WOMEN GET VOTES IN THREE MORE STATES.

NEW YORK, N. Y., Jan. 7.—Action of the Rhode Island and Kentucky legislatures yesterday in ratifying the federal woman suffrage constitutional amendment, brings the number of states which have accepted it to 24. Ratification by 12 more states is necessary before the amendment becomes effective, and officers of the National American Women's Suffrage Association today declared they would conduct an active campaign to obtain the necessary ratifications before the presidential primaries in April.

Women of 21 states, including Rhode Island, will enjoy presidential suffrage this year, regardless of whether the amendment becomes effective before the presidential primaries, according to suffrage association officials.

States which have ratified the amendment and upon which presidential woman suffrage this year is contingent upon the amendment becoming effective, include Arkansas and Texas.

The suffrage of women in Arkansas is limited to state primaries. Special legislative sessions, to take action on the amendment, already have been called for the next few weeks by Oregon and Idaho, Arizona, Nevada, Oklahoma, Washington and Wyoming, whose legislatures do not meet this year, also are expected to call special sessions to take action on the amendment. Other states in which the amendment probably will be taken up in regular sessions this year are Louisiana, Mississippi, Virginia, Georgia, South Carolina and New Jersey.

So widespread was the damage done and so wild were some of the sections which suffered that the actual casualties probably will never be known. THE HOME OF SATISFACTION

WEEKLY SENTINEL

BY GILES M. HALTOM

A SPIRIT OF WORTHINESS AND APPRECIATED BOOST.

During the past two months The Sentinel has passed through one of the most trying situations in its history. It seems that every conceivable obstacle imaginable would arise out from somewhere to annoy and oppose its progress. When there was not one troublous thing in evidence, there were two.

But it is a long long trail that never turns. There is a rift in the cloud for the best little daily in East Texas. It has friends that appreciate its worth and these friends have loyally stood by The Sentinel during its trying trouble.

The editor for The Sentinel is rapidly becoming acquainted with a large number of the Nacogdoches people. There are a large number yet whom he does not know. Hence, he will continue to hit upon the scheme of adding out a number of statements. On these statements was the little motto "Boost Your Home Paper."

The Sentinel has every cause to feel gratified by the friendly response made by its subscribers to these statements. The attention given them was appreciated indeed. We may be pardoned for mentioning one or two instances of friendliness.

Today a letter came to the office from a man who had been sent a statement. Upon being examined it was found that the sender had not only sent a statement paying his two months' subscription, but had included a subscription price of The Sentinel for this year. And under the little motto "Boost your home paper" was neatly written the encouraging words, "Alright, here's a year's subscription in advance." This letter was from no other person than one of our most prominent business men, Mr. E. R. Penman.

Naturally, we felt proud of the spirit Mr. Penman evidenced with such pleasantness. It made the whole office force feel better, and started the day right.

A similar instance may also be cited. The other day the collector was collecting subscriptions, and a man informed him that he had gotten a statement from the paper. On paying the back subscription, the man, with a cheerful smile, said, "and here's five dollars additional for a year's subscription in advance." This man was one of our most prominent lawyers, Mr. C. A. Hodges. And this same spirit has been evinced by numbers of others.

All these things make The Sentinel feel proud. And it breaks away the clouds and lets in a ray of light.

Repairs have been obtained for our machine to the amount of several hundred dollars, and we have a better machine than we ever had. The Men's Society is preparing to give a Christmas party. The Nacogdoches Chamber of Commerce is preparing to give a Christmas party. The Nacogdoches Chamber of Commerce is preparing to give a Christmas party.

A FAULT AND AN EXAMPLE.

The home paper is always the life of a town. To it the citizens of a town look for an expression of their ideals and wishes as a whole. It is a powerful factor in getting a community together, and a town without a paper is not one to be envied.

The home paper is looked to by the people to fight the battles of the town. It usually voices the sentiment of the town. It attracts the attention of outside people and makes them take notice.

For an advertising medium in which to get results, the home paper cannot be excelled. Yesterday, a prominent business man of this city called the reporter's attention to the fact that a certain advertisement he had in the paper only one day brought him desired results in twelve hours after its publication. Naturally this was something of which we felt proud. It proved that The Sentinel goes into many homes, bringing with it the always eagerly sought for home news, and that its readers are business people.

And do not forget that next year, the year 1920, is going to be an excitable one. Many important things will be discussed during its passing. The Candidates are beginning to get on the job, and the bees are buzzing loudly. Political pulse is beginning to take on a new beat.

Read The Sentinel another year and be wise. Stand by the thing that stands by the town. And don't forget that The Sentinel gets results.

A CEMETERY AND A SERMON.

It was a neat little cemetery, much like most little country cemeteries, yet there was something queer about it. There was the arched gateway and the customary weeping willows by it. The clipped hedge was like most cemetery hedges. The tombstones were about the average run of tombstones. But, withal, there was something queer—even shocking. Then you discovered what it was. These were truthful tombstones. Consoling platitudes—"Too pure for earth," and that like were found no place. Instead, there were such epitaphs as these: "Mother—walked to death in her kitchen;" "Sacred to the memory of Jane—she scrubbed herself into eternity;" "Grandma—washed herself away;" "Susie—swept out of life with too heavy a broom."

The people who saw that cemetery—and there were thousands of them—may have been shocked for the instant, but they came away with the thought that one might be better for seeing such a cemetery. For, you see, it was a miniature cemetery, three feet square, and it was part of an exhibit at the Montana State Fair. Such levity with the most solemn thing that mankind knows could not be justified merely on the theory that the things said were true—but those who saw it came away with the belief that it was justified by way of keeping just those things from being true. And that was the purpose of the exhibit, placed there by the agricultural extension department of the State Agricultural College of Montana. It was meant to emphasize the need for home conveniences, for lack of which many a farm woman has gone to her grave before her time.

There were other exhibits designed to drive home the same hard truth. One was a model showing a bleak farmhouse on a bare hill. At the bottom of the hill ran a little stream, and by the stream were barns and cattle. Struggling up the hill toward the house with two heavy pails of water was a bent old woman. And the legend was: "Convenient for the cattle—but not-for mother." Then there was a farmhouse with the water supply as it should be, the woman in the yard sprinkling her flower beds with a hose. And the inscription read: "Government for mother—and the cattle, too." Another model showed a kitchen as it should be, and another, a kitchen as it should not be. And there was the legend, "A long-distance kitchen shortens life."

The lesson taught by the exhibit is one that the state agricultural colleges and the United States Department of Agriculture are trying to teach by every means at their command—greater convenience and a larger measure of comfort in the farm home.

NACOGDOCHES TRADITIONS.

In the list of Nacogdoches Traditions it is quite proper to name the first permanent settlement of Nacogdoches, made here from San Antonio in May, 1778. Those settlers were a band of about 200 people who had lived at San Antonio, Texas, a few years prior to this. They came there from Louisiana and were under the leadership of Captain Gal Ybarbo, a Spaniard by descent. Descendants of the Colonists are yet here, and bear the names Ybarbo, Flores, Manchaca, Montes, La Cerda, Acosta, Christino, Mora, Martinez, Cruz and others of these colonists yet known here. When they landed here there were no settlers or residents here, but there were quite a lot of empty dwellings. No church or Stone Fort is reported, but these were doubtless erected.

