TEXAS JANUARY SCHOOL APPOINTMENT $1.00

Austin, Texas, Jan. 18.—Miss Annie Webb Blanton, state superintendent of public instruction announced Tuesday the apportionment for January for public schools in Texas would be $1, which is an increase of 50 cents over the apportionment for December last.

The total apportionment for the year was $15 and of that amount but 50 percent has been made by the state board of education, owing to a lack of funds due to the slowness with which tax money has been coming in. Miss Blanton said that the increase in funds from which to make apportionments due the public schools, expected from taxes for the past year, would materially increase available funds and she expected that the state board of education would be able to increase the apportionment for the month of February, still more than was possible for the January apportionment.

The total apportionment for January will amount to approximately $1,298,000, the approximate total scholastic population being 1,298,000, Miss Blanton said.

The Times failed to make mention several days ago of the departure of Mr. Tom Goolsby and his excellent family from our city. Mr. Goolsby has accepted a position with Cason, Monk & Company, of Nacogdoches, which place he held previous to his employment with W. A. Taylor of this city. Mr. Goolsby made many friends in Timpson who regretted to see him leave.—Timpson Times, 11th.

MUST CLEAN UP BEFORE MARTIAL LAW IS LIFTED

Fort Worth, Texas, Jan. 17.—Governor Neff upon his arrival here today indicated that he had no intention of lifting martial law at Mexia in the immediate future. "The place will not be turned back to the civil authorities until every foot of the district is cleaned up," he said.

THE COMMON STORY

Hannibal, Mo., Jan. 17.—Four men in an automobile were killed this morning by a Burlington passenger train near Malmira, in West Hannibal.

OUR TROOPS IN ROME

Rome, Jan. 17.—Rome outdid itself today in extending a welcome to the American troops who came here to participate in tomorrow's ceremonies attending the bestowal of a congressional medal upon Italy's unknown soldiers. An American composite company from Coblenz, under Major General Henry T. Allen, was greeted by the strains of "The Star Spangled Banner" before an array of Italy's finest military and a cheering populace. The scene was the most spectacular that Rome has seen since the war.

PHYSICAL PHENOMENON

New York, Jan. 17.—Part of the heart of a chicken that was never hatched is beating today, the tenth anniversary of its removal from embryo and isolation by Dr. Alexis Carrel of the Rockefeller Institute. The tissue of the fragment is still growing and its pulsations are visible under a microscope, Dr. Carrel said. It grows so fast that it is subdivided every 48 hours.

ENFORCEMENT LEAGUE

Fort Worth, Texas, Jan. 17.—With 400 delegates present, the State Convention for Law Enforcement was called to order this morning at the First Christian church. Erskine Williams of Fort Worth presided and George Sargent of Dallas was secretary. Governor Neff delivered the principal address. Dr. P. A. Baker of Montgomery, Ala., general superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League, spoke this morning.

EFFECT OF GOOD ROADS

Chicago, Jan. 17.—No single public improvement has done more for the general good of the country than the development of the highway system. President Harding told the delegates to the National Good Roads Congress, which opened here today, in a personal message.

WANT 'EM 'DRY'

Fort Worth, Texas, Jan. 18.—A resolution calling for the defeat of any candidate for office who drinks intoxicants was adopted today by the law enforcement convention. Also officers-holders with appointive power were called upon to name only men who do not drink for positions in their departments.

SMITH-FISHER

Mr. Neal W. Smith and Miss Pauline Mae Fisher were united in marriage at Atlanta, Ga., January 16th. Both were formerly of Tennessee.

Mr. Smith came to Nacogdoches about two years ago and has been associated with the firm of Ben T. Wilson. He is one of the city's most promising young business men and has made many friends during his sojourn here.

Miss Fisher is a charming and capable young lady, having been in the service of the government for the past few years, and we feel sure that her friends will be numbered only by her acquaintances.

We are glad to have this happy young couple choose Nacogdoches as their home and wish to extend our hearty congratulations. They will be at home in the Banita Apartments about January 20th.

Is last year's marriage license record an indication that young folks are less loving?

Dr. C. W. Falvey of Lufkin was transacting business in the city Tuesday.

OBREGON ELIMINATES PASSPORT RESTRICTIONS

Nogales, Ariz., Jan. 18.—President Obregon of Mexico has signed a proclamation eliminating requirements for passports for Americans entering Mexico, it was stated in advices received here from Mexico City. President Harding, according to information received here, is expected to sign a similar proclamation affecting Mexican citizens entering the United States.

PAROLE REVOKED

Austin, Texas, Jan. 18.—Jewel Redwine, a paroled convict from Eastland county, must return to the penitentiary and serve the 18 years assessed by the court for murder. The Court of Criminal Appeals today rendered its decision in the case. A motion for a rehearing was overruled.

LIBERAL DONATION

Austin, Texas, Jan. 18.—The sum of $500, to be given to the Woodrow Wilson Foundation Fund was received from Colonel E. M. House of Washington by officials of the drive here. Colonel House requested that the donation come from his "home town, Austin." Former Attorney General Gregory, who officially opened the drive here last night, donated $250 to the fund. "Wilson Hour" will be observed at noon here today.

BIRTHDAY PARTY

Little Penelope, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. B. Hayter, gave a party Monday in commemoration of her third natal day, and a number of her small friends were present to join her in enjoyment of the occasion. A big cake, surmounted by three candles, was the attractive feature of the entertainment, and this, together with lots of other "goodies" and games engaged the happy attention of hostess and guests. They had a good time.

POLL TAX PAYMENT

To the Tax Collector:
Dear Sir—
Subject: Payment of poll taxes of the husband and wife.

Either poll tax can be paid without the payment of the other, and one or both poll taxes may be paid without the payment of the ad valorem tax, but the ad valorem tax cannot be paid unless both poll taxes assessed therewith are also paid.

The husband may pay the poll tax of his wife and receive a receipt therefor; in like manner, the wife may pay the poll tax of the husband and receive a receipt therefor. No order is required on the part of the husband or wife for the payment of the poll tax of the other, irrespective of whether or not they reside in a city of ten thousand inhabitants.

If residing in a city of ten thousand inhabitants or more, either the husband or wife must appear in person for the payment of poll taxes. If not residing in a city of ten thousand inhabitants or more, either the husband of the wife may, by written order, authorize some other person to pay one or both poll taxes, but in each instance the receipt or receipts must be sent to the husband or wife.

The laws of this state now levy a poll tax against a woman the same as against a man, and the payment of the woman's poll tax is just as obligatory as that of the man, and their community property can be held for the payment of both poll taxes. The state's lien against the community property cannot be avoided by making a separate assessment of the poll taxes.

Article 763, Revised Statutes, 1911, reads as follows: "All real and personal property held or owned by any person in this state shall be liable for all state and county taxes due by the owner thereof, including taxes on real estate, personal property and poll tax; and the collector of taxes shall levy on personal or real property to be found in his county to satisfy all delinquent taxes, any law to the contrary notwithstanding."

TENAHA AND JOAQUIN VOTE ROAD BOND ISSUE

An election was held in the Joaquin and Tenaha precincts last Saturday to determine whether or not bonds should be issued to the amount of $160,000—$60,000 for the Tenaha district and $100,000 for the Joaquin district.

