Threat Of Famine Confronts Country

Austin, Texas, July 6.—Unless agricultural production is encouraged and the consuming public abandons its indifference to the farmers' problems, "nothing will prevent national disaster," according to Fred W. Davis, state agricultural commissioner. In a statement the commissioner declared the farmers' financial return for the amount of labor he does is insufficient. Unless this is remedied, he added, a continued decrease in production is inevitable.

"A farmers' strike is on," Commissioner Davis said, "and will continue until the inequality between the country and city is removed. Of course the farmers have not called a strike as the industrial workers do. It is a strike by means of the abandonment of productive effort. The farmer has decided that the odds are too much against him, and feeling that he can never get adequate remuneration for his labor, he quits."

Mr. Davis declared he was astonished at the indifference shown by the general public over the diminishing margin between production and consumption. The indifference, he said, is "still more astonishing among our so-called statesmen and leaders."

Unless this order is changed only one other course remains if famine is to be averted, the commissioner continued. "If producers are not assisted in securing remuneration for their toll," he said, "the only means for averting a famine is the importation of farmers from the Orient, who are willing to work under conditions which would pauperize and degrade the American farmer."

CONVICT POPULATION

Austin, Texas, July 6.—A decrease of 109 was noted in the convict population of the State prison and State prison farms in the month of May, according to the monthly report of the State Prison Commission.

The total number of convicts on May 31 was 2820 as compared with 2929 on April 30. Three convicts died during May—One being killed by a fellow convict; one was drowned, and the third succumbed to tuberculosis.

New convicts received during the month of May numbered 134, El Paso and Eastland counties leading with 8 each. During the month 57 prisoners were discharged, 13 pardoned, 24 escaped, 9 were paroled and 3 turned back to sheriffs. 21 convicts were recaptured, three returned by sheriffs and one from parole.

The state's prisoners were distributed as follows: Huntsville penitentiary, 262; state owned farms 2263; state leased farms, 271; insane asylums, 24.

In many of the rural parts of England the singular belief prevails that in Leap Year all field-beans grow on or near land or shallow water, and

All the extreme depths in the ocean are near land or shallow water, and apparently follow the trend of such upheaved parts of the earth's surface.

Oldest Graduate Is Known In Nacogdoches

In Thursday's issue the Sentinel carried an Associated Press dispatch under an Evansville, Ind., date telling of the graduation from St. Vincents Academy, Ky., recently of a lady who matriculated at that institution in 1859. Friday the information came to the office that Mrs. Rider, the unusual graduate, is the mother of Mrs. M. C. Johnson, wife of the pastor of the Main-street Presbyterian church of this city. The only error in this item was concerning the age of Mrs. Rider, who is 78 instead of 74 years old. She is still physically vigorous and mentally alert—more active than many much younger women. Mrs. Rider has visited her daughter in Nacogdoches and is well known and greatly admired by a number of our people.

NEFF FORCES ORGANIZE

Devine, Texas, July 2.—Hon. H. P. Hornby, ex-member of the legislature from the 116th District, is making speeches in this part of the state in the interest of Mr. Neff for governor. Hon. Grover C. Morris, representative from Medina, Uvalde, Dimmit and Zavalla counties, has accepted the chairmanship of the Neff forces in Medina county. M. L. Harkey, chairman of the Neff club at Crystal City is speaking in his section in behalf of the candidacy of Mr. Neff. There are strong Neff clubs in practically every county in Southwest Texas, and it is a conceded fact by every one in a position to know, that if Mr. Neff is as strong in South Texas, he will be the next governor.

GIVING AWAY CHILDREN.

Omaha, Neb., July 5.—So many parents here are offering to give away their children that the children's code commission devoted a recent meeting to discussing the problem. The high cost of living is the most frequent excuse offered for giving up children. In some cases the frank statement has been made that the trouble of rearing a child is too great.

PULLMAN RESERVATIONS CAN BE MADE HERE NOW

Mr. D. A. Washburn, local agent for the E. & W. railroad, reports that the E. & W. has arranged now for Pullman reservations to either Shreveport or Houston to be made here. Hitherto reservations had to be made to Houston or Shreveport.

The new arrangement is a great public accommodation, an idea one securing the new arrangement feel certain that it will find a hearty welcome from Nacogdoches people.

Mr. L. Keefe of Garrison, traveling representative of the Industrial Transportation Company, was in the city Tuesday on business.

Cox Nominee On 44th Ballot

San Francisco, 3:56 a. m., July 6.—Governor Cox of Ohio was nominated for president on the forty-fourth ballot.

The Break to Cox.

San Francisco, July 6.—James M. Cox, three times governor of Ohio, was nominated for president early this morning by the Democratic National Convention in the breakup of one of the most prolonged deadlocks in the history of national political parties.

It took forty-four ballots, and not until Palmer withdrew on the thirty-eighth did the succession of roll calls show a definite trend. In the turnover of the Palmer delegates Cox gained advantage of McAdoo.

With the choice made, the convention adjourned till 2 o'clock (Texas time) to name a candidate for the vice presidency.

BULLETIN

San Francisco, 5:40 p. m., July 6.—Franklin D. Roosevelt was nominated for vice president on the first ballot.

San Francisco, July 7.—The delegates to the Democratic National Convention, their work done and the convention adjourned, after nominating Cox for president and Franklin D. Roosevelt for vice president, are scrambling for train accommodations homeward.

Franklin D. Roosevelt of New York, assistant secretary of the navy, was nominated by acclamation after several candidates presented before him had withdrawn their names.

Leaders are elated over the spirit of harmony which prevailed during the last hours of the convention, which they took for evidence that all differences were buried and that there was a determination to work hard for the election of the ticket chosen.

Mr. Roosevelt is due to leave during the day for Dayton, Ohio, to consult with his running mate, Governor Cox, where preliminary campaign plans will be mapped out.

It is generally agreed that the convention was a great success.

A Good Running Mate.

Dayton, Ohio, July 7.—Governor James M. Cox, the democratic presidential nominee, believes Roosevelt will be a good running mate. 'Cox and Roosevelt: that's catnip, isn't it,' commented Governor Cox, as he first learned who his associate on the ticket would be. He appeared pleased with the selection, declaring he did not know Mr. Roosevelt intimately, but that he is "a vigorous, upstanding, courageous, progressive democrat."

