A PROMINENT GARRISON MAN DIED YESTERDAY

The sad news has been received in the city announcing the death of Dr. E. S. Adams, which sad event occurred at his home in Garrison Monday afternoon.

Dr. Adams has been in failing health for the past year, and spent a few weeks down here taking treatment some time ago, from which he seemed to receive benefit, but the trouble with which he suffered gradually undermined his vitality so much that he could not survive
it.

This good man is survived by his widow and a large family of sons and daughters, among whom is Hon. S. M. Adams of this city. He has been a resident of Garrison practically ever since it was a town, where he reared his family, and where he filled his place in all the affairs of community interest and good citizenship. He has long been recognized as one of the best physicians of the country, and was one of those kind-hearted sympathetic men who never turned any one away because he was unable to pay, or abandoned a patient for this reason. By reason of this great christian virtue in his character, he was imposed upon by many—but he ministered to them nevertheless, in the capacity for which he is most gifted, and the Good Book is rich with promise for the individual who extends mercy and charity to his fellow-man.

In addition to his knowledge of medicine, Dr. Adams was a close student of all affairs of interest to his country, and was a man of superior knowledge and intelligence whose counsel was sought in many affairs. Many other good things could be said of this good man who was truly a man among men, who made the country better for his sojourn, who can answer the summons with a record of service and mercy in the next, and whose memory will remain fresh with those who knew him for many years to come.

Peace to his ashes!

Mr. A. A. Biggs, the night-watchman—who was the victim of a stray bullet while a negro was shooting another negro a few nights ago, was out on the streets today mingling with his friends. The ball passed through the fleshy part of the arm, through his breast and lodged in the fleshy part of the other arm, where it can be felt under the skin, but fortunately no complications followed, and hence the rapid recovery. In this connection Mr. Biggs requests The Sentinel to say that he has engaged Mr. Tom Muckleroy to fill his place as night watchman until he is able to return to the service.

MUCH OIL EXCITEMENT OVER AT CHIRENO

Mr. C. Moore, a prominent merchant of Chireno, in company with his son, B. F. Moore, Jr., and wife, were in the city Tuesday afternoon, motoring over to witness the play, "Over the Top," at the Queen Theatre.

While they were in the city a Sentinel reporter had the pleasure of meeting the elder Mr.
Moore, and in the course of the conversation he said that there was much activity in the matter of prospecting for oil in his vicinity just now. Three new rigs are being gotten in readiness for work. Among the prospectors are the Producers people who have a derrick 112 feet high, a rig of the most modern make and several thousand feet of pipe, all combining an equipment for any test deemed necessary.

Mr. Moore says that the town is full of prospectors all the time now, and that interest in the matter seems to be running high.

STRENGTH SERVICE

FARMERS & MERCHANTS STATE BANK

NACOGDOCHES, TEXAS.

Elsewhere in today's paper will be found a communication from Judge Box, candidate for congress, which he is anxious that the voters in this section read.

June 28th—get the date firmly fixed in your mind. On this date every loyal citizen who has not already done so will respond with his full duty in the war savings campaign; the others will be put on another list which will not be very complimentary.

Just another shower or two and the farmers of Nacogdoches county will have to get busy in the erection of some more cribs and barns. They have done their duty in the tilling of the soil and a kind Providence is blessing their labors.

With its war news and other world news hot off the wires, The Daily Sentinel is rapidly growing in popular favor with the people of the rural districts, as well as those of the town, and it is a dull day when the "mating galleys" do not get a large list of new names.

Some big business changes for Nacogdoches are in process of incubation which will couple up some small industries into one big concern able to take care of all trade and service that may come this way. This is good business policy and in keeping with the spirit of conservation so necessary with the present scarcity of skilled labor.

In reporting the show of a picture of the kaiser in Wills Point, the Chronicle makes the editorial observation: "The Beast of Berlin was shown at the opera house last week, not the infernal scoundrel in person, but only the picture of the old devil. His satanic majesty will never stand before an American audience in the flesh. It wouldn't do."

The Sentinel is publishing an ordinance which provides that pool rooms and domino halls must fall in line with the early closing. In these days of war with its scarcity of labor and the great necessity for the conservation of all our resources the lines are rightfully being tightened on all lines that arrest men's attention from industry and consume their revenue.

When politics get to the point where friends will get mad with each other, then we believe it is time for them to quit discussing politics. There isn't a candidate that justifies hard feelings between men. There isn't a candidate living that should create disturbances among the people of the neighborhood, and the raising of class against class. After the smoke has cleared away and the nominee for governor has taken his seat, he doesn't care how much faction he has stirred up in the different communities. If he can make class hate class and secure votes he will do it, but after he gets the vote he wouldn't wipe his feet on those friends who have fallen out with their neighbors in the discussion of politics.—Timpson Times.

It has reached the ears of the editor that the report is current that he was "converted" with the Ferguson speech and is now on the Ferguson bandwagon. If it will be a source of comfort to any one, and to "keep the record straight," let us give you first hand information that the report is not true. We gave an extended report of the address of the gentleman as a matter of news, becoming the professional newspaper man who knows his duty to the public, in the course of which we quoted excerpts from his address which he gave in his own favor. To have done otherwise would have been a distortion and the tactics of yellow journalism, something that you can not charge against The Sentinel. With a quarter of a century in the newspaper business we have learned that the readers have a right to think for themselves, and that they are more interested in getting the facts than they are the editor's opinion. We have also learned the lesson, and incline to the theory, that everybody is entitled to a square deal in all enterprises of public service, and so far as we can understand our duty in the premises they can get it with The Sentinel. Just now we are more interested in the enterprise of the war than we are with the political aspirations and ambitions of any candidate, and when we go to the polls the candidates who are raising the biggest disturbance at this time will get the black mark first in the order in which they come. We have discouraged in every way we know how all political agitation this year, notwithstanding the policy would take some good revenue away from us, and we here and now announce that in the further scenes of the campaign we are not soliciting this class of business.

If the Tyler Courier-Times has seen fit to strike the Chronicle off its mailing list why don't it say so and relieve the suspense. If Arch McDougal thinks it was not appreciated he is laboring under a false impression and the associate editor of this sheet will meet him at the Neches river bridge and fight it out, he to choose the weapons. The writer names O. M. Gibbs of the Nacogdoches Sentinel as one of his seconds if he will agree to serve. "Dock" Lively in Wills Point Chronicle.

"One now brethren, and let us reason together." Arch will doubtless admit that it is all the fault of the "circulation" man and agree to regulate the trouble with specific orders that a copy of every issue shall go forward to the appreciative brother, but if he falls after this notice, we will be glad to meet you at the Neches. By the way, suppose we have a "little meeting" over at the Neches anyway, at which time we can "talk over" a few little things, and help make some plans for the forthcoming meeting at Tyler, you know.

Let's don't suffer our political fever to get too hot at this time. With so many of our sons and brothers going away to war, with others soon to follow, and the task of supporting them and ourselves at home, we have far more important tasks which should engage our attention. After all, it does not matter so much as some would make us believe who serves in the positions of state; these positions are regulated with a routine of duties which must be filled in a prescribed form, and there is a remedy for he who fails, but we have not yet succeeded in working out our plans for catching and conquering the kaiser. Let's raise and conserve more feed, furs and foodstuffs and make more money with which to invest in the enterprises of the war, get closer together in all matters of social and community interest and learn to love each other better instead of letting political issues rent us asunder, and we will receive a much greater blessing than can possibly come through political agitation. It is for this reason that The Sentinel has occupied a position of absolute neutrality in this entire campaign, and will continue to do so.