Thus San Antonio and Nacogdoches became connected in a personal way, and as a matter of course this event and others produced a traveled road that is yet known as "the old San Antonio road," or "King's Highway" or in Spanish, "El Camino del Rey," or Camino Real. The San Antonio end became Nacogdoches street, and it is so called now. It borders the old Alamo premises, and starts from the southeastern corner thereof, in front of the present Hotel Crockett, which was built by a Nacogdoches contractor, J. M. Innis, about the year 1912.

In pioneer days figured in San Antonio—Travis, Crockett, Bowie and others of the Alamo Martyrs came from Nacogdoches. The law partner and military pal of Travis in Texas adventure is buried in the old sacred cemetery at Nacogdoches. His name is Franklin Starr. He missed the Alamo fate with Travis by returning to Nacogdoches before this to care for his wife. Yellow fever made him a victim. Among others from Nacogdoches who figured at San Antonio before the fall of the Alamo were Ben Milam, Jack Lewis, Nathan Wade, John Balch, Bureison and Houston.

There are many people of modern periods who connect these two old towns, and there are more than twenty Nacogdoche families, including five physicians, living in San Antonio now.

There is an historic relation, or at least a contemporary history existing between the "Old Stone Fort" at Nacogdoches, and the old Alamo at San Antonio, which latter is in charge of the organized Daughters of the Republic. It is sacredly kept by them and is made a kind of historic museum, or exhibition hall for historic souvenirs, such as olden times fire arms, weapons, apparel, saddlery, and similar articles, especially pictures. It would seem appropriate to utilize the Stone Fort building in a similar way.

This is in line of educational purposes. It is Texas history. And by the way, there is no picture of the "Old Stone Fort," of Nacogdoches hanging with other historic and notable pictures on the inner walls of the Alamo. What say the Chamber of Commerce club of Nacogdoches, and the Stone Fort National Bank and the patriotic people of Nacogdoches, to supplying this vacancy in due shape and style?

These two sacred shrines of Texas liberty were built by similar people, for similar purposes and under similar in formation or mechanism as well as in chronology and historic interest. Again, there is no picture of General Thomas J. Rusk alongside of those of Houston, Austin, Milam, Crockett and others of the famous pioneer patriots. Who will offer to supply such a suitable want? What name is more worthy than Rusk?

Historic landmarks and personages are always interesting—San Antonio has many. Among these may be well worthy of mention are the ancient mud dwellings to be found, especially on Nacogdoches Street.

"ONR IMMEDIATE DUTY."

Two years ago when we were in the midst of our war work and were practicing self denial that the foes of liberty and justice might be defeated as speedily as possible, we were called to take up arms in defense of the very principles for which our young men were fighting and dying in France. How we responded will be a part of the history of our great state. Rallying to the cry of patriotism and loyalty, from the country, small towns and cities, the women of Texas for the first time cast that most powerful weapon of peace—the ballot—in the protection of the ideals of democracy. It was as great a piece of war work as any that was accomplished in any field of this world conflagration.

Now comes the terrible aftermath of the war—reconstruction. We must fit ourselves to care for the problems that beset us. We must prepare our children to take up the burdens that this generation has laid upon them.

The greatest debt that we owe to them is education and health. If we fail in this, we have failed as mothers and as citizens. Our public school system is the greatest asset of democracy and it is the keystone in the arch of our development. Our schools need our support, they need the immediate relief that our poll tax money will give them. We are faced with the necessity of rearing a strong race of men and women, who from childhood shall be taught loyalty to this great republic and to the ideals of our fathers. Education alone will accomplish this. Mothers divide this responsibility with the teachers, and the school room is the second home of childhood. What are we preparing to do for this home when our children spend more than a half of their waking hours? A cry has gone out through the state that our best helpers are leaving the teaching profession; that if this exodus continues during the next year as it has in the past, our schools will slip back ten years and our children will suffer. The appeal has been made to the women to save not the home alone, but the very soul of the home—the children. How can men and women rest contented when such disaster faces them? The immediate cry is for money to keep open our schools. Poll taxes this month should bring to our public schools over a million dollars, a third of which must come from the women of Texas. The past has big things to our credit. What will the future hold?

Women of Texas, arm yourselves to help protect the childhood of our state.

MAYER & SCHMIDT GIVE BONUS TO EMPLOYEES. The big firm of Mayer & Schmidt, one of the leading dry goods concerns of East Texas and a landmark of Nacogdoches, have accepted the lead of some of the large establishments of the country and are sharing their profits with their employes.

On New Year's day each employee of the firm, in whatever capacity, found in his envelope the following note:

"Please accept this check as a token of our appreciation for valuable services rendered us for the year 1919." These checks represented a bonus of 10 percent of the recipients' annual salary, and came as an agreeable surprise to those to whom they were presented.

The profit-sharing plan is becoming more general as a fuller understanding and appreciation is developed between employer and employee, and there is no doubt of its working to the material advantage of both. Men naturally show more interest in and loyalty for the business of an employer who takes consideration of their welfare and is disposed to award them a full measure of credit and profit in recognition of faithful service.

The Sentinel is gratified that a Nacogdoches firm has initiated this plan here, and hopes others may follow the lead. In the end it will prove the best sort of an investment.

BANQUET AT BANITA LAST NIGHT.

The First Annual banquet of the American Legion of Honor was given at the Banita Hotel Friday night. The table extended entirely across the large dining room and was presided over by Hon. W. B. Bates, commander of the Baxter Duncan Chapter, No. 88, of Nacogdoches county. Addresses were delivered by Mr. E. H. Blount, Rev. M. C. Johnson, chaplain; Hon. W. E. Thomason, W. S. Davis, Dr. Payne of Maytown and a number of others.

A committee composed of W. E. Thomason, R. B. Walthall, Adali Mast and Clay Perkins reported that they had made an investigation of the matter of erecting some suitable monument to the memory of the Nacogdoches county boys who made the supreme sacrifice during the war and recommended that the Legion ask the patriotic county citizens from all over the county to subscribe at least ten thousand dollars for that purpose. Some of those present rather thought it would be better to ask for about fifty thousand dollars and instead of erecting a monument to build a useful Liberty Hall, which would not only be the best possible memorial to our noble dead, but in addition would serve a useful purpose. The committee explained that it had seriously considered the matter of the erection of some useful building and felt that the building would be a better memorial, but had decided on the monument on account of doubting the wisdom of asking for a large amount of money due to the short crop last year and the high cost of everything at the present time.

Captain Blount's address was listened to by all present with unusual interest and he left much food for thought in the minds of all who were fortunate enough to be present. He called attention to the great unrest throughout the country and expressed the opinion that something must be done to arrest it, among other things saying "You who left your native land and crossed the seas to fight the battles of righteousness and saved the world for civilization, must continue your efforts at home for the same noble cause, and as members of the American Legion assist in restoring normal conditions."

A number of resolutions written by Hon. W. B. Bates were unanimously adopted, among them one calling upon congress to accept the peace treaty, including the League of Nations. In the course of his splendid address Rev. M. C. Johnson expressed the wish that one of the great "dollar-a-year" men of the nation could be elected president next year, and gave as his opinion that such a man would give the country a business administration, free from politics, and that such an administration would be a great blessing to our country. The affair was greatly enjoyed by all present and it is expected that this will become an annual affair.

COAL PRODUCTION AGAIN SUFFICIENT, SAYS HINES.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 5.—Coal production is again sufficient to meet current requirements, according to the weekly report made public Saturday night by Walter D. Hines, director general of railroads.

In the Central Western region coal production during the week was exceptionally large, the report says, loading being 54 per cent more than the same period last year and 148 per cent more than the previous week. Business conditions are improving generally, the report said.

