NATION-WIDE ROUND-UP OF DELINQUENT TAXPAYERS

Washington, July 6.—A force of 250 specially trained revenue officers today began a nation-wide campaign to "clean up" delinquent sales taxes. Every city of importance, including Dallas, Fort Worth and Houston, is included in the campaign. Special attention will be given the verification of returns of manufacturers' excise, taxes on food drinks and transportation, jewelry, admissions and insurance levies.

REPUBLICAN ECONOMY CONSIDERED A JOKE

Washington, July 5.—Senator Fletcher, democrat, of Florida, today charged the republican majority in congress and the administration with making false claims to economy. Fletcher criticized the legislative policy of what he termed "the unwieldy republican majority."

Mrs. T. J. Fitzgerald and son, Preston, of the Shady Grove community were business visitors in the city Tuesday.

VILLAGES STRIPPED OF CHILDREN BY FAMINE

Peking, July 5.—Statistics of the sale of children, wives and daughters-in-law in the South Chi-Li famine districts, prepared by the International Famine Relief Committee, indicate that between deaths and sales many villages have been completely stripped of children. Prices appear to have ranged from $1 to $150. Although the traffic was due primarily to poverty, it appears that dealers worked upon the cupidity of fathers and husbands in many cases and resorted to adroit measures to evade the law, recruiting victims for various questionable purposes.

FIRE CRACKERS CAUSE HALF MILLION FIRE

Marysville, Cal., July 4.—Fire said to have been caused by small boys shooting off fire crackers destroyed 12 city blocks east of the center of Marysville Sunday and burned four spans of a Southern Pacific trestle, blocking railroad traffic on the east side of the Sacramento Valley, probably for several days. A high wind helped spread the flames. The loss was estimated by County Assessor Thomas Bevan at a half million dollars. The fire was believed to be under control Sunday night.

DRIVER OF RACING AUTOMOBILES KILLED

North Platte, Neb., July 4.—Miss Marie Nelson of Twin Falls, Idaho, an aviatrix and driver of racing automobiles, was instantly killed here Saturday evening when an automobile in which she was taking a practice spin at the race track turned over, pinning her beneath the machine. Miss Nelson came here with a number of others to see the automobile speed events on the Fourth of July.

TO SAFEGUARD AMERICAN INTERESTS AT TAMPICO

Washington, July 5.—The cruiser Cleveland and the gunboat Sacramento have been ordered to Tampico to protect American interests there in the event they are jeopardized because of labor troubles resulting from the unemployment situation, according to navy advices. The Sacramento should reach Tampico today from Galveston. The Cleveland, ordered from Cristobal, Canal Zone, probably will not reach Tampico before Thursday. Both vessels are assigned to the American special service squadron in South and Central American waters, Rear Admiral Bryan commanding.

CONGRESS MUST PAY MEN CUT FROM ROLLS

Washington, July 1.—It is going to be expensive for the government to discharge enlisted men of the army to meet the congressional order that the army be cut to a maximum of 150,000 men. Enlisted men must be paid their three-year allowance and that is one of the obligations which President Harding referred to in his message to congress, instructions that it may be necessary for him to ask for emergency legislation so that the government may meet its obligation to the whole country.

MAN AND WIFE FOUND SHOT IN DALLAS HOTEL

Dallas, Texas, July 5.—L. B. Lancaster, 28, a shoe salesman, and his wife, Pearl, 23, were found shot in a hotel room here today. Lancaster died, and it is believed the wife will die, also. The couple had been separated for several weeks. It is asserted Lancaster had sought a reconciliation.

MASKED MEN ON TRAIL FORT WORTH CITIZEN

Fort Worth, July 6.—Ben Pinto, about 20 years old, was ordered to leave Tarrant county within 48 hours by the order of a party of masked men who last night coated him with red paint on the forehead and nose and a purple mark on an automobile on a downtown street, a local newspaper was told today. Pinto called at the police station today for a car from which he was said to have been taken last night, and drove away immediately, not making a statement, the police said. Reports at Pinto's home today were that he was "out of town."

CONCERTED MEASURES TO CHECK TURKISH INROADS

London, July 6.—London newspapers today declare that Great Britain, France and Italy may be compelled to adopt extensive concerted measures against the Turkish Nationalists, who are reported to have actually penetrated the neutral zone east of Constantinople. There is reason to fear they plan to attack Constantinople.

WELCOMING THE STORK

Detroit, Mich., July 4.—An official welcome on behalf of the city of Detroit will be extended all newborn infants after today.

The greeting will be embodied in birth registration certificates distributed by the Department of Health. The certificates are suitable for framing, and will be sent to the homes of all new arrivals whose coming is reported to the department.

The plan was devised to stimulate birth registration, which has been on the decrease here despite the custom of giving a "bonus" of 50 cents to all registrants.

DEMPSEY FINDS A BOOGER

Chicago, July 6.—Jack Dempsey charged here today that two men were caught in his corner Saturday waiting to throw towels in the ring from the champion's corner for the purpose of creating a scene of disorder. Dempsey was en route to Salt Lake City.

KU KLUX AT PALESTINE

Palestine, Texas, July 6.—The Ku Klux Klan made its first public appearance here last night when the streets were suddenly darkened and nearly a thousand white-robed persons paraded the main thoroughfare.

MOTION TO QUASH IS OVERRULED BY JUDGE

Chicago, July 5.—Judge Hugo Friend today overruled a motion to quash the general conspiracy indictment against 18 former baseball players and alleged gamblers in connection with the world's series scandal. The defense immediately moved that the state be required to elect on which of the 12 counts it would press the trial. Judge Friend finally allowed the motion of the defense for a bill of particulars, the first three counts of which are conspiracy to commit a confidence game on Charles Nims, conspiracy to obtain money on false pretenses and conspiracy to commit a confidence game.

8 KILLED, 36 HURT, IN OIL EXPLOSION

Chicago, July 5.—Eight men are dead today and 36 injured, ten seriously, and property damaged to the extent of about $2,000,000 as the result of an explosion yesterday in the Standard Oil Company's refining plant at Whiting, Ind.

SWISS LOCAL OPTION

Geneva, Switzerland, July 5.—Gustav Ador, former president of Switzerland, associated with a number of doctors and professors, has started a movement in favor of local option in the sale of alcoholic beverages, to the exclusion of wines, beer and cider.

The movement has for object to obtain the right of communes and cantons to vote upon the question separately. The sale of alcoholic drinks is a state monopoly.

PROHIBITION WATCHFULNESS

New York, July 5.—Prohibition organizations are on the watch lest the sentiment favorable to the repeal of the eighteenth amendment be exaggerated. The Anti-Saloon League yesterday stated that it employed accountants to make a careful tally of the number of persons in the "wet" towns on July 4th, and there were about 1,000 persons in line, including lamplighters and policemen.

FATALITIES OF FOURTH

Chicago, July 5.—Reports of Fourth of July accidents in various parts of the country showed today that while the celebration with fireworks and firearms took its toll of death, by far the greater number of fatalities were from drowning and automobile accidents.

District Attorney W. B. Bates and County Attorney Audley Harris were at Douglass Wednesday to represent the state in the case of R. M. Neil, charged with the shooting of Al Lloyd Sunday morning.

TEN PERSONS INJURED IN DALLAS HOTEL FIRE

Dallas, Texas, July 6.—Ten persons were injured, several seriously, in a fire which destroyed the interior of the new Regal Hotel here early this morning. Most of the injuries were caused by guests jumping from the second floor. The most seriously hurt are Miss Alice Roberts, an invalid, badly bruised, who was dropped from the second floor by her sister, Miss Eleanor Roberts, who was also badly bruised; Ray Smith of Waco, badly bruised; J. P. Desmond, severely burned; C. K. Knoggs, Waco, burned and shoulders, hands and feet injured; F. C. Chandler, proprietor of the hotel, and wife, severe burns and bruises.

ENGERS INDICTED IN KU KLUX PROBE

Dallas, Texas, July 4.—The Dallas county grand jury, filing its final report Saturday, replied to the charges made by Edward Engers, oil station proprietor, who was whipped by a band of masked men who told them they were Ku Klux Klansmen, by indicting Engers for burglary, serious threats, and twice for aggravated assaults.

Engers, shortly after he was beaten, declared he was informed members of the grand jury were klansmen and that he could not get justice from the probers. The indictments were returned, the grand jury said, on evidence developed when the probers went into the Engers case, chiefly on statements of his former wife.

PLAN TO PROSECUTE FIGHTERS AND OFFICIALS

Jersey City, N. J., July 5.—Details of plans are being worked out for the prosecution of public officials by the Reform Bureau in connection with the staging of the recent bout. The bureau already has demanded the arrest of Dempsey on a charge of assault and battery upon the person of Carpenter.

THE FOURTH IN FRANCE

Paris, July 4.—The newspapers today united in hailing July Fourth, one of them declaring "The national fête day of the United States is a French anniversary." The usual celebration exercises by Franco-Americans occurred.

THE LARGEST PIG

The pig, before it was stuffed, was 48 inches high, 84 inches long and weighed 1,001 pounds, according to its owner, S. S. Ball of Ravenswood.

ECHO FROM THE LUSITANIA

Far from the scene of the tragedy in a lonely, windswept burial ground on the Aran Islands off the north coast of Ireland echoes of the Lusitania have sprung up again with the discovery of the graves of two young women believed to be Americans who lost their lives when the ill-fated steamer was sent to the bottom. The American Red Cross has undertaken to solve the mystery of their identity and notify relatives in this country of the discovery of the young women's bodies, according to information received at divisional headquarters of the organization in St. Louis.

Only slender clues have been found indicating identity. The initials "J. C. C." were deciphered from a wrist watch worn by one of the young women, while the name "Annie Wolverman" appeared on an envelope addressed to the Lusitania was found in the other's clothing. Nothing else was discovered that would throw light on the case.

The graves were discovered during a visit of a worker connected with the London chapter of the Red Cross to Kilronan, where the bodies were washed ashore. The natives gave them decent burial. The Red Cross, with the help of a friend in New York, raised enough money to mark each grave with a headstone in the form of a pillar and cross. As far as can be learned no inquiry as to their fate had ever been made.

DEATH PENALTY

The slayer of Douglas Crow was given the death penalty by a Harris county jury yesterday. The trial had been in progress in Houston for some days and a vigorous defense was being made for Russell by his attorneys. This is the second death penalty that has been given to murderers in Houston recently. This paper is glad to see the juries of the country coming to a realization of their duties as jurors. In every case where the guilt of a criminal is established, the maximum penalty should be prescribed, instead of the minimum penalty with a suspended sentence tacked onto it. If this had been the rule for a number of years past law-abiding citizens would be afforded much more security in the pursuit of their lawful and necessary occupations and in the discharge of their duty to society and civilization.

If the juries and the courts in every instance would do their whole duty in administering speedy and adequate punishment to all classes of law breakers, irrespective of whether they are millionaires or paupers, then there would be no justification for associations of citizens to enforce rules of decency and civilization. But so long as the courts and the juries are in a manner a shield for criminals, through and by which they can escape punishment for the crimes which they commit, just so long will we have Ku Klux Klans and other combined influences for purging the country of lawlessness. If the Ku Klux can accomplish no other purpose than to bring the courts and the juries of the country to a realization that they have got to do their duties and protect society from lawlessness, then it will have accomplished more in this country than any organized effort heretofore on record.—Jacksonville Progress.

BIG DAMAGE SUIT

FILED IN SHELBY

One of the biggest civil suits filed here in many months was docketed this week by District Clerk C. A. Crocker, when Mrs. Myrtle Jones of Houston, sued the American Railway Express Company and the Houston East & West Texas Railroad company for $50,000. The petition alleges that Leroy H. Jones, husband of the plaintiff, was killed while in the employment of said defendant companies. The suit was filed by Attorneys Woods, King & Johnson on behalf of Mrs. Jones and three minor children.

