M'ADOO AND TUMULTY ARE NAMED IN "LEAK"

Washington, Jan. 15.—Testifying frankly to things he has "heard" regarding an alleged "leak" of advance information on President Wilson's peace note Thomas W. Lawson this afternoon startled the house rules committee by naming William G. McAdoo, secretary of the treasury; Joseph Tumulty, secretary to the president; Count von Bernstorff, the German ambassador, who, he testified, was reported to have made $2,000,000 in a Wall Street transaction; Malcolm McAdoo of New York, brother of Secretary McAdoo, and others.

When Lawson was asked the name of the congressman who he said told him that a cabinet officer, a member of the senate and a banker were supposed to have profited in the stock market through the "leak," he startled the committee by promptly answering: "Chairman Henry himself told me." Mr. Henry later took the stand to indignantly deny that portion of Lawson's testimony.

The senator involved, Lawson said, is known to him only as "O" Paul M. Warburg of the federal reserve board, he said, knew the "leak machinery." He named several banking firms which he claims profited from the leak.

Secretary Tumulty was described as the "go-between" doing "his bit" for a fixed sum.

We Are Having a Big Fight

Probably you have not thought about it and do not, therefore, realize how hard it is for us to get farm supplies and ESPECIALLY PLOW REPAIRS—such as points, landides, frogs, etc. By buying months ahead we have succeeded in getting a fair stock of most of these goods and if you buy now you will "Be sure of what you want and get the low prices, too."

Look over those Plow, Planters, Cultivators and other tools and Be Sure to Get the Numbers of the Parts You Want and the Name of the Implement on which they are to be used. You are sure to get the "right fit" if you will do this.

We want to serve you promptly and satisfactorily and if you buy now we can do this for you. Later it may be a different tale.
Yours to serve,

Cason, Monk & Co.

$30.00 PER HOG.

Mr. R. H. Blackwell, a progressive farmer of the Gravelly Ridge community, sold ten hogs yesterday to Ford Hale for thirty dollars per head, making a total of three hundred dollars for the ten. In addition to this Mr. Blackwell has plenty of meat at home, and more hogs. Mr. Blackwell also raises from seventy-five to one hundred bales of cotton per year, together with plenty feedstuff to run his farm, and is one of the county's most progressive and prosperous farmers.

Mr. T. J. Lloyd is shipping two car loads of hogs to the Fort Worth market today. He has previously made some shipments this season, and is therefore becoming quite a dealer in this line

Lawson's authority for this statement was a letter to him from Mrs. Ruth Tomlinson Visconti, who is listed in the city directory here as a clerk residing in an apartment house. Mrs. Visconti told him that W. W. Price, correspondent of the Washington Star at the White House, had a part in the "leak affair" between "Secretary Tumulty and others."

Lawson said Chairman Henry told him of rumors that Secretary Lansing had made four visits to Barney Baruch, at the Baltimore hotel, New York, and declared that Henry late in December urged him to say nothing—"for the good of the country." Mr. Henry also denied this testimony.

GARRISON TRADES DAY HAS BEEN POSTPONED

The Sentinel received a telephone message from Editor Walthall of Garrison this morning requesting The Sentinel to give notice that the big Trades Day has been postponed on account of the disagreeable weather which makes the occasion impracticable at this time.

The Trades Day will be held at weather clears up, at which time some future day when the features and prizes will prevail as planned for this occasion, and at which time the town hopes to have a large crowd present. Watch for further announcement.

Mrs. J. F. Vondersmith, who has been suffering with blood poison several days, is reported to not be doing well today and the attending physician will operate on the afflicted finger this afternoon. The many friends of the good lady sincerely trust that she may soon pass the crisis and be restored to health.

VAUGHT CAUGHT HIM.

A few days ago a man named Delbert Sikes from the northern end of the county, who was under indictment, attempted to make his escape, and Constable T. G. Vaught of Garrison got on his trail, catching him at Shreveport.

Mr. Vaught brought his prisoner on to this city where, upon plea of guilty, he was fined fifty dollars, and in default of payment, was added to the road gang where he will pay the price in manual labor at the affixed salary for such service.

The "leak" (discussion) at the white house seems to have been stopped.

Nacogdoches is getting some good advertising for its forward step in legislating against the carnivals which have been infesting the county this year. Many other towns have caught the idea and will do likewise.

Another Sunday approaches with the next day, and at the present writing the indications are that it will be a pretty cold one in so far as the temperature of the weather goes. Go to church and prove your fidelity.

Get ready for the home-garden. The back and side yards growing in choice vegetables would be an improvement over the condition they often fall heir to during the growing season, and would prove a good investment as well.

The weather report informs us that a cold wave is on the way with temperature ranging from twenty to twenty-five degrees. With this advance information, let the natives exercise a little "preparedness" if they would avoid the shivers of the chilly blast.

The European nations now engaged in the great war are quarreling over the terms of peace and the causes leading up to the war. But it is encouraging that they are discussing the subject of peace, and just such discussion as is now being engaged would be natural in the preliminaries of the subject. Let us not lose hope.

We wonder how many parents realize that their child is a book of blank paper in which shall be recorded the record of their own lives. Be careful therefore what you have written there for the world will read it. All your secret thoughts the child will try to write.—Gilmer Mirror.

The Palestine Herald is urging the importance of the organization of a business organization in its city. There is no successful contradiction of the fact that organized business is more profitable and pleasant than the haphazard manner employed by so many towns in which every fellow "roots" for himself, but it will take a genius to get them organized and maintain the organization for the reason that the business men seem to prefer the scramble of individual conquest.

A dispatch from Washington, dated Jan. 12, says: "Clothed with new powers for forcing a witness to testify, the house rules committee will call Thomas W. Lawson before it again, probably Monday, and demand he name the congressman, who, he says told him that a cabinet officer, a member of congress and a broker were in conspiracy to make money in the stock market on official secrets." If Lawson refuses to divulge his information, he will be held in contempt.

With the completion of the new postoffice building, which is now assured, Nacogdoches should by all means have free mail delivery, another good service the government will bring to us if we will have civic pride enough to provide a connected belt of sidewalk over which the carriers can walk dry shod. It will be a serious reflection on our civic pride and our progressiveness if we do not meet these conditions within the next twelve months.

Tom Lawson is holding the first page of the newspapers now with his indictment against members of the White House, and all eyes are on him. But he talks so much at random, and threatens so much, that the layman at a distance can't escape the suspicion that he is bearing a message of slander for the cheap notoriety it affords. It is right and proper to hear him, and make him tell it all since he has gone so far, after which his statements can either be corroborated or he can be branded as a slanderer as the facts may warrant.

The city of Nacogdoches is to be congratulated upon a recent city ordinance, which prohibits the shows of traveling carnival companies. This in large part is no doubt due to the immoral nature of such shows, and judging by the two companies that were visitors to our city, the city council would do well to follow the lead of our sister city, Nacogdoches has also passed an ordinance against boys under 16 years of age loitering upon the streets after nine o'clock at night. This city would do well to follow that lead also, only make it 7:30 p. m., instead of 9:00.—San Augustine Tribune.

Not many people have escaped some kind of throat affection this winter, but possibly no fatalities have occurred as a direct result of same. It now develops that the migratory ducks in the marshes near Beaumont are dying by hundreds from some mysterious throat disease, and the theory is advanced that the birds brought the disease from the Oregon and Washington summer feeding grounds. That is an all right theory, but our notion is that these diseased ducks are dying from plain old-fashioned pneumonia, contracted by staying out in the water too much, and thereby getting their feet wet. How about it Bro. Gibbs?—Lufkin News.

Possibly it is "technical grip," Doc. What is the remedy?

The Sheppard bill forbidding the manufacture and sale of intoxicating liquor in the District of Columbia passed the Senate by the rather impressive vote of 55 to 32. It is said to be assured of even a larger majority in the House. Its passage by that body seems to be a foregone conclusion. Thus it looks as if only the intervention of the President, exercising his veto power, could keep the prohibitionists from reaching the goal they have so long struggled to attain. That the President will snatch their victory from them is hardly to be expected by any one. He has himself shown a distinct leaning toward the prohibition side. He has expressed his sympathy with it on social and moral grounds, protesting only that it would be politically wrong to put any State under coercion by means of a constitutional amendment to make the Nation dry. But that protest can not be entered in behalf of the District of Columbia, which has no legal claim to a voice in its own government.—Dallas News.

The man of meditation is happy, not for an hour or a day, but quite round the circle of his years.—Isaac Taylor.

TODAY'S MEDIATION.

(By Pastor W. E. Foster)

What is the value of a man to society?

Suppose we make the query a bit personal and ask what are you worth to society?

Every one has the capacity of making some real contribution to the well being of society and the progress of civilization.

But sad to say, some do not make any contribution, who through selfishness and ignorance, contribute evil rather than good—but even this is an added force in the moral life of the world.

Every radical movement in socialism, and every reform movement that seeks the betterment of living conditions, education or evangelism has the question, "What can society do for the betterment of the individual," as its basis.

All agree that society should do something to bring the largest happiness and development to the individual.

Each individual should ask himself this question: How can I render the largest service to human society?

The average man puts this query to himself: How can I get the largest good for myself?

The value of a man to society depends upon his service to humanity.

The possession of wealth, in itself, is not of value to society. Some men of wealth are a curse to themselves and to society, because of the selfish and cruel use they make of their money.

Neither should any one be allowed to keep their riches unless they use a reasonable portion of it for the well-being of humanity.

Wealth is only a factor of one's worth, and its value to humanity depends upon the use that is made of it.

The position one holds is no criterion of a man's value to humanity.

There are plenty of men of native ability and culture who use their great power for selfish and sinful purposes to curse humanity.

Hence, we see that the mere possession of wealth, social or intellectual powers, are not the determining factors in life.

The progress and uplift of the world has not been by possession of the things herein mentioned, but by the use of them.

If you would make a real contribution to the progress of human society, you must render service to uplift it, and not tear it down.

CHURCH MEMBERSHIP.

There was a time when a man was fined 50 pounds of tobacco if he failed to go to church on Sunday. Then they fastened his feet in the stocks, and passers-by looked at him with contempt. Those were the good old days, when "everybody went to church."

But when you consider the question of interest in the church from the standpoint of actual church membership—which has always been a purely voluntary matter—you get nearer the real situation in the church.

