Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Mast returned yesterday afternoon from a trip through Colorado and Kansas. Misses Clara Hoya and Dolphie Hillenkamp who were with Mr. Mast's party stopped over in Dallas for a few days visit before coming home. They will probably arrive Sunday. Mr. Mast says that of all the hot countries he has ever seen or read about, Kansas is in the lead.

He reports that coming through Kansas the thermometer in the pulman registered more than 100 when the train was running at full speed and four electric fans were kept running and one of them almost blowing directly on the thermometer.

City Council Meeting.

At the special called meeting of the city council held yesterday afternoon the street paving matter was the main subject under discussion.

The contractors renewed their application for a thirty days extension of time, but the council did not see their way clear to grant it. After some discussion the several councilmen, or at least a majority of them, agreed that the penalty running against the contractors of $15.00 a day since the tenth of August would be remitted until tenth of September, which virtually gave them the extension asked for but no order was placed of record and no change made in the contract.

We understand that the contractors will begin work on the paving on the tenth of September it matters not what disposition is made of the suits filed against the city. One object in asking an extension of time, was to give representatives of the contracting firm an opportunity to canvass the city and try and reach an agreement with reference to the paving and have contracts signed up by as many as they could get to sign.

GOOD OLD WAGON FOR MORE THAN 40 YEARS IS OFTEN SAID OF THE STUDEBAKER

There is a reason. STUDEBAKER wagons are built of AIR DRIED timber that has stood the rigid inspection of "men who know." Every drop of paint and every piece of iron that goes into a STUDEBAKER has been chemically tested and found perfect. Air-dried timber and chemically tested iron and paint do not alone make a good wagon. They must be "put together" right, and the right way is STUDEBAKER way.

Studebaker "secret process treated" hubs do not crack and burst open, nor do the spokes warp. As a result we have the well proportioned, strong and perfectly balanced Studebaker wheel--the kind that don't break down. Good wheels are no good without good axles. Studebaker axles made of close grain black hickory will spring but not break.

If you want a wagon you had better investigate before you buy. There are many reasons why the Studebaker runs longer and lighter than other wagons and we want you to know before you buy. Come to us and we will tell you why the Studebaker is "best by test."

asked that they be given time in which to move their poles off the streets to be paved. They suggested that they be allowed to move the poles into the sidewalks for a time to be removed entirely from the streets at an early date. Their request was not granted.

The council passed a resolution seeking to compromise the matter of paving with the railroad company. The resolution, which was offered by Councilman Blount, provided that if the railroad company would dismiss their suit against the city and would agree to do the paving from the east rail of their main line track and have the street crossing planked between the rails, the city would cancel the assessment for the paving between and across the tracks. The matter was referred to the city attorney for further action.

Small Fire this Morning.

At 11:30 this morning a fire alarm was turned in and it was found that the roof of the residence of Snider Monzingo was on fire, having caught from a spark alighting on it from the kitchen flue. The fire was soon put out and very little damage done. The fire boys put the fire out with the chemical and while the hose was laid it was not necessary to use much water.

One of the most unique affairs coming to our notice for quite a while was the Children's Day at the "Great Majestic" Range Demonstration being held by Mr. Pender the factory representative. The store of Cason, Monk & Co. was fairly thronged Monday afternoon with children, who were eager to hand in their answers to a number of questions that had been asked. Joy and mirth could be seen written on the faces of each one as they were served with "ice cold lemonade" and given a canary bird whistle after which a picture of the children surrounding a Majestic Range on the sidewalk was made by Mr. Casley, the photographer. While the children were the very picture of happiness, they were not the only ones. The entire force who served them were also given great pleasure in seeing the smiling happy children show their appreciation of the courtesies extended them, and as one of them expressed it, "We want the children to come again to cheer and inspire us."

Store Burns.

Last night the store of Frank Johnson, at his mill and gin about one mile from Alazan, was burned to the ground together with contents, entailing a loss of about $800. The fire is supposed to have been of incendiary origin and the sheriff's department went out from here this morning to make an investigation.

Mr. Johnson went to Harmony to church early in the evening and the store was burned while he was away. As there is no fire in the store and had not been at all, and everything was in ordinary condition when the store was closed in the evening, it is believed that it was fired by parties who knew that Mr. Johnson was away from home.

Mr. Johnson has a mill, a gin and a store all near together, and it is feared that the other business will be attacked unless precautions are taken.

Some of our exchanges are already advising the people to "Do Your Christmas Shopping Early", and we haven't finished paying for our summer outfit, to say nothing of the vacation expenses. Why not cut out this Christmas shopping business any way.

It has been suggested that Envoy Lind, who has gone to Mexico as the personal representative of the president, is in reality representing the Bryan dove of peace, and that probably he is related to the famous Jennie Lind and would sing the "swan song" for the Huerta government.

The Free Lance, of Dallas, rises to demand information on "Whose business it is how Bryan spends his vacation?" When we get right down to cases, it's nobody's business but his own. But a lot of near politicians who have failed to land themselves or friends for appointment are now trying to even up scores of disappointment. —Port-Arthur News.

Vol. 1, No. 1 of the Dialville News, published at Dialville, Cherokee county, has reached this office. Dialville is a splendid agricultural section of Cherokee county and is settled by a thrifty, energetic people, who will it is almost certain appreciate the efforts of the paper and assist it in heralding to the outside world the advantages offered there. The first issue of the paper presents a very healthy appearance.

Gen. Huerta now knows the viewpoint of the United States and its desire for only a peaceful and friendly solution of Mexico's troubles. This through conferences of Envoy Lind and the Mexican Foreign Minister, but the real note will not be delivered before Monday of next week at the earliest. No hint is given as to Huerta's probable action in the matter, but Washington officials feel very hopeful of the outcome.

The business men of Nacogdoches extend a cordial invitation to citizens of Angelina county to use the new bridge over the Angelina river, and to come over to see us. After they cross the river they will be on a modern sand-clay good road clear into Nacogdoches, with only a short space where the road has not been improved, and this short space will be fixed in a little while now. It will be quite a relief to the farmers of Angelina to drive over our good roads, and now since the bridge is completed there is no reason to wait longer—just come along, we will be glad to see you.

FEDERAL BUILDING SITE ASSURED.

The Bill Authorizing the City of Nacogdoches to Convey to the United States the Public Square is Passed.

Saturday afternoon Mayor Matthews received the following telegram from Senator Collins at Austin.

Austin, Texas, Aug. 16.
Geo. H. Matthews, Mayor,
Nacogdoches, Texas.

Your bill has passed the senate authorizing the city of Nacogdoches to convey land to the United States. It will go to the governor this evening.

V. A. Collins.
This would seem to settle the matter as regards the securing of the public square for the site of a federal building which Nacogdoches has been trying to secure for several years past, and for the erection of which an appropriation has been made by the United States.

For a time the federal government insisted that the only grounds on which it would accept the public square site, the site that was really wanted, was that all abutting property owners on the square sign a deed to the government relinquishing that claim. One or two abutting property owners refused to sign such deed to the government, and of course the site would not be accepted.

Later the federal government agreed to accept the site provided that Nacogdoches got a bill through the legislature authorizing the sale of the property. Acting on this advice the bill was prepared and our representative in the legislature was entrusted with the passage of same through the legislature. The telegram from Senator Collins gives the information that the bill was passed and is up to the governor to become a law after which the federal government would accept the site and pay for it.

Longview Times-Clarion has the idea to the dot and does justice in expression to that idea: "The only way to build up a town is for every one to go hand in hand—every man to the wheel. Banish all feelings of discord, if any; let harmony prevail and prosperity will follow. Talk about your town, write about it, speak of it, encourage your men at the head of municipal affairs, choke the croakers, gag the grumblers and squelch the scolders. Beautify the streets in every way, patronize its merchants, refrain from sending outside for good goods, favor home enterprises always and if you can't think of some good word to say keep quiet. Be a hustler and keep it up."