It will be remembered that Leroy H. Jones died in a Timpson hospital several months ago, two days after receiving a mortal wound, alleged to have been fired by E. E. Ransom, whom it is also charged was an employee of the Express Company. This occurred on the Houston and Shreveport train at a point near Logansport La., Jones, however was removed to the Timpson sanitarium as soon as possible. The petition alleges that a dispute arose between Jones and Ransom concerning a ham and that the shooting followed.—Center Champion.

NEWSY NOTES FROM LUFKIN

From the News, 1st:

Lufkin has again taken the lead over all competitors, which is by no means unusual for Lufkin. The city can now boast of an electrically propelled sawmill, that of the Martin Wagon Company, located just outside the city limits, it having just installed an immense motor and connected up with the Lufkin Light & Power Company since that institution has installed new machinery. You had just as well try to stop the flow of water at Niagara Falls as to try to stop Lufkin from taking the lead in all things pertaining to progress.

A party of young people composed of Mesdames Gibson and Hughes, Misses Ruth Bryan, Ina Mantooth, and Jenny Lacey and Byford Denman, and Gorman O'Quinn, left over the E. & W. at noon for Nacogdoches, where they will enjoy the pleasures of a big dance being given in that city tonight.

Oscar Matthews, the genial manager of the Nacogdoches Grocery Company, returned to his home today after a pleasant stay in the city, during which he found things running nicely and business very good under the management of Mr. Council.

Mrs. Council left today for Nacogdoches to attend the funeral of her step-father, R. Ray, who had been making his home at Black Jack for a number of years.

Just a short time now and the dirt will be flying on the Lufkin and Nacogdoches highway. In conversation with some of the contractors for this good road this morning it was learned that several different crews are waiting to begin work, some on the northern extremity of the road and others out of Lufkin. It will be remembered that this highway is to be built within 100 working days, after beginning, which beginning will be just as soon as formalities of contract can be completed.

DIED ON WEDDING DAY

Miss Annie Lee Weeks, who had reached the age of seventeen years and fifteen days, was brought to the Angelina County Hospital just a short time ago for an operation for acute appendicitis, from her home in the Renfro Prairie community.

The operation was not a success, in that the young lady did not survive the ordeal, and tomorrow afternoon her remains will be laid to rest at Renfro Prairie cemetery. She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Weeks of that community, and her remains were prepared for interment by the W. M. Glenn Undertaking Parlor.

There was a nuptial event scheduled on the very day of the young lady's demise, and truly all condolence is due the young man who waited so anxiously at her side as all medical science was trying to save his bride to be.

The News joins a host of friends in extending condolence to all the bereaved.—Lufkin News, 29th.

A huge rattlesnake, 5 feet 5 inches long and with 16 rattles, killed on the Carrisso Friday by Mr. Frank Tucker, has been stuffed and is on display in the show-window of the E. M. Roberts Electrical Company. This monster serpent has attracted curious crowds throughout the day, many explaining just what they would do in case of meeting such a "varmint." These are facts. We haven't had a drink since Bro. Volstead took the pat, either.

GRAVEYARD WORKING

There will be a graveyard working at Lone Star on Wednesday, July 13th. Everybody come prepared to work.

NACOGDOCHES TRADITIONS

(By J. E. Mayfield, M. D.)

There may be as many as fifteen men living today who belonged to Capt. William Clark's company in the Confederate army. I will name John Christian, John Davidson, Jim Stevens, Fritz Hoya and Joe Mayfield. The company left Nacogdoches on the first day of January, 1862, in gala style, about one hundred fine young men, bound for a training camp three miles below Hempstead, Texas, marching on foot to Navasota. The first night was spent at Stone's Mill, the second night at Old Linwood, thence on via Alto and Crockett. It was a great and sensational event to these young soldiers, and many others.

Another company of infantry from Linn Flat under Captain Lewelling preceded us a few days, and became Company B, and was afterwards headed by Capt. F. Voight. Clark's was Co. C, Young's regiment. He became Colonel of the regiment afterwards.

The stay of these and other troops at this camp lasted till May, 1862. The place was named Camp Hebert, after our Brigadier General (Heebane).

I passed there last May, 1921, and vainly tried to get a view of the locality. Fifty years had so changed it as a landscape that I failed to locate it. The familiar woods were all gone, and the land cleared for cultivation. I even failed to find Clear Creek, which was near it, and which was afterward the scene of a shocking fatal railroad wreck, a passenger train having plunged thru the bridge. Two miles beyond this is the site of the colored normal school, near the famous Grace plantation, neither being plainly visible from the railroad.

To the modern reader this story can not be of special interest, but to the many old survivors of this Camp Hebert, it is a sacred memory, recalling the experiences of the occasion. Young's regiment left there that May for Tyler, from Tyler went to Little Rock, Ark.

Before decamping an offer was made to the soldiers to re-enlist for the war and take thirty days furlough and fifty dollars bounty. We had enlisted for only a year. Four of us accepted and walked back home, averaging twenty miles a day. These four were Henry Rusche, George Witkorn, Bill Dewitz and Joe Mayfield. That seemed like a lot of sugar for a cent.

We were briefly encamped a few miles out from Tyler, and had plenty of wood and water and hot weather and an epidemic of measles. John Coon and a young McKnight, son of Uncle Jim McKnight, died. I was already in feeble health and when I took measles chances seemed to be against me. When the regiment went to leave for Little Rock, Fritz Hoya donned his knapsack and shouldered his gun and took a drink of good spirits for the start and then came to my tent in an assumed jolly mood and said, "Well, Joe, Good-bye." I said, "Good-bye Fritz, I may die and never see you again." He said, "Hell, Joe, you'll get well." The word hell and the thought of dying hit me hard, but Fritz's playful words cheered me. My father reached me that same evening. He came in a buggy and carried me to a quiet family home. Then he went to Tyler to get a bottle of whiskey and a bottle of castor oil. He first gave me a drink of the oil. Then he adopted hot milk punch as a regular standby. And he stayed by me, and got me a sick furlough and took me home. I did not die. So in October, 1862 I went horseback to Little Rock, and there rejoined my company. N. L. Meroney, first lieutenant, resigned and rode my horse back to Nacogdoches.

Soon after I got to the private home at Tyler, a man from Panola county brought his son there with a violent case of the measles, and for lack of a bed, made him a pallet on the floor in the room that my bed was in. This soldier was a giant of a young man, but he was wholly overcome by his sickness, and he rapidly grew worse and died there. His devoted father, seeing the end approaching, knelt by the pallet and offered up a most fervent and pathetic prayer. As he did so his son became quiet, seeming to be unconscious. The father gently placed one hand upon the son's head and the other in the son's hand, and speaking softly, said: "My son! Do you know that you are very sick?" The son opened his eyes and looking up into his father's sorrowful face, replied, "Yes, father, I am going to die." The father replied, "Have you any message to send home to your dear old mother?" The son answered, "Yes, father, tell her that I know she will meet me in heaven! I want you all to meet me there! Goodbye to all." The grieving father replied, "Goodbye my dear son. God bless you."

I have since witnessed many similar scenes, but none more tender and touching than this.

San Antonio, Texas, June 28, 1921.

NOT HARD TO PLEASE

Messrs. H. J. Fitts and Joe Simpson of Nacogdoches were pleasant visitors in the city today, the former admitting that he was here on business and enjoyed the sensation of being in a real live town, where history is made by the hour, new dwellings are springing up like mushrooms in the night, and everybody encountered seems to be acting the role of his brother's keeper. Oh, it's great to live in Lufkin.—Lufkin News, 30th.

Mr. Elmer Summers, who for two years has been connected with the Sentinel in a reportorial capacity, left Sunday afternoon for Tyler, where he will take a course in stenography, going thence to Dallas, where he will take a place on the Morning News and at the same time attend the Southern Methodist University and complete his education. The Sentinel could have none but the kindest feeling for "E. S.," who has proven himself a congenial companion and industrious worker, and all who know him commend him for his determination to climb to the top, which ambition he has demonstrated by attending the Nacogdoches High School and at the same time keeping up his end of the exacting duties in the office. We expect great things of "E. S.," and sincerely hope he may succeed beyond his brightest dreams.

There is one man in Nacogdoches who carries away all honors for endurance and "stickability" in the game of dominoes. This man one day last week played 10 hours on a stretch without ever getting up from his chair. He weighs 200 pounds, is strong, has plenty of sense, and they say that it takes a genius to beat him. He is challenging any domino player in Nacogdoches county for an endurance contest. The Sentinel's "sport editor" will furnish the name.

GRAND MASTER HERE

Masonic circles of the city were deeply interested Thursday when Grand Master Randall of Sherman visited the city in the interest of the Masonic Service Association of America. Most of the 53 lodges of this district were represented, about 200 visitors being present. The meetings were held in the high school auditorium, and were said to have been a great success.

REVIVAL AT HARMONY

The meeting with the Harmony Baptist church will be held at the Harmony school house on the Spanish Bluff road, beginning Saturday night, July 9, 1921. It is expected that an arbor will be built, and the meeting will be held out doors, which will be much more comfortable than in a house. All members of the church are earnestly requested to arrange to be in the meeting and to help in every way possible to make it a success. We should pray much for God's blessings on the work.

HERE'S HOW UNCLE SAM WILL "GET HIS"

Washington, July 1.—How Uncle Sam will come by the lion's share of the gate receipts of the Dempsey-Carpenter fight at Jersey City Saturday was explained in a formal statement issued yesterday by the Bureau of Internal Revenue. The estimate of the total to be received by the government was $400,000, of which $160,000 would come direct from the estimated gate receipts of $1,600,000.

Dempsey's estimated share of the receipts, $300,000, would yield the government $137,510 in income and surtax, while from Carpenter's share of $200,000 the government should receive $77,500.

PROBABLE RENEWAL OF ANGLO-JAPANESE TREATY

London, June 30.—The Pall Mall Gazette and Globe says the British cabinet today decided upon the renewal of the Anglo-Japanese treaty, but discussion is proceeding on certain modifications suggested. These have special relation to the American attitude on the treaty and the position of Indian newspapers, it adds.

Present Form Unlikely.

London, June 30.—It seems unlikely that the Anglo-Japanese treaty will be renewed in its present form. Discussion of the question was not completed.

SCHOOL ESTABLISHED FOR TUBERCULOUS CHILDREN

Minneapolis, Minn., July 2.—School children of Minneapolis who are victims of tuberculosis will receive medical treatment and an education at the same time as the result of the establishment of Lymanhurst hospital school for tubercular children here.

The work is to be finished within two years. The site selected is on a prominent downtown corner and one of the stipulations of the contract is that the second floor of the building is to be used for exhibits of national products.

ADMINISTRATION TARIFF BILL IS DISCUSSED

Washington, June 30.—Congress today had the first opportunity to examine the administration's tariff bill, which has been six months in the making. House republicans will caucus tonight on the bill with the view of determining whether it should be put through as drafted. The bill contains nearly 100,000 words. Some of the leaders say it will be impossible to thresh out all the differences at one session. The measure must be considered by the full ways and means committee before it can be formally reported to the house.

BOLL WEEVIL INFESTATION

Dallas, Texas, July 1.—Two-thirds of the cotton of Texas is infested with boll weevil, according to a statement today by the Texas Farm Bureau Federation.

CEMENT MANUFACTURERS TO BE PROSECUTED

Washington, June 30.—Attorney General Daugherty announced today that civil charges for violation of the anti-trust law would be instituted today in the federal court of New York against the Cement Manufacturers Protective Association and its officers and members. He said the members of this association produced approximately 90 percent of the total Portland cement used in the north-eastern section of the United States.

ORIGINAL HORSE HAD CLAWS

Skeletons of Prehistoric Animals Show That Nature Gave Them Some-what Strange Equipment.

Seventeen skeletons of the so-called "Clawed Horse" of prehistoric times from the Agate Spring fossil quarry of western Nebraska have been placed in storage, for lack of exhibiting space, at the American museum of natural history, New York.