In 1800 only seven persons out of every 100 were members of the Protestant church. In 1900 it was 24 out of every 100.

But in 1910 statistics showed there were still only 24 out of every 100 who were members of the church.

From 1900 to 1910 the population of the United States increased 20 per cent. During the same period church membership also, increased 21 per cent.

And so the churches are faced by this condition. During the 100 years from 1800 to 1900 church membership increased

One Man — Horse Power

The Kirstin Method guarantees a saving of 10% to 50% over all other methods of land clearing. The Kirstin Method not only pulls your stumps but gets rid of them after they are pulled.

Yank out your stumps! Transform your no-man's-land into money-making, cultivated fields. Gold is under your stumps—get it out, put it in bank. Clear your land and produce big crops.

The Kirstin Method clears land ready for the plow. It has vastly increased the productive value of more than 35,000 farms, most of them in the South.

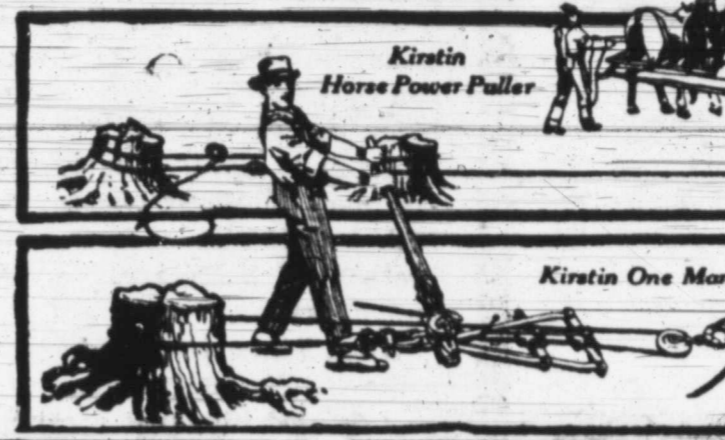

No deeply imbedded tap root is too big for the Kirstin Horse Power Puller. Its mighty strength is irresistible because of its triple power and other exclusive Kirstin features. It will clear more than two acres at one setting without strain to man, horse or machine. It has been the leader for 21 years.

One man without horses can pull the biggest stumps, too, with the Kirstin One Man Puller. A little push on the handle gives tons of pull on the stump. This enormous power is developed by use of double leverage. It gives an ordinary 17-year-old farm boy a giant's power.

Send for Free Book. We want you to read our new book, "The Gold in Your Stump Land." It contains lots of valuable information on all kinds of land clearing. It proves that the Kirstin Method is the cheapest, quickest and best way to clear land. It tells about Kirstin Service, forever free to all Kirstin owners. It contains letters from Southern farmers who own Kirstins and are glad they do. Don't buy a pulley until you read this book.

nearly 350 per cent—but during the 10 years from 1900 to 1910 the churches just kept pace with the population.

The question is: What will the next 10 years show?

It is probably true that until recently church attendance had fallen off in most places in this country, but the signs seem to point toward a renewed interest in church going.—Shreveport Times.

THE LAST QUAIL.

(By John W. Thomason, Jr.)

Far and sweet in the deepening dusk
 Across the valley—from yonder hill,
 There comes a frightened, lonely note
 Plaintive and faint from a lone quail's throat,
 Calling when all is still.

Last night on the hill against the sky
 Where the sere brown oak leaves fall
 A full strong covey, happy and warm,
 Huddled and slept and were free from harm
 Till the dawn awoke them all.

Then through the dew of the shining fields
 The hunter came with his gun,
 And the place sun saw the pointer's play,
 That followed the covies fleeing away,
 And they killed them one by one.

Little limp dead with broken wings,
 Tonight they are far from the hill they knew,
 All save one that calls from its nest—
 The one that escaped and may not rest—
 And calls the whole night through.

Why did they leave him to wander alone—
 His mates all dead and the summer flown?

Weary, yet sweet in the creeping down,
 Across the valley from yonder hill,
 There comes a frightened, lonely note,
 Plaintive and faint from a lone quail's throat—
 Calling—and all is still.

There is lots of cheap money in the county and the merchant who withdraws his advertising and makes no effort to get his share of the trade will allow his customers to go elsewhere or get the mail order habit. "Eternal vigilance is the price of success."

"OLD TIME RELIGION"

Upon The Sentinel's criticism of Lufkin in having bells on her churches with which to call the populace to worship, the editor of the Lufkin News makes the following reply, from which we assume that he has the "old time religion," which by the way has never been improved upon in arousing our spiritual natures to activity, and we digress from this preliminary to say that we remember the good old way, too. Go on and read this which is too sacred for jest:

"The suggestion of 'childhood's happy hours' is correct. This writer's sweetest recollections are of childhood days, when the church bells from every belfry tower invited the people to the house of worship. It was in those good old days that the chimes on Sunday morning meant a hurry and a scramble for Sunday school, and after the hour was over everybody was expected to remain and 'hear the parson pray and preach.' The minister talked about the old-time religion then, just as they may be talking now; but he carried conviction with his argument, and after the sermon many marched up to the altar. Sometimes there would be shouting among those present and the one who has never witnessed this circumstance cannot realize just how close he could have been carried to the 'pearly gates' if he had been there.

"It was one time in life that the writer sat under the sound of a venerable minister's voice, long since gone to his reward, who took for his text, or at least used that for his subject, that 'God Made Man Just a Little Lower Than the Angels.' That impression gained at such an early day has never escaped the writer's mind, and it has been a comfort and solace ever since to know that He who rules over all has seen fit to bestow such consideration on the children of men—ranking them just a little lower than the angels.

"But all of this to one side. What the Sentinel editor means to convey is that church bells are not used in cities now as a means of summoning people to religious services; and he is right—and having at all times claimed that Lufkin is a little city, the correction is appreciated all the more. To be sure the church bells have fallen into disuse; but what a sad annullment. In admonishing the citizenship of Lufkin to listen for the church bells on Sunday morning, the editor of The News merely wished to remind them of the days of old—only that and nothing more—and to go to church."

THE WHOLE STORY.

We've seen hundreds of cost-of-living editorials in the last few months, of every length, style and quality. Here's one of about half a dozen lines, from the Nevada (Ark.) Picayune, that looks like the best of the lot:

"Yes, these are hard times. We throw away ashes and buy soap. We raise dogs and buy hogs. We grow weeds and buy vegetables and brooms. We catch fish with a $4 rod. We build school-houses and send our children to be educated away from home. And at last we send our boys out with a $40 gun and a $19 dog to hunt ten-cent game."

Doesn't that tell pretty well the whole story?

Have an idea that I am going to be named again by the governor as a notary public in and for this county, and if he does thus honor me again I will be much obliged to him. But the office of notary public in this county is not near what it is cracked up to be, and I hope that nobody will think that my modish clothes, champagne and other evidences of wealth are in any way connected with fees derived from notary work, for such is not the case. During the two years that I have honestly and faithfully performed the functions of a notary public in and for this county, I took in four bits from swearing a stranger from Louisiana and two bits from Bob Adams. I am not complaining, but it is hard to forget that it cost three dollars to qualify for this very honorable but by no means lucrative office.—John McLendon in Shelby Optimist

Tomato growers around Jacksonville are now making preparations for the crop to be grown in 1917, and from present indications it appears that the acreage will be about the same as last year. It is always a possibility that severe freezes or late frosts will reduce the acreage so no accurate estimate can be made this early in the season. Prices were good during the season of 1916, and if the country continues in the present prosperous condition, it is likely the coming crop will be a paying one. There will be more cotton planted, as a matter of course, but the old time tomato growers expect to put in about the same acreage as in former years.—Cherokee County Banner.

FORTY YEARS CITIZENSHIP.

Nacogdoches, Jan. 15, 1917.

Editor Sentinel:

Yesterday, the 14th instant, together with my family we landed at San Augustine from Eufaula, Alabama. It was on Sunday at that date, and just such weather as we are having at this time. We had tickets via New Orleans to Shreveport, up Red river. Upon inquiry at the agency of the line of steam boats making Red river, we were informed that a mud-bar was across the mouth of Red river and not a boat had gone to Shreveport in two months, and it was indefinite as to what time a boat would leave for that port. That part of our money for passages up Red river was refunded and we bought tickets for Shreveport via Galveston, Houston and the I. & G. N. railroad to Marshall and to our destination as far as railroad fare was concerned. The fare from New Orleans to Shreveport cost more money than the way we were routed from Eufaula to Shreveport. After leaving Houston on the 10 of January, 1877, a Texas aorther sprung up and the further we traveled north the colder it grew. About Trinity we met the snow and sleet. When we arrived at Marshall the pressure from the sleet and snow had mashed in the top of the depot and everything was in slush, which was very disagreeable to my wife and children. We arrived at Shreveport on time where we laid in a supply of everything we needed, we hired a hack for $35.00 with expenses both ways for San Augustine. The first day out it began sleet-ing again, and by night the timber began to crack and limbs fall over the roads. When the sun was about one hour high, by a watch, we began to try to find a place to spend the night. At every place we were turned down. About nine o'clock we discovered a light about one hundred yards to the left of the road. It was as dark as pitch, and the sleet and snow was coming down to "beat the band." We found a gate to drive in, and when we reached the house, which was a log house with one big room and a small shed room on the side, we found it occupied by a man named Gibbs, and he utterly refused to take us in. We inquired of him the distance to a place we could stay and he stated five miles. I actually felt like pulling my gun and going after this fellow, but he had me "where the wool was short," and I found that discretion was better than rough means. I commenced to reason with the man, stating to him that my wife and four little boys were in that hack and if he would shelter them that the driver and myself would build a fire and stay on the outside. Gibbs finally came under and let us stop, and treated us nicely after giving his consent for us to stay. The next night we slept with John Potts, which was a nice place. The first night was in Louisiana and the second in Shelby, county, Texas. About two o'clock, on Sunday the 14th day of January, 1877, we drove up to the Mckechney Hotel at San Augustine. The red mud in the streets was a foot deep, and when my wife stepped on the gallery of the hotel, she turned to me with a digustful expression on her physiognomy and said: "Well, is this the kind of a place you have brought me?" I was of the same opinion and before the hack, which brought us from Shreveport, left the next morning I stated to her that if she felt like she did on her arrival that I would hold the driver over and we would go back to Alabama. She replied: "Well, we are here and I guess we had better stay." We are still here after landing forty years ago.

