NACOGDOCHES TRADITIONS

More about trees! The half has never been told as to Nacogdoches trees, and kindred subjects. Old timers here know that there were five prehistoric mounds on the grounds of the Nacogdoches High School. They were located irregularly, not in any geometric order, not in a line of a square, nor in a circle, most of them were too small to attract special notice, being five or ten feet high, and ten or fifteen feet in diameter. But there was one of these mounds that was large enough to interest the most ordinary observer. It was located on what is now known as Mound Street, on the west side across in front of the residence of S. W. Blount. There is a dwelling on this site. All of these mounds are gone now, having been razed for purposes of ordinary use. The hole or excavation from which the dirt probably obtained to build them was on the premises of the present homestead of W. F. Price survived the mounds for many years, but is now almost obliterated.

The big mound in the decade of 1850, was about twelve or fifteen feet high, and about 150 feet in diameter at its base. It was level on top and about 50 feet wide. It had venerable old trees growing about it, of native variety. Some large old dogwoods of crooked shapes were conspicuous. But the most notable tree stood on the top of this mound, not far from the center. It was an ordinary sugar maple, and appeared to be very old, but it was dwarfy and unshapely, neither tall nor broad spreading. School boys and girls climbed over and played under these trees, and romped and rolled over the mound in greatest glee. An old Spanish or Mexican graveyard was then in use located about fifty yards eastward from the mound. Some of the boys of more modern days consecrated the same ground by an affair known as the battle of Pottawatomie. Josh Hanson and Giles Haltom have never forgotten this. There were others and there was bloodshed. The rattle of small arms was like skirmish battles in the Civil War.

This was about forty years ago. There were several fine red oaks growing over the land. Some of the bullet scarred trees may be there yet. And some of these boys still bear bullet scars.

The central old cemetery was once shaded by many mammoth and venerable trees planted and pruned by nature's inimitable hand, and shading the time-honored tombstones at the graves of prominent pioneers. Among these marked monuments are the names of Haden Edwards, Frost Thorn, Adolphus Stone and Thomas J. Rusk. The cemetery is now called Oak Grove. But this is only a name.

There is one grave, one tomb or monument that ought to be there, but is sadly missing. That worthy name is Peyton F. Edwards. After he moved to El Paso many years ago, and ever during his eventful career, he often returned to visit his native birth, great old Nacogdoches, and he was always lavish in his demonstrations of affection for his old home and friends here. He was several times orator of the day on elaborate public occasions. In one of his eloquent addresses he expressed his warm devotion and veneration for the ancestral memories, and he said that when his fateful life ended he wished to be buried here among his bygone ancestors, his kindred and friends in the shadows of the sooting pines of this good old land. Alas for his final fate to sleep in a far distant rugged rocky region. J.E.M.

TO THOSE INTERESTED IN EDUCATION IN THIS COUNTY

Every prospective teacher and trustee in Nacogdoches county should be present next Saturday, April 8th, at the "Think Aloud Meeting" of the Educational Workers of our county. Are you going to be present, or are you going to stay on the outside and do your thinking to yourself? Please share your ideas with us and let us share our ideas with you. Texas ranks 34th in education among the states of the union. I should like to know how Nacogdoches county ranks among the counties of the state of Texas.

If we do not have something done between now and September 1st we shall have shorter terms and poorly paid, inefficient teachers for term of school.

Each school district in Nacogdoches county can do something for itself. If you are going to vote a MAINTENANCE TAX for next term, you had better get busy at once so it will be collected this year. If you cannot come, send someone in your place and let's give the boys and girls who are going to be men and women, a chance. We have some very interesting facts and figures to give you. Remember the day, April 8th, 1922, at 2 p. m. o'clock in the district court room. Are you going to be present?

Exier M. Lewis,
County Superintendent.

SHIRLEY A CANDIDATE

Mr. B. S. Shirley announces today his candidacy for the office of county clerk. He served four years as tax assessor of Nacogdoches county, and his acquaintance is therefore wide, being known to probably every property owner of the county. In that office he made good, and if elected clerk he would bring to bear upon the duties of the office the same painstaking care as was devoted to the place of assessor. Mr. Shirley asks his friends and the voters generally to consider his candidacy when they go to the primary polls.

