Among other things, 1972 should be an interesting year from a political standpoint.

That's a reasonably safe statement in that this is a presidential election year. R. M. Nixon indicated on TV this week that he would again be a candidate. That shouldn't surprise anyone, however, and the eyebrow raising would begin should he decide not to be a candidate.

Not clear yet is who the Democrats will send into the political ring against Tricky Dicky. As the incumbent, Nixon has the edge in the race, we're guessing, and it will take an all-out effort by the Democrats to get their man well enough known by election time in November to make a race out of it.

You can expect Nixon to make some election-year maneuvers to get the country in better shape and the people in a good frame of mind by election-time.

On the state level, a hot race for the governorship is expected. We spent some Christmas-time in Central Texas. And while we didn't conduct a poll of the people we talked with, when state politics came up, the people there indicated they favored Dolph Briscoe of Uvalde.

Briscoe was in the race four years ago almost as a political unknown and finished fourth in a 10-man race.

We got the impression that the people we visited with felt Briscoe was probably the best announced candidate for the job. Political wars have damaged the image of the present governor, Preston Smith, and the lieutenant governor, Ben Barnes, who is also a candidate.

Cattle people in the state have a soft place in their hearts for Briscoe because he was a leader in the eradication of screw worms in Texas. That was, and is, important and Briscoe's name is associated with the program and its success more than that of any other.

Briscoe's slogan for the campaign will be "This Time For Texas," according to information we've received from his office. If elected, he indicates he will provide new leadership in Austin which will close the door on special interest legislation and try to create a government that can be trusted with the people's money and faith.

Briscoe leaves the impression of being a good and qualified candidate for the governorship. At the same time, the impression is there that he will probably be out "electioneered" by the old pros like Smith and Barnes.

No matter what his qualifications are, it will be difficult for Briscoe or anyone else to become as well known as Smith and Barnes between now and the May 6 primary. As we said earlier, the incumbents have the edge from the standpoint of being known.

An exception to that, of course, is Lloyd Bentsen, who was able to win Ralph Yarborough's Senate seat two years ago with a whirlwind campaign with tremendous financial backing.

So, we know it can be done if a candidate has sufficient backing.

Sugar beets took a step backward this year as a major Parmer County crop. Fewer acres were planted to this crop, the newest we have, but evidently it turned out to be a good year for those farmers who stayed in the beet business.

One drawback heretofore was that the harvesting process was long and delayed because individual farmers were given "quotas" that they could harvest each day. The decrease in the number of acres evidently eliminated this problem to some extent this year. The wet weather caused enough delay in the harvest as it did for grain sorghum and cotton. However, we understand that a farmer could unload his sugar beets at Holly's dump here pretty well as he harvested them during the just past season.

Farmers seemed to be willing to put up with the inconveniences of growing sugar beets as long as the price, sugar content and whatever else determined the gross amount of money received was right. That made them a better crop, financially, than the more popular crops here. However, when the income slipped back in the category with grain sorghum and cotton, farmers weren't interested in putting up with the disadvantages.

The success of the sugar beets might encourage more farmers to grow them in '72?

Longest Tailfeather --

Johnson Wins County Contest

Bob Johnson of the Oklahoma Lane Community was the Parmer County winner in last month's "longest pheasant tailfeather" contest, turning in a 25 1/4 inch entry at Farwell.

Johnson was presented a plaque by the Parmer County Game Management Association as well as $15 for first place in the Farwell contest.

Taking second place in the county contest was another Farwell entry, Richard Haseloff, with a 25 1/8 inch feather. Local contests were conducted at Bovina, Friona and Farwell with the longest feathers in each town being submitted for the county contest.

The nine-day pheasant season started in Parmer County Saturday, Dec. 11.

The contest here this year ended in a tie for the first time with Bruce Caldwell of Bovina and Chester Brown of Tucson, Ariz., turning in feathers that measured 24 1/2 inches. V. P. Vargas won third with an entry measuring 24 1/8 inches.