At that time the woods was

The close connection which exists between the heart and the kidneys is well known nowadays. As soon as the kidneys are diseased, arterial tension increases and the heart function is attacked. When the kidneys no longer pour forth waste, uric acid poisoning occurs and the patient is liable to the cause is often given as heart disease, or disease of brain or lungs.

full of game, and "driving" for deer with dogs was new to me. I rented the old Waterhouse farm three miles south of San Augustine, and every time it rained Col S. W. Blount, James Burleson, Charlie Polk and Henry Lewis would come by for me to hunt deer and at no time would we come in empty handed bringing from one to as many as seven deer at a time went hunting.

Many changes have taken place in these forty years. All the old people who lived in San San Augustine forty years ago are dead, and I cannot recall but one single man, who was a man in 1877, now living in the town. This one is Henry Rankin. Capt. T. W. Blount and Mt. Pet Sharp, who now live in town, lived in the country at that time. Several are living who were men in 1877, but they live in different localities in the state. The older Tucker brothers now living in this city were little boys; so was Rev. Geo. Crockett who was probably fifteen years old. To go further and give full details would fill your paper.

PASTOR RESIGNS.

Rev. E. L. Thompson, who has been serving the Christian church of this city as pastor the past year, tendered his resignation yesterday, and it was accepted.

Bro. Thompson resigns to accept the pastorate of the church at Forney, Texas, where a new house of worship is being erected and the membership made him an attractive proposition, feeling the need of a bulder of the reputation this young man has made for himself in East Texas. The church here has several applications for the place and is negotiating for a new pastor to begin on the first, at which time the present pastor will retire.

As previously noted in this paper, Bro. Thompson has done a great work here, and it is with much reluctance that the membership turns him loose, only doing so because the new church needs a man of his ability in establishing itself.

FARM TENANCY AND RURAL SCHOOLS IN TEXAS

In some of the more populous counties of Texas, there is no more serious problem confronting the rural schools today than that of farm tenancy. On the first day of February, 1914, a rural teacher of Collin County was met by a representative of the University in the office of County Superintendent W. E. Foster, and when asked how he was getting along with his school work replied: "Well, I think we are doing a little better now, but I tell you, our work has been anything but satisfactory for the past month. The trouble is, all my patrons are tenants, and most of them moved Christmas. We were doing very nicely up to that time, but now I have only two children that were in school before holidays. It has taken me a whole month to get properly acquainted with my new crowd." To a less degree, this is typical of hundreds of rural school communities in Texas. And what is worse still, when renters are changing their domiciles, but extends throughout the entire school year. Investigation has shown that the average of school attendance from the homes of renters is far below the average from homes of landowners.

A community of farm tenants is not uncommonly a community of absentee landlords. This is productive of class consciousness, and distracts that interest that would make common cause of neighborhood problems. To vote a special school tax or build a new schoolhouse is a difficult problem when an influential landlord is making a personal canvass against it and threatening to raise the rent or remove the tenant if he votes for the measure.

Farm tenancy is not only lowering the standard of the rural school, but also lowering the standard of the county home and the country church as well. The freeholder with a permanent home will naturally enter into the life of the community more freely and enthusiastically than the roving tenant-farmer who seldom stays at one place long enough to get himself thoroughly identified with the church, the school, and the civic interests of the neighborhood. The homeless man can never be at his best as a citizen. He may be a good school patron, but the exhilarating stimulus of home ownership would make him a better one.

Just what shall be the remedy for farm tenancy, public sentiment has not yet declared. But this much remains for sure so long as the present system of land tenure holds, permanent improvement for the country home, church, and school in tenant communities is well-nigh impossible. Division of School Interests, University of Texas.

MEMORIAL SAM HOUSTON.

As General Sam Houston first resided in this city, building for himself a home here and taking an active part in all the affairs of the community, the following tribute to his memory and biographical sketch of his life, which appeared in a recent issue of the Houston Chronicle will be of interest to Sentinel readers:

Prompted by a commendable motive Mayor Campbell approximately a year ago appointed a mittee of well-known citizens to devise ways and means to erect in Houston a fit memorial, in monumental or some other appropriate form, to commemorate the achievements of Sam Houston, and thereby do deserved honor to the memory of one of the most remarkable men that ever played a part in the drama of human history.

He has not been appreciated at his true value, because we are too near his day and time.

There are many yet among us who knew Sam Houston as a neighbor and citizen. They saw him in the walks of private life, and in exalted public station, and can recall the time when they were guests in his hospitable home where in the circle of his charming family he displayed all the qualities of a devoted husband and father.

History teaches us that the retrospective of men who have served the fellow men must have grown long before the world is ready to claim them great, however transcendent their ability or conspicuous their public virtue.

Sam Houston was born March 2, 1793, in the Valley of Virginia, and died July 26, 1863, in Huntsville, Texas.

In these words is stated the alpha and omega of his life, but the more than three score years which lay between his cradle in the mountains of Virginia and his coffin under the sighing and sighing pines of Walker county, were marked by public services as varied, dangers as dire, sufferings as great, exhibitions of weakness as regrettable as ever filled the life of any man any age.

It is obviously impossible within reasonable editorial limits to even outline the incidents of a career so remarkable, even were it necessary to the attainment of the purpose in mind, which it is not. That purpose is to endeavor to arouse the people of Texas, and especially the people of Houston, to appreciation of the fact that the erection of a memorial to Sam Houston is not a mere matter of preference or privilege or grace, but rises to the dignity of a solemn and imperative duty.

The name and deeds of every man who, by unselfish and patriotic services, leaves the impress of his personal greatness upon the era in which he lives, are the just and logical heritage of the people in whose behalf these services were rendered.

From the tenth day of December, 1834, when Sam Houston stepped on the soil of Texas, he became an active and influential factor in shaping the destinies of the state.

He foresaw with the prescience of a prophet that dissolution of the frail governmental bonds which untied the Spanish and Anglo-Saxon was speedily inevitable and ceaselessly strove to prepare the people of his adopted land for the struggle which he knew would unfailingly precede such dissolution. When tyranny could no longer be endured he was one of the memorable body of patriots who gathered on the banks of the Brazos and, upon his motion, was adopted the Declaration of Texas Independence, which bold, defiant challenge to the Mexican tyrant rang out like a bugle call to battle, as it was intended, and proved to be,

Immediately appointed to the command of the Texas army, he directed its movements with consummate skill, and dividing and baffling the three wings of the Mexican army, engaged the largest wing, under the command of the commander-in-chief, a trained and able soldier, on April 21, 1836, and won, against overwhelming odds, in twenty minutes a victory which changed the map of a continent, established a new republic among the nations of the earth, extended the jurisdiction of the United States to the shores of the Pacific and covered the battlefield of San Jacinto with a mantle of immortal glory.

Sam Houston became the first president of the new republic, and after a constitutional intermission of two years was again called by the voice of the people to the same position, the duties of which all historians attest he discharged with the highest order of efficiency and stainless integrity.

For twelve years he represented Texas in the senate of the United States, and there, as was the case in every public position to which he was ever called, he stood the peer of his ablest associates.

The victim of misconception and unfounded suspicion of his loyalty to Texas, he was defeated for governor in 1857, but in 1859 reversed the majority of 1857 and became governor of a state born out of a republic which he had so signally aided in establishing twenty-three years before.

When it is remembered he had, before becoming a citizen of Texas, been for five years an officer in the army of the United States and been twice wounded in one day in one of the bloodiest Indian battles of modern times, had been a prosecuting attorney, adjunct general, twice a member of congress of the United States and governor of a sovereign state, the annals of this nation, which if not of the world, will be searched in vain for a parallel to such a career.

Sam Houston consecrated to Texas all of his splendid abilities, and served her with consummate ability and unswerving and unimpeachable integrity.

The hand of the divine had endowed him with the elements of leadership and stamped upon his brow the seal of heroic knight-hood.

If he was a man sui generis, at times eccentric and theatric, he was at the same time a brave man, an honest man, and a man who never bartered his convictions for place or power. He never bent before the storm of popular passion, he never pandered to the mob. He stood by his convictions all the time and under all circumstances, and kept unflinching faith with his own conscience.

That a memorial worthy of such a man has not long ere this been erected in Houston is a reproach to her people. They should speedily discharge a debt of patriotism and duty which increases as the value of his services to Texas and the world have been revealed as the years have rolled away.

Bully for Steve King. He had the nerve to get up in the Senate and oppose employing fifteen utility stenographers and clerks. Each member has a regular steno and there is no use to put an extra number on the pay roll in order that some of the friends of the members may get their snouts into the government treasury. We need many such members as King in order that the expense of operating the state government could be reduced.—Jacksonville Progress.

A dispatch from Austin quotes Dr. Robert E. Vinson, president of the State University, as being in favor of military training in the schools. The idea may be dubbed "fog" from some quarters, but The Sentinel is nevertheless of the opinion that the time spent in agricultural and industrial training would be more profitable to the student and of greater service to society. The ultimate end of military training is the destruction of human life on the battlefield while that of the latter better fits the man for preservation and conservation of life.

There is another thought in connection with the day of the coming press meeting in Lufkin on next Friday, January 19, and that it will be a holiday, and all of the attending editors can write all of the checks which fancy might dictate. The News being depended upon to endorse for them and show them where to "get the money." It may be that some will become so infatuated with the town that they will want to buy a few brick houses, others noting our rapid advancement as a city will desire to make certain investments in real estate, while any number may actually decide to locate permanently. If John McLendon bobs up for the meeting, he will want the city standpipe from basement to topmost rim and the writer will see that he gets it. All the bills of Editor Gibbs at the popcorn stand will be paid in advance, while Editor Green of the Tyler Signal will not be allowed to jar loose a single penny for "potlicker." Editor West of the Livingston Enterprise will have the privilege of calling upon any soda fountain in the city and having the same charged. Suitable provisions are being arranged for all the other visiting editors just as fast as the exigencies of the occasion will permit, and summed up, everything points to a splendid time for all hands around. Secure your tickets early, and don't forget the date. There is much good to be accomplished, and your presence is desired.—Lufkin News.

ECPADOR BEATS US TO IT!

Whatever the supreme court may decide about the Adamson law, there is one American country that has a real "water-tight" eight-hour law.

No, it isn't Canada, or Mexico, or the Argentine Republic.

