STATES TO HANDLE U. S. PROHIBITION

Washington, Nov. 25.—The enforcement of constitutional prohibition will be placed squarely up to the state and municipal authorities and federal government machinery will not intervene unless obvious inefficiency on the part of local officials makes such action necessary, the temperance board of the Methodist Episcopal church was told today by John F. Kramer, federal prohibition commissioner, in the first pronouncement of policy since he assumed office a week ago.

Rome, Nov. 24.—Plans for uprising in various parts of Italy, especially in some of the large northern manufacturing towns along the Adriatic coast, have been found on men arrested recently. Under Nitti watching carefully the movements of d'Annunzio and his followers, has succeeded in checkmating their intrigues, discovering plots whereby they intended to possess themselves of stores of arms, munitions, automobiles and airplanes.

Disapproval of d'Annunzio's adventures seems to be increasing both in the press and with the public.

Siberian Kid Calf

From Siberia comes a skin called Siberian Kid Calf. It is really a calfskin, but it has the softness of kid combined with the strength of calf. It does not scuff easily and it takes a beautiful polish. It makes up into a shoe that is good to look at and gives the comfort that comes from complete forgetfulness that you are wearing shoes at all.

This remarkable leather is to be found only in Walk-Over shoes this season. The Walk-Over factories are the only American shoe factories to obtain any sizable quantity of skins from Russia since the outbreak of the war.

Quite an interesting little accident happened in the district clerk's office when the plumber who was fixing some of the heating apparatus in Mr. Walthall's office left an unjointed pipe open and went to breakfast, only to return a few minutes later and find the office room brimming full of steam and stifling heat. The pipe was immediately screwed up and the steam allowed to escape. The steam had been turned on by another party who was ignorant of the plumbing work in the office. The heat in the room must have been something terrible; chairs had their varnish coat destroyed, and the ceiling showed signs of severe heat. Nothing was injured in value, however.

DEATH OF J. C. FALL

J. C. (Uncle Cal) Fall died at 7 o'clock this morning at Chireno, aged 80 years.

Few men in Nacogdoches county have been better known and more highly esteemed than “Uncle Cal” Fall. He served two terms as county treasurer, and always took an active part in politics. He was an ex-Confederate soldier, and his army record was without reproach. In all things he was a good citizen.

His wife died a number of years ago, as did two of his children. One daughter, Mrs. Ben Brantley of this city, survives him. A number of relatives reside in this community and all have the sincere sympathy of our people.

Interment took place at Chireno at 3 o'clock this afternoon and an unusually large concourse of friends attended, among them more than fifty from Nacogdoches, who sorrowfully paid the last tribute to the beloved dead.

MANY PEOPLE ATTEND FUNERAL OF J. C. FALL

Thursday was a sad day for the people of Chireno. One of their most prominent men, “Uncle Cal” Fall, laid to rest in the beautiful Chireno cemetery, Rev. Zimmerman officiating. Doubtless few men have the confidence, respect, and esteem of their fellow citizens that “Uncle Cal” had during his life. Noted in politics, closely associated with the rich, rare history of early Nacogdoches county, always standing out conspicuously for the right, Mr. Fall was indeed a man known and admired over the whole of East Texas. His last days were painful, he being an invalid, but all this he bore patiently, again demonstrating that sweetness of character which had ever characterized him.

A number of Nacogdoches people attended the funeral, and while the Sentinel may not have all their names, it prints a list of all that could be obtained. They were: Mr. and Mrs. Tom Crisp, Mr. and Mrs. P. M. Weeks, Mr. and Mrs. K. P. Branch, and Mr. J. H. Brantley, Dr. and Mrs. T. J. Blackwell, Mrs. Milton Ratcliff, G. W. L. Woodlan, J. D. Green, Bosen Wells, L. H. Thrash, W. B. Bates, C. C. Waston, I. D. Parnley, J. F. Floyd, Horace Wilson, Clifton Wells, J. F. Ferrite, C. A. Alford, L. G. King, Bill Crossland, J. M. Marshall, McNeil Weeks, S. M. Adams, F. D. Houston, E. B. Lemis, R. B. Walthall, B. S. Shirley, F. B. Marshall and J. P. Clevenger.

LIFT OFF CORNS!

Apply few drops then lift sore, touchy corns off with fingers

Doesn't hurt a bit: Drop a little Frezone on an aching corn, instantly that corn stops hurting, then you lift it right out. Yes, magic!

Frezone is the sensational discovery of a Cincinnati genius. It is wonderful.