NEW YORK, N. Y., Dec. 1.—The celebration of the advent of the new year continued until dawn in the hotels and restaurants along the Great White Way, the revelers taking advantage of what they considered their last opportunity to celebrate in the hilarious manner traditional to New York.

Lawson Hughes, formerly of Nacogdoches, but who is now with the navy, returned to Houston Friday after spending a pleasant time with friend of this place.

THE TEXAS COTTON CROP.

The final estimate shows the Texas cotton crop to be practically the same in number of bales as last year's short crop. Both years' crops suffered alike throughout the seasons from extremes of weather influence, but the excesses were totally the opposite in character in application to areas affected. Last year, because of prolonged drought, the west half of the state made little cotton, while the east half, with necessary moisture, made a splendid crop. This year, with excess of moisture throughout and multiplied insects of every known kind, the eastern belt has suffered in almost equal proportion therefrom as did the western belt last year from excessive drought.

The late date of killing frost, as of November 12, materially added to the crop in that part of the state unaffected by insects.

Picking has been most unusually delayed by bad weather in nearly all districts, but particularly so, in the west center and northwest, where but little over half of the crop was picked by December 1, account of heavy yield, shortness of labor and high cost of picking, amounting to as much as $60.00 per bale.

The estimate for Texas, of 2,700,000 bales, 500 pounds gross weight, is based on 1,293,240,000 pounds of lint picked from 9,948,000 acres, of 10,755,000 acres estimated planted and standing June 25, which shows an abandonment of 7 per cent since that date because of inability to cultivate account of continuous rains. The average yield of lint cotton per acre for the state, is estimated at 150 pounds. Last year's production of cotton was 2,696,561 bales, 500 pounds gross weight, and the 5 year average 1913-1917, (cents) is 3,723,128 bales.

The average yield of lint cotton per acre by districts, is as follows:

Northwest (usually 8 per cent of crop), composed of 30 counties, yield 255 pounds.
North (17 per cent of crop), 16 counties, average yield 135 pounds.
Northeast (13 per cent of crop), 20 counties, average yield 110 pounds.
West Center (6 per cent of crop), 26 counties, average yield 252 pounds.
Center (31 per cent of crop), 29 counties, average yield 133 pounds.
East (7 per cent of crop), 21 counties, average yield 48 pounds.
South (14 per cent of crop), 29 counties, average yield 80 pounds.
Southeast (4 per cent of crop), 12 counties, average yield 40 pounds.

INCOME TAX REPORT.

AUSTIN, Texas, Dec. 5.—The following information relating to an individual's liability in making income tax reports and paying the tax is issued by the Collector of Revenue for the District of Texas.

All married persons whose net income during the year 1919 equals or exceeds $2000.00, and all single persons whose net income equals or exceeds $1000.00, are required to make an income tax report. If you were married or head of a family on the 31st day of December, 1919, you are entitled to an exemption of $2000.00; if single and not head of a family you are entitled to an exemption of only $1000.00. Persons are also entitled to a further credit, whether single, married or at the head of a family, of $200.00 for each person (other than husband or wife) dependent upon and receiving his or her chief support from them during the year, if such person is under 18 years of age or is incapable of self support by reason of mental or physical disability.

The normal income tax is at the rate of 4 per cent the first $4000.00 of the net income in excess of the credits allowed, and 8 per cent upon an excess of that amount. A person receiving a net income in excess of $5000.00 is also liable to a surtax of 1 per cent upon income from $5000.00 to $6000.00; 2 per cent from $6000.00 to $8000.00; 3 per cent from $8000.00 to $10,000.00, etc.

All amounts received from the sale of crops, dairy products, eggs, fruit, live stock products, live stock whether raised on the farm or not, and all other farm products, and all amounts received for board of persons, board and pasturage of animals, labor of men and teams, hire or use of machinery, and all other earnings arising from farming operations must be reported in the tax return.

These are some of the deductions allowed from the gross income in arriving at the net income: Taxes paid or accrued during the taxable year except Federal income, war profits, and excess taxes, and taxes assessed against local benefits of a kind tending to increase the value of the property assessed; interest paid or accrued within the taxable year; losses sustained during the year and not covered by insurance. A reasonable allowance for obsolescence; contributions not in excess of 15 per cent of net income to religious, charitable, scientific or educational institutions. Amounts paid for labor during the calendar year covered by report in preparing land for a crop, cultivating, harvesting and marketing of the crop; cost of feed and fertilizer used; amounts expended for labor in caring for the live stock; amounts paid for feed during the year covered by report; repairs for farm buildings (not dwellings), fences, farm machinery, etc., cost of farm tools which are used up in the course of a year or so; and the cost paid for the rent of a farm, are classed as necessary expenses and are deductible from the gross income.

Income tax returns must be made out and filed with the Collector of Internal Revenue, Austin, Texas, not later than March 15th, 1920, for the entire amount of the tax may be paid at that time or in four installments: one fourth on March 15th, one fourth June 15th; one fourth September 15th; and one fourth on December 15th.

Income tax blanks will be mailed without application, to all persons who filed an income tax return, for the year 1918, and all other persons, who under the provisions of the law should make a return should apply early to the Collector of Internal Revenue, Austin, Texas, for blanks after the 20th of January, 1920.

Persons who fail to make out income tax returns as provided by law are liable to a fine of not more than $10,000, or imprisonment not to exceed 12 months, or both, in addition to other penalties.

THE FEDERAL RESERVE BOARD'S WARNING.

The Federal reserve board in its recent review of business conditions, conveys a rather broad hint that there are signs of an end of the era of price inflation, extravagance, abnormal wages and loose handling of credit.

Business continues to make a larger showing in dollars, but not in terms of units of production, according to the board. And all experience teaches that a multiplication of dollars without a corresponding increase in production does not represent real wealth. It would be well enough for the people throughout the country to take this warning to heart, and begin to shape their affairs in accordance with conditions that are pretty sure to come sooner or later.

Nothing is more certain than that this orgy of extravagant buying, of running into debt, of constantly rising wage scales, of exorbitant rents and prices for real estate, and unreasonable prices for necessities must end, and it is likely to end a good deal sooner than many people expect.

Up to this time, the board reports, retail and wholesale trade have been extremely active, but indications are not wanting that the buying power of the people is being curtailed as the result of abnormal conditions. Idleness and less production are beginning to tell. In the end they curtail buying power, and when buying power of the people falls, business slumps in spite of all the artificial means that may be employed to bolster it up.

A readjustment may not be far distant. Those who will be best prepared to meet it will be those who trim their sails in advance by a revision of their personal affairs, looking to a resumption of normal living and normal working.

Industriousness and thrift now will prevent inconvenience and losses, or perhaps suffering, in the future, when the economic situation approaches a normal level.—Houston Post.

WISH TO ENLIST IN INFANTERIA DE MARINA.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 31.—Lorenzo Muniz Rivera and Paul Casban Sanchez of Porto Rico want to enlist in "el Cuerpo de Infanteria de Marina" and Headquarters, U. S. Marine Corps, has another problem on its hands.

It all started when the two Porto Rican youths read in El Imparcial that the Marine Corps was open for recruits. So they sent carefully typewritten letters to Sergeant Phillips of the recruiting office in New York, whom they knew when he served in their island, expressing in their best Spanish their desire to join the "Infanteria de Marina." He forwarded the letters to headquarters.