LIBERAL FEDERAL LOANS FOR NACOGDOCHES COUNTY

The Sentinel learns that the federal Land Bank at Houston has granted Nacogdoches county favorable consideration of three times the number of applications as have come from any other association of the state. This puts the county association in better position to take care of loans to farmers than has been possible since the supreme court decision more than a year ago. More than $125,000 has been turned loose in this county since that time.

The loans of the county are now about $350,000. The capital stock of the Nacogdoches County Association is now $30,000. The original capital stock, under which the association was incorporated, was $10,000. These land bank loans are a blessing to farmers who could not otherwise secure money with which to conduct operations.

PRESBYTERIAN REPORT ON LAST YEAR'S WORK

The officers of the First Presbyterian church have completed the reports of the last year's work and these reports will be submitted to Presbytery when it meets at San Augustine on April 11th. Very favorable progress has been made during the church year. A number of new members have been received and the gifts to benevolent causes and to local support have been larger than ever before, in spite of the financial depression which exists all over the country. The gifts to all causes have averaged about $43 per member.

The month of April, beginning the new church year, will be devoted to the cause of Christian education and ministerial relief according to the progressive program of the Southern Presbyterian church. This program calls for a new cause each month during the year and it has been decided that special efforts will be made to interest Presbyterians in this particular line of work during April.

Some interesting facts have recently been prepared on this branch of church activity. It was shown in the previous year 169 candidates for the ministry were given aid, 6 candidates for medical missions and 23 young women candidates for home and foreign mission work were assisted; 20 young women and 63 young men were loaned money for their education, and over 100 ministers and 172 widows and 26 orphans of ministers were among those receiving relief. In addition nearly $700,000 was added to the endowment fund.

CULBERSON'S POSITION ON KU KLUX KLAN

The following letter from Senator Charles A. Culberson in answer to an inquiry as to his position regarding the Ku Klux Klan has the true ring to it and is what might have been expected from a man of his intelligence, experience and standing in the state and nation. As a law-abiding, law-loving citizen he could consistently have done no less than condemn the organization.

Mr. Culberson's letter follows: Washington, March 30, 1922. Major H. V. Fisher, Commercial Bank Building, Houston, Texas.

Dear Major—Your recent letter asking my position with reference to the order known as the Ku Klux Klan which is now in operation in our state was duly received and I answer at the earliest opportunity.

I have no affiliation directly or indirectly with this organization and I am unqualifiedly opposed to its operations. If not curbed, it will usurp the functions of the state and be destructive of government itself. It will indeed overthrow our Anglo-Saxon civilization in its relation to government. Steps should be taken, therefore, at once to arrest its progress and finally destroy it.

Appeal cannot be made to the Federal Government for this purpose for it is without jurisdiction unless application is made by Texas to the United States in the manner provided by the Constitution for protection against domestic violence, and this is unthinkable.

Fortunately, however, the power of the state is ample, and if no law now exists adequate to the occasion the Legislature may be called in extra session to supply this deficiency.

Truly your friend,
(Signed) C. A. Culberson.

DEMOCRATS MAKE CLEAN SWEEP IN KANSAS CITY

Kansas City, Mo., April 5.—The democrats made a clean sweep of the municipal elections here yesterday. The ticket headed by Frank Crowwell for mayor being sent into office by majorities estimated at from 5,000 to 10,000. Only one or two democratic candidates for minor offices were lagging behind, and their friends said that delayed returns would show victory for them.

FLOOD STAGES REACHED

Houston, Texas, April 5.—Flood stages have been reached in practically all the rivers of Central and East Texas, it was reported by the local weather bureau today.

Trinity Crest

Dallas, Texas, April 5.—The crest of the Trinity River flood reached Dallas today, in the opinion of Dr. Cline of the local weather bureau. Several persons were rescued from the lowlands last night, but there were no reports of loss of life. Railroad traffic in some sections of the state have been hampered by washouts, but no serious delays were reported.

Light Plant Out

Cuero, Texas, April 5.—Cuero today was without service from its power and light plant through the vagaries of the flood in the swollen Guadalupe River, which cut a 60 foot channel around the plant dam.

Business Suspended

Texarkana, Texas, April 5.—Three inches of rain fell here yesterday, virtually suspending business.

WANTS INFORMATION

Austin, Texas, April 5.—A letter from Mayor Aldridge of Dallas requesting Governor Neff to furnish information about gambling houses and bootlegger's operations in Dallas to the Dallas county grand jury was received at the governor's office this morning.