Editor Spotts of the Bonham Favorite is of the opinion that a man knows of an opening that will pay more than 6 per cent of the investment he will not offer to let you in on it. As a general proposition it seems to us our Fannin county friend has the situation sized up about right. Nevertheless, there are those to be found who are willing to take a chance on the get rich quick schemes floating around the county.—Houston Post.

Value of Advertising.

It is easy enough to distinguish between the store that advertises and the one that does not. One is packed with customers who eagerly buy the goods for sale while the other is conspicuous by the absence of purchasers. Nowadays the merchant who does not advertise is doomed to certain commercial death, and while the demise is sometimes slow and without clamor it is inevitable nevertheless. Up to date men of business realize and yearly set aside a fund for advertising. The money appropriated for this department is looked upon as an investment rather than an expense, just as a person sometimes invests money in real estate or stocks and bonds. It is sure to come back with interest, providing of course the merchant delivers the goods.—W. Holt Harris.

Early in the season the Sentinel devoted considerable space to advising the farmers of this county to plant more feed stuffs—at least enough to do them and fatten their meat. Our advice was based on statements of experts all over the country, and observation in this county for the past several years, when we have seen farmers hauling load after load of chops and hay to the country, which had to be paid for out of the money made from the cotton crops. Those who followed the advice are very fortunate, for every day now the market reports show a steady advance (by leaps and bounds) of all feed stuffs. In fact corn is reported higher than it has been for years and it is still going up.

We have been keeping a close watch on the "First Bale" reports from various sections of the country, and noting the price at which the staple was sold and the premium offered by the merchants and business men, and up to date the first bale of Nacogdoches county sold for more money per pound, and the premium was much larger than any town yet reporting, the bale bringing the grower more money. This only shows that Nacogdoches is the best cotton market and the merchants have a higher regard for the efforts of the farmer. Is it any wonder that Nacogdoches gets more cotton, sells more goods and maintains more and larger stores with big stocks of goods?

Among the exhibits advertised for the Shelby County Fair at Center is an old-fashioned hand made loom, supposed to be about 100 years old. It will be put in running order and will be at work. To those of the visitors who have never seen a loom of any kind this will be quite a novelty to say nothing of the novelty of a new fashion up to date machine was running alongside of the old one. Another attraction will be an old time wagon with the old time linchpin and tar bucket.

LOST ON PRAIRIE.

Five Girls in Touring Car Caught in Cattle Herd

Muskogee, Okla., Aug. 8.—Five girls in a touring car, lost on the prairie between Muskogee and Chelsea last night, were caught in a big cattle herd which held them prisoners until daylight when the cattle separated. The girls were May McSpadden, Lizzie Sharp and Viola Milam of Chelsea, and Miss Smith and Miss Bucker Clare more.

As a lark the girls decided to drive from Rucker's ranch to Muskogee, sixty miles. They lost the road and darkness caught them on a prairie. The motor went dead and a herd of cattle numbering thousands gathered around the machine. The frightened cattle were jammed so close to the car that at times the sides were almost crushed.

The frightened girls spent a night of terror. The cattle dispersed after daylight, the car was started with the aid of a herdsman and the girls reached Muskogee today.

Build Roads and Be Happy.

A good road turneth away wrath and a permanent highway is a joy forever. There is no influence so uplifting as a good road and no other construction will give as complete satisfaction as that of a well built public highway.

Everybody loves a good road and a good road makes us love everybody. In moral influence it ranks next to the church and is a great educator in citizenship. It helps to keep the community in a good humor. The improvement of public highways will add more happiness, prosperity and morality to a community than any other form of investment.

Build roads and be happy.—Homer D. Wade.

WOODROW WILSON AND THE SHORT BALLOT

V. Gov. Wilson's Conception of Commission Government

Woodrow Wilson

The cities of New Jersey had suffered their full share from the typical ills which have harassed American municipalities. Some of them had had serious defaultations or had been afflicted with corporation domination or with gross inequalities of taxation. In addition, there was a lot of petty grafting and general inefficiency.

In 1910 there swept in from the West a great political idea which had been applied at that time with marked success in about one hundred cities—the idea of commission government. Public opinion in no less than sixty communities in New Jersey looked with longing upon the commission plan as a relief from their own troubles.

Most of them, as in every State, had but a general notion of its political principles; it was a case of "It has cured others; it will cure us." But to Woodrow Wilson the commission plan was more than a remedy. It was the embodiment of the cardinal doctrine which he had written about and taught from the beginning of his career—the principle of the Short Ballot and direct responsibility. As Governor, he took the stump for this principle just as candidates for public office take the stump in their own personal interest. Throughout, he emphasized not the specific results already obtained under the new plan in the Western cities, but the fact that the commission plan put the local government into the right relationship to the people.

Thus, in his address on the subject at Trenton, he said:—"Human nature is better instructed, guided and supported in America than anywhere else in the world; they have good government in foreign cities, but they are less intelligent than we are. When I look into it I find a very interesting circumstance. In English or Scottish cities no voter ever votes for more than one person. He never has a chance to vote for more than one person. We elect men galore, but the nominating machine selects them. If you want the privilege of selecting your men as well as electing them you will simplify your form of government until you have the whole thing in the palm of your hand and have only to flip a little finger to make them think it is an earthquake. All the best governed cities in the world are governed according to that plan. The principle is the center of the whole proposition—the principle of responsibility. Nothing moralizes like responsibility. I have a suggestion to make to you. If you have a very able friend who is very radical, put him in office and see him tame down. Say, 'all right, my friend, you are such a smart Alec. You know how this thing ought to be done. You stand on the street corners and rant. You know so much about it, suppose you try it.' You make out of him the sober and responsible wheel horse." It is this ability to see the problems of the people in terms of a very simple proposition which underlies Wilson's own political leadership. Viewed in this light, the principle of the Short Ballot takes on a transcendent importance. For it is the Short Ballot which will be the first step toward securing effective civic and official responsibility in States, counties and cities.

FOSTER'S WEATHER BULLETIN

Copyrighted 1913 by W. T. Foster

Washington, D. C., Aug. 16.—Last bulletin gave forecasts of disturbance to cross continent August 18 to 22, warm wave 17 to 21, cool wave 20 to 24. This storm wave will tend toward higher temperatures and drier weather, just when the corn crop will most need rain, but, as the old adage would say, it is a poor wind that blows nobody good. Dry, warm, weather will be best for the spring wheat country, both for maturing late crops and for threshing.

Next disturbance will reach Pacific coast about August 22, cross Pacific slope by close of 23, great central valleys 24 to 26, eastern section 27. Warm wave will cross Pacific slope about August 22, great central valleys 24, eastern sections 26. Cool wave will cross Pacific slope about August 25, great central valleys 27, eastern sections 29. This will cause warm dry, weather, bad for cotton and late corn.

As the hay crop is generally short, the oats crop generally poor and corn prospects not the best we expect to see all grain remain high with a probability of going higher.

We have advised farmers to hold their grain and that advice has proved good. But it is not best to hold too long. When you are satisfied as to the effect that August weather will have on the corn crop you can calculate as to the best time to sell. The big speculators usually put the prices of grain down in the fall. To determine when to sell your surplus products requires good judgment and careful calculations.

Steel Bridge on Logansport Road.

At the session of the commissioners' court this afternoon, just before taking final adjournment for the term, the court authorized the construction of a steel span of fifty feet in the bridge over LaNana creek, on the Logansport road just in the edge of the city. The steel span will be over the run of the creek proper, and will be on concrete piers at each end, the balance of the bridge will be wood. The steel span will cost $675. The entire bridge will be something over 300 feet long.

County Bridges.

When the commissioners' court met yesterday afternoon it took up as a special order of business the discussion of county bridges, the erection of two bridges that are needed just now pretty badly.

R. L. Puckett with the Austin Bros. Bridge Company of Dallas, was before the court and submitted plans and estimates with reference to the erection of steel bridges, but the court did not take kindly to the steel bridge proposition and turned the matter down, for the present at least.