Mr. T. J. Burke, formerly of this city, is visiting friends and relatives. He is at present engaged as traveling salesman for a well-known hardware firm. He has been operating from St. Louis.

WEEKLY SENTINEL

BY GILES M. HALTOM

A LOOK INTO THE FUTURE.

In these days when everything in the world seems to have gone topsy-turvy with war, it is interesting to read some of the prophetic utterances, or dreams, if you please to call them such, of leading men in thought who long since have gone hence and "sleep" unconscious of the volcanic eruption of blood which has been tearing nations to pieces. In this line some of the utterances of Col. R. G. Ingersoll have significance. For instance, in one of his orations he described the future as many present-day writers seem now to feel it is soon to be. He said:

"I see a world where thrones have crumbled and where kings are dust. The aristocracy of idleness has perished from the earth.

"I see a world without a slave. Man at last is free. Nature's forces have by science been enslaved. Lightning and light, wind and wave, frost and flame and all the secret, subtle powers of earth and air are the tireless toilers of the human race.

"I see a world at peace, adorned with every form of human art, with music's myriad voices thrilled, while lips are rich with words of truth—a world in which no exile sighs, no prisoner moans; a world on which the gibbet's shadow does not fall; a world where labor reaps its full reward; where work and worth go hand in hand."

We have long looked for and hoped for such future and such a world, and in our humble way tried to preach and teach and practice the Brotherhood of Man and the Fatherhood of God as one way toward gaining such a goal; but, alas, how slow is it in coming!

No such future and no such world can be a reality until the basic cause of wrong is eliminated, and that basic cause is the cardinal sin of human greed, selfishness and graft.

Selfishness, greed and graft are what are damning the world today. They are what brought about the recent war, and to these things are attributable nearly all the ills that flesh is heir to.

And so it has been since the beginning of time, though present indications seem to warrant a belief that the future has better things in store. Selfishness, greed and graft have damned humanity ever since Esau sold his birthright for a mess of pottage; since Judas Iscariot betrayed the Saviour for a few pieces of silver.

THE MANLY MAN.

Probably there is nothing the world admires more than a manly man, unless it is womanly woman, and it is to do what little we can to keep the species from becoming extinct that we mention it occasionally.

There are millions of manly men yet, thank the good Lord, but there are an awful lot of men who are any thing but manly. We have in mind more especially the youths who are just verging upon manhood and they ought to give thought and heed to this subject often, as it is most important to them.

The war taught us that there is an alarmingly large percentage of young men in the United States who are deficient—deficient both physically and intellectually. Also that there is altogether too large a percentage of illiteracy and ignorance. There is no excuse whatever in this country for either.

No young man who puts in most of his time loafing around pool halls, with a cigarette stuck in his face, his hat on the back of his head, form-fitting clothes with trousers rolled up over purple socks and "beer-colored" shoes, and a look on his flabby face clearly indicating that what he does know is not knowable, is ever going to amount to very much unless somebody or some circumstance hands him a swift kick that will give him a faint realization of how mussy a microbe he really is.

Parents are doing their sons a great injustice in allowing any such stuff, and they ought to know better. As the twig is bent so will the tree grow.

Such young men leer at passing girls and make remarks to each other which no doubt they consider smart, but which, in fact, are a disgrace to their alleged manhood. From the ranks of such young men are recruited the auto-bandits and other criminals, with whose exploits the city dispatches are filled. Because of such young men hundreds of thousands of young girls are brought to a hell on earth which words cannot paint. They fill the penitentiaries and send their fathers and mothers to early graves.

Every town in the country should have some kind of a community service whose duty it is to look after just such young men and to bring them into better life—to make manly men of them, instead of nonentities and conceited nincompoops despised by everybody with a grain of common sense.

The young man who has clean thoughts, who seeks education and knowledge, who acts and lives and looks clean, and who has an ambition to make something of himself, is the young man we all love and respect, and upon him rests the responsibility for the future greatness of the country.

GOVERNMENT PUBLICATIONS FOR SCHOOL LIBRARIES.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 5.—There are a few miscellaneous government publications to the credit of the Second congressional district. They are largely odds and ends which have accumulated through several years, but many of them contain valuable matter. Town and country schools desiring these miscellaneous books and pamphlets for their libraries will be furnished them while they last, if they will write John C. Box, M. C., Washington, D. C., giving the full and plain address to which they are to be sent. It will be useless to specify particular works in ordering. The purpose is to give to such schools as apply in time a share of an accumulation of several years.

DEPARTMENT OF JUSTICE STILL ON THE JOB.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 5.—Although nearly 5,000 persons have been arrested since the latest radical raid started Friday, the Department of Justice agents over the country still are seeking members of the communist-labor organizations who escaped the general dragnet.

EXPLOSION IN POWDER MILL.

GERMANY UNDONE BY OWN WEAPON

Had Sold to America Secret of Making Explosive From Air.

BIG NITRATE PLANT RESULTS.

Built in Eight Months It Convinces Kaiser of His Defeat.

By GARRET SMITH.

One of the most romantic passages in the secret history of the World War is the story of how the Ordnance Department of the United States Army made it possible for America, until then utterly lacking in ammunition and in facilities for making it, to manufacture unlimited quantities of powerful explosives out of air and rock. It was largely the knowledge of this fact that forced Germany to surrender when she did.

The secret was secured from Germany herself. It was an open business transaction between business men, whereby we apparently acquired nothing more military than a process for making a high grade fertilizer known as cyanamid.

Frank Sherman Washburn, head of the group of business men who bought this process, conceived the germ of the idea in the early nineties while in South America as consulting engineer in connection with the production and shipping of Chilean nitrate of soda. Nitrogen compounds are an essential part of all commercial fertilizers. The only available natural nitrate deposits in large quantities are in Chile. This supply was diminishing. Germany, which had been taking about one-third of the Chilean nitrates, was already experimenting with processes for their artificial production. In 1907 Mr. Washburn secured in Germany the American rights of the cyanamid process which had been invented in that country.

Turning Air Into a Weapon.

By this process air, which is a mixture of about four-fifths nitrogen gas and one-fifth oxygen, is placed in containers and subjected to pressure and cold until it turns to a liquid. Then the nitrogen is distilled in much the same manner as alcohol is separated from water. But before this nitrogen can be used as a fertilizer it must be combined with a chemical combination of lime and carbon known as calcium carbide, produced by burning ordinary limestone in big rotary kilns and combining it in the electric furnace with carbon supplied in the form of ordinary coke.

Cyanamid thus produced contains the elements of ammonium nitrate, one of the most powerful of modern explosives. By one process ammonia is extracted from the cyanamid. By another process nitric acid is extracted from another batch of this same cyanamid. Then the ammonia and nitric acid are combined and there you have ammonium nitrate ready for packing into shells with TNT.

There are three kinds of explosives used for bursting shells in modern warfare—TNT, picric acid and ammonium nitrate. The United States was equally deficient in raw materials and plants for manufacturing all three of these explosives. Under the best of conditions the cost of either TNT or picric acid is about two and one-half times the cost of ammonium nitrate. But the United States was wholly dependent upon Chilean nitrate of soda as a raw material for ammonium nitrate, with the exception of a small production of nitrogen from the coking of coal. The Chilean supply was 4,500 miles away from New York City by way of the Panama Canal, and the route by way of the Straits of Magellan is nearly twice as long.

A Record Building Operation.

Shortly after the war began in Europe the German government entered into the fixation of air nitrogen for military explosives on a vast scale. It was not, however, until the fall of 1917 that the United States government took it up.