BAKER WINS MAYORALTY BY MAJORITY OF ONE

Following is the official report from Tuesday's municipal election:

For Mayor—
W. I. Baker 231
V. E. Middlebrook 230
For Alderman—
R. W. Haselwood 188
Herbert Schmidt 186
W. P. Smith 173
Tom Floyd 144
F. R. Penman 121
The total vote was 482, of which 81 were cast by women.

Mr. Baker's majority of one was a close shave, but it was just as good as a thousand so far as victory was concerned, and he is being heartily congratulated by his friends.

Judge Middlebrook's candidacy was not known until the middle of the morning, when, yielding to the solicitations of friends, he allowed his name to be used. He would have been elected if the rejected ballots had been properly made out, but several voters wrote his name in the blank space provided for an alternate vote, but failed to scratch out the name of his opponent. Others scratched Mr. Baker's name, but wrote Judge Middlebrook's name under the group of aldermanic candidates. Of course, all these votes were rejected by the judges, as they were defective and therefore illegal.

Messrs. Schmidt and Haselwood, the successful candidates for alderman, are to be congratulated upon their victory. They were opposed by good men.

UNEMPLOYMENT DECREASING

Washington, April 5.—Employment conditions throughout the country continue to improve, according to reports during the past ten days to the president's conference on unemployment, Chairman Wood announced today.

After a visit to the White House, two movie stars opined Warren would shine in the movies as Julius Caesar. It is evident that he has not made the same impression upon his partisans in congress.

Now only the senate stands between Mr. Harding and a decision on the bonus.

U. S. GOVERNMENT MAY OPERATE MINES

Washington, April 5.—The house labor committee by telegraph yesterday cabled to the principal coal operators to attend a wage conference with the mine workers in Washington next Monday.

Senator Borah declared on the senate floor that unless the operators and miners get together the government will have no alternative but to seize and operate the mines.

GRAND JURY INVESTIGATING

Denison, Texas, April 5.—Dr. W. L. Smith, a deacon who snatched the mask from the face of a klansman during the visit of members of the Ku Klux Klan at a local church Sunday night, has not revealed his name, although he intimated that he knew the man whom he exposed. The grand jury is investigating the melee in the church.

TO OPPOSE KU KLUX

Dallas, Texas, April 5.—Dallas today has a new organization as the outgrowth of the recent floggings here—the Dallas County Citizens League. Its avowed purpose is to oppose the Ku Klux Klan in Dallas county. A permanent committee, headed by H. M. Crane, took up the first day of executive work. The committee includes former Governor O. B. Colquitt, J. B. Caafil, G. H. Irish, A. O. Anderson, I. A. Hextel, Dan Sullivan, Ben C. Hamilton and C. M. Smithdeal.

WORKING ON WILSON DAM

Washington, April 5.—Resumption of work on the gigantic Wilson dam at Muscle Shoals, Ala., under charge army engineers was recommended today by the senate agricultural committee, which voted unanimously to press an amendment to the army supply bill providing an appropriation of $7,500,000 to finish the dam.

RIVER DUMP DAMAGED

The extent of damage by the flood waters of the Angelina river to the long dump leading away from the new bridge on the Lufkin-Nacogdoches highway will not be definitely known until the water recedes. It is a fact that something like 300 feet, more or less, of the dump on this side of the river has been washed away by the raging flood which went over the embankment yesterday morning and rose to the sills of the bridge proper. Parties living near the river say the stream went four feet higher than it has been known to go in the past fifteen years, and others say the river was never as high before this occasion except in 1884. Hundreds of people from Lufkin visited the scene yesterday in automobiles and saw the "ocean."

This is a great calamity, of course but it can be and will be overcome just as soon as possible. The commissioners' court may be depended upon to take the necessary steps to repair the damage as soon as it can be ascertained what will be required under the circumstances, while there is comfort in the knowledge that it was no worse than it was. It may be several days before travel can be resumed, as some temporary arrangement will have to be made for passage where the breaks occurred.—Lufkin News, 3d.

BURGLARY TUESDAY NIGHT

The drug store of Stripling, Haselwood & Company was entered by burglars some time after midnight Tuesday night, the thieves securing ingress through a skylight over the prescription case, evidently using a rope to lower themselves to the floor. They rifled the cash register, from which they abstracted about $80, and also raided the shelves and made away with a quantity of narcotics.

No clue has yet been found as to the identity of the robbers, though the officers hope to be able to trace the crime soon.

