MR. MARTIN DIES IN GREAT DEMAND.

East Texas Congressmen Wanted for Speeches in New York and Philadelphia

Washington, Jan. 3.—Representative Dies has just accepted two invitations to address important meetings to be held in New York and Philadelphia, at which preparedness will be the subject under discussion. The comment of the press upon the recent speech of the East Texas representative at Baltimore assailing the administration's program has served to attract much attention and has resulted in the extending of numerous invitations to deliver similar addresses elsewhere. So far he has accepted but two, one for January 8th, before a non-partisan club in New York City, in which he will be pitted against Secretary of War Garrison and United States Senator Chamberlain, both advocates of the big army and navy program, and on January 18th, before the Pennsylvania Arbitration and Peace Society, when he will have for his subject "Preparedness."

"Uncle" Joe Turnage, an elegant old gentleman of Garrison, came down yesterday and remained over until today looking after some business matters and renewing acquaintance with old friends. "Uncle Joe," as he is familiarly known and tenderly addressed by those who know him, is a worthy and gallant survivor of the Confederacy and would shoulder his old musket again if his country needed his service. He has passed the seventy-eighth milestone of his age, but notwithstanding this great age, he is still active in mind and body, and has a host of friends in the circle of his acquaintance who join in the wish that he may be spared to them many more years, and at last be gathered to the reward such patriots and grand old men so richly deserve.

MAYOR MATTHEWS WILL RUN AGAIN.

Hon. Geo. H. Matthews, mayor of Nacogdoches, in conversation with the Sentinel man this morning, said that it was his present intention to make the race for re-election, and that his announcement would be forthcoming in due time.

MONEY AND TAXES WILL BE HIGHER.

St. Paul, Minn., January 3.—"The one thing that we may be sure of is that taxes will be higher."

That was James J. Hill's answer to this question:

"What will happen in this country when the war ends?"

Mr. Hill is not a pessimist. No man could be and live in this wonderful Northwest country. Optimism coupled to strength made him perhaps the greatest single force in it. When he boated up the Mississippi for the first time, 60 years ago, an Indian camp was hidden behind every bend. Fur was the one product of the country of commercial importance. Its imports were axes and blankets and gun powder. Today the stories of prosperity one hears would be incredible if they were not backed by money in the bank and wheat in the shock.

Perhaps better than any other man in the Northwest Mr. Hill knows that the surface has barely been scratched. But as to that future which shall immediately follow the end of the war he displays a certain conservatism.

"Money rates will be higher, for one thing," said he. "We will face more persistent competition. There may be a spurt in business during the period of readjustment. No one can definitely say what will happen next. There has never been a situation just like this. We have no past experience by which to measure."

Just as this war is greater than previous wars, it occurred to Mr. Hill that this world is smaller than it used to be. The business of the whole world is not so far apart in point of time as the business of the United States was in the days following our war with the States. It is not so long ago that a merchant doing business in China would send his ships on a wandering voyage during which the captain might trade base tomorrow's action in Peking on what he hears happened yesterday in Europe.

Messrs. Leroy and Bill Fulmer, former citizens of this county, who are now making their home in Homer, La., have been in the city this week visiting with relatives and friends and looking after some business interests.

GEORGE FRANK PARSONS HAS BEEN ARRESTED

Young Man Who Blew up Lufkin Depot Arrested in Los Angeles, California.

A dispatch from Los Angeles, California, says under date of Jan. 4, and appearing in today's paper:

"George Frank Parsons, 27 years of age, under indictment at Lufkin, Texas, on a charge of arson in connection with the destruction of the railroad station there at which he was employed as agent, was brought to jail here today from Palmdale, Cal., where, he was arrested. The station was destroyed March 2, 1913. According to E. J. Mantooth, an attorney at Lufkin, aided sheriff's officials in finding Parsons. A representative of the sheriff of Los Angeles started today for Texas with Parsons."

People of Nacogdoches are familiar with the affair noted in the above dispatch. Young Parsons carried a large amount of insurance which the companies refused to pay until proof of his death was produced, and the beneficiary which was his mother, filed suit to collect the amount. The case was moved for trial to this city, and Mrs. Parsons secured judgement against the companies. A big suit for damages was also filed against the railroad company, and both suits have been fought bitterly.

Of course, there is still room for mistakes as to the identity of the young man under arrest but the officer who is bringing him back to Texas should arrive tonight or tomorrow, and definite information will be had upon his arrival as the people at Lufkin were well acquainted with the young man.

The mysterious disappearance of the young man, in which no trace of him could ever be found attracted world-wide attention, and it was generally conceded that his body was completely destroyed in the fire, yet there were many who believed that such a thing would be impossible without leaving some trace. He bore a splendid reputation for honesty, and his mother is an elegant lady, as a result of which public sentiment was in favor of the insurance companies as well as the railroad people being forced to re-imburse the widowed mother.

RURAL CARRIERS HAD BIG DINNER.

Postmaster Donnegan entertained the four rural mail carriers at his home last Saturday with a big holiday dinner which they enjoyed very highly and appreciated very much.

The tables were laid with many good things to eat, and the hospitality which is characteristic of this home was manifest throughout, making it a most enjoyable occasion long to be remembered by those present.

A Good Stalk Cutter Will Save You Money Every Year

Are you one of those farmers who burn all your stalks and then buy fertilizer? Why don't you stop that foolishness? You know that there is fertilizer in every stalk that grows. You know that if you cut the stalks into short pieces and "turn them back into the soil" that you put that fertilizer right back into your land.

It means better land, larger crops and more money to you if you will use an AVERY CYCLONE STALK CUTTER. THE CYCLONE is built entirely of steel and iron. The wheel boxes and spindle bearings have dust-proof self-oiling caps, making the machine easy running and very durable. The springs send the knives down every time with a "hack" that cuts and these same springs also take up the "jolt," making it easier on the driver. The blades are made of true temper, best grade steel, with sharp-cutting edges on both sides.

There are many other things about the AVERY CYCLONE but we want you to come in and see for yourself. Come in and talk to us.

JOE WATSON WAS SEVERELY BURNED.

While Playing With Bottle of Powder, Explosion Burned Boy Severely.

A few mornings ago while Joe Watson, the seven-year-old son of District Clerk and Mrs. C. C. Watson, was playing with a bottle of powder an explosion occurred which burned the boy severely, and came near costing him his life.

The day previous Joe and some of his playmates had gotten a bottle of powder and amused themselves by pouring a small quantity upon the ground and sticking a lighted match over it. They also experimented with blowing up an empty oyster can after the same fashion and got by that day without accident of any kind. The next morning Joe resumed play at home with the same kind of amusement, and poured some powder on the ground, unconsciously setting the bottle down near which exploded when the blaze reached it, making the boy its target and throwing the fire upon him.

The boy was wearing a wool sweater and wool pants, which almost burned up before his parents could get them off. He was also badly burned about the face, and a large portion of his hair was burned off, but fortunately it is not thought that any of his injuries are serious or will make a serious scar. The bottle failed to break which saved more serious injury.

For the first two days Joe had to be confined to his bed with his eyes and face in bandage, excluding all light. He is still confined to his bed, but is rapidly recovering, and hopes are entertained that he will soon be out again. But he has no ambition to return to his old play.

WOODMEN INSTALLATION BRILLIANT EVENT.

A Large Crowd Was Present. New Officers Were Installed Banquet and Good Time.

The newly elected officers of Liberty Elm Camp No. 210, Woodmen of the World, were installed at the camp hall last evening, and combined a most brilliant and enjoyable event.

Judge Perritte acted as installation officer, and obligated the following officers for service during the ensuing Woodmen year: Jake Summers, consul commander; Audley Harris, adviser lieutenant; Tom Summers, banker; Hollis Mast, clerk; Dee Brown and Bosen Wells, managers; Willis Burrows, escort; Monroe Hudson, sentry; George Paterson, watchman.

With Rev. Mr. Westbrook, pastor of the Baptist church speaking for the camp, a beautiful umbrella was presented to Hon. A. A. Seale, retiring consul commander, as a token of the appreciation of the membership for the untiring work he has done, and the success his administration has achieved for the camp. The ladies were invited to this meeting, to which many responded and added grace to the dignity of the occasion.

Following the business session a banquet was spread in which tables were laden and groaned under the weight of the many good things to eat. With Judge F. P. Marshall acting as toastmaster, the spread was partaken of with relish and fond appreciation by those present, many toasts and addresses were delivered, and the different features of the evening all combined to make up a most brilliant and glorious occasion which will long be remembered by those attending.

AFTER THREE YEARS.

Nacogdoches Testimony Remains Unshaken.

"Time is the best test of truth. Here is a Nacogdoches story that has stood the test of time. It is a story with a point which will come straight home to many of us.