The long bridge over the LaNana creek, on the Logansport road, just in the edge of the city, is so badly decayed and considered dangerous that it has been closed to traffic, and the court will have to put in a bridge here. Commissioner Muckelroy was very anxious that a steel bridge take the place of the old wooden bridge, believing that it would be cheaper in the end, but the court did not agree with him. This bridge is something over 300 feet long, and there is quite a span just over the creek.

Mr. Muckelroy says that the county will have to build a bridge here, and it is expected that a new wooden bridge will be put in.

Commissioner Birdwell has been doing a splendid piece of work on the lower Melrose road out near Caresa creek, on what is known as the Simpson hill. This hill is of rock and has been quite a bad hill to climb. It has been cut down, the rock blasted out and put in the flat near the creek and the road worked up with the rock, making a splendid piece of work. It was at first thought that a steel bridge would be put over the creek, and with the rock abutments and raised roadway through the bottom, this would be a nice stretch of road where heretofore it has been very bad, especially during the winter or rainy season.

Paint and Not.

Paint was never before so high as last year about $2.25 a gallon Devoe and a half-dollar less for trash.

What is trash? It looks like paint and pretends to be paint, but isn't worth painting. It costs a painter's day's work to put on a gallon of paint, good or bad; and a painter's day's work is $3 or $4.

Add that to the price of a gallon. That is the cost of a gallon. Devoe is $5 or $6 a gallon; trash a half-dollar less.

But Devoe is all paint and more too; you add oil to it; a gallon is 5 or 6 quarts of perfect paint for the painter's pot. But trash is three-quarters two-thirds or half paint; you pay a half dollar less for nobody knows what it is.

10 gallons Devoe is enough for the average job; it takes 15 to 20 gallons of trash. And the wear same way. Unfortunately, they look alike when first put on.

DEVOE

Swift Bros. & Smith sells it.

G. H. King and family and Mrs. McClum went out to the Simpson Camp ground Sunday to attend the all day services with dinner on the ground. They report a very enjoyable day, except Mr. King who said that he encountered a sand bed on the road and got awfully hot before he got his automobile over it.

Little Child Dies.

The little child of Mr. and Mrs. Carlton Fields, which was hurt early yesterday morning by a falling tree, between Eden and Douglass, died yesterday afternoon about 2 o'clock.

We were unable to give particulars of the accident yesterday, but this morning learn that the father and grandfather of the little one had cut a large pine tree, which in falling lodged on another but smaller tree. This smaller tree was sawed down and as the weight from the larger tree bore it to the ground it kicked back and a large limb struck the little child on the head, crushing one side of the skull and dragging it several feet before it stopped. When the first tree was cut and when the other tree was cut the child was standing a good way off and supposed to be out of all danger, but the kick-back caught it.

Costly Treatment.

"I was troubled with constipation on and indigestion and spent hundreds of dollars for medicine and treatment," writes C. H. Hines, of Whitlow, Ark. I used them for some time and am now all right." Sold by all dealers. dw

MACOGDOCHES NEWSPAPER HISTORY

At the Request of a Friend We Have Compiled a Partial History of the Business in the History.

Dear Sentinel:

Your issue of July 17th made reference to your beginning July 16th, 1899, and to your subsequent career. It calls up memories like this: What room or office did you start in? Was it in the opera house, lower east room? Who was the devil then; was it Dick Doughtie, Tom Baker or Will Council, or was it Sam Drewry or Larkin Day, and who else was in it, and where are these poor devils (printer boys) now? Was Henry Fuller in it?

"Fourteen years! What if you go back twice that far or even further, and call up Dick Orton and Early Shook, Noel Burk and so many others sacred in memory. A reproduction of a copy of these old issues would be interesting. Reader."

The above request is one that appeals very much to the writer and he only wishes that he were able to go into details and bring down the exact history of the newspaper business of Nacogdoches to date. In a feeble way we shall give such information as we happen to know and the dates shall not be absolutely vouched for, but they are practically correct.

We have been told by parties who have seen copies of them, that a newspaper was printed in Nacogdoches in 1836, but we have never been able to see a copy of this paper and have not learned the name of the publication, though one party has told us it was called the Banner.

About 1848 the old original Nacogdoches Chronicle was established. We do not know who established the paper, but it was possibly Col. C. E. Sterne, who now lives at Palestine, Texas. About 1858 E. W. Cava became the editor and continued in that capacity until he turned the paper loose to assume the duties of Secretary of State in 1855. We don't know the different editors of the paper from this time on till it was moved to Cleburne, Texas, in 1868, where it is now published by John P. Chambliss.

Sometime about 1872 the Nacogdoches News was established. The writer never knew whether it was started by Col. R. D. Orton or someone else, but feels sure that Orton was the founder. During the time that Orton owned the News J. E. Shook, Joe Edwards, June B. Harris and others were connected with it as printers and associate editors. In 1876 R. W. Haltom went into the office to learn the trade. In 1877 R. W. Haltom bought the News from Orton and continued the publication until 1884 when he sold it to H. B. Short and Reese Wilson. During the time that Haltom owned the paper June Harris, Bob Christopher, Giles Haltom, Henry

Harris, Henry Fuller, Sam Drewry, Percy Martin and others worked on the paper.

In 1885 R. W. Haltom established the Star which was consolidated with the News in 1886 and sold to T. J. Carraway and Noel Burk. Noel Burk died in 1887 and Maj. Carraway bought his interest in the business. Will and Giles Haltom were the printers and Miss Agnes Hall and Maj. Carraway's daughters, Misses Lola, Ella, Genie and Nina were the "host of devils" and about the prettiest, sweetest bunch of "devils" the writer ever worked around.

About 1887 F. M. Wilson started the Nacogdoches Sun, which was published a year or two and closed down. Possibly the Star-News took the plant over.

In 1889 R. W. and Giles M. Haltom re-established the old Nacogdoches Chronicle, which was afterwards consolidated with the Star-News, taking the name of the News-Chronicle. Maj. Carraway finally bought Haltom's interest and continued the publication until his death, when it was suspended and the plant was sold in piece meals to various concerns. Maj. Carraway died about 1899 or 1900.

About 1890 A. J. Spradley established the Plaindealer, which afterwards passed to Fred Henning. In 1905 Henning sold the Plaindealer to Henry Harris, who changed the name to the Redland Herald. In 1912 Harris sold the Herald to W. S. Davis, who is now the owner.

On July 16th 1899, the first issue of the Daily Sentinel was published by R. W. Haltom and Henry Harris. The office was in the Tucker building, up stairs, on the corner where the Redlands Hotel now stands. The building, burned in 1902. The working force was R. W. Haltom, editor, W. H. Harris, foreman, Larkin Day and Eph Muckelroy. Eph was the "devil". Earnest Spradley and Maury Haltom were the delivery boys. Jan. 1st, 1900, the Weekly Sentinel made its first appearance, being about six months younger than the Daily. R. W. Haltom died Nov. 4th, 1907 and Maury Haltom died Jan. 1st, 1912, Henry Harris is at this time, in Nacogdoches but arranging to go to Hemphill within the next few days to establish a paper to be named the Reporter. Larkin Day is in Oklahoma and Eph Muckelroy is in New Mexico. Earnest Spradley is living in Nacogdoches. On August 15 1901 Giles M. Haltom purchased W. H. Harris' interest in the business and assumed management. Oct. 1st, 1912 Giles M. Haltom bought the interest of R. W. Haltom, deceased, and became the sole owner. The business is continued in the old firm name of Haltom & Haltom, more as a matter of sentiment than for any other reason. The first name of the Daily was the Phone, but on account of the name getting confused with the telephone office the name was changed to the Sentinel. The change in the name possibly should have been something else as the Sentinel of-

and the Central office still get confused.

The present working force of the Sentinel besides the owner, Giles M. Haltom, are F. M. Littlepage, editor, employed 2 1/2 years, G. B. Engledow, foreman newspaper department, employed 18 1/2 years, W. J. Teamer, foreman job printing department, employed 2 1/2 years, Norman Muckelroy, pressman employed 8 years, Eugene Vondersmith, pressman, employed 2 1/2 years, Miss Joe Myatt, compositor, employed 7 years, Misses Letha Eddings, Ruth Morris and Edith Hall, E.S. Rogers compositors, employed less than 1 year. The carrier boys are Will Hall, T. J. and A. D. Haltom.

