NO PAY PROVIDED FOR WITNESSES.

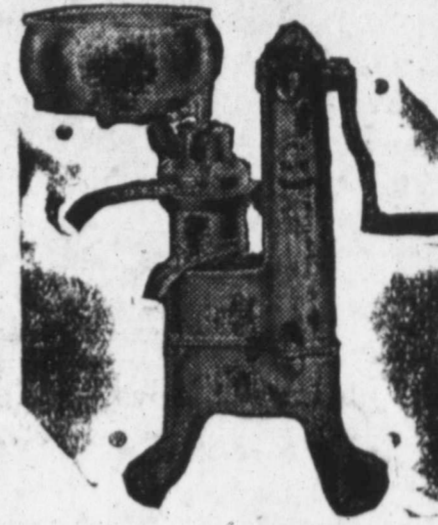

A member of the Nacogdoches Bar has contributed the following valuable information to witnesses who attend criminal trials, and people who may be inclined to purchase the scrip:

"It has been the law for a long time that, out-county witnesses are entitled to pay for attending as witnesses in a county other than the county of their residence, the pay being three (3) cents per mile in going to and returning from their home, and $1 per day from the time they leave home until their return. The clerk of the district court issues a certificate upon oath of the witness which certificate is approved by the district judge presiding at the trial. The clerk records these accounts in a book kept for that purpose.

"This certificate bearing the approval of the judge and certificate of record is the evidence furnished the comptroller upon which is issued a warrant which is cashed by the state treasurer.

"The legislature makes appropriations biannually to pay these accounts. Any one who desires may purchase these certificates with safety. In about 1911 the legislature extended this rule to in-county witnesses, but the appropriation for that purpose was vetoed by Governor Colquitt and no appropriation has since been made for this purpose, consequently, there is now over a million dollars outstanding, and it is estimated that if all in-county witnesses were to prove up their attendance the amount would aggregate something over three million dollars. There is little probability that any of the in-county scrip will ever be paid. You had better be sure and see that the scrip you cash is for

"GRAND PRIZE" winner at the Panama Exposition. The Superior Jury of awards at the Panama Exposition in final review and decision awarded the GRAND PRIZE to the IOWA Separator with the Curved Disc Bowl. Separators from all the world were exhibited but the IOWA

There is a reason why the IOWA gained the "GRAND PRIZE." It was the best Separator and the Superior Jury on awards knew it.

We want you to see the IOWA in our store,—we want you to give it a thorough try-out. The winner of the GRAND PRIZE should be good enough for you if it is the best Separator in the world, and this is the honor that it holds.

STATE "BUSTED" AGAIN; DEFICIT FOR 4 MONTHS

Austin, Texas, Oct. 11.—The State of Texas went on a deficit today. The general revenue fund becoming exhausted, according to announcement made by State Treasurer J. N. Edwards, who also added that from present indications the State will stay "busted" until about February 15, 1916.

Soon after opening the state treasury department today, it became evident that the funds in general revenue would not last during the day, and this afternoon there were no more funds available to pay current warrants.

Provision has been made, however, to meet all special warrants, that is, warrants for special appropriations, also school warrants and Confederate pension warrants.

Treasurer Edwards said that from now on all warrants would be registered and as fast as funds come to the treasury these warrants will be met, and from time to time calls for registered warrants will be made.

Slow tax remittances is one of the reasons assigned for this state of affairs.

EIGHTY-SEVENTH BIRTHDAY

Mrs. S. A. Cooper, familiarly known as "Grandma" Cooper, will celebrate her 87th birthday on the eighteenth of this month, and is still hale and hearty.

"Grandma" Cooper came to Nacogdoches with the railroad from the Linn Flat community, and is one of our oldest settlers. She makes her home with her daughter, Mrs. S. A. Hamilton.

H. D. Power, of Alto, was one of the callers at the Sentinel office this morning. Mr. Power is a son of Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Power, who live in the North Church community, and are pioneer citizens of Texas.