It is Ecuador, that tiny triangular country, squeezed in between Peru and Columbia, that looks as if it were sliding off the steep sides of the Andes straight into the Pacific.

Ecuador is the only nation in the world with an eight-hour law that includes every employee in the country, pays time and a quarter or better for overtime, and has no loopholes for any favored industries.

The whole meat of law, which has just been put into effect, is in three short, simple articles:

1. Every laborer, workman, clerk in store, office or industrial establishment and in general, every employe of any kind shall not be forced to work more than eight hours daily, six days a week, and is exempt from work on Sundays and legal holidays.
2. No employer can evade the accomplishment of this decree by any stipulation with the employe or laborer.
3. If the laborer, workman, clerk, etc., be requested to work longer than eight hours he shall be paid 25 per cent overtime for the extra work done during the day, 550 per cent overtime from 6 in the evening to midnight, and 100 per cent after that hour.

KING CHAMPIONS BILL.

The following is excerpted from the report of the proceedings of the legislature in yesterday's papers:

Senator S. M. King of Nacogdoches, will sponsor the Texas Company bill, which will be introduced in the Senate today. The bill is considerably shorter than the one introduced by Senator McNealus in behalf of the independent oil producers. The main power sought by the Texas company is authority to produce oil. The proposed bill gives to the company the right to "engage in the oil and gas producing business, prospecting for and producing oil and gas and other property for such purposes." The bill does not give the right to own and operate pipe lines, but these may be owned by a separate corporation organized and chartered with the consent of a majority of the stockholders and subject to certain restrictions, provided later in the act.

Amos L. Beaty, general counsel for the Texas Company, is in Austin, as is also Judge W. H. Gill, representing the independent producers. Both have stated that an amicable agreement has been reached by those interested in the two bills and it is believed both will have easy sailing.

Anyway, Doc Lively enjoyed the "bear story" appearing in this paper a few days ago, and that is some consolation. In commenting upon the matter, he says, through the columns of the Lufkin News:

"You did well in your selection of a suitable news item in this instance, Mr. Sentinel editor. While some readers may not enjoy it in the highest, still there are countless others who will get pleasure out of the reading, especially those who have shouldered a gun and gone into the wild woods in search of game. It even furnished a thrill for the writer, who never saw a bear, save under the "big top" of a circus, but has been thinking all his life what would do if he met one of the things out in the road—and no one near. For one to come in contact with a roving bear in the forest is one thing, and to come in contact with a cotton-tail rabbit is another."

ADMIRAL DEWEY IS WITH THE DEAD

Hero Manila Bay Passes Away at Home Yesterday, Ending A Useful Career.

Washington, Jan. 16.—Admiral Dewey, hero of Manila Bay and by priority the ranking naval officer of the world, died at his home here at 5:56 p. m. today in his eightieth year.

The end had been expected all day, Admiral Dewey sinking into a coma early in the forenoon. His condition became hopeless yesterday morning and only his remarkable recuperative powers kept him alive.

A general breakdown, with arterial sclerosis, was the cause of death. He was stricken last week, at his desk, where he had labored many years, attendants carrying him to his apartment.

An Adventurous Boy.

George Dewey was born in a typical New England farm house just outside the township of Montpelier, Vt., on December 26, 1837. He began his boyhood days by attending the district school, where even as a boy his disposition was adventurous. He often stirred up the gang on Main Street to help him on some troublemaking enterprise.

The boy's parents saw that their son was not unlike many other boys, as far as mischief-making was concerned, and at the age of 14 sent him to the old Military Academy at Norwich, Vt. Life in this school provided the students with little relaxation. The strict discipline and the continual study required by the authorities had a tendency to make the boys rebellious.

On one occasion, Dewey and his associates were arrested and ordered to appear before the court at Woodstock, charged with disorderly conduct for standing outside the window of a church where hymns were being sung, and breaking up the meeting by a rival chant mostly of "coon songs." Dewey's father heard of this and ordered his son to return home immediately.

Competitive examinations were not held at this time for the candidates of either West Point or Annapolis. It was necessary to obtain the political favor of a representative in congress. The influence of Dewey's father secured an appointment for his son. It happened that the first vacancy occurred at Annapolis, and in the fall of 1854 Dewey took up his studies at the Naval Academy.

His career, at no time during his student life, showed any marked ability for study. He was good in mathematics, poor in history and geography, and always stood near the foot of his class. He was graduated on June 18, 1858, being one of the 15 who finished out of a class of 60.

After graduating Dewey was assigned to duty on the Wabash, a steam frigate of over four thousand tons, for two years' experience in practical cruising—a requirement of the academy's curriculum before the students received the commissions. The Wabash was the flagship of the Mediterranean squadron, bearing the ensign of Flag Officer E. A. F. La Vallette, at that time the highest rank in the navy. It sailed from Hampton Roads July 22, 1858, arriving at Gibraltar on August 15, and cruised from port to port in the Mediterranean until November, 1859. This cruise enabled Dewey to see some of the life in Turkey, Egypt and the bordering countries of the Mediterranean.

On December 13, 1859, the Wabash arrived home, and was docked for repairs at the Brooklyn navy yard. Dewey then obtained a three months' leave of absence, which he spent at his home in Vermont. Afterward he served on the Powhatan and the Pawnee in a cruise to the Caribbean and gulf ports.

The Pawnee steamed into Charleston harbor on her return trip just at the outbreak of the civil war. Many Southern officers and sailors resigned from the navy to join the Confederate forces. Dewey saw the possibility of a great conflict and returned to the Naval Academy to take the final examinations. This was in January, 1861.

He passed through the grades of midshipman and master and was raised to the rank of lieutenant in April. After his final examination he was advanced to No. 3 in his class, and was a full-fledged and commissioned naval officer.

Civil War Service.

On May 10, 1861, Dewey reported for duty on the old side-wheeler Mississippi, on board which he served until she was fired upon and burned by the batteries of Port Hudson in March, 1863. During his service on this ship he was brought in close touch with Melancthon Smith, then commander of the Mississippi, with David G. Farragut, flag officer of the whole squadron maneuvering off New Orleans.

With the taking of Vicksburg in July by the Federal army, Port Hudson fell in consequence. There was no longer any need of a naval force on the river. Dewey was ordered to report to Rear Admiral Dahlgren, who was in charge of the blockade off Charleston, S. C. The blockade was inactive, and Dewey obtained a leave of absence to visit his home in Vermont.

On his return to service Dewey was placed in command of the Agawan a fair sized river steamer fitted out with a few guns. The Agawan captured the Confederate battery at Fort Mill Creek, and aided the Federal troops in various skirmishes along the river front. Later on, Dewey was appointed executive officer on board the Colorado, and took part in both her actions against Fort Fisher, in 1865. A promotion made Dewey the lieutenant commander of the Kearsage, when the war ended. After the war Dewey served on a vessel in the European squadron, and from time to time was assigned to various duties at different coaling stations.

He was promoted to commander in April, 1872, then in his thirty-fifth year. In September, 1884, he was raised to the rank of captain, and was made a commodore on February 8, 1896. Except for these appointments his life was uneventful during these years.

At the outbreak of the Spanish-American war in 1898 Dewey assumed command of the Asiatic squadron. The fleet lay in the harbor of Hong Kong on the 19th of April, when it received an order to prepare for battle.

The War With Spain.

On April 25 war was declared between the United States and Spain, and at the request of the governor of Hong Kong the American fleet steamed away. On April 26 Dewey received orders to commence operations at once, particularly against the Spanish fleet, then cruising about the Philippine Islands. The American fleet headed direct for Manila. The squadron was made up of the following vessels: Cruisers Olympia, flagship; Boston, Concord, the Petrel, Raleigh and Baltimore. All of these vessels were speedy cruisers, but in making the journey to the Philippines a speed of only eight knots was maintained, for the transports could not make fast headway against the rolling sea.

During the run Dewey kept the men busy with gun drills and other exercises, and every minute was employed in earnest preparation for the expected conflict. Saturday morning, April 30, Luzon was sighted.

Chairs, tables, chests and boxes were thrown overboard, and the ships were stripped and made ready for battle. It was learned that the Spanish fleet was in Manila Bay. On Saturday night, April 30, the very day that he arrived at the islands, Dewey proceeded through the dangerous channels of Manila Bay. The shore was dotted with forts and the waters were thick with mines. All realized the perils of their undertaking, and few there were who did not expect the ship leading the line of advance to be blown up at any moment.

The Battle of Manila.

When the morning sun rose, there, right before the American ships, and under the guns of Cavite lay the Spanish fleet. It consisted of seven cruisers, five gunboats and two torpedo boats. The Americans had two gunboats, four cruisers and one cutter. The Spanish were assisted by the powerful land batteries as well as by their knowledge of the surrounding waters.

What followed is comparatively recent history. The battle of Manila Bay was fought and won. Commodore Dewey completely annihilated the Spanish squadron, without the loss of a single life, and with only six men slightly wounded. None of the American ships suffered injury beyond repair. On the Spanish side the following vessels had either been burned or sunk: Reina Christina, Castilla, Don Antonio de Ulloa, Don Juan de Austria, Isla de Luzon; Isla de Cuba, El Correo, Velasco and Isla de Mindanao. The Spaniards lost more than 600 men.

Immediately upon receipt of the news at Washington, Dewey was thanked by resolution of congress. In 1899 Dewey was made a member of the United States Philippine commission and on March 2, of the same year was appointed admiral of the navy, the highest rank in that branch of the government.

COTTON DROPS $3

New Orleans, Jan. 15.—A decline of about $3 a bale in cotton under last week's closing prices was the outcome of heavy selling on this market today, due to weather conditions over the belt and small consumption figures from American mills for December, announced by the census bureau. The slump began with the opening, bears attacking prices vigorously almost the entire session. At the lowest of the day prices went 57 to 63 points down on the active months, following a slight recovery from the early slump. Closing figures were at a net decline of 57 to 80 points.

MEMORY J. A. FLORES.