In his first public address after his nomination, in Middleton last night, Governor Cox, commenting upon the industrial unrest, said, "Any attempt to exploit class hatred is equally as dangerous as bolshevism in Europe." He declared the Golden Rule works better than bullet or bayonet, and in all industrial disputes there is a middle ground which must be followed in order that justice may be done to all. "Those in public places must guard the freedom of the many against the exploits of the few," he said, adding that during the six years that he was governor of Ohio there had not been a shot fired by a man in uniform in industrial disputes.

Wilson Congratulates.

Columbus, Ohio, July 7.—Congratulations from President Wilson were received by Governor Cox today. The president's message read: "Please accept my hearty congratulations and cordial best wishes. Woodrow Wilson."

McAdoo Is Pleased.

Huntington, N. Y., July 7.—When Mr. McAdoo was informed upon rising today that Cox had been nominated by the democratic convention his only comment was, "I am relieved and delighted that the call did not come to me." He showed every evidence that he was pleased. Mrs. McAdoo said, "That's great!"

Cox Received News.

Dayton, Ohio, July 7.—Governor Cox received the news of his nomination in his newspaper office, the Dayton News, surrounded by his fellow newspaper workers and a few relatives and friends. When the Associated Press flashed the news of his nomination his first act was to cross the room and kissed his wife. The he walked a few blocks to the home of a friend, John A. McMahon, to whom he wished personally to give the news.

Davis Sends Greetings

London, July 7.—Ambassador Davis sent the following telegram to Governor Cox: "My hearty congratulations upon your nomination. You can and will lead your party to a well-deserved victory."

Harding Talks of Nominee

Marion, Ohio, July 7.—Senator Harding, the republican presidential nominee, declared in a statement today that Governor Cox deserved the democratic nomination, but that his selection would not change the republican Ohio campaign.

Candidates' Records Before Brotherhoods

Cleveland, Ohio, July 7.—Records of Senator Warren G. Harding, the republican nominee for president, and of the nominee of the democratic convention, Governor Cox, will be sent to the members of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, who will be asked to form their own opinions and vote accordingly.

President W. G. Lee of the Brotherhood announced this as the policy to be followed by the organization in the November election. The records will be mailed out from the Washington office of the brotherhood as soon as they are prepared, Mr. Lee said.

"Records of the candidates will be placed side by side and sent to the men," Mr. Lee declared, "with the fact before them our members are sufficiently intelligent to form their own opinions."

Bargain—For sale, two complete Murray gin stands with new huller breast, one steam trumper double box press, one double blower fan, also a good grist mill. Cash or terms. This machinery is all practically new. See E. J. Summers & Bro. 7-341w

Frightful Train-Wreck Texans Among Killed

McAlester, Okla., July 5.—Eight persons were killed, twelve seriously injured and ten suffered minor injuries, when a Katy freight train smashed into the rear end of a carnival company special in the Atoka yards Sunday night.

Among the dead were Mrs. Myrtle Duke and baby of Greenville, Texas; George Hunt of Belton and Mrs. McCannahan of Dallas. J. W. Hulise of Tyler received internal injuries.

Lieutenant John Morgan, who has been stationed in Galveston for the past month serving with the local cavalry which is on patrol duty there, returned to Nacogdoches Tuesday night. He reports everything quiet here, but says he has no idea when the boys will be allowed to return home. A bunch of boys will probably leave here tonight for duty in Galveston.

SERIOUS COLLISION

Wichita Falls, July 6.—Eight persons were seriously injured and scores hurt last night in a street car collision.

Mr. J. F. Fulgham Succumbs to Wounds

Mr. J. F. (Frank) Fulgham of Garrison, who was shot by his son-in-law, Roscoe Latimer, at the latter's home Monday night following trouble between Latimer and his wife, died Tuesday afternoon at 4:30 in the sanitarium in Nacogdoches where he had been taken for treatment in a desperate effort to save his life.

Mr. Fulgham was born and reared in Nacogdoches on a near the present site of the experimental station. His entire life was spent in this county, and he was regarded as one of its best citizens. Probably no man in the county had more warm friends or bore in larger degree the esteem and respect of the people of the community where he was reared and where he later lived. He was a member of the Methodist church, of the Woodmen of the World, the Garrison Masonic lodge and the Garrison Royal Arch Chapter. He was a good husband and father, a good friend and a good citizen.

At the time of his death he was engaged in the garage and filling station business at Garrison, and his standing was of the highest.

He is survived by his wife, who, together with three daughters, Mrs. Jessie Parker, Mrs. Roscoe Latimer and Miss Durstine Fulgham, reside at Garrison; two sons, Lee and Roy, and a daughter, Miss Lula, now located in Dallas; and two sons, Jim and Jack, of Houston.

Mr. Fulgham was married in 1886 to Mrs. Watson Fears (nee Laura Jopling), and the life of the couple is said to have been ideal.

The funeral took place at 4 o'clock Wednesday afternoon and interment was made in the Garrison cemetery, Rev. W. S. Easterling of the Garrison Methodist church conducting the service.

The sympathy of all our people is with the stricken family in the terrible bereavement which has befallen them.

OF INTEREST TO "SPOONERS."

Muskogee, Okla., July 6.—Love-making is not unlawful in parks or in public in Muskogee Chief of Police McAfee declares in a set of by-laws issued after repeated calls were made by "indignant neighbors" who objected to couples billing and cooing "across the street." However, such "spooning" must not be of a nature offensive to passersby, the chief decreed.

Classifying his orders, Chief McAfee's brief, summarized, reads: It is unlawful to "spoon" when driving a car. It is then classified as "reckless driving" as both hands must be on the wheel at all times. It is unlawful to stop automobiles on drives and boulevards to "spoon" in such a way as to stop others. The offense then becomes "obstructing traffic."

It is unlawful to "spoon" on church or school steps. The lovers are then guilty of trespassing.

"I would favor setting a nice winding roadway as a 'lover's lane,'" the chief said. "Then we could send a plain clothesman out, not to molest or peep at them, but to chaperone them. It is about the time of year that everyone tries to start an anti-spooning campaign, with the result that people do not visit the parks for which thousands of dollars have been spent, because they cannot sit down on a bench without being looked upon with suspicion."

SPECIFIC FOR COLDS.

Houston, Tex., July 5.—A federal prohibition inspector is a much better specific for colds than the whiskey so zealously sought for this particular malady, according to one of the inspectors, who discovered that two days before he began investigations in Houston there were eighty-three cases of bad colds reported to one doctor's office, and the day after the investigation began there was evidence of only one bad cold in the records of all the physicians of Houston. There was, however, he added, appearances of an epidemic of cold feet among a certain class in the city.