The Times understands that the proposition carried, the vote being about 5-1-2 to 1 in favor of the bonds. The Tenaha bonds were voted for the purpose of building the highway leading from that city to a connection with the Timpson-Nacogdoches Highway.

A part of the Joaquin bonds will also be applied to building the highway through that precinct.

Timpson has sufficient bonds on hand to build her part of the highway, and Commissioner Bogard is exerting every effort possible to sell them. State and federal aid has been granted for one-half of the cost of construction of the highway between Timpson and the Attoyac.—Timpson Times.

"A TRUE GENTLEMAN"

A man that's clean inside and outside; who neither looks up to the rich nor down on the poor; who can lose without squealing; and who can win without bragging; considerate to women, children and old people; who is too brave to lie, too generous to cheat and too sensible to loaf, and who takes his share of the world's goods and lets other people have theirs, is our idea of a true gentleman.

And now the question comes—when such an ideal of a "true gentleman" is so possible of attainment and so glorious to behold, why doesn't every man be a true gentleman?

FUNERAL OF JOHN FLOYD

A large concourse of sorrowing friends of the family attended the funeral of John Floyd at 10 o'clock Tuesday-morning in Oak Grove cemetery, and many beautiful floral offerings were laid on the mound.

Services were held at the home of his father, Mr. J. F. Floyd, Revs. C. D. Atwell of the Episcopal church and E. G. Cooke of the Methodist church officiating. The Knights of Pythias, of which he was an honored member had charge of the funeral and accompanied the body to the grave. Owing to the destruction of the rituals of the order in the fire last week, the regular Pythian ceremonies were omitted.

The pallbearers were Messrs. S. P. Hayter, W. W. Hall, T. E. Baker, G. Engledow, Frank Sharp and Percy Blount.

Judge S. W. Blount, who knew the deceased in his boyhood, made a touching address on the life of Mr. Floyd, paying a fitting tribute to his character and worth.

Deceased is survived by his wife and two children, his father, Mr. J. F. Floyd, four brothers, Tom Floyd of Nacogdoches, Jim and Thad Floyd of Lufkin and Oscar Floyd of Garrison, and one sister, Mrs. B. F. Emmons of Nacogdoches.

He was born at San Augustine a little more than 44 years ago. His wife was formerly Miss Pauline Clark of Arkansas.

For years he had been bookkeeper for the Blount-Decker Lumber Company of Alto, and no man in the community stood higher in the esteem of his employers and the people of his home town. His death is universally regretted, and the stricken family have the heartfelt sympathy of a wide circle of friends.

One of the touching features of the funeral of Mr. John Floyd held Tuesday was the attendance in a body of his Sunday-school class of the Methodist church at Alto, who came to show their love and respect for their faithful teacher. They were in charge of Mayor Palmer of their city. Mr. and Mrs. Whiteman, Mrs. Decker and Mrs. C. C. Francia were also of the party.

RUSSIA'S DELEGATE

Moscow, Jan. 18.—Either Premier Lenine or Foreign Minister Chitcherin will head the Russian soviet delegation to the Genoa economic conference, it was officially announced today.

READY FOR BUSINESS BY FEBRUARY FIRST

Athens, Texas, Jan. 17, 1922. H. L. McKnight, Secretary of Chamber of Commerce, Nacogdoches, Texas:

Loading machinery. Put notice in paper Nacogdoches Iron Works ready for business February first.

A. W. Simmons.

Referring to this announcement, let me say that Messrs. Simmons and Minick, the owners of the Nacogdoches Iron Works, are two young experienced workmen who have made good in the business, and who have saved enough from their earnings to put in a modest plant here with facilities for turning out reasonable repair jobs in iron.

These young men deserve to succeed, and they will succeed if given a reasonable share of our business.

Nacogdoches had an opportunity to secure the Lufkin Foundry & Machine works. She failed to take the opportunity. Later, she secured a similar industry, but failed to give it the proper support. This same industry now employs 250 men in a North Texas city.

We must do our duty toward the new enterprise. H. L. McKnight.

C. OF C. MEETING

The board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce met Monday night to arrange for the annual membership drive meeting.

After going over the matter very thoroughly it was decided to hold a banquet at the Redland Hotel at 8 o'clock Friday night, January 20th. Plates will be laid for 120 people. The chief speaker of the occasion will be Mr. E. A. Peden, president of the Peden Iron & Steel Company of Houston. Mr. Peden is one of the outstanding business men of Texas, and of the Southwest. He has been active in chamber of commerce work for many years, having at one time served as president of the Houston Chamber of Commerce for Texas during the war.

By every measurement he is easily classed as one of Texas' foremost citizens. And he comes to bring us a vigorous message of business optimism and good-will. The Peden Iron & Steel Company has branches at San Antonio and Fort Worth, in addition to the parent concern at Houston.

Tickets for the banquet will be distributed among the chamber of commerce membership today and tomorrow. If the committee fails to see you call up the secretary at 52, and ask for your ticket.

CHARY OF PARDONS

Fort Worth, Texas, Jan. 17.—Governor Neff, who left here this morning for Waco for a brief visit at his old home, announced that he would not issue any more penitentiary pardons until he had made another tour of inspection to the prison system. This announcement followed the presentation to Governor Neff of several pardon petitions.

ABOUT NACOGDOCHES

The Sunday issue of the Galveston News printed a pen-picture of Nacogdoches, city and county, which told in terse terms our capabilities and ambitions. One citizen is quoted as saying:

"We want the public to know that Nacogdoches is a live, modern community. That doesn't mean we want to ignore the past but we don't want it to make people forget what we are doing now and are going to do in the future."

The article, which is extremely well written, is a reflex of conditions in this county, and it should be widely circulated among people outside the state, few of whom really have a correct idea of the situation here. The article is illustrated with some beautiful views of cultivated fields and improved highways, and also presents a group picture of our county commissioners—Judge J. M. Marshall, Messrs. L. B. Moss, A. B. Stoddard, W. B. McKnight and F. M. Lyles.

NARCOTICS SEIZED

Fort Worth, Jan. 18.—Narcotics estimated to be worth $5,000 were seized here last night by the federal clean-up force. The drugs were imported from Mexico. Several arrests were made.

FACTORS IN DEPRESSION

To many persons the present business depression is infinitely more enigmatical than it really ought to be. There are causes for it, some of them quite simple to the analytical mind of the business expert.

It is obvious that the great world disturbance due to the war is a primary and continuing cause of the present condition. From this stem sprout off many factors which play a part in holding back the business awakening so earnestly sought by everyone of its many victims.

Entering into today's troubles are low productivity, the high cost of manufacturing, inefficient distribution and its high cost, the infinite variety of products, sluggish management of industry and poor financial and credit management. Anyone of these constitute a difficult barrier for business to hurdle.

While industrial production is higher than some time ago, it is still below normal. The individual is producing less. That in turn increases costs and in turn decreases sales. An inefficient system of distribution is a chronic sore on the body economic. The world, more especially the United States, has learned pretty well the art of economic production and consumption. Here in normal times these elements in the economic triangle have attained high efficiency and low cost, but the element of distribution of the products of the producers to the point desired by the consumers remains costly, wasteful and inefficient.