F. Peterson, truck farmer, S. Fredonia St., Nacogdoches, Tex., says: "I suffered severely from kidney trouble for all of a year and nothing seemed to do me the least bit of good. Often the pain in my back was terrible and sharp twinges in my loins cramped me up so that I could scarcely move. The kidney secretions were irregular in passage, contained sediment like brick-dust and disturbed my sleep at night. I used Doan's Kidney Pills for several weeks and was cured." (Statement given December 13th, 1911)

A LATER INDORSEMENT.

On May 19th, 1915, Mr. Peterson said: "The benefit Doan's Kidney Pills gave me have been permanent."

FIRE AT GARRISON.

In a telephone message from Garrison yesterday, the Sentinel learns that the residence of A. H. Hartt, together with the household furniture, was destroyed by fire Saturday night.

The family were away from home for the night and the origin of the fire is a mystery.

The loss was partially covered with insurance.

An encouraging sign of the times is the announcement from New York that the wages of two hundred thousand employees is being raised. When the laboring people enjoy prosperity the whole world prospers.

A friend of the Palestine Herald observes that: "He knows a whole lot of people with phonographs who haven't a good record," and the esteemed contemporary wonders if it may mean something else."

Lamb County has solved the problem of so many primary elections next year by deciding to abandon the primary system. If we had more "Lamblike" people in the state we would have less political muddle.

Garrison, our progressive neighbor up the line, will pull off another big Trades Day 12th, with a program of speaking, music, races, etc., and nothing is being left undone that will contribute to the brilliance of the occasion.

The "Segregation Issue" has reached St. Louis, and will have an election on January 13th to determine the matter. As an Dallas, the colored population is fighting the issue and have applied for an injunction to restrain the election.

Hon. R. B. Walthall announces in his paper, the Garrison News, that he will make formal announcement of his candidacy for the legislature within a few days, and we will have more to say about him when he makes the announcement.

The date for the National Convention has been set for July 19th, and will be held in Minneapolis, Minn. There was not so much stir and bidding for the this convention, but the fidelity of the leaders has been preserved, and the convention will be held just the same.

As Uncle Judd of the Houston Post would say, our Elsie Smith let one get by yesterday when an editorial paragraph read: "The national convention will meet in Minneapolis." The real convention will be held in St. Louis, and it was intended to say that "the Prohibition National Convention would be held in Minneapolis."

From the Dallas Evening Journal the information is gleaned that Dr. J. H. Gambrell has been elected one of the editors of the Californian of Los Angeles Cal., one of the leading prohibition journals of the country. The doctor will continue to reside in Dallas, sending his contributions to the paper. Dr. Gambrell is one of the best known ministers and writers of the state, and one of the best known prohibition fighters of the South.

Eight of the states of the Union entered the prohibition column with the dawn of today. They are Alabama, South Carolina, Idaho, Arkansas, Colorado, Washington, Oregon and Iowa. Virginia will go dry the first day of the coming November. This makes nineteen states of the union dry, leaving twenty-nine of the forty-eight wet. Alaska, Vermont, Indiana, Nebraska, and South Dakota will vote on prohibition during the year, and if these should elect prohibition practically half of the United States will be dry.

INTERNATIONAL COURT

The creation of an international court for the enforcement of international law is advocated by those who believe nations as well as individuals should be forced to submit their controversies to the decision of courts instead of the arbitrament of war. The suggestion of Elihu Root, a lawyer of acknowledged ability in his profession, touching the necessity of an international tribunal is worthy of the studios attention of persons who advocate the peaceful adjudication of the controversies of nations.

The folly of creating laws for the governments of nations without providing a tribunal having authority to enforce them is obvious. Nations no more than individuals can be relied upon to observe laws which no court has authority to enforce. Under such conditions the nation as well as the individual respects the law as long as it is to their interest to do so, to ruthlessly violate it the moment it conflicts with such interest. If there is any reason why courts should not be created to enforce laws requiring nations to respect their obligations and keep the peace, in the same manner that local tribunals enforce local laws, for like purposes in the case of individuals, no one has advanced it. That the state and the nation are identical, consisting of aggregation of person, differing in the one respect that the latter has a greater jurisdiction and scope of action, possessing practically the same government systems, should prove efficiently convincing that a judicial system effective in the one case would prove equally efficient in the other.

The chief difficulty encountered by those who have formulated plans for the creation of an international court relates to the important matter of providing a method to compel nations to submit their controversies which may arise, and that upon the failure or refusal of anyone shall by armed force, if necessary, compel its compliance as citizens of a domestic government resort to arms in the settlement of controversies officers of the law intervene and compel them to submit their difference to the courts. Why should not nations in the same manner be compelled to do likewise?

The successful inauguration of an international court similar to that suggested by Mr. Root would virtually result in the abolition of war with its unspeakable horrors and in saving the millions of dollars expended in the maintenance of armies and navies by the nations of the world. Surely a matter which means so much to the human race is worthy of the earnest support and best efforts of the world's master minds.—Austin American.

LEARN FROM OTHERS.

The men and women who are making the most of their opportunities on the farm today are those who make use of their neighbor's experience. They realize that experience is a slow expensive and unsatisfactory way of acquiring information, but that some one must acquire it this way. They do not discount their own experience, but value it highly. Yet they cannot afford to wait through the years of toil and privation for their own experience to prove things that can be proven from the experience of others.

Why waste time and spend money trying to prove that which has been proven by others? Why refuse to do that which the ripe experience of others tells us to do, how to do it, and the reason for doing it? Why experiment with work that is well known and being demonstrated.

While there are some things that must be learned by experience, there are many facts about successful farming that may be had and the plan put in own farm. Books, bulletins and the farm press, are full of facts, many of them carefully established and forcefully but simply presented so anyone of ordinary intelligence may understand. Reading puts one in teligent and the experienced reader is connected with the power, the energy and the initiative of those who succeed on the and Mrs. Philips of Cushing in marketing. WOMAN'S LOVE.

The Beaumont Journal says: No matter what is said and thought of Robert G. Ingersoll, the famous agnostic, as to his views of life here and hereafter, there can be no doubt as to his ability to beautifully express himself. His eloquence as a writer and a speaker was remarkable and his power to put in words his thoughts was a gift almost sublime.

The following tribute paid by him to a woman's love is as beautiful as any ever written. It appeals to the senses as does a grand harmony of sound and is typical of his marvelous power of expression and command of the English language.

Here it is: "It takes a hundred men to make an encampment, but it takes only the influence of one woman to make a home. I not only admire woman as the most beautiful object ever created, but I reverence her as the redeemed glory of humanity, the sanctuary of all virtues, the pledge of all perfect qualities of heart and head. It is because women are so much better than men that their faults are considered greater. The one thing in this world that is considered constant, the only peak that rises above the clouds, the window in which the light burns forever, the one star that darkness can not quench, is woman's love. It rises to the greatest heights, it sinks to the lowest depths, it forgives the most cruel injuries. A woman's love is the perfume of the heart. This is the real love that subdues the earth; the love that has wrought miracles of art; that gives us music all the way from the cradle song to the grand symphony that bears the soul away on wings of fire. A love that is greater than power, sweeter than life and stronger than death."

Frank Shearon has a good, well-kept farm, not too big for him to look after thoroughly. That's a great weakness with us in the South. A man likes to say that he has 250, 300 or even 400 acres even if he is not in a position to handle over fifty as they ought to be. My friend, Mr. C. L. Hinton, told me sometime ago that near him is a truck farmer with five acres and an old-fashioned plantation-owner with a thousand acres, and the five-acre man clears the most money. But Mr. Shearon early escaped from this common Southern weakness for "broad acres." He had 200 acres at first but sold 100 to a good white neighbor, whose pretty home is not many hundred yards away—not close enough for the chickens to be troublesome and yet it is close enough to keep each family from ever feeling lonesome or too far from neighbors.—Clarence Poe, in The Progressive Farmer.

The dispatches announce that "Pancho Villa Returns to Old Life as Bandit." He had never gotten very far away from the "old life"

BIRTH OF A YEAR OF WHAT?

With the birth of a new year the question will naturally arise, "What will it bring us?"

Will it be peace, or war? Will it be plenty or want?

No human being can answer that question today, though some may make a ludicrous bluff at doing so.

At no time in the life of the present generation has the birth so much uncertainty with regard to the world in general and our own country in particular.

We all hope and pray that the war may end and that the world may return to sanity and commercial stability. But there is longing for something that is not.

We are pinning our faith to the ability of our country to keep free from foreign entanglements but again there is no certainty—only phantasies of our dreams.

We are looking and longing for the day to come when men will cease to butcher each other and return to the more humanizing pursuits of a peaceful life. But our longing results in only more longing looking. There is no peace.

We anticipate a year of great commercial prosperity for the people and our country, and it will be theirs if no unforeseen combination of events overturn the tranquility of the nation. But in this, too, there is an "if" and the if is not of our making.

We are promised a year of unexampled activity among the factories, and in the fields, and in all the marts of the trades, but much of it will depend upon the actions of other nations than ours. And we are today a government and a people without friends among other peoples of the earth.

