15 COTTON WAREHOUSES IN LIVERPOOL FIRED

Liverpool, Nov. 29.—Fifteen warehouses in Liverpool and Bootle, a suburb, principal cotton warehouse section in Liverpool, were set on fire Saturday night. Two of the cotton warehouses in Liverpool were burned. Cans of gasoline were found about the premises, it was stated in police quarters. There was strong evidence that the fires were the work of Sinn Feiners.

Shooting occurred after the outbreak of the flames. Constables on the scene were fired upon, and bullets passed through the clothing of some of them. A civilian was shot dead.

Five men were arrested in connection with the incendiary outbreak.

An alarming outbreak of Sinn Fein violence occurred Saturday night shortly before 9 o'clock. Fires broke out simultaneously in the south and north end of Liverpool and also in Bootle.

Last year's state valuations were $3,012,819,287. The comptroller estimated the state would have a balance of $4,420,758 in the treasury unexpended at the end of the fiscal year. He thinks the tax rate of 22 cents the state board fixed is high enough to yield this surplus.

Instead of attending political rallies, Munoz went to the ball games; and election day took Lake Ruth, the home run link to the polling place to help get votes. Ruth, unable to speak Spanish, made signs to the voters, who deserted their candidates and put Munoz over.

The day before the election Munoz wrote a two-column account of the first game in which Ruth appeared. Everybody read it, and under the name of the 250-pound editor-candidate appeared this:

Chicago, Nov. 27.—This year's potato crop is the largest on record, according to W. H. Hall, Chicago representative of the local bureau of markets and gardens.

The same is true of cabbage, onions and apples, Mr. Hall said. "Being predictions on the old law of supply and demand it would be reasonable to suppose," he said, "that prices this year would be substantially lower than a year ago when there was a short crop in each of these commodities."

The fine potato crop was due to growing conditions being unusually good and killing frost unusually late, the department of agriculture official said. "There is nothing to interfere with the crop now, as all potatoes are in bins," he added.

PRESIDENT WILSON'S PLANS

Washington, Nov. 29.—The president will devote his time to writing after he leaves the White House on March 4, it became known today with a degree of finality. He will make his home in Washington.

THE NORMAL SITUATION
I am glad to see that the normal situation is being restored in the state. The legislature has passed a bill providing for the repeal of the law providing for the above mentioned normals. This bill was amended by Tillotson and finally passed providing for the postponing of each one, to be completed by September 1922, and one to be completed by September 1, 1924, and further providing that the board of normal regents should decide which of the two should be erected first.

Early in the regular session of the 36th legislature, 1919, a second bill was introduced by Richards, Veach and others providing for the repeal of the above mentioned law as amended. A hard fight ensued but the friends of the normals finally prevailed in killing this bill in the house.

The situation now is that we have

GARRISON SCHOOL GET THREE THOUSAND AID

It will be cause for universal rejoicing to the people of this community to learn that Garrison Independent School District is to get three thousand dollars state aid.

The inspector was here recently examining the work and needs of the school. Following this up Captain Walthall and Superintendent C. F. Wellborn went to Austin in person to press the matter, and after the conference, the department promised three thousand dollars state aid, which comes like manna from heaven at this time while our district was burdened with a load of indebtedness out of which it could see no way to settle except for the people to "dig" it up from their pockets.

This indebtedness, as those informed in the matter understand, is for furniture and equipment. At the time the fire caught us, the old furniture had not been paid for. Neither had the extra money put in the building been paid for. Added to this we have the indebtedness for the new building and new furniture and equipment, and all together it was indeed a load and a problem which has caused the trustees much worry. With this help, which is not sufficient to entirely relieve us, but removes the bulk of it, we can now foresee the day when the whole load will be lifted and we can enjoy all the benefits of a progressive school on a self-sustaining basis.

The state has indeed, been good to us, and now if we will continue to do our part, we can have an institution which will be on a self-sustaining basis, and of which we will be proud to be made. (Garrison News).

LEVIN LEAVES SCORE

The football editor of the News wrote the item regarding the football game between the high school team of Irion and Nacogdoches, played at Nacogdoches last year ago, regarding the fact that he had a copy of that newspaper at his home. He says that he had a copy of that newspaper at his home. He says that he had a copy of that newspaper at his home. He says that he had a copy of that newspaper at his home.

There was another excursion to Nacogdoches next Thanksgiving Day, where another football game will be played between the Lufkin high school team and the team of that place. If the students of the Nacogdoches high school will graduate before they get so big and the Lufkin students will take a little longer in finishing school there will be a different story to tell next year. (Lufkin News, 26th).

GARRISON ITEMS

From the News: R. L. Commander of Nacogdoches visited last Friday. C. Shipp came up Saturday evening from Nacogdoches and spent the night with his family. Mrs. J. D. Garrison of Nacogdoches was in the city last Friday, she had just come for an "outing" with Mr. Walthall.

NACOGDOCHES TRADITIONS

Among the adventurers who came to Texas when this was a wild and attractive land, there were physicians who figured as leaders, or had unusual traits of character, or careers.

One of these notables was Dr. R. A. Irion, whose name will ever be remembered from the fact that the picturesque high hill in the western part of the town is called Irion Hill. His was the first residence up there, and in 1820 it was the only one. The ground belonging to this homestead included acres of dense woods and tall timber. There were vales, ravines, trails and brambles, with rippling streams of pure spring water running through the wilds. Wild deer and turkey, wolves and foxes were abundant.

Dr. Irion came from Mississippi a young man qualified for his profession. He had a calamitous experience in his voyage, getting separated from his family by accidental events, and his wife dying.

At Nacogdoches he became well acquainted with General Sam Houston who recognized his ability and made him secretary of state when Houston was president of the Republic of Texas. He raised a family at this home and died there after a useful life in his profession. James R. Irion of Dallas is the youngest one of his children. Mrs. L. S. Taylor and Mrs. Hart were his daughters.