$25,500 Contract Awarded For New School Building

The contract for the erection of the new school building, to be located on the school campus, was let by the Board of Trustees this morning to W. P. Berry & Company, contractors, of Lufkin, on their bid of $25,500, and the contract for the plumbing, heating, etc., was let to the Lane Company of Houston, at $7,750.

From the architect, Mr. C. H. Page, who drew the plans for the building, the Sentinel learns that the sub-story, or basement, will be fitted up with a manual training stage, auditorium, and girls' and boys' toilet rooms. The first floor will have four class rooms, principal's office, library and gallery to auditorium. The next story will be fitted up with four class rooms, sewing room, cooking room and open-air roof garden study hall. Press brick will be used in the erection of the building, and fire-proof ways will be made.

The building will be of modern architecture in all its appointments, combining the latest ideas in convenience, arrangement and beauty when finished there will be no building in Texas to beat it.

Work will be begun as soon as the contractors can assemble material, and they assure the Sentinel that no time will be wasted in this detail work.

Having finished his work Page left on the noon train for his home in Austin, and Berry returned to Lufkin busy in placing orders for material.

New bids will be solicited from the negroes, and the building will be let separately later.

BUY HOME PRODUCTS

There is a move on foot in the business circles of Nacogdoches that will make the diversification of crops practical by insuring a market.

Hitherto the East Texas farmer has had to come in competition with the western farmer with his crop of hay, with the Kansas farmer on his corn, etc., but with the new idea the products of the farms of our section will be given preference and thus insure to him a market so far as there is local demand, which would be quite an item with a itself. The plan is that the local products be classified with the imported articles, and be delivered at the same price, and that nothing be imported so long as there is an available home supply.

Such a method would be both patriotic and practical. It is our first duty to patronize home industries, and anything that will build up our country, so long as we can do so at the same price; it is exceedingly practical for the reason that the money expended remains in local channels and comes back to us again. As has been proven by test that peanuts, Beamuda grass, sorghum and other grain and dry crops grow to better perfection and are surer crops than cotton, and hence the whole arrangement is far more practical than the methods employed in the past, and with the proper co-operation upon the part of all concerned would open up an avenue of prosperity unprecedented in the history of our country.

Added to this good plan of home products and home markets so far as practical some factories should be provided for the consumption of raw products. One particularly in line with the plans now under discussion would be a peanut oil mill, thus knocking out the middleman's profit in the exportation and transportation of peanut products. Peanut oil is said to be superior to cotton seed oil. Likewise the meal, and there is a market value for the hulls. Many other products are made from the nut, and if it is profitable to ship them worth for manufacture and pay freight on the products returned, it is reasonable to suppose that the saving in freight would be a good item in favor of the local manufacturer.

Many similar enterprises could be worked out along the same lines which would prove profitable to the investor and contribute to the development of the town and county.

The Sentinel acknowledges with grateful appreciation a season ticket for editor and lady to the forthcoming Dallas fair.

The Sentinel is expending several thousand dollars in new equipment with which to give Nacogdoches county a representative newspaper and job printing establishment and we will make other investments from time to time as necessity requires. The old paper has weathered all storms of the past, and it will ride with the front ranks of progress in the future.

A headline in the big papers says that "Uncle Sam is Feeling the Need of More Revenue." We know of others in the same condition, but who have not obtained the notoriety of a big headline, under the date line of a dispatch, to the effect:

It seems that the women at last have President Wilson going their way, the announcement coming from the White House that he will soon wed and vote for women suffrage. But the women generally secure that for which they determine, and mere man had as well surrender in the beginning.

An exchange editorially observes that one hundred and thirty-seven girls have entered a physical training class in Dallas. Some of the boys in that section had better go and do likewise if they would retain physical supremacy and continue to boast possession of the "stronger" sex.