Another native-born Texan of the early-day period has passed away, Jose Andres Floras has "gone to the land from whence no traveler ever returns." He died at his home near his married daughter's at Converse, La., Dec 23, 1916, and was laid to rest on Christmas Eve. He was about eighty-two years old, and was born in this old Nacogdoches County. His father, Vital Flores, was a highly respected citizen of this county through all his long life of more than ninety years. He was born in this town, at the old-time homestead now known as the Walker lots on East Main street, about the year 1797. There was no street there then. The original old house, which was torn away a few years ago, stood on a big road, El Comino del Rey, in a grove of mommoth native trees, more beautiful than any planted by man. It was constructed of timbers cut and shaped with hand tools only. Mud and moss were used to chink cracks between the logs or poles of which the house was built. Later on the house was converted into a spacious colonial abode.

Vital Flores was of Spanish ancestry, and his children by his Mexican wife were fair skinned. The earlier family came from Louisiana, probably being in the noted colony of El Capitan Gil Ybarbo who became the first settlers of the town of Nacogdoches about the year 1776. The Flores family here were never very numerous, but they were always considered important, worthy people of the Spanish type. Andres Flores raised a most respectable family at the old Flores home near Swift, about twelve miles east of Nacogdoches. Some of them removed to Converse, La., where he followed fifteen years ago. His death was due to a prolonged attack of paralysis. His daughter, Mrs. Harlacher, of our city, and other relatives attended the funeral.

Andres Flores was proud of his lineage and his character, though only an humble, unpretentious farmer. He served in the Confederate army, and in every sphere of life he was always in his place of duty. His conduct and his temperament won him friends wherever he was known, as was the case with his revered father.

Honored be the name and the memory of Flores in old Nacogdoches county!

Keeping Yourself Well

DRIVING OUT CATARRH

If people knew how the presence of catarrh is a constant menace, they would have none of it. It infests some part of the delicately adjusted body and makes it useless, thus throwing on the other organs more than their share of work. It affords a carefully prepared food for the germs of cold, grip, tuberculosis and pneumonia. It so disarranges Nature's delicate plans as to make possible asthma, hay fever and other respiratory disorders. It spreads until it becomes systemic, thus involving many organs and debilitating the entire system with serious results. Catarrh is easily neglected, and it rarely gets well of itself. It needs proper medicinal correction. For almost half a century many thousands have found help in Peruna, a valuable tonic with special efficacy in catarrhal conditions. The aim is to clean out what matters, to dispel the catarrhal inflammation, and tone up the whole system. It is used willingly, testifying that it has done all this and even more for catarrhal sufferers. What it has done is the best proof of what it will do. You may rely on Peruna. Its tablet form is pleasant to take and easy to administer.

EAST TEXAS COLLEGE BEING TALKED ABOUT

The following, which will be of interest to Nacogdoches people who have their eyes on the proposition is culled from yesterday's report of the proceedings of the legislature:

"In addition to all of the agitation on the subject and the introduction of bills in both houses for the establishment of an agricultural and mechanical college in West Texas, there comes a proposition for one in East Texas. The movement has the support of Senator John M. Henderson who will introduce a bill providing for an appropriation of $500,000. The bill, which will likely be introduced today will provide that the school be located east of the ninety-sixth meridian.

"Representative B. T. Pillow there is likely to be a little opponent of Galveston will probably introduce a bill providing for two shifts for firemen employed in the larger cities of the state. A number of other representatives have bills on the same subject. They have for their object the lessening of the hours of work for the firemen, which, it is claimed, will increase the efficiency of the departments."

Ask your druggist for a 5-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which contains full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups.

GREAT FINANCIERS DRAWN IN LEAK

Washington, Jan. 16.—With administration officials, bankers and other well known men waiting to testify on Thomsa W. Lawson's testimony that he had heard they were connected with a stock market leak on President Wilson's peace note, the house rules committee resumed its hearings today with Lawson on the stand.

Before Lawson had been on the stand an hour today the scope of the investigation broadened to take in some nationally known names not hitherto mentioned.

On motion of Representative Harrison, democrat, the committee subpoenaed J. P. Morgan, J. S. Bache, Henry P. Davidson, Frank A. Vanderlip, Arthur Lipper and Sol C. Wexley, all prominent bankers. Mr. Harrison did not disclose his reason for asking for the appearance of the witnesses.

At the outset of today's hearing Lawson went over a recital of how, he said, Chairman Henry himself told him a cabinet member, a senator and a banker were in a stock gambling pool. Referring to Henry's denial that he ever told Lawson any such thing, Lawson dramatically declared:

"Unless your chairman said what I said he said, I am guilty of foul perjury, and unfit to be anywhere outside the bars of a prison."

Testifying to his alleged relation with Archibald S. White, in New York, about Pliny Fiske's alleged relations with Secretary McAdoo, Lawson said White told him Fiske was boasting of his "mastery" over McAdoo, offering to go to the telephone at night, call McAdoo out of bed and summon him to New York. White intimated, said Lawson, that Fiske was "in his cups," though he (White) could not say whether Fiske was drunk.

Mysterious Mrs. Visconti. Lawson testified that Mrs. Ruth Thomason Visconti, who wrote him a letter and later made a statement in the presence of her attorney, declared William W. Price, the White House correspondent, who, she said, acted as a go-between for Secretary Tumulty and others stated that Price "received $5000 cash and that Tumulty received a much larger sum."

"I think that is substantially correct statement of her report to me," said Lawson.

The sergeant at arms of the house later reported to Mr. Henry that he had been unable to locate Mrs. Ruth Thomason Visconti, sought as a witness in the leak investigations. Members of the committee said that there were inklings that she had disappeared.

When Lawson was cross-examined he declared his impression that Chairman Henry had mentioned Secretary McAdoo in connection with the alleged leak was erroneous. That information, he declared, came from entirely another source.

With regard to subpoenaing J. P. Morgan, H. P. Davidson and other financiers in the leak investigation, Chairman Henry said he did not know of any specific reason for calling them. Representative Harrison, who proposed that they be summoned, said he thought that the committee might get some valuable information.

His Talk With Publishers.

"You stated," questioned Representative Campbell, "that when you left Washington after talking with Chairman Henry that you went to New York and talked with several publishers. Will you state the substance of what you told them?"

"I asked them their opinion of what had happened in Washington," Lawson began slowly, "and told them I would like to get their advice on whether I should go further or drop the entire matter: I said much more than I related here yesterday. I laid before them Henry's statements in the press that morning and called their attention to what appeared to be an unfair slant that it took.

"After I left Henry's office I went to New York and first called on John O'Hara Cosgrave in his editorial rooms in the New York World on the following morning."

"When was the interview with Erman J. Ridgeway?"

"Tuesday, January 3."

"Where did you see him?"

"At my rooms in the Belmont Hotel, New York."

First Talk in 15 Years.

"You spoke of seeing Donald McDonald?"

"In the early morning of January 3 I came right from the train and sat down in the Belmont Hotel breakfast room, when Mr. McDonald came in and sat at a table across the aisle. He spoke to me. I had not spoken to Mr. McDonald for probably 15 years, but he spoke to me and asked me what was going on in Washington."

"I told him of those things that happened in New York and said I would like to see an investigation, but there would be none. I told him what your chairman had said, and being an old newspaper man and publicity expert, I asked him his advice. I impressed on him the confidence which your chairman had imposed in me, everything being perfectly friendly between Mr. Henry and myself at that time."

"Unless your chairman said what I say he said, I am guilty of foul perjury," Lawson dramatically declared to the committee. "I am guilty of foul perjury and unfit to be anywhere outside the bars of a prison."

IN MEMORIAM.

In life, while there is sunshine there is dark places, and while we are traveling down the road of life we are called aside to shed a bitter tear over our loved ones and friends, but Christ said, "Let not your heart be troubled; if ye believe in God believe in me."

Mother is gone, and my mind runs back to my boyhood life and remembers the kind words that mother used to speak to me when I was about to do something those sweet songs, as "Jesus Lover of My Soul," "I Love to Tell the Story." And it made a boy like me wonder if God would do as much for me as He had done for mother. She lived her religion every day, and from her life we children felt her influence.

Mrs. Lizzie Dowling Hughes was born Oct. 17th, 1846, and married Captain N. Hughes April the 14th 1867. To this couple was born nine children, all living but one who died in infancy.

Father preceded mother to that county from whose bourne no traveler has ever returned, and waited eleven years for her coming. So on the night of the 14th of December, mother took her flight to that country where there will be no more parting, to meet father. I thank God for such a mother as we had. She joined the Methodist church in early life and lived up to its teaching. So may we children live the life that our mother lived. And then we will meet her in that place Christ said He would go and prepare, and there will be no separation, no tears shed, no more goodbyes. I thank God for that place, and by the grace of God I am going to that place.

Her Son.

Silence may be golden or it may indicate guilt.

DEATH OF C. A. GUNNING.

The following item, taken from the Houston Chronicle, refers to Clyde Gunning, who was born and raised near Chireno, in this county. His father, Jim Gunning, and his mother, who was a Matthews, were pioneer people of the best class and standing, and raised a large family. The news was wired here to Dr. T. J. Blackwell, whose wife is a sister of the deceased. No particulars were given, and the time or place of the funeral was not known.

Waco, Texas, Jan. 16.—After having shot O. J. Hodges, an electrician, here this afternoon, about 2:45 o'clock, C. A. Gunning walked two blocks from the scene of the first shooting and shot himself in the mouth. Hodges is in a critical condition, being shot three times through the arm, neck and body. He has a wife and three children here.

Gunning was a real estate dealer and is survived by his wife and baby, the latter 3 weeks old.

SHELBY COUNTY WILL BUILD GOOD ROADS

Timpson, Texas, Jan. 11.—The commissioners' court of Shelby County has voted to issue $120,000 worth of deficiency warrants for the purpose of building good roads in the county. There are four precincts in the county and the money will be divided equally between the four precincts. A civil engineer has been employed to look after the work and the contract for the construction of the roads has been divided between two different parties. Sand-clay roads will be constructed and the people of the county are hopeful that this, the first move for good roads, will be a pleasing success.

DEATH SENTENCE IN ONE HOUR

Texarkana, Ark., Jan. 15.—John Hawkins, a negro, today was tried, convicted and sentenced to be electrocuted, all within an hour and a half, for the murder of Mrs. Ben Diles and her 18-month-old daughter, at Ashdown, Ark., in November. Hawkins confessed that he entered the Diles home to commit a robbery and that he killed Mrs. Diles and her baby when the woman surprised him. He used her husband's shotgun, shooting Mrs. Diles and clubbing the child to death.

The death sentence was set for March 13.