Dr. James Long and his bunch of adventurers from Natchez, Miss., came first to Nacogdoches about the year 1820, and did not settle here. He brought the first printing outfit to Nacogdoches, intending to operate a newspaper. He died without accomplishing this and other purposes, leaving his faithful and heroic wife alone on Galveston Island awaiting his return. She had a cannon which she fired to frighten away dangerous Indians.

Another physician who located in Nacogdoches about the year 1850 was Dr. R. H. Marsteller. He came from the North, but when the South seceded he stood for the Confederacy, as did all the many men of ability from the North. Dr. Marsteller attended to a respectable rating as a physician. But when the war was over he was poor, and he had poor and no money. In a little house on the east side of the Catholic church lot, attended by a negro woman named Liba he lived out his days.

Dr. R. H. Marsteller was a native of New York. He was a member of the Medical Society of New York. He was a member of the Medical Society of New York. He was a member of the Medical Society of New York. He was a member of the Medical Society of New York.

The most notable physician of those early days, 1808 to 1888, was Dr. H. Hollis. Surgery was his forte, and he was one of the foremost and best qualified. He came from San Augustine. He was a graduate of a Philadelphia medical college, and he had served as surgeon in Walker's Division in the Confederate army and also in the army under General Dick Taylor. In these duties he had done a vast lot of surgery. His fame spread high at Nacogdoches and beyond. He was a failure in his financial career, and he had other shortcomings, one being his combative temperament. He would fight. He moved out west, but came back, a broken down man—in health and in general—and he died here. His family made their home about Abilene after his death. Dr. L. W. Hollis, his son, is a leading physician at Abilene.

Dr. Robert Leak of Melrose served in the Mexican war, and had lived at Douglass and at Woodville. Three of his sons made doctors. All three are dead. Dr. D. Thom. Taylor of Chireno is well worthy of mention. After many years at Chireno he moved to Hot Springs, Ark., where he died. His son, D. Guy W. Taylor, is now a leading physician at El Reno, Okla.

Dr. T. Jeff Johnson, the Prince of Melrose, was a notable in his days. He came from Virginia and never failed to say so. He was a full-blooded F.F.V. It is said, however, that booze ran him to Texas, and then overtook him here, as it did also other M. D.'s. That was more common then than now and less discreditable. Dr. Johnson was a pompous, scholarly man, in his talk and in his walk, also. When he reached Nacogdoches he was quite bare as rare. He borrowed a horse and rode up to Nacogdoches, where he sensibly sought out Dr. J. H. Starr, a retired physician, who was too wealthy to fool with practicing medicine where land was scarce.

Soon after this, the famous John Durst, of Durst Ferry, sent to town, sixteen miles, requesting Dr. Starr to send him the best doctor available. Dr. Starr sent Dr. Johnson, who was onto his job. Dr. Johnson stayed a day or two and then proposed to go back to Melrose, thirty-six miles. Durst put up a sturdy opposition to Dr. Johnson's argument that he just had to go. Durst quitted the dispute by saying "stay at any price. Take my fine saddle horse as a starter, and as much spondulicks as you want." When Dr. Johnson got home he was in fine fettle, drunk, dressed up, mounted and equipped. He found and founded the town and gave it the political name after Walter Scott's Melrose Abbey, appropriate because of the romantic hills and dells and dense lonesome forests there and thereabouts.

Space limits this serial. There are two or more good old M. D.'s left out for the next round-up. They are not Mavericks, but big-branded cattle. Guess who!

REVIVING OLD MINE

Mrs. R. H. Latimer and E. G. Douglass have leased the lignite mine of the Garrison Coal & Oil Co., which was shut down a few weeks ago, and are busy getting everything in readiness to revive the production of coal. They hope to be able to start production in the next few days.

Just at the present time there is a great demand for fuel, and all other kinds of fuel, and it is encouraging to note that all the Garrison mines are getting in shape for all the production possible, which will doubtless be a profitable enterprise for the promoters and bring much new money into the vicinity at a time when it is needed.—Garrison News.

NACOGDOCHES OIL NEWS

Oil activity is held in check just now on account of the inclement weather conditions prevailing here. The muddy roads forbid transportation, and the oilmen are forced to wait.

Elmer Summers of Nacogdoches has written a neat little book for the protection, instruction and interest of the person wishing to investigate and invest in the Nacogdoches fields. The local oilmen here value the book very much, and say that it gives a correct description of the fields.

PASSING OF SUB-TREASURIES

New York, Nov. 25.—Pursuant to an act of congress, which provides for abolition of the various sub-treasuries throughout the country, the United States sub-treasury in this city will cease to exist at the end of the year and its functions and powers will be added to those already delegated to the local federal reserve bank.

Many of the employees of the sub-treasury, now numbering less than 100, will be taken over by the Federal Reserve Bank, which will occupy the treasury building until its new home in this city is completed and other employees may go to the customs service.

The local sub-treasury, for generations an integral part of the financial history of the government, occupies a commanding position in the heart of the financial district, and is on the site of the seat of the Federal Congress where George Washington took the oath of office as president of the United States.

Its Grecian facade and broad approach have been the scenes of some of the most important and interesting events in the annals of this city and country. From its steps, standing in the shadow of the bronze statue of the Father of his Country, have spoken some of the most distinguished statesmen of this and foreign lands.

Many political demonstrations of deep significance have taken place there, including those held during the Blaine and Cleveland campaigns and Theodore Roosevelt made his first open-air speech from its steps when he ran for governor of New York.

During the world war the sub-treasury building was the scene of numerous liberty bond rallies and other similar gatherings. Only recently its steps were thronged while speakers representing various patriotic organizations voiced their protest against the mysterious explosion of September 16, which occurred within 50 feet of the Washington statue and caused serious damage to the assay office building next door.

In its many years of service the sub-treasury has been the repository of well nigh countless billions of dollars in gold and silver and paper money and its chiefs have included some of the most notable figures among the financiers of the city.

Martin Vogel, now assistant treasurer, will return to the practice of law as soon as he is relieved of his duties. This will not be possible, however, until an official count has been taken of the vast sums of money still deposited in the underground vaults of the building.