To Invest $44 Million --

SWPSC Announces Expansion Program

A five-year construction and improvement program which envisions an investment of more than $144 million between now and the end of 1976 to stay ahead of the electric service needs of this area was announced today by Roy Tolk, president of Southwestern Public Service Company.

"We see nothing but growth-real growth - in the future of our area. It is not a question of a 'created demand' for electric power, which is the current battle cry of the uninformed critics of our industry, but it is a true growth based on the development of the area's economic potential and customers' need for more electrical power. There really wouldn't be much sense in planning to invest nearly $150 million if all you were doing was trying to make headlines.

"This region, and the nation as well, needs more electric power not only for growth, but for environmental considerations. Electricity is the cleanest of all energies at the point of consumption, and we will need more and more clean energy for sewage and water treatment, disposal of wastes and the solution of other environmental problems," Tolk said in announcing the construction plans.

Generating station additions scheduled for the five-year period will add more than 600,000 kilowatts to the company's power production capability. At the present time, the 11 major power stations produce a little more than 2,000,000 kilowatts.

The first of these capacity additions is already under construction as the second unit at Jones Station, southeast of Lubbock, a 256,000 kilowatt unit, it is scheduled to be in service for the summer of 1974. The first Jones Station generator, also a 256,000 kilowatt unit, went into service earlier this year, said Tolk.

The generating unit planned for 1976 operations is slated to be the company's first 350,000 kilowatt machine. However, the company has "reserved" three capabilities - 250,000, 350,000 and 450,000 - with the manufacturer, and the final decision will be made after all growth factors have been weighed, Tolk stated.

"We have some interesting options with this 1976 unit. In June of 1972, we will complete an intertie between our company and the Public Service Company of Oklahoma. This is our first major interconnection with another utility. The tie line offers us the opportunity to exchange power; to sell power into power-deficient areas; to install units with large capacity; and to locate units where fuel and water resources and load balances are most favorable. These are factors of efficiency and economy which are important to our customers, as these factors will be combined to provide the least costly kilowatt hours for our customers," Tolk said.

Also, in its continuing efforts to conserve the resources of the region, the company plans to install a combined cycle unit at its Riverview Station, near Borger, in 1973.

The combined cycle unit is a gas turbine capable of producing 25,000 kilowatts of electric power, Tolk explained.

The heat that remains in the gas turbine exhaust, after the electric power is produced, is used to provide a major part of the steam requirement for a steam turbine unit at the plant.

The result is that more power is generated with less

Cold Weather Hits Monday

A cold wave, the worst of this winter, moved into the area Monday and sent the temperature plunging to near the zero mark Tuesday morning.

The winter blast was accompanied by light snow Monday night which was fanned by high winds. The snow was difficult to measure because of the drifting, but was estimated at approximately two inches.

Temperature readings early Tuesday morning ranged from zero to five degrees.

Reports Tuesday indicated that the cold weather would continue, at least for another day or two. However, the sun was shining Tuesday morning.

The chill factor was considerably lower than the temperature because of the wind Monday and Tuesday night. There was less wind Tuesday.

The storm wasn't severe enough to cause cattle on wheat and stalk fields to drift. Thus, there was no problem from this standpoint.

The long-delayed cotton harvest, now about half completed, was stopped again by the moisture. Cotton stripping will continue as quickly as it is dry enough. Last week, area ginners estimated stripping could be completed in two weeks of favorable weather. They got in one week of that time before this week's winter blast.

This was the second major winter spell of the season. A snow storm in early December was the first. However, the temperature wasn't as low that time even though there was more snow.

Roads remained free of the snow for the most part Monday night. The wind caused some drifting on roads, but they remained travelable.

The front was preceded by a wind and sandstorm Sunday.

The weather here during the Christmas-New Year holiday period was unseasonably mild with temperatures reaching as high as in the 70's during the day.

C. P. "Chick" Warren of Bovina was hospitalized Saturday night at Parmer County Community Hospital in Friona. Warren suffered a stroke.

He is "doing as well as can be expected at this time," according to a member of his family. They stated that it would be several days before the extent of the stroke is known.