CRIMINAL HELD AS MARTYR

Berlin, Nov. 21.—Erich Muehsam, who led the first Spartacist uprising in Munich last December and who was executed for crimes in connection with that outbreak, apparently is regarded here as a martyr. A memorial festival recently was given in his honor in Berlin, by Independents, Spartacists and Communists.

Muehsam was once a journalist. At the time of the revolution in Bavaria he led a mob which confiscated the plant of the Bavarian Courier. The memorialists hailed him as a “poet and fighter” and his “Diary from Jail” was recently read and applauded.

“I commenced treatment the 15th of June and the sixth day, it dropped out. The first day of July, it was healed up without any scar left, and I suffered but very little pain. I would advise all cancer sufferers to go at once to Dr. Johnson and be cured. Don't delay, but go now. It has been over five years since I was cured, and no sign of return.”

CITY MOURNS

Nacogdoches was deeply saddened Sunday morning, November 23, by the news of the death of Mrs. John Cox, who had died of heart failure about 5 o'clock.

Mrs. Cox was a woman whom everyone loved; a heart filled with sympathy and lovingkindness for humanity was hers, and her friends found always a true, tender loyalty.

Her mother moved to Nacogdoches when she was a little girl and she grew up in this city, lived a long, useful and happy life, and was hushed to a rich reward, leaving crushed and bleeding hearts.

She leaves a husband, a daughter, Mrs. George Meisenheimer; a son, Randolph Cox; and a brother, Judge Geo. F. Ingram, broken-hearted and a host of other relatives and many friends who mourn with them the loss of this good woman.

A large concourse of friends, who will miss her gentle, loving ministrations, laid the body to rest in Oak Grove cemetery at 5 o'clock Sunday afternoon.

W. H. HENDRIX

W. H. Hendrick died in this city last night, aged 78 years.

Deceased was born in Mississippi on August 21, 1841, and moved to Shelby county when a young man and resided there until a few months ago, when he came to Nacogdoches.

Mr. Hendrick was the father of Mrs. W. H. Stephens of this city, at whose home he died. He was an ex-Confederate soldier and a member of the Methodist church, in which he lived a devoted Christian life.

The remains were taken to Shelby county for interment in a cemetery near Cent.

The Sentinel joins the friends of the family in sympathy for the bereavement which has overtaken them.

Strong organizations should be perfected of producers and still other strong organizations of consumers, and when that is done the producers' league and the consumers' league can get together and give the robbing middlemen what Sherman said war was.

GOOD PLAN TO ADVERTISE NACOGDOCHES COUNTY AND ITS RESOURCES

The agricultural committee of the Nacogdoches Chamber of Commerce, in response to a call from Chairman James D. Greer, met at the courthouse a few nights ago and laid plans which, if carried to a conclusion, will redound to the lasting good of the county.

There were present at this meeting Chairman Greer and Committeeman T. E. Budgett, George T. McNess, Secretary George Meisenheimer. Absent T. J. Maroney, Robert Jordan and Sam Hayter.

The subject discussed was the making of arrangements for collecting exhibits of the various resources of the county, of whatever nature, for display at the Dallas fair next year. It is proposed to make this collection comprehensive and complete. The ambition of the committee is to make it the finest display at the fair, and to this end no labor or expense will be spared.

Acting under authority of the board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce the following members were added to the committee:

- W. E. Wortham, Belton Latimer Garrison.
- D. L. Campbell, Appleby.
- Robert Fain, Frank Power, Nacogdoches.
- N. G. Hargis, Attoyac.
- Frank Moore, Chireno.
- John T. Lucas, Sacul.
- Roy Harvis, Net.
- B. K. King, Douglass.
- James Brown, Martinsville.
- Prof. Lynn Davis of the Nacogdoches High School was also placed upon the committee after the educational display.

The following sub-committees were selected to take charge of and prepare the exhibits of the different products:

George T. McNess and H. T. Wilson, cowpeas and tobacco exhibit.

Belton Latimer and W. E. Wortham, kershaws, pumpkins, citrons, melons and peanuts.

T. E. Burgess, fruits and vegetables.

T. J. Maroney, small grains.

S. B. Hayter, B. L. Campbell and Robert Fain, corn and hay.

Robert Jordan, sweet sorghums, millets, etc.

James Greer and Frank Moore, John T. Lucas, Roy Harvis, and Lynn Davis were appointed a miscellaneous committee, whose duties will be to assist the other committees and also to have charge of the exhibits of manufactured products, relics and novelties, apianies, etc. More than twenty products not listed in the above will also be taken care of by this committee, together with all school work.