CORPORATION EXPERTS

Austin, Texas, Nov. 25.—Corporation experts are being developed in the University of Texas by means of a novel class in the department of business administration. The class has organized into an imaginary corporation and each student has supposedly invested $10,000 in corporation stocks.

The class is required to write to the corporation in which they were supposed to have invested for a bulletin and circulars in order to keep up with the business. The market is down at present, according to the investors, and the class is much concerned over the possible loss of their money.

At the end of each term each student is required to make a full report on the promotion of their company, a statement of the present status of the company, and a graph showing fluctuations in the market.

DUTCH MARRIAGES

The Hague, Nov. 25.—The cost of getting married in The Hague all depends upon the day of the week. For some reason that has never been explained Monday is society day and marriages on that day at the City Hall, where every couple must go for the official ceremony, cost 60 guilders (nominally equivalent to 40 cents each). On Saturday the charge is five guilders, or nothing at all, depending upon whether the couple wish a separate ceremony all for themselves or to be married in groups of twenty couples at a time.

At these group marriages, the officiating clerk reels off in five minutes the marriage formula, all the couples listening in, chorusing "yes" at the proper time, and then all file in and sign the book. Then they are married.

BAREFOOTED MILLIONAIRES

Berne, Switzerland, Nov. 25.—Barefooted millionaires are reported prevalent in the Crimea, according to a letter from a Swiss woman quoting prices in depreciated Russian rubles. The income of peasants is great because the land there is productive and a pound of wheat sells, roughly, at 1,000 rubles ($770). On the expense side of the ledger, shoes cost 50,000 rubles ($38,500), a suit of clothes 200,000 rubles ($154,000). Farm laborers get 10,000 rubles ($7,700) a day.

The figures are based upon the depreciated Russian money as compared with what it would be worth in American money if the Russian ruble was at par. At present the Russian ruble is worth but a small fraction of a cent in American money.

FINDS TREASURE IN TRUNK

Philadelphia, Nov. 29.—An old trunk for which she paid $1 to a junk dealer in Scranton, Pa., before she moved from that city recently has added $95 in gold to the capital of Mrs. Alfred Bitterlin, of Collingdale, Pa.

Believing the trunk had outlived its usefulness, Mrs. Bitterlin started to burn it. A jingle attracted her attention, the fire was extinguished and Mrs. Bitterlin extracted the gold pieces from the lining of the trunk.

Burk Summers, Homer Lyles, Eldridge and Edwin Gaston, Cason and Tucker Mast arrived in the city last night from College Station, where they are attending A. & M., for a few hours stay with relatives. They report the college doing fine, and are in love with the life.

COMING OIL FIELD. It will be of interest to the Nacogdoches people to learn, despite the derision and criticism the oil development has received from some sources, that the entire first floor of the Redland Hotel, the largest hotel of this city, is occupied by oilmen. And the influx of oil men continues unabated, all of them intent upon getting some of the acreage in the county on which the oil fields of this county are offering the most attractive bargains in oil returns of any field in Texas. This is a big statement, one to be contested perhaps, but when it is borne in mind that the fields of this county are a "sure-shot," no dry holes being drilled here, then one can agree that the fields are attractive. The Nacogdoches county oil fields are a permanent business proposition.

ENGINEERS' BANK. Cleveland, Ohio, Nov. 25.—The Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers Co-operative National Bank, which opened here recently, closed its first week's business with 700 savings and checking accounts and deposits of more than $200,000, according to Warren S. Stone, president of the bank and grand chief of the brotherhood. "So far as I know," said Mr. Stone, "this is the first co-operative commercial bank in the United States, although there are 55,000 co-operative banks in Europe. It is the first labor bank in this country. Capital or the new organization is $1,000,000, with a surplus of $100,000. The stock is owned exclusively by the brotherhood and was largely over-subscribed. The officers and directors of the bank are the officers of the brotherhood.

COUNTY BANKERS MEET. DISCUSS COTTON SITUATION

The Board of Directors of the Nacogdoches County Farm Bureau held a very interesting and important session in their offices in Nacogdoches Tuesday afternoon at which time the matter of cotton acreage reduction in Nacogdoches county for next year was under discussion.

The meeting was attended by the principal bankers and leading business men of the county who came in response to an invitation from the Farm Bureau directors.

After a full, or rather lengthy discussion of the general business situation with special reference to the probable price of cotton next year, the Board of Directors of the Farm Bureau passed resolutions endorsing the 33 1-3 percent reduction of the 1921 cotton acreage, and will undertake to secure signed pledges from the farmers of Nacogdoches county to that effect.

The bankers and business men present gave the Farm Bureau directors assurances of their active support in the movement. A meeting of the Board of Directors will be held in the Chamber of Commerce rooms Saturday morning at 10:30 for the purpose of working out the details of a campaign to cover the county, in which every farmer, landlord or tenant, will be asked to sign a pledge, under oath, that he will reduce his acreage in cotton not less than 33 1-3 percent.

Those attending the meeting were: Mr. H. T. Pittman, Cushing; G. L. Davidson, Appleby; J. A. Yancey, A. G. Eden, F. B. Sublett, T. E. Baker, I. L. Sturdevant, Bradley King, Douglass; Ernest Matthews, Melrose; Abner Carraker, Cushing; Jim Dorsey, Cushing; T. J. Lloyd, M. V. Fall, Chireno; Eugene Blount, W. U. Perkins, W. B. McKnight, H. V. Fall, Chireno; J. T. Anderson, Douglass; Chas. Hoysa, T. J. Curl, Chireno; J. N. Thomas, Chas. Trawick, Nat; S. B. Hayter, Sam Stripling, Richard Fuller (col.), C. H. Deabler, Lee Gaston, T. J. Maroney, H. L. McKnight, B. F. Moore, Chireno; C. D. Stegall, W. S. Davis, E. H. Croft, R. F. Johnson, Harmony; A. C. Parker, D. K. Cason,

TERRACE MARONEY FARM

County Agent McKnight has arranged with C. L. Beason of Owensboro, Ky., to come to Nacogdoches on December 9 to begin terracing the T. J. Maroney farm 3 miles east of town.