THE CITY-COUNCIL TO DRILL NEW WELL

Mayor Matthews informs The Sentinel that the City Council has let the contract for the drilling of another artesian well, work on which will begin within the next few days, or as soon as the pipe can be received from Beaumont and a well rig hauled up from Oil City.

The exact location has not yet been determined, but it will be drilled at the light plant or on the city lot near the H. E. & W. T. depot. It will take some fifteen or twenty days to drill the well.

The people will hail with delight news of this improvement in the water supply. While we have been getting along pretty nicely with the present supply, the present well is not sufficient to meet the growing demand, and after having used the artesian water no one would want to return for a minute to the pond water.

Robert Gaston, quartermaster of the auxiliary remount, Camp Travis, has returned to camp after a week's visit to the home-folks in the Oak Ridge community. He returns via Timpson and Beaumont for a little visit to friends en route.

A LARGE CROWD HEARD FERGUSON

Auditorium Filled With People From Different Parts of the County.

The largest political gathering of the season, and possibly one of the largest crowds that ever assembled in Nacogdoches on a similar mission, assembled at the big cotton shed down Main Street, which had been improvised into an auditorium for the occasion. Thursday afternoon to hear Hon. Jas. E. Ferguson press his claims for re-election as governor of Texas, and review the conditions and circumstances which caused his overthrow from the high office several months ago. The entire seating capacity of the spacious building was soon taken, some stood in the aisles and out edges while others pulled up their cars close to the outside. Various estimates have been made of the crowd, ranging from twenty-five hundred upward.

After the crowd had assembled and settled down, Judge V. E. Middlebrook called the meeting to order, and turned it over to Hon. W. E. Thomason who introduced Hon. Jno. R. Moore, candidate for lieutenant governor. In the course of his remarks Mr. Thomason said that Mr. Moore was one of the members of the house who stood loyally with him in the fight for the normal for Nacogdoches, even to the risk of getting arrested for absenting himself from the house when an attempt was made by the house to defeat the measure. Responding, Mr. Moore paid tribute to the integrity and worth of Mr. Thomason as a member of the house, and his appreciation of his friendship. Getting into his address he stated that he was the personal and political friend of Mr. Ferguson, which he had become since becoming a member of the house, having supported Mr. Ball in the race against the successful candidate for governor four years ago, and that he was among the few who held out for Mr. Ferguson's vindication in the impeachment proceedings. He eulogized the administration of Mr. Ferguson, offered some criticism of the Hobby administration, and offered no particular platform or issues of his own save and except that he was in touch with the Ferguson administration and the Ferguson campaign.

At the conclusion of Moore's address, Mrs. Gibbs M. Halton advanced to the front of the stage with a bouquet of beautiful flowers, and in a beautiful little presentation speech bestowed the flowers upon the principal speaker of the occasion and made the address of welcome.

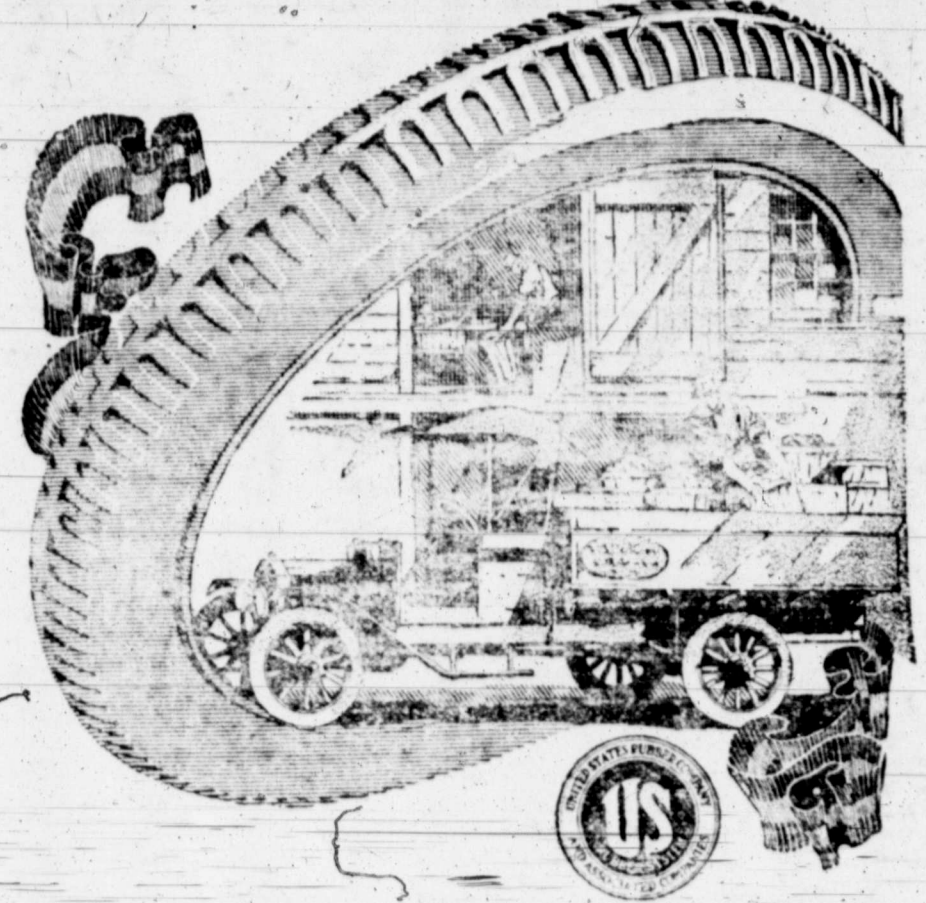

Mr. Ferguson responded with words of appreciation for the flowers and the good favor of the women, and opened his address with the statement that in his first race he had announced that he was in favor of letting the women have the ballot if they wanted it, made some criticism of the present arrangement of woman suffrage, and favored that if elected he would give them real suffrage if they wanted it.