Since the establishment of the Daily Sentinel three other daily papers, The Daily Plaindealer, The Evening Journal and The Daily Herald have been started in the city, but their owners found the venture unprofitable and suspended publication after only a short while—about three or four months each.

During all this time there have been scores of boys, girls and printers connected with these papers who have taken up other lines of business, moved to other sections of the country, etc., whose names could not be recalled or their particular connection with the various papers given, that mention could be given them. As to the girls—well they marry—and that usually ends their career as printers.

We were thinking of getting out and organizing a company of soldiers and offering our services to the United States to go over the Rio Grande and give them Mexicans a thrashing for talking sassy to Uncle Sam; but just now we are expecting in a few days that work will begin on the harvesting of our splendid crops of corn and cotton, and we will need all the men to take care of the rushing fall business that is coming to Nacogdoches, so we will defer the organization of the company for the present.

Gen. Huerta denies that he sent an ultimatum to the United States. Of course it was expected that should the United States refuse a "demand" from the Mexican government—why they didn't send one, that's all.

A Fellow who will go into a newspaper office, borrow the editors pencil to write a notice or "article", then when he has written said article, sticks the pencil in his pocket and walks out of the office in a hurry, is—well he knows what he is.

J. H. Sherman of Port Arthur is having constructed at that place a two-story brick building modern in every detail. The new structure will cost when completed $25,000 and will be occupied by John R. Adams & Company, a grocery and hardware concern.

A gas well was brought in on the Kendrick farm, three miles west of Mexia by the Central Texas Oil Company at a depth of several hundred feet. The gasser flowed in paying quantities and seems to be a permanent well.

EXPOSITION BUILDING.

In This Will Be Displayed the Merchants' Exhibits and Other Things.

Visitors to the Louisiana State Fair will miss one of the greatest sights prepared for their entertainment. If they fail to "take in" the Exposition building, it is centrally located being near the main entrance, and nearly everybody is expected to pay it a visit. The management assures every one of them that they will be rewarded for the time given to this feature, for elaborate are the preparations under consideration by the exhibitors who have arranged for the building.

In this building there will be displayed the exhibits of the merchants and manufacturers, also the exhibits from the State University at Baton Rouge. Many of the merchants and factories people will have stands displaying and otherwise arranging their wares and the articles for exhibition, and many of the sights developed from their efforts are as pleasing and wonderful as could be found anywhere. This year their booths promise to be unusually attractive, due to the rivalry that will be shown.

For catalogue and premium list apply to Secretary L. N. Brueggerhoff, who will send them free. Remember the date of the fair, November 5 to 12 inclusive.

ANNUAL HORSE SHOW.

Will Be a Feature of the Louisiana Fair—Woman Will Be Manager.

With Mrs. Felix M. Williams, an expert horsewoman of Shreveport, in charge and a large number of contestants entered, the annual horse show promises to be one of the foremost attractions at this year's Louisiana State Fair. In securing the services of Mrs. Williams, who is probably the only woman horse show manager in the country, the management feels that the best possible management will be given to the show. Mrs. Williams, aside from being very prominent socially and as charming and gracious as well as capable having splendid executive ability. The show is undoubtedly in expert hands and is assured the greatest popularity on record.

There will be three nights of the show, Nov. 10, 11 and 12. These are the last three nights of the Fair. Each night's program will consist of six events. All will be held in the arena of the magnificent new Coliseum, with seats for several thousand spectators, splendid illumination, excellent decorations and colorings an appropriate musical selections. The general admission will be 25 cents.

Each night the prizes offered by the Fair Association will total $150. Besides, there will be a number of special trophies. The contest will be open to the entire country, and it is not required that horses be registered.

Last year, for the first time, the horse show was given in the Coliseum, and proved very popular. Greater preparation and being made this year, and a record breaking show is expected. Further information may be secured from L. N. Brueggerhoff, who will send free, catalogue and premium lists and horse show programs of the Fair which opens November 5 and runs eight days.

PURE FOOD SHOW.

It Will Be Held in the New Coliseum. Samples of Foodstuffs Will Be Served.

The Pure Food Show at the State Fair will be among the most delightful entertainments to be found on the grounds. It will be the second annual show, the first one having featured last year's exhibition of various manufacturers and distributors who participated in the show, which is open to all and is free to all visitors to the Fair.

There are twenty-seven booths, arranged conveniently on each side of the Coliseum. All the space has been already, due to the popularity of the show last year and the good results coming to those making demonstrations. In and about the booths will be tempting food products of all kinds. These will include coffee, tea, syrups, flour, baked articles, etc. There will be numerous demonstrations, and a number of samples served free to the visitors. The booths will be open day and night.

For additional data write to Secretary L. N. Brueggerhoff at Shreveport. For catalogue and premium list be sure and write him and he will send them free. Remember that the Fair opens November 5 and runs eight days.

GOVERNOR AT THE FAIR.

Chief Executive Will Be Among the Distinguished Visitors First Day.

The governor of Louisiana, Hon. Luther E. Hall, will be among the distinguished visitors the opening day of this year's State Fair, which begins November 5 and runs eight days, closing November 12. The visit by the chief executive of the state will largely increase the interest in the initial program. It promises to prove a big draw for the principal events. It is also expected that the governor's staff will be along, adding dignity to the occasion.

There will be a celebration with the governor in the head of the procession, marking the opening of the fair, the eighth State Fair of Louisiana. Just what will make up the celebration hasn't been fully decided yet, but a grand street parade is expected to be one of the principal events. It is also expected that the governor's staff will be along, adding dignity to the occasion.

An address by Governor Hall following the parade will formally open the fair. The address will be delivered at the fair grounds.

For further information apply to Secretary L. N. Brueggerhoff, of Shreveport, who has charge of arrangements.

SHUTTLE TRAINS ASSURED.

The Katy Railroad Will Operate Them Between Union Depot and the Fair Grounds.

The Missouri, Kansas & Texas Railway will again operate shuttle trains during the Louisiana State Fair this year, beginning November 5 and continuing through November 12. The trains operating between the Union Depot and the Fair Grounds, will be run every twenty minutes. The round-trip will cost only 15 cents.

General Passenger Agent W. G. Crum of the Katy road has given positive assurance that these trains will be operated again. The announcement is one of importance. If anything should happen to interrupt the electric car service, the Katy on the shuttle trains would be able to handle the crowds. Anyway, many persons who come in on the railroad trains and don't want to take time to go by street cars may step from the train to the shuttle cars and go straight to the fair grounds. The service has proven very valuable and popular heretofore, and this year promises not to be an exception.

For catalogue and premium list of the fair apply to Secretary L. N. Brueggerhoff, who will forward them free.

Some of the finest and fastest horses in the country are expected, including a number of these taking part in the meet at the Texas State Fair at Dallas, and some of those in the meet at the Mississippi State Fair at Jackson, Miss.

There will be five days of horse racing, with several harness and running events each day. Several thousand dollars will be given away as purses and stakes. The stakes closed July 1, but the purse events remain open till Oct. 25. There will be two running races daily, purse $100.

For more information, address L. N. Brueggerhoff, State Fair secretary, at Shreveport.

CONCERT FIVE NIGHTS.

By Thaviv's Band at the Louisiana State Fair—Operas and Popular Airs.

What is expected to prove one of the most pleasing features of the Louisiana State Fair program this year—November 5 to 12 inclusive—will be the Five Nights' Concerts by Thaviv's Russian Band. This part of the program will furnish entertainment the first five nights of the fair. Each night's entertainment will last from an hour to an hour and a half, and promises to be something way out of the ordinary. Thaviv's band is an aggregation of musical experts, experienced and high priced.

Each program will consist of different operas and popular airs. The music will be very high classed to hear it elsewhere would cost from $1 to $1.50. The reputation of the band is well established, and the management is taking no chances in making this announcement. The admission to the Coliseum at night at the Louisiana State Fair will be 25 cents.

