The Place Where You Get What You Want

Mt. Mariah News.

The health of our community is good and the farmer are all preparing to plant cotton and judging from all indications there will be a good crop planted.

R. E. Mills and H. E. Muckelroy were elected for school trustees last Saturday.

Mr. Green Norris and Miss Lyda Chandler were united in the holy bonds of matrimony Saturday in the city and are spending a few days at his fathers home near Etoile. They will make their home here. The writer wishes them much happiness and success.

John Stoker and wife attended the funeral of Mr. Kneadam Simmons of Denning, Tex. at Pilgrims Rest Saturday. She leaves a husband, and seven children and may we all live a devoted life and meet her again. The family has our sympathy.

Mr. Jim Muckelroy and wife have been visiting relatives in our community the past week.

There was a singing at the hospitable home of Mr. Dave Palmers Saturday night and all reported good music and a good time.

J. W. and M. D. Stoker have received their car of fertilizer and from all indications they are preparing to raise the fleecy staple this year.

S. A. Mills and family were visiting Mr. Arthur of Shady Grove Sunday.

J. R. Shirley and wife are the proud parents of a big baby boy at their home.

Tom Muckelroy and wife made a flying visit to relatives here Sunday.

T. B. Mills and daughter Mrs. Bentley of Vivian, La., is visiting in Shelby county this week.

Louis Chandler of Timpson is in the nursery business and has been taking orders in our community.

Notices have been posted in our school district ordering an election on April 24, to issue bonds for $850.00 to build a school house in our district.

We noticed in the Dallas News of April 3, a write up of the schools of Nacogdoches county which was real good, but we have not reached the zenith in school work yet. We are just building and preparing to lead every county in Texas in school progress in just a few years. We have the material and every thing that is needed it we will just use it and develop our resources.

We want to compliment the work and efforts of our worthy and efficient County Superintendent, Mr. W. B. Hargis.

So let all be workers and boosters of good schools and roads and improved methods of farming and Nacogdoches county will soon be the star county of Texas.

Sleepy Boy.

9 Burn To Death.

Memphis, Tenn., April 6.—Lowered into a pit of burning natural gas, nine men met a horrible death in a caisson today in which they had been laying the foundation for the new Harahan mississippi river bridge.

One body was recovered at noon and another in a short time.

The rescuers are making futile efforts to recover the other bodies.

The men were literally cooked to death.

The workmen struck a natural gas deposit which ignited from the lights carried by themselves. The deposit may make the construction of the bridge impossible, but engineers do not admit it.

Prospecting for natural gas and oil on the islands and bars adjacent has been carried on for many years. The engineers say the gas is natural and not marsh gas. The fire is still burning at 1 p. m.

Railroad Accident.

This morning about 10 o'clock, Noah Patin, a car repairer at the depot, was under a car near the compress doing some repair work when a switch engine bumped against it and he was caught under the wheels of the car which resulted in one of his legs being cut off just above the ankle, one arm broken, and his body bruised in several other places. He was sent at once to the Tucker Sanitarium where he received surgical attention.

Mr. Patin is a young man, having only a few months ago married Miss Ruby Gilbert of this city.

Man 94 Years Old is Winner.

St. Louis, Mo., April 5.—A statewide contest for continuous Sunday school attendance was won today by William McClung Payton, 94 years old, of Platte City, Mo., who produced certificates from ministers and others to prove that for sixty-four years he has not missed a Sunday.

He has been attending Sunday school for ninety years but there was a break in his record just prior to 1850, since which date he has been either superintendent of or a teacher in both Methodist and Presbyterian schools in Platte City.

He served the Methodists when there was no Presbyterian Church there.

For Commissioner of Beat No. 4.

We are authorized to announce Clifton Wilson as a candidate for Commissioner of Beat No. 4.

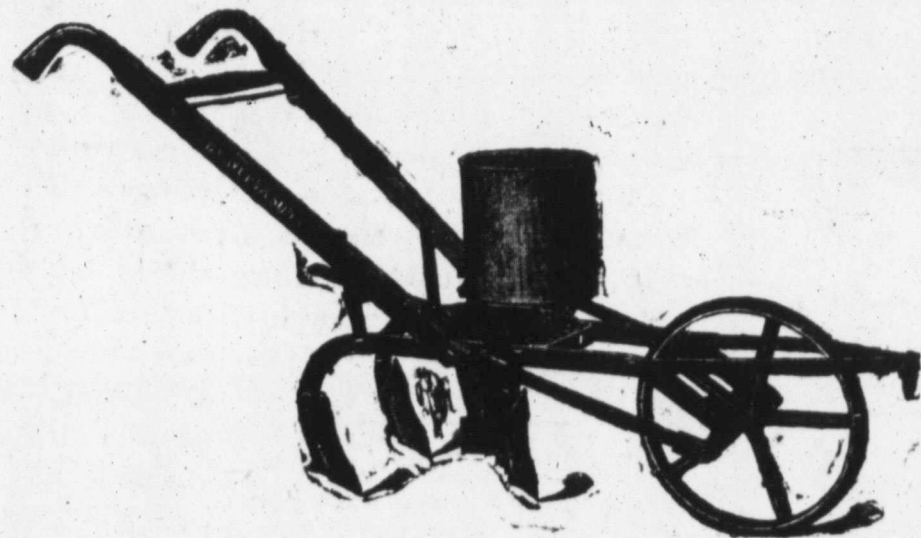

Clifton is a young man 31 years old. He is thorough going and energetic and, if elected, will look well to the interest of the county's affairs.

Women Don't Vote Out Saloons.

Washington, April 6.—The Anti-Woman Suffrage Association has issued an address in which it declares that the suffragists have misled the people on the liquor question because of the claim that women, if given the vote, would banish the saloon.

The antis declare, that no State in which women vote ever adopted statewide prohibition, and cite Colorado, California and other States for proof of their assertions.

L. H. Henslee and wife came down from Cushing today on a shopping trip.

THE QUEEN OF PLANTERS is the "MISS DIXIE"

Light yet very very strong.

Braces just where they ought to be, and applied as they should be.

Removable hopper; you don't have to unscrew a nut or bolt--simply lifts off.

POSITIVE planting at all times.

All cogs underneath hopper where they will collect the minimum of sand and grit--and made with angle teeth so that the sand will slip off.

Friction break feet.

Can't tell you ALL the good things about a MISS DIXIE planter in an advertisement.

Have you seen one? If not, you haven't seen the planter YOU WANT.

Liquor Abolished From Navy July 2

Washington, April 5.—Absolute prohibition will prevail in the United States navy after July 1 next. Secretary Daniels tonight made public a sweeping order which not only will abolish the traditional "wine mess" of the officers, but will bar all alcoholic liquors from every ship and shore station of the navy. This order, constituting one of most notable victories ever won by prohibition forces, was issued on the recommendation of Surgeon General Braisted. It was brief and to the point:

"The use or introduction for drinking purposes of alcoholic liquors on board any naval vessel, or within any navy yard or station, is strictly prohibited, and commanding officers will be held directly responsible for the enforcement of this order."

Primaries in Alabama

Birmingham, Ala., April 6.—With fair weather prevailing democrats cast in today's primaries what is predicted to be the heaviest vote since the adoption of the new constitution. Reports received at the headquarters here of Oscar W. Underwood, majority leader of the national house of representatives, and Congressman Richmond Pearson Hobson, who are the rival candidates for the Alabama vacancy in the United States senate, indicate the vote probably will total more than 100,000 ballots.

Compulsory Education in Southern States

A vigorous plea for compulsory school attendance laws in the Southern States is made by William H. Hand, State high school inspector for South Carolina, in a bulletin just issued by the United States Bureau of Education. After pointing out that the six states still without compulsory laws—South Carolina, Georgia, Florida, Alabama, Mississippi, and Texas, and the four States with compulsory laws that apply only partially—Maryland, Virginia, Arkansas, and Louisiana—are all Southern States, Mr. Hand presents statistics showing that although illiteracy has been reduced rapidly in these States within the last two decades, they still have the highest percentage of illiteracy among the white population.

Girl is Killed At Leggett.

Leggett, Texas, April 6.—Miss Mollie Wagner, 18 years old, was shot with a shotgun about 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon and died that night at 12 o'clock.

Miss Wagner lived with her parents about five miles north of Leggett and, about two miles north of Bering, Texas, in the Darby settlement.

Since the death of a younger sister, Miss Wagner has been deeply grieved.

Confederate Pensions Increase.

Austin, April 6.—The quarterly apportionment for Confederate veterans' pensions is $20 for the regular pensioners and $25 for the totally disabled.

Miss Lillian Davidson Sponsor.

At a regular meeting of Camp Raguet No. 620 U. C. V. last Saturday, Miss Lillian Davidson was unanimously elected as sponsor to the Confederate Reunion at Jacksonville, Fla. on May the 6-7-8th. It is left to her own discretion as to who her maids of honor will be, provided however, that they shall be daughters of the Confederacy.

The route selected is via Beaumont, New Orleans, Mobile, River Junction and Pensacola and thence over the Sea Board Air line to Jacksonville.

A steel car will be furnished by the railroad company but will be attached to the Houston special at Beaumont which will be composed of a pullman tourist sleeper and dining car and will go through without change.

Crucifixion of Bishop Feared.

City of Mexico, April 6.—Brave fears that Bishop Gampos of Chilapa may have been crucified by the bandit rebel Zapata are felt here today. Bishop Campos was captured by Zapatistas last week, it was learned. Zapata then demanded $50,000 of the bishop, declaring that unless the money was produced he would be crucified on Good Friday.

Joe Martin, a representative citizen and one of the substantial merchants and farmers from Martinsville made a business trip to the city Tuesday.

Dave Dinks says he saw in a paper where a Georgia family is making a success of attending to its own business.

There is a man in Timpson named E. A. Blount, who once lived here, and a man in Panola county named John Spradley, who is a candidate for commissioner.

In a short time when you want to pay a debt in a distant city you will ask for Dallas exchange and forget that New York is on the map.

Dr. Frank Crane says, "An hour's instruction daily in the effects of alcohol upon the human organism is better than a whole year of Sunday School, an hour a week."