Launching out into the rest of his address, Mr. Ferguson reviewed conditions that existed when he first took charge of the office, making special mention of the condition of the blind and insane asylums, the former being nothing more than a fire trap which was dangerous for the life and safety of the inmates confined therein, and that through his work a modern building was erected and substantial improvements set in motion, which, if they had been carried on, would have provided ample accommodations for all the insane of the state. He reviewed his activity in legislation for rural school improvement, including the compulsory school attendance, and promises that with his next administration that the school children of Texas shall have six months free school and free text books. From this discussion he engaged in a review of his landlord and tenant law, after which he took up the discussion of his relations with the "row" he had with the State University. The ex-governor said that this trouble began when he summoned Dr. Battle, the president before him and complained of the "dead men" on the pay roll. In this discussion Mr. Ferguson said that he found a salary allowance in the appropriation for several instructors whose places had long since been abandoned; he also complained that some of those of the higher branches represented a useless waste of money and that when he could not get a satisfactory agreement he vetoed the appropriation. With reference to the charges against him in the matter, he denies that he ever used the state's credit for his personal benefit, to the contrary claiming that he gave the state benefit of his credit at a time when funds were scarce, and through his good standing as a business man was able to get $320,000 for the penitentiary system with which to put it on a business basis and make it self-sustaining. Coming down to the complaint that is made against him about the loan of $156,500 he obtained, and refused to divulge the source, he says that he found a friend representing other interests who was disposed to help him but the parties he represented did not want to get mixed up in any of the political turmoil that had characterized his relations with other people, and to forestall this he had agreed to keep the source quiet. He further said that the stir that had been made had temporarily injured his credit, and that this relief, coming from these friendly interests, was necessary to save him from bankruptcy. Growing more bitter at this point of the discussion, Mr. Ferguson said that a crowd was fighting him, some of whom would commit perjury, bribery or any other vile means by which to put him in the penitentiary. He says that if Governor Hobby will make the statement that he got the money from the kaiser he will give him $500. In an ironical vein he stated that the Hobby campaigners had discovered more in the past two months than the secret service men of the state had been able to discover in the past year, and branded the repeaters of the slanders against him as "bull-face liars." He charges that Governor Hobby connived with Speaker Fuller for his overthrow, and that it was all the part of a well-laid conspiracy, and at this juncture charged that Governor Hobby came to him in an intoxicated condition, while he (Hobby) was lieutenant governor and proclaimed him the best friend that he ever had. With reference to the charges that had been made against him in the matter of loyalty to the country, he announced that he had purchased $3500 worth of liberty bonds, and that he had been contributing to the cause of the Red Cross almost daily in his journey over the state. In a more material way he claims that he planted his farms to feed-stuff and foodstuffs crops, growing large crops at a financial loss. Coming back to the University matter he charged that it was costing approximately $550 per student which figures on a ratio of about $75 to $1 with the public school student. In further complaint with Hobby he charges that the present governor has done away with the old cow lot at the mansion and converted it into a tennis court, and that when he gets back to the mansion he will tear the tennis court out and restore the cow lot by building a stake and a rider fence around it. As this juncture a shower of rain, accompanied with some wind and lightning came up, and the speaker assured the crowd that it was a "Ferguson shower," admonishing the people to be quiet a little while and he would finish his address when it passed over. The bulk of the crowd remained and the speaker concluded his address in about fifteen minutes.

Throughout his address the speaker was frequently interrupted with applause, and he was not interrupted in criticism by anyone. From the crowd present, and the applause, it was manifest that Mr. Ferguson has a strong support in this county. While in the city the visiting gentleman had many callers and greetings of good wishes by admiring friends, but his time so limited no elaborate social favors could be planned for him. From this city he went to Timpson where he was billed to speak last night.

The Sentinel's ever faithful friend, B. L. Heflin, was a pleasant caller at the office while in the city Thursday afternoon, dropping in to make annual settlement for his county paper.

MR. VAUGHT WITHDRAWS

To the voters of Nacogdoches County: Having withdrawn from the race for the office of sheriff of Nacogdoches county, I feel that I am due a few words of explanation, especially to those who solicited me to make the race. When the petition was presented to the candidates of the county, I saw I was handicapped as my opponents were more centrally located, and some had met the voters in former campaigns. This alone prompted me to withdraw from the race.

TAKES OFF DANDRUFF, HAIR STOPS FALLING

Save your Hair! Get a small bottle of Danderine right now—Also stops itching scalp. Thin, brittle, colorless and scraggy hair is mute evidence of a neglected scalp; of dandruff—that awful scurf. There is nothing so destructive to the hair as dandruff. It robs the hair of its lustre, its strength and its very life; eventually producing a feverishness and itching of the scalp, which if not remedied causes the hair roots to shrink, loosen and die—then the hair falls out fast. A little Danderine tonight—now—any time—will surely save your hair. Get a small bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store. You surely can have beautiful hair and lots of it if you will just try a little Danderine. Save your hair! Try it!

HOW TEXAS MILLS OF JUSTICE GRIND OUT LIVES OF WIFE AND CHILDREN

(By W. D. Gordon)

John Baker had a wife and two little girls, Ida and May. He was looked up to by the neighbors, made a good living and took out a $5,000 insurance policy payable to his wife. He went to town one day, and in trying to separate two drunken men in a quarrel, was accidentally shot. After a while Mrs. Baker took the policy to a young lawyer who lived in the neighborhood. He did not properly make the proof of death as to comply with the insurance company's requirements as stated in the policy, and the agent had somehow failed to sign the policy. Payment was delayed and finally denied. In ignorance of the attorney got it all balled up. He filed a suit in the district court styled Mrs. Baker vs. the Insurance Company. The next term of court was six months off. Mrs. Baker was left with the two little children and no money even to pay the funeral expenses—the policy was all she had. Little May and Ida had to stop school and help their mother, who was ill to try and earn a living. Mrs. Baker took in sewing and the children did whatever they could to get a few nickles.

When court met Mrs. Baker was there with her young lawyer friend to try her case and make the insurance company pay up. The case was called and the company's lawyer quashed the service of process on account of an irregularity. The case was continued till next term—six months off. It was called again and a jury gave Mrs. Baker a verdict—she was very happy—and bought the child a doll and a box of candy. The insurance company's lawyer filed a motion to set aside the verdict on account of an error in the court's charge to the jury. This was due to a line being left out by the typewriter who copied the charge and it was not noticed till after the verdict. The court had to set it aside and grant a new trial—six months more delay. John now had been dead two years. The suffering of his wife and two children was very severe. Her health is entirely under the strain. Just before the next term of court they laid her in a grave box, her husband and it was a heart-breaking thing to see the two little children as they left the grave to go home with a neighbor. Some in the community were unkind. They said: "We are tired of these Bakers."

When court met the insurance company's attorney arose and said: "Your honor, I suggest the death of the plaintiff, Mrs. Baker and ask that the case be continued until the next term to make her heirs parties to the suit." It was done—six months more delay. The insurance company was not worrying about the delay. They rarely ever thought of the case. Neither did the lawyer. The court was busy with other matters. Finally, a good man in that community got the little girls places as servants in two homes near each other in the city, and got another lawyer to help in the case. It was tried at the next term—two and one-half years after the cause of action arose. A jury gave the children a verdict of $5,000 and 6 per cent interest, and Ida and May saw the opening of a rift in the dark clouds that had so long overhung them. The judge overruled a motion for a new trial. The insurance company had a legal right to appear in three months or to sue out a writ of error in 12 months months—a matter of choice. The insurance company sued out a writ of error to the court of civil appeals, taking the 12 months delay allowed by law. It was reached and argued in that court six months later. The judgment was promptly affirmed. John Baker had now been dead four years. Ida and May were almost young ladies. One of them was clerking in a store and the other was working in a laundry. They had had but little chance to go to school. Anyway, the higher court had affirmed their case. They were going to collect this money and use it to get an education. Poor little girls! Their faces had the lines of age and care which extreme poverty imprints on tender youth. But the attorney for the insurance company on the last day filed a motion for rehearing. The court in 3 weeks overruled it. The girls did not know what all this meant, but their lawyer did. He was doing his best to collect this money for them. He explained that it ended the long drawn-out battle unless the supreme court granted a writ of error. The company's attorney filed a long printed petition to the supreme court of Texas to have the case removed there. The point was a supposed error in a legal definition in the court's charge, which it was alleged may have misled the jury. There was never any question about John Baker having paid the premiums. When this application was made to the supreme court there were 390 others ahead of it, so the court could not reach it for over a year to say whether or not the case should be removed there on its merits. In the meantime, of course, the judgment of the trial court, affirmed by the court of appeals, could not be collected. The girls had to wait. The insurance company was going ahead nicely, doing a big business, and this case was a matter of only slight concern to it. Not so with May and Ida. It was the only home they had on earth. Finally in June, just before the summer vacation, the supreme court granted the company's petition for writ of error and made this motion on their application docket.

