

In all cases where there is a wasting away of flesh, loss of appetite, with weak stomach, as in the early stages of consumption, there can be no doubt that glycerine acts as a valuable nutritive and aids the Golden Seal root, Stone root, Queen's root and Black Cherry-bark in promoting digestion and building up the flesh and strength, controlling the cough and bringing about a healthy condition of the whole system. Of course, it must not be expected to work miracles. It will not cure consumption except in its earlier stages. It will cure, however, chronic, or lingering, coughs, or those of long standing, even when accompanied by bleeding from lungs, that it has performed its most marvelous cures.

Prof. Finley Ellingwood, M. D., of Bennett Med. College, Chicago, says of glycerine: "In dyspepsia it serves an excellent purpose. Holding a fixed quantity of the peroxide of hydrogen in solution, it is one of the best manufactured products of the present time in its action upon enfeebled, diseased stomachs, especially if there is ulceration or catarrhal gastritis (catarrhal inflammation of stomach). It is a most efficient preparation. Glycerine will relieve many cases of prostatic hypertrophy and excessive gastric (stomach) acidity."

"Golden Medical Discovery" enriches and purifies the blood, curing blotches, pimples, eruptions, scrofulous swellings and old sores, or ulcers.

Send to Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., for free booklet telling all about the native medicinal roots composing this wonderful medicine. There is no alcohol in it.

THE SPLIT LOG DRAG.

Practical Suggestion From One Who Has Been Investigating.

Editor Sentinel.

There is one little simple device, called the split log drag which seems to have been overlooked by the parties writing the several articles on good roads appearing in your paper recently. This is probably the most valuable road building piece of machinery yet made, and the cost of it is practically nothing.

Any road overseer can make one, and operate it successfully. You take a log about 10 inches in diameter, split it half into, cut it to a length of about eight feet. Fasten these two halves about 30 inches apart with oak bars wedged in, the flat side to the front. On the front log next to the ditch end, put a piece of metal about three feet long, which is to assist the man-cutting. This metal could be almost anything—a wagon tire is good. Hitch to it with a chain, in a manner so that it will drag at an angle of about 45 degrees. Hitch two mules to it and drag it over your road. After using it for a short time you will find to

S.S.S. FOR BAD BLOOD

The most important part of the human system is the blood. Every muscle, nerve, tissue, bone and sinew is dependent on this vital fluid for nourishment and strength necessary to maintain them in health and enable each to perform the different duties nature requires. Even the heart, the very "engine" of life, receives its vigor and motive power from the blood. Since so much is dependent on this vital fluid it can very readily be seen how necessary it is to have it pure and uncontaminated if we would enjoy the blessing of good health. Bad blood is responsible for most of the ailments of mankind; when from any cause it becomes infected with impurities, humors or poisons, disease in some form is sure to follow. Muddy, sallow complexions, eruptions, pimples, etc., show that the blood is infected with unhealthy humors which have changed it from a pure, fresh stream to a sour, acrid fluid, which forces out its impurities through the pores and glands of the skin. A very common evidence of bad blood is sores or ulcers, which break out on the flesh, often from a very insignificant bruise or even scratch or abrasion. If the blood was pure and healthy the place would heal at once, but being loaded with impurities, which are discharged into the wound, irritation and inflammation are set up and the sore continues. Bad blood is also responsible for Anemia, Boils, Malaria, etc.; the weak, polluted circulation cannot furnish the nourishment and strength required to sustain the body, and a general run-down condition of health results. S. S. S. is nature's blood purifier and tonic; made entirely of healing, cleansing roots and herbs. It goes down into the circulation and removes every particle of impurity, humor or poison that may be there, restores lost vitality, and steadily tones up the entire system. It adds to the blood the healthful properties it is in need of, and in every way assists in the cure of disease. S. S. S. neutralizes any excess of acid in the blood, making it fresh and pure, and permanently cures Eczema, Acne, Tetter, and all other skin diseases and eruptions. S. S. S. cures Rheumatism, Catarrh, Sores and Ulcers, Malaria, and all other diseases or disorders arising from bad blood. Book on the blood and any medical advice desired free to all who write.

your surprise that you have a road machine that will work wonders on your road, and at a very small cost. It rounds up the road. It grades the road. It hardens it. It fills the ruts, and it actually builds a road that will surprise you.

You can take the worst piece of clay road in this county, and with the aid of this drag, it can be made a good road. Go on the road with the drag just after a rain, and you will be astonished how quick the water will drain off, and what an elegant road will be left, where under the present system, you have mud for weeks after the rain.

This drag, however, cannot be used on sand roads, nor can it be used to advantage in dry weather, but on all the roads composed of clay where it gets so muddy and almost impassable; a simple application as above mentioned will make a good road.

If our commissioners court could be made to realize the importance of good roads, and if they would start an investigation that would lead to their getting a scientific knowledge of how to build them, the money spent would give us vastly more good roads than the present way of spending it. I do not mean to criticize the commissioners for what they have done; they have done well under the circumstances, but I do think that the circumstances should now be changed, and that we have some experts come here to demonstrate the proper and best methods for our local condition.

Of course the commissioners will take advantage of the government's offer to demonstrate good roads, and if they desire to do so, we think they could select a mile of road on the lower Melrose road that would be composed of all the different kinds of roads necessary to build in the county. It could be shown in one demonstration how to completely solve our bad roads problem.