Further information will be furnished free by Secretary L. N. Brueggerhoff, of Shreveport.

GAME COMMISSION BOOTH.

In This Will Be Exhibited Birds and Other Natural Specimens.

The Louisiana Game Commission has been given space in the Agricultural Building for a booth, which will be in charge of Col. M. L. Alexander, president of the Game Commission. Col. Alexander and his assistants are collecting specimens of natural resources and products to put in this booth, and game especially will be shown.

There will be placards on the various specimens, showing the visitors exact information about the different exhibits. The collection promises to be an eye-opening. Louisiana has many varieties of animals, birds, etc., and the Game Commission, whose duty it is to educate the citizens into a sentiment for protecting and preserving these resources, will have a collection on hand that will be unusually interesting and instructive. Lecturers will be on hand to help entertain the visitors.

Upon application, Secretary L. N. Brueggerhoff of Shreveport, will mail, free, catalogue and premium list of the Fair, which opens November 5 and runs eight days, through Nov. 12.

GENERAL COTTON EXHIBIT.

Fifty Bolls and Bale Displays to Be Seen at the Louisiana Fair.

"King Cotton" will be seen at the Louisiana State Fair this year in all his glory. The reports received by the management indicate that the display will be the best ever shown at the Fair at Shreveport. Crops this year are fine, and the farmers engaged in the cultivation of cotton in various sections are anxious to take part in the competition for the splendid premiums offered.

The premiums will be awarded for fifty bolls and bale exhibits, there being two different departments of the cotton contest. The premiums aggregate $125 for the two sections.

All varieties may be represented in this contest. Premiums are offered for each variety of fifty bolls, also each bale variety. The exhibitors are requested to express or send 50 bolls of cotton by parcel post to the fair, the charges prepaid.

For further information write Secretary L. N. Brueggerhoff, Shreveport, who will send free, catalogue and premium list.

EXHIBIT OF MACHINERY.

And Farm Implements to Be Seen at Louisiana Fair—New Exhibit Halls.

There are two large brick buildings at the Louisiana State Fair grounds for exclusive exhibition of machinery and farm implements. These buildings, which are comparatively new, were provided especially for showing this class of exhibits to the visitors. So popular has this department grown that all the space in the two structures, which are 60x130 feet, has been reserved for this year's fair, which opens Nov. 5 and continues through Nov. 12. Although all the space in the exhibit buildings is gone, persons desiring to display machinery and farm implements have the opportunity of reserving acreage in a five-acre tract just outside the buildings. Some of this acreage has already been spoken for, and the remainder promises to be taken before the time for the fair to open. Demonstrations as well as exhibits may be made.

The interest taken in the exhibit of machinery and implements at the Louisiana fair each year evidences steady growth of a determination on the part of the farmers to turn from the old methods. The use of new methods call for the handling of modern implements and other apparatus, and the exhibition at the State Fair helps the development of the movement wonderfully. By the demonstrations, the farmers learn that they may cultivate their lands easier and with more profits and less expense.

For more information, apply to State Fair Secretary Louis N. Brueggerhoff at Shreveport, who will mail catalogue and premium list free.

LOW RAILROAD RATES.

Transportation Lines Help the Louisiana Fair by Making Tickets Cheap.

The Louisiana State Fair has no better friends than the railway companies and their various officials and agents. This is shown plainly by the low rates authorized each year for tickets to persons visiting the big fair at Shreveport. Each year has seen inducements greater than the year before, and next Nov. 5 to 12 inclusive there will be the usual reductions, only they promise to be lower than ever before. In making these reductions the railways prove their loyalty to the Fair Association and the patrons along their lines. They give evidence that they appreciate the Fair as a great developer of good for railroad and other lines of business, as well as for the resources of the territory in which it is held, and for the people residing in that territory.

The exact figures showing the various reductions by railroads and other lines of business are assured. The rates will apply on all roads entering Shreveport. The same advantages will apply throughout the state of Louisiana, and will cover portions of Texas and Arkansas, embracing a radius 170 miles of Shreveport. In addition to reduced rates, daily the railways will operate excursions on certain days, granting still lower rates for these occasions.

Besides selling tickets cheaper, the railways will help the crowds by putting on extra rolling stock in order to handle the people most great throng comfortably. Everything within reason to accommodate those attending the fair will be done by the roads.

Owing to the interest taken in this way by the railroad men, great throngs are expected to visit the fair. The indications point to more people than ever before.

STATE FAIR ADMISSIONS.

The Prices Have Been Made Very Reasonable by the Fair Association.

That the Louisiana State Fair is not intended as a money making institution, but as an educational movement, is indicated by the reasonable nature of the prices of admission. The management has made these prices unusually low, charging just enough to cover expenses. The reduced rates have been made with a view of enlarging the crowds, so as to give everybody an opportunity to see the many wonderful sights on exhibition and enjoy the various entertainments.

The prices of admission are announced as follows:

General day admission to the fair grounds, for adults, 50 cents.

General day admission to fair grounds, for children, 25 cents.

General admission to all after 6 o'clock in evening, 10 cents.

After 6 o'clock p. m. children five years old and under, admitted free.

Admission to coliseum, to horse show, 25 cents.

Admission to coliseum, to Thaviv's band concert, 25 cents.

Admission to grand stand at night for fireworks, free to all.

Secretary L. N. Brueggerhoff, upon request, will mail catalogue, premium list and information concerning the fair dates free. Nov. 5 to 12 inclusive.

GENERAL CORN DISPLAY.

Several Hundred Dollars in Premiums Will Be Awarded the Winners.

Six hundred dollars in premiums is promised the winners in the general corn exhibit at the Louisiana State Fair, which opens November 5 and continues through November 12, eight days. These premiums are in addition to those offered the winners in the boys' corn club department, for in that department only members of boys' corn clubs may participate.

In the matter of raising fine corn the Louisiana in the past few years had an awakening. The past year has witnessed wonderful changes for the better. The corn on display at the fair will testify to the improvement. The reports indicate that the competition will be keener than ever before, and that various parts of the State will be represented. The exhibits will be in the Agricultural Building.

The judging will be done by F. Leigh Maxey, of Curran, Ill., while Prof. E. S. Richardson of Baton Rouge, will be superintendent.

The secretary, L. N. Brueggerhoff, of Shreveport, will mail catalogue and premium list, free, upon application.

DARE-DEVIL AUTOMOBILISTS.

Will Give Thrilling Speed Exhibitions at the Louisiana State Fair.

Nothing at the Louisiana State Fair this year will be more thrilling or popular than the expert automobile speed exhibitions. They will feature the track program Nov. 5, 6 and 12. Judging by the enthusiasm in the grandstand, bleachers and outside space will be taxed to hold the spectators, for the drivers who are coming here to give these exhibitions are "dare-devils" of great renown.

J. Alex Sloan, famous as team manager for professional automobilists, has charge of this part of the program. He has been at the Louisiana fair on more than one occasion. Last year he had Louis Diabrow and other great drivers, who thrilled thousands of spectators. Once before he brought the great Barney Dreyfus to Shreveport and showed the people of this section what facing death really is in automobilism.

Among the team members Sloan expects to have with him this year in Diabrow again. Others equally as famous and daring will be on hand. There will be several of them, and the two days set aside for their part of the entertainment they will give a series of wonderful exhibitions to speed race.

Secretary L. N. Brueggerhoff, upon request, will gladly furnish additional information; also catalogue of the fair, which opens Nov. 5, and runs through Nov. 12, being an eight-day fair this year.

HEALTH BOARD'S BOOTH.

It It Dr. Oscar Dowling and Assistant Will Have Exhibit at Fair.

The "healthiest" exhibit at the Louisiana State Fair will be found in the Agricultural Building. It will be in charge of Dr. Oscar Dowling, state health officer. It will be the State Health Board's exhibit.