We have grown and expanded and developed until we are the richest of all the countries of the world, and yet our great wealth is today an actual menace to our peace and security; peace and security of the future, for the nation that is hungry for gold is not in choice in its mode of attack when the time for invasion comes.

But let's be optimistic and face the future with faith, with eyes open to every essential fact, and with a firm determination to persevere and to conquer in the face of all obstacles.

Let us dare to be right in our dealings with nations and return to the world we will reap as we have sown.

Let us put our own houses in order by placing the country in a state of sufficient defense to insure us from attack without, and then let us give the world to understand that we are a just and righteous people, that we do no harm to no man or collection of men, and that we have nothing in our hearts but good will toward all people.

The new year will bring us something, but what that something is to be will depend greatly upon the course we ourselves pursue.

Never in the history of our country has it been put more plainly and emphatically and squarely up to us—Brenham Banner-Press.

A SENSIBLE MOVEMENT.

A movement was launched in Dallas Wednesday for "safe and sane farming" in Texas, and it is stated that one of the chief aims of the campaign will be to persuade farmers not to put in a large cotton acreage next year, but to diversify crops to a greater extent than has been done heretofore with the view of being independent of market fluctuations in what has been a staple money crop.

The farmer owes it to his own financial salvation to plant both a small acreage of cotton next

DOING IT.

The South's doing it. Doing what? Feeding herself. Here are some indisputable proofs in figures drawn from the annual report of the Southern Railway Co. for the year ending June 30, 1915, just issued:

Between the period 1906-07 and the last fiscal year, 1914-15, the Southern Railway's tonnage of melons, fruits and vegetables increased more than 100 per cent. During the 1906-07 period the Southern Railway shipped but only 655,513 tons. The company reports:

"With a relatively small reduction in cotton acreage the South is now producing a larger proportion of the grain, forage crops and meat and dairy products that it consumes. While one of the effects of this is to reduce the tonnage of agricultural products carried into the South, it is adding to the economic strength of the section and the consequent increased purchasing power of its rural population may be expected, under normal business conditions, to result in the increased carriage of all classes of commodities, except agricultural products. The reduced movement of agricultural products into the South will be, in a measure, compensated for by an increased movement of these products between Southern points and from the South to outside markets."

But the company's books do not tell all the story. The report admits this and draws upon the Sept. 1 report of the department of agriculture for further proof of the South's increased yields of food products. Here are 1915's advances over 1914:

	Bushels
Corn	100,341,000
Wheat	6,182,000
Oats	14,253,000
Irish potatoes	13,344,000
Sweet potatoes	6,705,000

	Bushels
Hay	1,200,000,000
Tobacco	97,000,000

Also the company tells us 5,400 miles of improved roads were built in a year in the States traversed by its lines, mention the voting of $5,000,000 in bonds for still more good roads.

Again, we might observe, the South is doing it.

And it is getting out the figures prove it.—Country Gentleman.

LET THE GOOD WORK BEGIN

Governor James E. Ferguson and Colonel J. Sheb Williams are together once more. They would solve the tenacy problem by selling small farms on long time and at a low rate of interest. Does this mean that the Governor and the Colonel will place their own holding on the market?—Fort Worth Record.

That's getting right down to the heart of things. Mr. Ferguson and Colonel Williams have got between them acres sufficient to make homes for possibly one thousand families.

Why shouldn't Jim and Sheb set the example of selling small farms on long time and at a low rate of interest?

Let them remember that Mr. Carnegie has said it is a disgrace to die rich. But poverty could not overtake them, and they would have the satisfaction of knowing that they had inaugurated a movement, should it prove successful, that would forever cause their names to be spoken in reverence.

Now is the time to cut out small tracts on long time and a low interest rate. Times-Herald.

W. S. BUCHANNAN RETURN WITH BRIDE.

W. S. Buchanan of the Redland Hotel hied away to Texarkana a day or two ago, giving his friends no excuse or reason for his departure, and returned last night with a beautiful, blushing bride.

The young gentleman was married to Miss Vena Johnson, a beautiful and accomplished young lady of Texarkana, at the home of the bride, yesterday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

Upon their arrival last night the clerk pro tem required them to register, and the item on the book reads: "Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Buchanan. With Pa."

With his close application to business as manager of the hotel, and the polite and courteous treatment he accords to all, as well as his good deportment of affairs of life, Mr. Buchanan has drawn about him a large circle of admiring friends who are extending to him the glad hand, and who rejoice with him in his new-found happiness.

And his bride is an accomplished young lady who will soon come into favor with Nacogdoches people.

VILLA AND ZAPATA START NEW REVOLT.

El Paso, Texas, Jan 1.—Birth of a new revolution in Mexico to overthrow the recently recognized Carranza government was announced today.

Generals Francisco Villa and Emiliano Zapata will be the chief actors in the new movement, according to hand bills which are being secretly distributed in Mexican circles.

This manifesto, which was drafted Pachuca on Dec. 25, is signed by Antonio Diaz Soto y Gama, recently proclaimed president of Mexico by General Zapata.

Gama, who has been Zapata's chief adviser since the revolution started five years ago, is one of Mexico's most talented lawyer's and speakers. He was Zapata's personal representative at the revolutionary convention held at Aguas Calientes a year ago and made himself famous by calling the Mexican flag a "dirty rag," causing a riot at one of the sessions, which nearly cost him his life.

FAIRBANKS BOOM IS LAUNCHED

Indianapolis, Dec. 30.—At a love feast here today, Indiana Republicans endorsed Charles W. Fairbanks, former vice president, for the Republican nomination for president of the United States. At the same meeting Edwin P. Morrow pledged Kentucky at the national Republican convention at Chicago in June.

Mr. Fairbanks was given a noisy ovation when he rose to speak.

"The people have tried democracy," said Mr. Fairbanks, "and democracy has tried them. The result has been a reunited, rebaptized party of opposition. There is no divided republicanism—we are reunited as of old."

Suggesting a Republican platform for 1916, the speaker advocated a foreign policy "just and firm," adequate preparation for national defense, a protective tariff, a merchant marine and "high living standards for American workers."

Messrs. J. H. and R. J. McClure, Mrs. J. H. Hobbs, and Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Carter, who have been in the community the past two weeks visiting with G. H. King and other relatives; will leave this afternoon for their home in Oklahoma.

Miss Sylvia Bruton of Houston, is the guest of Miss Willie Gramling for several days.

PLOWING.

Those of our farmers who have not thought it advisable to plow their lands in the late fall or early winter, will be the losers in this year's crop. The weather conditions during October, November and December have been ideal for deep plowing, and now that the winter rains have set in and made our soil too wet to plow, it may be late spring before good plowing can be done, especially upon our red lands. There is a very good small acreage planted in the county to winter oats, and the soils of our farms have been laying idle for the past three months, bringing in no revenue to the farmer, whereas they should have planted a winter grain crop, which, as I have stated before, would have afforded a mid-winter pasture for the stock, as well as an early grain crop about the last of May.

To those who have no oats planted, it would be to their interest to begin plowing for February oats. Oats planted at this time will not produce as heavy a crop as oats planted in October, but they are better than no oats, therefore those of our people who have got the hook-worm worked out of their systems through the Christmas holidays should be prepared to get down to work. How many of us understand the principle of plowing, aside from crumbling the soil? The chief objects of plowing to destroy wild plants so that cultivated plants may grow in their place; to bury all trash such as cornstalks so that they may decay and form humus which increases the water holding power of the soil. A plow that does not accomplish these objects is faulty. A broad and deep furrow buries trash better than one that is narrow and shallow, and yet how many of our farmers when plowing, leave the corn stalks upon the top of the ground where they do no good, but are a hindrance to good cultivation. The time for deep plowing this season is about over. It is not advisable to plow in the spring of the year, therefore those who have not taken advantage of the past two months to put their farm in good shape for the coming crop, will have to plow shallow and be worried all the year with the trash of last year's crop upon the surface of the ground, whenever they cultivate. This is not the worst things they will suffer. If we have a dry season, which we generally have following a season like the last, their crop is apt to burn up and their cotton stop growing for the want of moisture. The past year, although it opened gloomy for the farmers in the county, proved to be the best farming year in the history of the county, and why? Because our farmers cut down their cotton acreage and planted a variety of food crops, with the result that there is plenty of feed in the county for both man and beast. This system must be followed every year. If our farmers go back to cotton just because it reached 12c during a period of the growing season, it will be the greatest mistake ever made. Continue to grow enough feed crops and also plant some cotton, but do not plant cotton for your living. If you do you will be forced to sell it as soon as it is ginned, and this will make a low price for the product this coming fall.

Far ming is a great profession, and to farm right takes more brains than selling goods in a store, therefore, let us all practice crop rotations, diversify our crops, plow our soil at the proper time instead of leaving it unplowed until planting time, listen to the advice given by your Experiment Station, write are not pleasant if she is delicate, run-down, or over-worried. She feels "played out." Her smile and her good spirits have taken flight. It worries her husband as well as herself.