The Rocketteller Sanitary Commission would help us to get rid of many ailments including the hookworm. It would be the best $300 investment the county could make.

Dr. Anna Howard Shaw, as president of the National Woman's Suffrage Association, has written President Wilson asking him to set aside the first Saturday in May as "Women's Independence Day."

The Dallas Evening Journal which began its career April 1, bids fair to cover the afternoon field as satisfactorily as The Dallas News the morning field, and this means that it will have no superior in the Southwest.

The twelve cities selected April 2nd, for Federal reserve banks are as follows: "Boston, New York, Philadelphia, Cleveland, Richmond, Atlanta, Chicago, St. Louis, Minneapolis, Kansas City, Dallas and San Francisco."

Commissioner Kone reports that in most sections of East Texas there will be no Elbertas and in other varieties small yields, but that the prospect for apples, plums and berries are good. The total peach yield will be from 20 to 25 per cent.

The piece of rascality enacted at the instigation of the shipping trust was voted to be repealed by a majority of 87. The Senate, which is now as responsive to the demands of the people as the House, will probably record a majority as decisive.

The Third Annual session of Rural School Education Week will begin at Austin Monday, July 13, 1914, and continue session five days. In Texas alone are 750,000 children who must be educated in the rural schools if they are to be educated at all.

Thirty states have free traveling libraries, but Tennessee, Virginia, and North Carolina are the only three in the South which offer these advantages to the country people. The people of Texas should demand that the Legislature make provision for giving them traveling libraries.

Chairman Bryan T. Barry and a majority of the members of the Democratic committee have decided not to hold the state convention at Fort Worth on April 14, believing that a man can be centered on that will give Mr. Ball a stiff fight without holding an elimination convention.

Speaker Champ Clark, in his speech before the House of Representatives last Tuesday, said: "If President Wilson makes a success of his administration he will be re-nominated and re-elected in 1916; but if he makes a failure which God forbid, the nomination will not be worth having."

The day after Governor Colquitt announced his opposition to the repeal of the canal tolls bill the Texas delegation in Congress voted for unanimously, and about the same time the Beaumont Enterprise remarked that "our governor deserves to be elected president of the In bad club."

Will H. Mayes must resign as Lieutenant Governor to become head of the school of journalism at the University. V. A. Collins of Beaumont will become Lieutenant Governor, succeeding him, under our Constitution. Wonder how that idea appeals to Governor Colquitt when he gives a special session of the Legislature a thought?—Austin Statesman.

The probabilities are that more than 25 per cent of the children living in some parts of Nacogdoches are affected with the hookworm, as well as many adults. An appropriation by the county of the small sum of $300 would secure the Rocketteller Sanitary Commission which would start a campaign resulting in the eradication of the miniature monster.

Can it be possible, after all, that that man Ferguson will be the next governor of Texas? Listen to what he says: "I feel that my intention to forget the prohibition issue and turn attention to the farming and business interests of the state will make me the next governor of Texas?" How can you hope to beat a man like that? That one statement made him thousands upon thousands of votes which no one can steal away from him.—Lutkin News.

In a recent dispatch to the Houston Chronicle Dr. W. R. Carrington of San Angelo is given credit for catching the largest bass ever taken from a west Texas stream. It weighed exactly six pounds "eclipsing all other records". Of course the catch was big for West Texas, but a six pound bass is common in the pellucid waters of Nacogdoches county. Last year Dr. W. W. Hall caught in Fern Lake, situated six miles south of town a bass weighing 9 pounds and 6 ounces. W. E. Thomason assistant editor of the Sentinel, caught two years ago a bass weighing 7 pounds and 9 ounces. In the past two years as many as fifty bass were caught at Fern lake weighing more than 6 pound.

From an interesting letter from Dr. Mayfield to the Sentinel, written from the part of state which would likely contain jingoes if there are any of the tribe in Texas, we quote the following: "I like the Sentinel stand on the whiskey and Mexico issues and on Wilson and Bryan. Whiskey and prohibition and Colquitt and Mexico should all be bunched and boycotted."

We want to counsel the conservative and warn the radical that the paramount issue in this campaign is state-wide prosperity for the farmer and the more rapid development of the resources of Texas. We ask all the farmers of Texas and the city business men to co-operate with the Farmers' Union in its efforts to secure political peace and constructive legislation.—Lewis and Radford.

Last year the cotton mills of the world used 14,900,000 bales, consuming all of last year's crop and their surplus stock as well. For their contracts this year the mills need more cotton than ever before. So they increased their capacity by 900,000 spindles, this number of active cotton spindles being in actual use in November, 1913, which were not operated in November, 1912. Apparently the mills need upward of 15,000,000 bales; our crop is more than 2,250,000 bales short of that figure. Why should cotton prices decline?

On the 26th day of last April, by his authority, I presented to all the nations that have ambassadors or ministers at Washington a simple plan, offered it to all alike, to big nations, and little nations, to strong nations and to weak ones, a plan by which this nation is to enter into treaty with each one separately agreeing that whenever any difficulty arises that defies diplomatic settlement, no matter what its character may be, before there is any declaration of war or commencement of hostilities, it shall be submitted for investigation and report to an international tribunal. Less than nine months have passed since this plan was proposed, and yet in the days that have elapsed, thirty-one nations have indorsed the principle, and they represent more than three-fourths of all the human beings on God's foot stool. That is what has been done in this new era! Six nations have already joined with us in treaties carrying out the plan, the last being little Netherlands. Six more have under consideration the details, and before the first year of this administration has passed, we shall, I am sure, have more than a dozen of these treaties, the most far-reaching that have ever been made. And it is only a question of time when all the nations of this earth will be linked to our nation by treaties that will make war almost impossible.—W. J. Bryan.

Good roads and good streets are the beacon lights that attract attention for the country and the town.

Texas Onions Find Ready Market.

Chicago, Ill., March 30.—Harbingers of an early spring were in evidence in this city today when two solid carloads of onions, direct from Texas and of this year's production, arrived here and were distributed among the local market houses. The onions were grown in the Rio Grande Valley section of the Lone Star State, near Laredo and were of an excellent flavor. This product found a ready market and was disposed of immediately at a good price. It was learned here from a large produce company which is familiar with the Texas onion industry that the production in that state this season will exceed 8,000 carloads and will have a value of more than $1,000,000. Other shipments of the Texas product are enroute to Chicago.

What Intervention Means.

The intervenist is abroad in the land. He talks long and loud about what Uncle Sam ought to do. He advocates war without stopping to consider what war means. For the careful consideration of our local and visiting jingoes we clip the following from the columns of Cotton and Cotton Oil News of Dallas:

Intervention in Mexico means war; war means waste of lives and waste of wealth. A few foreigners and a few Americans, having deliberately abandoned their country's flag and gone away to Mexico to make money, have been killed, but should the United States on this account go to war and sacrifice thousands of our boys till all the resources of patience and diplomacy have been exhausted? These men, who have been killed or murdered in Mexico, in the lust for lucre took their lives in their hands and went to that restless, revolutionary land. When they did this they became practically dead to the claims of their own country on them as citizens, and they forfeited any claims they had on their country for protection beyond what moral suasion and diplomacy may be able to achieve. Shall more lives be sacrificed, more blood shed because these men have been killed?

Facts as to School Expenditures.

Now as for the other facts regarding our shamefully small expenditures for education. Striking proof of our delinquency in this respect is found in the new Russell Sage Bulletin on public school system of the various states. This bulletin shows the average amount of school funds expended for each child of school age, and brings out the disgraceful fact that the Southern States are not even spending half as much as the states of the North and West. The exact rank of each state, judged by this standard, together with the average expenditure per child, is illustrated by the following diagram:

The battleship Texas, the biggest fighting machine that sails the seas, is coming to Galveston to receive the silver service contributed by citizens of this state. When people become truly civilized, all instruments for destroying human lives will be regarded as relics of barbarism, as the thumbscrew and the gibbet are now. The argument used now to prove the necessity of armaments were used by our ancestors to prove that the world couldn't get along without instruments of torture.—Carthage Register.

Laredo to Ship 1,500 Cars of Onions

Laredo, Texas, March 31.—Although the shipping season has just begun and the real rush is several days off, twenty-nine solid carloads of Bermuda onions had been shipped out of Laredo up to today, while about ten more carloads will roll out tonight for Eastern markets. About 1,500 carloads of onions will be shipped from the country around Laredo this season.

To the Merit of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound During Change of Life.

Westbrook, Me.—"I was passing through the Change of Life and had pains in my back and side and was so weak I could hardly do my housework. I have taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and it has done me a lot of good. I will recommend your medicine to my friends and give you permission to publish my testimonial."—Mrs. LAWRENCE MARTIN, 12 King St., Westbrook, Maine.

Manston, Wis.—"At the Change of Life I suffered with pains in my back and loins until I could not stand. I also had night-sweats so that the sheets would be wet. I tried other medicine but got no relief. After taking one bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I began to improve and I continued its use for six months. The pains left me, the night-sweats and hot flashes grew less, and in one year I was a different woman. I know I have to thank you for my continued good health ever since."—Mrs. M. J. BROWNELL, Manston, Wis.

The success of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, is unparalleled in such cases. If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman, and held in strict confidence.

Five Reasons for Letting Whiskey Alone

Dr. Henry Smith Williams, of New York, an eminent specialist in nervous and mental disease, summing up his investigations concerning alcohol and its effects, says:

"I am bound to believe, on the evidence, that if you take alcohol habitually in any quantity whatever, it is to some extent a menace to you. If you do this, I am bound to believe, in the light of what science has revealed:

- 1 That you are tangibly threatening the physical structures of your stomach, your liver, your kidneys, your heart, your bloodvessels, your nerves, your brain;
- 2 That you are unequivocally decreasing your capacity for work in any field, be it physical, intellectual, or artistic.
- 3 That you are in some measure lowering the grade of your mind, dulling your higher esthetic sense, and taking the finer edge off your morals;
- 4 That you are distinctly lessening your chances of maintaining health and attaining long life; and,
- 5 That you are entailing upon your descendants yet unborn a bond of incalculable misery."—The Progressive Farmer.