Mrs. E. T. Crain and three children of Ranger are in the city visiting Miss Mary Hoya.

THE REAL TROUBLE WITH THE PEACE TREATY

Mr. Cummings says, "The real trouble with the treaty is that it was negotiated by a Democrat," meaning, of course, that it was partisan jealousy that made the Republicans in the senate so hostile in its consideration of it. There is a great deal to be said for that thesis. Men who come to study the history of this controversy are apt to conclude that the attitude of the Republican senators in the beginning was determined largely by the fear that an unequal acceptance of the President's work at Paris would yield an unsurmountable advantage to his party in the presidential campaign which was soon to follow. They were not without reason for that fear, if they felt it. The work done by the President was monumental in its magnitude and epochal in its character. To have conceded that he had done it so well as to leave the senate with only the formal task of putting the seal of its approval on it would have been to have paid a tribute to his statesmanship which undoubtedly his party would have capitalized. It was the fear of that consequence which made Republicans not merely critical, but hypercritical, and when magnified the faults and dangers which actually presented themselves to their visions and spurred them into picturing faults and dangers to the imagination of the country which they knew did not exist.

The idea of a league of nations is much more a Republican than a Democratic conception. It was preached by such eminent Republicans as Mr. Taft, Mr. Roosevelt, Mr. Root and Senator Lodge long before any Democrat of corresponding prominence became a champion of it: nor does the particular League of Nations which was devised in Paris differ in any marked degree from that which those eminent Republicans sketched when they were propagating the idea. Mr. Lodge, for example, said in 1915 that the great nations must be so united "as to be able to say to any single country, 'You must not go to war,' and they can only say that effectively when the country desiring war knows that the force which the united nations place behind peace is irresistible." Article 10 of the covenant seems only a feeble fulfillment of the idea Mr. Lodge expressed on that occasion. But republican enthusiasm for the idea waned perceptibly when Mr. Wilson, in virtue of his position, became the protagonist of it, once he espoused it. That should have warned him and every one that the work of realizing it must be of a distinctly bipartisan character if the project was not to be endangered by the arousement of partisan jealousy. That the attitude of the republicans toward the work of Mr. Wilson was determined largely by the fear that the acceptance of it would aggrandize his party is further indicated by the fact that so many of the reservations proposed, as Mr. Taft himself has said, do no more than express in other language the sense of the articles to which they were attached. The Republican mind seems to have been made fertile of objections by the thought that Republican handiwork must be impressed on the performance if the Republican party was to escape the observation of having had no part in so epochal an achievement.

For the fear and suspicion which so largely determined their attitude toward the peace treaty, the Republicans had some reason in the circumstance that, as his republican associates, Mr. Wilson took with him to Paris men who were in no sense representatives of the Republican party. Mr. White had occupied no such place in Republican counsels as entitled him to the distinction Mr. Wilson conferred on him, while General Bliss had even less, since he was a republican only in a nominal sense. It is altogether likely that if, instead of taking two unknown republicans with him to Paris, Mr. Wilson had taken two of the prominence of Mr. Taft and Mr. Root, or even men of much lesser importance in that party, he could have brought back substantially the same covenant, but under auspices which would have assured a sympathetic consideration instead of the intensely hostile consideration which it actually did receive. But that was a blunder in which Mr. Wilson may have easily been led by the loftiness of his motives. To one obsessed by the desire to confer so great a blessing on the world as he conceived would result from the organization of a League of Nations, the thought that partisan jealousy could jeopardize the project would probbly have been incredible, even if it had suggested itself to his mind. But whether it was his fault or not it must be clear to all men now that it was a misfortune that he did not safeguard his work against the danger of its being destroyed by partisan jealousy.—Dallas News.

THE BOY'S SUMMER JOB

As soon as school closes one may hear the boys talk of their plans for vacation or the positions they hope to secure. Quite often the boy who has a good place is quite as cheerful as the lad who contemplates a long period of pleasure.

In the first place, the boy who finds summer employment and conducts himself well, rightly feels himself nearer to manhood. He may form acquaintances older than himself, whose thoughts often run on lines distinct from games and mischief, and this may do something to mature him. What he earns may be of importance to himself and his family. It is also possible that he may find the line of work best suited to him, and that he makes a good beginning.

Perhaps men in and after the forties blame themselves too severely for the fickleness of the teens. No doubt there are boys who almost from the cradle have a bent, who are irresistibly drawn to the farm, to the sea, to a trade, to commerce or to science. But in many cases there is no such overmastering call, not because the boy is lazy or inclined to vagrancy, but because he has not yet found out his capacity. Suppose that such a boy works two or three summers at different occupations, adapting himself to different environments, making acquaintance with adults, each season putting away a portion of childish things, can we say that he has wasted his time?

Many an interesting story of mental growth is told by those who have known boys at their summer work. Even if it does not at first show the youngster what he ought to do, it may show him that he is not adapted to a certain line. Negative knowledge is sometimes as useful as positive, or at least a necessary prelude to the positive.

"Family Farms" in East Texas.

It is becoming more fully realized as we study the problem of the drift of the population from the farms to the cities that the most fruitful plan for checking the movement is one which provides for the country many of the advantages and conveniences that are found in the cities.

Any "back-to-the-farm" movement that does not contain practical plans for offsetting the attractions of the city with similar opportunities for living comfortably, pleasantly and profitably in the country will fail. We have found that a mere back-to-the-farm appeal does not interest many.

City life is attractive mainly for the conveniences that have been developed on the basis of co-operation by all the people of the city.

If it is because of the fact that the plan of the East Texas Chamber of Commerce for settling up the lands of East Texas contemplates the establishment of small "family farms" in groups here and there, where it will be possible to develop conveniences and make the life of the farmer much less hard and monotonous than the past, that the movement it has set on foot appears of unusual importance, and bids fair to achieve large success in solving the problem of the rural exodus. The family farm, which the commercial body is seeking to have established in each of the 50 counties it serves, will contain only a small acreage each, not more than one man can easily cultivate without hired help. The place will be equipped with a modern farm house and barn, and the farm will be so laid out as to make it easy to use labor saving machinery and appliances in every way.

There are provisions, of course, in the project for marketing facilities and for removing as much as possible the element of isolation from the life on the farms. The auto truck and the automobile have already become dependable factors in supplying this need, the co-operative motor truck operated by many communities being as thoroughly established in some places as is the railroad itself.