HEAD AND NOSTRILS STUFFED FROM COLD

Don't stay stuffed up! Only blowing and sniffing! A dose of "Figs' Cold Compound" taken every two hours until three doses are taken will end gripe misery and break up a severe cold either in the head, chest, or lungs. It promptly opens clogged-up nostrils and air passages; stops heavy discharge or nose running; relieves sick headache, dizziness, fever, sore throat, sneezing, soreness and stiffness. "Figs' Cold Compound" is the quickest, surest relief known, and costs only 25 cents at drug stores.

GOVERNORS INAUGURATED

Austin, Texas, Jan. 16.—Governor James E. Ferguson and Lieutenant Governor W. P. Hobby were inaugurated today. A crowd of several thousand people witnessed the ceremonies.

When Governor Ferguson stood up on the rostrum while Chief Justice Nelson Phillips of the State Supreme Court delivered the oath of office there was a wave of applause and cheering. High Noon Ceremony.

It was high noon when the senate in a body was announced at the bar of the house and escorted by the sergeant at arms of the senate, the chief clerk and the journal clerk marched down the middle aisle and took the seats set aside for them.

Accompanied by the joint committees of the senate and house, Senators Bailey, Strickland, and Gibson on behalf of the senate, and Representatives Woods, Miller of Dallas, Clark, Canales and Neill on behalf of the house, Chief Justice Phillips of the Supreme Court, Associate Justices of the Supreme Court Yantis and Hawkins, the members of the Court of Criminal Appeals, and the staff of Governor Ferguson, Governor Ferguson and Lieutenant Governor Hobby were announced at the bar of the house and conducted to the speaker's stand.

Governor Ferguson was the first to take the oath of office, affix his signature, and the announcement from the chief justice of the Supreme Court was made that the seal of the commonwealth of Texas was affixed. Lieutenant Governor W. P. Hobby was then sworn in and Speaker F. O. Fuller of the house of representatives of the Thirty-Fifth Legislature introduced President Pro Tempore John M. Henderson of the senate.

Mr. Henderson then introduced Governor Ferguson. Speaker Fuller introduced Lieutenant Governor W. P. Hobby, who was also given an ovation. Following the addresses of Governor Ferguson and Lieutenant Governor Hobby, the senate retired to its chamber and the house adjourned.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy Most Effective.

"I have taken a great many bottles of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and every time it has cured me. I have found it most effective for a hacking cough and for colds. After taking it a cough always disappears," writes J. R. Moore, Lost Valley, Ga. Obtainable everywhere.

CODY WILL REST IN ROCKY CREST

Denver, Jan. 11.—Telegrams of condolence from President Wilson and prominent men everywhere were received today by the relatives of Colonel William F. Cody (Buffalo Bill) who died yesterday.

Buffalo Bill's funeral will be Sunday afternoon, the body previously lying in state at the capitol four hours. Denver has offered the noted frontiersman's family a burial place on the rocky crest on Lookout Mountain, overlooking the plains of Eastern Colorado and Southern Wyoming. Nationwide subscription for a monument is under consideration.

The Habit of Taking Cold.

With many people taking cold is a habit, but fortunately one that is easily broken. Take a cold sponge bath every morning when you first get out of bed—not ice cold, but a temperature of about 90 F. Also sleep with your window up. Do this and you will seldom take cold. When you do take cold take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and get rid of it as quickly as possible. Obtainable everywhere.

RELEASED ON BOND.

George Walker, who was arrested a few days ago on complaint of taking a gun from Mr. Edding's shop, was called for an examining trial before Esq. Huston this morning, and released on $500 bond.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Fulmer of Jacksonville have been in the city this week, Mrs. Fulmer coming down for an operation at the Nacogdoches Surgical Hospital, which she stood well and is reported to be getting along nicely. Mr. and Mrs. Fulmer were citizens of the Shady Grove community; this county, before moving to Jacksonville, and have a number of friends among the older settlers.

Bad Habits.

Those who breakfast at eight o'clock or later, lunch at twelve and have dinner at six are almost certain to be troubled with indigestion. They do not allow time for one meal to digest before taking another. Not less than five hours should escape between meals. If you are troubled with indigestion correct your habits and take Chamberlain's Tablets, and you may reasonably hope for a quick recovery. These tablets strengthen the stomach and enable it to perform its function naturally. Obtainable everywhere.

Coughing Tires the Old

Hard winter coughs are very trying to elderly people. They mean loss of sleep, and they deplete the strength, lower vitality, weaken and wear out the system.

Foley's Honey and Tar stops coughs quickly. It is a standard family medicine that contains no opiates, and is noted for its quick effect on coughs, colds, croup, bronchitis and LaGrippe coughs, and the chronic coughs of elderly people.

J. B. Williams, Texarkana, Ga., over 72 years old says: "I have used Foley's Honey and Tar for years with the best and surest results."

INTERESTING LETTER HON. W. E. THOMASON

The Sentinel publishers are in receipt of a most interesting letter from Nacogdoches county's representative in the legislature, Hon. W. E. Thomason, which we take the liberty to publish because of the general interest it contains for people of this section.

Omitting names and preliminaries, the letter reads as follows:

"I feel that it will be no imposition upon your valuable time to write you a few words relative to the time I have spent in Austin since I arrived here a week ago yesterday. I found that when I arrived that Fuller had four opponents who were doing their best to obtain the coveted position of Speaker of the 35th legislature. They were all nice, clean gentlemen and put up a splendid fight, but Fuller's forces were so fortified that they could never shake him, though every kind of pressure was brought to bear upon him to change him from the policies that he started out with, but he did not yield to any of them, and it was soon a foregone conclusion that none of them could turn the tide against him, and that he would be elected by a good majority. On Monday evening they all took down their signs, marched into his headquarters and told him that they were ready to join him and elect him unanimously Speaker of the House, and that they were also ready to join him in his desire for peace and harmony, throughout the 35th Legislature.

"East Texas has for one time been put on the map of Texas and the term 'East Texas Squirrel Turners' is in the mouth of every member of the House. As to what they think of us, may be drawn from the expression of Bruce W. Bryant of Haskell, who says that he could take M. M. McFarland of Alpine and about a dozen 'East Texas Squirrel Turners' and be elected Governor of Texas and take any position that he desired to on any question.

"I have been very busy assisting Mr. Fuller in making his assignments preparatory to the organization of the House. The committees were all read out today and East Texas fared well and for one time received her just deserts in chairmanships and committee assignments. The honor was conferred upon your humble servant of having been appointed chairman of the Educational Committee, which is considered by nearly every one as being the most important committee in the house, especially at this time. I was also appointed on the committees of Agriculture, Road, Bridges, Ferries, Asylums, Reforms in Criminal Procedure.

John G. Ross, formerly of Garrison, was given one of the best clerkships in the House, and Miss Audrey Lilly, formerly of Nacogdoches County, was appointed as one of the stenographers, and, by the way, she is considered one of the best that there is out of a number of about thirty."

Yours very truly,
W. E. THOMASON.

SENATOR S. M. KING AGAINST SUBMISSION

The Beaumont Enterprise of today (Monday) carries the following interview with Senator S. M. King of this district with reference to the submission issue which is now engaging the attention of the legislature:

"In a statement made public yesterday while in Beaumont to spend Sunday, State Senator Steve M. King, from the Fourteenth district, made his position on the submission question clear, declaring he would abide by the instructions of his constituents. Senator King has been looked upon as one of the leading factors in the submission question when it comes to a vote in the senate. His position has been asked innumerable times, and for that reason he issued the statement. Mr. King came home Saturday and spent Sunday, returning last night to Austin. Before leaving he issued the following statement:

"I have been besieged with inquiries as to my position upon the submission question, and have heretofore refrained from making any public statement in the hope that some solution might be reached. Some of the inquiries show a lack of knowledge or a lack of information as to my position. It also appears that throughout the state generally the people are suggesting that the results upon this important question hinges upon my vote in the Senate.

"It takes twenty-one affirmative votes in the senate for the measure to pass and I am not informed as to whether or not there will be twenty-one votes cast for submission.

"My position is this: In 1914 as a candidate for the nomination to the office of state senator, voicing my sentiments that as a fundamental proposition that the constituents of a representative or senator have the inalienable right to instruct such senator on matters of legislation I announced in the press throughout the district that I would abide the instructions of the voters of the Fourteenth senatorial district upon the questions of submission: that is, if a majority of the votes were cast against submission, that I would vote against submission.

"Not only did I announce it in the press, but from the platform in every town and village in the district. Also 109 citizens of Nacogdoches county, composed of men of varying beliefs on the prohibition question, the most of whom, however, were strongly in favor of a statewide prohibition, prepared and circulated throughout the several counties of the district a written circular in which they pledged me to abide the instructions of my district upon this question. On several occasions in public discussions with my opponent he strongly assailed this position and I defended the same before the people.

"No well informed man in this district could fail to have known my position upon the question. The district, as is shown by certificates from the chairmen of the democratic executive committee as well as the returns direct to me by the various county chairmen, show that the dis-

Girl! Try It! Hair gets soft, fluffy and beautiful—Get a 25-cent bottle of Danderine.

If you care for heavy hair that glitters with beauty and is radiant with life; has an incomparable softness and is fluffy and lustrous, try Danderine. Just one application doubles the beauty of your hair, besides it immediately dissolves every particle of dandruff. You can not have nice heavy, healthy hair if you have dandruff. This destructive scurf robs the hair of its lustre, its strength and its very life, and if not overcome it produces a feverishness and itching of the scalp; the hair roots fatten, loosen and die; then the hair falls out fast. Surely get a 25-cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store and just try it.