"We are inclined to think the lower court erred in its charge to the jury on the issue of waiver. Application granted."

When this was docketed the supreme court was several years behind with its cases.

May and Ida don't know what this means. Their faithful lawyer told them in his doleful countenance. He said:

"Girls, you had better not depend on this for your education. Try and save something out of your $5 a week."

This brought tears to their eyes, and they asked him why the great state of Texas in its courts of justice whispered to their ears so many promises which were broken, to their hearts. He knew why, but was powerless to help it. They couldn't understand the Texas judicial system.

Six and one-half years passed by and the case was finally called in its regular order on the docket of the supreme court of Texas. It was ably argued by counsel and taken by the judges under advisement. At the next term, an elaborate opinion was handed down by the supreme court in which many legal decisions were reviewed and a conclusion arrived at that the point of law under consideration in the trial court where 14 men had passed on it, and the court of civil appeals where three men had approved it, were reversed and the case remanded for a new trial by one man, concurred in by one of his associates and dissented from by the other. This placed the case where it started 11 years before.

It is now pending on call as one of the old cases on the trial court docket. Everybody has lost interest in it and the insurance company has offered $1,000 in full settlement.

The two little orphans have become grown women. One now gets $9 a week and the other $8. They are too old to go to school now. They do not know much about politics. But they are both going to vote.

I received this letter from May: (I have corrected the spelling.)

"Judge Gordon: I know what you mean by judicial reform. I read your article in the papers last November about the courts. God knows I have suffered from the way justice is denied to the poor in Texas courts. I hope you will change it. Everyone in this laundry has promised me to vote for you because of this one thing."

And yet people ask me every day why I want to sacrifice my private business to go to the state senate. They cannot understand. Neither do they understand why a young man resigns a $200 job, puts on a uniform and starts to France for $30 a month.

HER GRATITUDE SO GREAT IT CANNOT BE TOLD IN WORDS

Gained 30 Pounds On Tanlac—Healed From Trouble of 25 Years Standing.

"Words of praise can't express the gratitude I feel to Tanlac, for it has not only relieved me of troubles that kept me in misery for twenty-five years, but has built me up until I am thirty pounds heavier than I was when I started taking it," said Mrs. J. C. Bogardus of 4220 Clifton street, El Paso, Texas, a few days ago.

"I have suffered since I was about ten years old," she continued, "with a catarrhal trouble of the stomach and of recent years with rheumatism and it seemed my troubles were steadily growing worse."

"My food would sour on my stomach and the gas pressing against my heart affected my breathing greatly. I fell off until I only weighed seventy-five pounds and was so weak and nervous I got but little sleep at nights. I was constipated and suffered terribly from headaches. The rheumatism affected my lower limbs mostly and I had such pains through my back and right side I simply could not look after my household duties."

"It surely was surprising to me the way Tanlac took hold of my troubles. My appetite got better and in a short time I was eating just whatever I wanted. My strength came back to me day by day and I soon overcame the trouble from constipation and the headaches. The pains in my back and side have left me and I don't even feel the rheumatism in my lower limbs any more. I now weigh one hundred and six pounds—more than I ever weighed in my life. Many of my friends have spoken of my great improvement and asked what on earth I had been taking. Of course, I simply tell them 'Tanlac' for I think it the most remarkable medicine ever made."

Tanlac is sold in Nacogdoches by Stripling, Haselwood & Co., and Swift Bros. & Smith, in Woden by M. J. King, in Garrison by Garrison Drug Co., in Appleby by A. J. Beck, in Douglas by Campbell & Watkins, in Chireno, and in Nat by E. M. Jarrell.

"I have suffered from these troubles for 25 years and I have tried everything but Tanlac and I have never felt better than I do now. I have gained 30 pounds and I can do my household duties now."

GOOD MEETINGS.

Reports from all over the county show that the speakers for the great war savings campaign have been met with great crowds and that our people are responding to the call of the government almost as one man. The Sunday services, in which the ministers and laymen present religious and patriotic addresses to the people, are growing in favor and many good people believe that this is one of the best movements ever started in the county. It is very certain that it is bringing the people of the city and country together into the closest kind of fellowship, prayer and good will.

Too much praise cannot be given to Mr. R. C. Monk, chairman, and the committee on speakers and dates, who have worked so faithfully in this matter. That the people appreciate their work is known from the fact that requests come for more speakers and dates than this committee can supply.

Byrne Combination Shorthand is the greatest single forward step in the history of rapid writing. It makes the typewriter do double duty, record dictation as well as transcribe it. It uses the abbreviating power of the English language the same as does Byrne Simplified Shorthand, but with printed characters on any standard make of typewriter instead of with the pencil. The typewriter has proven to be the most efficient of modern office appliances. The business man likes it because it enables him to turn out his correspondence with speed and accuracy. But he realized that there was still a weakness in his correspondence; what he dictated was recorded with the erring pencil and what did not go down correct could not come back correct.

He now welcomes Combination Shorthand because he sees his dictation go down accurately in print to come back accurately transcribed. Combination Shorthand is simple because it is done mechanically. It is legible because it is printed. It is rapid because it is written on the typewriter with eight nimble fingers instead of the hand cramped around a pencil.

Combination shorthand notes are interchangeable. They are so legible that one stenographer can read another's notes. Combination shorthand may be written at a high rate of speed with a pencil in the absence of a typewriter. It is a combination machine and pencil system.

No system of note taking has ever caused so much favorable comment perhaps as has combination shorthand. It is admitted to be the logical way. It meets the civil service and court room tests as well as being successfully used on associated press work.

This most modern method of note taking can be had in this part of the country only at the Tyler Commercial College, Tyler, Texas, the school that is not only the largest of the kind in America, but does the most thorough, practical work in bookkeeping, shorthand, penmanship, telegraphy, cotton classing and business administration and finance.

He is in Washington co-operating with American aircraft officials in the project. England has already decided on trans-Atlantic flights to find routes. It is estimated that it will take American made machines 10 hours to make the flight. The first flight will be made in the fall in a British made machine.

While the battle situation looks good, said March, the Germans are reforming for a new drive.

SUBSCRIPTION RAISE.

Beginning with the first issue in July the subscription price of the Weekly Sentinel will be raised to one dollar and fifty cents per year. This rate will not apply to arrears which were contracted at the old price of one dollar per year, and subscriptions which have been paid in advance will be carried to the end of the contract at the old price.

Another rule that we are forced to adopt in this change is the elimination of all names in arrears for more than one year for those residing in the county, and those residing outside the county must pay in advance for the reason that a good portion of the price they pay will be consumed in the increased rate of postage that goes into effect on the first of July.

We have been losing money on the subscription end of the paper for the past two years, but have borne it hoping that old conditions would be restored and we could avoid the interruption. With the constantly increasing price of paper, labor and everything that goes into the service we can no longer bear it, and can no longer stand the leaks that come with carrying subscriptions for an indefinite length of time finally losing the whole amount on many.

There are many to whom we would like to continue the pleasant relations of allowing them to come in and settle when they please, knowing that you would surely come some time, but no rule can be successfully followed that is not applied to all alike. Then too, the small margin, which in its final analysis represents an economic loss, we can't bear up under it longer, and as you can not censure your merchant for raising the price to meet the increased cost on his goods, we rely upon your good favor and integrity to sustain us in doing likewise.