Blaze Damages Pena Residence

A blaze, which was believed to have started in a bedroom closet about 5:30 p.m. Sunday, resulted in heavy smoke and water damage to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Pena at 405 Second Street in Bovina.

Most of the family's clothing was also lost in the fire, which was confined to the one bedroom, according to a member of Bovina Volunteer Fire Department. No one was injured in the blaze.

Mr. and Mrs. Pena are parents of four children, an eight-year-old son and three daughters, ages six, five and four.

The family had arranged for temporary housing and clothing for the two school age children as of Monday morning.

Owner of the house is believed to be Ambrose Flores of Bovina.

FIRE DAMAGE --- The Joe Pena family lost most of their clothing in a fire that started in a bedroom closet of their home on Second Street Sunday afternoon. The fire, although confined to one bedroom by the Bovina fire department, caused heavy smoke damage to the remainder of the two-bedroom house.

CLEAN-UP CREW --- A group of youngsters from several Bovina churches organized a clean-up of Bovina's cemetery during the Christmas-New Year holidays last week. Manning shov-

TEN YEARS AGO
 January 10, 1962

Statement of condition of First National Bank of Bovina at close of business December 31, 1961, shows that deposits are increased from the same time a year ago.

The increase amounts to approximately five per cent -- from $1,660,802.70 in '60, to $1,759,309.52 at end of 1961.

The trailer house home of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Kesler on Avenue D was destroyed by fire Tuesday morning.

Receipts at Bovina Post Office for 1961 were up three per cent over 1960.

Don Cumpton, star quarterback and linebacker on Bovina's district championship football team, moved into fast company recently when he was named to Lubbock Avalanche-Journal's Area Dream Team.

Receiving honorable mention on the team, which included players in the area from all classes of teams except AAAA, were tackle John Sikes and end Mac Glasscock.

SIX YEARS AGO
 January 5, 1966

Work on Bovina's new post office building at Avenue B and Second Street continues to progress with the brick walls being completed last week. Completion date for the building is scheduled for early March.

A medical school student, interested in establishing a practice in the Bovina area, met with a group of civic leaders here Thursday night.

Life Bernard, who is in his final year of medical school in Dallas, told those attending the meeting that he was interested in this community, but that it is "too early to make a commitment."

Effective Monday morning, Bovina High will have a new principal.

He is L. F. Jacobs, who is moving here from Tahoka, where he has been an administrator and coach for the past 19 years.

Miss Gwen Christian, Bovina High School senior, has been announced as winner of the Daughters of the American Revolution Good Citizens Award for 1966. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wendol Christian.

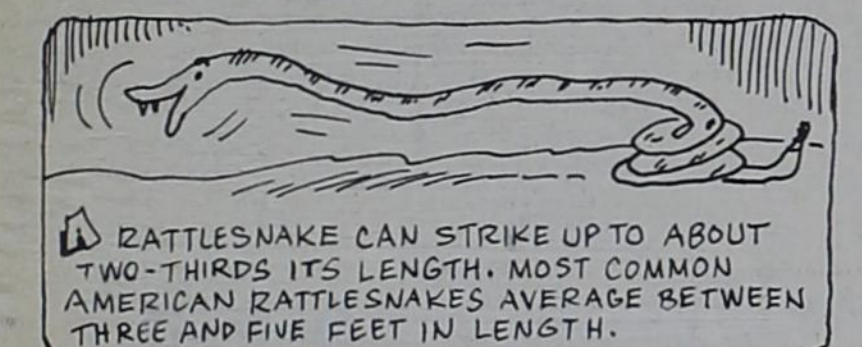

Vicki Hawkins and Kathy Estes, both BHS freshmen, spent six exciting days over the Christmas holidays in Mexico City with Vicki's pen pal, Lupe Pinto and her family.

Vicki is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Hawkins and Kathy is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Estes.

A B-team basketball tournament is slated here this weekend.