The varied skeletal combinations of Moropus and deductions therefrom are described by Professors Osborn and Matthew, as follows:

"The Moropus was a distant relative of the rhinoceros, the tapir, and the horse. It is about the size of a rhinoceros but very different in form; the head and neck are like those of the horse. The rounded back resembles that of a tapir, and the legs, although massive like those of the rhinoceros, are much longer. The teeth and feet are very distinctive. The teeth show that the animal browsed on vegetation.

"Moropus belongs with rhinoceros, tapirs and horses to the order of Perissodactyla, or hoofed mammals with an odd number of toes on the hind foot. The ruminants, camels, pigs and hippopotamuses have an even number of toes either two or four. Moropus has three toes. The feet with their great claws are more like those of ant enters and similar digging mammals than of any of the hoofed mammals to which Moropus really belongs. It is suggested that the claws were designed to aid in scraping away the sand in dry river beds or other suitable places to obtain drink."

GRACE DARLING REAL HEROINE

Bravery of Frail Girl Thrilled All England—Died of Consumption at an Early Age.

Grace Darling, one of the greatest heroines of British marine history, won undying fame when but twenty-three years old, and of frail physique, by accompanying her father, and inspiring him to the effort of saving the lives of some passengers on a ship wrecked in a terrific gale that swept the seas near her island home.

The Forfarshire sailed from Hull with 22 cabin passengers, 19 steerage passengers and a crew of 20 on a day in September, 1838. Passage was made through the Farnes islands channel, and the ship entered Berwick bay. Here the gale was at its worst, and the ship was swept on the Farnes island rocks.

The mate and eight of the crew, with one cabin passenger, hurried away in a lifeboat. The screams of the other survivors were heard by Grace Darling. When her father hesitated to launch their lifeboat on the heavy sea, she jumped into it, and he followed her. On the first trip they rescued nine, and on a later trip her father saved four more. The British government gave her a money grant, and the public, thrilled by the story, raised a huge subscription list. Four years later Grace Darling died of consumption.

Snails and Screws.

Nearly all inventions have been suggested by natural objects.

Frederic, of the French School of Mines, points out an interesting example in the case of the screw, the fundamental idea of which, he believes, was suggested to primitive man by the spiral shape of the edible snail.

It was not the shape of the shell that suggested the screw, but the spiral motion which it is necessary to give to the body of the snail in order to withdraw it from the shell. This at once showed that an object of a screw shape embedded in a solid powerfully resisted attempts to withdraw it by a straight pull.

The hint was enough, and the screw became one of the earliest of man's inventions.

Home of Giant Creatures.

The giant rat of the Solomon Islands is a remarkable animal—a great, fierce creature, much bigger than a rabbit, and causing endless mischief to plantations and stores. Another animal giant is a bull-frog, seldom found less than two and a half to three pounds in weight, and with a croak as mighty in volume as size.

Another giant is an oyster, a tough but still edible mollusc, that covers a large-size dinner plate. One is quite enough for a meal, and it is eaten with a knife and fork, like a steak.

Animals are not plentiful, but fish and birds abound in great varieties. There are many kinds of pigeons, including one of great beauty of plumage with a long tail, and unknown in any other part of the world.

Have Object in Thrift.

If you are thrifty you will thrive. You will lose some friends you will be better off without, and you will gain a few that will help you play the game. Make your ideals big enough to make them worth striving for. When they are big enough to let others know that you are after more than the ordinary they will wag their heads, and you will dig in and show them. You are never up to your best until you are going the limit. The very necessity of the case drives you to more determined effort, and the effort calls forth ability neither you nor your friends ever dreamed you had. And the best part of it all is that every one can start the thing.—Grit.

TREMENDOUS LOSS AS RESULT OF STRIKES

Rome, July 4.—Italy lost 55,000,000 days of work last year because of strikes, according to figures just published by the Ministry of Labor. This figure includes labor disorders of every kind, wage disputes, loss occasioned by the occupation of the factories by workmen from last July to September and disorders in the farming district.

Wage disputes caused the major part of the loss, with 16,500,000 days. The Communist agitations of last year when the factories were occupied are calculated to have resulted in 10,000,000 days lost. Political strikes and other suspensions not included in the other classes are said to have lost 15,500,000 days.

The textile workers engaged in 212 strikes, the largest number in any trade, throwing out of work nearly 150,000 workmen. The most costly dispute was that of the transportation workers who had 137 strikes, affecting 241,359 workmen and losing 2,523,057 days of work.

WONDERFUL GIRL SWIMMER

Kankakee, Ill., July 2.—Gretchen Shafer, 4-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Shafer, has added new laurels to her crown.

This time she is displaying her prowess as a human fish. It is doubtful if any other girl her age can do her sunts in diving, swimming and all-around aquatic gymnastics.

Up until a short time ago her father had her equipped with a set of "water wings," with which she floated about. She begged to discard them and her father reluctantly consented. To his amazement the child could swim.

Some claim that she swims a distance of 50 feet, but her father modestly puts it at 25 feet. She jumps off a low diving platform.

At two years Gretchen took a ride in an airplane. She was said at the time to be the youngest person in the country to fly.

PRINTING TO BE DONE WITHOUT USE OF TYPE

London, July 4.—Suggestion that printing from type is likely to be superseded was made by William Gamble at the recent World's Congress of Printers held here in connection with the International Printing and Allied Trades exhibition. Mr. Gamble said that at least three inventors were striving to develop a photographic process to take the place of printing from type.

He predicted that the machines for printing by photographic process would hardly occupy more space than a typewriter nor be any more complicated.

He expressed the opinion that eventually the great printing presses in newspaper offices would give place to smaller, swift-running and comparatively noiseless machines which would turn out printed matter with almost the same facility as the moving picture operator reels off his film.

EPOCHAL DISCOVERY IN ORANGE GROVE

Tampa, Fla., July 4.—An ever-bearing orange tree which citrus fruit growers believe is destined to revolutionize the orange industry of the state if not the entire country, has been discovered by horticulturists in a small grove at Avon Park, near here, and to protect the specimen its purchasers have placed around it a heavy wire fence twenty feet high and stationed guards day and night.

The tree has been in bearing continuously eight years, but until recently its existence was known only to the owner and several neighbors who, according to citrus experts, did not realize its value but merely regarded it as a freak of nature. Several of South Florida's largest citrus growers have organized a syndicate, purchased the tree, leased the ground on which it stands and already are taking steps to develop its possibilities by propagating it through budhood, with the expectation of having 250,000 trees ready for setting out in groves by 1923.

The ever-bearing tree is about fifteen years old, but its origin is a mystery. Like the famous Temple orange tree discovered some years ago on the estate of the late W. C. Temple, onetime National League baseball magnate, the new specimen stands alone as the first of an entirely new branch of the citrus family and its owners believe it will bring forth stock true to the parent tree and, ash in the case of the Temple trees, be worth millions to the men who had the foresight to grasp its possibilities.

Apparently authentic records show that for eight years the tree has bloomed and borne fruit continuously and that at no time during the period has it failed to have blossoms and fruit at all stages of maturity. In outward appearance the fruit is a Valencia, except that it is slightly more oblong than that variety. The meat in texture and flavor is that of a perfect Valencia, the variety that brings the top price on the market.

The ever-bearing Florida lemon has been common for many years, but citrus experts here declare they never before have known of an ever-bearing orange.

WILL THE RACE PROBLEM BECOME NATIONAL?

It is easy for those who live at a distance from the South to moralize and advise on what should be done toward settling the "race problem." It is not easy for those who live where the race problem exists. Some writers, living at a distance, have even gone so far as to assert that "race war comes too often as the accompaniment of negro progress." As a matter of fact, race wars, when they do occur, are nearly always the direct result of some specific act of savagery on the part of the negro, or of a group of negroes. The best thinking people of the South hold that the future and security of the negro lies in his own development of economic and cultural propensities—so far as he have them.

Insofar as solving the "race war" problem off-hand is concerned, it cannot be done. All that can be done is to build up efficient governmental administration in the communities where the racial problem is accentuated or where it may become accentuated. To expect to settle this problem through national legislation is about as sensible as to expect to grow winter flowers in Alaska—by legislation. The negro problem is essentially a community problem, and the good sense of American communities where it exists must be depended upon to take care of it.

THE PUGILISTIC BOUT

The world's heavyweight pugilistic bout was staged last Saturday at Jersey City, with Jack Dempsey, titleholder, and Georges Carpentier, challenger, as the contestants. In the fourth round Dempsey made certain retention of the championship by flooring his opponent.

Owing to the fact that Dempsey is an American and Carpentier a Frenchman, the fight aroused international interest. It drew the largest attendance in the history of pugilism, and aroused more interest outside the arena than any former championship scrap.

Carpentier displayed wonderful gameness. Superior brute strength was too much for him.

Few followers of the brutal and undignified game of prize fighting were surprised at the result, but hundreds of thousands of admirers of the loser were keenly disappointed. This was because Carpentier, sentimentally, was the favorite. Even in Dempsey's own country sentiment seemed to be overwhelmingly in favor of the Frenchman. In Shreveport, for instance, twenty-four men at random were asked as to their preference. Unhesitatingly twenty of them said they wished Carpentier to win.

The reason so many Americans wanted victory to go to the Frenchman was because of his greater patriotism and his distinguished record in the World War. Many had contempt for Dempsey, because he remained at home enjoying the safer and easier work in the shipyards instead of responding to the call for overseas fighters. Carpentier, on the other hand, served his country and humanity to the limit, participating in some of the most precarious fighting in the war, for which service he won distinguished record medals. He offered to sacrifice all, while Dempsey was willing to stay at home.

How many Americans felt regarding the pugilistic encounter, is reflected in telegrams of "good luck" that were sent Carpentier by a number of American Legion Posts. One from Tennessee typifies this feeling, as follows:

"May a real fighter and a real man win, and carry the belt across the seas until this country can produce a 100 percent American able to retain it."—Shreveport Journal.

LUFKIN WINS FROM 'DOCHES

We have humbled that old rival across the Angelina on two successive occasions, within the past two days, winning Sunday's contest 4 to 3 in one of the most nerve-racking games of the season the game going twelve innings before the winning run was put over the pan with successive hits by Ely Smith, Behannon and Jack Jackson, the latter being put in as a pinch-hitter and smashing a line drive to the left field fence that was good for two bases. The home team kept in the lead up until the ninth inning, when "Doches" tide the score, the players going out in one-two-three order for two innings and maintaining the suspense of the fans to fever heat until the last of the twelfth, when, with two men on base, Jackson, as pinch-hitter, covered himself with glory by rapping one over into left field that won the game.

Some game and some excitement—a game that recalled old times and boosted interest in baseball 200 percent.

The game yesterday between the same teams at "Doches" resulted in a victory for the Lufkin boys with the score of 4 to 1, the pitching of McGown for the home team being the feature, the striking out of sixteen men and allowing only hits being the sum total of the "flinging" of this star twirler, whose offerings were a complete puzzle to his opponents and which, but for an error, would have held them scoreless. The Lufkin team was withdrawn from the diamond at one time due to a misunderstanding as to a percentage of the gate receipts to be received by them, the expenses of our boys being all that was gotten out of the gate receipts that totaled something like over $200, due to an arrangement by someone in Lufkin not authorized to act for the team. Rather than disappoint the large crowd present, the game was played to completion, the same terms to apply to Nacogdoches on their appearance on the home diamond next Sunday, July 10th, when as large a crowd or even larger should be in attendance to see the third go between these two rivals.—Lufkin News.

BEAT THE BLOOMERS

The much-advertised game between the Boston Bloomers, a team of female baseballists touring the country, and the home team, took place at Athletic Park in this city Tuesday afternoon, the game being called at 4:30. The girls put up a game scrap, their all-around playing being unexpectedly good, but they were unable to stand up under the hot balls shot at them by Pitcher Kriss of the Nacogdoches team and the visitors went down in defeat by a score of 9 to 4.

A large crowd witnessed the contest and the girls were cheered to the echo. Kriss is, of course, as gallant as they make 'em, but he seems to have an idea that when he is placed in the box it is his job to put 'em over hard and fast, and acting on this conviction he gave the visitors the best he had—which is pretty good, thank you—the result that the Bloomers were badly worsted.