Trains of live cattle on their way to the packing centers of the West pass refrigerated trains of beef on their way to the consumers. Shiploads of raw cotton headed north pass shiploads of cotton goods on their way south. In the present era the high freight rates, transportation charges are higher than the cost of production and manufacture.

Until some of these troubles are eliminated, business will continue to suffer. Happily, the case is not one to puzzle the expert diagnostician. Isolating the causes, the business doctors can begin removing them. It is the consciousness of what's wrong that reduces the business gloom.

POISON BOOZE EVIL

Poison booze occupies almost as prominent place in the day's news as poison gas did in the days of the war, and it is difficult to say which is the more deadly. The drinker who indulges in the stuff that is sold under the name of liquor these days is taking a grave chance, and as the real "bottled in bond" contraband is becoming scarcer every day, that chance becomes infinitely greater.

The synthetic booze sold by the bootleggers is manufactured by unscrupulous men who have no regard for the law, and being criminals to the extent of risking jail for a few dollars in violation of state and federal statutes, they may be depended upon to go a step farther and market any kind of "dope" for which they can get money.

There are reckless souls who risk life and limb in speeding motor cars; there are others who test new parachute devices from the wings of flying airplanes, and still others who climb skyscrapers, or go over Niagara Falls, or dive from the top of Brooklyn bridge. All expect the reward of notoriety with its consequent vaudeville engagements for large sums, and then there are fools who drink bootleg rum. All the reward they can expect is to pose as central figures at a coroner's inquest.

NO SHORTAGE IN MISFORTUNE

The American Sugar Refining Company with 30,000 stockholders and a steady dividend record for 30 years, found it advisable in the face of conditions in the sugar business to discontinue dividend disbursements. The balance sheet of the Central Leather Company for June 30 shows a profit and loss deficit of $6,048,896, which compares with a surplus on March 31, 1920, of $30,640,498, a shrinkage of assets in 15 months of $36,681,394.

"Instances like these indicate the havoc that the fall of prices have wrought among the industrial companies. The common stock of the former company has sold down from a high of 118 3/4 last year to under 60 last week, and the common stock of the latter from 104 3/4 last year to 22 1/4.

"If the farmers who think they are the only sufferers from falling prices knew the facts about the losses of manufacturing and trading companies, they would be less unhappy about their own. There has been misery enough to go all around.—George E. Roberts in The Nation's Business.

A CURB FOR HOMICIDES

Since Texas first became a state, and through all the years down to the present time, she has had the unfortunate reputation, or rather notoriety of furnishing more cases of homicide than any other state in the union in proportion to population.

It is true that a large measure of injustice has been done her in that regard, but nevertheless the fact remains that human life is held far too cheap here.

There is hardly a day that Chronicle specials do not contain the report of one or more homicides, and it matters not under what circumstances any homicide occurs, or what cause brings it about, it places a demerit mark against the name of Texas which rich land and great areas of material resources can not offset or wipe out.

The press of Texas can perform no more useful public service than to endeavor to cultivate a public sentiment and develop a conception of society conduct and duty that will have the effect of stopping homicides, and thereby save the state from the stigma of lawlessness.

Such a task is not one to be performed in a day, because it involves educational processes which must operate on the minds of the younger generation; but in the meantime a curb can be put on homicides by legislation which will be in perfect accord with wise and well established principles of criminal law.

The great majority of homicides are committed by shooting with a pistol, and to carry a pistol except on one's own premises, or under certain exceptional conditions and circumstances prescribed by statute, is an unlawful act.

To illustrate: Any man who arms himself with a pistol or dirk or dagger or brass knucks and leaves his own premises, not being a traveler or officer of the law, violates a plain statute and therefore does a lawless act.

He treats a statute which has been in force in Texas for more than fifty years with contempt. If he does not expect to use the forbidden weapon then carrying it is without reason. If he expects to use it, or proposes to do so, he is clearly a violator of law at heart.

If he does use it and takes the life of his fellowman, he is twice a violator of the law, because his having the pistol in his possession was contrary to law, and unless the act of killing was justified by existing statute it was likewise a violation of the law.

Thus a man who has already proven himself disregardful of the laws of his country plies violation on violation.

It is a familiar principle of law, long established and applied in Texas, that if a man provokes a difficulty and thereby brings about such a condition that he is compelled to kill his fellowmen to protect himself from death or serious bodily injury, his unlawful act of provoking the difficulty limits his right of self defense and renders it imperfect.

What the law is can be best illustrated by a concrete case to be found in the Texas Criminal reports.

One man offered to another man an insult of such a nature that it almost invariably provokes a blow. The insulted man replied with a blow. In the course of conflict so arising the man who had been insulted and resented the insult with a blow was put in immediate peril of death or serious bodily injury and was obliged to kill in self defense the man who insulted him.

He was convicted of manslaughter and the conviction was affirmed on the ground that in law an insult does not justify a blow, hence the blow was unlawful, and the unlawful act brought about the necessity to kill, and the defendant could not make complete defense because of his unlawful act.

If men knew when they armed themselves with a pistol or dirk or dagger that if they took human life with it, when unlawfully carried, they would be deprived of the benefit of the plea of self-defense to the extent that their act would be manslaughter at least, it matters not to what peril they were put, there would be a great reduction in the number of deadly weapons carried, and a corresponding reduction in the number of homicides.—Houston Chronicle.

NACOGDOCHES TRADITIONS

About the year 1870, a brick mason named Swinburn, who had lived in the town of Nacogdoches for ten years or more with his wife and children, decided to go west and seek a home where more brick houses and brick chimneys were used. At Nacogdoches such work was not plentiful, because it was cheaper and easier to build the convenient and abundant timbers that grew large and lofty here. He became one of a number of settlers from Nacogdoches county who located near the village of Cotton Gin, in Freestone county, about seven miles east of where Mexia now stands. This was in the border of the prairies where building material was scarce.

Among these families who landed at Cotton Gin fifty years ago were also those of Tom Keys, whose son, Carl, is living there now and has a large number of descendants, and the Russells and Boyds from Douglass. Swinburn was a native of England. Two of his sons, Alva and John were soldiers in the Confederate army, and so were Tom Keys and his son Carl, both in Cundiff's company. Bill Crossland was with them. The number of descendants could not have been small.

And this was about the time that the town or village of Tehuacana was started, six miles west of Mexia and its Trinity University, a Cumberland Presbyterian institution, which educated many useful students, a number of them from Nacogdoches.

The Central railroad had just reached Groesbeck in Limestone county, twelve miles south of Mexia. Later this railroad was built to Corsicana, about forty miles north of Mexia, which town was afterwards located and named for a famous Mexican patriot who lived there and owned vast areas of land. Then E. N. Swinburn, the Englishman from Nacogdoches, was in town. He and his boys burned bricks and built Mexia. The first two houses were stores, and Swinburn owned one of these two. Cal Keys of Nacogdoches hauled the first load of brick to Mexia.

Appleby is a parallel to the story of Mexia, as to the fact that both were not started till after railroads had passed on. And Will Skeeters started the town by opening a little store there and operating a surprising market for poultry and eggs. Of course the Weatherlys, Hunts, Davidsons and Richardsons had lived about there many years. But Will Skeeters included or admitted them to the town. "They builded wiser than they knew." J.E.M.