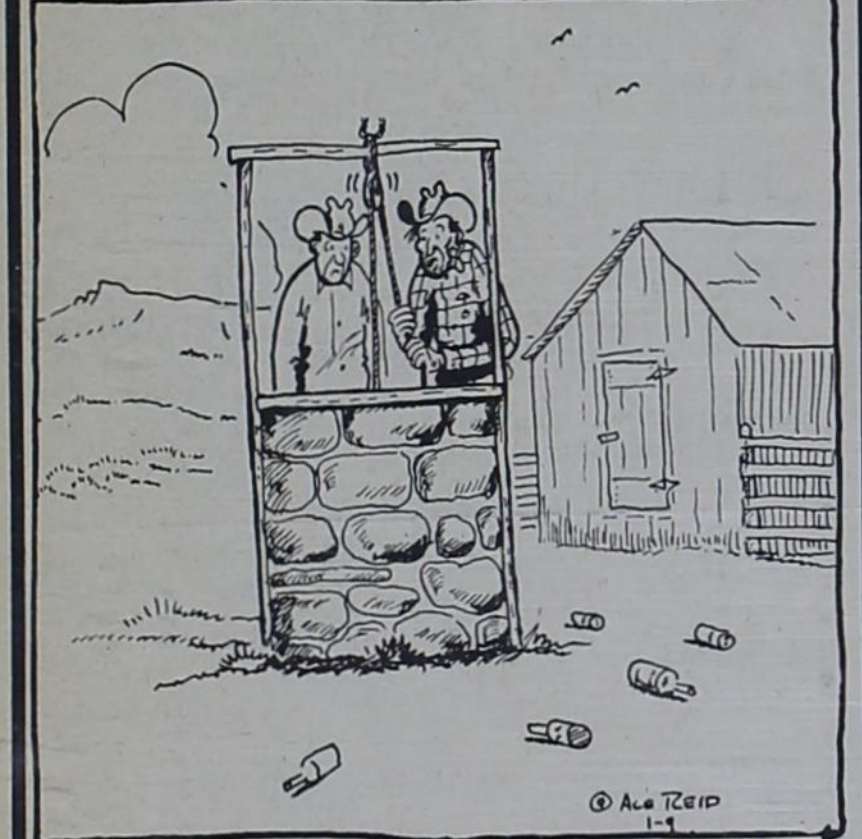

After a years-long drought of being unable to defeat the Farwell Steers, the Bovina Mustangs have now overcome that jinx and have accomplished the feat twice in two weeks.

The last time was in the playoff for third place in the Farwell Tournament last weekend. The Mustangs clipped the host team, 60-53, to take third place position in the tournament.

By Jana Pronger
 County HD Agent

'Tis the season of the year to conjure up a host of new year's resolutions, and among the many that seem to crop up year after year is losing weight. Make it easy on yourself this year and follow the simple steps to weight reduction.

First you must decide that you really want to lose weight. Doctors and nutritionists may report you need to trim off those extra pounds, but it is up to you--and what you eat--that counts. Or, it's what you don't eat that counts.

Check with your doctor to make sure it is safe for you to lose weight, especially if your goal is 10-20 pounds. Also ask a physician about exercising. Choose a sensible diet, that is 500-1,000 calories lower than what you normally eat. For women this level is generally around 1200 calories. Also make sure that the diet is nutritionally balanced.

"DID YOU KNOW that a diet choosing lower-calorie foods from the 4 food groups supplies approximately 1,200 calories and meets the recommended daily requirements of all nutrients.

"DID YOU KNOW that the popular "Weight Watchers" diet now sweeping the nation supplies approximately 1,200 calories, 3 times the protein recommended daily and meets the requirements of all other nutrients.

"DID YOU KNOW that you can lose the same amount of weight (1-2 lbs./week) on both of these diets, but at much less cost using the 4 food group diet. It makes no difference when you eat certain foods (like eggs, bread, or cheese as restricted in Weight Watchers) but rather the total amount you eat.

Here is a diet that supplies all of the needed nutrients for only 1200 calories:

Breakfast -- (a very important meal) -- one eight-ounce class of skim milk, one poached egg, one piece of dry toast and one-half cup tomato juice.