CITATION BY PUBLICATION

THE STATE OF TEXAS, To the Sheriff or any Constable of Nacogdoches County—Greeting:

You are hereby commanded to summon R. E. Cummings, by making publication of this Citation once in each week for four successive weeks previous to the return day hereof, in some newspaper published in your county; if there be a newspaper published therein, but if not, then in any newspaper published in the 2nd Judicial District; but if there be no newspaper published in said Judicial District, then in a newspaper published in the nearest District to said 2nd Judicial District, to appear at the next regular term of the District Court of Nacogdoches County, to be held at the Court House thereof, in Nacogdoches, on the 2nd Monday in February, A. D. 1916, the same being the 12th day of February, A. D. 1916, then and there to answer a petition filed in said Court on the 6th day of April, A. D. 1914, in a suit, numbered on the docket of said Court, No. 308, wherein E. L. Cummings is Plaintiff and R. E. Cummings is Defendant, and said petition alleging on or about January 18th, 1903 Plaintiff and Defendant were legally married in Nacogdoches county, Texas, and continued to live together as man and wife until on or about the 17th day of November, 1912, when by reason of the cruel and unbearable treatment of defendant towards this plaintiff she was forced to leave defendant. That during the time plaintiff and defendant lived and cohabitated together as husband and wife, plaintiff was always kind to defendant, and in every way treated him as a wife should treat a husband, and was true in every respect to her marital vows, but notwithstanding this, defendant about twelve months before this final separation began a course of harsh and cruel treatment toward plaintiff, and on different occasions cursed and abused plaintiff. That defendant would frequently get drunk and come home in that condition and would strike and abuse plaintiff, and would strike and choke plaintiff and call her vile names. And defendant continued this course of treatment, growing more abusive in his manner and more cruel in his treatment, until his conduct became unbearable to this plaintiff and rendered her living with him insupportable, and on or about the 17th day of November, 1912, by reason of said cruel and harsh treatment, plaintiff permanently separated from defendant.

Wherefore, plaintiff prays that citation issue to defendant and upon final hearing hereof she have judgment dissolving the bonds of matrimony existing between plaintiff and defendant, for costs of suit and for such other and further relief, both general and special, as in law and equity she may be entitled to.

Herein fail not, but have before said court, at its aforesaid next regular term, this writ with your return thereon, showing how you have executed the same.

Given under my hand and seal of said court, at office in Nacogdoches, this, the 30th day of Dec., A. D. 1916.

N. B. HALL, Clerk,
District Court Nacogdoches County.

CLIMBED STAIRS ON HER HANDS

Too Ill to Walk Upright. Operation Advised. Saved by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

This woman now raises chickens and does manual labor. Read her story:

Richmond, Ind.—"For two years I was so sick and weak with troubles from my age that when going up stairs I had to go very slowly with my hands on the steps, then sit down at the top to rest. The doctor said he thought I should have an operation, and my friends thought I would not live to move into our new house. My daughter asked me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound as she had taken it with good results. I did so, my weakness disappeared, I gained in strength, moved into our new home, did all kinds of garden work, shoveled dirt, did building and cement work, and raised hundreds of chickens and ducks. I cannot say enough in praise of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and if these facts are useful you may publish them for the benefit of other women."—Mrs. M. O. W. W. Turrier made a business trip to Nacogdoches Saturday.

John McNair made a business trip to Nacogdoches Monday.

J. W. Prince made a business trip to Nacogdoches one day this week.

Mrs. Ike Anderson and daughter of Nacogdoches visited Mrs. E. L. Rambin last week.

Jas. D. Greer spent several days around here this week looking after the interests of all farmers who need his service.

Dr. Geo. Barham and S. M. Adams of Nacogdoches spent Friday afternoon here on account of the illness of Dr. E. S. Adams.

At a meeting of the Confederate veterans held in Nacogdoches last Saturday afternoon two Garrison veterans were honored by being elected to office. O. C. Dotson being elected a lieutenant and Joseph Turnage Color Bearer. It would be impossible to find two nobler men on this earth and in honoring these grand old Confederate soldiers the organization honored itself. John T. Watson, another old soldier, was elected commander.

That Nacogdoches county farmer is not going to starve. According to a news item in The Post of Saturday he had just sold ten hogs for $300. He still had enough meat on hand to run his farm through the coming year and other big hogs yet to kill. And "he always makes plenty of corn, sweet potatoes, syrup and hay to run him through the season." That is the way to farm and that is the kind of a farmer who is keeping Texas on the right side of the ledger.—Houston Post.

TRY IT! SUBSTITUTE FOR NASTY CALOMEL

Starts your liver without making you sick and can not salivate.

Every druggist in town—your druggist and every body's druggist has noticed a great falling-off in the sale of calomel. They all give the same reason. Dodson's Liver Tone is taking its place. "Calomel is dangerous and people know it, while Dodson's Liver Tone is perfectly safe and gives better results," said a prominent local druggist. Dodson's Liver Tone is personally guaranteed by every druggist who sells it. A large bottle costs 50 cents, and if it fails to give easy relief in every case of liver sluggishness and constipation, you have only to ask for your money back. Dodson's Liver Tone is a pleasant-tasting, purely vegetable remedy, harmless to both children and adults. Take a spoonful at night and wake up feeling fine; no dizziness, sick headache, acid stomach or constipated bowels. It doesn't gripe or cause inconvenience all the next day like violent calomel. Take a dose of calomel today and tomorrow you will feel weak, sick and nauseated. Don't lose a day's work! Take Dodson's Liver Tone instead and feel fine, full of vigor and ambition.

POSTOFFICE BUILDING CONTRACT IS LET

California Firm Gets Contract and Most Complete Building in Twelve Months.

After so long, it seems that Nacogdoches is at last going to get the new postoffice building of which she has long dreamed.

Postmaster Donegan this morning received a carbon copy of a letter from the department to Graeme McDonald Co., San Francisco, Cal., which reads as follows:

"In accordance with Department approval of even date, your proposal, dated Dec. 15, 1916, the lowest received under advertisement, is accepted, to furnish all the labor and materials required for the construction of the postoffice building at Nacogdoches, Texas, in strict accordance with the specification dated November 16, 1916, the drawings, etc., prepared by the board on uniform plumbing specifications for the treasury, war and navy departments, March 1, 1916, and the instructions of the superintendent, using light colored sand stone for all stone work except where granite is specified, for the sum of forty-six thousand, six hundred dollars ($46,600.00).

"The work must be completed within twelve months (12) of the date of this acceptance.

"It is understood and agreed that you will execute promptly a formal contract, with bond in the sum of twenty-three thousand and three hundred dollars ($23,300.00) guaranteeing the faithful performance of the work, a form for which will be sent you, and sign the stamped set of the said drawings with red label, forwarded under separate cover, the contract, bond and drawings to be returned immediately for file in the office of the supervising architect. Your check will be held until the acceptance of your bond.

"Payment will be made from the appropriation for 'Post Office, Nacogdoches, Texas.'"

NO REPUBLICANS IN LEGISLATURE

Austin, Texas, Jan. 10.—For the first time since the civil war the lawmaking body of Texas is exclusively in the hands of the democracy of the state. There is not a republican in either house.

This matter was the subject of considerable comment yesterday when the oath of office was administered to Thomas J. Martin of Fredericksburg, who succeeds Representative Bierschwell, who served in several previous sessions and who was the last republican to be elected to the legislature.

Twenty years ago there were several republicans in the house. In 1895 a negro named Smith was the last member of the colored race to be elected.

Over in the senate Julius Real of Kerrville was the last republican to serve in the upper house. He was succeeded two years ago by Carlos Bee of San Antonio.

"CHICKEN SALAD" CASE HAS BEEN AFFIRMED

A late dispatch from Austin, says:

"The supreme court today refused the writ of error in the celebrated 'chicken salad' case, styled H. B. Terrell, state comptroller, vs. W. C. Middleton from Travis county. The court was unanimous in its action in refusing the writ.

"No written reasons were given by the court, but Associate Justice William E. Hawkins made a notation on the docket that he concurred in the refusal of the application and would later file a statement giving his reasons.

"The refusal of the supreme court to review the case means the judgment of the Fifty-third district court of Travis county, restraining the state comptroller from paying certain items of appropriation by the Legislature for groceries and supplies during the administration of Governor Colquitt, including items of chicken salad and punch which judgment was affirmed by the fourth court of civil appeals at San Antonio, will stand. The items which the comptroller is restrained from paying amount to $2,000.

Dist. Judge F. L. Hawkins said today that he had failed to receive the records and pleadings in the cases and that as the docket was already crowded, it will be necessary to pass them to the May term.

E. E. "Em" Sapp and "Lou" Sapp were given 40 and 25 years, respectively, after the Lufkin trials. They were charged with the killing of Dick Watts, whose body was found in a thicket in Hardin County in January, 1915. The state sought to show that Watts had information regarding the death of "Em" Sapp's wife on a hunting trip which the Sapp brothers thought he might divulge, questioning the accidental nature of her death.

SECOND TRIAL OF SAPP GOES OVER

Waxahachie, Texas, Jan. 15.—The cases against E. E. Sapp and his younger brother, Louis, reversed in the Court of Criminal Appeals after conviction on a murder charge at Lufkin, Angelina county, and assigned for trial here, will not come to a hearing at the present term of court.

GREENBACKS TO BE ISSUED AGAIN

Washington, Jan. 10.—A new issue of the one and two-dollar greenbacks of Civil War days, discontinued more than 30 years ago, will be put into circulation probably about February 1, displacing similar United States notes of larger denomination, to provide relief from the unprecedented demand for small paper money. The treasury department announcement today that the issue had been decided on because silver certificates, the ordinary bills of one and two-dollar denomination, could not be issued in sufficient quantities to meet the demand.

A limit of $346,681,016 to the amount of outstanding federal notes was fixed by law in 1878 after the greenback had become an issue in politics and had resulted in the birth of a new national party backed largely by the farmers of the West and South. No greenbacks have been issued since 1885, and the amount of outstanding one and two-dollar notes of that variety now is slightly over $3,000,000. There is, however, $102,445,300 outstanding in United States notes of ten-dollar denomination and higher and a portion of these will be retired and cancelled to meet the new issue of smaller denominations.

"The demand for paper currency of the smaller denominations," said the department's announcement, "has always been regarded by the treasury as an index to business conditions. For many months there has been a constantly growing demand for one and two-dollar bills until now it is impossible to meet the country's needs in this respect by means of silver certificates, which for more than 30 years have been the form of paper currency issued in one dollar and two-dollar denominations."

NEIGHBORHOOD FIGHT IN ANGELINA COUNTY

Angelina county is just across the big creek from Nacogdoches county, and as there is much passing between the two counties, and the people of the two having more or less acquaintance with each other, any matter out of the ordinary happening in either is of more or less interest to the other.

For this reason, together with the unique and interesting way in which the report is handled, we reproduce the following account of a neighborhood row occurring near Lufkin from yesterday's issue of the Lufkin News:

"City Marshal C. C. Matthews and Deputy Sheriff Sam Jones answered a hurry-up call last night at an early hour out on the Ion Bridge road west of town about six miles, having been informed that there was trouble in the air. As a result of their visit, Mr. Dock McGary was placed in the county jail to answer whatever charge may be preferred against him.