The Garrison News under the new management, with R. B. Walthall, is holding its own with the neat and spicy weekly papers of the country. Mr. Walthall has the earmarks of a good newspaper man, and with experience will ere long take his place with the best of the profession.

The new firm of the Sentinel is receiving many pretty compliments from the brethren of the press, among the number being a nice notice from our neighbor, the Herald which we greatly appreciate and which we will assemble and give as the first "take" of copy to the new machine upon its arrival.

No profession so readily exposes the methods that would destroy their trade as the patriotic doctor. He tells you how to keep well; in times of epidemic he is the most diligent in stamping out the disease, notwithstanding it reduces the business of his profession. Appreciation of this condition should inspire everyone to give his doctor a square deal, and instead of paying him if they have anything left as is the custom with many, he is entitled to first consideration.

Bystanders on a prominent street of the city this morning were witnesses to the fact that the emotions are the most striking characteristics of human nature. A small boy, the son of a widow, was returning to the place of business at which he was engaged with a ten-dollar bill which he had presumably been sent out to collect. On the way he dropped the bill, not discovering his loss until he had arrived at his place of business. After making the discovery of his misfortune he hastily retraced his steps with tears streaming from his eyes, inquiring of those he passed if they had found the money, when he finally reached the right man and made recovery.

With a more rapid pace, and a smile of appreciation that would not come off, he rushed back to the office and made delivery of the treasure with which he had been entrusted, and no moving picture screen ever delivered a better contrast of emotions.

The most glorious slogan we can adopt is: "Buy Nacogdoches county products first." With this method we build home markets and keep home money with us.

The editor of the Center Daily Optimist is about to expose how old the new editor of the Sentinel is, going back twenty-one years in his reminiscences. But you know some people begin life very early.

Every manufacturing enterprise, no matter how small, contributes something to the development and prosperity of the community in which it is located. And for this reason every home institution deserves first consideration of the trading public.

After all life is very much like a pool of water. Cast a pebble into its calmness and circles formed by the thoughtless act grow wider, larger and broader until they reach the distant shore. Every act committed, every word spoken concerns more than ourselves; in a degree it concerns all of our neighbors and for this reason we should measure well the consequences of every act, and weigh the effect of our words beforehand.—West News.

The dispatches from Washington indicate that General Carranza will soon be given formal recognition as the valid ruler of the stricken republic of Mexico upon the condition that he will not seek to monopolize permanent authority. He has put up a good fight for it, alright, and is doubtless the strongest man in the republic today—but that sly old fox, Villa, is still alive and will have to be reckoned with many days hence.

The old-fashioned smokehouse which we were about to mourn as belonging to the dead past is about to rise from its ashes and take its place again in the back yard of the Southern farm. Its return means the re-establishment of some of the old-time live-at-home conditions—the re-birth of home independence and prosperity. For many years the smokehouse has been a neglected institution on many farms, and the South has suffered on this account to the extent of millions of dollars annually. Its return should be heralded with gladness, for it is the forerunner of other economic principles that are bound to follow and which will help so materially in freeing the farmer from the thrall of credit.—Pittsburg Gazette.

A Mean Trick

We take the following report of a mighty mean trick from the last issue of the Lu-kin News:

While returning from Nacogdoches last Sunday in his new Maxwell car, Mr. K. Morgan of this city states that as he was driving along the road in the Redland community he saw two boys hastily retiring from the road, and suspicioning that all was not well for the autoist who happened to pass that way, he stopped his car before reaching the point where the boys were for the purpose of doing a little investigating. His efforts were rewarded by the finding of a piece of new 2x4 pine timber probably eighteen inches long with just one dozen 16 or 20 penny nails driven through it.

A piece of timber had then been driven deep into the rut, and securely nailed to the piece of timber that had been driven into the ground, the nails protruding through the timber an inch or more, and all securely hid from view by pulling sand over it. Mr. Morgan removed the piece of timber in which the nails had been driven and brought it to The News office, where it may be seen by any one interested in knowing that such a damnable trick would be perpetrated in a civilized community.