All the committees will get together within a short time and map out plans for the work assigned them and for any other matters that may change or better the program, and it is hoped to enlist a strong committee of women to take over the domestic affairs department. It is realized that without the hearty co-operation of the women of the county the work of making the display a genuinely representative one will be sadly hampered.

AN OPEN LETTER

You will let me make our appeal out of my heart, to more than two thousand Baptists, of Nacogdoches county.

Last May, at Atlanta, Georgia, the various mission boards, also educational and benevolence, made their reports, showing as best they could the need of the world; which need was a call from high Heaven to every one of the three million redeemed Baptists in the South to do our very best, to enter the open doors and carry the full gospel.

When this great convention saw that seventy-five million was the minimum amount of our need, with faith in God and the great Baptist host, they set themselves seriously to the task of raising it.

A moment's thought would convince the most skeptical that the burden (or joy) of raising this must be distributed by way of apportionment.

Hence, Texas was asked for sixteen million. This county for one hundred and fifteen thousand and fifty ($115,050.). Your service roll will show the amount your church is asked for. You have seen an account possibly of fifty churches who have gone over their apportionment. Those who have not gone over and may not go over will not rush into the papers to make a report.

On which side will YOUR church stand?

The individual apportionment should not be made from what the brother or sister has been doing in the past, but in view of the need of the world. We are asked to break all records, and give as the Lord has prospered us. Let the campaign teams first get victory in their own hearts. Call your people next Sunday morning for sunrise prayer meeting with the twenty thousand other churches in the South. May I make this request from the depth of my heart that the campaign teams will not hurriedly sign any brother or sister for less than they ought to do, but pray and reason with them for their sakes, as well as the need of the world, that they do right this one time? Fail not to get a pledge from every member. Then see every unidentified Baptist in your community.

Your missionary is suffering with a nervous collapse and may not be able to assist further, but wants to rejoice with you on the night of December the seventh (7th) in this county going over the top.

LETTER FROM JUDGE GRUBBS

Rev. M. C. Johnson has received a very interesting letter from Judge V. W. Grubbs of Greenville, who is spending the winter at Riverside, California, acknowledging his appreciation of resolutions passed by the graduates of Trinity University facilitating the judge for the scope and wonderful growth of industrial and vocational education, of which he was the pioneer advocate in the Southwest. He is the father of the College of Industrial Arts at Denton and the Vocational School at Arlington. The judge says that he hopes to return to Texas in the spring, when it is his purpose to devote his remaining years and strength to advocating the necessity of industrial and vocational training in all of the great institutions of Texas, including both city and rural high schools.

DEATH OF A CHILD

Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Little of Chireno are in receipt of the following letter from Rev. Earnest Stack, pastor of the First Baptist church at Waelder. It is a heart-rending story of a great grief and a great resignation, and the stricken family's friends in this county will sympathize with the bereft ones. The letter is sent us with the request to publish:

Waelder, Texas, Nov. 8, 1919.—

Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Little: Dear Bro. and Sister—Ye feel rather lonely as we write you at this time. On October 29th at 7:30 in the evening little Charles died. We miss him so very much. Although he was a constant sufferer he was always bright and cheerful, never muttering nor complaining at his lot. God had served his purpose with him here and so took him home. We are pleased to submit to the Father's will, for we know he did the best thing for us and our little companion.

He was sick eight days with the tonsillitis and the affection spread into his bronchials. He suffered greatly, but as patiently as a human being could. Was conscious up to the last minute. I had talked to him about it all and he was not afraid to die. He said "Jesus loves me and I love Jesus and he will care for me." The last thing he said, opening his eyes and looking into the future, "Oh! Jesus, Jesus," and closed his eyes and fell asleep in Jesus' arms with a smile on his face. The Lord has been sweeter and Heaven nearer than ever before. I never knew before that I had such a great Savior.

Those have been the sweetest, brightest days I ever saw. "The Lord give and the Lord taketh away. Blessed is the name of the Lord."

Bertha is in bed now, just resting. She is given out I think she will be all right in a few days. Write us. Yours in love and prayer, Earnest Stack and family.

TORPEDOED!

Don't blast your Liver and Bowels, but take "Cascarets."