Important to all Women Readers of this Paper.

Thousands upon thousands of women have kidney or bladder trouble and never suspect it. Women's complaints often prove to be nothing else but kidney, trouble, or the results of kidney or bladder disease. If the kidneys are not in a healthy condition, they may cause the other organs to become diseased. You may suffer a great deal with pain in the back, bearing-down feelings, headache and loss of ambition. Poor health makes you nervous, irritable and may be dependent; it makes any one so. But hundreds of women claim that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, by restoring health to the kidneys, proved to be just the remedy needed to overcome such conditions. A good kidney medicine, possessing real healing and curative value, should be a blessing to thousands of nervous, over-worked women. Many send for a sample bottle to see what Swamp-Root the great Kidney, Liver and Bladder Remedy will do for them. Every reader of this paper, who has not already tried it, by enclosing ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., may receive a sample size bottle by Parcel Post. You can purchase the regular fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottle at all drug stores.

Letter From Dr. Pierce.

Yes, I have sold out my practice and most of my office equipment, but I have no intention of leaving good old Nacogdoches. Why should I? All I have made is right here, and why I should be fool enough to give up one of the best cash dental practices in any town of its size in the state and better than three fourths of the offices in the large cities, to go and have to build all over again? I hope when you think a moment you will see that I am right.

The reason is this, I have been at the chair too long and was informed by the best physicians of the country over a year ago that if I did not get relief from the chair my life would be cut short, and you know I don't want to cash in yet a while, while it is hard to give up a good growing practice, for I did over five hundred dollars last month and you know that where I did not get the money I did not work, unless it was to relieve pain.

Now Dr. Ellington comes to you at the same age and years of practice that I came to you 15 years ago, well qualified and recommended, and I certainly hope you will take him as you have taken me and give him the good practice, and more too, that you have given me in the past for which I thank you from the depths of my heart. I will be here to wait on any one that might not want to risk a new man, so don't run off some where else, come up and see the new man and maybe you had rather he would wait on you, it not I will, for there will be two chairs, and not wait so long as you waited on me. So thanking you again, I am your old faithful servant, dw1 C. C. Pierce, D.D.S.

Repeal of Canal Tolls.

Washington, March 31.—Disregarding the leadership of Champ Clark, Floor Leader Underwood, Republican Leader Mann and Progressive Leader Murdock, the house of representatives late this afternoon upheld the hands of President Wilson in the Panama Canal toll controversy by adopting the Sims bill to repeal the exemption on costwise shipping by a vote of 247 to 162, a majority of 85.

In this final struggle 221 out of 289 democrats, 22 out of 122 republicans and 4 out of 21 progressives and independents voted for the repeal, notwithstanding that Speaker Clark made a long and fiery appeal in closing the debate for those opposed to the Sims bill. Speaker Clark declared that he harbored no ill feeling toward President Wilson and then attacked and voted against the administration program on the tolls subject. The membership of the house, on the other hand, gave Mr. Clark an enthusiastic ovation to show it bore no personal animosity, then voted him down.

All of the Texas members voted for the repeal, while three Oklahomans, Murray, democrat, and Morgan and McGuire, republicans, voted against it. The other five Oklahomans, Carter, Davenport, Ferris, Thompson and Weaver, voted for the bill. On this subject Minority Leader Mann held the republicans closer together than on any important matter before congress since the democrats have come into power, and yet twenty-two republicans voted to uphold the administration.

Notice of Final Account.

The state of Texas. To the Sheriff or any Constable of Nacogdoches County. Greeting.

G. P. You Are Hereby Commanded, That by publication of this Writ for twenty days in the Nacogdoches Sentinel, a Newspaper printed in the County of Nacogdoches, you give due notice to all persons interested in the Account for Final Settlement of said Estate, to appear and contest the same if they see proper so to do, on or before the April Term, 1914, of said County Court, commencing and to be holden at the Court House of said County, in the city of Nacogdoches on the third Monday in April 1914 same being the 20th day of April A. D. 1914, when said Account and Application will be acted upon by said Court.

Given Under my Hand and seal of said Court, at my office in the city of Nacogdoches this 25th day of March A. D. 1914.

Clerk, County Court Nacogdoches County. By Clifton Wells, Deputy.

Nacogdoches County's School Land.

What has become of Nacogdoches County's school lands?

Where was it located? How much money has the scholastic population received from the sale of this land?

Did the commissioners court in Nacogdoches County at any time donate this land to some benevolent institution. If so they were noted for their liberality.

The writer of this article was elected County Commissioner in Angelina County, Texas in 1882. At the Feb. term of the commissioners court in 1883 the County sold a part of Angelina County's school land located in Clay County, Texas, for $31,000 on 20 years time at ten per cent per annum.

This transaction in 20 years from date of sale added to Angelina County's School fund $93,000, $31,000 for a permanent school fund and $62,000 for an available school fund or $3,100 was added annually to Angelina County school fund for 20 years from date of sale.

I refer any one who may doubt the foregoing statement to the records of the commissioners court in Angelina County, Texas.

About the year of 1886 the Legislature of the state of Texas donated to each organized county in the State at that time land certificates for four leagues of land to be located any where on the public domain in the state of Texas where the commissioners court should see proper for a permanent school fund and the interest from the sale of this land to be used for an available school fund.

The tax payers in Nacogdoches County are entitled to know what has become of this land and the commissioners court should furnish this information.

Little Rock, Ark., April 3.—Mrs. Elibu Francis and her two children were murdered by an unknown slayer and her husband and another child narrowly escaped the same fate at their home last night near Arkadelphia, in Clark County, according to reports received here today.

The Francis home also was set on fire by the murderer it is said.

Francis, according to the report, was awakened by his wife's death cries, and ran from the house, later returning to rescue one child. Bloodhounds have been sent from this city and intense excitement prevails.

Needle in Sufferer's Side.

Temple, Texas, April 2.—H. Wilson of this city, who had expected to undergo an operation for what was thought to have been appendicitis, says it has been discovered that the supposed appendicitis was a broken needle. He was suffering considerable pain a day or two ago, when his wife applied a poultice to his side, and when it was removed a needle point was discovered protruding from the flesh. He has no idea how the needle got into his side.

Pays Heavy Income Tax

Chicago, Ill., April 2.—Julius Rosenwald, president of a mail order house, will pay the largest Federal income tax of any one in Chicago. His return, which was filed during the thirty-day extension of time, which ended yesterday, showed an income for the ten months ending Dec. 31, 1913, of $1,100,000. This would be on a basis of $1,320,000 for twelve months.

More than 1,000 returns including those of several millionaires, were filed during the extension period. Nearly 30,000 individual schedules have been filed here.

Officials in the offices of the collector of internal revenue estimated that the total Government revenue from the tax in the Chicago district will be about $2,000,000.

Power House Cost $8,000,000.

New Braunfels, Tex., March 2.—The plans for the construction of a mammoth electric power system on the Guadalupe River between this city and Seguin will mean an expenditure of about $8,000,000. All preliminary arrangements have been completed for the building of this project and it is thought here the plant will be ready for operation by this time next year.

Picks up $1,000.

York, Pa., April 2.—Quite a number of the citizens of this place are kicking themselves today. Yesterday they saw upon one of the sidewalks in the heart of the business section a fat-looking wallet. More than one was tempted to pick it up until he remembered that the day was All Fool's Day and restrained the impulse.

A detective, who was not so cautious, grabbed the wallet and found that it contained $1,000 in bills.

Burns Knows Murderer of Mary Phagan.

Chicago, April 3.—"I know who the murderer of Mary Phagan is," said William J. Burns, the detective, today, on his return from a trip to Kansas City. "I can't say at this time whether it is Leo M. Frank or someone else; but I know his identity and can prove that he committed the murder."

Frank was superintendent of the National Pencil Company's factory in Atlanta, Ga., and is under sentence to die on April 17 for the murder of the girl.

He has not yet reached the Philippine question, except that he has announced his policy when a new governor went to the Philippine islands. He had to say something and he thought that he might as well say the right thing, and so he cabled to Governor Harrison, "Please put in your message somewhere, these words"—and they were put in, and they were the most important part of the message—that "in all that this government does, it will have in view the ultimate independence of the Philippine islands." And when the president's message was read the people applauded. That is what they had been waiting for more than fourteen years, and when that welcome sound was heard, their assembly passed a resolution, pathetic in its eloquence, declaring that they had had faith and that their faith had been justified. Yes, they had waited more impatiently than I have.—W. J. Bryan.

The beautiful poem entitled "The Telephone Girl", written by a Nacogdoches lady and published a few weeks ago in the Sentinel, appeared with proper credit in the March issue of The Southwestern Telephone News.

The re-election of Mayor Geo. H. Matthews was a well deserved indorsement of his progressive administration which has accomplished more for the city than had been accomplished in all the years of its history.

Captain Ross in this paper says, "we are contending for a principle which is older than the government under which we live—a principle that has had a lodgement in the minds and consciences of the patriots of all ages."

The aim of the hookworm commission, besides the eradication of the hookworm, is the dissemination of knowledge that will bring permanent improvement in sanitation in rural districts as well as in the cities and towns. I perceive what could be more helpful.

The batteries of the world should be trained not on human beings but on the insectile armies which are destroying human life.

From Captain J. P. Ross.
To the Sentinel:

In your issue of March 19th appears a rather voluminous article over the signature of your County Attorney, Hon. Moss Adams on the subject of a hog law elect on to be held in your county on the 11th inst.

Having long been a citizen of the proud old county of Nacogdoches, and still regarding it as my home in the future, naturally I feel a deep and abiding interest in anything that pertains to the welfare of her people.

I am in hearty accord with Mr. Adams in his views on the matter to be passed upon by the voters of your county in the coming election. His sentiments do him much credit.

It is a well established principle of democracy that local self-government is the bed rock of our civilization. It is the principle for which our forefathers fought in the long bloody war of the Revolution, and the same principle that consigned to untimely graves the best blood of the South in the four years of the Civil war. It is the principle that carried the veterans of Lee against the impregnable heights of Gettysburg, and that led the gallant men of Bragg into the jaws of death at Chicamauga.