A BIRTHDAY PARTY

Forty-two little friends assembled at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Josh Ivey, on Fredonia street, Tuesday afternoon to join in the celebration of the fifth birthday of their daughter, Ruby Nell. The reporter knows they had a good time, for he stood across the street and watched the fun. The tots played games, rendered songs and recited speeches and engaged in all the rapturous pastimes dear to the childish heart.

At the proper time two birthday cakes, each decorated with five candles to represent the years of the honoree, were cut and distributed to the eager guests. In each had been placed a ring, a thimble and a nickel. When the toothsome slices were investigated it was found that little Misses Bertha Allen Brewer and Frances Atkins had won the rings, while the thimbles fell to the lot of Misses Carolyn Whited and Ruby Elizabeth Childress. The nickels remained in undistributed portions of the cake, hence no one received them.

The hours were from 5 to 7, and the youngsters certainly crowded a lot of fun into that brief time. Miss Ruby Nell proved a charming and gracious hostess, and all present on this occasion hope she may celebrate many more anniversaries as happily.

Professor Frank H. Stamps of the James D. Vaughn Music Normal Teachers, will conduct a singing next Sunday afternoon at New Hope church, three miles east of Nacogdoches on the Lower Melrose Road. This is free, the public and singers being especially invited.

Prof. Stamps begins his eighteen days Music Normal on the following Monday at the same place.

MUST PAY IDLE WORKMEN

Mexico City, July 5.—Oil companies which ceased work in the states of Tamaulipas and Vera Cruz "without sufficient justification" are ordered to pay indemnification to employees thrown out of work by their action in a decree issued by President Obregon last night. The cessation of work was especially noted among American concerns.

MINUTE MATTERS MEAN MUCH

Statesmen and Others Wrong When They Scoff at Work Done by Research Departments.

The man who gives up his lifetime to putting science at the service of business finds himself eternally asked, "What's the use?" Statesmen rise from their seats and say:

"I see that some scientist fattening at the government trough has measured a hundred-thousandth of an inch. What's the use?"

Hard-headed—solid-headed—business men read of research departments and snort in disgust: "What's the use? The old rule of thumb is the common sense way."

We think of railroads as progressive—of railroad men as efficient. Are they? Not if the Railway Age is to be believed, remarks the Nation's Business.

There are only two test plants of locomotives in the country, one owned by the Pennsylvania, the other at the University of Illinois. Only a few railroads try out locomotives on road service by means of a dynamometer car. What's the use?

One road that did found that by putting an exhaust tip three-eighths of an inch smaller on a Mikado type locomotive it increased the firebox temperature 400 degrees and saved $57,000 a year in coal. On another line tests made it possible to alter a locomotive as to reduce its fuel consumption 10 per cent and permit it to haul three more passenger cars on less coal and water.

That's what's the use!

SAILORS MADE FIRST GLASS

According to Story of Its Discovery. It Was Entirely the Result of Chance.

One of the most useful materials in the world is glass. It is not only a domestic necessity, but a scientific essential. The development of chemistry would have been a far more laborious process had it not been for the many utensils manufactured from glass. So numerous and varied are its uses that one can hardly conceive of present-day civilization without this product. Yet the discovery of this valuable material was what might be termed an accident. Floyd W. Parsons writes in the Saturday Evening Post:

As the story runs, a merchant ship laden with nitron, a brittle white carbonate of sodium, was driven ashore at the mouth of the river Belus in Phenicia. The crew scattered their food on the beach, and their kettles on piles made up of lumps of the nitron. Later the sailors were amazed to discover transparent masses of stone among the elders of their fires. The heat had melted the soda and the siliceous sand together, with the result that a crude variety of glass was formed. If the early records are correct the art of glass manufacture was exclusively an industry of the Phenicians. One reason for crediting this statement is the fact that the ingredients of glass—natron, sand and fuel—were abundant upon the coast of Phenicia.

Waterworks in the Desert.

In the big desert of Chile there is a considerable amount of brackish water, but no water that either human beings or stock can drink. Science, however, has come to the aid of the rainless section of the country in the form of an ingenious desert waterworks, consisting of a series of frames containing 20,000 square feet of glass. The panes of glass are arranged in the shape of a V, and under each pane is a shallow pan containing brackish water. The heat of the sun evaporates the water, which condenses upon the sloping glass and, made pure by this operation, it runs down into little channels at the bottom of the V and is carried away into the main canal. It is said that nearly a thousand gallons of fresh water is collected daily by this means.

Savage Wilderness Marauder.

The fisher is, taking it all in all, said to be the most savage, swift and crafty of all the marauders of the wilderness. In nine cases out of ten—perhaps even 99 out of a hundred—a fight between a porcupine and a fisher has but one result: The fisher eats the porcupine. And the porcupine is some defensive fighter. The fisher flips the victim over on his back, annexing as few spines as possible in the act, and he has an unprotected throat and belly at the mercy of his fangs.

The porcupine's quills, so deadly to other animals, have for the fisher comparatively few terrors. They do not poison or inflame his flesh, which seems to possess the faculty of soon casting them forth again through the skin.

Good Place to Keep Cool.

The ice caves of Iowa present one of the most interesting phenomena in this country. While the rest of the state sweaters in midsummer the temperature of the soil near the caves is not higher than 55 degrees. As a result trees and flowers exist which are usually found in the far north.

The caves owe their existence to the prehistoric seas which are supposed to have covered this territory, as they are found in limestone districts where the rock is porous. In the winter cold air is stored in the crevices and when summer comes this air comes out very slowly and the outside of the caves is covered with frost.

ISLANDS FOUND BY SPANIARD

Solomon, in the Southern Pacific, Were Discovered in 1567 by Alvare de Mendana.

The Solomon Islands, in the southern Pacific, long before Australia was discovered, were known to daring voyagers. In 1567 a famous Spanish navigator named Alvare de Mendana sailed from Peru to discover a great south continent. Three months' cruising brought him to the Solomons and Yeabel Island, which he named, as his log states, "after his much-loved wife."

Mendana cruised for six months in the group, and was so impressed with the richness and fertility of these tropic lands that he named them the Solomons, in the hope that on his return his countrymen would believe they were the source from which King Solomon obtained the gold for his great temple. This story, he thought, would encourage the colonization of the islands, and he conceived the vainglorious ambition of becoming the king of a new Spain. On his return home, so brightly did he paint the prospects that he was soon able to prepare an expedition of many hundreds of settlers, including his wife and her three brothers. In the party were also two sailors, afterward known to fame as connected with the discovery of Australia—Fernandes de Quiros and Fuls Vaes de Torres.

The expedition failed through sickness and bad management; in fact, it never reached the Solomons at all, but instead—owing to faulty navigation—arrived at the northern islands of the New Hebrides group. Here after a few months, Mendana died, a disappointed and broken-hearted man.

GREAT TUN OF HEIDELBERG

Constructed in the Middle Ages, Monaster Receptacle Held 528 Hogsheads of Wine.

The construction of the great tun of Heidelberg, in the castle of the Princes Palatine of the Rhine, was begun in 1589 and was not finished until more than two years later.

It was composed of beams twenty-seven feet long and had a diameter of eighteen feet. The iron hoops were 1,100 pounds in weight, and the cost, figured in our money, was nearly $12,000. It could hold 528 hogsheads and the value at that time of the wine it contained was in the neighborhood of $10,000.

When the cellarer drew wine out of the cask he ascended several flights of wooden stairs leading to the top; about the middle was a bungalow, into which was inserted an instrument made in the form of a spout, with which the wine was drawn up and placed in a vessel provided for the purpose.

There was another tun built, evidently succeeding the one just described, in 1751; this was 36 feet long and 24 feet high, with a capacity of 800 hogsheads, or 283,200 bottles. This cask has not been in use since the latter part of the Eighteenth century.

Intelligent Geese.

Many are the cases on record of geese whose masters or mistresses endeared themselves to them and as a result were followed about everywhere by the geese just as they might have been by dogs, and dogs are supposed to be the most intelligent of animals.

There is the historical case of the aged blind woman who was piloted to church on Sundays by her geese. The little old lady would totter along, and when she would be on the point of taking a misstep the silly geese would pluck her by the skirt and guide her in the right direction. In the steps of the church the old woman would be guided to her pew by her neighbors, while the geese retired to the nearby cemetery to nip grass. When service was over the geese would be beside the church steps waiting to guide its mistress home again.

Psychic Too Much for Her.

"I do wish this psychic, or whatever-you-call-it had was over," said a reader. She put down a popular publication.

"Why, when the dog used to snore under the couch, or some naughty boy played tick-tack on the windows, or the potatoes took a little slide down in their bin in the cellar, the entire family knew at once what the noise was and calmly went about their business. Now they say mysteriously, 'Hark, what's that?' and we all go to listen as if we expected to see an apparition. Call it your 'subconscious self' or a ghost that makes every slight disturbance in the house and you're sure to be jumpy, and I for one will be glad when the psychic business is passed and we ascribe ordinary reasons to ordinary noises once more."

Impressive Thrift Lesson.

The father of a ten-year-old boy in New York was besieged by his young hopeful to buy a certain plaything amounting in value to $100, says Thrift. Day after day the father was coaxed, cajoled and threatened. He put up numerous defensive arguments that were brushed aside with scorn and bitterness. Finally the father said: "Son, which would you rather have, this toy or 50 cents a month as long as you live?"

The boy chose the 50 cents a month for life. The father invested $100 in a gilt-edged security yielding six per cent and the boy was given a lesson in thrift and the value of money that will be of untold value to him as long as he lives.

ONE OF NATURE'S MARVELS

Naturalist Enthusiastic Over the Wonderful Composition and Uses of the Spider's Web.

In his book "A Naturalist in Himpalaya," Captain R. N. Hingston notes that when a spider's web has become worn out beyond further patching, the maker eats it.

"I was at first very much surprised to think that a spider's stomach could be so capacious as to contain the complete snare," says the captain. "In this, however, I was much mistaken; for I found that a large, complete snare, eleven inches in diameter, was of such delicate substance and compressible into so small a bulk that, when rolled into a ball between the fingers, it formed a compact mass but little larger than an ordinary pin's head. A spider will often swallow entire a fly of much greater dimensions than its own compact snare. I look on the circular snare of the Epilra as almost as beautiful an example of mathematical accuracy in the life of organic beings as the exquisite structure of the honeycomb."

"But how much more wonderful does it all seem when we picture the web as a potential fabric, first woven into an inimitable harmony to lure to death thousands of living creatures, then tattered and torn in the tragedy, to be again received into the maw of its voracious host, to be repurified in the strange economy of a spider's structure, to emerge again from the spinning-wheel in fine, transparent filaments, to be woven again into the same lovely texture, and to repeat the same eternal drama that fills the mind with such enthusiasm and admiration."

PEACOCK A DIGNIFIED LOVER

Elaborate "Showing Off" a Trifle Absurd, but Nature Gives Him Wonderful Adornment.

During the breeding season it is difficult to find two male ruffs identical in coloring, individuals differing to an extraordinary degree, the "ruff" from which the bird gets its name itself varying astonishingly from speckled white to brown or golden chestnut. The elaborate showing-off of the male before his charmer appears comically absurd, less dignified even than the courting antics of the fiddler crab, who frantically waves aloft his enormously developed right claw to attract the attention of the female of his choice. As a dignified lover the peacock ranks high. At first glance it would appear that the coloring of the bird has defeated by its splendor its real purpose. But the jungle is green—and so is the main coloring of the peacock! The peacock has learned to look for and approve of magnificent decorations in her mate. The "eyes" of the tail have in this way through generations become evolved, probably in the first place from mere spots of formless color.

Polk Inauguration Unique.

The inauguration of James K. Polk as President was marked by two odd things. The first practical test of the telegraph at an inaugural ceremony was made, and there were two inaugural balls held in the evening. Professor Morse, the inventor of the telegraph, brought out his instrument to the portico platform, close to one side of it, where he could hear all that was said, and transmitted the results to Baltimore as fast as they transpired. The telegraph had had a previous test at the convention which nominated Polk, the first really practical test since its invention.