In this booth Dr. Dowling and his assistants will have a number of demonstrations, showing the splendid results of sanitation, hygiene and other things necessary for human health, happiness and comfort. There will be lectures and lectures with the demonstrations and exhibits, and all visitors to this booth are promised most helpful entertainment.

Dr. Dowling will also have his famous health car at Shreveport during the fair. In this car there are many exhibits that tend to encourage sanitation and hygiene. Dates of Fair, Nov. 5-12 1911.

VI. The Progress of the Short Ballot Movement

Woodrow Wilson

One of the earlier articles in this series told how quickly the people caught up with Woodrow Wilson's doctrine that real democracy in America is just a question of getting simple and workable instruments. Of course, the really difficult task is to get this idea enacted into laws. This phase of the movement is retarded by two great obstructions; cast iron State constitutions, and those politicians who are quite contented with the present arrangements.

The lightning struck first in California, where the bi-partisan railroad machine had just been overthrown. In 1911 the progressive members of both parties, who were now in control, looked around for the best means of making the results of the election of 1910 permanent, that is, of keeping the existing machine out of politics and forestalling any similar organization. The leaders at once took up the Short Ballot idea and made it the first specific plank in their platform. Governor Johnson emphasized it in his message and put his influence behind several Legislative Short Ballot measures. Four of these were passed without great difficulty.

Three of these respectively removed from the ballot the State Printer, the Clerk of the Supreme Court and the members of the Railroad Commission. This latter board had been made elective years before so that the people could control it. Result:—The commissioners were hidden away among forty to fifty other officers on the ballot and for a generation devoted themselves exclusively to the neglect of their duties and the drawing of their salaries.

The fourth of these California measures gave the people power to apply the Short Ballot principle in the counties by adopting local charters suited to their local needs. Within less than a year under this new right the county of Los Angeles adopted an instrument under which there were cut out, at a stroke, thirteen of these petty clerical offices, which had been the center of so much ill-directed party activity and inefficiency. It was provided that in future they should be appointed on the basis of merit and not for party service. The county supervisors were given real control over the machinery of organization just as in the commission plan cities.

Another State which has made progress toward the Short Ballot is Ohio. In preparation for the constitutional convention which met in that State last year, the Municipal Association of Cleveland prepared a most careful analysis of the State government and proposed a measure which would remove from the State ticket the minor executives, including the Secretary of State, Treasurer, Auditor, Attorney General and Dairy and Food Commissioner. The favorable way in which the measure was received led its friends to suppose that it would be submitted to the people, along with the forty other progressive proposals. When, however, it was brought to a vote, it was found that forty-seven of the one hundred and twenty delegates were opposed to submitting this proposition to the people. Their cry was, "It will give the Governor too much power." (They were not opposed to giving exactly the same amount of power to the irresponsible party "boss" who had actually made the appointments to minor State offices under the long ballot system.) The defeat of the measure disappointed the people and last fall all three political parties in Ohio went on record in favor of the Short Ballot in their platforms.

In the spring of 1913 the friends of the measure made it more complete by adding amendments to make it possible for the people of the several counties to adopt a Short Ballot form of county government and providing that representatives to the Legislature should be selected singly by districts instead of in big bunches by counties.

When the Legislators assembled this spring and the proposition was put up to them in concrete form, many of them repudiated both the party promises and their personal written pledges. And the movement was checked again. The Short Ballot bills will now be put before the people by initiative.

Michigan went through a similar experience last March. There the Senate voted unanimously to submit to the people a proposition to apply the principle to the heads of departments in the State. The State House of Representatives, however, defeated it.

The opposition in every State is the same:—On the surface the contention that it would "centralize" power too much; deeper down, the petty officials, both those in office and those who hope to be, have a passion for "letting the people fill the offices."

Well, the cure for that is more light. (THE END.)

BOYS' CORN CLUBS.

Will Make Exhibits at the Louisiana State Fair—Many Premiums Offered.

That the State of Louisiana is steadily developing into a splendid corn-producing territory will be demonstrated at the State Fair this year by numerous exhibits from the boys' corn clubs. The exhibits will be on display in the agricultural building, and will occupy very conspicuous space. Five hundred dollars in premiums will be awarded for best ten-acre exhibits and club displays. All varieties of corn will be allowed in the contest.

There are sixteen of these clubs in Louisiana, with a total membership of about 4,000. Every parish is represented, due to the remarkable spread of the movement inaugurated among the juvenile farmers a few years ago, and liberally encouraged by the State Fair Association and other agencies. There is promise of between 1,000 and 1,200 exhibits of ten-acre crops, or a total of about 12,000 ears of corn, which will be the largest display ever made by the boys' clubs in Louisiana. In order to have little trouble getting the exhibits to Shreveport, the Fair Association has arranged to furnish each member of the club with a ten-acre corn carton, or box, for shipment by parcel post. The cartons will be sent to the superintendent of each club for distribution. Each club is entitled to not less than ten ten-acre exhibits, nor more than thirty exhibits.

Prof. E. S. Richardson, director of the extension work of the Louisiana State University, is superintendent of this department, with A. F. Kidder of Baton Rouge as assistant superintendent. Leigh E. Maxey of Curran, Ill., will be the judge.

To each member of the boys' clubs a free ticket to the fair will be given, for the management feels that too much encouragement cannot be given these young agriculturists, who are active in showing the world that Louisiana has a great future in the corn-raising industry.

The fair opens November 5, and closes October 12. For catalogue and premium list write Secretary L. N. Brueggerhoff, Shreveport.

DOMESTIC SCIENCE CLUBS

Will Make a Splendid Exhibit at the State Fair of Louisiana This Year.

Judging by the reports from various portions of the State, one of the real big successes of the Louisiana State Fair this year will be scored in the Domestic Science Department, which will be in charge of Miss Elizabeth Kelley as superintendent. This will be a brand-new feature, as never before has been any display by the domestic science clubs. The interest reported from different parishes is due largely to the inducements offered by the Fair Association, which is offering a list of cash premiums, totaling $100. The display will be shown in the Agricultural Building, near the girls' canning exhibits and boys' corn club display.

The exhibit will demonstrate a wonderfully important work that is being carried on by the domestic science departments of the Louisiana public schools. There will be specimens of cooking, sewing, preserving, baking and various other interesting and useful activities by the girls of the State. The different teams from different parishes will be in charge of the domestic science booth on different days during the fair, which opens November 5 and runs through November 12.

Send to Secretary Louis N. Brueggerhoff, Shreveport, La., for premium lists and catalogue. They are free for the asking.

BABY CONTEST AT FAIR.

Will Be One of the Most Popular Features—Mrs. Frank DeGarmo in Charge.

No announcement in connection with the plans for the Louisiana State Fair this year is more important than the one authorized by the management, to the effect that Mrs. Frank DeGarmo will be superintendent of the Baby Show. Mrs. DeGarmo now resides in St. Louis, where she is prominent in charitable work, but formerly she lived in Shreveport. It was through her efforts that the first Eugenic Baby Contest was held at the Louisiana Fair. That which in 1908, was the year of the fair of Louisiana. That show is declared to have been the first of its sort in the whole country, and served as a model for many others since it was held in Shreveport.

Scores of beautiful and handsome baby girls and boys will be on exhibition at this contest. Prizes aggregating $200 have been offered. Of this amount, the Women's Home Companion gave $200 to encourage the development of the eugenics movement.

The contest will be held in the Schumpert Lecture Room. There will be competent physicians to make the examinations. The contest will be governed by standard rules.

The babies participating in the competition will be shown later in the Coliseum. This feature of the fair, the most popular at the fair, Post records justify that prediction.

For catalogue and premium list write Secretary L. N. Brueggerhoff.

SPECIAL DAYS AT FAIR.

Have Been Premiered For Different Celebrations During Big Show.

There will be a number of special days designated for celebrations by fraternal organizations and other bodies and in honor of certain individuals and groups of individuals during the Louisiana State Fair, which opens Nov. 5 and runs through Nov. 12, lasting eight days. Every day will be a special day. On some days there will be several different celebrations. Also, every day will be of interest to everybody as well as to members of certain societies and organizations, friends of certain distinguished persons, or certain cities and communities.