We can but admire the noble stand taken by Mr. Adams in the defense of those who do not desire "hog law" for their respective communities.

As he aptly declares, the result of the election will not in any wise affect those districts which already have the hog law and will put the voters of these hog law communities in the attitude of forcing on other sections a condition, not only not desired by them, but absolutely detrimental. This would be manifestly wrong in every sense and we sincerely hope that the conservative voters of Nacogdoches county will accept the view presented by Mr. Adams and will be governed by a sense of justice and fair dealing in determining their ballots on April 11th.

Now then, as we have agreed as to the soundness of the principles enunciated by Moss in his article, let us see if he is consistent and willing to abide by the rule he has laid down when applied to other matters involving the same principle?

Mr. Adams was an ardent statewide prohibitionist in the election recently held in this state. It is wrong to force the hog law on communities not wanting it by those who do want it and already have it, how can he consistently vote to force a condition on other sections of the state in violation to the wishes of the people of those sections?

Every county in the state is a municipality of its own. The town of Nacogdoches is the capital of your county. The citizens of that county go to their capital to litigate their claims, pay their taxes, serve on juries, etc., etc.

Nacogdoches county has prohibition. We presume that at least a majority of her citizens are satisfied with it, otherwise they would vote whiskey back. Counties in other portions of the state have saloons. We must presume that they do not want prohibition, if they do, applying the same principle invoked by Mr. Adams, they could have it. Assuming that they do not want it, why should counties already having prohibition seek to force upon counties that do not want it?

In short, what business have the citizens of Nacogdoches county interfering with the local affairs of Grimes or Harris county?

We do not wish to be understood as defending the liquor traffic, or the excessive use of liquor, but we are contending for a principle which is older than the government under which we live—a principle that has had a lodgement in the minds and consciences of the patriots in all ages—a principle that must, and will prevail when the sober and conservative people of our proud country shall have closed their ears to the inane vapors of peanut politicians and self-seeking demagogues, and have brought themselves to view this great question without passion or prejudice. Consistency, thou art a jewel! Intolerance, thou art a fraud! Respectfully,

J. P. Ross.
Todd, Texas, April 6, 1914.

Vote For the Hog Law
To the Voters of Nacogdoches County:

Will say in regard to the hog law I think the county would be better off with a county wide hog law. We would take more interest in trying to raise more meat and better meat. I take it for several reasons. One is that the oak timber is practically all cut and we can't depend on the mast like we have once done. Now how can we keep our entire farm fenced when we have all sold our pin timber and it belongs to the other fellow. Now if we would try we could raise our meat and lard at home and not depend on the north so much. If we had the hog law we wouldn't spend so much of our time in the woods. We usually start hog hunting about the first of September and wind up about the 15th of March. You see we lose the better half of our time fooling with the pine woods rooster and we could be improving our land. We usually have from three to five dogs to feed the year round.

I hear some say "We don't want the hog law," but they are mistaken, for the petition started down here in the forks of the river. There was about half of the petition got right here in the forks of the river. Now that sounds like there is more men down here that wants the hog law than myself. I ask every voter to come out and help us try the hog law a while. We don't know how we would like it. So come one; come all. Respectfully,
George Lowery,
Etoile, Tex., April 6, 1914.

ALTON PARKER THOMAS, JR.

Youngest Champion Orator in The State

At the District Meet for the intercollegiate contest for declaimers last Saturday at Jacksonville, Alton Thomas won first place as junior declaimer which gives him the honor of representing this district, composed of ten counties, at Austin on May 2nd where he will enter the contest for the state championship as junior declaimer.

There were eight entries in the junior division of the oratorical contest representing Tyler, Palestine, Crockett, Lutkin, Alto, Teague, Jacksonville and Nacogdoches. Each representative handled his subject in a masterly manner and did credit to the schools and counties they represent.

Alton is the 10 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Thomas. He is a good student and an inveterate reader and for his age, his power and ease of expression is something wonderful.

Though he is young and small to his age, his ambition would do credit to one much more mature.

He declares he is going to graduate in the Nacogdoches school, work his way through the State University, and finally finish his education in either Yale or Harvard.

Well, the president, after signing the tariff and currency bills, said: "There are few other matters which I would like to bring to your attention." The first was the trust question. He has not yet indorsed a bill, and we do not know exactly what the new bill will contain, but he has given us a key note. He says that "a private monopoly is indefensible and intolerable," and that is enough. He has such splendid knowledge of the English language that I take it for granted that when he says that a private monopoly is indefensible, he will not try to defend it, and that when he says that it is intolerable he will not tolerate it. Is it not good to have a president on the side of the people? Is it not a good thing to have a president who dares to face these great combinations and compel them to let go.—W. J. Bryan.

There are 188,000,000 acres of land in the South untilled. The Chronicle has shown that 13,000,000 acres of these lands are in thirty counties of East Texas—a land with temperate climate, fertile soil and abundant water and timber, and where no man ever knew a total failure of crops.—Houston Chronicle.

Government To Own Radium This Week

Denver, Colo., April 6.—The United States government will have its first public owned radium about April 10. Tone of high grade carnotite ores from the Paradox Valley field have been loaded into the new federal "radium building" in Denver. Most of this ore has gone through the first process.

The process is zealously guarded. The experts in the bureau of mines have evolved a secret method which, it is alleged, will greatly cheapen and simplify radium production.

Rocketeller Gives Another Sum.

New York, March 31.—It was announced today that John D. Rockefeller had given to the Rockefeller Institute for Medical Research an additional $1,000,000 to the $9,000,000 general endowment fund to organize and conduct a department for the study of animal diseases. To support an investigation into the cause of hog cholera, which is said to have killed hogs valued at $60,000,000 in the last year, James J. Hill has guaranteed $50,000.

This last benefaction of Mr. Rockefeller increases his gifts to science to about $180,692,000.

Burns Declares Frank Innocent.

Chicago, Ill., April 4.—Detective William J. Burns will reveal the identity of the man he says murdered Mary Phagan, Atlanta, Ga., factory girl, to the Atlanta authorities on Monday, he declared before leaving for Atlanta today.

"Leo Frank will not die for the murder of the Phagan girl on April 17," said Burns. "There never was any mystery to it after I satisfied myself that Frank was innocent. The tracks of the slayer are as plain as day.

"The man who killed her is being watched and there is no chance that he will escape.

"You seem to be rather optimistic of late. What has caused the change in your outlook?"

1,600 Steers Are Sold.

Fort Worth, Tex., April 2.—The sale of 1,600 2-year-old steers to Tom Waggoner by J. L. Anderson through George Beggs is reported. The steers are from Archer County. The price was $47.50 each.

There will be a brilliant lawyer, a splendid citizen and a christian gentleman as solicitor of the state department when Hon. Cone Johnson of Tyler, Texas, takes charge of the job. We do not mean that other able men have not held the job, but the Tyler man is just as able as any of his predecessors. All Texas is proud of this distinguished citizen. Texas generally will join Tyler people in expressing genuine regret that he and his charming wife are to leave us for Washington City.—Tyler Courier Times.

Sour Lake Killing Scene.

Beaumont, Texas, April 4.—As the result of a quarrel in a livery stable at Sour Lake Friday about midnight, Kip Jackson, 28, was shot and instantly killed and Sam Bishop is under arrest charged with the killing.

The cause of the quarrel cannot be learned. Jackson was the son of Steve Jackson, a prominent Sour Lake citizen and Bishop is also well known. Jackson's body will be buried Sunday.

Joe Cannon and 150 Girls

New York, April 4.—"Uncle Joe" Cannon, former speaker of the house, and 150 beautiful girls were among the passengers on the liner Arcadia when she sailed for Bermuda today. Mr. Cannon looked sprightly with a carnation in his lapel and when asked how he felt he said that the interviewer might divide his 76 years of age by two. He refused to be interviewed on political topics, but said that the Arcadia seemed like a nice ship and that he was glad he picked her and that he had learned to tango before going on board.

"Yes," said the good woman who was describing the last illness of a friend, "she was taken suddenly sick with pantomime poisoning, and four doctors came to the house and insulted about her and diagrammed her case very closely. They decided that she had eaten some fish or something that had paragraphs in it, and so they gave her a hypercritical injection of a serial that would destroy the basilica, but it didn't seem to help any, and she soon was in a state of chromo."—Exchange.

A Tennessee family consisting of father, mother and nine children, who were all affected with the hookworm and were pale and emaciated, were cured with a few treatments. They are now healthy strong and happy. They had spent $1500 for patent medicine.

You Have Nasal Catarrh Not Very Bad, But--- It Bothers You a Good Deal.

Some people have nasal catarrh and know it. Not only the patient knows it, but all of his friends know it. Many people know it that are not his friends. Just those people who happen to meet him in the street or on the public square.

That sort of a nasal catarrh need not be described. Everybody knows the symptoms without their disgusting recital.

Peruna helps such cases every day. Thousands have attested to this fact unsolicited. Peruna benefits even the worst cases of old nasal catarrh.

But there are cases of nasal catarrh not so evident. One nostril is stopped today. The other nostril is stopped tomorrow. Cannot breathe freely through the nostrils. Easy to sneeze. Mucus in the nose too thick. Sometimes forms brownish lumps. Catch cold easily. Never quite free of a cold. These symptoms describe a case of subacute nasal catarrh. Many people have it, and some who would not admit they have nasal catarrh.

He knows he must blow his nose freely. He remembers that he does not breathe easily through the nose.

He recalls the fact that he sneezes some now, whereas he did not previously.

Subacute nasal catarrh! Or we might call it incipient nasal catarrh. Or, still better, nasal catarrh just beginning and becoming chronic.

Now is the time to take Peruna. A little Peruna will do wonders at this stage of the disease. Snuff a little weak salt water every morning (see "Illa of Life," sent free by Peruna Co., Columbus, Ohio). Just enough to clear out the nose. Take a dose of Peruna before breakfast. Hold it in the mouth. Let it trickle down slowly and breathe the fumes of it out through the nose as you swallow it.