It was a piece of deviltry unworthy of the present generation, and had it not been accidentally discovered in the way that it was, might have caused the death of some innocent person for no greater offense than riding in an automobile. If there is no law on the statute books to exterminate such a breed of arabs as perpetrated this hellish piece of work, there should be one at the earliest possible moment. If there is a law against such fiendish work, the grand jury which convenes in a couple of weeks should investigate this case thoroughly and leave no stone unturned to bring the guilty parties to justice, even though they may be only small boys, for it is evident that if such humans, if such they may be called, are allowed to go unrestrained no life will be safe in the community where they are permitted to exist.

The News regrets the necessity of saying what it has about this incident, but feels that it would be doing a great injustice to the good people of the Redland community not to do so.

There is beautiful sentiment in the philosophy that it is easy enough to be pleasant when life moves along like a song, but the man worth is the man who can smile when everything goes dead wrong. The year now drawing near its close has taught us all a good lesson, in both economy and in life. Before the disruption in business caused by the outbreak of the foreign war, we had become too extravagant in our prosperity and perhaps too vain with it. Life in its rugged form, things as they really are was lost sight of. But now we can see with a clearer vision, for the best that was in us has been brought out by

Robert Morris— "Financier of the Revolution"

It has been said the three very great men of our War for Independence were Washington, Franklin and Morris. In the history of mankind no man ever had a more arduous commission than did Morris in financing the armies of Washington. The credit of the nation was practically valueless and time after time it was the personal credit of Morris which brought forth the money. The financial means raised from his own private resources made the victory at Trenton possible. When Washington proposed the capture of Lord Cornwallis and his entire army, it was from Morris, the patriot and private citizen, and not from the Treasury of the Confederate States from which the money came. Thus Washington's last great victory was made possible and the long and bloody struggle for National Independence brought to an end. Morris was the first to suggest our present system of national banks—the best banking system that any nation has ever known. He was the first American to send a ship forth flying the Stars and Stripes. Like Franklin, he signed both the Declaration of Independence and the Constitution of the United States. He was very hospitable, and whenever Washington visited Philadelphia he was the guest of Morris. He was a moderate user of light wines and barley brews and opposed Prohibition Laws, which make the many suffer for the faults of the few. For 58 years Anheuser-Busch have been brewing the kind of honest barley malt and Saazer hop brews which the wisdom of Morris knew make for real temperance. To-day at the home of BUDWEISER 7,500 people are daily required to meet the natural public demand. BUDWEISER'S ever-increasing popularity comes from quality, purity, mildness and exquisite flavor. Its sales exceed any other beer by millions of bottles.

the struggle to save ourselves during the pinch and man's foibles and fallacy in the gay life are forcibly realized. In the struggle true men's hearts have been developed and the weak have fainted, the elements that constitute real character having become exposed, frequently, in the unexpected and came up lacking in the unsuspected, thus separating the chaff from the good wheat, and showing who are really worth while.—Shelby Daily Optimist.

Texas Rebellion Apparently Over
Brownsville, Tex., Oct. 8.—It has been two weeks today since the last raid across the Rio Grande into American territory by Mexican bandits. The long period of quiet added to the confidence of army officers and state officials here that American military, activities and Carranza authorities promises to cooperate, have stopped the raiding which began early in July. Of even more significance than the quiet among the bandits is the fact that it has been nearly a month since any signs of activity have been noted by the "plan of San Diego" revolutionists. The men known as bandits comprised only a small percentage of the Texas-Mexican bad men, but the revolutionary plot originating at San Diego, Texas, showed evidences for a time of spreading among hundreds and perhaps thousands of ignorant Mexicans.