Lunch -- cheese sandwich, carrot and celery sticks and one eight-ounce glass of skim milk.

Dinner -- meat patty, broccoli, tossed salad with oil and vinegar, roll and iced tea or coffee.

Snack -- apple or pear.

According to the Extension Service Foods & Nutrition Specialist, this diet uses lower-calorie foods from the basic four food groups including milk, meat, bread and cereal, and fruit and vegetable.

A fourth step in proper dieting is to exercise daily. Remember that body weight is governed by two factors -- the calories eaten in food and the calories expended in exercise. Just think how much quicker you will lose weight if you work on both diet and exercise!

Also remember to be patient, she notes. Don't try to achieve your weight goal all at once but follow a safe routine of losing one or two pounds a week. It is harder to gain back lost pounds if you lose weight slowly.

Incorporate these five keys to weight reduction in your daily habits and your new year's resolution will come true.

Just a few interesting facts on dieting:

"DID YOU KNOW that Dr. Stillman's "Doctor's Quick Weight-Loss Diet" is a high protein, low carbohydrate diet. It can be very satisfying to the dieter because it offers meat, cheese, and eggs, and eight glasses of water a day.

... That restricting carbohydrates may be dangerous. The National Research Council suggests that healthy persons generally need 100 grams of carbohydrates daily to avoid ketosis-excessive protein breakdown and other undesirable metabolic responses.

... That the "Air Force Diet" is also dangerously low in carbohydrates. This diet has no connection with the U. S. Air Force.

... That the "Drinking Man's Diet" was also just a gimmick in promoting the idea that the calories in alcohol didn't count. Alcohol is quite high in calories and has very little nutritive value.

... That the "Mayo Clinic Diet" promotes grapefruit and eggs as the basic regimen. Although no such food has such properties, grapefruit was supposed to chew up and dissolve body fat. This diet has nothing to do with the Mayo Clinic in Rochester, Minn.

... That the only successful way to lose weight is restricting calories and changing food habits. You can't live on fad diets the rest of your life. Therefore you must find a sensible way of eating fewer calories. Try the 4 food groups--it works!

Christmas Eve Flight --

Mrs. Melear Tells Of 'Bomb Threat'

Mrs. Carrie Melear of Bovina had one Christmas Eve experience she "could do without."

She was on a flight from Waco to Temple when a bomb threat was reported to the plane's pilots.

Mrs. Melear's problems began at the huge Love Field in Dallas when her flight from Amarillo to Dallas was late and they had to hold her flight at Dallas until she arrived. "You don't realize just how big Love Field really is until you have had to run from one end of that place to the other."

From Dallas she flew to Waco and that's when the "fun" began.

Mrs. Melear reported that shortly after takeoff from Waco, the stewardess came back into the passenger compartment and informed them to keep their seat belts securely fastened, and no smoking and refreshments would be allowed. The pilot then spoke over the intercom and repeated the instructions and warned that there was a "possibility they would be running into extreme turbulence" before they got to Temple. The ventilation and lighting systems were also extinguished for the remainder of the trip, making it rather uncomfortable.

"I didn't really think much about it until I happened to look out the window and saw two planes flying along beside us with spotlights trained on our plane," Mrs. Melear said.

"When we got to Temple and began our landing pattern, we could see fire trucks, helicopters and lots of police cars beside the runway. That's when I decided that something serious was going on."

The plane landed without any trouble and Mrs. Melear commented that the passengers were whisked off the plane by FBI men and kept in the airport office from 6:30 until 10:30 p.m. while an investigation was conducted.

"We never did find out if there actually was a bomb on the plane," said Mrs. Melear, "but I was never so glad to get back to Bovina again in my life."

Food Mill Speeds Feeding of Infants

The one way to serve babies natural unseasoned baby foods without additives is to prepare them at home. An indispensable utensil for straining the foods is a Foley food mill. It takes the work out of straining and mashing fruits and vegetables and is ideal for foods such as cooked egg yolk and chicken livers.