As a News reporter gathers the story, Mr. McGary, a married man, lives not far from a brother-in-law of his by the name of Richard Caples. Some time after nightfall he went to the home of Caples, and thereby hangs a tale.

"At the beginning of hostilities Mr. Caples was slashed hither and yon with a knife, and doctors were summoned later to bind up the affected parts. The next reel of the drama showed possibly some of the women about the premises taking a hand in the free-for-all show; but after they were persuaded to retire from the stage of action by means of a single tree wielded by the irate party of the first part, he then realized that he was says Mrs. Sylvania Woods, of Clifton Mills, Ky., in writing of her experience with Gardui, the woman's tonic. She says further: "Before I began to use Gardui, my back and head would hurt so bad, I thought the pain would kill me. I was hardly able to do any of my housework. After taking three bottles of Gardui, I began to feel like a new woman. I soon gained 35 pounds, and now, I do all my housework, as well as run a big water mill.

I wish every suffering woman would give

Headache, backache, side ache, nervousness, tired, worn-out feelings, etc., are sure signs of womanly trouble. Signs that you need Gardui, the woman's tonic. You cannot make a mistake in trying Gardui for your trouble. It has been helping weak, ailing women for more than fifty years.

monarch of all he surveyed, and proceeded to "make Rome howl." "The writer was not a witness to the havoc wrought, and does not know which article of furniture went first into the scrap heap; but officers who were detailed to handle the case say they never saw such a wreck of household goods before, and that the family has to all intents and purposes abandoned housekeeping entirely and will have to begin all over again. Possibly the cook stove was tackled first, and it now remembers a wreck of its former self. Then went beds and all accompaniments; afterwards window lights amounting to as many as there were in the house; dishes followed in their regular order; the family clock, the chairs, center tables, dressers and bric-a-brac scattered around, the cat leaving the premises through the front handy loophole, and not being heard of since. Even the chickens became frightened and refused to crow for daylight, while the old watch dog "beat it" for the "tall uncut" and remains in hiding still.

"When officers arrived on the scene they found things as still as a mouse, but lingering around in the neighborhood awhile they finally located the party wanted tucked away between two feather beds. Upon being satisfied that the party was not laboring under the difficulties of a chill, he was escorted to town and placed in jail.

"Today the sun is shing as brightly in that locality as it ever shown before and all the neighbors round about have come to the conclusion that they will live on until they die. "Come to Angelina."

10 CENT "CASCARETS" IF BILIOUS OR COSTIVE

For Sick Headache, Sour Stomach, Sluggish Liver and Bowels—They work while you sleep.

Purged Tongue, Bad Taste, Indigestion, Sallow Skin and Miserable Headaches come from a torpid liver and clogged bowels, which cause your stomach to become lined with undigested food, which sours and ferments like garbage in a swill barrel. That's the first step to untold misery—indigestion, foul gases, bad breath, yellow skin, mental fog, everything that is horrible and nauseating. A Cascareset tonight will give your constipated bowels a thorough cleansing and straighten you out by morning. They work while you sleep—a 10-cent box from your druggist will keep you feeling good for months.

ABOUT THE OLD DESTITUTE LADIES

"Be Not Deceived, God is Not Mocked."

Some say there's no greater crime or sin worse than murder or stealing, but that preacher by whose dirty hands, these two unfortunate women are thrown helpless and almost starving on the county's hands, is one worse than murder or theft. Only a few years ago they possessed a good farm and home in this county, but into this home one day came worse than the devil himself, disguised as a preacher and man of God.

This skunk persuaded them that he could better look after and take care of their interest than they themselves could, so they just deeded the place over to him, and he was to see that they were comfortably provided for the balance of their days of this life.

Shortly afterwards he sold the place for the cash, pocketed it and departed for unknown parts and doubtless today is filling his regular Sunday appointments.

Be not deceived preacher, nature nor time, cannot heal this wound, and thank God there's an unusually warm reception awaiting your kind at the Devil's Ball, where you can dance in brimstone and fire and shout agony throughout boundless eternity.

He's hoping though that this will fall into your hands ere it is too late. These two souls are still here and you have a chance yet to be reconciled and forgiven. So face the music and return and do your duty or reap your just tormenting reward, surely awaiting you.

CONFEDERATE SOLDIER IS WITH THE DEAD

Mr. W. G. Wade, better known to his friends as "Uncle Bill," died at his old home place at Nat. Texas, January 12, 1917, where he was living with a niece, Mrs. Vernon Bone.

His remains were laid to rest in the Nat cemetery January 18. Rev. G. W. C. Self conducting the funeral service, in the presence of a large crowd of friends who gathered to pay the last tribute of respect to one they had learned to love and esteem for his sterling worth as a citizen, as a neighbor and as a friend.

Mr. Wade was born in Madison county, Mississippi, March 29, 1836, and came to Texas in 1854, when but eighteen years of age. He enlisted in the Confederate Army in 1862 under Captain Lewellen, and served faithfully and efficiently in the cause of his country until the close of that mighty conflict. He was married to Miss Rutha Samantha Burke Jan. 22, 1866. After twenty-seven years of happy married life, Mrs. Wade died in 1893, leaving Mr. Wade alone as they had no children. Since that time he has lived among three of his brother's children whom he helped to rear, Mrs. Vernon Bone, Mrs. Frank Bates and Mr. Hulen Wade. Among other relatives, Mr. Wade was a brother-in-law of Messrs. H. F. and Erit T. Burk and Mrs. John Watkins of Mahi, and Mesdames Will Sanders and Jno. B. Dorsey of this city.

Throughout his long residence in this county, Mr. Wade distinguished himself as a good citizen and a good man, ever ready to render any needed service to his country or his neighbor, and he was highly esteemed by all who knew him.

One by one, these grand old survivors of the cause of the Confederacy, whose citizenship has been the superior of any in American history, are being cut down by the Grim Reaper, but their deeds of valor, and memory of their sacrifices they made in what they conceived to be the cause of their country, will live long after them.

Peace to their ashes!

Goes to Memphis Reunion and Marches Three Miles in Big Parade—Gains 13 Pounds

"If it had not been for that Tanlac, I couldn't have gone to the confederate reunion at Memphis on the 8th of October and marched afoot for nearly three miles in the big parade," said Frank B. Kendrick, who lives at 4800 Charlotte Avenue, Nashville, Tenn. Mr. Kendrick is one of Nashville's oldest and best known citizens.

As a member of Company I, second Kentucky Cavalry, Basil Duke's Regiment, General John B. Gordon's command, Mr. Kendrick saw service throughout the Civil War and was wounded four different times.

"During the winter," said Mr. Kendrick, "I suffered intensely with rheumatism, and when springtime came I went all to pieces. I had just about made up my mind that my end was not very far off. I looked like I was on the verge of a general physical decline, and I had about despaired of ever walking again. I am seventy years of age, have fought a good fight and have proven my record and was ready to go. But since I got hold of Tanlac I have set my head to round out ninety years, and from the way I feel now I believe I will do it. Before I began taking this medicine I was rapidly losing what little strength and flesh I had, and was so weak and debilitated it was all I could do to walk from the bed to the chair, and even that required great exertion. I had no appetite at all, couldn't sleep to do any good and was awfully nervous. My flesh seemed to dry and I suffered a great deal with headache.

"I doctored and doctored, but did not show any sign of improvement. I attributed my failure to get relief to my old age and declining physical powers. But I made a bad guess, because after taking Tanlac two weeks I felt better and younger than I had felt in years. I am now on my ninth bottle, and am actually thirteen pounds heavier than I was before I began taking Tanlac. My clothes were too large—now they are too small, and I guess I will have to buy clothes that will fit me comfortably. To make a long story short—the medicine just seemed to fill me with new life and energy and put me right on my feet. I have a fine appetite now.

"As I told you before, I don't need it any more, except for bad eyesight. I spent four days in Memphis at the Reunion, and just tramped around all over town with the boys. All around were men who gave out during the parade, but at the end I was right there and didn't feel the least bit tired. I just got back a few days ago, and am awfully glad to tell you what Tanlac has done for me. If I had the money I would buy every old soldier a bottle of Tanlac, because I believe it would add years to their lives."

Tanlac is sold in Nacogdoches by Stripling, Haselwood & Co.

HERE IS ONE ARTICLE WE HOPE EVERY ONE OF OUR READERS WILL READ.

You do just four things. You think; you remember; you imagine; you act. When you learn to think better, imagine better or act better, you are increasing your efficiency, and, therefore, your income. You may feel that you are very successful now. Suppose you are; it isn't a question of what you know, but of how beneficial a practical business education will be to you in addition to what you already know. You will agree with us that to violate a part of the laws of business means partial failure, and to violate all the laws means complete failure. You are also aware that to observe part of the laws of business means partial success, and to observe all the laws means complete success. Our aim is to help you observe a higher per cent of the laws of business success. The late Prof. James of Harvard declares that the average man only uses ten per cent of his brain power. Suppose you are twice as capable as the average man? Even that would mean you are only twenty per cent of the maximum possibilities. The purpose of our course is to produce a maximum of proficiency with a minimum effort. Did you ever stop to think that eighty-five per cent of the men of this country are only earning $15 a week or less? That ninety-two per cent fail in business between the ages of 40 and 50? That ninety-five per cent have no money at the age of 60? We have been very successful in getting men out of the eighty-five, the ninety-two and the ninety-five per cent class.

Why not let us help you? We have been marvelously successful in raising salaries, as is conclusively proven by the letters of students. The business world wants thinkers and doers. There's a famine of high priced men today; there are thousands of men worth a thousand dollars a year, but only a few worth ten thousand a year. Be the latter kind of a man, you can if you will. We know that a man is worth only about $2.00 a day from the chin down, selling muscle, but as high as a hundred thousand dollars a year from the chin up, selling brains. Be a chin upper and sell brains; but remember you must get them before you can sell them. Take our thorough, practical courses of Bookkeeping, Shorthand, Steno-typewriting, Cotton Classing, Business Administration and Finance and Telegraphy; learn how to think, to remember, to imagine and act. We can teach you and thereby greatly increase your usefulness throughout life.