Mr. Maroney's farm has been designated as a community project in terracing. Mr. Beason will spend four or five days on this farm, personally supervising the work of running the lines and also of throwing up the terraces.

A general invitation is extended to farmers from over the county to spend one or more days on this farm to learn something of the value of terracing.

ORGANIZE TO DEVELOP SIMMONS RANCH LAND

A project is on foot, fathered by residents on the ground, to organize the owners of tracts of land in the old Simmons ranch holdings in Liveoak county, for the purpose of testing for oil and gas, which are found in paying quantities on adjacent territory. The plan is for every holder of a tract of the old Simmons land to take stock to the amount of $25 in order to raise the amount necessary for exploiting this property for oil and gas. No money is to be paid until the company is legally organized and arrangements made to begin drilling operations. Every holder of stock will have a voice in the management, and no person will have more than one vote, regardless of the number of shares he may own. When sub-divisions of the 63,000-acre Simmons ranch were made several years ago, a number of Nacogdoches county people purchased tracts of the land, and these are requested to communicate with the Siccons Co-Operative Oil & Gas Company, at Simmons, Texas, and give notice of their decision in regard to taking the suggested $25 stock for each tract held. This proposition appears reasonable. It may result in the opening up of a big oil field. Inclose stamps for reply to your letter. 2-3wp

Wilburn and Paschal Martin or Martinsville were in the city Tuesday on business.

THE BEST OPPORTUNITY FOR YOUNG PEOPLE TODAY

What's the matter, young man, young woman? Why are you letting opportunity slip through your fingers? What are your plans for the coming year. Do you intend to qualify for a greater success? A small investment now, accompanied by earnest endeavor and a few months solid study in our school will mean qualification, a position, promotion, increased bank account and greater satisfaction all along the line of your future life. Why hesitate? Don't you know that the business offices are calling for young men and women as stenographers, bookkeepers, telegraph operators and secretaries? How much longer will you stand aside and make excuses? You can succeed. Other people—those who are succeeding—nature did not give them a single extra bone or one more nerve, muscle or brain cell than you possess. Their success was not birthright. It came out of efforts—out of action. They used their gifts—as you should. They gained a training in our college that developed and broadened and increased their talents—as you should. They took aim at success and fired away until they hit it.

Look around you! Wherever your eye turns, you will see some man who had no better start than you—with no better general education, or "school-learning" than you, but who was wise enough to enter our college for a business education, and who is today going ahead and leaving in the rear those who thought special business training unnecessary. It is as necessary as a medical school for a doctor or a law school for a lawyer.

You should not think of success as a present, which Santa Claus will bring to you and put in your stockings while you sleep. Success is achieved by well directed efforts.

You have made excuses and halted long enough. Your duty to yourself is to come to a decision NOW. Your best interests dictate a decision favoring your entering our college NOW.

The object of this appeal is to set you to thinking of your future. If we have done this, we shall feel that you owe it to yourself to investigate what America's largest business university can do for you. Four thousand and have already entered this year.

When shall we expect you? Our classes will continue through the holiday season. Write or wire for reservations, or ask for our catalogue. Tyler Commercial College, Tyler, Texas.

TERRACING DEMONSTRATIONS

On Monday, November 22, as per schedule announced, a demonstration in farm terracing with the Martin Ditcher and Grader was given at the C. B. Patton farm, near Melrose.

The demonstration was under the joint management of C. L. Beason, terracing expert of Owensboro, Ky., and County Agent H. L. McKnight. Mr. Beason is recognized as an authority in his line, he was for several years connected with County Agent and Extension work in Texas, where he specialized in building terraces with the Martin Ditcher.

The demonstration at the Patton farm was attended by the following: C. B. Patton, Dr. S. H. Robinson, J. N. Grimes, J. B. Wood, J. A. Miller, J. E. Grimes, H. L. Thomason, Clarence Cates, W. R. Stripling, E. W. Matthews, J. W. Lee, A. P. Thompson, Robert Axley, H. G. Hainmond, W. H. Haltom, Robert Thompson, E. N. Seale, W. R. Mast, H. B. Lee, J. N. Hensarling, Lee Hensarling, Jerry Garrett, Jack Garrett, Will Douglass, Chas. Handy, Eph Harton, Misses Nannie Patton, Doris Price, Ida Lee, Annie Mast, Mrs. H. L. Thompson and Mrs. J. W. Mast.

At the suggestion of County Agent McKnight, two men were selected by the community to learn how to run a farm level and how to operate the ditcher so that they could do the terracing needed in that section of the county. E. W. Matthews and Will Haltom were named as the two men to learn the business. They readily consented and begun at one to run the lines under the personal direction of Mr. Beason. After running the first line under Mr. Beason's direction, Messrs. Matthews and Haltom took charge of the instrument and run the second line while Mr. Beason directed the machine in throwing up the first terrace. When he had demonstrated the proper use of the machine, he then checked up the line run by Messrs. Matthews and Haltom, and found it substantially correct.

The following day a similar demonstration was given at the Tucker farm two miles west of Chireno. This farm is now owned by Rich Granberry. Present at the demonstration were: John Stewart, Jim Stewart, Frank Stewart, George Daniels, Bert Roberts, Jim Pleasants, Link Moss, R. T. Little, Robert Perry, Baily Moore, George Williams, A. D. Blankenship, Robert Mettauer, Jr., Noel Holt, Clarence Perry, Rich Granberry, Everett Moore, Bronson Smith, J. D. Little, A. E. Parker, Mr. Harrell, J. T. Partin, J. O. Perry, Hulien Brown, col.

Those present selected John Stewart of Attoyac and Eugene Baker to learn to operate the level and the ditcher under Beason's directions. Messrs. Baker and Stewart proved adepts at the business, and with slight practice, will be able to terrace any field in the country.

On Wednesday another demonstration was given on the George Hagan farm near Mahl. This demonstration was attended by C. A. Blair, W. H. Hartgraves, Sam Stanley, C. C. Gross, E. Hogan, Sr., E. Hogan Jr., George Hogan, J. Fogel, O. D. Ammons, L. W. Simpson, R. L. Baker, C. A. Coates, John W. Petty, John McCuistian, Mrs. George Hogan, C. B. Watkins, Hegan Parmley, I. B. Parmley, Tom Blackshear, D. L. Campbell, Arnold Maddox, R. L. McCormack, J. W. Millard, W. M. Frisby, Jim Terry.