This is the time to build up her strength and cure those weaknesses or ailments which are the seat of her trouble. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription regulates and promotes all the proper functions of womanhood, enriches the blood, dispels aches and pains, melancholy and nervousness, brings refreshing sleep, and restores health and strength. It cures those disorders and derangements incident to womanhood.

Mrs. LUCINDA ARMSTRONG, 3512 Dallas Avenue, Dallas, Texas, says: "My mother used Dr. Pierce's medicine over thirty years ago and recommended them to her daughters. I have used the Favorite Prescription during my married life and found this remedy was all that was claimed for it."

WORKING A SMALL FARM.

Madison, Wis., Dec. 31.—"How to Make a Small Farm Pay" is the subject of a small bulletin just issued by the Wisconsin Bankers Association, 30,000 copies of which are being distributed to farmers of the state.

"If you are thinking of joining the union so as to have only an eight or ten hour working day do not think of trying to operate a small farm," says F. F. Showers, farmer of a forty-acre tract, in an article contributed to the bulletin.

A SWELL BANQUET BY CHAPTER MASONS.

From Friday's Daily: One of the most enjoyable and brilliant events ever promoted by a lodge was the social gathering and banquet held by the Masonic fraternity at the lodge rooms of the orer last evening. by the chapter of Royal Arch Masons who entertained their brethren from the Blue Lodge, the two branches of the order coming together in an informal social meeting—and a great meeting it was where good-fellowship brotherly love, wit and humor prevailed.

At the appointed time plates laden with nicely cooked turkey and all the other good things that go to make up a feast fit for the gods were passed and enjoyed with the relish and fond appreciation for which men are capable on an occasion of this kind—and you know men have much "capability" when they come in contact with the aroma of the flesh pots and behold the spread of a feast. With Judge F. P. Marshall acting as toastmaster, many logical, eloquent, and soul-stirring addresses were delivered, all teeming with brotherly love and fond appreciation of the noble order which draws men closer together and makes them all akin.

The occasion will be long remembered by all present, and was attended with so much genuine enjoyment that it will be doubtless followed with a repetition of the same at the first opportunity.

WESTERN MEXICO "DRY"

San Francisco, Dec. 29.—Western Mexico, from Tepec to the border will be "dry" soon, according to T. B. Boyd, Jr., who has just returned from San Blas. He said Sonora was absolutely "dry" and "bootleggers" ran a chance of summary execution. Governors were thinking of making their states "dry" and that Carranza favored this move.

Misses Era Petty and Affie Owens, who have been spending the holidays with the home folks in the city, have returned to East Bernard.

BAILEY IS AGAINST THE PREPAREDNESS.

Former Senator Joseph Bailey is against preparedness. In a recent letter to the Wow-Wow, a monthly paper published at Loreno, Texas, he states his reasons therefor. His communication follows:

"I am glad to have my friends like you to write me at any time when they desire to know my opinion on any question, and I am utterly opposed to the so-called "preparedness" which the president is now so earnestly advocating. If I thought that this country was in any immediate danger of coming to blows with any other foreign country, I would insist on making a suitable preparation for the conflict; but I am utterly unable to understand how any intelligent person can think that there is even a remote possibility of our country engaging in a war at this time or for many years to come. The only nations in the world with which a war would be anything like serious to us are now involved in a struggle among themselves from which they will not recover in fifty years. With millions of their best men killed, crippled, with other millions diseased as a result of exposure and with national debts which will aggregate $40,000,000,000, neither France, nor Germany, nor Russia will be apt to give any country, and least of all, our country, any just cause of quarrel during the present century. All of this persuades me that there was never an hour in our history when there was less need of military preparation than there is today; and if we spend an additional sum of $200,000,000 a year on our army and navy—and before we have gone very far we will be spending much more than that—we will have spent $10,000,000,000 in the next 50 years in the face of a practical certainty that we will have no war, and, therefore that vast sum provided by the capital and labor of this country, will simply have been wasted.

"I understand, of course, that there are men in this country who believe in a strong government, and who think that a great army and a great navy will make ours a strong one; but no real democrat entertains that view. We have been taught to believe that a military republic is an impossibility, because the spirit of the army and the spirit of a republic are irreconcilable. A republic can, it is true, maintain a small army in time of peace without serious injury to its institutions, but that can only be done by keeping the army so small that its spirit can not permeate the great mass of our people. This has always been the position of the democratic party and this must continue to be the position of the democratic party, if it is to remain democratic.

Very Truly, your friend.

A dispatch from Dallas says the grand jury of Dallas county was charged to investigate gambling that is alleged to be practiced by society women of that city. Thus it seems that Dallas is becoming as "metropolitan" as New York.

Nothing contributes so much to the civic beauty of a town as an abundance of shade trees arranged in lawns and lanes. Let us serve a double purpose in good old Doches by filling every vacant nook and corner with pecan trees which will bear palatable nuts as well as shade.

The unusual news come from Springfield, Mo., that a citizen of that city has forgotten his wife's name, and in attempting to join her in a visit to his wife's people in a neighboring city could get no help from the city directory. And here we are reminded that this is one instance in which a Missourian could not be "shown."

The Austin American says: "The mills of the gods are now engaged on the Huerta grist." As a part of the jury of public opinion we would advise that he be turned loose with the other cut-throats of the stricken republic—not as a matter of principle, but in extension of the mantle of charity with which others have been clothed.

With the completion of the magnificent new postoffice building, which will soon be in course of construction, and free mail delivery which we can get by going after it, Nacogdoches will take her place with the cities of the state indeed as she is in fact. When we must have a better day is coming.

The new law, passed by the thirty-fourth Legislature providing that corporations and firms employing more than ten people shall make semi-monthly settlement, is now in effect, becoming operative with the first of the year. The failure to comply with the new law carries with it a penalty of a fine of fifty dollars for each day's delinquency. The new provision will call for a general re-adjustment of the industrial life of the state.

With the introduction of agricultural agents, experimental stations and government help along different lines, we wonder if a similar service could not be employed with great profit in the life of the towns. The government has told the farmers how to rid their farms of boll-weevils and other pests, and if it would now extend the service and tell the towns how to rid themselves of the knockers and the parasites who live upon the substance of their more frugal neighbors what a great world this would be.

A great agriculture is in store for the ambitious boys in East Texas. Land is yet in reach of the industrious young man, and there are signs of better economic conditions. Some scheme is going to be devised by which land can be bought on easy terms and science is going to aid mightily in the future solution of all kinds of farm problems. Experience is teaching us that we may not rely altogether on cotton for cash crops. Cattle, hogs, horses, fruits and nearly all that a country relies on for real prosperity are produced here.—Col. Milner in Rusk County News.

A "SILK-STOCKING DISEASE."

The health commissioner of Pennsylvania a few days ago warned the people of his state, whose city was suffering an epidemic of grippe, against overheating their rooms and workshops, and against visiting crowded places where grippe germs are sure to be circulating in the air, says the Louisville Courier-Journal. The health commissioner of Illinois, his investigation occasioned by an epidemic of grippe in Chicago, finds not one case of grippe among 350 hoboes, lodging in the municipal dormitory. Upon the strength of his discovery he declares grippe a "silk-stocking disease." Its victims are commonly persons who can afford to eat more than they need, to wrap themselves more securely than they should be wrapped and to heat their houses to a higher temperature than is beneficial to health. The hoboes, ill-clad and accustomed to exposure to the weather, are less frequently sufferers from "winter" diseases of the respiratory system than the well-to-do.

The hobo is not a stickler for fresh air. He does not, like some persons you know, boast that he never turns up his coat collar on the coldest day and never has the sore throat, or that he wears muslin underwear all winter and is never cold. He does not attempt to harden himself by scorning what the majority call comfort. When he sleeps indoors he does not open all the windows for the sake of fresh air. But he spends more time out of doors than he does indoors and in the course of his wanderings acquires hardening without seeking it.

Investigations elsewhere, or upon another occasion in Chicago, might tend to show that the tramp is not immune from grippe. But that he is less subject to it than persons who coddle themselves altogether probable in view of the agreement of physicians that too much heat and too much nourishment constitute adequate preparedness for the hospitable reception of germs of grippe and pneumonia.—Beaumont Enterprise.

The Nacogdoches Sentinel makes the startling assertion that a man gave his precious life in an attempt to satisfy his beastly appetite for strong drink. We have known men to drink great portions of the sparkling red essence of torment and then rove about town, making perfect monkeys of themselves in public places; we have seen the unfortunate act the brute when under the influence of the soul-destroying liquid, the origin and purpose of which no philosopher has so far been able to satisfactorily define; we have seen them act very ungentlemanly and break into jail houses when their business needed their attention and their families at home were weeping for them; we have known many nice men to soil their white linen and to nearly ruin their dispositions—to injure their good standing in the community and, a number of them have gone the dark and dreary had "beastly" appetites, and if we really believe that the Sentinel's man had actually reached that stage of intemperance, when he buried his face in the pillow and choked himself to death he did the right thing and deserves commendation for destroying his tribe.—Center Daily Optimist.