This will stop an incipient case of nasal catarrh in a few weeks. Stop it entirely. The nose becomes clear again. The breath is sweet. The breathing free. No more sneezing, or snuffing, or sniffing, or catching cold easily. All of these things are in the past.

An army of men and women have been benefited by Peruna. You might as well become one of the benefited ones as to allow it to go on any further.

First Baptist Church (Col.)

The First Baptist church (Col.) Nacogdoches has called Rev. J. C. Sweeney D. D. formerly pastor of the First Baptist Church (Col.) Bonham, Fannin Co., Texas

Rev. J. C. Sweeney comes to Nacogdoches to take charge of his work highly recommended by some of the leading business white men of Bonham, namely: Philip Wise, Fur and Undertaker; Reb Peeler, Druggist; Gouge and Fitzgerald, dry goods and groceries; Russell Grocery Co., and the First Natl. Bank

Rev. Sweeney found the First Baptist church very much disorganized upon his arrival, many of the members having withdrawn and gone to other churches. He set to his task undaunted and as a result nearly all of the old members have united and twenty-one additions have been made to the church. In fact the church has taken on new life.

The pastor together with the membership has recently purchased of Mr. Schmidt four and nine tenths acres of land on Bois, D. Arc and Llanana streets, upon which to erect a new First Baptist Church. Some efforts have been made to this end in the past, but on account of lack of proper organization in the financial department the plan failed. But with a united membership and Dr. Sweeney as their leader the church is now able to accomplish great things. Realizing that the intellectual, material, as well as its spiritual development of our race is in the main due to the help and encouragement of the white race, we hesitate not to call upon our white friends to lend us whatever assistance they can, promising to appropriate all contributions to the purposes expressed and to account for all moneys received by us.

Authorized by Z. H. B. C. I heartily endorse all that is said for Dr. J. C. Sweeney. J. H. Rowe, Reporter.

The circulation of the Houston Post, sworn to by the circulation manager, increased from 29800 on Dec. 31 to 35450 on March 31, which is an increase of nearly six thousand in the three months, and handsomely extraordinary.

THE CALL OF THE FARM

No Machine Made Governor Wanted.

Candidates and Platforms Should Be Carefully Selected And Compared With Farmers' Union Views.

Fort Worth.—The official cancellation of the Ft. Worth Convention on April 14th clears the gubernatorial atmosphere and the governor's race now rests between the candidates of the July primary. We want to call the attention of the farmers to the importance of selecting the one best acquainted and most in sympathy with the farmers and to carefully scrutinize the platforms of candidates.

We opposed both pro and anti conventions with such ability as we possessed. We can conceive of no greater calamity to Texas than to elect a machine-made governor at this time and any man who will creep under the lash of the bull whip of the bosses and who will kneel and lick the boots of the mighty politicians has not in him the stuff that governors should be made of. Any kind of a bird can seek shelter in a convention hall, but it takes an eagle to soar in the storm-tossed heavens in defiance of the "powers that be." This state needs a governor who will face men fearlessly and meet issues bravely and to elect a man who does not possess these qualifications would be a blunder little less than a crime.

Study Men and Measures.

The Farmers' Union, as an organization, is not in partisan politics, but the Union is officially committed to the Radford policies of government by the endorsement of the Farmers' Union State Convention and the candidate whose views most nearly approximate those of the Union and who offers the most convincing proof of writing them into our organic law is entitled to the support of farmers and all citizens who consider the material welfare of Texas of paramount importance in this campaign. All farmers should supply themselves with a copy of the Farmers' Union platform and that of the candidates and study and compare them for the purpose of determining which one of the candidates is most favorable to the interests of the farmer. We will send copy of the Farmers' Union platform to any address and we presume copies of the platform of the candidates can be secured on application to them.

In studying the candidates and platforms we want to issue a word of counsel and warning to the farmers of Texas, to the end that reason may not be debauched by prejudice, understanding supplanted by distrust and the welfare of the farmer suborned by political schemers.

Let us subject both candidates and platforms to a strict business test for on no other basis can we hope to unite our forces.

Put "Romans on Guard."

While no occupation, if legitimate, should disqualify any man for the office of governor, yet the experience and surroundings of a candidate determine their efficiency for gubernatorial responsibilities. We do not believe a man who nurses at the breasts of special interests is as well qualified to deal with agricultural problems as one whose daily life feels the heart throbs of the farmers, for it takes heart as well as brain to interpret the needs and supply the wants of the Texas farmers at this time.

The Farmers' Union wants no liquor legislation during the next administration and all legislation of whatever character should be subordinated to the needs of the farmers, and those who join in this opinion should vote for a candidate for governor who is a part of the agricultural fibre of state and familiar with the business transactions of the farmer. To properly manage a business administration requires a man equipped by experience and ability to cope with the problems of agriculture and commerce backed by a legislature composed in the main of farmers and business men. Too long have we permitted our destinies to be shaped largely by men whose personal ambition overshadowed the public welfare and during the incoming administration let us put nobody but "Romans on guard."

The farmer has never taken much initiative in governmental affairs. Candidates have been groomed and issues framed up as a rule by city men and the farmer had no alternative in many instances but to choose between two or more evils. The politicians have been ordering the farmer to cry aloud for the sins of the cities and we have cried. The politicians have told us how to vote to save the country and we voted and after the election was over the legislatures have told us to stand aside until special interests were served or chastised, as the case might be, and we have obeyed but while we wept, were saved and waited, a line of fallen homes a hundred miles in length (if stood side by side) annually marks the state's pathway; a half million acres of products have rotted on the ground each year for want of a market and we have been paying from ten to thirty per cent interest per annum on $220,000,000. This has been the result of a lifetime of fighting for principles. Let us unite in this campaign, fighting for men in the executive and legislative branches of government who will stand by the farmers.

Rally Around the Union.

This is not a stone age and no man's opinion should be adamant. When mental petrification begins progress ends and a closed mind is an abomination to God and a menace to good government. We plead with you to lay aside sentiment, to eliminate prejudice and to break the shackles of superstition that may bind you and in this campaign to serve the interests of those who are near and dear to you.

We appeal to the farmers of Texas to reason together. Consider the wife who toils by your side and whom you covenanted in holy bonds of wedlock to provide for and protect; give heed to the welfare of the innocent children that God Almighty gave you to gladden your heart as happily they play upon your knees and kiss from your cheek the smudge of toil; then think of your own flesh and blood as you battle to shelter the heads and cheer the hearts of those whom you love.

We beg you to discharge the responsibilities that God in His wisdom has placed upon you in preference to the one the politician in his hunger has forced upon you. May we again plead with the farmers of Texas to rally around the Union and in the July primary cast their ballot for John, Sally and the babies?

LAND USURY IS OPPOSED

Farmers' Union Officials Denounce Conventions as Political Trusts and Score Conferees of Constructionists.

Constructive Legislation the Remedy.

Fort Worth, Texas.—The Democratic constructionists can be that to legally restrain the greed of avaricious land owners is socialism, impossible of execution and offends property rights and it is further advanced as a reason why no legislation is needed that not more than one landlord out of one hundred charges his tenants more than a third and a fourth. We will not take the authority to pass upon fine spun theories of government, but we think we are fairly familiar with farm conditions all over Texas and as the undersigned have been farm laborers, tenants and landlords and are now engaged in studying farm problems first hand, we think we are qualified to discuss the subject from every angle without prejudice or self-interest.

The Farmers' Union favors legislation that will permit and encourage co-operation among farmers of small means as well as other classes in securing credit and cheap money and also legislation that will assist in the marketing of our crops and when this is accomplished, we consider that the difficulties of the tenant farmer will largely disappear, as many of them will become home owners. We see no more danger, however, in making land usury unlawful than in making any other kind of usury unlawful.

Who Objects to Land Usury?

Accepting for the sake of argument the statement of the constructionists that not more than one out of one hundred land owners charge usury on land, we do not agree that the low percentage should constitute exemption from legislation. Perhaps not more than one person out of one thousand commits murder, but will the constructionists contend that the percentage is too low to justify legislation, and do they think the liberties of the people are jeopardized by a law against murder? We contend that property rights are in no wise jeopardized by a law against land usury. Who is objecting to such a law? Is it the ninety and nine who, according to the constructionists, are already using the proposed standard or is it the one that has gone astray on the mountain peaks of usury? We hope the conference of constructionists will not permit their land-mad members to influence their judgment in this matter.

That the tenant farmer is oppressed by either the landlord, the credit merchant or the money lender, and oftentimes all of them cannot be denied. We will reverse the figures put out by the constructionists and say that ninety-nine out of one hundred tenant farmers pay usury in some form or other to one of the three classes above mentioned. The merchant and the money lender take risks but the landlord takes none, as title to his share of the crop rests with him. Why should he be exempt from usury legislation?

As to Socialism.

There are now 35,000 farmers in Texas who are socialists. Some of them belong to the Union, all who will subscribe to the principles of the Union are welcome in our organization and we want to here extend an urgent invitation for all socialists to join with other farmers in electing a Governor and members of the legislature on the Farmers' Union platform.

The convention held by the pro and the conferees proposed by the anti (if they name a candidate) are nothing more than political trusts and are a menace to good government. These political syndicates are inimical to the freedom of the people and ought to be enjoined by decree from the high courts of public sentiment.

The movement which started out to eliminate candidates finds itself now in the attitude of trying to add another candidate by inducing some one to accept its nomination. The candidates have all fled from it as though it were a pestilence. This condition alone ought to suggest to its leaders that they make haste slowly.

One of these is located on Seawall boulevard.

The conditions of the camps at present are anything but satisfactory, and there is no indication that the ship will ever come.

CURED

Wm. F. Anders at 1625 Cleveland St., Waco, Texas, Testifies in Strong Terms for Griffing's LIV-VER-LAX

This gentleman is employed by Hill & Campbell Grocery Co., and we publish his statement in proof of the claims made for this wonderful liver remedy.

He was a great sufferer from bilious headaches, could hardly keep on his feet until he tried LIV-VER-LAX.

According to his own statement, he was cured of his troubles along this line and does not hesitate to say so.