In addition to the farmers present there was the entire public school of Mahl, headed by Miss Lucille Wilroy, the teacher. C. B. Watkins and J. W. McCuistian were selected to study terracing under the direction of Mr. Beason.

County Agent McKnight has arranged with Mr. Beason to return to the county about December 12 to spend three or four days terracing the Tom Maroney farm 3 miles east of town. This farm has been selected by the County Farm Bureau as a "community project," in terracing. The selection is a good one, as the location is central and the rolling nature of the fields makes an ideal object lesson in the value of correct terracing.

It is planned to have the several men who were selected in their respective communities as terracing specialists to spend some time with Beason while he is on the Maroney farm. Also, it is planned to have delegations of the best farmers from every section of the county to witness the work as it is done on this "community project" in terracing.

Our farmers are rapidly coming to know that the terrace properly laid out and properly built, is the only method that will stop the soil erosion now so detrimental to our rolling lands.

The demonstrations scheduled for Friday and Saturday were abandoned on account of the heavy rains.

NACOGDOCHES TRADITIONS

Several more of the old-time physicians who were prominent here may well be referred to. One of these was Dr. William Porter Fears. The name by which he was commonly known in his parental home was Porter, and he was so-called by his many outside friends and some named their children after him. At school he was called Bill by his schoolmates, as well as by other acquaintances. But in the Confederate army he became justly styled Captain. He was soon promoted to that rank by election of his comrades. These titles were displaced by the professional title of doctor.

Dr. Fears was born in Georgia in 1842, and came to Nacogdoches with his parents in 1860. At school in the old Nacogdoches University Bill Fears was in the highest grade. He was well advanced in the dead languages, in higher mathematics and in kindred branches. The Confederate war broke up the school and all the boys volunteered. The teacher, Captain W. L. Alexander, joined the army as a private in 1861; so did Bill Fears in 1862 in a different company. Both returned in 1865. The teacher became a lawyer and lived at Quitman, Texas, till his death in 1868. The Fears family left Nacogdoches and lived on a farm near Fitze, where Porter began the study of medicine. His preceptor was Dr. T. H. Hollis in Nacogdoches. He attended lectures in the University of Louisiana at New Orleans 1868-9-70, graduating as the chosen valedictorian of his class. He holds the oldest diploma and is the oldest living physician in the county. His career has not been adventurous or remarkably eventful, but until age held him back he was always at the head, though modest, quiet and unpretentious. He was never obtrusive, but at school, or in the army, or in the medical college or in the practice of medicine during all his younger days, his associates rated him as among the highest. He was regarded as one of the best anatomists and pathologists in his class.

At one stage of his professional life he was rated as the best doctor in the county. At the date of his graduation a fever thermometer was a novelty and did not register; it had to be read in position. Auscultation and percussion in diagnosis were new. Chloralhydrate had not been used. Laparotomy was a daring operation, almost criminal, and a wound to the hollow was considered fatal. Abdominal abscess, or peritonitis, was frequently fatal. Appendicitis had not been invented—today it is a fashionable accomplishment; even the negroes adopted it. Calomel and castor oil were sheet anchors. Dose 10 to 20 grs., 4 or 5 doses daily until the tongue cleaned off. Oil for dessert.

But those old times and doctors are back numbers. Coming on down the line we reach to Dr. W. H. Campbell's day. He is supposed to have sprung up in the same woods where Tom Campbell, B. F. Yoakum, Horace Chilton, Jim Curl, Jim Hogg and other noisy boys roamed. It was round about Larissa in the northern part of Cherokee county, Texas, where Trinity University was born an dlater moved to Tehuacans, and the boys and the school had to scatter out. The school an dthe boys all went to the bad except Dr. Campbell. He denies any relation to Tom Campbell or any subsequent association with the others. He went his own way, which led him as an M. D. to Douglass and thence to Nacogdoches. All this occurred about a quarter of a century ago, or more, when horse-back and saddle-bags were the style of physicians. Auto-cars had not mobilized, nor trained nurses. But trained patients were the rule. They were trained to have the patience to wait till the doctor was sent for, far away, not phoned for—never heard of a telephone, much less used one. And when the long-desired doctor had plodded for miles over bad so-called roads, and reached the bedside, the patient reached out a burning hand for the doctor to feel his pulse and therefrom announce the fever; the patient habitually poked his tongue out. The doctor said it was foul, and proceeded to fix up some calomel powders and bluemass pills.

Dr. Campbell was born at Talladega, Ala., in 1852, came to Larissa the same year. He brought his parents along loaded in a two-horse wagon. He read medicine under Dr. R. P. Bone, attended his first course of lectures at Tulane University, New Orleans, 1872-3. In 1874 he went to Nashville University. At this time Vanderbilt University was started and the two schools were consolidated. He was chosen valedictorian by both, received diplomas from both and was the first graduate of the Vanderbilt. His first location was at Douglass, about forty years ago. He says that after he graduated there he settled where he now lived in the year 1900, and that when he started life he owned nothing, and by hard work he has held his own. It has been his luck to be a witness to the poet's aphorism, "For men may come an men may go" and women also. He was there.

To conclude the story one more old sinner might be named as last if not least, and that is yours truly and fraternally,

J.E.M.

"LEGIONAIRE WEEK"

Austin, Texas, Dec. 1.—The announcement of "Legionnaire week," which is to be a week of much activity in American Legion circles through out Texas, was made from state headquarters through the Texas Department of the Legion's publicity office today. There are to be four "Legionnaire weeks" in December, each to follow the other, and to be in different parts of the state. During Legionnaire week members of the Legion will work for subscriptions to the Texas monthly magazine, "The Texas Legionnaire," and will receive a visit from the state vice-commander. December 1st begins Legionnaire week in East Central Texas.