While it is an unusual season to mail out statements, we expect to do so at once in the hope that you will let us have a remittance and save interruption in our pleasant relations. In the meantime the figures printed in connection with your address show from what date you are due, and by consulting them you can save the delay by sending the amount on in.

Remember, that if you are due more than one year, your name will be dropped from the list and the account registered on the ledger of delinquent accounts pending settlement. If you reside outside the county your name will be dropped if you are not paid in advance for the reason that the increase in postage will be equivalent to one cent a week on many such and must be paid with its entry in the mails.

The Sentinel has always pursued a policy of liberality with its subscribers, carrying them when it was not convenient for them to pay until they were able, and has maintained the old price two years longer than most of the country weeklies. This we would be delighted to continue to do, but as you all are aware, conditions have changed and we must adjust ourselves to them if we survive. With the favor we have extended you in the past, we rely upon you to come to our rescue in the present, and cherish the hope that there will be no friction in the pleasant relations we have always enjoyed with this new adjustment.

Thanking you for all past favors, and trusting that we may all "go over the top" together in the present, we are

Gratefully yours,

Today is the beginning of the period in which women may register for participation in the primaries. Let those who wish to take advantage of the offer get busy before the rush.

A Sly Old Thief

IS HE AFTER YOU?

You have often heard it said that "prostration is the thief of time," and in no other way is this saying more true than in the neglect of one's health. If Bright's disease, or any fatal sickness could come to us in its full grown form, we would watch and not be overtaken. But since it is little by little that dread diseases lay hold upon us, we get used to their minor annoyances and forget them. After a while our system is undermined, then

"THE THIEF IS AT YOUR DOOR"

The causes that lead to Bright's Disease are the most sneaking and deceptive of all the symptoms that point out human ailments. Don't take chances on anything that looks like Kidney Trouble. You can neglect your liver and stomach and still not forfeit your life, but he who plays with time while Bright's disease slowly but surely fastens upon his vitals makes a mistake that carries a price he cannot afford to pay. If you have reason to suspect Kidney or Bladder Trouble call on your druggist and procure a bottle of the Hobo Kidney and Bladder Remedy—a medicine made only for the treatment of Kidney and Bladder Troubles.

HANDLING THE THRESHING PROGRAM IN STATE OF TEXAS

HOW LONE STAR STATE IS CONSERVING WHEAT AND OATS FORMERLY WASTED IN FIELDS.

Estimates place the loss of wheat in the United States in 1917 due to defective threshing methods at 20,000,000 bushels. The wheat crop of North Texas, now that the grain has been cut and threshing has begun, approximates 8,000,000 bushels. Optimists had expected a yield of 12,000,000 bushels. If there is to be any plus to the 8,000,000 bushels it will come alone through adopting the threshing program of the United States Food Administration.

The director of this department for the Federal Food Administration for Texas is R. H. Spencer, president of the South Texas Implement Company, who is a volunteer on the staff of Administrator Peden. Mr. Spencer began his work on May 10, and has organized threshing committees in 100 counties of Texas, particularly in those sections where wheat and oat crops are to be harvested. The country units have committees of three made up of the Federal County Food Administrator, the county demonstration agent, and a thresher man appointed by the County Council of Defense. The committees preside over all threshermen meetings, and are assisted by traveling experts furnished by the New York headquarters.

It is the duty of the field men to inspect and make reports upon threshers, and where unable to make repairs, to report at once to the manufacturer making the machine, and the manufacturer sends a special agent to put the machine into condition. A close survey of threshing problems shows that too much wheat is going out in the straw, much sifts through leaky bottoms in wagons, and much falls back into the fields to be eaten by chickens, hogs and birds, and not following Food Administration channels.

Mr. Spencer gives half of his days to his special duties as a member of the State Food Administration. When he has completed his work of assisting the wheat and oats threshermen, he will turn his energy toward performing the same service for the rice farmers of the Texas coastal plains.

BY-PRODUCTS OF LIVE STOCK SUGGESTED AS REPLACEMENT FOR BEEF SHIPPED ABROAD.

The Federal Food Administration for Texas has received word from all sections of Texas that the hotel and restaurant men propose to cut down their meat service and strive to get their use of meats needed for shipment abroad within the voluntary meat ration of two pounds per person a week. The response to the suggestion by United States Administrator Hoover has been augmented by the following message to the hotel and restaurant men of Texas, which is being sent to all proprietors of public eating places by the Texas headquarters. (The message is from John McE. Bowman, director of the Division of Hotels and Restaurants):

"In view of the necessity of steady progress to much simplified hotel living, and with the growth of national demands for food conservation, labor and thrift generally, it seems to me that the time has arrived when the hotels and restaurants of the country can quite well simplify their entire cuisine by a reduction in numbers of items on menus. "During the months of June, July and August we are a reduction of lous to secure extremely anxious fresh beef consumption in order to maintain the allies' supply, and we must secure this without substitution of pork or poultry, of which, while we have enough for ordinary course of consumption, we are not in a position to provide for their additional use as substitutes for beef. We have supplies of by-products such as ox-tails, tongues, livers, kidneys, sweetbreads, tripe and brains, because only the meat cuts are being exported. The use of these could be employed, but more especially the use of sea food, vegetables and fruit. It would seem to me possible to eliminate on the menus steaks and roast beef, excepting two or three times weekly."

HOOVER EXPLAINS BREWING POLICY

CEREALS CONSUMED IN BEER TRIVIAL COMPARED TO NATIONAL DANGER IN FORCING GIN AND WHISKY BASIS.

Food Administration Head Says the Question Is Legislative. Hoover Life-long Believer in National Temperance.

Many church congregations in the State, when asked to go on a wheatless diet a week ago, adopted resolutions calling upon the United States Food Administrator to prohibit the use of cereals in the manufacture of beer. "You are probably aware," says Mr. Hoover, in a letter on the subject to Senator Sheppard of Texas, "that I have been a life-long believer in national temperance; on the other hand, as a purely administrative officer of the government, I have felt strongly that I should not enter into any contentious matters."

Hoover Is Personally a Dry Advocate.

As a pronounced dry Mr. Hoover feels, from a national viewpoint, the complete extermination of beer would do more damage to constructive prohibition through the deliberate encouragement of whiskey and gin drinking, of which there is enormous supply still left in the country, than could possibly come from the small saving of wheat now consumed in America in the manufacture of beer. On this point Mr. Hoover says: "I wish to say emphatically that from a strictly food conservation point of view I should like to see the use of foodstuffs suppressed in all drinks, hard and soft. This is not, however, the whole story. We stopped distilling a year ago.

Beer Supply Short, Whiskey Enormous.

There is a long supply of whiskey, gin and other 20% and 40% distilled drinks in the country. We have reduced the consumption of foodstuffs in brewing by 30% and reduced the alcohol content of beer to 2 1/2%. If we stop brewing the saloons of the country will still be open, but confined practically to a whiskey and gin business. Any man advocate of temperance and of national efficiency in these times will shrink from this situation, for the national danger in it is greater than the use of some 4,000,000 bushels of grain monthly in the breweries.

Stop Passing the Buck—Appeal to Congress.

If the American people want prohibition it should prohibit by legislation to that end and not force the Food Administration to the responsibility for an orgy of drunkenness. It is highly doubtful if a drunk on 2 1/2% beer; it will be easy enough if we force a substitution of distilled drinks for it.

The Food Administration has gone as far as it can towards temperance without precipitating a worse situation. If the American people or Congress will stop the sale of distilled liquors, the administration will find no difficulty in stopping brewing.