In planning a visit to the United States Spain's king probably hopes that not many Americans will be his kingship against him.

According to a disarmament proposition the army of Paraguay would be reduced to 1,000 men. But how many, or rather how few, of them would be private soldiers?

Sometimes we feel that we are going to have a vacation next summer if we have to strike for it; and then again we're afraid if we strike the vacation might be too long.

The next national complication will be the holding out of big league stars for salary expansions while ducking Judge Landis' high fast ones close to the neck.

Following the example set by the Milwaukee city council, the Chicago councilmen have resolved, by a vote of 51 to 6, in favor of "wholesome" beer and light wines, but, as remarked on previous occasions, what's the use?

FARMER "GETS IT" BOTH WAYS

A letter from a Nebraska farmer to a manufacturer of farming implements is quoted in a current agricultural journal explaining why the farmer is buying only what he must have.

This farmer, passing up the perplexing question of high prices in money, gets at the question of what he has to sell and what he can buy in direct terms. He says he needs a wagon; but that if he buys one at current prices and pays for it in corn he will have to give 650 bushels. One does not wonder that the farmer hesitates to drive his new wagon loaded with corn 13 times to market to get the money to pay the implement man.

But the maker of the wagon writes in answer that even in selling the wagon on 100 percent higher than in 1914, his concern is taking a loss, and he pushes the blame over to the railroads. "At 12 cents a bushel increase in freight you are paying the railroads $78 more for transportation on the corn necessary to buy this wagon, therefore your increased contribution to the railroad company in getting this wagon out there and shipping enough corn to Chicago to pay for it, is $89.40."

The latter sum is considerable more than the cost of a wagon in 1914. It is truly a perplexing condition when so great and important a body of the country's producers is thus handicapped.

COMMISSIONERS' COURT

After transacting routine business and passing on the regular accounts, the commissioners court Monday appointed seven tiek eradicators to serve in various sections of the county. They were: L. Roy Mettauer, Chireno, Hamilton Davis, Douglass, John P. Weatherly and Bob Millard, Nacogdoches. W. F. Lloyd, Sacul and Cushing. C. H. Smith, Appleby, J. W. Martin, Martinsville. These appointments were made on petition of citizens of the several communities.

How are these new year resolutions holding up?

BEAUTIFUL MEMORIAL

The Masonic and Christian friends of the late Rev. G. W. C. Self have just placed a beautiful Vermont granite monument over his grave in the old Friendship cemetery near Cushing. This man of God had been a minister of the Gospel for 42 years, serving all this time in one group of churches. He was known and loved by thousands of the citizens of East Texas.

Many things are worth their weight in gold, synthetically speaking.

Suggested as a vaudeville act for the next home-talent show: A spelling bee for newspaper cartoonists and motion picture title writers.

The Nacogdochean Confession of Faith

Nacogdoches, Texas, January 1, 1922

To Our Friends, Business Associates, and the General Public:

At the beginning of the glad New Year, we take this opportunity of setting out this our Confession of Faith by which we propose to be guided during the year 1922:

First: We believe implicitly in our country, in our friends, and in ourselves. We believe in the future and what it holds for us. We believe in the gospel of Sunshine and in the God of Harvests. We believe in the city and county of Nacogdoches. We have never yet known three successive crop failures in Nacogdoches county. We are not expecting a failure this year.

We know the county is worth much more than it owes. We know that the productivity of our soil, plus the energy of our people, are assets far in excess of all our liabilities. And because we know this, we are confident. We are not afraid. We are willing to work hard and to wait, if need be, for a revival of business and a return of our old-time prosperity.

Complaint and criticism may have their just place in the established order of things, but they will avail little or nothing at this time. It's easier to find fault than to correct it. Our faith just now rests in action—vigorous, red-blooded action. We must work. We must look forward, not backward; up, not down. And above all else, we must hustle.

We believe that optimism is as essential to successful business as sunshine is to the growing plant. Fault-finding, when directed at the country at large, is about as effective as when directed at the elements. If you must criticise, tackle the weather. An ounce of hustle is worth a ton of discouragement.

With a long pull, a strong pull, a pull all together, we'll route the pessimist and revive business. We'll work and win. And we'll be happy in doing so. Who will join us? Will you?

SCRAP THE WARSHIPS

When Secretary Hughes made his proposal for the "scrapping" of capital warships the term conveyed a single meaning to most persons: that the vessels were to be destroyed either by being broken up or sent to the junk pile or by sinking.

No doubt that was Mr. Hughes' intention: that the nations should make a "clean sweep" of some 68 mighty fighting ships as a beginning of the great work of armament limitation. Annex B of the naval treaty now under discussion, provides six ways of dealing with the warships that are to be retired from service: sinking at sea, breaking up into scrap iron, conversion for commercial purposes, conversion for harbor or auxiliary use, use as targets and use as gunnery ships. Three of these schemes would permit the possible use of these vessels again in the emergency of war.

The treaty provides that if any of the signatories should become engaged in war involving naval operations, it may give notice to the others of the suspension of its obligations under that document. Obviously the latitude allowed as to methods of "disposal" of condemned capital ships affords great opportunity to a nation to evade the spirit of the agreement while fulfilling it to the letter.

America, France and Italy believe there should be as much actual "scrapping," that is breaking up or sinking, as possible. Great Britain and Japan apparently incline to the conversion policy. "The way to resume as we were reminded on an historic occasion, is to ruse." The way to scrap battleships is to scrap them in earnest so that they can never be used again for war. The policy of conversion, even when carried out in the fullest faith, would inevitably contain many difficulties and complications and give rise to countless misunderstandings.

The straight thing is to put the sentenced battleships permanently out of business. Then we shall be living up fully to the spirit of the agreement which is looked to so confidently as a safeguard of peace.

HARDING TO THE RESCUE

It is evident that President Harding is striving with all his powers to save his party. He is a leader of that party by reason of his position, whether in fact and effect of actuality or not. As a politician, he cannot be blamed for exerting great efforts to prevent the scrapping of the G. O. P. fighting ship.

But President Harding, as president of the American republic, as leader of the American people, as the executive head of a government not a party-part of the people, as the inevitable guide and guardian of the people of his country, people of all parties, of the people irrespective of party alignment and affiliation, has a higher fealty to remember, a finer loyalty to vindicate, a nobler duty to perform. He has a bigger job than saving a party, no matter how big that party, no matter how excellent its tenets, principles and history.

It is to be hoped that he will prove larger than party leaders sometimes demonstrate themselves to be; it is to be hoped that he will forget the expediency of salvaging a badly battered partisan organization for the time being and devote all his ability as a statesman, all his skill as a tactful leader, all his virtue of high patriotic impulse to the saving of America from error and mistakes just now.

America is bigger than any party, bigger than all parties, and Warren G. Harding is president of the great republic of America.

THE SEATING OF NEWBERRY

The dyed-in-the-wool republicans who voted to confirm his election, may try to fool themselves into believing Truman H. Newberry has really been exonerated by the vote of the senate in permitting him to retain his seat, which, according to accepted reports, was purchased by the expenditure of a staggering fund. But when the wrathful public in their political subdivisions have an opportunity to express disapproval at the polls, these senatorial politicians may, and certainly ought to, have forced upon them a realization that they blundered miserably.