He further says that LIV-VER-LAX helped him the first day he took it. Others suffering from Constipation, Biliousness, stomach trouble or other malarial symptoms should follow the lead of Mr. Anders.

LIV-VER-LAX is on sale at any drug store.

his equitable share of what he produces. Before him, who would build a humble home, with flowers and children to brighten and bless, would I raise the star of hope, and make him feel that the future of his country was a real emblem for his material welfare and protection.

In the language of that farmer-philosopher, Per Radford, "Let government assist those who plead for opportunity, rather than consume all our energies upon those who scorn the privileges of manhood. Let us turn our attention from the professional and the intractable to the worthy and ambitious citizen struggling to feed and clothe his family, educate his children and own his home."

Railroads. There is a question which for years has received the earnest attention of many good people, including some of our professional men, and has been difficult of solution. I refer to railroads.

There has been no field in which the demagogue has found a more fertile soil than in the railroads. He has found the public denunciation of the railroads. Appeal to misdirected prejudice has been the hobbyhorse upon which the demagogue has been riding into official power. That the railroads have deserved some of the criticism which they have received is a fact which no one will deny.

That they are today further deserving some of the criticism which they have received is a fact which no one will deny.

That they are today further deserving of criticism I now hotly affirm. That the big railroad officials and the big railroad attorneys, who have established a brass collar railroad aristocracy, has widened a breach which should never have existed.

Railroads Public Necessity. But, my friends, while these things are true, let us not forget that railroads are a public necessity, which must be maintained to a high degree of efficiency for the public good, and that the government must assume the function of mediator between the rights of the roads on the one hand and the rights of the people on the other. President Wilson says: "The prosperity of the railroads and the prosperity of the country are inseparably connected."

The interests of both are in a large degree the same. The public good is set along with the roads and the roads cannot get along without the public. This being so, the necessity of a closer relation between the roads and the people becomes apparent to everyone. Above all things there should be no ill feeling existing between the two interests.

Now this language will at once convince you that you are not listening to the usual talk that you hear on this question. I might make a speech that would suit some of the professional men, but if I am elected governor I am going to be governor of all the people, including the railroad people, and whether I am now a lawyer or not, I shall not appeal to passion to become popular in your estimation.

Now I have said in my platform that I am opposed to any reduction in railroad rates. I assigned no reasons for this position. One is that railroads are entitled to earn a fair return on their investment. If railroad investment is not assured of this return, Texas will especially in early years, have a long time in the future before more railroads are built.

I am not going to take up your time to read you a long collection of statistics which are now a matter of public record and open to all. I have investigated these facts as a business man and I am clearly convinced that the railroads of Texas are earning as much as seven per cent on their investment, not as much as a man can get on a loan on a Texas farm, which he can work in a sugar cane and go fishing, much less the trouble of building a railroad and developing a new country. Now when we come down to a matter of right between man and man, leaving aside all public and not the man or set of men who build a railroad through any community entitled to earn as much interest on their investment as a man can get on a loan, lender, who loans his money for interest only, and cares nothing for the development of the country? Yet these are the facts in Texas today. These facts are opposed to any reduction in railroad rates. You need not take my word for it. Go and examine for yourselves. If it were not as it would be much more popular for me as a candidate to declare otherwise.

Again, if you decrease rates which go to stand the curb? Where is the retrenchment going to begin? Nowhere but on the heads of organized labor, a band of brothers standing together today for their mutual protection. Where else could the decrease be placed? A decrease in rates would not let the roads decrease their taxes to the government. It would not decrease the sum they pay for judgments rendered by the courts. It would not enable them to buy the materials and supplies any cheaper. So it must follow that the laboring men of all classes who do the railroad work would have to bear the burden. Who will say that the railroad employees in Texas are over paid? Who will say that they could in justice to their families, stand any decrease in their present wages?

Again, I want to make myself plainly understood. While I am in favor of seeing that the railroads are done no wrong, I am equally in favor of the roads doing the public no wrong. I am willing to pay them the price, but they must produce the service. As one who has been in the service of the railroads, as one who has patronized the railroads as a shipper, as one who has viewed the railroads in court and out of court, as one who has traveled much upon the railroads, as one who has given some study to the railroads and their relations with the public, I believe I am in some measure qualified to suggest some matters that will bring about that friendly relation between the railroads and the people about which I have already spoken.

The people make up their attitude towards the railroads upon their actual relations with the road. The railroads seem to have overlooked the little things which happen, apparently of little importance in themselves, but taken together form the real cause of prejudice which today exists against them. It is of these everyday occurrences which I wish to speak. Go up and down the railroads in Texas and look at their road crossings. Not one in a hundred built or maintained with any view to the convenience of the public. And they can be built with the same expense that they are built wrong. But they are invariably too high or too low. Along comes the farmer in his wagon and when he hits the crossing he either goes down with a clang or up with a jump. If he is a good driver and it doesn't happen to be night, he finally gets over. But what is the state of his mind? How does he feel toward the road?

Carelessness of Railroads. Suppose you plan a trip with your wife and children on the railroad. If you live in the country or live in it a few miles from your local agent, about whether the train is on time, and you are promptly told that it is. You get in your conveyance and get to the depot in less than thirty minutes after which you are told that the train is on time, and you find that the train is marked up two hours late. You find that somebody has absolutely lied to you. The agent says he didn't do it, but that the dispatcher did it, and the dispatcher says that the feller in the general manager's office is to blame. But nevertheless she's good and late. You wait around there with your little children while they fret and cry at the heat of the cold for about two hours and then that self-important agent walks out to the blackboard and unhears from his bosom that white dicker with which he marks it up two hours more late. And then you, in your humble, beseeching way, grievously, with the comfort of your family, ask him for more information, and you receive from him the frown of a tyrant and the growl of a lion. You finally get on the train and you stand up for forty miles across the country there is no seat. Mr. Railroad Official here is where the seats are down which afterwards grow and develop into a thirty thousand dollar damage suit.

Perhaps you are a merchant or a farmer, and you ask for a car to make a shipment. You don't get the car for three days, and yet the time you see empty car after car pulled by you for your use. Finally, after you have suffered loss by keeping your team and help waiting for the car. Then you load and bill the car out to some station not twenty miles away. Then it takes about three days to get the car back. Just as you have dismissed your help, believing that it would never arrive, she rolls in. Then while you are around getting some more help to unload, you happen to be a lawyer, and then this gentleman looms up on the horizon and demands demurrage. Now, mind you, you have already lost three times as much as the road has lost nothing because they still have the car which they wouldn't move for two days after you unload, and yet the patient shipper must pay demurrage.

Being a law-abiding man, you pay rather than have trouble. But how do you feel about it? Next week you are summoned as a juror in court, and when you and the other jurymen who have waited for hours for a train, and another jurymen who has stood up without a seat for fifty miles, and another jurymen who had his spinal column dislocated on a bad crossing, and another jurymen who can't put away the memory of that important agent, all go out to make up your verdict. These things are running through your head and try as you may you can't get them away.

Your minds and prejudices are then very susceptible to the ingenious arguments of the professional juror who gets on the jury from design. And you unconsciously agree to an unfair amount of damages which the road must pay.

Then, again, these same men go out to hear the politician make a speech against the railroads. He tells you the railroads are robbing the people on rates, and you agree with him, not because you know whether he is right or wrong, because you don't know, but you agree with him because you are still afraid about that bad crossing and that late train, or delayed shipment, and your neighbors are mad about the same things, and here he had a feeling between the road and the people, and it becomes popular to abuse the railroads. If I am not overdrawing the picture, and if the railroad managers will just take notice of our common sense desire for the comfort and convenience of the people, the people will in turn be willing to do the right thing about the rates.

Will Have to Give Best Service. But I want to warn the railroads of Texas that the people of Texas are going to require service prompt and clear. If you don't look after their convenience, your troubles have just begun. If I am elected governor, I am going to extend every cooperation to our railroad commission, and to our legislature to bring about such regulation of the railroads of Texas as will put a stop to the disgraceful service which a greater part of the roads are rendering to the public, and to the suffering and patient public.

I am opposed to the repeal of the present stock and bond law. I have noticed much discussion in the papers over this question. I have never been able to see where any set of men who had real money of their own or represented people who had real money with which they wanted to build a road, would in any way be bothered by the Texas stock and bond law. I can see how the feller who wanted to build a road or other people's money would be greatly handicapped by our law, but Ferguson is glad to follow Jim Hogg in this instance.

My friends, I am opposed to the present fee system of paying peace officers out of the state treasury in every case. We today witness an everyday fact of a sheriff making more money than a district judge, even more money than a governor of Texas. Civilization has certainly advanced to the point where a man's gull should be based upon money consideration.

Plans for Warehouses. Another question of vital importance to the farmer and business man of Texas is the matter of marketing agricultural products. I favor the establishment of a system of bonded warehouses with power to issue negotiable receipts, all under the sanction and supervision of the state. And when I say warehouses I do not mean uncovered cotton yards. We need but refer to the bitter experience of the winter of 1907 to see the folly of building cotton to make it go up while it is exposed to the wind and weather which will surely make it go down.

This system must be under the supervision and sanction of the state, otherwise its negotiable receipts would have no financial standing outside of the local limits in which they are issued. It is nothing more than detail to work out legislation that will permit and promote the incorporation of companies with ample capital and backing as will cause their receipts for cotton to be accepted in the money centers with the same certainty that bank receipts are now accepted for money.

The state will extend the same supervision over cotton warehouse companies as it does now over state banks, the matter will be easy of solution. The legislature following these general principles can evolve a warehouse law which will entitle them to the gratitude of future generations, equal in dignity to the work of the anti-saloon league. I make this statement not to arouse an unpleasant subject, but mainly in emphasis of the fact that there are other things of equal importance to prohibition. I also favor the maintenance of a special branch of the department of agriculture for the purpose of obtaining and distributing official information of cotton consumption, cotton supply and cotton demand.

The government can perform no greater service for the people than to provide a system whereby the cotton raiser may be enabled to store and hold his crop until the right time comes for him to sell, and provide him with intelligent information so that he can, with some degree of intelligence, tell when the right time comes.