Of the two balls, John Quincy Adams tells that one was held at Carusi's hall, at $10 a plate, of all parties; the other, at $5 a plate, of pure Democrats, at the National Hotel. Mr. Polk attended both, but supped with the true-blue five-dollar Democracy.

Carlyle's Quiser Tests.

Carlyle played extraordinary tricks with his digestive apparatus. Writing in the British Medical Journal some years after Carlyle's death, Sir Richard Quain remarked: "The late Mr. Carlyle was a patient of mine. As all the world knows, he was a man of great judgment and great power of observation, yet with regard to himself the only remedy I could ever get him to take was grey powder. This was when he had that wretched dyspepsia to which he was subject, and which was fully accounted for by the fact that he was particularly fond of very nasty gingerbread. Many times I have seen him sitting in the chimney corner smoking a clay pipe and eating gingerbread. He overcame the difficulties incidental to this habit by his grey powder, which did him much good."

For Cold Feet.

An inventor has hit upon an ingenious and novel idea for dealing with the affliction of cold feet. It is very simple. All one needs to do is to take a large sheet of paper and roll it up, pasting the edges, so as to form a tube. When a person goes to bed, he places the tube beneath the bedclothes and breathes through it. This is to say, holding one end of the tube in his mouth, he takes in his supply of air through his nostrils in the ordinary way, and expels his breath through the tube. By this means a continuous current of warm air is poured into the bed, contributing the requisite heat. When his feet are warm, he discards the tube and goes to sleep.

BARBECUE AND PICNIC

Friday, July 15th, I will give my second annual barbecue and picnic and livestock exhibition in honor of the Nacogdoches County Purebred Livestock Association. Wish to give a special invitation to all members of the Farm Bureau, business men, farmers and all progressive citizens of this and adjoining counties and the family of each.

My neighbors and myself will have on exhibition some very creditable specimens of purebred livestock and especially would appreciate any poultry exhibits. Will be glad to prepare pens and coops for those who wish to show stock. Those desiring pens please notify me promptly.

We will have with us Messrs. A. L. Ward, secretary Texas Swine Breeders' Association; C. M. Evans, dairy specialist; F. W. Kazmeir, poultry specialist, all of A. & M. College Extension Service; and Mr. Tom Frazier of Rhome Farmer Commission Company, one of the best hogmen in the South. These are men who have grown up in the livestock and poultry business and will talk from a practical as well as a scientific standpoint. There will be other speakers of note whose names will be announced later.

I will offer no livestock for sale; in fact, there will be nothing on the grounds for sale unless some of my friends should wish to sell some livestock. This picnic is given for the purpose of meeting with my friends and other progressive citizens with the view of doing some little good for Nacogdoches county.

Everyone is requested to bring dinner, but not to burden themselves with cooking great rafts of eatables, as is done for our public dinners "on the grounds." I am requesting that the professional eater, who rides miles to snatch and grab, as is done at some public affairs, stay away. My invitation is to serious-minded men and women and boys and girls, and not to the people who come to feed, get in the way, criticize and then go away and say "it wasn't no good; didn't have enough dinner."

Picnic will be held on my farm six miles south of Garrison on Nacogdoches and Garrison highway.

Wm. B. Wortham.

FORMER NACOGDOCHES MAN KILLED AT OREGON MILL

Miss Amelia Pressler of this city received a telegram Tuesday conveying the sorrowful information that her nephew, John Pressler, had been killed in a lumber mill in Oregon. No particulars were given. Deceased was formerly a resident of Nacogdoches, leaving here some 12 or 15 years ago for Oregon, and is kindly remembered by many of our people as a deserving young man, and to these old-time friends the news of his tragic death was a great shock. Mr. Pressler was about 33 years of age and leaves a family in Oregon, together with a number of relatives in this section, who have the sympathy of all who knew this estimable boy.

LIVESTOCK BARBECUE AND PICNIC

The Livestock Association will hold its annual picnic and barbecue at Billie Wortham's ranch on Friday, July 15th.

Every farmer in the county who feels an interest in better livestock is invited to attend this affair, and to bring his wife and family. Each family will be expected to bring a basket lunch. Mr. Wortham will furnish the barbecue.

Prominent speakers from A. & M. College and Fort Worth will entertain and instruct everyone who attends.

The ladies are urged to bring along a pen or coop of their favorite breed of chickens for Prof. Kazmeir to use in his lecture on feeding, breeding and selection for egg-laying strains. Prof. Pou, head of the dairy department at A. & M. College, will be there to lecture on the dairy animal.

A. L. Ward, secretary of the Texas Swine Breeders' Association, will give a demonstration in judging. C. C. French, representative of the Fort Worth stockyards will tell something about the demand for stocker hogs in the corn belt states.

A. W. Buchanan, district demonstration agent, will lecture to the boys on club work in Texas.

The day will be full of lectures and good eats.

The invitation is cordially and whole-heartedly to every interested citizen in the county, regardless of where you live or what your business is.

If you are interested, we invite you.

If you are not interested, do not come.

Bring the boys from 10 to 18. We have a special message for them. We will arrange a special lecture for them.

Do not overlook the boys. Purebred Livestock Association.

SEEK TO SAVE LUDLOW JAIL

Members of Greater New York "Alimony Club" Don't Want Their Famous Home "Converted."

The Ludlow street jail, where members of the Greater New York "Alimony Club" have frittered away much pleasurable time, appears to be doomed. Sheriff David H. Knott thinks a far more profitable use could be made by the city of the historic structure. The plan is to send the Ludlowers to some other city institution, scatter them, if necessary, through a number of buildings, for it is now costing $43,000 annually to keep their present home going.

The proposal has culminated in a "save-the-jail" agitation among those who have sojourned in Ludlow. There is deep sentiment, it seems, in having been a "guest." The Ludlow street jail was built by Boss Tweed, his name being inscribed on the building erected in 1890. His desk and chair are still in the room where he died a prisoner in 1878. Besides Tweed the jail has sheltered many famous men, including the members of the brokerage firm who traded on the name of General Grant and swindled thousands. Whitaker Wright, the British Wallingford, lived there for a spell, and showed his sportsmanship by contributing $100 to the other prisoners for fireworks one Fourth of July.

But it is as the established home for stalwart men who refused to be subservient to "the weaker sex" that Ludlow's fame spread throughout the land. Poets and actors, journalists and musicians, bankers and laboring men all have met there to fan the flame of resistance to the payment of alimony.

PUT TALENT TO LITTLE USE

Horace Walpole Chiefly Famous for Making Collection of Curious and Valuable Objects.

The death of Horace Walpole on March 2, 1797, calls to mind a collection of curious and valuable objects which he had collected in his famous country seat, Strawberry Hill.

One article of great elegance was a silver bell which had been made by Benvenuto Cellini for Pope Clement VII, with a rich display of carving on the exterior representing serpents, flies, grasshoppers and other objectionable insects, the purpose of the bell having been to serve a papal curia of these animals when they became so troublesome to demand that mode of castigation.

Another curious article suggesting the beliefs of a past age was the shew-stone of Doctor Dee, a piece of polished cannon coal which had been used by that celebrated mystic as a mirror in which to see spirits. But we of this generation and in what we are pleased to call the age of enlightenment have our crystal gazers, astrologers and ouija boards, although they are not being used or believed by the community en masse.

But the glories of Strawberry Hill have come to an end and way back in '42 the entire collection passed under the hammer and was dispersed in a sale which lasted almost four weeks. Through came to see the home of the man who devoted his no mean talents to the pursuit of trifling importance—"piling up trifles to a colossal height and making a pyramid of nothing."

New Blood in Cancer Treatment.

Rollin reported at a meeting of the Hamburg Medical society that two persons with extensive and advanced gastric cancer were treated by intragastric injection of 2 c.c. of blood, twice a week, from their grown-up children. Both improved visibly, the hemoglobin percentage rose and the weight increased as appetite returned, and the earning capacity was restored. Rollin had reasoned that there must be something in the blood of the young that prevents the development of cancer, and hence that there would be advantage in injecting it in cases of cancer.

The Medizinische Klinik relates that Kummel gave this method a trial in three cases of cancer, injecting the blood of young relatives. The general health improved, but this benefit was transient. The malignant disease itself was not influenced.

Benefit in Recreation.

All recreations, if followed moderately, are good for the brain and help to stimulate thought.

It is important to learn all we can about the world we are living in, for upon our ability to do something for our fellow inhabitants depends the rewards that we shall gain.

It isn't safe to be a movie fan or a theater fan or a golf fan or a fan at anything but our particular vocation. But it is useful to get away from ourselves and our work now and then and to think about what others are doing.—John Blake in Chicago Daily News.

War Veterans Good Students.

In a report made by the dean of the Wisconsin university, especial mention is made of the excellent progress made by the 234 disabled soldiers who are known as federal board students. Owing to their physical condition it was anticipated that they might prove indifferent students, but such has not been the case. In this instance it is said that their progress compared very favorably in every way with that of the regular students. The total number of these students has been increasing.

DUSKY WORKER OF MIRACLES

Negro Saint, Forbidden to Exercise Power, Put White Bishop in Something of a Hoax.

Long ago when Peru was a jewel in the Spanish crown, there lived in that country a negro of such remarkable sanctity that his miracles rivaled those of the best white saints of his time. Fearing for the supremacy of his race, the Spanish bishop took the precaution of forbidding this dark-skinned saint to give any further exhibitions of his power, an order which was accepted with the humility that marks the real saint of every age, land or color. Now, the Spaniards built a cathedral in Lima, and during the building of it a workman fell from the topmost scaffolding before the horrified eyes of the holy negro. It was a fearful dilemma. A second's delay and the man would be dashed to pieces. "Stop!" he shouted; and leaving the workman hanging in midair he sought out the bishop and explained the situation. If the bishop did not want a poor son of Ham to perform miracles, would he prefer to come and do the job himself? The bishop wisely chose to allow his black sheep to return to the cathedral and "carry on"; the workman fell up again gently to his scaffolding, and the work of building went happily on.—New York Times.

NOTES CONVERTED INTO PULP

Millions of Dollars in Worn-out Currency Destroyed Every Week in Small English Village.

A lonely village in Kent, England, is the scene of the destruction of ten tons of treasury notes every Monday. The average face value of the notes destroyed amounts to $100,000,000.

The banks and postmasters determine when the life of a treasury note shall end. If in the opinion of a banker or postmaster a note has become worn out, it is sent to the Bank of England. There a triangular cut is made in the right-hand bottom corner of the note, and it is then sent, in company with millions of its fellows, to the chief money order department of the post office in Holloway.

Every day more than a ton of defunct currency notes are delivered from the Bank of England to the money order department in Holloway. The notes are then defaced, made up into bundles of a thousand and put into sacks. On Monday the sacks containing millions of the defunct currency notes are put into vans and dispatched to their destruction in Kent, where they are converted into pulp.

The World by Color.

If we speak by continents, the really white world consists of Europe, North America to the Rio Grande, the southern portion of South America, the Siberian part of Asia, and Australasia, the last two, of course, being very thinly inhabited. On the other hand, the world of color consists of the bulk of Asia, virtually the whole of Africa, and most of Central and South America. The great bulk of the white race is, of course, concentrated in the European continent. Four-fifths of the entire white race lives on less than one-fifth of the white world's area. Of the colored races the yellow are naturally the most numerous, living in eastern Asia, and numbering over 600,000,000. The browns number more than 450,000,000 while the blacks, whose center is Africa, south of the Sahara desert, total about 150,000,000. The reds are, of course, of less consequence, being few in number.

Stunt to Cure Hiccoughs.

A Spanish physician claims to have been very successful in curing stubborn cases of hiccoughs by this treatment: The patient lies down and draws up his knees until his thighs are pressed tightly to his abdomen, the lower part of the legs being pressed against the thighs by bending the knees. The position is held for several minutes. The effect of this is to press the abdominal organs up against the diaphragm and to sustain the pressure until the diaphragm ceases its spasmodic contraction.