The Ordnance Department asked Mr. Washburn's company to organize a subsidiary corporation, known as the Air Nitrates Corporation, with Mr. Washburn as president, to act as agent of the government for the construction and operation of the air nitrates plant at Muscle Shoals, Alabama. This corporation provided the designs, erected the equipment in the chemical plants and supervised all the other work. It also operated the camp, the town and the plant. Other work is sublet to several of the best known organizations in the United States. Westinghouse Church Kerr Company built the plant buildings, the camp, the permanent city and utilities. The J. G. White Engineering Corporation designed and built the nitrate acid plant. The M. W. Kellogg Company furnished the piping and built the chimneys. On February 16, 1918, ground was broken, and eight months and eight days later the $90,000,000 Muscle Shoals plant began producing ammonium nitrate. In that brief period 23,000 men had completed the plant and around it, where not a house stood before, had arisen a city of 25,000 inhabitants.

This plant when in full operation was ready to provide 13 per cent of all explosives to be used by all the allies on all the allied fronts during the expected spring drive of 1919.

WHOOPEM UP! BUY A BUTTON!

Friday night the Nacogdoches Chamber of Commerce is going to stage one of the biggest things that has taken place in Nacogdoches in a long time. It is to take place at the Redland, and fully two hundred people are expected to be there to take part in it and enjoy the pleasures.

Wednesday Nacogdoches will be full of pretty girls selling buttons for the best thing that ever was organized in this city. They will be high school girls, and will go about the selling of the buttons with a tact and ability that you can't resist—hence don't try to refuse them your membership.

After the big drive, Friday night, as a token of the Nacogdoches Chamber of Commerce's appreciation of these girls' efforts, the girls will be made guests of honor at the big banquet. They will have the time of their lives, because every effort will be made by the commercial club to see that they get every enjoyment possible out of the affair.

If you are not a member of the Nacogdoches Chamber of Commerce you are going to miss one of the biggest things of 1920. The Nacogdoches Chamber of Commerce is going to be behind every thing that is worth while in Nacogdoches this year. It is going to invite good, live citizens, progressive ideas, scientific improvements to come to Nacogdoches. It will discourage the "mossbacks and dead jacks" to the utmost, and you won't find any of that sort in the commercial club.

Join when she asks you to. Bring joy to her heart. Reward her efforts with your consent to join the Nacogdoches Chamber of Commerce, and ultimately become one of the progressive citizens of what is to become the metropolis of East Texas—Nacogdoches.

If Nacogdoches county has any oil, the chamber of commerce will be the one to stimulate finding it. If Nacogdoches is to become known for its fine stock, the chamber of commerce will be a party to it. If the huge brick plant which is under consideration is materialized here, the men of the chamber of commerce will be the cause. If the potato curing plant is ever erected here, it will be because of the action of the Nacogdoches Chamber of Commerce. If Nacogdoches ever gets rid of the mosquito, it will be because of the action of the chamber of commerce. If Nacogdoches ever gets the Stephen F. Austin Normal, the chamber of commerce can safely be praised as being the cause.

These and many other important things which Nacogdoches craves, and has not as yet got, will be brought about by the help of the Nacogdoches Chamber of Commerce. Encourage the thing that will work for you, the town, the county, and every thing Nacogdoches. Be patriotic to the core. Be for Nacogdoches. Go after the buttons like they were things good to eat. Buy them with the energy that is characteristic of the best town in East Texas.

Wear your button in plain sight. It is a badge of honor. It is an expression of your progressiveness—and it will save those girls' time.

Join! Stand by the thing that stands by the town. Whoop'em up! Get a little spirit in your bones. Get a little home pride in your constitution. Be a booster for your town. Don't be a "mossback." Turn away from the sentiment that will carry you back to the age of ox-cart and tallow candle. Imbibe new ideas, new resolves, new actions; for this is the progressive year of A. D. 1920.

Buy that button. Be at that banquet. Have the time of your life. Don't be foolish. Join, and "throw away your hammer and get a horn."

WORLD'S BIGGEST NITRATE PLANT

Mammoth Explosives Factory in Alabama Built in Eight Months.

ALL SPEED RECORDS BROKEN

Could Supply 13 Per Cent of Allies' Needs Had War Continued.

By GARRET SMITH.

Lifting the ban of war secrecy has just now brought to light for the first time one of the most stupendous feats of construction in history—the planning and building in less than one year of the largest ammonium nitrate plant in the world and of a city around it for the housing of its 25,000 workmen and their families. At the same time it revealed one of the chief reasons why Germany suddenly surrendered a year ago. The German high command knew that the United States was ready at Muscle Shoals, Alabama, to manufacture 13 per cent of all the high explosives needed by all the Allied armies on all fronts in the expected drive of the following spring.

The first person on construction work reached Muscle Shoals on November 26, 1917. On February 16, 1918, ground was first broken for a permanent plant building. On October 26, 1918, eight months and eight days later, the manufacturing plant had begun the production of ammonium nitrate.

When America entered the world war in April, 1917, she had no means of producing the enormous quantities of high explosives necessary to provide the huge army she planned to raise. The very fact that our industries were already worked to capacity seemed to make further production for our own use impossible.

Fertilizer Process Turned to War Use.

At this juncture the Ordnance Department turned to cyanamid, a commercial fertilizer, which had for some years been produced successfully at Niagara Falls, by a process the American rights of which were obtained in 1907 from Germany by Frank Sherman Washburn, head of the American Cyanamid Company.

By this process cyanamid was produced by extracting nitrogen from the air and combining it with calcium obtained from limestone rock and carbon from coke. By putting cyanamid through three more processes both ammonia and nitric acid can be extracted from it and combined into the explosive, ammonium nitrate. Mr. Washburn was invited to present plans and estimates for the construction in the shortest possible time of an ammonium nitrate plant at Muscle Shoals, Alabama, and a contract between his company and the United States was entered into under date of November 16, 1917.

To have general supervision of planning and carrying out the work an organization known as the Air Nitrates Corporation was formed to act as agent of the Ordnance Department. This corporation provided the general designs, supervised all the work and operated the camp, the town and the plant. It also installed all equipment in the chemical plant. The various other sections of the work were sublet to organizations that were specialists in the directions in which they were asked to help.

New City Built From the Ground.

It was necessary to build a new town to house the laborers. For this job Westinghouse Church Kerr Company was called in as contractor. This company also built the buildings of the chemical plant. Within four months 12,000 workmen had been assembled and a city capable of accommodating 25,000 inhabitants had been completed, with lodging, restaurants, stores, offices, police headquarters, schools, fire departments, hospitals, motion picture theaters, electric light and sewerage systems.

The construction of the plant proper was begun on February 16, 1918. Just eight months and eight days later the big plant began a steady output of ammonium nitrate. The plant contains 113 permanent buildings, with a roof area of over 26 acres.

To provide the electric current it was necessary to build a steam power electric plant, for it would have taken three years or more to complete the dam and hydro-electric station now under way. This plant, built by the J. G. White Corporation, is one of the largest steam plants for developing electrical energy in the world.

The output of the plant is 300 tons of ammonium nitrate a day, and this can be produced at Muscle Shoals at a cost less than one-half the standard fixed price paid by the Government for ammonium nitrate produced by other methods and one-fourth to one-fifth the cost of other high explosives of equal strength. Compared with the older process of making ammonium nitrate, the savings made by this plant would have paid the $90,000,000 cost of the entire plant in about one and one-half years of operation.