You men and women who can't get feeling right—who have headache, coated tongue, bad taste and foul breath, dizziness, can't sleep, are bilious, nervous and upset, bothered with a sick, gassy, disordered stomach and colds. Are you keeping your liver and bowels clean with Cascarets, or shocking your insides every few days with Calomel, Salts, Oil and violent pills? Cascarets work while you sleep; they cleanse the stomach, remove the sour, undigested, fermenting food and foul gases; take the excess bile from the liver and carry out of the system all the constipated waste matter and poison in the bowels. Cascarets never gripe, sicken or cause inconvenience and Cascarets cost so little too.

WEEKLY SENTINEL

BY GILES M. HALTOM

A RESERVATION WHICH WOULD HAVE KILLED.

The reservation previously adopted left few matters affecting the international relations of the United States. No controversy between subject to the League of Nations, the United States and another Nation of the Western Hemisphere would be subject to its authority. It could not even offer to mediate. Should it have the temerity to do so, it would be repulsed by a flourish of that particular reservation which declares that all American concerns are fenced off from the intrusion of the League of Nations by the Monroe Doctrine. Another reservation declares that all domestic and political questions relating even "in part" to the internal affairs of the United States shall be excluded from the consideration of the League of Nations, we to be the judges in every instance whether a controversy falls within that description. It will be a rare, not to say unique, controversy which could not be linked up with our internal affairs, so that it must seem to most people that that reservation alone would provide us with an ample and convenient pretext for declining to submit to the arbitral and mediatorial processes of the League of Nations whenever we should choose.

But if these reservations left any possibility of our being under the moral obligation to defer to the jurisdiction of the League of Nations, it would have been destroyed by the adoption of that reservation which proposed that no question which the United States considered to affect "its honor or its vital interests" would be subject to the consideration of the league. With that added to the two others, we would enter the League of Nations full armed with power, and also impenetrably armored against the moral authority of the body of which we should be a member. We should then have entered the league entitled to all benefits of membership, and equally exempt from all risks and responsibilities thereof.

That such a reservation was proposed by the Senate Foreign Relations Committee evidences the spirit in which it went about the work of modifying the covenant. If it used a scalpel in the operations it set out to perform, it chose that instrument, rather than a stiletto, to support its pretense that it was intent merely on correcting organic maladies in the covenant. That it was actuated by the desire to destroy rather than to cure would be shown sufficiently, if other evidence were wanting, by the offering of this reservation. But if the offering of it proves that purpose, the rejection of it is equally good evidence that those eight or ten Republican Senators who have come to be known as "mild reservationists" have not, in the votes they have cast, been actuated by any such sinister motive. Some of the reservations they have voted for must have the effect of restricting the usefulness of the League of Nations; but, however ill-advised their course, they have shown a sincere attachment to the great experiment which the League of Nations is to undertake.—Dallas News.

STREET PAVING NOTES

Messrs. Tom Hampton and Earl Heltman spent Sunday afternoon rusticated at Lufkin. They saw several houses and lots of room for a town to grow.—Nacogdoches Sentinel.

More saw dust accumulates in Lufkin in one day as the result of lumber being prepared for building purposes than accumulates in the town of Nacogdoches in a fortnight, and yet it may be said that we are just beginning to build. Get onto our smoke— and watch us grow.—Lufkin News.

Saw dust and shavings on four streets, eh? Well, Nacogdoches was in the saw dust and shavings class once, but she has passed that stage long ago. Paving is much better than saw dust for street building.—Nacogdoches Sentinel.

And bituminous pavement, the kind Lufkin has, is much better than creosoted blocks, the "excuse" for paving that our sister city enjoys, and the kind she has decided to dig up and try something else. Don't it beat the band how it rains?—Lufkin News.

The army recruiting station of this place, under the charge of Sergeant Bullock, will begin a poster campaign this week, placing a large number of these posters in conspicuous places. The army is in need of men just now and is expending a great deal of money to obtain them. The army offers exceptionally fine opportunities to a young man wishing to travel, learn a trade or to see the world. Sergeant Bullock is very enthusiastic over his work, and thinks this station will be fruitful in the future.

NACOGDOCHES TRADITIONS

Two more Confederate Veterans have "crossed over the river" in this county. Yes, they are all "gathering at the river now, for the last roll call. Soon they will all be gone.

George H. Weaver and John N. Wilson are "over there long, long years in this county entitle them to more than ordinary mention though there are many more gone and to go, who are equally worthy.

The personalities and individualities of these two men were so very different in many ways that they can not be compared. But deep down in their hearts they had qualities alike. In one respect at least they were in the same class—and that was that they both loved their fellowmen, and won the love of their associates.