Texas is one of the first to publish a magazine owned solely by, and to be the organ of the department. As Texas is the largest state in the union the Legion publicity office is endeavoring to make their magazine second to none in the United States, Legion officials say.

The first "Legionnaire Week" is to be in North Texas, and the first city to receive a visit from Vice-commander Turner E. Campe, will be Palestine. Vice-commander Campe is to devote the entire month of December to "pepping up" posts of the Legion and to putting "Legionnaire Week" across. The first cities to be visited by Vice-commander Campe during the first "Legionnaire week," are: Palestine, December 1; Jacksonville, December 2; Nacogdoches, December 3; Tyler, December 4; Paris, December 6; Clarksville, December 7.

JUST SOME ADVICE

This is some darned good advice. If you have something to sell, advertise it! The secret of business is advertise, and advertise well. The reason this article is written is because the writer has been seeing people with produce to sell come to town to sell it and return to their homes without it being sold. The cause of their failure is because they went to the people who were already overstocked. A few individuals cannot buy all the produce brought to them from the country, but it is safe to say that if the right methods were used to sell home products, not a pound of butter, nor an egg, or anything else good to eat would have to leave the city once it was brought here. If you have butter to sell, milk to sell or any other thing, run a few lines in your home paper stating that fact. Advertising in the home paper is only five cents per line, and a line usually has about five words. So one can easily see that a valuable little advertisement can be kept in the home paper telling hundreds about your produce at a reasonable figure. Advertisements run on a long-time basis are a little cheaper than those quoted above. Farmer friend, when you come to town, don't come to find a buyer, you probably won't succeed; but come to town to deliver products already sold—you can accomplish that by advertising. Try advertising some of those eggs or that butter!

NEW OFFICERS INSTALLED

Wednesday morning at the courthouse all the old officers retired and the newly elected officers took their places. The officers who are retiring have all made good records for themselves, and the county regrets to see them leave. However, a fine "crop" will take their places and everything is expected to hum with the same vigor as ever.

In the district clerk's office Ivan Prince will succeed R. B. Walthall; County Superintendent, Miss Eider Lewis succeeds G. B. Layton; county clerk J. F. Perritte succeeds I. D. Parmley; assessor Clyde Shofner succeeds B. S. Shirley; Treasurer J. F. Floyd succeeds W. Y. Hall; county Judge, county attorney and sheriff were all re-elected. Link Moss succeeds Hermann Seale as commissioner; L. N. Lyles succeeds John Bates as commissioner; and Wade Walters succeeds John Hagan as constable. F. D. Huston remains in the office of justice of the peace.

Nacogdoches extends its best wishes to the men retiring from and the men assuming these offices.

IN STEP WITH THE TIMES

The election of Miss Lela Lee Williams of Dallas as president of the State Teachers' Association of Texas was fitting recognition by the teachers of the right of women to share with men the honors that go along with public service. It was an act truly expressive with the spirit of this new era, which does not tolerate discrimination against women because of their sex.

The selection of a woman to head the organization of Texas teachers is particularly appropriate, however, because of the fact that a large majority of those engaged in the teaching profession in this state are women. Even were the equality of the sexes not an established principle in suffrage matters of today, with not less than three-fourth of the teachers of Texas women, they would be entitled to representation in the executive office of the association frequently, but strange as it may seem, the records show that only one other woman has occupied this position in all the 23 years' history of the organization.

The equal capability with men, of women teachers both in the classrooms and as executives in school systems, has so long been established as to be no longer a debatable question. That a woman is equally capable as a man to preside over the teachers' organization of the state is to be readily accepted as true.

Now that the custom of discrimination against sex has been abolished it may be taken for granted that Miss Williams will not be the last woman to lead the Texas teachers. In the future this honor will be equitably passed along to men and women leaders among the teachers, irrespective of sex.—Houston Post.

FRENCH MEMORIAL TO DEAD AMERICAN VOLUNTEERS

Paris, Nov. 25.—General Mangin is organizing the task of obtaining subscriptions for a magnificent monument to the American volunteers who fought with the French army, to be set up shortly in the Place des Etats-Unis. The monument is to be by the well known French sculptor Boucher, and will cost $100,000. No foreign subscription will be received; all donations must come from French sources.

Once a year a military ceremony will be held before the statue and after a funeral march has been played, the officer in command will read out of a golden book the names of the dead volunteers. To each name the response will be given: "Dead on the field of honor." The "Last Post" will be sounded and the French soldiers will march past the statue and present arms.

FIRST TO REBUILD

Lens, France, Nov. 25.—The Duborepere family of the little village of Heteren near here has been awarded the prize of 15,000 francs, given by Norman Davis of Washington through Madame Jusserand, wife of the French ambassador, for the family which should rebuild its destroyed house in the devastated region without the assistance of carpenters, masons and other expert building workers. The material was furnished by the Davis fund through the Succurs d'Urgence and in three months the house was finished.

The Duborepere family consists of a father, mother and 14 children, all living.

Experts say the house is worth 50,000 francs. The material cost 15,000.

LARGEST TOURING CAR

Paris, Nov. 25.—Complete with "cocktail bar," the largest touring car in the world is now in Paris, according to the Daily Mail.

It was built for a Belgian millionaire to take a party game shooting to Africa, and is now owned by a former naval officer, who is to use it for battlefield tourists.

The car seats 15 persons and at night 9 can sleep on spring beds with every comfort.

NAOGDOCHES 37—LUFKIN 0!

We hated to do it, but there was no other alternative. The game had been scheduled and Coach Hunt turned a deaf ear to the pleadings of the tender-hearted who vainly besought him to show mercy and have the game canceled. Seeing that no quarter would be given, Dochos went about in characteristic fashion to do the little task up in style.

The special train of seven coaches was packed and jammed from engine to caboose. Many automobiles went through the country. More than a thousand fans went from Nacogdoches. Upon arrival in the city of the "standpipe" the band, followed by the team, led the march from the station to the athletic field.