HISTORIC PRECEDENTS

"Four thousand years ago Food Commissioner Joseph, in the land of Egypt, commandeered one-fifth of the wheat crop of Egypt each year for seven years and stored it in the cities nearest the wheat fields. His drastic action at that time saved the world from starvation.

"Two thousand five hundred years ago Nebuchadnezzar, King of Babylon, instructed that certain men whom he wished to have attached to his court be fed on king's food and wine to give them a well-nourished look. One of these men, named Daniel, persuaded his caterer that himself and friends could be better nourished on pulse and water, and requested that he make a test covering a sufficient length of time; the others to be fed on king's food and wine. The test showed that those who lived on pulse (lentils) and water were better nourished than those fed on king's food (luxury and wine).

"Two thousand years ago Bible history records the miracle of feeding five thousand with a few barley loaves and fishes. The people were commanded to sit in rows of 50 to the row, and the servers advanced before each and gave to everyone his portion, so that all were served. It was an instance where a little food went a long way, and the fragments that remained were gathered up so that no food was wasted."—Hotel Monthly.

Helps Sick Women

Cardui, the woman's tonic, helped Mrs. William Eversole, of Hazel Patch, Ky. Read what she writes: "I had a general breaking-down of my health. I was in bed for weeks, unable to get up. I had such a weakness and dizziness, and the pains were very severe. A friend told me I had tried everything else, why not Cardui? ... I did, and soon saw it was helping me. After 12 bottles, I am strong and well."

The Woman's Tonic

Do you feel weak, dizzy, worn-out? Is your lack of good health caused from any of the complaints so common to women? Then why not give Cardui a trial? It should surely do for you what it has done for so many thousands of other women who suffered—it should help you back to health.

Ask some lady friend who has taken Cardui. She will tell you how it helped her. Try Cardui.

I am prepared to make you an attractive offer for all classes of ties, pine, rock, white oak, gum and in fact any kind of ties put out on any line of railroad in Nacogdoches county. Communicate with me at Nacogdoches and let's help our country along. I. D. Farmley. dvl

Bad Kidneys Laid Him Up.

A slight kidney impairment may lead to dropsy or Bright's disease. Don't neglect it. Frank Miller, Bingham, Utah, writes: "Was troubled with my kidneys so bad I could not work. Tried many kinds of medicine which did me no good. Then I tried Foley's Kidney Pills; now feeling as good as I ever did before. Stripling, Haselwood & Co."

TO THE VOTERS OF PRECINCT 4.

Through an oversight, I failed to file my application in time to get my name on the ticket. However I still am a candidate and will appreciate it if the voters will write my name on the ticket when they go to the primary.

Yours respectfully,
FINIS SMITH.

How She Banished Backache.

Mrs. Effie E. Kieppe, Averill, Minn., writes: "I was at a sanitarium for three weeks at one time, two weeks another time for rheumatism and kidney trouble and got no relief. GENERAL CROWDER HAS CALLED MORE MEN

(By Associated Press) WASHINGTON, June 21.—Provost Marshal General Crowder called out 8,976 registrants, qualified for general service to be sent July 15, to the various schools for training.

JUDGE DANIEL WALKER.

(Timpson Times) It is not the custom of the Times to advocate the candidacy of county or district candidates in its editorial columns, but for once we are going to make an exception in favor of a former citizen, and one who is much loved by the people of Timpson and surrounding country.

In championing the candidacy of Judge Daniel Walker for Associate Justice, Court Civil Appeals, Ninth District, we do so without apology to any one. It has been the privilege and pleasure of the owners and publishers of the Times to know Judge Walker since we were mere lads; we were associated with him as a citizen of Timpson for a number of years, and at that time we were unable to pass judgment on his ability as a lawyer, but we were able to know his private life, and during all the years of his residence in this town there was never an act committed by him that was subject to criticism. His personal conduct and mode of living was that of an upright, christian gentleman.

Judge Walker began the practice of law in Timpson some seventeen years ago. He married while living in Timpson and was a citizen of which our town was proud. Later, his practice as a lawyer grew to such an extent that he moved to Center and became associated with the firm of Beaman, Carter & Walker, after the death of Judge Bryant. The firm was continued as Carter & Walker until his election as District Judge of this district at the last election.

During all these years there has never been a charge against the integrity of the law firm with which Judge Walker was connected, and from what we have been told by the leading lawyers of East Texas we are led to know that Judge Walker is one of the best civil lawyers in this part of the state, and is eminently qualified to fill the office to which he aspires. And knowing Judge Walker as we do we unhesitatingly say that when he becomes the associate justice of the Beaumont court that he will give justice to all cases coming before this court without favor to any one.

We commend Judge Walker to the voters of this district and assure them that his home people of Timpson will give him an almost solid vote at the July primaries. (Political Advertisement.)

Says it Acted Like a Charm

Coughs or colds which persist at this season usually are of an obstinate nature. All the more reason for using a reliable remedy. Mrs. Margaret Smale, Bishop, Utah, writes: "Foley's Honey and Tar Compound is a grand remedy. Suffered from a cold last week, used the medicine and it acted like a charm. WILSON REFUSES TO OPPOSE PROHIBITION CLAUSE

Rheumatic and Kidney Ills.

Troubled with rheumatism, kidney or bladder affections, you need Foley Kidney Pills. Mrs. Frank P. Wood, R. F. D. 2 Morrill, Maine, writes: "I found relief as soon as I began taking Foley Kidney Pills. My husband also received much benefit from them. He was lame, could not stoop over, now feels no pain. Coughs and Colds Vanish.

"Summer colds" are not hard to break up, coughs and hoarseness are easy to get rid of, if you will take Foley's Honey and Tar Compound. Mrs. Mary Sogdam, 282 Maple St., Perth Amboy, N. FROM MR. WOODLAN.

To the Voters of Nacogdoches County:

The time is now drawing near when the voters of Nacogdoches county will determine who shall hold the various offices of this county, and I am addressing this communication that all the people might be reminded that I am asking at the hands of the voters of Nacogdoches county, the office of sheriff for the next two years.

At the coming election, not only the men, but the women of our state will exercise at the polls a privilege granted them by the last legislature, and they too, should be interested in the officers who are to serve all the people during the ensuing two years.

From the experience I have had as a peace officer, I feel no hesitancy in asking at your hands a commission to fill one of the most important offices of our county. I believe that I am well qualified to fill this position, and I know, if elected, I shall discharge my duties without fear or favor, granting to all alike that fairness that should characterize an officer of the law, yet I shall be firm in the discharge of every official duty.

I request an inquiry both as to my character and qualifications, and after you have determined my ability to serve you and feel that you can cast your vote for me, I assure you I shall so conduct myself both in my private and public life that no man or woman will ever have cause to regret a vote cast for me.

I make no promises save and except duty fairly and impartially performed.

Respectfully,
G. W. L. WOODLAN,
Candidate for Sheriff,

Dangers of Constipation.

Neglected constipation may cause piles, ulceration of the bowels, appendicitis, nervous prostration, paralysis. Don't delay treatment. Best remedy is Foley's Cathartic Tablets. Do their work surely, easily, gently, without injury to stomach or intestinal lining. Contain no habit-forming drugs. Fine for fat folks. Stripling, Haselwood & Co. dwl

BARBER SHOP CHANGE.

Messrs. J. L. Long and Harmon Eason of Garrison have bought the Childress Barber shop from the owner, Mr. A. Y. Donegan, and assumed personal control of the enterprise.