Our people would be relieved if the gang of burglars operating in the city recently could be run to earth.

INVESTIGATE THE KILLING OF U. S. ARMY OFFICER

Oklahoma City, Okla., April 5.—Preparations were made today to launch three separate inquiries into the events surrounding the death of Lieutenant Colonel Paul Ward Beck, assistant commandant at Post Field, Fort Bliss, Okla., who was killed by Jean P. Day, a wealthy oil operator and prominent Oklahoma attorney. The investigations planned are to be made by civil and military authorities and the prohibition director of this district.

ARMY OFFICER SHOT

Oklahoma City, April 4.—Lieutenant Colonel Paul W. Beck, commandant of the post field at Fort Sill, was shot to death here early today in the residence of Jean P. Day, a widely known oil operator. Day is held at his home in the custody of a deputy sheriff pending an investigation. According to a statement by R. W. Dick, an intimate acquaintance of the family, Day returned to his residence after escorting home a number of guests his wife had at an entertainment at cards and found Mrs. Day struggling in the arms of the army officer. Justice of the Peace McWilliams said an inquest probably would be held.

Slayer was Former Justice

Oklahoma City, April 4.—Jean P. Day, former state supreme court justice, today was held under $5,000 appearance bond pending investigation by a coroner's jury into the death of Lieutenant Colonel Paul W. Beck.

ROAD HOUSE KILLING

San Antonio, Texas, April 4.—Two were killed and a third seriously wounded in a pistol battle on the Frio City road last night. The dead are Miss Maria Favia, 18, and Jesus Pacheco, 35, of Schertz, Texas. The wounded man is Zveriano Aguilar, 22. Rough house tactics at a Frio inn, detective declared, precipitated the fight. Fourteen are held by the police pending an investigation.

UNRELIABLE EYESIGHT

Denison, Texas, April 4.—Persons who yesterday declared they were positive they recognized the Ku Klux Klansman whose mask was torn from his face by W. L. Smith, a deacon in the First Baptist church, when masked and robed men visited the church Sunday night, today are not sure they knew him.

MISS WEBB FOR CONGRESS

Austin, Texas, April 4.—Miss Annie Webb Blanton, state superintendent of education, said today that she will be a candidate for congress to fill the unexpired term of the late Lucian W. Parrish. She will also be a candidate for the next regular term from that district.

COSTLY OIL FIRE

Sapula, Okla., April 4.—The most spectacular and costly oil fire in the history of Salupa burned itself out after raging for thirty-six hours, causing damage estimated at $300,000.

LOUISIANA TORNADO

Natchitoches, La., April 5.—A storm struck Hyams, six miles above Natchitoches, late yesterday, destroying 13 tenant houses and wrecking eight others, among them being the Texas & Pacific freight depot, it was learned today.

STRIKE SITUATION

Washington, April 5.—President Lewis of the mine workers left Washington today for New York, having concluded his appearance before the house labor committee. He characterized the strike situation as satisfactory.

MASONS GET DONATION

Houston, Texas, April 5.—Property valued at $17,000 will ultimately go to the Masonic Orphans Home at Fort Worth and the Home for Aged Masons at Arlington under the will of T. V. Goss, a retired druggist.

CHAOS IN G. O. P. RANKS

When President Harding pleads for party solidarity, the question comes as to who is the party. Is every republican in congress supposed to do what the president says; or is the president supposed to do what the majority of the republican majority in congress wants done?

The republican party has no program. It is getting nowhere. It has no head. Other questions than the old ones that used to cause strict party cleavage have come to the front, and they are causing men with certain party labels to forget their labeling. When a party does not keep up with the times—when it fails to adopt new issues that are bound to cause division of opinion among voters; when it makes the label instead of the issue the thing; then it need not be surprised if its parts pull away from each other. The position of the president is somewhat pathetic. He went into office with such a tremendous majority that it seemed he was in a fine position to run things as chief of his party. But he has not run them.

Nobody is able to ride herd on the republican majority of this congress. It is made up of a lot of men, in its so-called majority party, who are as bitter foes on some questions as ever were a democrat and republican on any question. The man in the White House cannot get his party fellows in congress to think as he does on the bonus, naval and military legislation; among themselves they divide on agricultural legislation. The Middle Western republican and the New England republican are diametrically opposed on some things. There be those who see in this loosening of party ties a coming alignment which will take the old Eastern controllership and make of it only a memory. Perhaps before the next presidential election the republican party, frightened by democratic strength, will subordinate everything else to the fight to "stay in," but right now that party is pulling in a dozen different directions. It provides an excellent example of the lack of team work.