As a military weapon it is one of the wisest and most economical expenditures that the Ordnance Department has undertaken. As an agent in stopping the war and as a future protection to the country its value is incalculable.

HIGH SCHOOL GIRLS WORKING FOR C. OF C.

Tuesday in high school twenty girls gave their service to help along the big membership drive which is being carried on for the Nacogdoches Chamber of Commerce. It can be said that twenty of the most enterprising girls were selected, and already they are making a beautiful showing in the form of results. After only about two hours' canvassing for the C. of C. Leah Vance Barnes, junior, sold three memberships. This was exceptionally good, and greatly encouraged Miss Barnes.

The Nacogdoches Chamber of Commerce has offered a prize of $10.00 to the high school girl selling the most buttons. This prize will be awarded to the successful young lady Friday at the big banquet which is to be held at the Redland hotel. All of the girls are enthusiastic over the scheme, and it is expected that a real contest will take place before Friday evening.

The girls volunteering their services for the praiseworthy work are: Misses Clara Shanks, Alice Robinson, Rose Jordan, Leah Vance Barnes, Frances Ingraham, Sybel Blackwell, Thelma Potts, Lois Weeks, Maude Gaston, Effie Mae Carter, Ola Gaston, Josie Cariker, Johnnie Norwood, Avelin Davis, Fannie Richards, Wilhelmina Rulfs, Mamie Thrash, Augusta Burrows and Gertrude Morris.

The girls will proceed to canvass the entire town until Friday night, when a splendid time is in store for them at the banquet. Buy a button and be there yourself. "Throw away your hammer and get a horn."

BEHANNON BROTHERS SUSTAIN FIRE LOSS.

The wholesale house of Behannon Brothers, located on the Cotton Belt track, just north of the courthouse was totally destroyed by fire last night about 11 o'clock, together with all the contents, consisting of various kinds of food and feed stuff, the estimated loss being between $10,000 and $12,000, and only partially covered by insurance.

Mr. R. J. Behannon, senior member of the firm, will not know the exact loss until he has access to the company's books, which were in the office safe. He remarked that during his twenty-two years business career this was the first fire loss he has ever experienced, and it is not definitely known how the conflagration started. Parties attracted by the fire say that a small building to the rear of the warehouse, used for a gasoline motor car appeared to be the first in flames, as though some kind of explosion had taken place, after which the flames spread to the larger building, soon consuming all the contents. It was just a few days ago that the firm received a carload of flour, also bran and other feedstuffs.

This morning Mr. Behannon made the statement that just as soon as possible the firm would begin the erection of a larger building and would again go into business on a larger scale.—From Monday's Lufkin News.

THAT BANQUET FRIDAY NIGHT.

Get that three dollars and pay it to one of those girls when she asks you to join the Nacogdoches Chamber of Commerce. If you do not you will make the mistake of your life. The chamber of commerce is planning to make Nacogdoches a greater, better and more progressive town. It will stand behind every move calculated to build and improve Nacogdoches. It is something that you cannot afford to discourage. If you do you are cutting off your own nose to spoil your face.

Those girls are not selling those buttons for fun. They are selling them to make future Nacogdoches a greater town. They are selling them in order that Nacogdoches will have an equal fight with her contemporaries; that her achievements may be commensurate with her possibilities—and they are infinite.

A button will pay your membership until April 1 of this year. It will identify you with the leading citizens of this town. It will tell the world that you are for Nacogdoches.

Buy one of the buttons and be at the big banquet Friday night. You will have the time of your life there. No grouches will be present. Everyone will be happy because of the new order of things.

Be there and see who gets the $10 prize. Some live girl who believes in doing things worth while will be there and carry away the prize. Buy your button today, and get your friend to buy. Men, women, children are eligible, if they want to join.

Join, "throw away your hammer and boost."

ENABLES HER TO TAKE LONG TRIP.

Henkle Says Wife Improved So Much on Taking Tanlac She Boasts of Her Health.

"After years of suffering Tanlac sure put my wife in a fine state of health and she often boasts of how well she is feeling," said George H. Henkle, of 1302 Eastlands avenue, Nashville, Tenn.

"For years," he continued, "she was almost a confirmed dyspeptic and she suffered also from a nervous affection. Right after meals gas would form on her stomach, which kept her in distress most of the time. She always had to be most careful about her eating and was troubled at times with dizziness and swimming of the head. For a long time she had wanted to take a trip North, but couldn't do so on account of her condition.

"When she saw Tanlac advertised and so many people endorsing it, she decided to try it and found almost immediate relief. Tanlac gave her a fine appetite and put her stomach in fine shape so she could eat and enjoy her meals without having any trouble afterwards. She hasn't complained of dizziness or swimming of the head since starting on it and that nervous condition has also quite disappeared. Tanlac built her up so she was enabled to take a trip North, where she was gone four months, and she wasn't sick a minute of the whole time she was away. She is delighted with what Tanlac has done for her and thinks there is no other medicine like it."

Tanlac is sold in Nacogdoches by Stripling, Haselwood & Co., and in Garrison by The Dale Drug Co.

FOR COUNTY SUPERINTENDENT

In announcing my candidacy for the office of County Superintendent of Public Instruction, subject to the action of the Democratic Primaries, I desire to state that I am a married man.

Have taught twenty years in Nacogdoches county; ten years in the rural schools and ten as Principal in one of the city schools of Nacogdoches.

Of the ten years' work in the rural schools, eight were spent in one school.

This gives me a knowledge of both rural and city school work. I feel that my work as a member of the County Board of Examiners further fits me for the duties of this office.

Am a bookkeeper as well as teacher. This insures systematic and accurate office work.

Received my training in the rural schools of Cherokee county, The Baptist Academy at Rusk, various summer normals and summer school work in the State University.

I pledge faithful and efficient service if elected.

Respectfully,
F. A. BEALL.

FOOTBALL CAPTAIN ELECTED.

Monday evening in Coach Hunt's room the Doches football team met and elected a captain for another season. After deliberation on the matter, it was decided to give the honor to Eugene Muckleroy. Eugene played exceptionally well the past season making a splendid record, and it is thought that the team has made no mistake in its selection. Sherill Sullivan was the captain the past year, and his record will go down in the history of Nacogdoches football as one of the most brilliant.

BIG STRIKE THREATENED.

NEW YORK, N. Y., Jan. 2.—The cloak and suit industry in New York employing 45,000 persons, faces a strike for higher wages, which are certain to mean exorbitant prices for the public unless checked, the Cloak, Suit and Skirts Manufacturers' Association announced today. The workers in forty-two individual shops already are out on strike. At present the male operators, the association says, earn upward of $75 per week.

A dispatch tells of a man suing his wife for divorce because she hasn't spoken to him for six months. He's foolish. He'll never get another wife like that.

UNCLE SAM TO CARE FOR DISABLED SOLDIERS

Any ex-service man who needs medical or surgical treatment because of illness or injury contracted in the army or navy, can hereafter enter an army hospital, Public Health Service hospital, or local civilian institution or sanatorium, and have all his expenses paid by the government. Few soldiers or sailors seem to be aware of this privilege, which is theirs for the asking, and today the war department instructed the entire personnel of the office of the assistant of the Secretary of war, in charge of soldiers employment and welfare work, to bring this to the attention of all such men.