Both men are practical barbers and progressive men who will keep the shop to the high standard that has characterized its operation in the past. Mr. Long has owned and operated shops in Houston and other places, through which he is in touch with all the latest methods. His partner has not had so extensive an experience, but is a practical man of progressive ideas.

These gentlemen are moving their families and will take citizenship with us, in which they will receive a cordial welcome.

Mr. G. W. Childress, who has been in charge of the shop in the past, will continue to remain with it.

Chronic Constipation.

Perhaps you have never thought of it, but this disorder is due to a lack of moisture in the residual matter of the food. If you will drink an abundance of water, eat raw fruits and take lots of outdoor exercise, you may be able eventually to overcome it entirely. In the meantime use the most mild and gentle laxatives. Strong and harsh cathartics take too much water out of the system and make bad matters worse. Chamberlain's Tablets are easy and pleasant to take and most agreeable in effect. Give them a trial. dw

BOY SCOUT BAND.

Many of our Nacogdoches Boy Scouts promised early in the summer to serve the United States government in all possible ways, and the Scouts who play in the Boy Scout Band have been very faithful. All Boy Scouts promise on their honor to do their best to do their duty to God and our country. Scouts are enlisted to serve Uncle Sam as truly as soldiers. These boys have done and are doing their full duty, allowing no pleasure or other engagements to interfere with their solemn promise to serve the government. From all over the county letters and expressions of praise are coming about the Boy Scout Brass band. They have more invitations than they can possibly accept, and have been asked to come to several adjoining counties.

THE CAVALRY TROOP ENJOYED GOOD SUPPER

On the school campus, near the Stone Fort, Saturday evening Captain Thomason and his troop of cavalry boys were treated to a great supper by the members of the Woman's Home Guard.

The supper was served in banquet style, and the improvised tables groaned under the weight of the many good things spread for the enjoyment of the many young fellows who are soon to go to the front in defense of our country.

At the conclusion of the meal Prof. Davis, serving as toastmaster, delivered an address in the course of which he voiced the appreciation of the good ladies for the boys and wished for them the success that their patriotic spirits so richly deserve. In response Capt. Thomason expressed the thanks of himself, other officers and the boys for the splendid token of esteem that had been manifested in their behalf, assured the ladies that they would leave nothing undone, that was possible for them to do, in defense of the country, and that they would always remember with fond appreciation the courtesy of this evening. In final conclusion the boys joined the officers in three cheers, and they "made the welkin ring" in the vicinity where they had been the guests of honor at such an enjoyable occasion.

CALOMEL SALIVATES AND MAKES YOU SICK

Acts like dynamite on a sluggish liver and you lose a day's work.

There's no reason why a person should take sickening, salivating calomel when a few cents buys a large bottle of Dodson's Liver Tonic—a perfect substitute for calomel.

It is a pleasant, vegetable liquid which will start your liver just as surely as calomel, but it doesn't make you sick and can not salivate.

Children and grown folks can take Dodson's Liver Tonic, because it is perfectly harmless. Calomel is a dangerous drug. It is mercury and attacks your bones. Take a dose of nasty calomel today and you will feel weak, sick and nauseated tomorrow. Don't lose a day's work. Take a spoonful of Dodson's Liver Tonic instead and you will wake up feeling great. No more biliousness, constipation, sluggishness, headache, coated tongue or sour stomach. Your druggist says if you don't find Dodson's Liver Tonic acts better than horrible calomel you're money is waiting for you.

Middle Aged Women

Are Here Told the Best Remedy for Their Troubles.

Fremont, O.—"I was passing through the critical period of life, being forty-six years of age and had all the symptoms incident to that change—headaches, nervousness, and was in a general run-down condition, so it was hard for me to do my work. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was recommended to me as the best remedy for my troubles, which it surely proved to be. I feel better and stronger in every way since taking it, and the annoying symptoms have disappeared."—Mrs. M. GODDEN, 925 Napoleon St., Fremont, Ohio.

North Haven, Conn.—"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound restored my health after everything else had failed when passing through change of life. There is nothing like it to overcome the trying symptoms."—Mrs. FLORENCE BELLE, Box 197, North Haven, Conn.

JOHN C. BOX DISCUSSES CAMPAIGN STATEMENTS

One of my opponents charges me and another opponent with socialistic, Bolshevik tendencies. Stop! Look! Listen! Investigate! If there is any foundation for this charge against me you should not vote for me. If there is any foundation for it against Mr. Collins, it should settle his candidacy—if one is guilty and the other is not, a charge so serious, indiscriminate and unjust would only prove that the man who made it had not the fairness, mental poise and love for truth which an American national law-maker should have. The people among whom I have lived and worked for more than twenty-five years are Democrats; lovers of Democratic order, justice, and sane, clean government; and intolerant of socialistic, radicalism, communistic radicalism or disloyalists. Ask them whether the slightest tincture of socialistic, communistic radicalism has ever been evidenced by any of my every day words or acts, or by any part of my public life. A like investigation will reveal the truth as to any other candidate's past or present tendencies, investigate, discriminate.

Another of my opponents charges that I have no "record." Must a man be a standing candidate for thirty years and the "champion" of various political parties and cults in order to make a "record?" Must there be a monotonous course of his deeds, broken by only one or two accidental elections in order that a man have a "record?" Must he have for years tried to destroy the democratic party, whose honors he now asks, in order to have made a "record?" This is a citizen's country, and voting citizens might prefer the services of one whose "record" has been made by giving his thought and labor to the welfare of the farms, the schools, industrial development, good government and other causes which promote private and public weal, without standing for a lifetime trying to push his head into the door of the public crib, and usually having it knocked back by the people, its guardians.

The people of my own and adjacent counties and all who know me can tell whether or not I have performed public service and how I have performed it, and whether I have usually sought the service to which a salary is attached, or whether I have worked for my community, county, country and fellow-men because I have loved them. I challenge the implication that only an habitual candidate for office has a "record." I am not ashamed or afraid for the people to look into such official "record" as I have and find that most of my official life has been in such places as chairman of the school board of my city, without pay, and mayor of my town at a salary of $24,000 per year, but I have some pride in the fact that for twenty to twenty-five years I have performed unofficially public service in such places as precinct chairman and county chairman for my party at time when some candidates I knew were trying to destroy it; as a member of the State Democratic Executive Committee, as a member and chairman of industrial clubs and like bodies, and as a campaign speaker often and extensively engaged in promoting such causes. Yes, sir, I have a "record." More a citizen's than a candidate's record, but containing enough to enable the people to pass on my fitness for the place I seek.

This same candidate or his "committee," says in the Times of June 12th: "The ladies will certainly want to hear their champion." On the fourth day God made the sun, the moon and the stars. It was certainly at least the fourth day when this dem-"I"-god performed the wonder which will make the fair intelligent, independent, self-respecting women want to see and "hear their champion." Steve King had just beaten Mr. Collins out of the official boots which Collins had taken from Captain Kelly in a moment of the Captain's weakness. These boots were new to Mr. Collins. He had usually worn the run-down shoes of defeat, but he wore the new-boots of accidentally successful candidacy for only a brief term, when Steve took them away from him. Governor Ferguson's favor gave Steve a better place and Steve abandoned the remnant of the term in the senate. The constancy of Mr. Collins' candidacy made him available on a moment's notice. He gladly took the place from which King had beaten him away, which King had afterward abandoned, and went to Austin to serve the remnant of the special session. Sentiment had crystallized. Plans were laid. The procession, explicitly routed by Governor Hobby had started and was proceeding on its way under the governor's direction. Mr. Collins was standing on the corner still longing for an official ride. By Mr. King's permission he fell into the tail of the procession and soon crawled onto the band wagon. But according to the recommendation he gives himself, Mr. Collins "managed" and "let the whole show," and now thinks that the women "will certainly want to hear" him as "their champion." "Certainly!" Of course they "certainly" want to see and "hear their champion." Let life-long, consistent, same, efficient, co-workers with the good women stand aside. Let Democrats stand aside. For, behold their "champion" comes, and "certainly" the ladies are dying to see and "hear their champion."