Every vote Newberry received came from the republican line-up, 46 all told. Of the 41 votes cast against him, 32 were Democratic, the other 9 were from republicans, who, though loyal to their party under usual conditions, would not bring shame upon themselves and their constituents by endorsing the election of a senator upon whom grave shadow had fallen. Party or no party, they consider no man entitled to sit in the highest law-making body in the world if there is evidence that he obtained his office through corrupted method. Some partisan "hot-heads" who place politics above purity of the ballot, are going to hold this against them, but the public generally will commend them, and, more than that, their consciences will be undisturbed as they reflect upon the shameful senatorial proceeding. These high-minded Americans, casting their votes with the solid phalanx from the democrats are: Borah of Idaho, Capper of Kansas, Jones of Washington, Kenyon of Iowa, Ladd of North Dakota, LaFollette of Wisconsin, Norris of Nebraska, Norbeck of South Dakota and Southerland of West Virginia. Most of them, it will be noted, are from the western part of the country, where progressive ideas have on more than one occasion played havoc with the prejudiced politics of the East and North. Their states should be proud of them, while states who honored the 46 others should feel disgraced.

The 46 Newberry supporters were somewhat inconsistent, for the vote through which they seated the accused senator was on an amendment which provided, first, for an exoneration of Newberry, and second, for condemnation of the methods by which he obtained his election. This resolution held that the amount expended in Newberry's campaign, declared to have been $195,000, was too large, and that the expenditure of such sums in behalf of any candidate, with or without his knowledge or consent, is injurious to the perpetuity of free government, being contrary to a sound public policy; harmful to the honor and dignity of the senate and dangerous to government. It sounds fine, but loses its beauty when tacked on to an exoneration provision.

It would seem that some of the Newberry supporters used this straddling amendment to ease their consciences. As Senator Borah remarked, however, the amendment put the brand of shame on Newberry just as effectively as if he had been expelled. And, as Senator Kenyon declared, its adoption has brought shame to the senate.

One of the most interesting reports emanating from Washington since the daring and disgraceful action of the republican majority is to the effect that there might be an effort to reopen the case. When Senator Lorimer of Illinois, some years ago, was expelled, it was on the second hearing. Newberry, regardless of what 46 senators may order, is not entitled to sit in the senate, and if possible, another campaign should be brought to dislodge him.

Purification of politics can never come so long as United States senators or any other majority vote like those 46 who ignored the charges of corruption in the Newberry election.—Shreveport Journal.

THE ROAD TO SUCCESS

Down in Nashville, Tenn., is a negro, 57 years old, who runs an elevator in a department store. Amusing himself during his leisure hours by manipulating some old wire from a hay, he conceived the idea of fashioning it into a rat trap. The trap worked so well that he won a rat-catching competition held by the commercial club of that city. Now he has been offered $25,000 cash for the patent rights, or $5,000 down and five cents royalty on every trap sold.

All of this goes to prove the truth of the epigram of Elbert Hubbard, often incorrectly attributed to Emerson: "If a man write a better book, preach a better sermon, or make a better mouse trap than his neighbor, though he build his home in the woods the world will make a beaten path to his door." Conditions were not propitious for the attainment of even a modest fortune by the Nashville negro. Having reached the age of 57 without having advanced to any higher position than that of an elevator operator, he generally would have been regarded as one to whom no more opportunities would come.

The story of his case should be an inspiration to ambitious persons to whom success has not come. When one considers the countless things used by the human race, and the countless things in which mankind is interested, it seems as though nearly every person, if he chose wisely and applied to himself to it, could effect an improvement on at least one of that vast number and so win the world's homage.

There's no telling now when this disarmament conference will end. They put on all the fireworks at the opening and have nothing left for a grand finale.

If those Columbia University physiologists who are trying to "solve" poker will label their conclusions "Losing at Poker Made Impossible," the work is assured of a tremendous sale.

But then the next war can be fought with poison hooch.

THREE FIRES OCCUR WITHIN TWELVE HOURS

Three fires within twelve hours was the record in Nacogdoches Thursday afternoon and Friday morning. We are not particularly proud of this record, but we are proud of the splendid fight made by the volunteer fire company, the members of which waged a mighty battle and, together with the fine supply of water and the high pressure in the mains, enabled the boys to handle the situation and save the city from heavy loss.

At 5:25 Thursday afternoon an alarm was turned in from the residence of Rev. M. C. Johnson on North street, calling the department to subdue a blaze at the home of Mr. H. L. Petty, next door to the Johnson home. Children at play nearby discovered the fire on the roof and rushed to the rescue, tearing off the blazing shingles and extinguishing the flames. The house is owned by Dr. A. A. Nelson. The damage was trifling.

About 3 o'clock Friday morning another alarm sounded and the home of Dr. C. C. Pierce, on Magnolia street, was found to be wrapped in flames. The fire had evidently been burning for some time before the family discovered it and when the company and trucks arrived its progress had been so great that there was no possibility of saving the building. All the household effects were destroyed, the family barely escaped with what clothing they could hurriedly throw on. The building was an eight-room structure and was partially insured. No estimate of the loss was available when this story was written.

Within 15 minutes after the alarm from the Pierce residence was turned in, another alarm was sounded from the City Bakery. The firemen were still at Dr. Pierce's when notified of the bakery fire. They at once responded, having done all that could be done, and when they reached the bakery, which is in the heart of the business district, they found they had a fight on their hands. The hardest kind of work saved the building from destruction and prevented the flames from spreading to adjoining structures. The origin of the fire is a mystery, and there is strong suspicion of incendiarism. Night Watchman Biggs was in the bakery when the alarm was turned in from Dr. Pierce's. He hurried across the square and assisted the fire company in getting out the apparatus, and when they were on their way he returned to the north side of the square and discovered smoke gushing from the building. He had been absent about 15 minutes, and when he left for the fire station there was no sign of fire within the house.

The flames worked their way toward the front of the building, scorching the walls and burning out a portion of the ceiling. The fire started in a corner of the back room, and Mr. Fezell and the attaches of the bakery are positive there was nothing to cause a fire when at a late hour they left the premises. It is claimed by some that the rear wall was evidently sprinkled with coal oil, judging by the speed with which the flames spread during the 15 minutes of Mr. Biggs' absence. The stock and fixtures were badly damaged—most of them will prove a total loss, Mr. Fezell thinks. Insurance covering about one-third or one-half the loss was carried on the bakery equipment and stock. The building was owned by Mr. E. H. Blount and was fully protected from the damage sustained. Mr. Fezell will replace the bakery equipment as soon as it can be shipped here from the manufacturers and he will resume operations at the earliest possible date. In the meantime he will supply his customers with bakery products as usual, procuring them temporarily from another bakery. An early adjustment of his loss is expected.

Whatever his views on inaugurations, President Harding, in supporting Newberry, indicated that he does not believe in economical senatorial primaries.

A politician is a statesman who drilled for oil and struck gas.

Judge Landis would be a busy man if he had to pass on all grand stand plays.

The country will back the interstate commerce commission if it orders complete systems of automatic train control devices on the railroads, but it will not have any delusions about the order being carried out.