THE ONLY WAY.

Discussing the appeal of the American Association of Commerce and trade at Berlin to our government to open cable communication with Germany and Austria, the New York American expresses the opinion that it will have no effect. "Months ago," says the American, "the German Government offered to turn the existing cable over to the American Government so that it could be repaired and operated. Our Government asked the British Government if it might do so. The British Government did not even condescend to take notice of or reply to the request. Our State Department thereupon gave Germany to understand that since the British fleets controlled the seas it would be useless to think of either taking over the cable or laying a cable to some neutral country like Holland, having free communication with Germany."

It would be interesting to know what humiliation and contempt put upon our sovereignty and our rights on the high seas by the British government would arouse any indignation in Mr. Wilson or any member of the cabinet. Our ships have been seized on their way to European and South American ports. Our trade, except in war munitions, has been destroyed whenever possible; our mails have been rifled in violation of international law; we have been forbidden to export foodstuffs and manufactures to neutral countries, and our Government admits that it can not have communication with half of Europe because it can not obtain permission from the British Admiralty.

It really looks as if the only way Americans can take to insure freedom of trade and descent treatment in the world's highways is to beg Canada to annex this country and put it under the British flag. And in home numbers of our public men and public journals would find themselves.

A dispatch from New York announces that cotton goods have advanced one hundred and fifty per cent in value. The conditions of the increase in price is charged up to the war in which great quantities of cotton merchandise have been destroyed, dyestuffs are hard to get, etc., all stressing the importance of the need of more cotton mills nearer home and a good job for American ingenuity to work out a substitute for the dyestuffs which we have hitherto had to import.

Mr. McNess of the Nacogdoches county experiment station, which is sustained and supported by the United States government for the benefit of the agricultural interests, is sending the farmers of the county some mighty good advice to which they should give heed. They should also visit the station at every opportunity and take advantage of the splendid opportunities that are offered them herewith. What is the use to spend a lifetime trying to learn something by experience when you can learn it with a single visit to the station at no cost and very little trouble? With the increased settlement of the country, and the correspondingly increased value of lands, the time has arrived when we must "make two blades of grass grow where one formerly existed," and if you fail to take advantage of the opportunities offered you, your more progressive neighbor will, and will ultimately crowd you out. There is no room for drones in any avocation any more, and nothing offers a greater premium for brains, push and progress than the farm.

JAPANESE SQUADRON TO THE SUEZ CANAL.

Japan has decided to send a squadron to Suez canal waters presumably for the protection of Japanese vessels, a Tokio newspaper announced.

Paris mentions heavy cannonading in several districts along the Franco-Belgian front. A withdrawal of French troops along a 200 meter front in the Hartmann's-Weilkopf sector after a violent bombardment by the Germans is admitted. Two German munitions depots in Belgium were blown up by French guns.

Berlin reports the success of German mining operations on a larger scale between La Bassée and Bethune on the western front.

Germans recently removed from American ships on the high seas by the French cruiser Descartes have been ordered released by the French government.

The British steamer Glengyle, of 9,895 tons, has been sunk, presumably by a submarine in the Mediterranean. Loss of life is indicated, the London dispatch announcing the sinking stated that were about 100 survivors.

There is still uncertainty regarding the number of lives lost in the sinking of the liner Persia. It seems probable however, according to the latest dispatches, that the 158 persons landed at Alexandria, including 59 passengers, comprise the total saved and that Robert N. McNeely, American consul at Aden, was among the drowned. It is feared the death list will exceed 200. Sinking of the Japanese freighter Kenkoku Maru, of 2,019 tons, by a German submarine on December 29, was announced in Tokio Sunday. There was no loss of life.

WHO ARE THE BOOSTERS.

Every town has its boosters and its knockers. No community is ever found without them.

We have a healthy respect and a profound admiration for the booster, but our opinion of the chronic knocker would be unprintable.

Why can't we all be boosters in this town?

Why have we any knockers at all?

And that brings a question to our minds. Who are the boosters in this town? Who are the have a good word for it? Who are the ones who always speak well of its people, and of its past accomplishments, and of its future prospects?

We would like nothing better than to have a vote taken by the whole population, with each citizen naming those he or she considers to be boosters. And then we would like to publish the names of the boosters in this paper, and hold them up to the public as just what they are—our most progressive citizens.

When you have a little more spare time suppose you just sit down and write out the names of fifty people—men and women—who in your judgement are the greatest boosters for our town. It will give you an insight into the characters of many people, for it will cause you to weigh their good qualities with their vices, and their progressiveness with their slumbers.

YEGGMEN FAIL IN ATTEMPT

Fort Worth, Texas, Jan. 3.—Yeggmens attack the First State bank at Mansfield this morning. The first discharge to open the outer door of the vault attracted the attention of the night watchman of the town. The robbers were driven away without getting any booty.

HONOR DR. BUCKNER ON 83RD BIRTHDAY.

Robert Cook Buckner, D. D. LL. D., affectionately called "Father Buckner," was the recipient of hundreds of hearty handshakes and expressions of congratulation yesterday, when the venerable divine was celebrating the eighty-third anniversary of his natal day.

"Eighty-three years young" is Father Buckner from yesterday morning he rose at 4 o'clock to prepare for the day's festivities and he was active and wide awake at 6 o'clock yesterday afternoon. He has passed eighty-three milestones on the road of life, but yesterday he said that he is daily inspired afresh in his work and is not tired of life.

Yesterday was also "Christmas Day" for the inmates of the home, and they celebrated with Father Buckner. There are 650 orphan children in Buckner Orphan's Home and that many hearts were made glad with presents and delicacies sent to them. Schools from all over the state, The chapel presented a beautiful sight, with its ten Christmas trees laden with presents and good things to eat. Each child was remembered with an individual present, market especially for him or her.

There was not an idle moment at the home yesterday and from early in the morning until late in the evening automobiles and buggies brought friends of the institution there to congratulate Father Buckner and help make the children and the older people glad. Many also came from those in that vicinity who have in one time or another been befriended by the institution and know that there they can always find succor and relief for their troubles and distress, either mental or physical.

Yesterday afternoon a party of Dallas Masons drove to the home to present their good wishes to Father Buckner, who is a thirty-second degree Mason. The visiting party was composed of George Lang, John M. Spellman, DeWitt McMurray, R. E. L. Sauer, G. B. Dealy, Dr. A. L. Frew, John W. Wowerth and John L. Stephens. On behalf of the Masonic bodies of Dallas, R. E. L. Sauer presented to Father Buckner a basket of beautiful pink and white roses.—Dallas News.

GOVERNOR AGAINST SPECIAL SESSION.

Austin, Jan. 4.—Gov. Ferguson told close friends Tuesday morning that there would be no special session of the legislature if he can prevent it.

"And I think I know how to do it," he added.

Amplifying this statement, the governor suggested that he really saw less reason now for a special session of the legislature than several months ago.

BAPTIST CAMPAIGN TO BEGIN THURSDAY.

Fort Worth, Texas, Jan. 3.—The Baptist campaign for Christian education in Texas will begin here Thursday morning with a service at the Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary. The speakers will be Drs. J. B. Gambrell and George W. Truett, both of Dallas.

The Rev. W. L. Whitley, Baptist missionary for this county, has issued a call to all members of that denomination in this county to attend and is sending invitations to others in adjoining counties.

This is part of the State-wide effort to raise $1,000,000 among the Baptists of Texas for educational purposes.

COURAGE.

Courage isn't a brilliant dash. A daring deed in a moment's flash. It isn't an instantaneous thing. Born of despair with a sudden spring. It isn't the creature of flickered hope. Or the final tug at a slipping rope. But it's something deep in the soul of man. That is working always to serve some plan.

Courage isn't the last resort. In the work of life or the game of sport; It isn't a thing that a man can call. At some future time when he's apt to fall.

If he hasn't it now he will have it not. When the strain is great and the pace is hot, For who would strive for a distant goal. Must always have courage in his soul.

Courage isn't a dazzling light. That flashes and passes away from sight; It's a slow unwavering, ingrained trait. That has the patience to work and wait.

It's a part of man when his skies are blue. It's a part of him when he has work to do. The brave man never is freed of it. He has it when there is no need of it.

Courage was never designed to show; It isn't a thing that can come and go. It's written in victory and defeat.

And every trial a man must meet. It's a part of his hours, his days, his years. Back of his smiles and behind his tears. Courage is more than a daring deed; It's the breath of life and strong man's creed. —Edgar A. Guest in Detroit Free Press.

FIVE VETERANS DEAD.