Forecast for Monday's Child.

People born on Monday (moon's day) need never fear poverty nor will they gain great wealth. They will travel much, marry happily, be skilled in medicine, surgery, geography and mathematics; will be fortunate as navigators, agriculturists, or printers, and may become workers in precious metals, ambassadors, or church dignitaries. They will be subject to catarrh, toothache, and colic, and they will have a blemish in their eyes. They will love life and will live to be over seventy.

GUEST MUST HAVE APPETITE

Stamina and Endurance Also Needed for Consuming "Simple Little Dinner" in Roumania.

An interesting personal experience was an invitation to dinner with a real Roumanian family (in Bucharest). What seemed to me a countless array of dishes containing most delectable dainties was arranged on a sideboard in the apartment where we were received.

First came pastrama, small pieces of mutton grilled with milk, a kind of native rum. This pastrama has a marvelous flavor. But a person eating it for the first time cannot swallow it. He chews it and chews it like a piece of American gum, first in one cheek and then in the other, without knowing what to do with it. It is an embarrassing situation, because the pastrama is served in the reception room and you are expected to talk while you are eating it. I received my portion in an unguarded moment while conversing with an enchanting girl in a pompadour. Then we went into the dining room.

One course followed the other. One eats—at first in an inquiring spirit, because the dishes are all novel, and later because he likes his food—for three or four hours. At the conclusion, the hostess apologizes for the simple fare, explaining that the occasion is intended merely to be an informal, intimate little dinner affording an opportunity to discuss music and other immaterial things with the artist.—Leo Slezak, formerly of Royal Opera Company of Vienna, in the Vienna Neue Freie Presse.

EBONY BURNED AS FIREWOOD

Mahogany Also Employed for Floors in Burma, According to Statement of Missionary.

The people of Burma burn ebony as firewood and use mahogany for floors, but the dance music is abominable, according to Rev. John Tilden Latta, returned missionary.

The chief function of music and the weird dances in the land of the golden peacock is to drive away the evil spirits, and it is essential to Burmese ideas of "harmony" to have each instrument toned in a different key. But it would be a great place for the children.

Parrots can be bought for a nickel and monkeys for a quarter.

No word in the language has more than 604 syllables. There are no declensions or conjugations. The Burmese are short on words and hence every word is pronounced in three tones having a different meaning in each. The average wage is 16 cents a day. There are no violent deaths, the plague and malaria being the only scourges. The native doctors prescribe on a principle of opposites. If a man has rheumatism they feed him powdered deer's bones, and the remedy for a sour stomach is sugar.

Dom Joao's Botanical Gardens.

Dom Joao's botanical garden in Rio, capital of Brazil, is today the finest in the New World and equaled only by that of Buitenzorg, Java, says Harriett C. Adams, in the National Geographic Magazine. Its century-old imported bamboos are as tall as forest trees; its native Victoria Regia lilies most queerly of their kind. Its Royal Palm avenue, almost 1,800 feet long, is second only to Rio's Quadruple Palm avenue bordering the Mangue canal. In the early days these palms were a mark of the royal distinction and were planted only in parks and avenues near city and county palaces. The story goes that a slave stole some of the seeds and sold them. Today these "feather-dusters of the gods" wave in every part of the city. At present there is a free distribution of seeds and plants from the botanical garden.

Color and Horse Character.

An old cavalry officer says that one may judge the constitution and character of a horse from its color. Bright chestnuts and light bays are high spirited, but nervous and delicate. Dark chestnuts and glossy blacks are hardy and more tempered. Rich bays have great spirit, but are teachable. Dark and iron grays are hardy and sound, while light grays are the opposite.

Roums, either strawberry or blue, are the hardest, and best working of all, even tempered, easiest to train, taking kindly to everything. Rusty blacks are distinguished for their pluck and endurance. A horse's "white-stockings" give another clue to character. A horse with one white leg is a bad one, with two its temper is uncertain, with three it is absolutely safe, with four may be trusted for a white only.

The Kamassie irrigation scheme, South Africa, has been extended to include some 28,000 acres, at a total cost of $4,050,000. The dam will irrigate what is claimed to be one of the richest alluvial areas in the Union, having a length of about forty miles.

AUTO COLLISION

CAUSES NEAR-TRAGEDY

Saturday night about 11 o'clock a collision occurred in front of the residence of Mr. E. M. Roberts, on North street, with painful results to the family of Mr. Petty of Mahl. This gentleman, with his wife and two children, had started home in a one-horse buggy, meeting the car which was running slow, but with very dim lights. This car was driven by Bronson Spears, a youth, and a party of four other boys were his passengers. Young Spears says his lights were dim and he was unable to see. He had been sent by Henry Millard from one of the road camps to his house for some medicine for a sick mule and was on his return trip with the medicine.

The car struck a front wheel of the vehicle, bounced over the axle and swung around to the rear and turned over, spilling but not injuring its occupants. The singletree and shafts of the buggy were smashed. The younger of the Petty children sustained a broken arm and Mrs. Petty was painfully injured in the side. All were thrown out except the older child, who was asleep in the foot of the buggy and escaped unhurt. The injured were taken to the home of Mr. Roberts and Dr. Tucker, who lives across the street, was soon on the scene and rendered surgical aid. After their hurts had been attended, Dr. J. D. Ellington drove Mr. Petty and family home to Mahl in his car, leaving town shortly before midnight. When Dr. Tucker saw the condition of the injured he sent Mrs. Tucker to the sanitarium for bandages, and Dr. Smith accompanied her on her return and assisted in the treatment of the unfortunates.

YOUNG MAN! YOUNG WOMAN!

Here are a few extracts from letters of prominent business men who have had proof as to the ability of our students:

"Having employed several of your graduates, I think your institution the best of its kind in the country."

"Of the seven men you have sent us, six remain in our service and the other has just joined the navy. All are making good."

"As you know, I have had a number of your students in my office. I take this opportunity of saying that every student I have had from your school shows superiority of training over students that I have had come from other schools."

"We have one of your graduates as stenographer in our legal department at a handsome salary, giving entire satisfaction. The work is extremely difficult, requiring the greatest skill and accuracy. She reads her notes like print. We wish to commend your school for turning out such excellent graduates."

"If all your graduates are as proficient as the three young men we have in our office, you are certainly doing a great work, not only for the young people, but for the business men as well."

"We have several of your students and all of them understand their business. Your courses are thorough or they could not take hold as they have done for us."

"If the several graduates of your school that have been in our office are fair samples, I cannot recommend your institution too highly."

Following are some of the names of the many prominent people who have visited our school and their comment. Many of these men have given free lectures to the student body:

Mrs. Curtis, ex-president Texas W. C. T. U. "Wonderful institution."

Mr. Edmond C. Peters, International Y. M. C. A. secretary from Russia, "I wish to compliment your school on magnitude, cleanliness and discipline; the best I have ever seen."

Mr. Rothwell, government Inspector Vocational Education, "It is wonderful."

Dr. Bizzell, president, A. & M. college, "A great institution."

Mr. Fogleman of the Chautauque, from Sheldon School of Salesmanship, Chicago, "A most wonderful business training institution."

Dr. Hardy, president Baylor College, Belton, Texas, "The most magnificent mixed student body I have ever seen."

Write for free catalogue containing hundreds of endorsements of business men who are now paying our graduates good salaries. DEMAND FOR TANLAC BREAKS ALL RECORDS

AMAZING SUCCESS ACHIEVED BY CELEBRATED MEDICINE NOT ONLY PHENOMENAL, BUT UNPRECEDENTED—OVER 20,000,000 BOTTLES SOLD IN SIX YEARS—FOREIGN COUNTRIES CLAMOR FOR IT.

Never before, perhaps, in the history of the drug trade has the demand for a proprietary medicine ever approached the wonderful record that is now being made by Tanlac, the celebrated medicine which has been accomplishing such remarkable results throughout this country and Canada. As a matter of fact, the marvelous success achieved by this medicine is not only phenomenal, but unprecedented.

The first bottle of Tanlac to reach the public was sold just a little over six years ago. Its success was immediate and people everywhere were quick to recognize it as a medicine of extraordinary merit. Since that time there have been sold throughout this country and Canada something over Twenty Million (20,000,000) bottles, establishing a record which has probably never been equaled in the history of the drug trade.

Fame is International
The instant and phenomenal success which Tanlac won when it was first introduced has been extended to practically every large city, small town, village and hamlet in North America. Its fame has become international in its scope and England, Japan, Porto Rico, Mexico, Cuba, Hawaii, Alaska and many European countries are clamoring for it.

From coast to coast and from the Great Lakes, Tanlac is known and honored. Millions have taken it with the most gratifying and astonishing results and have pronounced it the greatest medicine of all time.

Tens of thousands of men and women of all ages in all walks of life, afflicted with stomach, liver and kidney disorders, some of them long standing, as well as thousands of weak, nervous thin men and women apparently on the verge of collapse, have testified that they have been fully restored to their normal weight, health and strength by its use.

Restored to Health

Still others, who seemed fairly well, yet who suffered with indigestion, headaches, shortness of breath, dizzy spells, sour stomachs coated tongues, foulness of breath, constipation, bad complexion, loss of appetite, sleeplessness at night and of terribly dejected, depressed feelings, state that they have been entirely relieved of these distressing symptoms and restored to health and happiness by the use of Tanlac.

THE LEGION'S STAND ON AMERICAN SCHOOLS

Des Moines, Iowa, July 5.—The American Legion intends to see American history and government taught more fully in the schools, Henry J. Ryan of New York, chairman of the Americanization Commission of the American Legion, told the National Education Association here on the Fourth of July.

"I wish it were possible for me to acquaint every teacher in America with the fact that the American Legion has no more sincere desire than that of dedicating itself to the welfare of the teacher, students and school," Mr. Ryan said in his address last night.

"The school is the foundation of the Nation. If the American school fails, America will fail."

"We have inherited the greatest blessings any government has ever bestowed upon its people. The American Legion proposes to preserve and safeguard that government."

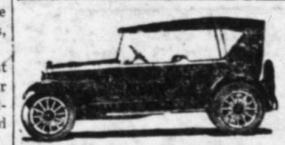

"But what is more and of greater importance, it means to see that all the people are given a greater opportunity to learn of that government and its history so that when the citizens of tomorrow stand forth, faithful to America's cause, ready to serve her and to sacrifice for her, they will be able to say, 'We learned at school to love our country.'"

Mr. Julian Pennybacker, traveling representative of the Houston Chronicle, was in the city Wednesday and dropped in to see the Sentinels force.

For Torpid Liver

"Black-Draught is, in my opinion, the best liver medicine on the market," states Mrs. R. H. Whiteside, of Keota, Okla. She continues: "I had a pain in my chest after eating—light, uncomfortable feeling—and this was very disagreeable and brought on headache. I was constipated and knew it was indigestion and inactive liver. I began the use of Black-Draught, night and morning, and it sure is splendid and certainly gives relief."

Thedford's BLACK-DRAUGHT

For over seventy years this purely vegetable preparation has been found beneficial by thousands of persons suffering from effects of a torpid, or slow-acting liver, indigestion, biliousness, colic, coated tongue, dizziness, constipation, bitter taste, sleeplessness, lack of energy, pain in back, puffiness under the eyes—any or all of these symptoms often indicate that there is something the matter with your liver. You can't be too careful about the medicine you take. Be sure that the name, "Thedford's Black-Draught," is on the package. At all druggists.

Washington, June 30.—The president today signed the annual army appropriation bill directing the reduction of the regular army to 150,000 by October 1, but advised congress that he believed further legislation was required to relieve the government of embarrassment in violating its obligations to the enlisted men whose discharge the reduction will necessitate.

DOES NOT BELONG IN CITY

When the Arabian Musical Instrument, the Argul, Comes to Town, It Degenerates.