The present warehouse law, enacted through the influence of the Farmers Union, was a long step in the right direction, and with the additions which I suggest, the farmers will no longer be at the mercy of those who would buy their cotton at less than its market value.

System of Rural Credits. In some degree akin to the question of marketing is the question of rural credits. Let me say that I am not in favor of the repeal of what is known as the Robertson insurance law. But in view of the fact that the right of a foreign insurance company to loan money in Texas has been questioned as a legal proposition, I am in favor of such amendments as are necessary to put that question at rest, giving foreign insurance companies the right to loan all the money they desire in Texas. This is necessary in order that the farmers of Texas may have every facility for money at reasonable rates with which to pay for homes. Foreign capital is not only necessary, but must be invited to and protected in Texas. The farmer who is not able to sustain himself will ever confront us unless we invite capital to assist in the task of removal. This may not be sentiment, but it is real business.

Now, my friends, I want to discuss with you the biggest question in Texas. And as I approach this discussion I am not unmindful of the criticism which I have received. I am fully advised of the task which I have assumed. I refer to the matter of land rents, and the division of land production.

Let me first of all let me say that in deliberating upon this great issue there should be no appeal to passion or prejudice. Let me go further and say to the farmer, the tenant, the laborer, my position in the light of history, in the light of law and precedent, and above all in the light of justice and right, that I then should receive the same respect and consideration that I should not receive official distinction at your hands.

Now I say that if I am elected governor, I will propose legislation that a law by statute or constitutional amendment, making it unlawful for an owner of land to receive or collect a rent of more than one-half the value of the land, and more than one-fourth the value of all cotton crops, except where the crops are made on the halves, in which case an amount not more than one-half the value of the cotton and grain.

Let us go back and see if we can learn a lesson from the past. We have read of the grandeur and splendor of Greece, Rome and the nations which they began in primitive ways their climb for supremacy. How at first all were equal, at least before the law, and every man a home owner. We know how the strong began to excel the weak, and how step by step, year by year, the lands of the nation came into the hands of a few. The Roman Republic, a nation enthroned in power, we learn that in that day as land ownership concentrated in the hands of the few, ignorance grew in the ranks of the many, that a few lords and a few lords began to rule. And the depths to which they descended were as marvelous as the heights to which they rose.

Now, my friends, the country of Spain, a nation founded in liberty and freedom, inhabited for years by an independent citizenship, a land of peace and plenty, that disappeared in a few years. But, like the Roman Republic, the land aristocracy began to get in control. The collection of exorbitant rents began to centralize the ownership of the land in the hands of a few, and the treatment began to deteriorate. Will this same ignorance of the masses, then the lustre of the Spanish star began to fade and today the greatest lesson in the history of nations is Spain.

Study with me the history of France and the French people. A country rich in resources, a country with all the gifts of nature, and whose history is the wonder of the world. Going back to the beginning of the 18th century, we find her people free in prosperity and affluence. But, like the Roman Republic, the land aristocracy began to get in control. The collection of exorbitant rents began to centralize the ownership of the land in the hands of a few, and the treatment began to deteriorate. Will this same ignorance of the masses, then the lustre of the Spanish star began to fade and today the greatest lesson in the history of nations is Spain.

And if there be any difference in desire, it is in favor of the man who loans the money, because he takes some chance in getting his money back, while the land owner takes no chance, for the laws of the country guarantee his collection by giving him a first lien for his money. To show you that I want of reason is not wholly my own, I want to quote from the Universal Dictionary, quoting from Adam Smith, on the "Wealth of Nations," where we find that the rent is the price paid for the use of land. And further we find this remarkable definition: "Land let by a landlord to a tenant for purposes of agriculture is analogous to money lent to a borrower. The rent of the land is virtually the interest on the land viewed as a loan."

Therefore, it must follow that if the rent of the land is the interest on the land, then the right of the government to regulate rents is as well established as the right to regulate interest.

Those who oppose the passage of this law must at the same time demand the repeal of the usury law. Now I want to answer some of the objections which by some well meaning but unwise people are made.

Answers Objections. One may say that he has a right to do with his land as he pleases. Now then, let us see where this leads to. If one man has a right to do as he pleases with his land, then he has the right to make every tenant his wife, children, cats, dogs, and chickens, get out in the lane or public road. If this man has the right then the land owner adjoining has the same right to do the same thing. The next land owner has the right to do the same thing and so on until we find every tenant and his family, and all his earthly belongings, out in the public road. "Oh," you say, "we are not going to do this." But never mind, we are talking about your right to do with your land as you please. No, you are not going to do this, you have no right to do so. But you are doing the same thing in another way. Instead of putting the tenant out in the road you are already raising the rent, and you are making the tenant make just about as much living in the public road as he will working your land when you collect more than a fourth of the value of the cotton or more than a third of the grain.

Now, you landlords, who have been going wild about prohibition! Let me give you some of your own medicine. You claim the right to drink, you claim that if taking a drink is wrong it is a personal wrong which harms no one but the one taking the drink—it is simply a matter of individual preference.

Now you good prohibitionists deny this right, and have preached to us from the house tops that man has no right to drink, and that the government has a right to step in and prevent a man doing wrong to himself, because in doing wrong he injures society. Now, my friends, if you are correct, and the government has a right to step in and prevent me doing wrong to myself, then, in the name of high heaven, how much more should you have the right to step in and prevent you from the mouth of his family, then the law has the right to prevent the landlord from charging a charge in rent from the tenant as might take bread from the mouths of his children.

If you have a right to stop my private war, then you have a right to stop your public wrong.

"But," one man says, "I never charged a bonus and never will. I want to do as I please. Well, my friends, if you are not going to charge a bonus, then this law won't bother you, and you have nothing to fear. Maybe you never stole a horse, and you never intended to, but you would not want the law against horse-stealing repealed, would you?"

"But," says another, "I came to this country forty years ago, or my daddy came here forty years ago, and I own this land, and I fought the Indians off, and now you want to keep me from enjoying the increased value of my land." Let me tell you, if you had any sense, you would have come to this country before you would be fighting Indians yet, and your land would have been worth at least thirty cents an acre of being worth as much as when you came here. You have credit for your early trials and adventures, and as a reward for your service to your country, a great thought of honest and humane tenancy has come after you, and you are willing to give up your land for less than you would have received from the tenant as might take bread from the mouths of his children.

have been permitted to prosper, realize, and recognize our responsibility to perpetuate this government, and elevate its citizenship. Let us recognize that we have no right to use our powers to the detriment of our neighbors. Let us not forget that might does not make right.

Let us remember that when we destroy the means of popular education that we destroy the means of popular government. Let us not forget that if we would have wealth that we must give honest labor its fair share for production. Yes, we owners of the soil I pray you ever remember the Golden Rule, and collect no more rent than you would like to pay.

Again, let me call the land owner's attention to another matter, which I believe is of great importance to the interest of the tenant.

Would Do Away With Socialism. Along as we had the good old system of the third and fourth we never heard of the Socialist as long as the tenant was treated fairly and equitably in the division of land production the claims of the Socialist were a matter of his own contention, or cause for his complaint.

But concurrently, with the increase in the Socialist begins to multiply. Today the abuses of the present rent system and the Socialist would not have a leg to stand on. We may perhaps be startled at the growth of this theory of government. We may become alarmed that the number is increasing who demand that the government take control of the lands of the country. The prevention of the growth of this idea lies not in derision of those who so believe, but lies in the removal of the cause which creates the necessity for such doctrine. Let those who rely upon the supposed security of property rights remember that no government right is any more sacred than the integrity of the people who maintain that government.

I am not an alarmist. God forbid that the time will ever come in this country when men will settle their differences by any other means than an appeal to reason, but I warn the land owners of this country that if you lose sight of the real merits of the question, and decide it solely by the rule of your personal interest, as against the rule of the greatest good to the greatest number, I fear the consequences, and view the result with much apprehension.

The stability of present land value depends upon the way you decide this question. When you claim the right to take too much you let down the bars for the government to step in and prevent oppression, and you will have no one to blame if you get too little.

Again, my friends, everybody is materially interested in this question. If the land owners of the country collected the entire production of their lands, it does not take a philosopher to see that one-half the merchants would have to go out of business and that many clerks and salesmen would be compelled to seek other lines of employment.

If the number of merchants is decreased, then the amount of merchandise sold will be decreased, and thereby the number of factory workers must be decreased, and they, too, must seek other lines of employment. If the number of factories is decreased, then the amount of tonnage handled by the railroads is decreased, and the number of railroad employees will be decreased, and they, too, must seek other employment.

All this you will readily see is based upon the known fact that all wealth comes from the soil. And whatever causes a centralization of soil production causes a contraction of business. It is only in the wide distribution of wealth production causes a contraction of business.

Now let me say a word to the farmers of Texas who are directly interested in this legislation. You have waited long for your opportunity, but the day is at last here when you hold the power to elect those men to office who stand for your interests. If you throw the opportunity away you will have no one to blame but yourself.

Only Candidate Who Favors It. Since the announcement of my platform there has come yelping out of the political thickets of this state a pack of political wolves in sheep's clothing. Notwithstanding they have held office for years, and have had many golden opportunities to do you and the country a great service, none of them have ever had the nerve to raise the voice in your behalf.

Who ever heard of a tenant being mentioned in any platform, until my announcement?

What one of these great statesmen; what one of these great big men that these self-appointed and self-elected politicians are clamoring for ever mentioned your name until I put it in the form of a demand for specific legislation. And now, here they come like a lot of second fiddles, and loudly proclaim that they are going to do for you.

But I am sure you are not going to be deceived or misled. Let me get the tangible results while you can. Let us make arrangements for next year's crop.

set up each new house in opposition to the Democratic party in Texas. We witness the creation of two additional parties, the pro party and the anti party, both maintaining separate and distinct organizations from the Democratic party. And yet they insult our intelligence, by calling themselves Democrats. It is time for real Democrats to wake up, and rally around that grand old Democratic flag and resist the ruthless hands which they sought to be laid upon it. I call to arms the Democratic yeomanry of Texas, and urge you to take your stand upon the watch towers of untried Democracy, and if needs be lay your political fortunes upon the altar of your country's good.