George Weaver came to this county in the '40's a lad in his father's family. The first year was spent in a simple country home on the top of the first hill on the west side of Alazan creek on the Durst crossing road, six miles west of town. It is now an old, a very old field, and the wagon road runs about where the log cabin stood, just about 200 yards north of what was then the Johnson old homestead, later the Uncle Billy Rogers and Whig Riggs old homestead. By the way, Whig and his father were both Confederate soldiers in the same company. Just north of the Weaver's Gov. Hogg's father lived at the same time—and in the same neighborhood John B. Long was born. There were only two other residences then between there and town, one of them four miles from town being a group of Mexican dokey houses in Joe Clevenger's red lane, the other being akin to these five miles from town, afterwards the Ludwig Tubbe place. All along the big road was wild woods, abounding in wild deer and turkeys. The next place west of the Alazan was the well-known Waston old place at the ten mile post. Bill Weaver lived there and operated a small water mill a mile or two above there, afterwards known as the Rogers mill. George Weaver was a big bare-footed boy, working, going a fishing and a hunting, and swimming in the mill pond. He would take swimming start and drive into the clear water among the other boys.

When the Confederate war began George happened to be up in Arkansas, where he enlisted in an early Company, and served bravely to the end. His father had moved to Douglass where he was a merchant and where George went to school until he went away. After the war Weaver & Son were merchants in Nacogdoches. The wooden store stood about where Strippling's drug store now stands. The nearest railroad town was Henderson, and Weaver & Son moved up there, but moved back later, and occupied the old Clark-Walker homestead. George Weaver's memory is dear—very dear to many hearts.

John Wilson was born in Nacogdoches county, near Chireno and he lived here all his useful and faithful life, except for short intervals. What changes have occurred during these eighty odd years. As to his manly career and heroic deeds the whole truth would fill pages. He joined the earliest company in the Confederate army, and fought bravely in all the Virginia battles. Few of this large company, Frank Benton's ever had. He was always true to any captain. He had a good education having attended school in Nacogdoches and elsewhere. He made one of the very best Tax assessors the county ever had. He was always true to any trust or duty. He was a Methodist preacher of the most devout type, an early prohibitionist when it was not popular. His antipathy to booze and immorality was so strong that it provoked opposition. But he loved his fellow man and his maker. This short sketch is far short for such men. But God knows and as to such men as George Weaver and John Wilson, I will be the just Judge.

PENITENTIARY POPULATION SHOWS FURTHER DECREASE

Austin, Texas, Nov. 19.—There has been a further decrease in the population of the penitentiary and the convict farms and October 31 there were only 2826 on hand, a reduction of 137 as compared with the previous month.

There was receipt of only 104 convicts during October, which is a decided falling off from the record of other years; 10 were captured, 1 returned by sheriff, 5 returned from parole, 78 were discharged at the end of the term, 29 were pardoned, 3 escaped, 3 died and 4 were delivered to sheriffs, while 10 were paroled.

At Huntsville there are 294 convicts; 24 are in the insane asylums, 1990 on State owned farms and 618 on share farms.

Fred Feazell made a trip to Alto today to carry a dog home which he had borrowed, incidentally, to buy a bakery oven.

HAS SESSION WITH BULL

T. W. Ingram of the Tie & Piling Co. of Houston is said to be found of poets, but it is pretty certain that he will hereafter draw the line at Brahmin bulls.

While inspecting timber in the bottom south of town a few days ago Mr. Ingram came face-to-face with a large bull of the above breed, and the animal immediately showed fight. A big tree, about four feet in diameter, stood near and Mr. Ingram made for that, leading the bull a chase around the trunk until both were almost exhausted. Finally, Mr. Ingram espied a near-by tree with limbs within his reach, and maneuvering the bull to the opposite side, made a run for this haven, the animal being in close pursuit. He succeeded in swinging himself aloft to safety, the bull passing under him by the narrowest sort of a margin and striking the tree with a jolt that almost shook Mr. Ingram from his perch and dislodging his hat. The bull surveyed his would-be prey for a short time and then turned and walked away, greatly to the relief of the "treed" gentleman.

It is reported that a lively little crap shooting took place down in the colored section of town yesterday, when one negro, whose name could not be obtained, got his big 45 calibre or whatever calibre it was, and proceeded to make his antagonist "jump jodie." Chasing the fleeing negro around the huts firing every chance at him with the big pistol, made a thrilling spectacle, indeed. Marshall Buchanan was soon on the scene and took the wild negro in; and he lies in the county jail at present. Name unknown.