Club Women Promoting Entertainment
Sixty-five club women of Texas have been invited by Mrs. Fred Fleming, Dallas Chairman of the Federation of Women's Clubs to act as hostesses at the Texas industries' play which is to be produced under the Federated Clubs and Farmers Union at the State Fair at Dallas, Oct. 16 to 31. Five women from out of town will assist five Dallas women in greeting and making welcome all those who attend the performance of this play. Although the purpose of the play is to bring before the people the names of the industries which make for the property and welfare of the State, the entertainment feature has not been forgotten. Those taking part in the play are women of exceptional ability as dramatic artists. Many of them have studied with the best instructors both at home and in New York and they have been chosen in order to make the play a finished and artistic performance such as all Texans will long remember and appreciate.

 From Friday's Daily:
 The Public Health Meeting held at the auditorium, of the High School building last evening was one of the most interesting meetings in the history of the city, and ideas were gathered which will be of incalculable value in preserving the health of the city.

The first address was delivered by Hon. Eugene H. Blount, the gifted son of our little city. Mr. Blount spoke on the subject of the "Doctor and the Patient," in the course which he reviewed the history of the practice of medicine, going back many years B. C., and telling of the ancient and honorable customs employed coming on down to the present day. He couldn't find much to say in behalf of the patient, some of whom would re-imburse the faithful physician for his services if they had anything left.

The next number on the program was Dr. James J. Terrill of Temple who made most eloquent and logical address on the subject of the "Gospel of Clean Living." Dr. Terrill recommends a clean life both personally and morally, stressing the importance of both and their relation to each other, and stresses the importance of teaching children early in life the importance of both rather than let them get the lessons from vulgar minds.

Dr. Terrill was followed by Dr. John T. Moore of Houston who also delivered a great address on the subject of "Common Sense in Handling Our Public Health Problems." If Dr. Moore's recommendation were followed out there is no doubt that the public health of the community would be greatly improved, and there would be no outbreak of communicable disease. A large crowd was present to hear these distinguished men talk, and the Sentinel makes the statement without fear of successful contradiction that no more valuable meeting was ever held in Nacogdoches if the people will employ the recommendations these distinguished speakers made.

When the South Texas District Medical Association convened this morning the following physicians registered present:

Rev. S. S. McKenney to leave Jacksonville

At a meeting of the board of commissioners of the Monumental Methodist church of Washington City on last Wednesday Rev. S. S. McKenney of this city was elected as special agent and field representative of said church to be built in the nation's capital, notice of said election being contained in a telegram sent to Bro. McKenney on same day by Bishop Warren A. Chandler, D. D., of Atlanta, Ga., said election and appointment having also the endorsement of Bishop James McCoy, D. D. of Birmingham Ala. Following the instruction of a second telegram from Bishop Candler Bro. McKenney went to Shreveport, La., to interview Rev. George S. Sexton, D. D., who was former representative of this cause and to receive from him a detailed report of the nature and condition of the work. After spending yesterday in going over plans and surveying the field Bro. McKenney last night wired to Bishop Candler his acceptance of the appointment with the understanding that he would finish up the work of the year in the Methodist church of this city.

For the remainder of the present year Bro. McKenney's family will remain in Texas while he visits the several conferences yet to be held in the various states and organizes them for active co-operation in this enterprise which has the endorsement and supervision of the general conference. It is probable that in the spring it may become necessary for him to locate in Atlanta, Ga., so as to more conveniently reach the entire field at a minimum of travel. The church to be erected will cost $3000,000 when completed. Having charge of raising the money to build such a structure is indeed an honor for Bro. McKenney. The Daily Progress expresses the regret of every citizen in our town when it says that we are sorry to see this most excellent family leave our city. He has not been with us a year yet, but we have all learned to love him and only wish that he could remain with us his four years. While at the same time we are glad to learn that he has been promoted to a higher position and at a much larger salary than he was getting here. We are also sure that the salary did not have anything to do with his taking the new position. The best wishes of this entire community will go with Rev. McKenney in his new field of labor.—Jacksonville Progress.