Since the scheme for a back-to-the-farm movement was projected a short time ago, the East Texas Chamber of Commerce has received more than 1000 applications for small farms, and there is evident a widespread interest in the movement. It has attracted attention in other States and is receiving favorable comment in many of the leading newspapers of the country.

East Texas is the garden spot of the Southwest, and the land of promise for the thrifty, industrious man with small capital. It is proven territory, and production is assured. There is room for a million more small farmers in this vast fertile section, and with a little aid and co-operation they can be placed upon the land.

This is a movement which should be encouraged. It bears evidence of being one solution for one of the most vexatious and dangerous problems.—Houston Post.

FARM BOYS' TOUR

Dallas, Texas, July 1.—The entire tour of the Texas Farm Boys Special, under the direction of the Texas Chamber of Commerce and the A. & M. College, beginning August 7, will be "filmed" at the expense of the Ford Motor Co. of Detroit. H. H. Williamson of the A. & M. College, who is now traveling over the route of this special, was met in Detroit by representatives of the Ford Motor Co., who offered to film the entire tour and to entertain the Texas farm boys while they were in Detroit. The motion picture film of the trip will be shown in Texas and farm boys who did not get to make the trip will be able to go to a theater and "see the sights" in Des Moines, Chicago, Detroit, Ontario, Niagara Falls, Bethlehem, New York, Washington and other points they visited.

While in Detroit the boys will be entertained by the Ford company at breakfast and lunch and given a special educational tour through the great Ford automobile and tractor factories, with a visit to the huge blast furnaces on the River Rouge. They will also be given an automobile ride over the Henry Ford model farms near Detroit.

FAMOUS CHARACTER DEAD

Fort Worth, Texas, July 1.—William Wyeth James is dead. He died as he had lived—fighting—but his boots were under his bed, and tactics of defense and offense he had employed successfully against opponents for nearly half a century were not effective against old age and disease which were aided by wounds inflicted by other assailants in years gone by.

Captain, Lieutenant, outlaw, bandit, guerrilla hellsion, William Wyeth James had earned and borne all these titles while fighting under three flags and without a flag.

His stormy career was woven through the history of the early South, Europe, Africa, Australia and South America in a wild and romantic patter that will ever defy duplication.

A cousin of Jesse James, he was born in Lower Mississippi in 1848 and remained there until he was twelve years old. Here his only companion was "Old Natch," an ancient Natchez Indian who instilled into the boy his first knowledge of woodcraft. Being considered a weakling who was adversely affected by the climate of the Mississippi bottoms he was then sent to live with relatives and attend school near Independence, Ohio.

Early in 1862, the lad, then about fourteen years old, began his career of battle by killing eight men during an attack by Jay Hawks upon his relatives' home, according to traditions.

In July of the same year he joined the ranks of Colonel Charles William Quantrell at Independence, and as one of "Quantrell's Hellions," he was outlawed by the federal general staff with orders that he should be hanged or shot as soon as captured. His capture was never accomplished.

The first federal officer who had an opportunity to carry out this order was a recruiting officer before whom James appeared in Fort Worth during 1917 in an effort to enlist for service overseas.

Through the civil war he served with the guerrilla forces of General Quantrell and took part in many of the notorious raids of that rebel. He was cited a number of times for individual bravery and won his lieutenant's bars in this service.

After the termination of the civil war, he next appeared as a member of the notorious James band under the leadership of Jesse James, and his memoirs are filled with sentiment and hatred for Kansas. During the reconstruction days he was also credited with having ridden under the fiery cross of the Ku Klux Klan.

In 1870 he went to London, minions of the law having made his stay in America hazardous. The Franco-Prussian war attracted the attention of the young frontiersman, and he cast his lot with the French. Trench warfare was new to him, and his hardships and experiences instilled a bitterness against the Germans which lasted all his life. On his deathbed he recounted the deeds credited to the Germans during the late war and expressed his regret that he had been "considered too far above the draft age" to take part in the conflict.