The opening day will be known as Governor's Day, for it is then that Gov. L. E. Hall will put in an appearance. It will also be Press Day, for the members of the newspaper folks, whose efforts means so much to the development of the fair. It will also be Shreveport Day, for the various business houses will give their employes holiday, so they may participate in the big celebration marking the opening of the fair.

Friday, November 7, will be Drummers' Day. The traveling men will have a parade and banquet and will otherwise frolic.

Saturday, Nov. 8, will be School and College Day; when the football games between the Louisiana and Arkansas Universities and other schools will be played.

THE DEMONSTRATION FARMERS

Will Exhibit Their Products at the Fair at Shreveport This Year.

One of the best agencies at work for the advantageous cultivation of the soil in Louisiana is the Farm Cooperative Demonstration Bureau of the United States Department of Agriculture, which is showing the farmers how to produce the biggest quantity and best quality of corn, cotton and other crops with least expense and labor. In other words, this Department demonstrates that the farmers can get better results by following the advanced and scientific methods of cultivation than by clinging to the old ways. Evidence of the progress attained by the Demonstration work will be seen at the Louisiana State Fair this year, through the collection of exhibits in the U. S. Farm Co-operative Demonstration Booth in the agricultural building.

This booth will be in charge of Mason Snowden, state agent in charge of the demonstration work. There are forty-eight farm demonstrators in the state. They are all gathering exhibits from the farmers who are co-operating in this work, and these are the exhibits that will be shown in the booth in honor of Mr. Snowden. They occupied a booth last year and it proved one of the most interesting at the fair, showing results that made the visitors wonder.

The individuals participating in the Farm Demonstration exhibit may also take part in the competition for premiums on general exhibits. By being in the Demonstration Booth, their products are not barred from any of the general contests.

For catalog and premium lists, showing what the prizes are offered on this year, write Secretary L. N. Brueggerhoff, at Shreveport.

STREET CAR SERVICE.

This Year the Cars Will Run Right to Main Entrance to the Grounds.

There will be more convenience for street car passengers during the Louisiana State Fair this year than ever before, judging by the additional facilities that the Shreveport Traction Company has provided. From the opening day, November 5, until the last day, November 12, there will be many extra cars in operation and everything possible will be done to handle the crowds with dispatch and with comfort.

This year the cars will stop right in front of the main entrance to the fair grounds. This is a splendid improvement, meaning great convenience for the patrons of the fair. The cars have operated over a loop to a side entrance to the grounds, but this year the company, working under a special franchise from the Shreveport citizens, has built a double-track down the Greenwood road, to the main entrance, which is only a few yards from the exposition building and the grandstand. This will cause the saving of a great deal of time in reaching the center of the grounds.

The fare to the grounds from any part of the city will be only five cents. This is on account of the street car company putting transfers into use since the last fair.

If more information about the fair grounds car service is desired write to Secretary L. N. Brueggerhoff of the fair association, which will send a catalogue and premium list, free, upon application.

HIGH SCHOOL DISPLAY.

Three Hundred Dollars in Premiums to Be Awarded Winners in This Exhibit.

Three hundred dollars in premiums will be awarded the winners in the High School Exhibit at the Louisiana State Fair, which begins November 5 and continues through November 12. A. C. Bernard of Baton Rouge, who has taken active part in the development of this branch of the public school system, will be superintendent in charge of the exhibit, which will be shown in the Art Museum.

There are several hundred high schools in the State. They are scattered in the various parishes. A large portion of them, judging by the reports reaching the management's office, will be represented with exhibits.

The competitors may exhibit both as individuals and as schools. There are premiums offered for both.

Secretary Brueggerhoff at Shreveport will forward catalogue and premium list upon application.

OLD FIDDLERS' CONTEST.

This Promises to Be One of the Most Interesting Events at State Fair.

So successful was the Old Fiddlers' Contest at the Louisiana State Fair last year that the management has made arrangements for another program at this year's fair, which begins Nov. 5 and continues through Nov. 12. The contest will be held in the Coliseum, with competent judges to pick the winners, but as yet the exact date for the entertainments has not been fixed.

This contest will be opened to all old fiddlers, not to professionals, however. The participants may also have the additional privilege of selecting their own "pieces." If they are anything like those of last year, they will be worth any man's or any woman's time.

There will be admission and a large crowd of visitors is expected. All the old fiddlers contemplating taking part in this event are invited to communicate with Secretary L. N. Brueggerhoff at Shreveport, who will furnish passes to the participants. The passes will be to the Fair Grounds.

STOCK HAULED FREE.

Railroads Will Charge for Shipment One Way Only—Big Help to Fair.

With the exception of horses, all livestock shipped to the Louisiana State Fair at Shreveport this year, will be hauled free, one way, by the various railroads. For instance, the roads will charge the regular rate for hauling the cattle, hogs and other stock to the fair, but upon the return shipment there will not be one cent of charges. This is one of a number of ways in which the railroads are taking to show their great interest in the Louisiana fair.

In addition to the half-rate offer by the railroads, splendid loading and unloading facilities at the fair grounds are being provided. These include a new switch provided since the last fair. By means of these facilities exhibitors will have no trouble getting their stock out of and back into the cars.

As a result of the railroads' consent to handle the shipments free on way, large numbers of livestock specimens are expected at the fair. Another result that seems certain is the creation of fresh interest in the livestock industry, which, later on, will mean more hogs, cattle and so forth for the market, and, also, more business for the railroads.

Secretary L. N. Brueggerhoff will gladly mail catalogue and premium list upon application, free, as he wants all facts known about this year's fair, which opens November 5 and runs through November 12.

Young Men.

They have solved the salary question. Read how they did it:

I quit work as a day laborer at $1.25 per day, entered the Tyler Commercial College and in a few months time I was working for the same man at $85 per month in his office with splendid promotion ahead. You can make no mistake in attending this college, S. T. Glem, stenographer and clerk, Santa Fe Railway Company. Am now in San Francisco serving as stenographer for Uncle Sam.

Tell the boys to come on. It's easy and the salary good. Ernest Bethel. Don't be afraid to try. You can always get a position. I am getting $75 per month and have paid all I owe and have a nice account.—Fannie McDonald. Immediately after graduating in the T. C. C. I secured a good position which I still hold, paying me every month a good deal more than the entire cost of my course at your school.—Errett R. Newby, Secretary of Oklahoma. I accepted a $75 position with the Rock Island road at El Eldorado, secured by the T. C. C. During the two years I was with the road I was promoted and at the end of two years I had a handsome bank account. I owe all my success to the grand T. C. C. They work three operators at this station and the work is heavy. There are ten positions waiting for every operator you can turn out.—J. W. Formy. My salary is now $100 per month. The course in your school more than doubled my earning capacity.—E. E. Clark, Houston, Texas. I entered the T. C. C. an orphan girl from Illinois. Upon graduation the college immediately placed me in a good position where I earn a nice salary and also mastered music, an accomplishment I have always longed for.—Miss Laura Collins, Dallas, Texas. I have a good position with the A. T. & S. F. My brother is with the Missouri Pacific at Pittsburg, Kan. Best wishes for the T. C. C.—J. H. Keele, Houston, Miss.

We could go on and quote you hundreds that have solved the salary question in this satisfactory manner. The above are records made soon after leaving school. It we were to give you records of those who had been out of school four or five years, you would hardly believe their wonderful increased earning capacity obtained while attending our school. It is solving the salary question in this satisfactory manner with practically every student who enters our institution, that makes it necessary for us to now erect another large three story building to accommodate the large attendance that will be with us this fall.

We started out at the beginning of 1913 to enroll 2000 students during the year. We made 999 new enrollments during the first six months. As the best part of the year is ahead of us we feel that we are sure to make the 2000 enrollments. We not only hope to make the 2000 enrollments but to place every graduate in a good position. We haven't a graduate that we know of at the present who has been out of a position over ten days. Write for our large free catalogue. Read what the young people say who have taken our course and read what their employers say of their ability. Then enter America's largest business-training school from which you can graduate into a good paying position. Tyler Commercial College, Tyler, Texas.