In Cairo the argul is played at night in the old city, and on the streets of the underworld, lending its note and interpretation to love songs that somehow follow when everything else in life has been lost or left behind, writes Robert Hamilton, Rucker in Asia Magazine. At an Arabian cafe an old man from the street will play and young men will sing while the coffee is being made. The argul sings with each and talks with each, sympathizes, understands and seems so earnest as to make one half believe that the young man is singing from his own heart and that the argul, long accustomed to such confidence, knows it full well.

But, like many of the country bred, it seems to degenerate when it comes to town. It falls upon evil ways; it sings of love to the loveless; it hovers about the low cafes. Its friend, the tabla—more pretentious, and perhaps more astute—changes its name when it comes to town and does not appeal alone at night in dark, unfrequented streets. It is known as the darabukeh, and is seen in the high-class cafes where favorites dance to the music it brings. It has more rhythm than melody; much volume but little feeling. It talks from the head and sings to the feet.

But the argul is all sentiment and sympathy. Its place is the desert; its home, we knew as we listened there on the rugs in front of our tents, is in the wastes of the sandy plain and the stillness of the starlit night.

ENDS SHOULD BE VARNISHED

Agricultural Department Tells How to Prevent Door From Sticking on Damp Days.

A door which sticks to the frame every damp day is not conducive to unruffled feelings on the part of those who use it. The forest products laboratory of the United States Department of Agriculture at Madison, Wis., has made public a method which obviates the difficulty.

Wood specialists there say that the fact that the top and bottom edges of a door are practically always left unfinished is largely responsible for its troublesome habit of swelling and shrinking. The exposed ends of the vertical stiles give the most bother, because wood picks up or gives off moisture more rapidly through surfaces cut across the grain than through those cut parallel to the grain.

If the doors in a house are to shut easily and fit tightly, it is important that their top and bottom edges be protected by paint or varnish. If it is necessary to refit the door after it is hung, the freshly exposed surface should be refinished at once.

Used Nature's Gifts.

There are no indications that in remote time either oil or gas was put to much practical use as modern people understand that term, but there is little doubt that priests of the fire-worshipping cult which flourished in old Persia made "good things" out of the phenomena. Not far from Beku are the ruins of a temple of the cult which is believed to have been in existence for more than 2,500 years. Tower beacons and altars are provided with channels concealed in the masonry, which demonstrate that gasfiting is not a craft of modern birth. These channels led from fissures in the earth which once furnished natural gas. To this temple came pilgrims from all parts of the East as late as the eighties of the last century. Besides the walls of the temple today stands a modern refinery, furnishing an emphatic contrast in the old and new uses of Nature's gift of oil and gas.

Love.

"Dear Mame: What you asked me about did I love Charlie, well, dear, it's this way. I'm afraid if I don't take him I'll be sorry, and if I do I'll regret it, because I can't live without him any more than I expect I'll be able to live with him. It's just so exciting being miserable until I'm happy, that if I ain't in love with him I might as well find it out one way as another, and so we're going to get married if I don't change my mind, and if I do, the Lord have mercy on my soul, Mame, because he's an awful lemon if he has got a job! So that's how it is, dearie, and they tell me it's just perfectly natural, like the measles.

"I'll send you an invitation, and when you see me walking down the aisle with him, for the love of Mike, Mame, don't giggle. This is too darned serious for you to act like you feel like.

Exaggerations.

"America is a wonderful country," said the distinguished visitor as the ship was landing.

"Yes," ventured the intrepid interviewer; "but it isn't nearly as extraordinary as you gentlemen from abroad make it appear when you write your first impressions of it."

Time Enough.

"Am I right in surmising that you have something of serious import to say to my daughter?"

"Oh, no, sir. I'm merely going to propose to her. I'll talk over the serious details with you after the wedding."—Detroit Times.

INSPIRATION ON THE WING

Great Compositions That Seem to Have Been Awaiting the Moment of Their Birth.

Charles Kingsley returned home one night rather dejected because a sermon he had preached that day in London had proved a little too "socialistic" for the incumbent. Instead of going to bed he paced back and forth in front of the fire, and his wife, knowing he was composing, left him, and retired. In the morning he related to her that moving lyric:

"Three fishers went sailing out into the west,
Out into the west as the sun went down."

There is a tablet in the porch of Wrexham church to the memory of Bishop Heber, which records that the most popular of all missionary hymns was composed in the town. Reginald Heber, who was then vicar of Hodnet, happened to be staying at the vicarage with his father-in-law, Dr. Shipley, dean of St. Asaph's, who was to preach a missionary sermon on the Sunday.

Heber and other friends were assembled in the library on the Saturday, when the dean asked his son-in-law if he could write something for the service next morning. Heber retired to the farther end of the room for the purpose and at the end of 15 minutes he read the first three of the four verses of which the famous hymn, "From Greenland's Icy Mountains," consists.

His hearers were delighted, but Heber said the sense was not complete, and devoted another five minutes to the fourth stanza.

CAN NOT HIDE WEAKNESSES

Philadelphia Writer Draws a Moral From the Life and Works of Two Men.

There were two men. One, in order to hide his faults from the eyes of the public, surrounded himself with many friends, better than himself in character.

The other man had a single friend, as sterling in character, sympathies and perceptions as himself.

In the first case the man fooled the public, which seemed to see him through his friends.

In the second case, however, the man and his friend were misunderstood and neglected by the public.

The first man, during life, was praised and flattered, for, being very wealthy, he could very easily purchase empty words, but not loved or respected.

The second man, after death, was at last understood, respected, honored and loved, but to no avail; for he could not be brought back from the grave.

It was a case of the same old story—of an unjust, blind world.

Moral—Armor will not hide one's weaknesses.—Charles Fingerman, in the Philadelphia Record.

Thoroughbreds and Jackasses.

The Baldwin locomotive works got an order for a monster locomotive. It was shipped in fifteen days.

"How did you do it?" one of the officials was asked.

"Organization," he responded. "Organization is the art of getting men to respond like thoroughbreds. When you cluck to a thoroughbred he gives you all the speed and strength of heart and sinew he has in him. When you cluck to a jackass he kicks."

Here is an illustration worth while, which surely applies to men as well as lower animals.

A wonderful thing is the ability to respond with complete efficiency whenever called upon.

And a more wonderful thing is to be able to get other men to respond that way when you call upon them. That is what the great men of industry—as well as of war—have been able to accomplish.—Gulf Coast Lumberman.

Practical Bible Warning.

"There are extraordinary sarcasms in coincidences," says Alexander Black, author of "The Seventh Angel" and "The Great Desire." "One night a thief made off with my overcoat from a restaurant. It was not the sort of restaurant in which one is admonished to be alert. Moreover, I had never been robbed of anything in my life. I had had no admittance experience. Naturally the incident made a rather profound impression. The weather deepened that impression.

"That same night I happened to open my Bible to verify the location of the verse from which I took the title of 'The Seventh Angel.' And in the verse immediately preceding I read these startling words: 'Blessed is he that watcheth and keepeth his garments.'"

Monroe Was Jefferson's Secretary.

Although James Monroe, who was to become one of our most famous Presidents, played his part in the Revolutionary war with gallantry, and was wounded at the battle of Trenton, it was after that wound had forced his retirement to private life that he got his real start on the path that was to carry him to fame. Upon receiving his wound the young man, who had previously been promoted to a captaincy by Gen. Washington, returned to his home in Virginia and took up the study of law. He entered the office of Thomas Jefferson, who was then governor of Virginia. Jefferson had a large library, and inspired Monroe with a desire for study. The two formed a great attachment, and Jefferson made the young man his secretary.

MAY TRANSPORT LIQUORS FOR CERTAIN PURPOSES

Austin, Texas, July 1.—An express company or other common carrier in Texas does not violate the law by transporting intoxicating liquors under direction of the state health officer when such liquor is secured by him in the performance of his duties, the attorney general's department ruled today. Neither do these agencies violate the law when a prosecuting official ships liquors for analytical purposes needed in prosecutions.

BOY SCOUT HONORED

Charleston, W. Va., June 29.—Dale Johnson, an eighty-five pound Boy Scout, has been given the Scout medal of honor for saving the life of Mrs. Rose Ashworth here at the peril of his own.

Scout Johnson's deed required not only courage, but presence of mind and skill, because he entered a room of her burning home, wrapped Mrs. Ashworth in a wet blanket, and carried her through smoke and flames to safety. The presentation of the medal was made in the Supreme Court room here in the presence of a distinguished company.

VOLCANO ON RAMPAGE

Messina, Italy, June 30.—The eruption of the Stromboli volcano is accompanied by tremors which are felt 30 miles away, shaking adjacent islands. Flames and black clouds today were plainly seen from Messina. The shores of the island are lined with people praying for an abatement of the fury of the volcano.

ELECTRIC MACHINE WILL ELIMINATE BOLL WEEVILS

San Antonio, Texas, June 30.—A machine to eliminate the boll weevil through the use of electricity is the latest product of the scientific world in the interest of the farmer. The machine has been perfected only recently, but numerous experiments conducted in this vicinity have proven its merits.

The machine is small and compact, weighing less than a hundred pounds and can be attached to the ordinary cotton cultivator. By the use of a small one-half horse power motor and generator a high tension current of approximately 18,000 volts is generated. Such a current already had been proven sufficient to kill bugs and insects but the problem was to adapt it to the cotton-field. In the machine recently perfected, the inventor, W. C. Banks of Austin, has removed all obstacles to the successful use of electricity in the fields at the same time insuring against injury to the farmer of mules because of the small amperage.

Experiments had been conducted by Mr. Banks with his machine for the last several years. Last year it was perfected sufficiently to be tried out in cotton fields near Lockhart and proved an undoubted success.

N. E. A. MEETING

Des Moines, Iowa, July 1.—The fifty-ninth annual convention of the National Educational Association opened here today with the meeting of the National Council of Education which convenes for a few days in advance of the general association.

The two meetings held today were presided over by the president of the council, Dr. Homer H. Seerley, president of Iowa State Teachers' College, Cedar Falls, Ia. The forenoon session was devoted to informal conferences, including a report of the committee on state administration of schools and a preliminary report of the committee on character and citizenship education.

At the afternoon session the National Council will discuss the report of its committee on rural education, which will be presented by the committee chairman, Dr. John F. Sims, president of the State Normal School at Stevens Point, Wis.

The demands which have been made upon the Des Moines housing committee and the advance registration indicate that the attendance this year will be one of the largest ever recorded, estimates varying from six to ten thousand.

SMALLEST COTTON PRODUCTION

Washington, July 1.—Cotton production this year promises to be the smallest in the last quarter of a century, today's forecast by the Department of agriculture indicated.

LONG STEP TAKEN IN EDUCATIONAL ADVANCEMENT

Garden City, Kan., June 29.—What is described as one of the most elaborate and complete consolidated school plants in America has just been dedicated at Holcomb, seven miles west of Garden City on the western Kansas prairie. The plant cost $225,000.

Seven school districts joined to construct the single plant where the pupils may have the advantage of a city school, including manual training, domestic science and scientific training of several varieties. Six one-room schools of the old type and a three-room school at Holcomb were abandoned in favor of the consolidated project.

The pupils are transported to the school by motor busses driven by teachers who receive $20 a month for this extra work. The busses have a capacity of thirty to forty pupils.

The Holcomb consolidated school district has an area of 124 1/2 square miles, the school population at present is 375. The new plant has a capacity of 650 grade and high school pupils.

The consolidated school group consists of seven buildings in all, with others to be added later, a first-class farm for instruction in practical agriculture, and a large athletic field. In addition to the main high school building and a grade school building there is a large garage for housing the motor busses, a cottage for the superintendent, a faculty home, cottage for the agricultural instructor and farm superintendent, and a cottage for the janitor.

Health turns the Clock Backward

Pile Sufferers Find a Correction

(Thursday Health Talk No. 11.)
(By R. W. Zilar, D. C.)

Piles or hemorrhoids are a form of rectal tumor primarily due to lack of tone in the muscles of the parts affected, and secondarily to straining. The straining may be costiveness, or from muscular exertion.