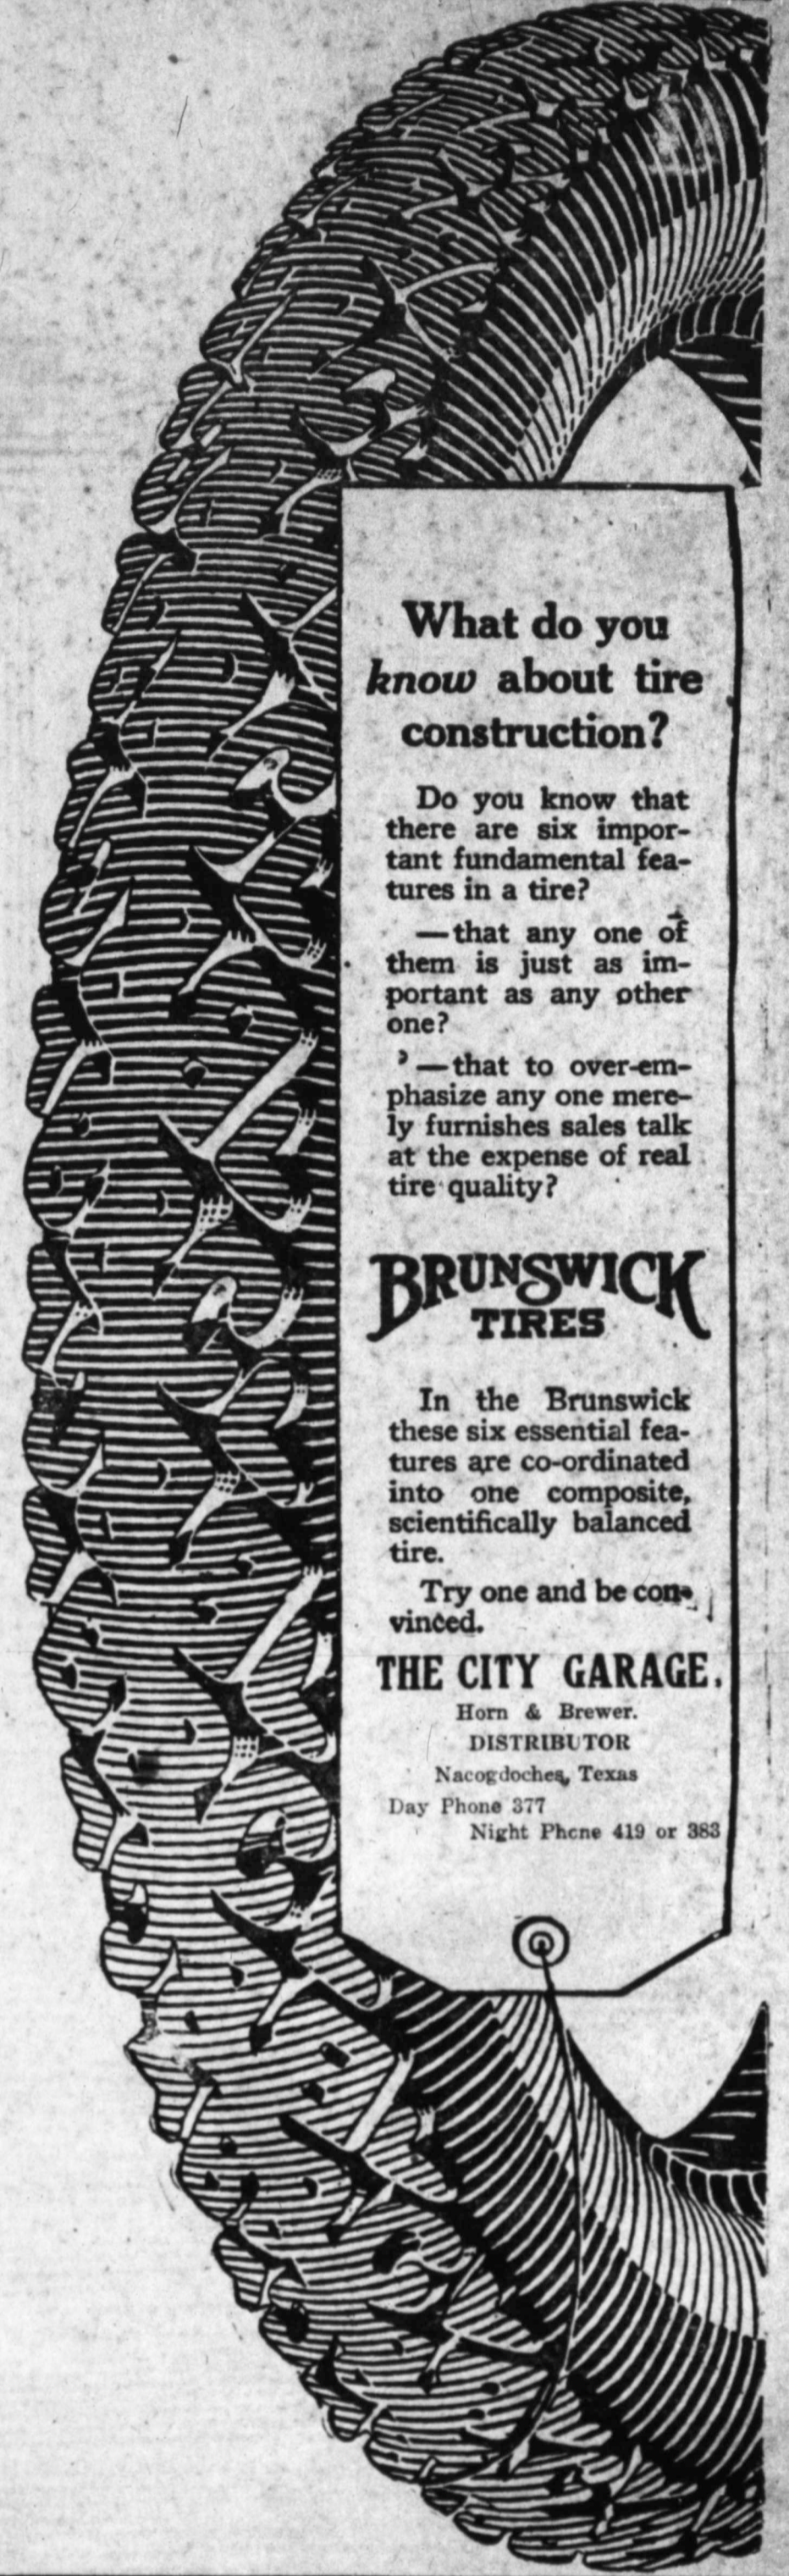

Following the termination of the Franco-Prussian war the call of adventure led him to Australia where he declared that fighting bushmen in company with British soldiers was much like "hunting down Indians and sneaking Kansans in the United States." A native uprising in New Zealand next received his attention, and early in 1879 he was in South Africa, still in the British uniform and under command of Governor Johnsoford. During this campaign he was promoted to the rank of captain, but after King Cartmago surrendered he left the English service and went to South America.

The climate of South America did not suit the rover, so in 1880 he returned to the United States and quietly settled down in Texas. The rifle and saber laid aside until the appeal for men in the world war came. Then the grizzled old warrior made a formal surrender to his life long enemy, the federal officer, in hopes that he would be allowed to enter the ranks once more. His writ of surrender showed that he had been wounded three times in the civil war, and the recruiting officers quenched his hopes by saying: "Too old."

So after fighting around the world William Wyeth James died in a hospital bed between clean sheets, while a gentle white-clad nurse eased his departure for "the greatest adventure in life."

VICTIM OF LIGHTNING

Greenfield, Ind., July 1.—A horse belonging to Jasper Kemper, a farmer living near Greenfield, was killed by lightning in the afternoon; four hours later electricity felled a cow he was milking, and at midnight lightning struck the farmhouse.

The table was laden with that generous and delicious menu made possible only on such well-kept farms as the Maroney's. Mrs. Maroney was assisted by her charming daughter, Miss Georgia, a graduate of the Nacogdoches High School.

During the pleasant social hour, following the dinner, it developed that Mrs. Maroney had once been a pupil of Sam Stripling's. This was in the days when Mr. Stripling followed the fortunes of an itinerant pedagogue.

After walking over Mr. Maroney's cotton field to inspect the splendid prospects, the party returned to the house, where ice-cold melons were served. It is needless to say the melons were grown on the Maroney farm.

On the return trip to the city, each man in the party declared it had been one of the most enjoyable occasions of the season.

The Maroney home is equipped with all the modern conveniences that go to make a complete home.