A BONUS QUESTION BOX

Q. How much does the bonus bill propose to distribute to the veterans?
A. About $400,000,000.

Q. Where does the bill propose to obtain this amount of money?
A. From the savings of government.

Q. What are the savings of government?
A. There are none. The treasury department reports that acute declines in income tax payments indicate a shortage of $200,000,000 for the fiscal year.

Q. Did the house of representatives know of the treasury department's statement when it passed the bill?
A. It did.

Q. What effect did the statement have?
A. It hurried action by those representatives who feared that delay might disclose even greater shortages.

Q. But if the bonus is to be paid from savings and only shortages and deficits are in sight, how are the soldiers going to be paid?
A. Do not ask embarrassing questions. Leave such things to your wise congressman.

Q. Why didn't the representative annex to the bonus bill a new taxation program that would make sure of enough money to pay the soldiers?
A. Tut! Tut! That wouldn't make any votes.

Q. But isn't it a bad thing for congress to pass a bonus bill without providing how the money is to be raised? Isn't that the same thing as over-drawing one's bank account?
A. Congress hasn't passed a bonus bill. Only the house has passed a bonus bill.

Q. But what is the difference between congress passing a bonus bill and the house passing a bonus bill?
A. The senate will answer that question, if the politicians have their way. Few senators stand for re-election this year. But all representatives must.

PAVEMENT RESEARCH

At Bates, Ill., there is the most interesting stretch of road pavement in this country. It is two miles long and is made up of 63 different sections. These sections represent 63 different kinds of construction, varying in material, thickness of road bed and manner of construction. There are all the ordinary types of pavement and many others, some of plain construction or asphalt or brick or wood, and others made in various combinations of these.

This crazy-quilt roadway is an experiment on the part of the government. It was finished last April, and ever since a corps of government engineers has been making observations on it, noting the effect of ordinary traffic, temperature changes and other factors. Soon it is to be subjected to the final test, that of very heavy traffic, with a fleet of ten-ton trucks from the war department. These are the army trucks that destroyed so many hundred miles of paved roads during the war.

There will perhaps be a half billion dollars spent on road paving this year and as much every year for a long time to come, and yet there is no dependable knowledge as to the most durable and economical types of construction. Here is a bit of practical research very much worth while. It may save untold millions, in every state in the Union, if the results are utilized by public officials and contractors.—Shreveport Journal.

VINDICATING BURLESON

It is doubtful if there was a more thankless job during the war than that of postmaster general of the United States. Added to the demoralizing effect upon the personnel of the postal service of higher wages in almost every industry, were endless partisan attacks from republican sources and vituperation from every disloyal publication and agency that suffered from wartime postal regulations.

It is interesting, therefore, to note that 14 months after the ending of the Burleson administration of the mails Postmaster General Work announces a "postal movement week" to begin May 1. The announced purpose, which indicates that Mr. Hays' campaign of words did not exactly work miracles in improving the service, is:

"To stimulate all employees of the department throughout the country to greater interest and greater enterprise in order to perfect the postal service of the country by enlisting the assistance of the public to the end that there may be a better co-operation between the patrons of the offices and the personnel of the system, for, in the last analysis, the real postal system of the country includes those who prepare mail for transmission as well as those who are employed in the postal system proper."

Which proves that when it comes to long-windedness Mr. Work will not have to take second place to Mr. Hays or anyone else. If a $20-a-week newspaper reporter wrote a sentence like that he would be sent scotching on his way dragging a tin can.

If any patron has found the postal service as conducted in peace-time by G. O. P. politicians an improvement over its administration during the war years, he has not been heard from. Yet there is no reason why its efficiency should not be greatly increased. Postal service pay is again higher than that paid in industry and should insure an efficient corps of employees. Other wartime handicaps have been eliminated. That the postal service has not greatly improved with their disappearance is the best indication that Mr. Burleson was more maligned than remiss in his duties.

BOX A CANDIDATE

I am a candidate for re-election to congress. I have not promised or stated that I would not be a candidate. Acquaintance, experience and length of service greatly increase the Congressman's power for good, if he is of the right kind.