In cooking vegetables for baby, it is particularly important to preserve all the natural vitamins and minerals. Scrub and rinse, but do not peel, vegetables. Cut vegetable into small pieces and cook in the barest amount of water in the shortest possible time until soft and water is absorbed. Strain through a food mill. Do not add salt or other seasonings.

Almost any vegetable is suitable for straining. Spinach, however, because of its lack of bulk and its slippery nature, is easier if it is strained along with another vegetable such as potato.

For homemade applesauce, wash apples; don't peel or core them. Cut them into 8ths and place in a small heavy saucepan. Add a small amount of water (about 2 tablespoons for 2 medium apples.) Cover and cook over medium heat about 5 to 8 minutes or until apples are soft. Strain through a food mill. Do not add sugar. Two medium apples make about 1/2 cup applesauce.

Charles Turner Spends Spare Dime With 'Knife In Hand'

By Lou Nuttall

One of the many people in the Bovina area with an active interest in one or more art forms is Charles Turner of the Oklahoma Lane Community.

Turner has served as school counselor at the Bovina, Lazbuddie and Farwell schools for the past five years.

An idle examination of a piece of China wood in his father's back yard at Beeville, kindled an interest in carving in Turner and during the past year he has carved, or sculptured, several items, each a little more complicated than the one before.

"The only art course I ever took in college was ceramics," Turner said. "I had never even thought of carving until I picked up that piece of China wood."

That piece of wood was carved into the shape of a knife while Turner was barbecuing a chicken for supper. He later stained it and from there he advanced to white pine which he carved into a hooded figure and a piece resembling the religious symbol of a fish.

Turner hasn't invested in any major wood carving tools as yet -- right now he uses standard household tools such as a pocketknife, hunting knife, butcher knife and "lots of sandpaper and elbow grease." He has experimented with an electric drill and wire brush on some of the pieces and has invested in a small set of wood-working tools.

"Now, I look for a piece of wood large enough to strip down to the best texture," Turner stated. "While I am most interested in the grain and flow of wood, I try to shape it according to the shape of the piece I am working with."

Although it took only 90 minutes to carve his first piece and about three hours to fashion a knight in armor out of balsa wood, Turner spends from five to seven hours on the more complicated pieces.

Turner's favorite piece is his most recent, it is carved from a piece of red cedar and resembles the figure of a nun. After the carving had been sanded to his satisfaction, Turner stained it with shoe polish. "Shoe polish also gives it a sheen and is very easy to work with."

Evidence of Turner's ability to work with wood is seen throughout their home. He and his wife, Sandra, combined to construct a stereo unit complete with a tape recorder deck, turntable and tuner from a special kit. Charles has wired his upstairs study and a bathroom with speakers. "We may have the only bathroom in the county with stereo speakers."

Sandra's touch can be seen in the finish of the stereo unit and in several pieces of furniture she has antiqued and refinished in their home.

Turner, a music major in college, received his bachelors degree in music, his masters degree in music education and a counseling certificate from Southwest Texas State University at San Marcos.

He has held the position of band director at two other schools, Pawnee and Danbury, before coming to Farwell in 1965 as band director for two years.

Since taking the counselor's position in 1967, Turner has continued his education in psychology. He has begun graduate work at Eastern New Mexico University at Portales, N.M., and St. Mary's in San Antonio.

After working in the music field for several years, Turner says it is just a hobby now. He entertains at various school and civic functions on occasion.

"I guess the most important reason I got into the counseling field was because I felt that I could contribute more as a counselor and serve more students in this area. I like to work with youngsters."

"I love music, but it was beginning to turn into a chore instead of a pleasure."

Turner has plans in the future to continue work on his doctorate and will attend summer school with that purpose in mind.

Sandra, a native of Lockhart, is a graduate of Thomas Jefferson High School in San Antonio and is a licensed beautician. She is employed at Fantasy Beauty Salon in Bovina.

The Turners are parents of three children, Lucretia, nine, Polly, seven and Richard, 19 months. Lucretia and Polly attend Farwell Schools.