First to Cross the New Angelina River Bridge in a Buggy.

The bridge across the Angelina river at the Spradley's ferry between here and Lutkin is finished and has been turned over to the public. E. A. Blount, and son Guy, have the honor of being the first to drive across the new bridge, the feat being accomplished Wednesday of this week. One or two have ridden horseback across the bridge, but no one had attempted to drive over. The bridge is a very substantial structure, the foundation being placed on heart oak driven several feet into the ground and braced, and the frame work of the bridge anchored by steel cables to this foundation and also to the ground. This arrangement, it is thought will hold the bridge even should the flood water go over it, which is hardly probable, unless an unprecedented flood comes. A number of farmers of the Angelina county side have been to the river to see the bridge and are very much pleased with it, and express themselves in no uncertain terms with reference to the Angelina commissioners for not helping in the work, at least to the extent of fixing the bottom on their side.

The Return of Blood Eruptions

No Reason Why Anyone Should Suffer With Such a Disheartening Experience.

No case of contagious blood poison is ever cured until the last particle of the virus has been removed from the circulation. The least taint left in the blood will, sooner or later, cause a fresh outbreak of the trouble, with all its hideous and destructive symptoms of ulcerated mouth and throat, copper colored spots, falling hair, sores and ulcers, etc. No other medicine so surely cures contagious blood poison as S. S. S. It goes down into the blood and steadily and surely drives out every particle of the infection. It absolutely and perfectly purifies the blood, and leaves this vital fluid as fresh, rich and healthy as it was before the destructive virus of contagious blood poison entered the circulation. S. S. S. quickly takes effect on the blood, and gradually the symptoms disappear, the health is improved, the skin cleared of all spots, sores and other blemishes, the hair stops coming out, the mouth and throat heal and when S. S. S. has cleansed the system of the poison no trace of the disease is left. S. S. S. cures contagious blood poison because it is the greatest of all blood purifiers, tested and proven in hundreds and hundreds of cases all over the country. You will find S. S. S. for sale in all drug stores at $1.00 per bottle. Write to The Swift Specific Co., 127 Swift Bldg., Atlanta, Ga., for private medical advice and a very instructive book on all blood diseases, sent free, sealed in plain wrapper.

Library Notice.

During the first seven weeks of the library's work 318 books were read and returned, exclusive of 88 more which were in circulation at that time. The committee and librarian are greatly gratified at the steady increase in the use of the books. We expect to keep adding little by little to our supply, and shall announce new books from time to time. We should like to remind our friends, however, and particularly our younger patrons, that the lifetime of a good book is a very long one, and that there are many which, like friends and violins, improve with age. So don't confine your choice to the books with the newest bindings. There is a mine of entertainment for you to explore on the shelves which show some well worn backs.

We are also glad to notice that we have many members who do not confine their reading to fiction. We are sure that there are many members who do not confine their reading to fiction. We are sure that there are many more who, if they will "sample" some of our non fiction books will find many of them as absorbing as any novel. We are always anxious to increase our already creditable percentage of non fiction books in circulation.

As a rule our readers have been prompt and careful in returning books. As in all libraries, however, it is necessary to impose a fine for each day a book is kept overtime; in our case the fine is two cents a day. The money derived from this source is spent for postage, desk supplies and other small running expenses; but the object of the fine is not to yield a revenue, but to keep the books from being mislaid and lost. Books may be taken out for two weeks at a time, and renewed at the library for one week in addition.

From the beginning the children have been among our most regular patrons and we consider them among the most important as well. The children who are coming to the library today will make a community with the "library habit" twenty years from now. Our collection of children's books is small, but we expect to keep its needs constantly in mind, and eventually to possess a large assortment of the very best in children's literature.

We have now a paid membership of nearly 80, and we expect to double it before our first year is out. We are always glad to receive new members, and also to have anyone stop at the Stone Fort during the library hours and inspect the books. Any inquiries in regard to the library and its work will be gladly answered by any of the following officers:

W. B. Hargis, Pres.
Mrs. Ben T. Wilson, Sec. and Treas.
Mrs. Edgar Thomason, Librarian.

Mr. and Mrs. Link Bain of Cushing, are in the city visiting Mrs. Bain's parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Rich.

Prof. Caldwell Resigns as Principal.

Prof. M. L. Caldwell, who has been principal of the high school in this city for the past two terms, and who was elected to that position for the session beginning September 15th, yesterday tendered his resignation to the board of trustees so that he could accept the position of principal of the high school at Marlin. At a meeting of the board of trustees the resignation was accepted.

Prof. H. P. Eastman, who comes here from Oklahoma, and who had been elected as one of the teachers in the high school for this year, was elected as principal to take the place vacated by the resignation of Mr. Caldwell.

Miss Verdian Barham was elected a teacher in the high school. This will complete the corps of teachers for the high school, the election of Miss Barham filling the vacancy caused by the promotion of Prof. Eastman.

At the meeting of the school trustees it was decided to open the fall term of the schools of the city on Monday, September 15th, 1913.

Southern Pacific Lose to Wood.

The game of ball yesterday afternoon at the East End park between the Southern Pacific and the Wood baseball team, resulted in a victory for the visitors by a score of 7 to 5, in a five inning contest.

Wood is a small place some eight or ten miles above Tenaha and the baseball team hailing from that point had not been known here until the challenge for a game; but it developed in the game that they knew something about baseball, or at least knew how to swat the pill good and hard, and their fielding was of a fair average too.

The locals were represented in the firing pit by Vernon Matthews, who is ordinarily a pretty good twirler, but the visitors had no trouble in battling the ball. It is stated that several balls were knocked clear against the barn in the right field.

This community has recently voted bonds for the building and equipping of a school building, and the patrons of the school want to get it completed in time for the winter session, so that the scholars will have a comfortable house in which to study when cold weather comes.

The Small Merchants Should Advertise.

No store is so small or town so insignificant that it does not pay the merchant to advertise. He should send a weekly message into the home of the people in his trade territory. They are all interested in bagains and consistent and conscientious advertising can not fail to pay for itself over and over again during the year.

The country merchant oftentimes takes it for granted that the people know his line of goods and will come to the old stand to make their purchases, but the wise merchant knows that business follows an ad. The merchant who does not advertise cannot do business in competition with one who advertises.

No business is so small that a merchant cannot afford to take a half page or a page ad. the year around. Try it and watch your business grow.—W. Holt Harris.

Rev. J. N. Cunningham came in yesterday at noon from Wells, where he has been holding a meeting, and left last night for Monroe, La., to visit his family. He will return in time to occupy the pulpit at the Fredonia street Presbyterian church on next Sunday at both morning and evening hours.

County Superintendent W. B. Hargis will leave this afternoon for Austin to appear at the inquiry into the frauds in examination questions which came to light in this county several months ago, when two negro school teachers were found peddling what they represented to be the questions for the examination for teachers' certificates.

To Organize Band.

Prof. E. A. Neeley came over from Lutkin last Saturday and spent the day in the city conferring with some of our young men with reference to the organizing of a brass band for this city.

Prof. Neeley wants to start a band with at least thirty-five new members, and after he gets these into trim he will likely add the old members of the band, which will give him a band of fifty or sixty pieces. He says that he knows of several good musicians whom he thinks he can secure for the band for a month or two while the new ones are learning. These musicians are artisans in the different trades and if he can secure positions for them here in the city they will help out materially in the instruction of the new members. We are advised that the prospects for the organization of the band are very good and at his next visit here the professor will likely get things into shape so as tell just what he will do.

At present Prof. Neeley is instructing a band at Lutkin, Loveland, Diball and Livingston and if he succeeds in organizing a band here he will give up the Lutkin band and move to Nacogdoches.

Yesterday afternoon Deputy Sheriff Frank Maples went out to the mill at Hoya Switch and arrested a negro, Hillery Anderson, on a charge of carrying a pistol and assault.