Promptly at 3 o'clock the coaches and captains of the rival teams met the officials in mid-field and the details of the game were arranged. Captain Muckelroy won the toss and elected to defend the north goal. Dochos received and carried the ball on a series of shift-plays, line-bucks, and end-runs for a touchdown. From the beginning it was plainly seen that Dochos was superior—her shift-play was worked with such smoothness and precision that Lufkin was helpless before its onslaught. (It might be added that this play had been kept under cover all season for the express purpose of presenting it to Lufkin.)

Lufkin at times showed flashes of real form. Three times they held our boys within the shadow of their goal posts. They specialized in an aerial attack, but this netted them little, inasmuch as they completed only one pass. The Nacogdoches backs were wide awake and either intercepted or grounded these attempts.

Every Nacogdoches boy distinguished himself. Summers saved the Dochos goal in the third quarter when a Lufkin player recovered a fumble on their thirty-yard line and with two men interfering for him started for the Dochos goal. After a sprint of sixty-five yards Summers brought him down on the five-yard line. With five yards to go and four trials in which to make it, it looked as though Lufkin might score, but their four desperate charges went to pieces against the fighting forwards of old Dochos and the goal remained uncrossed.

Sullivan, playing his fourth and last year, ended his career as a Dochos warrior in a blaze of glory. Injuries forced him from the game in the second quarter, only to return in the fourth. While in he electrified the fans by his fierce plunges. No one man could bring him down, and often three would try in vain to keep him from gaining five to twenty yards. Brown, who took Sullivan's place, is a worthy man, his whirling style of play always netting good gains.

Hagan and Smith played good ball. Eiland, the diminutive quarterback, played his position like a veteran. His selection of plays and the coolness with which he executed them marked him as one of the stars of the game.

The entire line played wonderful ball, they each deserve special mention, but space will not permit it. However, one must not overlook those who played their last game in a Dochos uniform. Frank Shofner, Captain Muckelroy and C. Langford—these three men have stood out as towers of strength, both on offensive and defensive, and have won their places in our Hall of Fame.

To all the men of the squad who are through with high school football, on account of graduation, Nacogdoches thanks you and your teammates, and congratulates you on your great victory of Thursday.

Snap-Shots on the Game

On the Lufkin gridiron Thursday, the Nacogdoches band and the Lufkin band, one occupying one part of the gridiron and the other another part, tried to out-class each other as to who could play the louder and the better. Finally the Lufkin band dwindled away and nothing was heard of it, while in the meantime the Nacogdoches band became even louder and more dominating, much to the chagrin of the Lufkinites. One individual standing in the very heart of the Lufkin fire, its yelling squad, remarked: "My! That band is a wonder; it is so musical—now I was just noticing that Lufkin is using a cowbell—But the fellow got no further.

"Shut up," roared the Lufkin mob, "that Nacogdoches music sounds like the rattle of tin cans."

"Well," drawled the Nacogdoches rooster, "not many people are blessed with an ear for good music."

Another time during the game, one of the Lufkin roosters was consoling herself with the loud, vehement shout, "Lufkin's got the spunk; Lufkin's got the spunk!"

"Well," quoted the Nacogdoches rooster, "it's a mighty fine thing that Lufkin has the spunk—she damn sure hasn't the scores!" The score was then standing about 30 to 0 in favor of Dochos.

The classiest thing about the Lufkin team that Nacogdoches was able to see was Lufkin's yell-leader. This little girl, for such she was, it is supposed (she looked like one) discovered a Nacogdoches rooster in the heart of her beloved squad. This was a condition intolerable. "Get out of this bunch," she yelled. "Get out! I'll kill you—I'm fierce!"

After the noise had subsided a bit, the little lady, still wild with anger and excitement from her frenzy, stood glaring half threateningly at the Dochos rooster, who fixed one eye on her and the other on the game (he was cross-eyed) and said, "Well, madam, you at least tell the truth! You certainly look fierce!"

One of the good women of Lufkin, good in her intentions, she was selling sandwiches for the church, thought that the word cent was a synonym for score or point.

A Nacogdoches booster buying a sandwich from her remarked, "That Nacogdoches team is a wonder; don't you think so?"

The good lady hesitated. "I don't know; but the Lufkin team is, I know. Now they have been making a fuss out there like they were winning everything; and they tell me they ain't won a cent."

The Lufkin roosters would not have anything but that the Nacogdoches team had a number of "choice" players hired to play in the game. A Nacogdoches rooster, tired of hearing this rot continually babbled, decided he would help them up a little. So right in the heart of the Lufkin yelling squad, he remarked, "You see that big fellow standing out there?" pointing to Collis Davis, "that chap is right from West Point! I think Nacogdoches is fortunate in having him to help play, don't you?"

"Yes," one of the Lufkinites roared. "I think it is d—n fortunate—and they tell me that they have players from other schools."

"Yes," replied the Nacogdoches booster, intent on helping the Lufkin player carry his point, "Nacogdoches has one fellow out there from Yale, one from State, one from A. & M., and it is whispered around that they have a fellow from Harvard out there playing!"

The Lufkinite fairly ground his teeth in rage. "Yes, that's just the way of it—how do you expect us to play the biggest college in the country? That Nacogdoches bunch is the biggest crook bunch ever recorded in the history of the world!"

Lufkin had one yell which they used at the close of the game. It was plainly a case of sour grapes. When the score stacked up to 37 to 0 in favor of Dochos, they gathered around their heroic little yell-leader, and fairly bellowed a yell, the words of which for the most part the reporter was not able to get, except the following words, indicating, as said before, purely a case of sour grapes.

"Rah, Rah, Rah, Rah, Bim Bam Slam

"H—I fire, brim fire
 "We don't give a d—m."
 Otherwise the game was fine!

THE SIGNIFICANCE OF TEXAS FARM STATISTICS

The Census Bureau reports that there are 17,896 more farms in Texas, than there were ten years ago. The total number was 417,770 in 1910 and 435,666 in 1920, an increase of 4.3 percent during the preceding decade.