The very best and most convincing argument in favor of the bond issue is the present condition of the streets and places where sidewalks ought to be, following the late protracted rainy spell.

France's safety is the key to the whole European situation, says Premier Briand. What of France's ambitions?

IN HONOR OF MRS. BAKER

One of the most distinctive social events ever given in Nacogdoches took place on Friday evening, January 13th, when Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Harris of Harris Heights, entertained in honor of Mrs. Karle Wilson Baker.

Mrs. Baker's writings have won for her merited fame. She has been honored in many cities, and it was fitting that she should be thus honored in her home town.

It was equally fitting that Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Harris should be the ones to pay this graceful tribute to their gifted friend, for their home always has been a center for the best that old Nacogdoches stands for.

A large number of guests crowded the spacious rooms, and listened with increasing delight to each number of the program.

The evening opened with Mrs. Robert Lindsey at the piano, and to her superb accompaniment Mrs. Ambrose sang two beautiful numbers.

Little Carolyn Sturdevant and Charlotte Baker and Miss Virginia Harris recited shorter poems of Mrs. Baker's, and Mr. T. Tilford, as a reading, gave "The Lure of the Box Car," an unpublished poem of the honoree.

Mrs. Baker herself then gave several of her wonderful interpretations of her own work, including a gem of child verse and concluding with one of the group of four that won the prize for the best poem of the year.

A literary contest followed. Mr. Harris reading aloud quotations, the guests to piece the authors. Mrs. W. F. Price carried off the honors, and was presented with a copy of "Blue Smoke," Mrs. Baker's first published work.

Then Mr. Harris led Mrs. Baker forward and made a short speech in his happiest vein. He told Mrs. Baker of all the pride and love that Nacogdoches feels for her, and told it just as the audience always wanted her to know it. He then presented her with a gold pen, which he said was "not merely a piece of metal, but vibrant with the love of all her friends, and was to be an added inspiration when she wrote."

An interlude while the young daughters of the house and their friends served a luncheon that was poem in itself, then Mrs. Colley sang numbers from "Madame Butterfly," and "Annie Laurie," as an encore.

Mrs. Ambrose closed the program with, as an encore "The End of a Perfect Day."

On leaving, the moon swung low in the east, and as the parting guests stood on the terrace of that lovely home, and looked down on the lights of Nacogdoches "Glittering like a swarm of fire flies, tangled in a silver braid," the scene was one of matchless beauty, and blended with the song that was still ringing in the heart. All felt that we had "found at the end of a perfect day, the soul of a friend," our friend, Mrs. Karle Wilson Baker.

And that to Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Harris belonged our thanks and our appreciation.

Guest.

Turn On the Light

OWLS see better in the dark than they do in daylight. So do bats and one or two other freaks of animal life. But human beings do not.

Yet, it is peculiar how some of us persist in remaining in the dark on the very things that concerns us most.

For instance: now more than ever before, we ought to see that every cent we spend buys its full quota of value. Yet lots and lots of folks go blithely along making their everyday purchases with their eyes shut tight.

And so it's easy to be sure you're right.

Spend a few minutes a day running through the advertisements in this newspaper. Then buy the products that have proved up under the spotlight of consistent publicity.

Merchants and manufacturers who advertise invite the inspection of thousands of eyes.

Here in the advertising columns you see products that have made good before the critical audience of buyers. These products are full value products. They return you dollar for dollar.

Buy them. Read the advertisements and buy the advertised products.

Then you can know you're spending your money wisely

CAPITAL PUNISHMENT

The death penalty is believed to be well on its way back among the statutory enactments in Michigan. A riot which had the murder of a warden in a state prison, a few weeks ago as one of its prominent features is responsible for spirited revival of a demand for capital punishment, which was defeated in the last session of the legislature by a vote of 49 to 48. There remains enough opposition to the death penalty to compel a modeling of the proposed measure upon lines that will enclose only certain cases of homicide—as for instance the murder of policemen. It is probable that cases of unquestioned premeditation will be included. The fact that the convict who confessed to the killing the warden, has made other murderous attacks presumably because as "a lifer" he has no greater punishment to fear, is the explanation for stressing the necessity for a return of capital punishment.

IRELAND TO JOIN LEAGUE

It was a brief cable that announced the intention of the Irish Free State to join the League of Nations, but columns might be written about the significance of the decision. Ireland, achieving statehood in the British empire, its course dictated by every element of self-interest, turns to the League as a matter of course.

Memory needs to flash back only briefly to remember the days when the most bitter misrepresentations of the covenant in America were directed to the great numbers of our citizens who have at heart warm regard for the long unfortunate island of their ancestry. In vain did the advocates of world union set forth, irrefutably in reason, that the league could not possibly make Ireland's situation worse and might surely be counted upon to exercise a helpful influence for betterment. The false prophets who appealed to passion and prejudice clouded the issue, distorted the truth, and held up the league to scorn as an agency to enslave rather than to free.

Time is a great healer. And fact, reiterated in swiftly accumulating events, winnows theory. In the heated debate of 1920 many minds were clouded and truth obscured. The irresistible march of irrefutable circumstances is settling the argument.

G. O. P. chieftains tell Harding it's a case of soldiers' bonus or a democratic congress next fall. What they are keeping from him is that it's a case of democratic congress regardless of bonus, bonus or pocus.

For Torpid Liver

"Black-Draught is, in my opinion, the best liver medicine on the market," states Mrs. R. M. White, of Ketchikan, Alaska. She continues: "I had a pain in my chest after eating—tight, uncomfortable feeling—and this was very disagreeable and brought on headache. I was constipated and knew it was indigestion and inactive liver. I began the use of Black-Draught, night and morning, and it sure is splendid and certainly gives relief."

Thedford's BLACK-DRAUGHT

For over seventy years this purely vegetable preparation has been found beneficial by thousands of persons suffering from effects of a torpid, or slow-acting liver. Indigestion, biliousness, colic, coated tongue, dizziness, constipation, bitter taste, sleeplessness, lack of energy, pain in back, puffiness under the eyes—any or all of these symptoms often indicate that there is something the matter with your liver. You can't be too careful about the medicine you take. Be sure that the name, "Thedford's Black-Draught," is on the package. At all druggists.

Quiet Today

Mexia, Texas, Jan. 13.—The situation is quiet here today, business houses opening as usual. It was pointed out that the Limestone county grand jury is in session at Groesbeck, and J. I. Riddle, acting mayor, said every co-operation would be tendered the state forces. The state guardsmen will be stationed at a detention camp as guards, and will be used in raids or for police duty only if an emergency arrives, General Wolters announced.

Figures showed that prices for the last month in 13 of these cities, from which the 1913 statistics were available, had increased since that year 33.59 percent. During the month from November 15 to December 15, Dallas reported an increase of less than 5-10 of 1 percent. However, during the past year declines in Dallas were 14 percent. New York, with 59 percent, led in the increase average of retail food costs since 1913 and Dallas 48 percent.

NEWBERRY GETS SEAT FRAUD IS ENDORSED

Washington, Jan. 13.—Truman H. Newberry was seated as junior senator from Michigan by a resolution adopted by a vote of 46 to 41 in the United States senate yesterday.