Contracted For Lot

Rev. T. F. Weaver, the evangelist who is in the city engaged in an effort to provide a house of worship for the Christian Church, informs the Sentinel that a contract has been made for a pretty lot on Fredonia street, and that work will be begun on the erection of a house at an early date. Mr. Weaver has been meeting with fine success in the matter of getting contributions to this noble cause, and the membership is rejoicing in the hope that they will soon have a house of worship of their own where they may have regular services and grow in spiritual usefulness. They are also very grateful for the help they are receiving from members of other churches, and the encouragement and sympathy they have received from all.

Hon. J. E. Armstrong, a veteran drummer and one of the most patriotic and prominent citizens of Center, has been in the city today calling on the trade in the interest of his house, the Woods Manufacturing Co., of Fort Smith, Ark. Mr. Armstrong belongs to one of East Texas' oldest and best families, inheriting all the patriotic instincts and characteristics of a noble ancestry, and is a prince of good fellows. He has many friends in Nacogdoches who are always glad to see him.

HALTOM & GIBBS, Proprietors
GILES M. HALTOM, Manager
O. M. GIBBS, Editor

A paragrapher adds to the slogan "safety first," "silence second." This is a good addition, but in many instances just the silence would suffice.

Since the new linotype machine, with which the office is now equipped has started, it has dawned upon the editor-reporter that he is "up agin" a real proposition to feed it with copy. The "thing" can run faster than our typewriter to say nothing of the time we must spend in gathering up the news. The only solution of the problem is overtime work and co-operation of the people. Please phone us something quick.

Elsewhere in this paper we reproduce a number of pretty compliments the brethren of the press have been bestowing upon us lately. We may transgress the bounds of propriety somewhat in the matter, but if so, it is out of the abundance of our appreciation. With the splendid recognition and confidence of the fraternity, we get inspiration for greater effort—and then, too, we are human just like other people and enjoy "flowers for the living."

The Temple Telegram editorializes: "Wherever corn is grown there you find rich, prosperous communities. The improvement of the corn yield by seed testing will produce good results." Our contemporary is correct in both statements. Much corn has been grown in East Texas this year and our people are in better shape than they have been in many years previous. Seed testing and seed breeding has been tried out in Nacogdoches county, as a result of which farmers have learned that more than one hundred bushels can be grown on a single acre.

If a Texas invention proves all that is claimed for it the humble cotton picker, now whisked from town to patch in six-cylinder auto, will gather next season's crop completely at ease on a porch covered seat beneath a mercerized silk sunshade. The invention transports four pickers and their sacks, wherefore the "pasengers" are able to devote all of their time and energy to the rapid picking of cotton. The Boll Weevil Limited has arrived! Transfers at the turn-row and twenty minutes for watermelons in the shade! Cotton picking de luxe! Why not? Shove along to Texas.—Fort Worth Star-Telegram.

It looks very much now like our people will go into the cotton business next year on an extensive plan, and thus resume their old position as the champion mortgage givers of the world. But we have a healthy sentiment taking root in this section in favor of a permanent system of diversified farming. That sentiment has been greatly strengthened this year. Every intelligent man can see that the only assurance of permanent prosperity in the South is well directed diversified agriculture. All cotton farming will not give us prosperity. We have tried it for fifty years with the result that our farms have been impoverished, tenantry increased and the number of mortgages limited only to the number of farmers who depend on cotton.—Col. Milner, in Rusk County News.

Col. George Bailey, the talented paragrapher of the Houston Post, expresses a sentiment that is pretty generally felt by people of Texas in the following: "Recognition or no recognition, there is just enough resentment in this country against the conduct of old Carranza toward the United States to stimulate a fervent wish that Villa may slam the eternal stuffing out of the old rascal." We do not question the wisdom of the United States in recognizing the government of Carranza at the present time, with such restrictions as may seem wise, for the reason that it is a fact that it is the only thing left to recognize, but liberty-loving people who have enjoyed the privileges offered with U. S. government can not love him or any other man connected with the conflict in the torn and bleeding republic across the Rio Grande.