Fewer Pensioners On Confederate Rolls

Austin, Texas, June 30.—A decrease of 814 pensioners from the list of Confederate veterans drawing quarterly allotments from the Texas pension fund was shown for June, 1920, as compared with the same month a year ago in the monthly statement of M. L. Wigington, state comptroller. There are now 15,786 pensioners on the rolls, each of whom averages $23 per quarter. The allotment for the present quarter will be $24, the statement said.

The comptroller said the balance on hand in the state treasury to the credit of the Confederate pension fund at the beginning of the fiscal year ending August 31, 1919, was $505,071. Receipts during the current year were $1,365,799 and disbursements $1,484,918. At the close of the last quarter, on May 31, 1920, there was a balance of $753,043 with warrants outstanding to the amount of $362,664.

The increase in the current quarters' allotment of one dollar was granted "so that those who enjoy this meager benefit may receive every dollar available," the statement said. Continuing, the comptroller says the pension fund is equally distributed between all beneficiaries and can be drawn upon only for payment of quarterly pension warrants and mortuary warrants issued after the death of a pensioner. Not a dollar of the fund, he declares, is expended for clerical hire, postage or other expense.

THE HEALTH CRUSADE

Austin, Texas, July 1.—President Wilson has written a letter to the 5,000,000 Modern Health Crusaders, including 419,000 who have enrolled in the movement in Texas, The Texas Public Health Association announces.

"To the 35,000 young Health Crusaders of the District of Columbia and to the six million Health Crusaders of the United States," wrote the president, "It is deeply gratifying to me, as it must be to every patriotic citizen, to know that the children of the country are striving so earnestly to co-operate in building up the health of the nation. It is my earnest hope that every boy and girl will continue the good work until the twenty million school children of the United States are united in the one great cause of better health for the children."

In their national conference in June, the National Congress of Mothers and Parent-Teacher Association at Madison, Wisconsin, endorsed the Modern Health Crusade and urged their state and local affiliated organizations to make the Crusade a part of their program.

In Texas, the Modern Health Crusade is directed by the Texas Public Health Association, through the State Crusade Executive. During 1919 over 419,000 school children of the Lone Star State took part in the tournaments of "health chivalry."

HOUSEHOLD GOODS

Louisville, Ky., July 1.—Liquor is household goods, according to the view, taken by Elwood Hamilton, collector of internal revenue for Kentucky. He has ruled that if a household is in bona fide possession of whiskey or other intoxicants—"If he has kept it in his own home for his own use and for the use of his guests—he may take it with him when he changes his residence, no matter where he makes his home."

He must, however, said the collector, secure a removal permit from James H. Combs, federal prohibition director for Kentucky.

OLDEST GRADUATE

Evansville, Ind., July 1.—Although she matriculated in 1859, Mrs. Julia Rider, aged 74, of Fairfield, Ill., has just graduated from St. Vincents Academy at St. Vincents, Ky., a few miles south of here. Mrs. Rider received her diploma in 1881, but due to the outbreak of the war between the states, she was unable to attend the commencement exercises. She neglected her diploma until this year. She will have the distinction of being the oldest graduate of the institution.

Crop Estimate of 11,400,000 Bales

Washington, July 2.—A cotton crop of 11,400,000 bales, or larger than last year, was predicted today by the Agricultural Department as the result of improvement in the condition of the crop since May 25, when it was the worst on record.

What Will You Be When You Are 65?

You will be ahead or behind the game. That is certain. But it all depends on what you do now.

Of the average 100 people, just 1 is wealthy at 65; only 3 are well-to-do; merely 6 are living on their income; 54 are living on friends and charity; 36 die before reaching their 65th birthday. It is easy to tell who had a bank account.

The odds are stacked against you 87 to 1 if you don't save a little every pay day.

WHAT OUTSIDERS THINK OF NACOGDOCHES LIVESTOCK

That Nacogdoches county made a great advance in progressive action when it had organized in its confines, a livestock association is a conceded fact. Nacogdoches county is eminently well situated for the greatest livestock raising county in all Texas. Every farmer in the county should take an active interest in the livestock association of this county. The following letter to Secretary H. L. McKnight of the Nacogdoches Chamber of Commerce is self-explanatory:

"Dear Sir—I wish you would let me know the exact date of the purebred livestock sale which is to be held in your county in October as was described Sunday, June 27th, in the Fort Worth Star-Telegram. What journal is your official organ with the 1000 Nacogdoches subscribers?"

"I have land in Rusk County. I want to develop it soon, and I hope to be present at the livestock sale mentioned in the paper, and secure some of the stock to place on the farm. What is the membership fee to your organization? Write me as soon as possible and give me all information."

The writer of the above letter is Dr. W. D. Kinney, of Davenport, Iowa. If an Iowa man can take such interest in the Nacogdoches County Livestock Association, why should Nacogdoches county people not take a greater interest?"

Mrs. L. H. Bain of Sour Lake arrived in the city Sunday for a visit with her sister, Mrs. Randolph Cox. Stores remained open.

INDIANS NOT DECREASING.

Fort Worth, Texas, July 5.—The Indian race is no longer a dying people, but on the contrary is rapidly becoming the most prosperous in the United States, Cato Sells, federal commissioner of Indian affairs, declared in an address here. At present there are about 350,000 Indians in the United States, he said, whereas a few years ago it was predicted that the Indian race would become extinct.

Commissioner Sells, speaking of the growth and progress of the American Indian, said that under close government supervision the time had arrived where there is no chance for a white man to rob the red man, as in the past. During the past year twelve million barrels of oil was produced on Indian holdings, he said, netting the owners approximately $11,000,000.

During the world war more than ten thousand American red men served in the army, according to Mr. Sells. Of these, 85 percent were volunteers. The Indians invested in Liberty Bonds to the sum of $25,000,000, he said, adding: "Incidentally they are not complaining because bonds are below par."

Foreign capital invested in Germany since the peace treaty was signed is estimated at 50,000,000 marks, of which nearly one-half is American.

Monday was a quiet day on the Nacogdoches streets. Most of the stores were closed and the clerks were at their homes resting. Drug stores remained open.

HOME FOR DEMENTED AND AFFLICTED CHILDREN

Austin, Texas, July 3.—Actual construction of the Home for the Neglected and Dependent Children, to be located at Waco, will begin early in the fall, according to Acting Governor W. A. Johnson. The legislature in its recent special session appropriated $100,000 for the establishment of the institution.

Governor Johnson said that two fire-proof cottages will be constructed at a cost of $37,500 each. The site will cost $9,000 and the remainder of the appropriation will be used for up-to-date equipment.