All the votes cast for him were by republicans, while nine republicans and 32 democrats voted against him.

While the senate's action confirms Newberry's title to his seat, the same resolution contains a stinging denunciation of the methods employed by his campaign managers and condemns the excessive expenditure of money in senatorial contests.

WHIPPED, TARRED, FEATHERED

Pineland, Texas, Jan. 12.—Charles Sison, a guest at the hotel here since Monday was taken from his car Tuesday night, while on his way to Bronson, Texas, and whipped, tarred and feathered by masked men, according to Robert Hext, lumberman, and Johnnie Whitehead, farmer, who were in the car with him at the time of the alleged attack.

On his return to Pineland, Hext declared that he and Whitehead were taken from the car and bound, while the masked men took Sison into the woods.

"I don't know why they got him," Hext said. "When he came back he told us he had been whipped, tarred and feathered. Whitehead and I walked back to Pineland and the last I saw of Sison he was driving rapidly in the direction of Bronson."

OIL DISCOVERED NEAR SAN AUGUSTINE

San Augustine is entering the new year with an oil excitement. Mr. Jack Haynes, oil driller, has struck oil on the John Henry land some eight miles south of town. Just how much oil has been found cannot yet be determined, but the quality is said to be fine. It will be remembered by those who have kept in touch with this well that a former well drilled nearby developed so much water as the oil sand was being entered that it could not be shut off, but in the new well special care was taken not to enter the sand with the drill, but to stop just on top of the sand. The well stands about 70 feet in oil and a pump has been rigged up that is now pumping out the oil. The well is about 400 feet deep.

Here's hoping that a good well will develop in this shallow field.—San Augustine Tribune.

"SNAKEBITE" DOCTORS FEW IN NORTH DAKOTA

Washington, Jan. 12.—South Dakota has only seven physicians who "prescribe" for rattlesnake bites, according to Federal Prohibition Director Isaac Pearson, in a report to Commissioner Haynes today.

Furthermore, Mr. Pearson declares that there are no more drunkards in the streets of South Dakota.

Reports of liquor law violations are said to be few and far between, he said, despite the low price of corn, "which it was feared would tempt illicit distilling."

The Claxton Cafe, which recently moved into the rooms prepared for it in the building formerly occupied by the Lacy Drug Store, now has things about straightened out and is as neat as a pin.

DECREASE IN TRADE

Washington, Jan. 13.—A decrease of nearly a million dollars in the favorable trade balance of the United States in 1921 was indicated by the statistics for December issued by the Commerce Department. MARTIAL LAW PROCLAIMED IN MEXIA OIL FIELD

Austin, Texas, Jan. 12.—By proclamation issued today, Governor Neff declared martial law at Mexia and the surrounding oil field country. The proclamation specifies Justice Precinct 4 in Limestone county and Justice Precinct 5 in Freestone county. The order became effective at 5 o'clock this morning. Brigadier General Jacob F. Wolters is in command. He has the power to draw on the national guard forces of Texas for the men needed to enforce the law. Early this morning he had not ordered out any troops. The governor set forth his reason in a prologue to the proclamation which follows: "An intolerable situation exists in and near the town of Mexia, Texas, to-wit: The open and flagrant violation of the law in this that highway robbery is of frequent occurrence, accompanied in some cases by the murder of peaceful and law-abiding citizens; gaming houses are in operation day and night protected by arm men; intoxicating liquor is openly sold over the bar at so much per drink as well as in bottles and other containers; a multitude of unfortunate women ply their nefarious business in houses of ill-fame and local officers are either unable or unwilling to maintain and enforce the law; and, whereas, this condition heretofore has caused acts of violence on citizens of the state and there is now imminent danger of insurrection, tumult, riot and breach of the peace and serious personal danger to the inhabitants and the property of the citizens in the territory hereinafter described; and, whereas, Section 10, Article 4, of the constitution of Texas makes it the duty of the governor of the state to cause the laws to be faithfully executed; and, whereas, Section 7, Article 4, makes the governor the commander in chief of the military forces of the state," etc.

HUNGARIAN CREDITOR COLLECTS HIS DEBT
Gary, Ind., Jan. 14.—Gabor Toth of Budapest, Hungary, claimed a "Mrs. Davis," residing in New York, owed his 200 kronen and he put the case into the hands of Attorney A. M. Stein of Gary for collection. Toth claimed Mrs. Davis borrowed this money from him 10 years ago.

Attorney Stein consulted the present exchange rates and discovered that Hungarian kronen and cigar coupons have about the same value. At the present rate 200 kronen amount to about 17 cents, so the attorney added 10 years interest at 6 percent, bringing up the total to 28 cents. So he mailed Toth a check for thirty cents and along with it a bill for his services, as follows: Trip to New York and return $50; incidental expenses, $50; attorney's fees, $100. Total $200.

Toth will get his thirty cents, but he will have to dig up 240,000 kronen to satisfy the attorney's collection bill. So the country may as well be prepared for another uprising in the Balkans.

FIRE COMPANY GETS CHECK FOR GOOD WORK
That our people appreciate the good work done by our volunteer fire fighters is evidenced by the following letter, which was accompanied by a check for $25:

Nacogdoches, Texas, Jan. 16, 1922. I. L. Sturdevant, Chief, Volunteer Fire Company, No. 1, City:
Dear Sir—Enclosed find our check for $25 as our appreciation of services rendered by your company during the recent fire which occurred in the City Bakery and threatened our store. Our stock was not damaged in the least but had it not been for the efficient work of the fire company, the entire block would probably have been destroyed.

Yours very truly,

A PLEASING INNOVATION IN HIGH SCHOOL WORK

Chapel exercises at the high school Tuesday morning took a rather unusual turn from the regular channel. Superintendent Davis has inaugurated a custom that places the program for chapel hour in the hands of some teacher designated to serve for the day. Tuesday it was Mrs. Cain's duty to preside at chapel. Instead of addressing the school herself, she called on a number of her pupils for short talks.

Those who responded were Frederick Herrin, who gave a brief report on the governor's banquet held at the Redland Hotel, December 17; John Prince, Oleta Harris and Bennie Golub, each of who discussed the United States as the "Great Melting Pot"; and Morris McKnight discussed Nacogdoches' need for paving.

Those who heard these talks say that each pupil deserved credit for the effort made, and that the precedent established by Mrs. Cain will likely be followed by other members of the high school faculty.

Superintendent Davis heartily commended the program and the pupils who took part in it, and expressed the hope that the precedent established by this group of fearless Eighth Graders would become the fixed policy of all the high school grades.

WOMAN CREMATED IN HOME AT LINN FLAT
The home of Rev. Tom Nelson, a Baptist minister, a short distance north of Linn Flat, was destroyed by fire under peculiar circumstances about noon Saturday and one of his sisters perished in the flames.

It seems there are two sisters in the family, both well along in years. One is totally blind and helpless and the other almost blind and just able to get around, being afflicted with physical infirmities which render it difficult for her to move. The latter was in the yard burning trash Saturday, when her clothing caught fire and she managed to crawl into the house. Coming in contact with some combustible substance, the flames were communicated to the building, which was totally destroyed. The woman was burned to death, one of her legs dropping off as she was being carried from the house by neighbors who had been attracted to the fire. The other sister managed to crawl from her bed and out of the blazing house and was found some distance away in the yard.