BUNCH OF BOUQUETS

Oscar M. Gibbs, among the best of the Texas country editors, has recently purchased a one-half interest in the Nacogdoches Sentinel, and now that ancient and highly respectable old journal is naturally expected to "come alive" and make a noise like a newspaper.—Longview Clarion.

O. M. Gibbs has sold the Garrison News to R. B. Walthall and has purchased a half interest in the Nacogdoches Sentinel. The latter paper is to be equipped with a Linotype. Gibbs and Walthall are both good newspaper men, and we bespeak a continuation of success for them.—Hemphill Citizen.

Editor Gibbs has sold his paper, the Garrison News, to R. B. Walthall and purchased a half interest in the Nacogdoches Daily and Weekly Sentinel. The latter paper will install a new Linotype machine, and with two such live newspaper men as Haltom and Gibbs at the helm, the paper may be expected to show great improvement.—Houston Post.

Editor O. M. Gibbs has sold the Garrison News to Editor Walthall, who is Garrison's worthy mayor, and has moved to Nacogdoches, where he has become editor of the Daily and Weekly Sentinel, having purchased a one-half interest in that paper. Bro. Gibbs is an able writer and we congratulate the people of Nacogdoches for being so successful as to persuade him to cast his lot with them.—Tenaha Messenger.

O. M. Gibbs, who has for some time been steering the course of the Garrison News, has recently purchased an interest in the Nacogdoches Sentinel and has assumed his duties as one of the contributors to its columns. Gibbs is one of the best newspaper men in this section of the state and he will make considerable improvement in the Sentinel, which, by the way, was already an exceptionally good paper.—Jacksonville Daily Progress.

Editor Oscar Gibbs of the Garrison News announces that he has purchased a half interest in the Nacogdoches Sentinel and has sold his Garrison paper to R. B. Walthall. Gibbs and Haltom will make a strong team and with the addition of a Linotype machine, which they have ordered, will be able to materially improve the Sentinel. Gibbs is a good newspaper man, and Haltom is to be congratulated on his selection of a partner.—Lufkin News.

O. M. Gibbs has purchased an interest in the Nacogdoches Sentinel, becoming editor of the paper. Mr. Gibbs is formerly of Timpon and is a young newspaper man of splendid ability, and will prove a valuable acquisition to the Sentinel. Messrs. Haltom and Gibbs, the new proprietors, have purchased a Linotype typesetting machine and will make other improvements in the paper. The newspaper fraternity of East Texas wishes the Sentinel continued success under its new management.—Tyler Courier-Times.

O. M. Gibbs, of the Garrison News, has sold his paper to R. B. Walthall, former owner of the publication, and Bro. Gibbs will remove to Nacogdoches where he has purchased a half interest in the Daily and Weekly Sentinel, and on which publications he will be editor and reporter. A Linotype has been ordered and the publications will be brought up to now with new equipment, under the efficient management of Bro. Gibbs will no doubt take first place among journals of their class in East Texas.—Mt. Enterprise Herald.

It suddenly occurred to the Optimist editor yesterday that twenty-one years ago Oscar Gibbs was editing the Champion and the writer was his little "devil" in the office—that was back yonder in childhood's happy hours. A few years later it was the writer's good fortune to own and operate the Tenaha Messenger, Oscar still remaining with the Champion, and then we were both in Shelby county journalism. While it is a matter scarcely worthy of mention, still we are proud to be able to say that our family has been associated with the newspapers of old Shelby county for a longer period than anyone else and here we are today, battling for the good Lord and our loved ones and friends. There is sentiment in it for us and that is why it pleases our fancy to mention the matter.—Center Daily Optimist.

Bro. Oscar landed on his new job as editor of the Nacogdoches Sentinel yesterday and we trust that he again feels "at home" grappling with a daily paper. The work is great in every way and there is an infatuation about it that holds one's heart and interest. As for us, we'll be content here in Center, where both of us started in our life's career, as well as in journalism, and strive to help our "big brother" bring East Texas' opportunities and possibilities before other and less favored localities with the result that we will all reap a profit.—Center Optimist.