WILL LOCATE IN DALLAS

Dallas, Texas, July 3.—Dallas has been selected for the consolidated offices of the Federal Board of Vocational Education; the United States War Risk Insurance Bureau, and the United States Public Health Service for the Fourteenth district, according to an announcement by the Dallas Chamber of Commerce.

Nearly four hundred people are employed in the three departments to be brought here, and officials estimate that approximately $100,000 a year in various transportation costs will be saved by placing their headquarters near the center of the district.

A Matchless Woman Is Laid to Rest

Mrs. J. J. Hayter, who died in Galveston Tuesday night, was born in Rusk county, Texas, on March 13, 1859, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Hall, pioneer settlers in East Texas.

She was married to Jeff J. Hayter on October 22, 1878, and the family moved to Nacogdoches in 1882. She is survived by two sons, S. B. and Hall Hayter, and one daughter, Mrs. Fay Blount, all of Nacogdoches; by her father who has reached the ripe age of 88 years; by two brothers, Dr. W. W. Hall of Nacogdoches and Judge R. W. Hall of Amarillo, and one sister, Mrs. Susan Buford of Henderson.

Mrs. Hayter connected herself with the Methodist church early in life and lived up to the teachings of Christianity through all the years that have passed since her profession of faith. Kindly, generous, thoughtful, she seized always the opportunities which offered for doing good. Her charities were many, but they were bestowed with that rare gentleness which brought needed relief but left no sting of humiliation. Wherever there was trouble, she might be found; wherever succor was required, her hand was outstretched; wherever sorrow befell, she brought a ray of brightness, and grieving hearts were made lighter by her tender ministrations. It is hard to do justice to a character like hers; language fails. We can only accept her example as a benison, her daily walk a benediction. The good that such women do cannot be measured in terms of years, for they surely must reach far into the great beyond.

A large concourse of sorrowing friends were present when she was laid to rest in Oak Grove cemetery late Thursday afternoon, and paid the tribute of their presence to the beloved dead.

The floral offerings were numerous and beautiful, and the mound beneath which she lies was hidden by a mass of bloom.

The services were conducted by Rev. M. C. Johnson of the Presbyterian church, her own pastor being too ill to officiate.

May an eternity of joy be hers.

THRASH-STRAHAN

A pretty home wedding was solemnized at 12:30 Thursday afternoon at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Thrash, when the latter's sister, Miss Sara Strahan, was united in marriage to Mr. Joe Thrash, the ceremony being said by Rev. S. D. Dollahite of the Baptist church.

The couple were attended by Mr. Link Thrash, a brother of the groom, and Miss Mary L. Thrash, a cousin. The bride and her maid carried a lovely bouquet of pink and white roses.

The rooms were tastefully decorated with cut flowers and ferns presented a most attractive appearance.

The bride's wedding dress was of white georgette with accessories to match, and her going-away gown was of blue taffeta.

Mr. and Mrs. Thrash left on the 1:40 train for Tyler, where they will make their home.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Strahan of this city and is a young woman of many admirable traits, enjoying the affection of a wide circle of friends, who wish for her a very happy journey down the wedding way.

The groom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. John B. Thrash of Nacogdoches, and is well and favorably known to our people.

The Sentinel joins in felicitations and congratulations.

YOUNGEST OLD-TIMER

Galveston, Texas, July 3.—Sergeant Edward Pitts, 16 years old, who has twenty years of service to his credit, is believed to be the army's youngest "old timer", according to recruiting officers here.

Pitts, according to their story, literally was born in the army. They account for his twenty years of service by the fact that nearly all his service has been in foreign lands, where double time is allowed. Pitts' father was killed in the Philippines and his mother died when he was only four months old, after which he became the protégé of the Second Cavalry. Pitts served overseas from August, 1917, until after the armistice.

Thursday afternoon in front of Goldberry's store in Main street a car driven by a negro crashed into one driven by Willie Bright. The negro's car seemed to get out of control, and while the collision appeared as though it might be fruitful of disaster, no one was injured and slight damage resulted.

WHEN A WOMAN IS NERVOUS—WORRIED

The lives of most women are full of worry. Men's troubles are bad enough, but women's are worse. Worry makes women sick. It pulls them down, and in their weakened condition they are subject to pains, aches, weakness, backaches, headaches and dizzy spells. Most women neglect their health, and for this they pay the penalty. Any woman will find that neglect does not pay. A little more attention to health would brighten up her life. If she asks her neighbors she finds that Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription benefits a woman's whole system. It not only acts upon the troubles and weaknesses peculiar to women, but is an all-round tonic that braces the entire body, overcoming nervousness, sleeplessness, headaches, dizziness and a run-down condition.

SAN ANTONIO, TEXAS.—"For about three years I have been in a run-down condition. I would be so weak at times I could scarcely get around. I was extremely nervous, could not sleep and I was in a miserable state when I was advised to try Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. I have not taken all of one bottle but am feeling better than I have for a long time. I am going to continue its use for I know it is helping me more than any medicine I have taken." —Mrs. H. T. KNIFFA, 913 Burleson St.

Banks Offer Reward For Daylight Robbers

Minneapolis, Minn., July 1.—To stronger enlist the help of individuals in the capture of daylight bank robbers, the Minneapolis Clearing House Association announced that rewards aggregating $5,000 would be given to any person or persons responsible for the capture and conviction of persons attempting to hold up banks in this city. The amount is exclusive of the $250 reward offered by the Minnesota Bankers' Association.

JEALOUSY LANDS BOOTLEGGERS

Dallas, Texas, July 3.—Jealousy led to the arrest of an aviator who had been successfully evading detection and bringing whiskey into Dallas in an airplane for several months, according to officers who apprehended him. Officers say that several weeks before the aviator was arrested they raided a still at a town about 150 miles from Dallas, and the owner of the still who was apprehended told them that a flier who had been coming to his still for whiskey to carry into Dallas had been courting the attention of his wife. The description given by the alleged still owner led to the flier's apprehension as he landed near Dallas recently.

LUSITANIA COMMANDER DEAD

Galveston, Texas, July 3.—Captain James Birnie Watt, who commanded the ill-fated Lusitania on her maiden voyage, died recently at Las Palmas, Canary Islands, at the age of 78, according to reports reaching shipping men here. Captain Watt, who had been in the Cunard line service for many years, had spent the winter with his two daughters in the islands.