The women lost their eyesight in their youth by picking cotton which had been sprinkled with paris green to destroy worms.

SENATOR COUSINS HERE
State Senator W. R. Cousins of this senatorial district, who is about as much at home in San Augustine as in any other part of the district, was here Monday.

Senator Cousins is now living on his farm at Lamerle. When asked about politics he stated he was thinking of making the race again and fill out two terms in the office. He expressed himself as being intensely interested in completing the building and equipment of the normal school at Nacogdoches; that this school was the first patronage that East Texas had received in locating state schools, and this normal would extend its benefits all over East Texas in turning out trained teachers.

While Senator Cousins says his big idea is to build and succeed in a safe way farming. To carry out this end he is giving considerable attention to his farming interests.—San Augustine Tribune.

Our stock was not damaged in the least but had it not been for the efficient work of the fire company, the entire block would probably have been destroyed.

Yours very truly,
Tucker, Hayter & Co.

Neuritis Victim Hardly Knows Danger

(Thursday Health Talk No. 39.)
(By Zilar Bros.)
The neuritis victim hardly knows the danger of this disease. Usually the pain is so persistent day and night that any measure of relief is welcome and no thought of future danger is possible.

UNCLE BEN SAYS—

"Nevvy, the healthy man generally finishes what he starts and the sick man is usually a starter who don't finish."

NEURITIS IS GONE

"For months I suffered with neuritis of the neck, shoulder and arms. After three months of osteopathy, during which I got ninety-seven treatments, I decided to try Chiropractic. In two weeks the pain had gone, and I have had other Chiropractic adjustments since but no return of the neuritis."—Lillian Harne, Chiropractic Research Bureau Statement No. 1293-L.

MAKE MONEY, GET AHEAD OF THE OTHER FELLOW BY PICKING SCRAPS OF TIME FROM THE WASTEBASKET

Abraham Lincoln would split rails all day in the forest and then after his day's work walk five miles to borrow a book to study and improve himself. It is said that George Washington in answer to a question of his mother as to why he studied so late at night, replied that he was working out the destiny of his country and he did.

There are hundreds of young people today who are desirous of gaining a practical education, but for one reason or another they cannot leave home to secure it, so they drag along from one year to the next in the same old rut. There are hundreds of others who cannot attend our school in person, but who are availing themselves of the opportunity offered by the Correspondence Department of our College, saving their leisure moments and investing them in an education that will mean thousands of dollars to them in the coming years.

You may say that you are not able to take a course, but the person who can least afford it is the one who needs it most, who should get it by all means at any sacrifice; it does not cost much.

Young friend, take advantage of your opportunity to gain a business education, use the moments that would otherwise be wasted. FOR TAX COLLECTOR

In this issue of the Sentinel will be found the announcement of Mr. R. E. Anderson of Cushing, who seeks the office of Tax Collector of Nacogdoches county. The Anderson family is well known in East Texas, and none has stood higher in the estimation of the people. The subject of this sketch is a son of Jack Anderson, and his grandfather was "Uncle John" Anderson, for long a resident of Garrison. For the past 18 years Mr. Anderson has been a resident of Cushing and for a long time bookkeeper for the well-known merchant, W. L. Payne. His training eminently fits him for the office, and if elected he will bring to bear upon its duties his very best efforts. He asks the voters to give him favorable consideration when they cast their ballots in the primary.

ALTO MAN DIED HERE

Mr. John E. Floyd, bookkeeper for the Blount-Decker Lumber Company of Alto, died in this city this morning at 7 o'clock and his body was taken to Nacogdoches on the noon train for burial. He was 44 years of age, and is survived by a number of relatives, among them being Mr. J. F. Floyd, his father, who is country treasurer of Nacogdoches county. Jim and Thad Floyd of Lufkin are brothers. He also leaves a wife and two children.

Mr. Floyd had a sudden attack of appendicitis, and was brought here for an operation. The appendix had burst, and a large amount of pus was found, which caused general peritonitis. It was realized from the first that his condition was very grave, there appearing to be little hope for his recovery.

While yet a boy, Mr. Floyd lost one of his arms, but this did not prevent him from developing into a self-supporting man. He worked for a number of years at his home in Nacogdoches, and finally located at Alto, where he became one of the lumber company's most valuable and trusted men.—Jacksonville Progress, 16th.

Mr. Russell Langford of Sherman is here for a visit with his mother, Mrs. C. A. Langford.

NEXT DOSE CALOMEL MAY SALIVATE YOU

It is Mercury, Quicksilver, Shocks Liver and Attacks Bones

Calomel salivation is horrible. It swells the tongue, loosens the teeth and starts rheumatism. There's no reason why a person should take sickening, salivating calomel when a few cents will buy a large bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone—a perfect substitute for calomel. It is a pleasant vegetable liquid which will start your liver just as surely as calomel, but it doesn't make you sick the next day and can not salivate.

Calomel is a dangerous drug, besides it may make you feel weak, sick and nauseated tomorrow. Don't lose a day's work. Take a spoonful of Dodson's Liver Tone and you will wake up feeling great. No salts necessary. Your druggist says if you don't find Dodson's Liver Tone acts better than treacherous calomel your money is waiting for you.

COMMISSIONER REINSTATED

Richardson, commissioner of precinct No. 4, was restored to office, pending formal trial at the next term of the district court upon charges preferred by A. O. Graham and others, of "official misconduct." Mr. Richardson was temporarily removed some weeks ago, Commissioners Parker being appointed in his stead. A provision of his reinstatement is that no labor contract or otherwise shall be let by him on the roads in precinct No. 4, or bills paid or ordered paid, pending formal trial as stated above, unless approved by the commissioner's court.—Lufkin News, 14th.

"Albitts never were in my line. I sell the Willard Battery. I'm dead sure it will give you more miles of constant service for every dollar you pay me when you buy it. It's the Threaded Rubber Insulation that does the trick. It lasts as long as the plates."

SUCCESSORS TO S. MINTZ & SON

G. W. L. WOODLAN

I take this method of notifying my friends that I am in the race for the office of Sheriff of Nacogdoches County, Texas, at the coming election, upon the grounds of my record as sheriff of your county at the present and in the past. I have no idea as to who my opponents, if one or more, will be; and in this connection I beg to advise that I will not try shrdlutaoin vise that I will not run or try to be elected upon the demerits of anyone, but solely upon the record that I have made as your sheriff. No one, however familiar he may be, can fill the office of a public servant or private institution as well as one who is thoroughly acquainted with the duties of said public office or private trust. I have given you the best that was in me, and upon this and the further assurance that I can render you even better service in the future than in the past, I am asking at your hands consideration and your vote for the office of sheriff, assuring you that no one could or would appreciate your efforts more in the furtherance of my candidacy than I.

Investigate the trust that you have placed in me, examine all books and records with which I have to deal, examine all reports, and on this I stand for re-election. It is your office to be entrusted to some individual; won't you let me be your choice.

I am striving all the time to further the good name of my county.

Respectfully,
G. W. L. Woodlan,
Candidate for Sheriff,
Nacogdoches County, Texas.