O. M. Gibbs, for several years editor and owner of the Garrison News, has disposed of his interest in that paper and purchased a half interest in our good neighbor, the Daily and Weekly Sentinel. Mr. Gibbs is a good newspaper man and will have charge of the editorial department of the Sentinel. The Herald rejoices to have you with us, Bro. Gibbs, and here's the right hand of fellowship. If some day when the copy is all up the boys want to send you over for our left-handed shooting stick, you sure can have it.—Redland Herald.

Oscar Gibbs announces in the last issue of the Garrison News that he has sold that paper to Mr. R. B. Walthall of Garrison. Mr. Gibbs also announces that he has purchased a half interest in the Nacogdoches Daily and Weekly Sentinel and has already assumed charge of same, his duties being that of editing the paper. He also announces that the new firm has placed an order for a Linotype machine and that considerable improvement will be made in the paper that he is connecting with. Mr. Gibbs is well known in this county for he edited The Champion for a number of years. The Nacogdoches Sentinel is an old and well-established business—a land mark for that county, as it were—and Mr. Gibbs is an old and experienced newspaper man, knows how to write readable matter and make his paper a real newspaper. Therefore The Champion extends congratulations to the citizens of Nacogdoches and county, and to Mr. Haltom, who has been with The Sentinel for years, in securing Mr. Gibbs' connection with that paper.—Center Champion.

NOTORIETY OF OUR NEW LINOTYPE
The Nacogdoches Sentinel is now installing their new "typesetting" machine (a Linotype) and proposes to get down to business in the modern way. The Optimist presumes that if it becomes necessary, the editor of the Sentinel will "get down and get under."—Center Daily Optimist.

The Nacogdoches Sentinel announces that its new Linotype has arrived and will soon be in operation. This is a big improvement for the Sentinel, but since Oscar Gibbs has taken hold of the editorial work, it will take a machine to absorb all his copy—and we might add right here that everything he writes will be worth reading. He knows how to write, and, being located in a good town and connected with a good paper, he will put forth his best efforts on the Sentinel. The business men of Nacogdoches are loyal supporters of the Sentinel and if all the business men of Timpon will do likewise by the Times, we, too, will equip our office with a typesetting machine.—Timpon Daily Times.

AN OBITUARY.

At some few minutes after 1 o'clock Thursday, Oct. 7, the spirit of Mrs. Malissa Commander passed from this world to the Glory Land. Sister Commander died after a prolonged sickness, through which she showed patience and faith in the Lord. She was born Oct. 24, 1852; was married to Mr. W. S. Commander in July, 1872; lived in Mississippi until some few years ago, when with her kin, came to Texas where she resided until death. Since the death of her husband, which occurred some years ago, she has lived a widow and raised her family of children; was a faithful member of the Methodist church and her Christian life won the love and friendship of all who knew her. Her last words were: "I'm going home; come go with me." She leaves one daughter and seven sons to mourn her loss. She was buried at King's Graveyard at 3 o'clock Friday evening, Bro. Woltz officiating. Friends from far and near attended the burial services. There is no earthly friend; not sister, brother, Who can take the place of your loving mother; She toiled and strove for her children's sake, And would for you any sacrifice make. She dwells in that beautiful home above, But leaves behind an example of love.

A FRIEND.

Mr. John Butt, brother of C. W. Butt, went to the Nacogdoches Surgical hospital this morning for an operation.

"The first one will be on Wednesday, Nov. 3, and the other Sunday, Nov. 7. For Wednesday, Ruth Law will be the feature attraction, while for Sunday, automobile races will be given. This, in addition to the many other attractions at the State Fair at Shreveport. "The round trip rate from Nacogdoches will be, for Wednesday and Sunday, $1.50.