The dispatches in the big papers announce that five Confederate veterans have died of lagrippe in the Confederate Home at Austin this week. Those dead are: Thos. J. Calhoun, 79, admitted from Dallas; W. H. Maddox, 72, admitted from Melissa; Isaac N. George, 84; Levi Bankston, 78, of Austin; John T. Hodges, 70 of Lee county.

An epidemic of lagrippe has been raging in Austin several weeks as well as in other parts of the country, and with the infirmities of their age, these old gentlemen can not survive a very severe case of the malady.

ACCIDENTAL KILLINGS AT HENDERSON.

We gather the information from the Rusk County News, published at Henderson, that two accidental killings resulted from the use of fire-arms in that vicinity during the holidays.

The twelve year old son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Haynes, at Minden, accidentally shot himself while rabbit hunting from which he died in a few minutes.

Christmas morning Sebe McCullough accidentally killed Ike Cameron in a playful frolic by pointing a gun at Cameron which accidentally discharged. The latter parties were negroes.

The light post near the drug store of Swift Bros. & Smith, which was knocked down by an automobile some time ago, has been replaced.

FOR COUNTY TREASURER

The Sentinel is authorized to announce W. Y. Hall, a well known citizen of the Prairie Grove community, as a candidate for the office of county treasurer of Nacogdoches county subject to the action of the democratic primaries.

Mr. Hall was born and reared in the county. He is a son of Mr. Marian W. Hall, who was also born and reared in the county, and the family belongs to the well known list of old settlers of the county who have helped "blaze the way" to present development. Mr. Hall has always been a working man, and bears the reputation of having much energy and industry, but some time ago had the misfortune to lose his right arm which impairs his usefulness for hard work, and he is therefore anxious to get the position for which he herewith makes announcement, feeling that it would give him an independent livelihood by which he could support himself and his family.

He is a good man, has made the county a good citizen, and if elected, would make the county a good treasurer.

FOR COUNTY JUDGE

The Sentinel is authorized to announce Judge J. F. Perritte as a candidate for re-election to the office of county judge of Nacogdoches county, subject to the action of the democratic primaries.

Judge Perritte is serving his first term as county judge, and is making a good one. He is keeping well up with the dockets of his court, the affairs of the county are being conducted with economical administration, and there can be no complaint from any quarter with the service being rendered. These facts being true, and well recognized by the voters of Nacogdoches county, no further comment is needed in this paper in introducing the candidacy of the gentleman for re-election, the record of service commending him to the position.

FOR COUNTY TREASURER

To the voters of Nacogdoches County:

In announcing for the office of County Treasurer, I wish to state that I have been very strongly solicited by myself to make this race, and I want to do so strongly, if not more so, solicit your support in the next democratic primary. Assuring you that I want the office and hope to be able to convince you so when the votes are counted, I will be your next County Treasurer. And will show you my appreciation by making you a good County Treasurer.

I was born in the hills of Tennessee about 65 years ago, but have lived in East Texas 42 years and in Nacogdoches county 18 years, and have always tried to attend to my business and now I want to attend to a part of yours,

Yours respectfully,
J. F. FLOYD.

FOR SHERIFF

The Sentinel is authorized to announce Mr. M. F. Maples as a candidate for sheriff of Nacogdoches county, subject to the action of the democratic primaries.

Mr. Maples is no stranger to the voters of Nacogdoches, having made a most creditable race for the position in last election. Neither is he a stranger to the duties of the position, having had much experience in this department of the county service as deputy sheriff, and it can be said of him as a deputy that he was a good one, never failing to do his duty as he saw it. With the whole responsibility he would be even more diligent, and would make the county a good sheriff if the voters see fit to pass the commission into his hands.

FOR COUNTY CLERK

The Sentinel is authorized to announce W. T. (Lake) Orton as a candidate for re-election to the office of county clerk of Nacogdoches county, subject to the action of the democratic primaries.

Mr. Orton is serving his first term as county clerk, and is making a good one. He keeps up with the work in a painstaking manner, is accurate, courteous and obliging, and you could not find a better public servant. If you were to comb and rake the county over. With these recognized facts, we herewith submit his candidacy to the voters of the county without further comment.

FOR JUSTICE OF THE PEACE

The Sentinel is authorized to announce F. D. Huston as a candidate for re-election to the office of justice of the peace, subject to the action of the democratic primaries.

Mr. Huston is serving his first term, and is making a good officer. He is always on the job, and gives close personal attention to every matter entrusted to his care. In the course of his administration he has manifested good ability in handling the work of the office, and if re-elected, the precinct a good justice of the peace.

FOR MAYOR

The Sentinel is authorized to announce Jno. B. Nelson as a candidate for mayor of Nacogdoches in the forthcoming municipal election.

Mr. Nelson was reared in Nacogdoches county, and has been a citizen of the city many years, as a result of which he is well known to every voter. Neither is he a stranger to the position he seeks, having served the city as a mayor for a number of years and it is said to his credit that he made a good one, being ever alert to every matter and that was for the best interest of the city. He has also served the county as county treasurer in which he also rendered faithful service. With his long residence, together with the experience he has had in public service, he is fully equipped for the duties of the position, and if elected would make the city a worthy public servant.

FORD BACK FROM PEACE PILGRIMAGE

New York, Jan. 2.—(Sunday)—The Norwegian liner Bergensfjord, bringing Henry Ford to these shores after ill health had forced him to abandon his peace party was at quarantine last midnight. Shortly after 1 o'clock she passed Fire Island and made her way to anchorage, where she will await the coming of the inspectors this morning. She should dock at her pier at the foot of Forty-fifth Street, Brooklyn about nine o'clock this morning.

Mr. Ford planned to transfer to a private tug about 7:20.

Mrs. Henry Ford and her son Edsal Ford, arrived yesterday afternoon from their home at Dearborn, Mich., to meet the pacifist. They were accompanied by several friends from Detroit and went direct to the hotel Baltimore. There Mrs. Ford and her son registered privately and gave instructions that the location of their apartment be kept secret.

Although the hotel officials admitted that they were guests and would receive messages for them, the instructions were lived-up to and no one saw the automobile manufacturer's family during the day.

A BEAUTIFUL WEDDING

A wedding of immense interest was that of Miss Fannie Birt Nelson and Mr. George Edgar Rogers at the home of the bride's parents on Main Street yesterday afternoon.

The bride was lovely in a handsome coat suit of brown with hat and accessories to match. Miss Eula Monk sang "Love You Truly" in a most talented way as a preliminary to the ceremony. Little Miss Julia Moore Nelson, carrying the ring in a silver tray, entered to the strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march which was most gracefully rendered by Miss Charlie Stinson. Following the dainty little ring bearer who was clad in white and pink were the bride and groom.

After the impressive ceremony of the Episcopal church rendered by Rev. Atwell, the newly married couple received congratulations and best wishes from the numerous friends who gathered to wish them joy and happiness.

The house was beautifully decorated with pot plants and cut flowers; the bridal arch was most beautifully decorated with an embellishment of vines and a huge white bow making the cluster.

After the ceremony delicious punch was served and much enjoyment was had by the girls left behind in the cutting of the delicious wedding cake. Miss Lillian Davidson was the lucky one, finding the ring, Miss Louise Baker cut the wish-bone, Miss Fannie Stinson the jockey, Miss Will Eva Simpson the thimble.

Mr. and Mrs. Rogers left on the T. & N. O. train for Dallas and Arlington on a short wedding trip, and upon their return will make their home with Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Nelson.

The fair bride is a descendant of old time prominent families of Nacogdoches county, and is a gracious, highly accomplished and beautiful young lady who is loved and admired by all who know her. The groom comes from a good family of Arlington, and is a young man of good capability, energy and sterling integrity who will make a worthy husband for the fair bride he has won.

APPORTIONMENT OF $1 FOR PUBLIC SCHOOLS

Austin, Texas, Jan. 3.—A per capita apportionment of $1 was today pro-rated to the public schools of the State by State Superintendent W. F. Doughty. This makes $1.50 to date that has been paid on the apportionment for the year 1915-16 as against $1. paid to Jan. 1, 1915, on the apportionment of 1914-15. Warrants for the amount due will be mailed to the 900 county and independent district depositories of the State as soon as they can be prepared by the Comptroller and registered by the State Treasurer.

The apportionment was made on a basis of 1,129,152 children within school age, 7 to 16 inclusive, and amounts to $1,129,152. The remainder of the apportionment will be prorated from month to month as funds accumulate in the State Treasury for this purpose.

A Co-operative market house, and a co-operative marketing system are on the way for Nacogdoches. Nacogdoches business men and the farmers of the surrounding country have too much intelligence and too much patriotism to let an opportunity pass that would insure renewed business activity and universal prosperity. When the system is worked out and installed, there will be no idle farms in hauling reach of Nacogdoches.

OBITUARY

After an illness of nearly a month, Mrs. Parmelia Stone Sanders, better known as "Granny Sanders," passed away on Tuesday, December 14th, 1915, at the home of her granddaughter, Mrs. John Marrow, in the Lone Pine community, and was laid to rest in the Linn Flat cemetery the next day.