Lets hear from our commissioners, and some of the proposed candidates for commissioner on this subject. They doubtless can make some good suggestions.

Yours truly,
Ex-Farmer.

Your S. S. S., in my opinion, is as good a medicine as can be had; it simply cannot be improved upon as a remedy to purify and enrich the blood and to invigorate and tone up the system. This spring my blood was bad and I was run down in health, and having seen your medicine highly advertised I commenced its use. Today my blood is in fine condition and my general health is of the best. Am filling position as fireman for a large concern here, and if I was not in good physical condition it would be impossible for me to fill the place. Your S. S. S. has been of great service to me and I do not hesitate to give it the credit it deserves.

A Happy Woman.

Bonham News.

Happy, indeed, is he who can truthfully say with the Apostle Paul, "I have learned in whatsoever state I am, therewith to be content." That man has learned the secret of happiness. Man is used here as a generic term and refers not to sex. Perhaps more women than men learn the secret and enjoy the fruits of a happy contentment. But by far the greater number of us never learn it and are never happy long at a time. Indeed, so rare is the man or woman who is happily content that when we meet such a one we look at him or her as almost a phenomenon.

The other day a lady, who had moved from a community in which she had long resided and in which she had many personal friends, to another community in which she was a stranger and where neighbors were not very near by, was asked if she thought she could be content to live there. Instantly she replied: "Yes, indeed, I have lived in a number of different places, and with quite different surroundings, but I have never been dissatisfied in my life."

Happy woman! Who does not envy his disposition? Who does not wish he could say as much? She has found that which is far more valuable than would have been the reality had the alchemist of old realized his dream that he should find a magic fluid that would transmute baser metals into gold. All the wealth of the world is at her command, for wealth is nothing except as it brings happiness and opportunities for usefulness. This woman who is "never dissatisfied" is rich beyond the wildest dreams of earth's greatest Croesus. His riches may take wings and fly away, as did those of that unhappy monarch of old, and his funeral pyre may be builded before his eyes. But time, nor condition, nor place can rob her of her wealth, for she has learned in whatsoever state she is therewith to be content.

Her's is not that indifference to her condition that leads some to make no effort to improve, to grow, to get out of the ruts. Let us not mistake such indifference and want of spirit for contentment such as the Apostle speaks of, for it is far from it. A happy contentment, a satisfaction with the best one can do, does not prevent him from striving constantly to do better, but it takes away that dissatisfaction with the best one can do that renders many of us discontented and unhappy. Such a disposition as this latter unfits us for enjoying life or for doing the best work we are capable of while we live. One does not have to remain in ignorance and have no desire for knowledge in order to be content; he does not have to live in poverty and have no desire for wealth to be satisfied; he does not have to drift with the tide and make no struggle to stem the current of idleness and shiftlessness to be able to say he is content in whatever lot he is placed.

This good woman knows this truth well enough. There is no day she is not striving to broaden the horizon of her own life and that of her husband and children; no hour that she does not work and hope for greater knowledge, for greater opportunities, to do greater good and to gain greater wealth. But every day she does the best she can and, doing this, is satisfied with her life and with her surroundings. Happy woman! Would that we all could be like her—"Never dissatisfied in our lives."

Who Pays the Bill?

The Commoner.

The American Protective Tariff League has issued Circular No. 216—which shows that the league has issued a good many circulars before—and this circular is in the form of a letter asking for the name and address of one person who will cast his first vote in the presidential election in 1908. The league wishes "to forward literature on the subject of protection," and wants the "home address" only. It costs money to keep an office on Broadway in New York and furnish literature on the subject of protection. The protective Tariff League has for a good many years been sending out this literature, and those who get it are helping to pay for it. Like the tariff tax, the payment is concealed but somebody must pay it. The protected industries have used a small part of the money that they get from the people to pay for the literature with which to send out arguments in support of protection. The Protective Tariff League, however, is more interested in the voter just now than it is after the election, for after the election the voter is completely ignored. The beneficiaries of protection are dealt to the entreaties of the masses on the subject of taxation. When it is proposed to put upon the free list imported articles which come into competition with articles controlled by the trusts, the Protective Tariff League is quick to protest. When the democrats talk about reducing all schedules which are above one hundred per cent, the Protective Tariff League resists the reduction of a one hundred and twenty per cent duty—a duty provided for the protection of the standard Oil company. The Protective tariff League is looking at the question from the standpoint of the tax-eaters but during the campaign it is quite anxious to spread its literature before the tax payers. It ought to put on each piece of literature: "This document is paid for by the protected industries which have been getting the benefit of the high tariff."

Rev. T. W. Fowler has just returned home from Merryville, La., where he closed one of the most successful revival meetings in his experience in the ministry. He had 114 accessions to the church, and many were converted who will yet join the church.

To train a child into good habit. There is no habit that will add so much to the good character, the general happiness and thorough contentment of a life is the good habit of "saving." The best way to start this habit is by opening an account "at this bank" for the child. The child will become as interested in watching this account grow as it would be with a toy. This interest will harden into a habit, and the habit into character. You can open an account at this bank for your child with as small an amount as One Dollar if you like. Better come in today and do this.