Lieutenant Colonel Mathew C. Smith, of the General Staff, and head of the Bureau, has issued a bulletin for nationwide distribution, which says:

"Any discharged service man who is in need of medical treatment and feels that his illness is due to wounds or other disabilities received or aggravated while in service, should at once see the nearest army hospital or local representative of the United States Public Health Service for an examination. Address may be ascertained from the postmaster. The American Red Cross representative and state or municipal health officer also are able to advise service men about their cases and should be consulted.

"If discharge or other papers showing that the disability was existing at the time of separation from service are available, they should be taken along, as they will be of help in making a decision on the case. However, if those papers are not available the man should not hesitate to apply. Such an applicant will be immediately placed under treatment pending the receipt of the necessary papers.

"If there is no representative of the Health Service in the ex-soldier's home town and no army hospital at hand, and it is possible for him to travel, such traveling expenses, hospital expenses and wages lost while undergoing examination will be paid by the government, should it be decided that treatment is necessary. "On the other hand, if the physical condition of the man makes it impossible for him to travel, he will be examined and treated at his home. In special cases where it is found that a change of climate will be beneficial patients will be sent to specially designated hospitals."

LADIES, PAY YOUR POLLTAX!

In view of the conditions being made by many special interests and some politicians in the state that the act of the legislature permitting women to vote in all primary elections is unconstitutional, thousands of women are refraining from paying their polltax.

There is no basis for such contention and the undersigned members of the Nacogdoches bar assure the women of Nacogdoches county and of the state that they can vote in all primary elections just as the men can. But to do so you must pay your polltax before February 1.

The Austin Court of Civil Appeals has recently directly and positively held, and no high court in Texas will ever hold to the contrary. This is our positive assurance to the womanhood of the county and we say it as lawyers who have carefully investigated the question.

Understand, the elections in Texas are really decided in the primary and the regular November election is a mere formality in Texas. The manhood of Texas, speaking through its legislature, has given to their mothers, wives and sisters the right to a voice in selecting your precinct, county, district and state officers through the primaries, and we believe it the patriotic duty of every woman over 21 years of age to exercise the privilege. And we urge every patriotic woman in the county and state to show her interest in the welfare of the county and state and national government by voting for your choice of candidates in the primaries.

To do this you must pay your polltax before February 1.

GOVERNMENT WILL ADVERTISE.

The United States army is planning some very extensive advertising beginning in the year 1920. Arrangements are being made with all the papers for a considerable amount of space.

The government is coming to recognize the importance of the small daily, and a lot of the money that will be expended for advertising will be with the county papers. Formerly a great amount of money was spent with high-class magazines for advertising space, but those who have studied the advertising proposition from every point of view have come to appreciate the value of the home paper more.

The government's latest decision with reference to its advertising program might well be taken as a valuable tip by local business men who have merchandise to sell. If the government can profitably advertise in the home paper, why not you?

"NO OTHER CHILL TONIC GAVE SUCH SATISFACTION"

How Oklahoma Man Endorses Swamp Chill and Fever Tonic.

Mr. Harve Smith of Haileyville, Okla., tried various chill tonics, but found nothing that equalled Swamp Chill and Fever Tonic. He says this famous remedy never failed to cure his chills.

Thousands of others who once suffered from malaria, ague and similar ailments praise Swamp Chill Tonic as strongly as Mr. Smith. For 20 years it has been the one never-failing remedy.

Swamp Chill Tonic acts quickly and rarely. It seldom takes more than three days to break up chills. And no purgative has to be taken with the medicine itself acts gently and agreeably upon the liver and bowels.

There is no calomel in Swamp Tonic—nothing but purely vegetable ingredients and iron. It is tasteless, and pleasant to take. Numerous physicians prescribe it regularly—they now it is the best remedy there is for malaria, ague, chills, fever, colds, grippe, etc.

Dealers everywhere recommend and sell Swamp Chill Tonic. The price is 60 cents. Try a bottle.

SIX EGGS A WEEK.

"I used to use six dozen eggs a week," writes a housewife. "Now I use six eggs for cooking only. We pass the word along to our neighbors and friends and our lodge members. To every one who says eggs we say, 'Don't buy.'"

This is the mood for economy. I don't go to the home and extends to many homes. If six dozen eggs are too costly, use six eggs. Of course, it is obvious that we must eat something. And if everything is expensive it will not do to eliminate one item from the diet, for the cost immediately will appear in another. But all items of food are not prohibitively expensive; only some. If these are essential, let us cut down on the amount and make up on something cheaper.

It has been demonstrated that fish easily within reach of the modest purse. One needn't eat fish at every meal, but certainly at some meals. The lowly bean, which for a time ascended to a very snobbish position, is returning to its station. Beans cannot be excelled as food.

Spurn the costly cuts of meat. Be happy with the soup bone and its sustaining qualities. A little bargaining will disclose whole hams at almost half the price of ham bought by the slice. The same is true of bacon. Slice your own ham down to the butt. Ham butt and cabbage would have halted Caesar at the Rubicon.

While we sniff the zestful soup joint in its bubbling pot let us reflect upon the dough dumpling of happy memory. Is there anything more suggestive of the early winter evening, the snow swishing against the panes, the cozy dining room, than a copious platter of steaming dumplings swimming in the gravy of the boiling piece?

Economy is possible. It is possible to those who look about them and who plan their meals. It is impossible to those who telephone the grocer to send this, that, and the other. Eliminate, be artful, woo the hash, the bean, and the dumpling.—Chicago Tribune.

INCIDENT CONFLAGRATIONS.

The fire department made a run Saturday afternoon to the home of C. C. Watson in response to an alarm, but the flames had been extinguished before the engine reached the scene. About 7 o'clock Saturday night another call came from the residence of Rev. Mr. Delmar, but some neighboring boys had beat them to it and prevented the flames from gaining headway.

Early Monday morning an alarm was turned in from the negro settlement on Jones street, but again the fire had been put out before the arrival of the department. A small hole in the roof was the extent of the damage here.

But the fire boys responded as promptly as if the danger had been of the most serious nature.

Prisoners Witness Darrage Execution

CHICAGO, Ill., Jan. 2.—Two hundred prisoners of Cook county saw "Buffalo" Durrage die on the gallows this morning, despite the request from Governor Lowden to Sheriff Peters last night that the hanging be private. The usual death-chamber quiet was broken by 200 involuntary witnesses who shouted loudly for their breakfast while the condemned man was being bound and the noose adjusted about his neck. Sheriff Peters, who planned to have the prisoners present for the "moral effect" on them, hung Durrage an hour and a half before the usual time to prevent a last-minute reprieve.

Durrage was convicted of murdering Mr. and Mrs. Onofrio Gargano, with whom he lived, last May. Among the 200 who watched the execution were a number waiting trial for murder and scores held for robberies, holdups, assault and offenses against young girls. Several government prisoners also were in the cells. The majority of the prisoners appeared little impressed. They had been required to wait past the usual hour for breakfast, and shouts for food drowned out the chant of the priests who accompanied the condemned man to the scaffold. Durrage was the quietest and most composed man in the death corridor. He never spoke while awaiting death.

I was very miserable when my husband got me a bottle of 'Favorite Prescription' but by the time I had taken this one bottle my health was completely restored. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a fine medicine for women and I take pleasure in giving it a recommendation."—Mrs. N. J. Vess, 1520 Everett St.

San Antonio, Texas:—"For about three years I have been in a run-down condition. I would be so weak as times I could scarcely get around. I was extremely nervous, could not sleep and I was in a miserable state when just recently I was advised to try Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. I have not taken all of one bottle but am feeling better than I have for a long time. I am going to continue its use for I know it is helping me more than any medicine I have taken."—Mrs. H. T. Knippa, 913 Burleson St.