She was eighty-six years old the 29th of last November. She was born and reared in South Carolina; and was married there to John Sanders on December 20, 1849. They lived in Georgia until December 1853, when they started for Texas, and reached Nacogdoches county in Jan. 1854. They settled in the Linn Flat vicinity and there lived out their useful lives.

Her husband died January 20, 1908. He was an invalid for ten years before his death, and during these years of affliction she was ever faithful to him, not leaving him alone at any time. Since that time she has been under the constant care of her only daughter, Marietta Wilburn, who survives her.

The devotion of this family to each other during their affliction is remembered. She joined the Methodist Church in 1853, and was a devoted Christian and worker in the church at her death.

She leaves a daughter, six grandchildren, and many friends to mourn her loss.

Her Friend,
E. N. S.

HAVE YOU THOUGHT OF IT IN THIS WAY.

Had it ever occurred to you that you had as well try to be a successful physician without attending a medical school, or be a successful lawyer without attending a law school, or a successful minister without attending a theological school, or as to try to be a successful banker or merchant or business man of any kind without first getting a practical business training? If you wanted to make a first class doctor, lawyer or minister you would attend a University with a reputation. Why not use the same judgment in selecting a business school in which to secure your training? The Tyler Commercial College of Tyler, Texas, is the business university of the South; it enrolls more students annually for Bookkeeping, Shorthand, Stenotypewriting, Cotton Classing, Business Administration and Finance, Telegraphy than any other similar school in America. It's students have come from 39 different states; its graduates are holding the very best of positions in the leading cities of the United States.

If you will spend from $100 to $150 for tuition, board and books for a course of Shorthand, Stenotypewriting, or Bookkeeping, or Telegraphy or Cotton Classing, or Business Administration and Finance, or better still, spend $175 to $200 and complete any two of these courses, you will have made the best investment of your life. What young man or woman with grit and determination cannot raise this amount? Hundreds of students who borrowed every cent of their money to attend our school or gave us their note on tuition have found it the best venture of their lives; they were soon able to pay back the borrowed money, continue holding their good job or go into business for themselves, with assurance of success. If you always remain where you are you will always be what you are. Think this statement over seriously. I'll bet you hadn't thought of it in just this way. More than 100 new students will enroll before

FOR TAX COLLECTOR.

The Sentinel is authorized to announce Mr. J. C. (Jim) Melton of Appleby as a candidate for the office of tax collector of Nacogdoches county, subject to the action of the forthcoming Democratic primaries.

Mr. Melton is a son of the late Rev. M. Melton, a pioneer minister of the county, and has spent his whole life in the vicinity of Appleby. Some three years ago Mr. Melton had the misfortune to lose one of his legs, which incapacitated him from running his farm and, appreciating his misfortune, as well as his ability to properly fill the position, the people of Appleby precinct elected him justice of the peace, which position he now holds.

Mr. Melton is a good man and a good citizen who will do all in his power to serve the people of the county faithfully and well if elected tax collector, and with this promise solicits the suffrage of the voters of the county.

FOR TAX COLLECTOR.

The Sentinel is authorized to announce Mr. John E. Teutsch as a candidate for tax collector of Nacogdoches county, subject to the action of the forthcoming Democratic primaries.

Mr. Teutsch is no stranger to the people of the county, having made a most creditable race for this position four years ago, and having bided his time with patience until the preference at that time had served four years, again ask consideration at the hands of the voters of the county. Mr. Teutsch is a good man, well qualified for the position, and if elected, would make the county a worthy public servant in the capacity of tax-collector.

FOR TAX COLLECTOR

The Sentinel is authorized to announce N. Q. Mayfield of the Nat Community as a candidate for tax collector of Nacogdoches county, subject to the action of the Democratic primaries.

Mr. Mayfield is a good man, and is no stranger to the people of the county, having served us as tax assessor four years from 1891 to 1894, in which capacity he demonstrated his efficiency for making good a trust committed to his care. This experience also gives him a valuable knowledge of the tax affairs of the county, and would be valuable to him in succeeding to tax collector.

If elected he would make the county a worthy public servant.

FOR TAX COLLECTOR.

The Sentinel is authorized to announce H. M. Carter a well known citizen of the county living at Maytown, as a candidate for tax-collector of Nacogdoches county, subject to the action of the Democratic Primaries.

Until recently Mr. Carter was a prominent lumberman of East Texas, but having met with reverses which he could not forestall, he must now look for some other means of livelihood and crazes of this precinct in my official capacity. No one appreciates more than I the many kindnesses and courtesies shown and extended to me during the term I have served in my present position and it will be my one ambition to serve the entire public without fear or favor. I have earnestly endeavored to enforce the law, and protect society, and as to whether I have done my part toward said enforcement, as well as the other duties devolving upon me in a civil capacity, it is with pleasure that I refer to the business men of this precinct, the county officials of the county, and the attorneys for whom I have worked, who know my record and will bear testimony to my acts as an officer of the law.

With the deepest gratitude for the many favors shown me in the past by my friends, and with the assurance that if again elected I shall be ever ready to serve, I am,

Gratefully,
J. L. BURROWS.

SOME INTERESTING DOCUMENTS

Mrs. T. L. Cornelius of this city has some ancient documents left by her grand-father, and preserved by succeeding generations, which are very interesting and still well preserved.

In 1808 Wm. Thompson entered the West Abby Medical College of London, England, for the study of medicine and surgery. The rules of this college provided that a student had to sign a contract which requires him to abstain from all forms of gambling, vice and everything that would interrupt his study or degrade him in any way. It also provides that the student shall protect and obey his master (teacher) during his term of study. Dr. Thompson graduated in 1815, from which it will be seen that he spent seven years in college.

The documents are worded in the language that was in effect then, upon which succeeding generations have made much improvement. The letter f was used where an s was needed, and many of the words are spelled differently to the way they are spelled now.

Graduating from college, Dr. Thompson came to America and located in Northern Alabama where he practised his profession, and during the days of his activity was estimated to be the best surgeon in Alabama.

Save your Hair! Get a 25 cent bottle of Danderine right now—Also stops itching scalp.

Thin, brittle, colorless and scraggy hair is mute evidence of a neglected scalp; of dandruff—that awful scurf. There is nothing so destructive to the hair as dandruff. It robs the hair of its lustre, its strength and its very life; eventually producing a feverishness and itching of the scalp, which if not remedied causes the hair roots to shrink, loosen and die—then the hair falls out fast. A little Danderine tonight—now—any time—will surely save your hair.

Get a 25 cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store. You surely can have beautiful hair and lots of it if you will just try a little Danderine. Save your hair! Try it!

Rainbolt in conversation with a representative of the Sentinel this morning said that in his visits to different places in the county this fall and winter he had collected something like two thousand dollars more tax money this season than he did upon similar visits last year and the year before. Collections at the office have also been better, all of which goes to reflect the better financial condition of the county.

The Pinckneys—"Fathers of the Republic"

PERHAPS South Carolina's best gift to this Free Republic was the splendid services of her two great sons—Charles Cotesworth Pinckney and Charles Pinckney. It can truthfully be said of the Pinckneys that their love of honor was greater than their love of power, and deeper than their love of self. One played an important part in the "Louisiana Purchase"—the other, while an envoy to France, was told that the use of money would avert war, and to this replied: "Millions for defense, but not one cent for tribute." Both devoted their eminent abilities toward framing our National Law, The Constitution of the United States, as it stands to-day, was built upon the framework of a plan first proposed by Charles Pinckney. It was he who demanded that it contain freedom of religion, freedom of the press, habeas corpus and trial by jury. In political faith only did these two great men differ. Charles Pinckney was an ardent Democrat, and Charles C. Pinckney a loyal Federalist, and was twice a candidate for President. It is easy to imagine the horror that these two great lovers of Personal Liberty would have expressed if shown the proposed Prohibition Laws of to-day. It is needless to say that if alive they would VOTE NO to such tyrannous encroachments upon the NATURAL RIGHTS OF MAN. The Pinckneys both believed in the moderate use of light wines and barley brews. They also believed in legislation which encouraged the Brewing Industry, because they knew that honest Barley Beer makes for true temperance. For 58 years Anheuser-Busch have been brewers of honest Barley Malt and Saazer Hop beers—the kind the Pinckneys knew to be good for mankind. To-day their great brand—BUDWEISER—because of its quality, purity, mildness and exquisite flavor, exceeds the sale of any other beer by millions of bottles; 7500 people are daily required to keep pace with the public demand for BUDWEISER.

TAXATION AND ABSENTEE LANDLORDISM.

Sooner or later the South will undoubtedly adopt some plan whereby the resident landlord—the man who lives on his place and helps build up the community and every form of wholesome community life—will be taxed at a lower rate (at least on his first 100 acres) than is the absentee landlord who too often either takes no interest at all in the community life or actually retards its development.