HOW TO BE SUCCESSFUL IN 1972

"If they obey and serve him, they shall spend their days in prosperity, and their years in pleasures." (Job 36:11)

1. You will see in others largely what you look for.
2. Don't be a leaner. Your crutch, whatever it may be, will leave you too weak for the task.
3. Failure and success are not accidents or incidents; they are a state of mind.
4. Learn to appreciate God's world. Life will be fascinatingly beautiful if all about you is a revelation of an all-wise Creator.
5. Don't climb the mountain at one leap. If you contemplate such a feat, you will be tired before you start. It is a pleasant ascent when made one step at a time.
6. Don't be "stymied" by the impossible. Thenovice is achieving the impossible every day.
7. Don't forget that God is your Creator. Worship Him regularly.
8. Learn to love. It is the greatest thing in the world. Without it no one succeeds.
9. Remember, the Lord needs you in 1972.

On The Farm In Palmer County

By R. MACK HEALD
 County Agent

Proper grazing of grain sorghum and corn stubble could boost agricultural income on the Texas High Plains by more than $160 million. And the practice could also pay dividends in other areas of the state.
 In 1970, a study was initiated by Texas Agricultural Extension Service specialists Dr. Cal Parrott and Ed Garnett of Amarillo and Castro County Agricultural Agent Charles Hottel to obtain new information about the utilization of milo and corn stubble with steer calves. Site of the study was the Bob Anthony farm in Castro County.
 With about four million acres of milo and corn harvested annually in the High Plains, a well-managed grazing program could boost yearly farm income and provide the roughage for raising seven million feeder calves annually.

The cattle feeding industry on the High Plains will demand about 3.4 million head of feedlot replacements this year and many of these cattle are shipped in from outside the area.
 A grazing program that is well-managed could provide the opportunity to grow thousands of feeder calves up to 550-600 pounds before they are sent to area feedlots.
 In the study, 421 steers weighing an average of 405 pounds were placed on 230 acres of grain sorghum and corn stubble for a 114-day grazing period. The stubble acreage was 74 per cent corn and 26 per cent grain sorghum.
 The steers were worked and backgrounded in drylot for 40 days prior to the initiation of the study and were then allowed to graze about 57 acres for 28- to 30-day intervals.
 The steers received four pounds of a grain-sorghum supplement daily to supply the extra needed energy and protein. Grain sorghum made up 25 per cent of the ration with a 15 per cent protein supplement.
 Ample feed bunk space allowed all steers to eat at once and each day they were checked for sickness.
 After grazing out the stubble, the steers were placed in a commercial feedlot where they were fed out to a little more than 1,000 pounds. Complete cost records were kept on each phase of the study, and an economic analysis was made of each phase as well as the overall study.
 Each steer gained an average of 162 pounds during the 114-day grazing period for an average of 1.42 pounds per head per day. Including the supplemental feed, each acre of stubble produced 2.6 pounds of beef daily.
 All costs were figured, including a charge for the farmer's land use and labor.
 The economic analysis showed a per head net return of $5.98 for the backgrounding phase; $23.25 for the grazing phase; and $19.63 for the finishing phase.
 The most important aspect of this study is the overall evaluation which indicates an average net return of about $48 per head. The cost per pound of gain, overall, averaged 22 cents with a daily gain of 2.26.
 Proper management is the key to this grazing program. The study can be used as a guide for producers in making management decisions.
 Grazing out the stubble has other advantages. The farmer can return to work the soil quicker during the late fall or winter and to gain efficiency in utilizing his land. Also, fields that were grazed were void of volunteer grain sorghum or corn even though the soil was worked very little.
 The grazing study will be repeated this year to evaluate its consistency.

Golden Apartments For Wire Tenants

You won't find this impressive skyline in any city. The "buildings" are experimental connectors for cables inside computers. About 120 wires plug into each square inch of these grids. Such miniaturization is essential in modern data processors that operate in billionths of a second. The 3-inch tall "apartments," designed at IBM's systems development laboratory in Poughkeepsie, New York, are gold-plated for good contact and corrosion resistance.
 Colonists were astonished when they learned that among the Iroquois tribes, only the women could vote!