NEFF SPEAKERS CLAIM VICTORY FOR CANDIDATE

The predominating feature of the second oratorical broadside which was put on before numerous throngs of Fourth of July picnickers throughout the State on Saturday, in behalf of the candidacy of Pat M. Neff for Governor, was the spirited defense of Mr. Neff against recent criticisms of some of his opponents. The Neff speakers asserted that the growing popularity of their candidate is an occasion for alarm to his opponents, and hence the bitter fight which is being waged against the Waco candidate in an effort to break down his support. This effort, the speakers claimed, is a futile one, and in almost every instance, they predicted an overwhelming victory for Mr. Neff.

The Nacogdoches-Douglas road is now beginning to loom up as a real highway. Gravel has been applied for a number of miles over its bed, and where the road is completed it will rank as good as any in East Texas, except, of course, shelled highways. Some have the impression that the road is almost inaccessible to travel, but this is incorrect. Only two or three miles of roughroads is encountered, the rest of the way being excellent.

The people of the United States will soon be hearing Harding's "canned" campaign speeches.

Cow Drinks Gasoline, Airplane Attached

Cincinnati, Ohio, July 1.—Missing for days after his start from Greenville, Miss., for a Cincinnati flying field, Aviator B. K. Leonard finally disclosed his whereabouts at Gordon Junction, Ind.

His airplane was approaching Corydon Junction, Leonard reported, when he noticed that his gasoline supply was running low. He landed on a field on the farm of John Hoehen and telephoned to the Junction for a supply of fuel. After the tanks were filled Leonard gave the oil man a ride. During their absence a cow belonging to Hoehen drank some of the gasoline which had been left in an open vessel.

"Bossy" did some fast traveling in a circle without being cranked and died within a few minutes. Hoehen went before the nearest justice of the peace and had issued a writ of attachment for the airplane, which was served when Leonard and his passenger landed. Hoehen placed a valuation of $85 on the cow and the machine was held while Leonard made frantic efforts in get into communication with the officials of the aircraft company. He finally succeeded, reimbursed the farmer and winged his way home.

A PECULIAR EXPERIENCE WITH THE BOLL WEEVIL

Gus Cordova, a prominent farmer of the Moral community, was in the city Wednesday, reporting everything in his locality doing fine, although he said that rain was needed for the corn. When asked what the boll weevils were doing in his locality, Mr. Cordova said they were beginning to get active.

"Are the farmers out there doing anything to prevent them?" he was asked.

"Well, yes; they are picking up fallen squares—or at least I am."

"Do you think that will do any good?"

"Yes, sir."

"Why?"

"Because, last year, when the weevils were so bad, I started out to pick up the squares that had fallen, and as I picked up hundreds of them, I would burn them. Well, one day I picked up about three gallons of them and put them in a good sack preparatory to burning them. Something diverted my attention for the moment and I forgot the squares, letting them stay in the sack for four or five days. I then suddenly remembered the squares, and upon going to the sack, opening it, I never saw such a swarm of insects in all my life. There was a perfect swarm of them that flew out of the sack. Therefore it looks reasonable to me that if the squares were all picked up and burned, these weevils would of course be destroyed. The weevil is in the square, and if you destroy the square, the weevil is likewise destroyed."

Mr. Cordova also believes in raising other products on his farm, as he had a nice quantity of very fine onions for sale while here.

AMERICA'S OLDEST

Grand Junction, Colo., June 29.—Cherokee Bill, veteran of the plains and a soldier of the war of 1812, has just celebrated his 123rd birthday at the county home here.

Cherokee Bill is the only name he knows. In the early days of the country he fought with bow and arrow with the aborigines and even used that primitive weapon, he says, when he fought the British in 1812, enlisting in the army when he was 15 years old. He was born June 6, 1797, and was twice listed in the United States census as the oldest native of America.

The aged Indian recently made a cap for himself out of the down of cat-tails and wears this proudly when he hobbles along the streets occasionally with the aid of a cane. He has owned since the civil war. He is getting feeble, though he still has a good appetite.

Mr. D. Ruff left Friday for an extended visit with his son, Will, in Houston. To round out the pleasures of the trip, and to acquire suitable ammunition for a heart-to-heart talk with Messrs. J. F. Summers and Giles Haltom when he returns home, he will spend a few days sea-fishing in the Gulf. The Sentinel hopes he will enjoy the outing.

Commencement season is over and everybody now knows what lies beyond the Alps; but after the close of the vacation season doubt will arise over other subjects, including the character of catches—placatorial and other.

Quarantined against The Bubonic Plague

Austin, Texas, June 30.—Dr. C. W. Goddard, state health officer, has sent the following bubonic plague regulation to every mayor and health officer within the quarantine area:
In accordance with the modified quarantine proclamation issued by the governor of this state, and becoming a law June 27, 1920, you are hereby officially notified that your city is considered within the prescribed area, and subject to the general rules and laws promulgated by the Texas Health Department, viz:
"A complete rat extermination campaign must be inaugurated at once in each incorporated town and city within the said prescribed quarantine area."
The prescribed area of quarantine comprises fifty miles inland from the Gulf coast and Rio Grande and Sabine border and a radius of one hundred miles around Galveston and Beaumont.

Dr. Goddard announces that Dr. H. C. Hall of Laredo, special field representative of the State Board of Health will start tomorrow and visit the towns in the quarantine area and the Public Health Service will send a competent man to Texas to aid in research work.

As Dead as the Dodo

CALOMEL

Every druggist in town—your druggist and everybody's druggist has noticed a great falling off in the sale of calomel. They all give the same reason. Dodson's Liver Tone is taking its place.

"Calomel is dangerous and people know it, while Dodson's LIVER TONE is perfectly safe and gives better results," said a prominent local druggist.

Take "Dodson's Liver Tone" Instead!

Dodson's Liver Tone is personally guaranteed by every druggist who sells it. A large bottle costs but a few cents. Add if it fails to give easy relief in every case of liver sluggishness and constipation, you have only to ask for your money back.

Dodson's Liver Tone is a pleasant-tasting, non-toxic, and perfectly safe. It is guaranteed to give relief in all cases of indigestion, heartburn, gas, and acid stomach.

Takes a spoonful at night and wakes up feeling fine; no biliousness, sick headache, acid stomach or constipated bowels. It doesn't gripe or cause inconvenience all the next day like violent calomel. Take a dose of calomel today and tomorrow you will feel weak, sick and nauseated. Don't lose 5 day's work! Take Dodson's Liver Tone instead and feel free and full of life and energy.