Let us scourge from the Democratic temple those who would destroy our grand old party by internal dissension over issues that have no place in our Democratic home.

Let us meet the issue, and let it be known that the Democratic party is yet and will ever be the champion of the people's rights.

Now, in conclusion, let me say that our dear Texas can and should be made the greatest country over which the sun shines by day or the stars by night.

From the golden strand of California to the orange groves and flowery fields of Florida, from the frozen climes of the icy north to the bracing breezes of the Southern Gulf, there is no soil dyed with the blood of nobler heroes than our dear state. A country rich in nature's stores, which needs but the magic hand of a united people to smite the rock of her resources and wealth will spring forth peace and plenty.

Let us banish from Texas the dictator and the political grafter. Let us banish the foreign investor and maintain the supremacy of the people on the throne of power.

Let a united citizenship forgive and forget the bickerings of the past. From strife and dissension let us turn to agitation let us turn to development. From internal dissension let us turn to outside advertisement. Let us welcome the foreign investor and assure him that Texas needs him and that he needs Texas. Let us educate the masses into a knowledge of the responsibilities of citizenship. Let us build more schools and better schools. Let us build more churches and colleges. Let us protect the weak against the strong. Let us give every man an open field and a square deal.

Thus united and thus resolved, let us raise the flag of the single star high above this vast industrial empire of ours, and with but one feeling, and that of love, and with but one purpose and that of success, and with but one ambition and that of our glory, and with but one thought, and that of our state, let us march to victory and reward.

BURIED UNDER PAPERS. Between Litter and Fires Life In De Quincey's Home Was Lively. De Quincey's greatest extravagance grew out of the morbid vice he set upon papers and their not being disturbed. He was in the habit of accumulating these until, in his own words, he was "snowed up," which meant that when matters reached such an extremity that there was not a square inch of room on the table to set a cup upon and no possibility of making his bed for the weight of papers gathered there; no chair which could be used for its legitimate purpose, and the track from the door to the fireplace, always kept open until the last, was completely obliterated so that he had not even place in which to set his foot—then De Quincey locked the door upon his paper treasures and turned elsewhere. At his death there were at least a half dozen such places "papered" by him and being maintained at no small expense.

Such a thing had been experienced as his actually "papering" his family out of house, but in later years his daughters learned how to guard against such a contingency.

De Quincey usually spent the evenings with his family, who looked forward to these hours with much pleasure. Upon the arrival of the newspaper he would render the news in his own quaint manner, questioning the various members of the group about him and illuminating the various subjects touched upon with a wealth of memories, good stories or human experiences until the happiest flow of real conversation sprang from the circumstances of the moment.

He was not a tranquillizing companion for nervous persons to live with, as those nights were the exceptions on which he did not set fire to something. It was a common occurrence for one of his daughters to look up from her work and to say casually, "Papa, your hair is on fire" to which he would respond casually, "Is it, my love?" and a hand rubbing out the blaze was all the notice taken.

On one occasion, when the maid rushed in to announce that Mr. De Quincey's room was on fire, he hastened to the rescue of his already "snowed up" apartment, refusing all suggestions that water be poured upon his treasured papers. Armed with a heavy rug he disappeared into the burning room determined to conquer without water or perish in the attempt, while the members of his affrighted household trembled for his safety outside the door, locked to prevent the abhorred water from being poured in. Presently, after occasional bursts of smoke and a very strong smell of fire, all were assured that the danger was over, the victor emerged triumphantly from his fight with the flames, and the dreaded element having been subdued for the evening all retired in a state of thankfulness.—From Caroline Ticknor's "Hawthorne and His Publishers."

Honesty In Golf. The sooner a boy, or a man for that matter, learns to live up to the motto "Honesty is the best policy" in golf, as in other things, the better for him. There is no game which gives a competitor a better opportunity to cheat. But for that very reason there is no game in which the cheat, when discovered, as it usually is sooner or later, is looked upon with greater contempt.—Francis Quinlan in St. Nicholas.

Another "Has Been"—Brileytown.

Editor Sentinel:
Before I "fall into line," like the confederate roll call in the days gone by, I want to ask Marion Rainbolt, John Richardson and some others of the old boys of the neighborhood of the once noted "Old Brileytown" to keep cool, if I step on their toes or their territory.

The memories of that day are more weighty than the modern person knows of. "There were giants in those days." The town—Brileytown—consisted of just one house, that was so scant as to have to be seen twice to be counted once. But there was something doing in that edifice. Red eye, was the name of the drink that painted this town red—not booze, but fire water—old man Briley, whose three initials were more pretentious, yet whose personality was of caliber to fit this little log cabin by the road, operated this lick log.

The Broiles family, who lived near, had nothing to do with the broils of the town, and their warm Georgia friends, the Fears family did not show up here, till the town tears had disappeared. In fact the leading neighbors, such as Uncle Johnny Little, Bill Collins, Dohoney, Bill Craig and the Rainbolts did not take stock in this enterprise—so it very properly died—Peace to its ashes—Peace did not reign during its whole career.

There was at least one fatal combat. One of the combatants was named Blue—the other Reed. There may have been other combats.

Brileytown was quite a name then. Later the locality became known as Greenwood from a family by that name, which was also the name of a church and a bridge on the Attoyac river, Logansport road—but where was the site of this great village? About a mile west of the present good town called Garrison which is on the H. E. & W. T. railway twenty miles northeast of Nacogdoches there was then only a dim country road leading to it, and another crossed this one there, in a sandy level of the poorest land. The big road from Nacogdoches to Shreveport ran east of it—but the name itself has barely survived—Should the spot be marked with a marble shaft?

Professor Bainer of the Colorado Agricultural College in an article in The Progressive Farmer once quoted a manufacturer as saying:

The Alarming Increase of Tenancy.

The figures published in The Progressive Farmer some weeks ago, showing the alarming increase in farm tenancy, have attracted widespread attention. We repeat them herewith:

PERCENTAGE OF FARMERS WHO WERE TENANTS	1900	1910
United States	35.3	37.0
Virginia	30.7	26.5
North Carolina	41.4	42.3
South Carolina	61.1	63.0
Georgia	59.9	65.6
Florida	26.5	26.7
Alabama	57.7	60.2
Mississippi	62.6	66.1
Tennessee	40.6	41.1
Arkansas	45.4	50.0
Louisiana	58.0	55.3
Texas	40.7	52.6

Of all the families in the United States, both in town and country, 54.2 per cent are renters and only 45.8 per cent home-owing.—The Progressive Farmer.

Enter The Prize Contest Now
Those who have not yet entered the Texas Industrial Congress contest for 1914, in which $10,000 in gold will be given away for the greatest net profits obtained in growing field crops and feeding livestock should not be discouraged from sending their names in to the office of the Congress. Dallas, because those who have already entered the contest have obtained little, if any, advantage through earlier planting. The slow, rainy planting season has to a considerable degree placed the disadvantage upon those who entered first and have seeded their ground.

The Congress hopes that every farmer in the State, whether man, woman, boy or girl will at once send in his name and help put Texas on the map for big farming results, the best advertising we can have. Application blanks may be had by writing at once to the Texas Industrial Congress.

Gov. Cruce Sees Ship Launched
Oklahoma City, Ok., April 1.—Gov. Cruce, whose disappointment was keen at not being able to attend the launching of the Battleship Oklahoma, made a visit to a picture show this afternoon to see the film in which his daughter appears. The Governor has a big scrapbook of clippings about the launching.

Against Hog Law

Editor Sentinel:

I noticed a great deal said about the hog law at this time in the Sentinel. I am now 68 years old; lived in Texas 32 years. When I came to Texas 32 years ago pork was selling at four and a half cents a pound on free range and it is selling now at eight cents. The hog law is the main cause. I will admit the timber has been cut here and the acorns for hogs are cut short. There are localities where the people need the hog law as they have no range for hogs, but I will say here on Beech creek and Pin creek we don't want the hog law and will ask the voters of Nacogdoches county to consider the matter and not vote something on us that we don't want. If you have the hog law and want it keep it. I have no objection but please don't vote something on us here that we don't need and don't want. I raise meat to sell every year and will say I have been married 50 years and have never bought but 2 lbs. of lard in life. With plenty of corn and acorns I can still raise it. Now in conclusion will say it the good people of Nacogdoches county have got what they want keep it, but don't put something on us in the back woods that we don't want.

To Prevent Blood Poisoning
Apply at once the wonderful old reliable DR. PORTER'S ANTISEPTIC HEALING OIL. It is a surgical dressing that relieves pain and kills the same time. Not a liniment. 25c.

Don't Burn The Stalks and Straw.
Many times have we called attention to the folly of burning stalks and straw, and we expect to do so many times in the future; for we believe the fact cannot be too strongly impressed that these materials are rich in hums and pamt food, and that to burn them is equivalent to burning barn yard manures or even commercial fertilizers.

Let's figure a little on what we lose by such practices. Chemists have found by analysis that where 300 pounds of lint cotton is produced the leaves, burs, roots and stems contain about 23 pounds of nitrogen, worth at current retail prices, $4.60. Nitrogen is by far the most expensive fertilizing element we have to buy and it also is the element of value that is lost when the materiel is burned. Again take the case of cornstalks. Where 40 bushels of corn has been grown there will be about 16 pounds of nitrogen in the stalks and fodder. This too, worth $3.20 is lost when the stalks are burned.

When our lands are crying for humus and plant food, what shall we call the man who burns the equivalent of several tons of cottonseed meal? Surely not a farmer.—The Progressive Farmer.

The average farmer is in favor of good roads, silos and better cultural methods, but often lacks the means of securing these necessities.

The Woodman attendance contest among the members of Liberty Elm Camp, No. 210 is waxing warm. Members are coming from far and near in their endeavor to see that their respective sides do not go down in defeat. At the meeting Tuesday night, there were present and answering roll call 54 on Chadwick's side and 68 on Seale's side. The contest closes May the 5th.

The Progressive Democrats of Texas made no mistake in giving Woodrow Wilson their support, which proved indispensable to his nomination. In favoring him they served the country and at the same time served themselves, and, as well, their children and their children's children. —Home and State.