Some forms of piles are quickly responsive but the fibrous or connective tissue piles are slow. Chiropactic spinal adjustments will remove the primary cause of piles, which is lack of tone in the parts affected. Pressure on the spinal nerves in the lumbar region causes this lack of tone and when the pressure is removed the piles gradually disappear.

SUFFERED 20 YEARS BEFORE HEALTH CAME

"I suffered twenty years from chronic stomach trouble and piles. I tried all kinds of drugs, patent medicines and several doctors without permanent relief. In June, 1919, I started Chiropactic. I was relieved of my stomach trouble and the piles showed a gradual improvement until well. I have done more work in the past few months than in any similar period in six years."—J. S. Lumby, Chiropactic Research Bureau Statement, No. 1266-L.

SHOOTING AT DOUGLASS

Douglass was the scene of a shooting scrape Sunday morning, and as the result Al Lloyd is in the Smith Hospital with several buckshot wounds in evidence. R. M. Neil was arrested for the shooting and gave bond for his appearance Wednesday for preliminary hearing.

From Sheriff Woodlan, who was called to the scene, it is learned that Lloyd approached a gathering of which Neil was one and announced his intention of killing the latter, accompanying his threats with insulting epithets. Neil was persuaded to go to his home nearby to avoid trouble. Lloyd followed him and repeated his threats. Mrs. Neil, who is a sister of Lloyd's wife, begged him to leave, but he refused to do so, stating that his business there was to kill Neil. This gentleman, who was within the house, seized a shotgun loaded with buckshot and fired upon his enemy through a screened window, four of the bullets taking effect. One shot struck Lloyd under the left shoulder blade, one penetrated the neck and ranged around, coming out under the chin, another struck the neck at the base of the jaw, went through and shattered the jawbone on the right side and still another passed through his left arm and into the side. The wounded man ran a short distance and fell. Dr. G. P. Campbell rendered surgical aid and Lloyd was brought to the Smith sanitarium. He states as a reason for his action that Neil had offended his wife.

NEGRO ATTEMPTS MURDER

Tom Stanley, negro, is in jail and faces trial for attempted murder and robbery. About 9 o'clock Saturday night he approached Mr. M. E. Martin, an employee of the hardwood mill, with the request for a loan of money, which was refused. About 11 o'clock the negro went to the mill, where Mr. Martin has his sleeping quarters, and found him dozing in bed. Wielding an implement for peeling the bark from logs, the negro struck the half awake man over the head, inflicting an ugly wound. The injured man was rushed to Dr. Tucker's home and first aid administered. The wounds are not necessarily fatal and it is thought Mr. Martin's recovery is assured. The would-be murderer was soon behind the bars.

ALFORD-LEE

Mr. C. A. Alford and Mrs. N. B. Lee were married Sunday evening, July 3, 1921, at the Methodist parsonage in this city, Rev. J. L. Miley officiating.

The wedding came as a complete surprise to the friends of the contracting parties, but that does not lessen the sincerity of the good wishes of all for the happiness and prosperity of the newlyweds.

Mr. Alford is one of the most successful insurance agents of this section of the country and has the confidence and esteem of all who know him. The bride has a wide circle of friends who have been attracted by her many admirable traits, and who will surely prove a worthy helpmeet to the man of her choice.

Mr. W. F. Martin of Berkeley, Cal., accompanied Mrs. Martin and their two children, Miss Muriel May and Master Donald W., were in the city Saturday en route to Attoyac for a visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Martin, this being his first visit since he left the old home nine years ago. Mr. Martin has been a member of the faculty of the University of California, one of the most famous educational institutions of America. The Sentinel hopes the visit of this family will be a thoroughly enjoyable one.

The Marigold Creamery has the distinction of putting out ice cream with the highest percentage of butter fat of any ice cream factory in East Texas, according to Mr. Hunter, state pure food and drug inspector, who was examining the plant one day this week. One Nacogdoches establishment had to pay a fine of $42 on account of not having the percentage of butter fat in its ice cream as required by the law. Mr. Muckleroy is doing his best to manufacture an ice cream measuring up in every way to anything put out in Nacogdoches.

The good people of Nacogdoches continue to help the storm sufferers of Melrose. One Nacogdoches man gave a wagon load of beds and bed clothes, and even the working girls are contributing out of their earnings to help. And then there are people who say there are not good people any more to be found in the world.

Miss Anna Laura Henderson, one of the valued teachers of the Nacogdoches school, left Tuesday for a visit with homefolks at Naples.

The grass on the high school campus was mowed and raked Wednesday which vastly improves the appearance of the premises.

Mr. Sam Watkins, one of the progressive residents of the Linn Flat neighborhood, was a business visitor in the city Tuesday.

Swimming parties were popular Tuesday night and a number of young people visited the lakes in search of relief from the excessive heat.

Home grown watermelons are coming in and selling at figures within the reach of people of moderate means, millionaire prices having shrunk a little.

 attending school at Clarksville, has arrived in the city for a vacation visit with her mother, Mrs. Jennie V.
 Moore, six miles south of town.

The Lufkin ball team came up Sunday and trimmed our boys to the tune of 4 to 1, which was a mighty way to celebrate the Glorious Fourth—for the Nacogdochesans.

 Palestine a week ago for medical treatment, has gone to Abilene for a stay of several weeks with the hope of being benefited by the salubrious ried in the county clerk's office at sive manner.

NARROW ESCAPE

There is one man who resides in the country who will probably exercise more care in future when attempting to negotiate a railroad grade crossing.
 Late Monday afternoon this man,
 who came in for a supply of ice, undertook to cross the tracks at the ice plant in front of a moving train.
 He ignored or did not see the signals of the flagman stationed at the crossing and drove up on the tracks just as the engine arrived. Seeing that collision was inevitable, the driver whirled his car around facing the engine, which struck the machine and pushed it for some distance along the ties. The frantic signals of the flagman had caused the engineer to slow down, which accounts for the escape of the autoist with no further damage than a bent fender. "It's better to be safe than sorry." Always stop and look carefully before driving upon a railroad track. The auto driver's name could not be learned.

BERMUDA GRASS DAY A BIG SUCCESS

Reports from the various foremen of grass-planting crews that spent the "Glorious Fourth" in saving our big road investment proves that the whole undertaking was a big success.

The reporter regrets very much that time and space will not allow the publication of every name represented in the undertaking. Many individuals distinguished themselves by hard hitting and a long drawn-out reach that their friends didn't suspect them with.

Henry Millard's crew, on the Mahl road, planted 24 loads of sod. Henry reports much enthusiasm and hard work on the part of his men.

Bob Millard's crew on the Appleby road covered probably more distance than any other crew due to the fact that this particular road required less sodding than some others. The Mahl road was in need of a heavy application of grass, and, if those who worked under Henry Millard's direction tell the true story, this particular road was well treated.

Dunk Spradley directed a splendid crew from the city limits to the Alleta. This crew planted 30 loads of sod, which was loaded in the city limits under the direction of Tom Summers and others.

S. B. Hayter directed a crew of 25 men who started at the Big Loco dump and came east. This crew planted 28 loads of grass and is credited with a very fine job.

Josh Henson's crew on the Procella (Lufkin) road was the largest crew out, and from reports did a mighty fine job of work. This particular road was washing badly, owing to the many high sand dumps. Mr. Thomason said when the sod planted yesterday has a little time to spread, it will stop gul-lying. The reporter understands Mr.
 Henson had mighty good co-operation from Mr. Bob Jordan and A. J.
 Spradley.

B. S. Shirley and Ed Muckleroy directed a mighty good crew on the Woden road. One big accomplishment of this crew was the sodding of the big dump through the Carriso bottoms.

Douglass Patton and Greer Orton directed the work on the Chireno road and reported lots of pep and a big time.

Tom Maroney was in charge of a crew on the Martinsville road and those who made up this crew say that much good was accomplished.

The reporter is glad to say that he finds a ready willingness on the part of those who had a part in this big undertaking to set apart another day later on at which the task begun will be accomplished.

Appleby and Garrison did fine work on their roads. Commissioner A.
 B. Stoddard reports that every business house in Garrison was closed with most of her able-bodied men on the road.

Cushing will do her sodding on the 6th, so information comes to the reporter. We have not been able to get a report from Chireno, Martinsville or Swift.

DR. JOHN TOM SEALE

Dr. John Tom Seale, aged 59 years, died at 9:30 Sunday morning at his home in Neches after an illness of two months.

Dr. Seale was born in Greenville,
 Ala., and came with his father to Texas at the age of 10 years, the family locating at Melrose on what has since been known as the Seale plantation, where deceased grew to manhood.
 He studied medicine and attended the medical college at Mobile, from which institution he graduated, and returned to this county and entered upon the practice of his profession.

About 39 years ago he was married to Miss Emma Whitehead of Melrose, and to this union two children were born, one of whom, Miss Daisy Seale, survives him.

About 25 years ago he moved to Neches, where he has since been in the active practice of medicine, and has always held high rank in his profession, his reputation being that of one of the most successful practitioners in Southeast Texas.

Besides his daughter, Dr. Seale is survived by his wife and several brothers and sisters. These are Mrs. J.
 C. Harris of this city and Mrs. Henry R. Link of Palestine, Messrs. Allan Seale and James M. Seale of Houston and Arthur Seale of Nacogdoches.
 A large number of other relatives also survive him.

Interment was made at 10:30 Monday morning at Neches. His Nacogdo-ches relatives were unable to attend the funeral on account of train schedules which would not have made it possible to reach Neches before 10 o'clock Monday night, and swollen streams made an auto trip impossible.

The Sentinel offers its sincere sympathy to the bereaved family. An upright man and good citizen has gone to his reward.

Mrs. Linda Harrod Endorses Chamberlain's Tablets

"I suffered for years with stomach trouble and tried everything I heard of but the only relief I ever got was only temporary until last spring I saw Chamberlain's Tablets advertised and procured a bottle of them from our druggist. I got immediate relief from that dreadful heaviness and pain in the stomach after eating.
 Since taking two bottles I can eat anything I want without distress," writes Mrs. Linda Harrod, Ft. Wayne, Ind. Stripling, Haselwood & Co. c

MRS. W. Y. GARRISON

Mrs. W. Y. Garrison of Garrison has closed a deal for the purchase of three residence lots on South First street, belonging to G. W. Trammell and heretofore used as a lawn for his two-story dwelling, now occupied by V. A. Hebert. The deal was made through the East Texas Land Company.

Mrs. Garrison left this morning for Brownsville, but on her return will commence the construction of a handsome dwelling on the lots.

Suffered Intense Pain

"A few years ago when visiting relatives in Michigan something I had eaten brought on an attack of cholera morbus," writes Mrs. Celesta McVicker, Macon, Mo. "I suffered intense pain and had to go to bed. I got a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy, and one dose relieved the pain wonderfully. I took only two or three doses but they did the work." Stripling, Haselwood &
 Co. c

LAST CALL, W. O. W.

Esteemed Sovereigns:
 You must pay up your dues to the Camp at once, or go suspended. I am not allowed to carry you over 30 days under the laws governing the order, yet I have been kind and generous to some members by carrying them over and finally lose what I paid out for them, yet their loved ones were protected at my expense.
 From this time on I positively will not carry anyone over the time prescribed by the laws governing the order. It is your duty to your family to keep up your insurance and not my duty to beg you through the columns of the paper, or otherwise.

Timber and Grass Killer

A Boon to the Farmer and Stockman

A boon to the farmers and stockmen. Kills trees, green stumps, sprouts, Bermuda grass and other obnoxious grasses that farmers are bothered with. Gives wonderful results as a money and labor saver. Can also be used as an insecticide, by diluting 20 parts of water to one part of the liquid. It is fine for spraying low houses, hog pens, fruit trees, or anything an insecticide is needed for. One man by this method can do the work of four the old way, and do it more satisfactorily. Timber killed by this process causes stumps to rot out in 18 to 24 months. It is endorsed by hundreds of farmers and business men in this and other states. It is guaranteed to do the work or money refunded, when used according to directions. For