SCHOOL NOTES.

Tuesday morning in chapel services considerable enthusiasm was aroused, and some real live-wire Doches school songs were sung. Prof. L. B. Davis was the first speaker who expressed delight at the high school coming together after the holidays with a new vigor, determination and resolve to accomplish greater results in the future than in the past. His little talk was short, but to the point, stating that Prof. T. H. Hunt had a more important talk to make.

Prof. Hunt came forward and with his characteristic low manner of speaking, and proceeded to deliver what turned out before its conclusion to be a very impressive little talk. He expressed the greatest satisfaction at the results of the football team during the season just past. Never in his life, he stated, had a team brought more pleasure in his life than this year's team.

After these few little preliminaries, Mr. Hunt stated that he had the football trinkets for this season. A considerable degree of humor was aroused when he stated that on these little golden footballs was inscribed "Doches 37; Lufkin 6." The entire school cheered loudly.

Then he called each member of the Doches football team to the stage and presented him with a ball. At the conclusion of these presentations, he called Sherrill Sullivan and Eugene Muckleroy upon the stage. Standing between the two boys, he said: "This is the boy that has served as your captain for the past season. He has conducted himself in a manner which has won the unstinted admiration of all. Never working for unfair advantages, never wrangling, he has won the esteem of everyone who was fortunate enough to see him play. Captain Sullivan, I present you with this," handing him the prized golden football, showing that he was captain of the greatest football team of E. Texas for the past year.

Then he turned to Eugene Muckleroy. "The boy you see here, Eugene Muckleroy, is your football captain for another year." During all this time Mr. Hunt could scarcely talk for the vigorous cheering ceasing only long enough to allow him to barely tell the things that he wanted to tell. "Eugene," he continued, "has conducted himself in such way that the whole team heartily admires him. I do not think that a better selection could have been made. I think that the season another year offers even greater advantages than the one just past." Mr. Hunt then proceeded to offer Eugene congratulations, which concluded with an abundance of hearty good-wishes for another year. Both boys were visibly affected by the situation; one the old representing a season as brilliant as they ever make them; the other the new, holding out possibilities of a future unparalleled.

After the conclusion of the football presentations, Prof. L. B. Davis made another talk in which he became eloquent in telling of the Nacogdoches High School's past and its probable future. At the conclusion of his address, he stated that the football team wanted him to present Miss Province with a fountain pen as a token of their appreciation of her efforts as yell-leader during the many games the team had played this year. Miss Province accepted the present with the few short words of appreciation: "I thank the givers very much. I lost a fountain pen the day I left here to go home for Christmas, and one after I got back. So you see this one is welcome."

Prof. R. F. Davis then came forward, stating that he had spent some very pleasant moment witnessing the events that had just occurred. He expressed the opinion that the coming year would be assuredly bright. He then called attention to another thing he said ranked among the most important confronting the people of Nacogdoches today. He asked all the students to raise their hands if they saw in the Houston Post last Sunday some pictures dealing with a sister city of Nacogdoches. Quite a number of students raised their hands.

"Now," continued Prof. Davis, "do you know who had those pictures put in that paper? It was that town's chamber of commerce. The chamber of commerce of any town always stands for the progressiveness of everything in that town. Nacogdoches is now making a big membership drive in the Chamber of Commerce, and she wants the girls of this high school to volunteer their services toward the great cause." He then explained that twenty girls were desired by the Nacogdoches Chamber of Commerce to sell until Friday night, buttons at three dollars each, getting memberships to the Chamber of Commerce. He assured them that they would be doing something for the town that would count. "Nacogdoches needs and must have a good live chamber of commerce, it will be the life of the town," were his concluding remarks.

"Eight years ago when we first moved to Mattoon, I was a great sufferer from indigestion and constipation," writes Mrs. Robert Allison, Mattoon, Ill. "I had frequent headaches and dizzy spells, and there was a feeling like a heavy weight pressing on my stomach and chest all of the time. I felt miserable. Every morsel of food distressed me. I could not rest at night and felt tired and worn out all of the time. One bottle of Chamberlain's Tablets cured me and I have felt like a different person since." Sold by Stripling, Haselwood & Co.

County Road Commissioner M. S. Muckleroy received a painful wound in one of his legs Monday morning at the hands of a negro from whom he was endeavoring to collect a past-due account. The negro failed to pay the bill on Saturday night, as per agreement, and Mr. Muckleroy went to see him about it. An altercation ensued and the stabbing followed. The negro made his escape and had not been apprehended at 1 o'clock. Mr. Muckleroy's wound received prompt surgical attention and he is getting along nicely.

The firm of S. Mintz, well known to all, will have a new name in the future. Not exactly a new name, but slightly different from just plain "S. Mintz." Leo Mintz has purchased half interest in his father's store, and from now on the firm will be known as "S. Mintz & Son." This transaction took place some time since January 1. Mr. Leo Mintz is a splendid young citizen, having always the best interest of the town at heart, and it is thought that his business career will be exceptionally brilliant. The Sentinel, with his numerous other friends, joins with a hearty expression of genuine good wishes.

Doctors prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. MRS. W. W. PERRY DEAD.

Mrs. W. W. Perry, formerly a resident of Nacogdoches, died at 8 o'clock Wednesday morning in a sanitarium at Tyler, where she was undergoing treatment for blood-poisoning. Her sister, Mrs. Robert Lindsey, of this city was among those present at her bedside when she passed away.

Mrs. Perry left Nacogdoches several years ago and moved to Mineola, which city was her home at the time of her death.

Deceased is survived by her husband and three children, two boys and one girl—William Edward, Dick and Birdie Johnston—Mrs. Robert Lindsey, her sister, and other relatives, who have the sympathy of all in their bereavement.

Funeral arrangements had not been completed when The Sentinel went to press.

DEATH OF A GOOD WOMAN.

The community was shocked Monday afternoon when it was made known that Mrs. Martha Walters had died at 3:30 o'clock. She was sitting before the fire at the home of her son, Curg Walters, with whom she was making her home, when, without warning, she fell dead. Her health was apparently of the best, and the family were dismayed and heart-broken at her sudden collapse.

Mrs. Walters, whose maiden name was King, was born and reared in Nacogdoches county, where practically all her long life was spent. Her age was 73 years and 4 months.

She leaves two sons, Messrs. Wade and Curg Walters, to mourn her death, and a wide circle of grieving friends join in sympathy for their irreparable loss.

Funeral services were conducted by the Rev. M. F. Drury and interment was made in Oak Grove cemetery at 3 o'clock Tuesday afternoon.

DEATH OF A LITTLE GIRL.

The Sentinel has just learned of the sad death of little Louise, 12-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John T. Lucas of Sacal, who passed away on Saturday, December 27, 1919, after a brief illness. Her health had always been frail, but her death came as an entirely unexpected blow to the family and friends.

Interment took place in the Sacal noon, December 28, in the presence of a large concourse of sorrowing relatives and friends, some of whom were from Nacogdoches.

Our heart goes out in sympathy for the stricken parents, who are bowed down in unutterable grief.

"And back to our separate places,

Just a little more lonely we creep;

Just a little more care in our faces—

The shadows a little more deep.

And we stagger—ah, God, how we stagger—

As we shift the old load on our back;

The burden a little more heavy

For the love of the child that we lack."