The shameful fact at present is, however, that instead of having to pay an extra tax for holding back the progress of the community, the average absentee landlord in the South gets off lighter than industrious, enterprising, resident farmers who keep up soil fertility, build good houses, keep good livestock, and help everything look progressive and be progressive. "Mr. Absentee Landlord's place," say the tax assessors, "is running down, the land is getting poor and gullied and partly growing up in old fields, and the negro tenants have let his house get in ramshackle shape; so we naturally can't increase his assessment. But here is young John Jones; his land's getting richer, he has fixed up his place and is making some money; we'll have to run up on him."

Instead of all this, it would seem that in fixing an assessment on land, the rule ought to be to assess on its natural value. What justice is there in punishing a man with increased taxes because he has helped the state and helped coming generations by taking care of his soil and making it richer and more fruitful and beautiful? And on the other hand, is it not stupidity for a state to reward a man with lightened taxation because he has neglected his land, letting it wash into waste and gullies to the infinite loss of present and future generations?—The Progressive Farmer.

GALOMEL IS MERCURY! IT SICKENS! ACTS ON LIVER LIKE DYNAMITE

"Dodson's Liver Tone" Starts Your Liver Better Than Calomel and Doesn't Salivate or Make You Sick.

Listen to me! Take no more sickening, salivating calomel when bilious or constipated. Don't lose a day's work! Calomel is mercury or quicksilver which causes necrosis of the bones. Calomel, when it comes into contact with your bile, crumbles into it, breaking it up. This is when you feel that awful nausea and cramping. If you are sluggish and "all knocked out," if your liver is torpid and bowels constipated or you have headache, dizziness, coated tongue, if breath is bad or stomach sour, just take a spoonful of harmless Dodson's Liver Tone on my guarantee.

Here's my guarantee—Go to any drug store and get a 50-cent bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone. Take a spoonful tonight and if it doesn't straighten you right up and make you feel fine and vigorous by morning I want you to go back to the store and get your money. Dodson's Liver Tone is destroying the sale of calomel because it is real liver medicine; entirely vegetable, therefore it can not salivate or make you sick. I guarantee that one spoonful of Dodson's Liver Tone will put your sluggish liver to work and clean your bowels of that sour bile and constipated waste which is clogging your system and making you feel miserable. I guarantee that a bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone will keep your entire family feeling fine for months. Give it to your children. It is harmless; doesn't gripe and they like its pleasant taste.

AUSTRIA-HUNGARY COMES TO TERMS

Danger of Break in Diplomatic Relations With U. S. Seems to Have Been Averted.

Washington, Dec. 30.—Danger of a break in diplomatic relations between the United States and Austria-Hungary over the sinking of the liner Ancona probably has been cleared away, if the official text of Austria's reply to the second American note conforms to press dispatches from London saying the communication announces that the submarine commander who torpedoed the steamer has been punished.

The cable dispatch reached Washington tonight too late to be seen by high officials of the government and a dispatch received earlier in the day from Ambassador Penfield merely said the reply had been handed him and gave no intimation as to its nature.

Punishment of the submarine commander for failure to take into account the panic prevailing aboard the Ancona before torpedoing the vessel apparently meets the principal American demand. In effect it might be regarded as a disavowal of the act, and assurances that an incident for which an officer of the navy was punished would not happen again might be taken for granted.

The remaining demands, that reparation by payment of indemnity be made for the injury or loss of life by Americans would be a subject for diplomatic adjustment once the other points at issue were disposed of.

Although officials here indicated today that there were indications favorable to an amicable settlement of the controversy there had been nothing in press dispatches from abroad or published official advices to suggest that Austria would admit immediate wrongdoing on the part of her officer.

The official text of the new note from Vienna is expected at the state department by tomorrow night. Mr. Penfield reported that it would be cabled as soon as it could be translated and coded.

TWO STATES GO INTO THE "DRY" COLUMN

Little Rock, Ark., Dec. 31.—Arkansas will have its first experience with prohibition when the statewide law passed by the last legislature goes into effect at midnight tomorrow.

Denver, Col., Dec. 31.—Although statewide prohibition does not go into effect until Jan. 1, Colorado began to go dry today. Many saloons throughout the state closed, after disposing of their stocks of liquor. Hundreds of individuals thronged today to dealers, purchasing liquor in quantities for storage at home. Dealers estimated that December receipts from the sale of intoxicants would reach to many times its usual total. Some estimated that the total receipts would be more than two million dollars.

FERGUSON'S VIEW OF 1916 OUTLOOK

Governor Says Eastern Financiers Think War Will Last Year Longer.

Austin, Dec. 31.—Gov. Ferguson today expressed himself clearly and forcibly on the business and financial outlook for 1916, and what may be expected. He said:

"In view of impending wars and subsiding revolutions in different parts of the world, any statement as to the future conditions must necessarily be more or less a matter of conjecture. Though we have peace at home our relations with the world are such as to make our financial condition at all times controlled by conditions elsewhere. The war in Europe may last but a short time or it may last five years. I learned upon my recent trip East that the financiers of the world appear to be of the unanimous opinion that the war would last at least a year longer. However, they all say that no more money will be loaned by the financial institutions of this country to the warring nations of Europe unless ample security is furnished for the loan. I am not able to learn of any financial institution in the East which was not anxious to make further loans even though security was furnished. In these facts I discern a possible reason why we might have an early peace.

"Much depends upon the attitude assumed by the financial interests of this nation in the next few years to come. Boiled down to a short statement, I would say that if capital confines its activity and extends its aid to the people of the United States, the business and financial outlook for 1916 and years to come offers much hope, happiness and prosperity to our people. If, on the other hand, our generals of finance shall lose sight of the needs of the great masses of our people and shall continue to extend their loans to the warring nations of Europe, and in this country restrict their loans to business that only promises financial gain to them and nothing for the good of the public, or if they consider only the big borrower to the exclusion of the meritorious borrower who may want to buy a farm, build a home or start a small factory, then in such event I do not hesitate to say that the financial outlook for 1916 and succeeding years is attended with dark clouds and small hopes.

"Let the man who doubts this study conditions and see where we are drifting. In view of these facts, of which I have spoken, it is the time for the strictest conservation. It is sometimes the business that you don't do that brings the greatest profits.

"Let us feel our way carefully; let us have faith in each other; let us understand each other; let us cultivate each other, and with the information thus attained and the inspiration thus aroused, let us hope that the financial activities of 1916 will be a milestone on the road to great achievements.

"J. E. FERGUSON, Governor."

10 CENT "CASCARETS" FOR LIVER AND BOWELS

Cure Sick Headache, Constipation, Biliousness, Sour Stomach, Bad Breath—Candy Cathartic.

No odds how bad your liver, stomach or bowels; how much your head aches, how miserable you are from constipation, indigestion, biliousness and sluggish bowels—you always get relief with Cascarets. They immediately cleanse and regulate the stomach, remove the sour, fermenting food and foul gases; take the excess bile from the liver and carry off the constipated waste matter and poison from the intestines and bowels. A 10-cent box from your druggist will keep your liver and bowels clean; stomach sweet and head clear for months. They work while you sleep.

It Always Helps

says Mrs. Sylvania Woods, of Clifton-Mills, Ky., in writing of her experience with Cardui, the woman's tonic. She says further: "Before I began to use Cardui, my back and head would hurt so bad, I thought the pain would kill me. I was hardly able to do any of my housework. After taking three bottles of Cardui, I began to feel like a new woman. I soon gained 35 pounds, and now, I do all my housework, as well as run a big water mill. I wish every suffering woman would give a trial. I still use Cardui when I feel a little bad, and it always does me good.

TWO TRAGEDIES IN ANGELINA COUNTY

The following reports are taken from yesterday's issue of the Lufkin Daily News:

The News learns that Mr. Jerry McDonald was killed at Diboll yesterday afternoon, his death being caused by coming in contact with a log. From the meager report it is presumed that he was employed at one of the logging camps or on a log train when the accident happened. He had been married about three months.

The News learns that there was something on the order of a tragedy enacted near Ratcliff night before last, when one Mr. Anderson saw fit to stab his wife. The facts connected with the circumstances were not learned, but the mere matter of a man stabbing his wife is sorrowful news enough. It may be well enough, after all, that the News reporter did not learn more concerning the particulars.

ANOTHER ASPIRANT TO SENATE APPEARS

Palestine, Texas, Dec. 30.—Former Governor T. M. Campbell set at rest all doubts as to his plans politically by announcing here today that he would be a candidate for the Democratic nomination for the office of United States senator, to be determined by the primaries of 1916.

He stated that he would make formal announcement at a later date, and that while his position on general governmental questions are fairly well known to the Texas democracy he would in due time go to the people directly with his platform upon the issues of commanding importance, and that he expected to make a thorough canvass of the state in the old-fashioned Democratic way.