If any of the fair ones should fail to rush over and away from their co-workers— fellow democrats and husband quickly enough to see and hear their "champion," they may console themselves by knowing that the "champion" will always be championing something, in connection with a candidacy for something as the candidate of a party which is called something.

This same candidate urges that he is the man to beat Steve King. If the special desire of any citizen is to beat Steve King, on what kind of foal must Collins lead the voter in order to make Collins look like a winner as against Steve King? In a senatorial district in which they both live, including eight or nine counties of the congressional district, when King was the same King and Collins the same Collins and both had much the same record they now have, with issues much the same that are now before the people, at the end of a brief term King beat Collins out of the first pair of official boots he had worn for many years, if indeed, he had ever worn any before.

I think there are many weighty reasons why Mr. King should not be elected, but Mr. Collins' lifelong political record and his treatment at the hands of voters among whom he has lived and sought office do not prove him to be the favorite of political fortune, especially as against Mr. King.

JOHN C. BOX.

THE COUNTY BOARD HAD GOOD MEETING

The County Board of Education convened in special session a few days ago, with Mr. G. F. Fuller acting as temporary chairman in the absence of the regular chairman. There were present at the meeting Messrs. G. E. Fuller, W. B. McKnight and J. T. Anderson.

Among the business transactions of the meeting a resolution was adopted recommending that the schools of the county buy flags as suggested by the state superintendent.

Another meeting was called to be held August 9th, to which all district trustees and others interested in the educational affairs of the county are invited to be present. An interesting program with good speakers will be arranged for this meeting, and a good attendance is very earnestly craved.

JUDGE STEVE KING DREW LARGE CROWD

Great Host of Admiring Friends Assembled to Greet and Hear Him Speak.

The largest crowd that has ever turned out to hear any speaker at night during this campaign, and a crowd that was equalled in size by only one other this season, assembled to hear Judge Steve M. King speak in the interest of his candidacy for congress Friday evening. Many people came from different parts over the county and other towns, and twenty-five cars from Garrison, decorated with streamers, were among those in attendance, and the generous attendance was a great compliment to the esteem in which the gentleman is held by the people among whom he was raised and has spent the major portion of his life.

Preliminary to the speaking the crowd was entertained with a delightful musical concert by the Nacogdoches Concert Band, in which the boys seemed to be at their best and rendered some exceptionally good music. When the time arrived for the speaking to begin, Hon. A. A. Seal advanced to the speaker's stand and read a telegram from several hundred people of Beaumont, in which they sent greetings and good wishes to the speaker of the evening, and assurances of their loyalty in lining up with friends of Nacogdoches county for Judge King's success. After reading the telegram, Mr. Seal in a few well chosen words introduced Judge King, who advanced to the platform and delivered a speech full of the eloquence, logic and "pep" for which he is so gifted.

In opening up his argument Mr. King expressed gratification with opportunity of being back among the people among whom he had spent the greater portion of his life, and paid eloquent tribute to the people of the community as he had known them. He said that not until recently had he given much attention to the interests of his candidacy, devoting his spare time in helping along the enterprises of the war, and had been surprised of the war, and had been that he might be spared an active campaign so that he could continue to give his time to the government in its time of greatest need. Under the circumstances he said that he did not feel like leading out in a vigorous campaign, and only did so because such a fight was being waged against him by his opponents.

After disposing of these preliminaries, Judge King led out in a discussion of his own record of public service in comparison with that of his opponents, including a review of family history in which he showed up for himself a line of patriots who always did their part when the cause of their country needed them. Following this distinction of inborn patriotism, he himself volunteered for service in the previous war in which our country was engaged, as did his brothers and many other relatives. His father and uncles gave the best part of their lives to the cause of the confederacy. In discussing his political record in comparison Judge King stated that he delivered prohibition speeches in this county when an effort was being made to drive the saloons out; and that that while an effort is being made to drive intoxicating liquors out of the nation he would lend his support as congressman to obey the wishes of his people; that he had always been subservient to the wishes of the people he represented as a legislator and a senator, and that his record was open for inspection. He pledged fidelity to President Wilson in the great war, insisting that this was the paramount question before the American people today, and that by reason of it the congressional race was of more importance than the governor's race; he refuses to be drawn into an expression of how he stands on the governor's race, offering as a reason that it would disqualify him as a judge should some matter connected with it come before him before his term of office expires; he expressed favor with the idea of woman suffrage, and as a congressman would favor stricter immigration laws.

The speaker was the recipient of generous applause during the progress of his speech, and it was manifest that he has lost none of his popularity in this section. Judge King is too well known in this county for there to be any news value in a review of his record of public service and his sterling worth as a citizen. This county has been beneficiary of much of his good work in a legislative capacity, and it can be said to his credit that he never shirked a duty when he could serve the county and its people in any way.

Judge King will address the people at a number of other points in this part of the district while up here.

MRS. RATCLIFF WITHDRAWS

Because of the dominant part played in our county politics by state politics, I find my position as candidate growing more untenable and hence I deem it best to withdraw from the race for County Superintendent.

As I have before reminded you, I came into this race in utter ignorance of conditions as they exist, but as I can no longer head this, my withdrawal from the race is the only consistent course left me.

I deeply appreciate the many courtesies shown me by all with whom I have come in contact.

Assuring you that I entertain only the best of good will to all.

I am, Ladies and gentlemen, cordially and respectfully,
MRS. W. G. RATCLIFF.

In the rush of other matters the Sentinel has neglected to mention sooner the return of Mr. Fritz Ingraham from Loomis, N. Y., where he has been confined in a sanitarium the past year for the benefit of his health, and his many friends over the country will be pleased to learn that his condition shows much improvement. Mr. Jule Smith accompanied him on the trip, and after a visit to relatives and friends here they will go to Colorado to spend the summer, where it is hoped the gentleman will enjoy further improvement and be restored to complete health.

Cincinnati man discovers drug that loosens corn so they lift out.

Good news spreads rapidly and druggists here are kept busy dispensing freezone, the recent discovery of a Cincinnati man, which is said to loosen any corn so it lifts out with the fingers. A quarter of an ounce costs very little at any store which handles drugs, but this is said to be sufficient to rid one's feet of every hard or soft corn or callus.

You apply just a few drops on the tender, aching corn or toughened callus and instantly the soreness is relieved, and soon the corn or callus is so shriveled that it lifts out without pain. It is a sticky substance which dries when applied and never inflames or even irritates the surrounding skin.

This discovery will prevent thousands of deaths annually from lockjaw and infection heretofore resulting from the suicidal habit of cutting corns.

Suitable reward will be paid to the party for return of lady's black purse containing among other things two $10 bills. This purse was lost on North street Monday, and is the property of a widow who needs the money. Leave with Sentinel.