For a state having the agricultural advantages that Texas has, this does not mark a very gratifying growth in our most important industry. And it becomes less so when the figures are put under inquiry. A good many farms have been abandoned since the canvass was made; a count made now would show a smaller increase in the number of farms than the Census Bureau reports. It is likely, too, that the increase in the acreage under cultivation is much smaller than the increase in the number of farms. It is entirely possible, as a result of influences which work to reduce the size of the average farm, that the acreage under cultivation is actually less now than it was ten years ago. This, if so, is a disturbing symptom in a state so much undeveloped as Texas is.

At first glance, one is apt to see in it a new and imperious argument in support of the back to the farm movement. But under steadier contemplation, that argument is likely to fade and perhaps disappear. If there has been little or no increase in the number of Texas farmers, and possibly even a decrease, nevertheless there seems to be more of them than the agricultural industry will support in the way which men who do the work of farming deserve to be supported. Whether the agricultural industry is over or undermanned is a question which can be answered authentically only by the economic condition of those engaged in it. Put to that test, the answer must be that it is overmanned, and that, accordingly, the back to the farm movement is the selfish cry of the cities concerned with their own welfare rather than with that of the farmers. We are not suffering from an under-production of farm products, but from an over-production, witnessed conclusively by glutted markets and unprofitable prices.

There will be no need of more farmers until those we have come to be much more prosperous than they now are, or they have been during the decade for which the Census Bureau reports. The really disquieting fact is, not that there has been so small an increase in the number of farms, but that it results from a diminishing prosperity for the industry of farming. This seems to indicate that the country has progressed in a way which cheats the farmer of his contribution to its increment of wealth.—Dallas News.

A TAXLESS UTOPIA

London, Nov. 25.—A party of 40 enthusiastic adventurers headed by F. F. Rhodes Disher, fellow of the Royal Geographical Society, have decided to spend the rest of their lives on a tropical island away from excessive taxation. They will leave for the South Seas next month in a schooner yacht, the Medora.

"More than 1,000 people have asked to come with us," said Mr. Disher. "Our first party includes doctors, solicitors, planters, ex-officers, surveyors, engineers, a wireless operator and a clergyman. Several of the party are taking their wives and families with them.

"Until we have secured an island or a portion of one and fitted it up temporarily we shall live in our vessel. One strict rule is that the colony will have no politics," said Mr. Disher.

A little book of verses by Fannie Louis Simpson is something new. You will find it on the book counters. It's full of pith, point and poetry. See it and read "My Enemy." It is very interesting.

BUREAU GROWING

Dallas, Texas, Nov. 29.—Tabulation in the Dallas office of the Texas Farm Bureau shows that the Texas Farm Bureau Federation is today the strongest farmers' organization in Texas in point of numbers, although membership campaigns have been conducted in only eight Texas counties. There are now practically thirteen thousand bona fide farmers who have joined the farm bureau. Preliminary work is being carried on in about 40 counties and membership drives will follow this work. About 60 other counties will be entered by the Farm Bureau early in January and it is expected that the Farm Bureau will have 100,000 members in less than a year. Practically 90 percent of all the farmers asked to join have become members. Among the prominent counties that have been organized are Bell county, 1,600 members; Williamson county, 1,600 members; Dallas, 1,000; Hill, 1,400; Nacogdoches, 1,000. Membership drives in Grayson, Ellis, and McLennan counties now being conducted indicate new county records in the number of farmers joining. The headquarters of the Texas Farm Bureau Federation are located in the Southland Life Insurance Building, Dallas, Texas, and Mr. C. O. Moser is the secretary.

Fordson TRADE MARK Farm Tractor

The Fordson cuts the cost of preparing land to almost half of what it costs with horses. But even more important is the fact that the Fordson saves from thirty to fifty percent of the farmer's time. And time saved—getting fields in shape to plant in the proper season; getting things done when they should be done—means money to the farmer. Besides it helps greatly in solving the labor problem.

As ever, the machine way is proving more efficient, faster and easier than the old hand way. In the factory, the machine increases production, saves labor—produces more at less cost. And that is what the Fordson does on the farm. The Fordson way is the machine way of farming. Besides it helps the labor problem.

The Fordson's first cost is low; and the after operating cost is low. It is a compact, easily handled tractor, backed by the greatest tractor service organization in the world.

We are Fordson dealers. Not only do we sell Fordson tractors, but we carry a stock of Fordson parts and employ Fordson mechanics to help the farmers get the best results from the Fordson. Let us demonstrate the Fordson on your farm.

REAL ESTATE MAN IS ENTHUSIASTIC

Feels Better now than in 28 Years — "Nothing Beats Tanlac," He Says — "Nothing in the world can beat Tanlac as a medicine," said A. F. Barr, of 4615 Park Blvd., San Diego, Cal. Mr. Barr is one of the best known and most highly esteemed real estate, loan and insurance men in San Diego.

"I am feeling better and stronger than I have for twenty-eight years," he said, "and I can't make my endorsement of Tanlac too strong."

"My troubles started with indigestion and gas on my stomach, then my nerves went to pieces and at times I couldn't bear people talking in my presence. Nothing I could do seemed to help me and I remained in this condition for twenty-two years. I fell off in weight to a hundred and nine pounds and got so I couldn't sleep at night; my stomach swelled up with gas after nearly every meal and I became so weak I had to give up my business almost entirely. I tried everything I knew of but didn't even get temporary relief."

"One day my doctor said, 'Why don't you try Tanlac? I believe it will help you.' I acted on his suggestion at once and before I had finished the first bottle I was astonished at the way I had improved. I kept on getting better right along until now I am a well man, after suffering more than a quarter of a century. I eat anything, my stomach and nerves are in excellent condition and I have more strength and energy than I have had for twenty-five years. My recovery is the talk of the neighbors, and if anyone doubts this tell them to write or see me."

Tanlac is sold in Nacogdoches by Stripling, Haselwood & Co., Swift Bros. & Smith and in Garrison by the Dale Drug Co.

Mexia, in Limestone county, Texas, probably had more to be thankful for on Thanksgiving Day than any other Texas town. A big gusher was brought in a day or two before Thanksgiving, and land leases took a sudden fancy jump to $1,000 per acre. Nacogdoches may be as fortunate some of these happy days.