Do not lie to the people, or trick them, is one plank of my platform. I stand for the following:

Attend to the business of the people and do it on the square. I have regularly attended the sessions of the House, participated in its work, diligently shared in the tasks of several important committees, promptly answered the many letters from the people, attended to thousands of departmental matters for soldiers, their families and all of my constituents, and served all the people, and not a few favorites.

I opposed the Esch-Cummins railroad bill with its increased rates and other wrongs against the people, and its violence to the constitution of Texas and every other state.

Every measure to improve marketing conditions and to liberalize farm credits has had my active support. I shall not change my course in this.

Keep guard at the gates of America to keep out the millions from Europe, Asia, Africa and Mexico who, if admitted, will first make a mess of America and later crowd our descendants out of the land of their fathers. I have worked unceasingly for the enactment and firm enforcement of the law which, though unsteadily enforced, has reduced foreign immigration by three-fourths.

The outrageous lawlessness of illicit distillers, bootleggers and narcotic peddlers extends from the remote thickets to New York and Washington. These offenders against the constitution and laws of the United States should be put in the penitentiary.

I will appreciate and try to deserve your support.

ENDORSES MISS LEWIS

As a teacher and believer in education, I heartily approve what Miss Lewis, our county superintendent, gave us on an educational line a few days ago.

Why is it we don't have more writings along the same line? Everyone will tell you, of course, that there is a need in an education. But how many of our country people are willing to reach down in their pockets and spend only a few cents for the benefit of their bright and energetic little children who are on the verge of growing up in ignorance. Many of our dozens of one-teacher schools have no tax whatever. Therefore, they have only four to six months of school. Ladies and gentlemen, it is time the educational affairs of our land and country should be given a few earnest thoughts.

Now, many of us know the conditions, so why not find some method of remedying these conditions? A few of us know that Texas ranks 38th in education and that most of the trouble lies with the country schools. As a teacher of country schools and having attended two different state institutions, it is reasonable to assume that I understand the situation fairly well.

My method is to get behind the farmers, talk to them, point out and explain how longer terms of school can be had. We have each year many educators visiting our high schools and colleges telling us how to manage our school system. But do we have a single one to visit our poor country schools where many teachers have never seen a high school or college? No, not one. Not more than one person out of 50 can tell you how Texas ranks in education. We are giving too much thought to the precious dollar and letting our dear boys and girls grow up with a fifth or a sixth grade education. Many of our people, mostly farmers, seem to believe as the Chinaman do, and will tell you "my father plowed an ox and he got by all right, so I'm going to plow an ox." Now, I'm not downing the farmer, for I am a farmer, although in a progressive and scientific way.

Many teachers are quitting the profession. Why? Simply because the term of school is too short and their salary is too small. I talked to not less than a dozen men teachers a few days ago, and not a single one of

TENAHA HOUSES WRECKED BY WEDNESDAY'S STORM

The Center Champion of Wednesday published the following concerning the storm which struck Tenaha early Wednesday morning:

A storm struck Tenaha this morning about 7 o'clock and two houses were wrecked and two slightly damaged, with one family all slightly injured and one other person injured, the extent of which was not known at the time the information was secured. The residence of Mr. Scurlock was completely wrecked and every member of his family received more or less injuries, none of which, however, were serious, or will be. The house of John Ferguson was completely demolished and Mr. Ferguson's sister, Mrs. Sistrunk, was injured, but it was thought that she was not seriously hurt. The homes of J. B. King and Wesley Robertson were slightly damaged and none of the occupants injured. This information was received by the courtesy of the Southwestern Telephone Co. The report stated that it was rumored that another house down the railroad from Tenaha had been wrecked but this could not be verified. It is not stated whether it was just a storm or a cyclone.

This is the only storm result that we have been able to find out as a result of the storm that struck this section this morning at about daylight.

THE SECRETARY

If he writes a letter, it is too long; if he sends a postal, it is too short; if he goes to a committee meeting, he's butting in; if he stays away, he's a shirker; if the crowd is slim at a luncheon, he should have called the members up; if he calls them up, he's a pest; if he duns a member for his dues, he's insulting; if he does not collect them, he's lazy; if a meeting is a howling success, the entertainment committee is praised; if it's a failure, the secretary is to blame; if he asks for suggestions, he's incompetent; if he doesn't he's bull-headed.

Ashes to ashes, dust to dust, If others won't do it, the Secretary must.

THE "OLD RELIABLE" THEDFORD'S BLACK-DRAUGHT

White Haired Alabama Lady Says She Has Seen Medicines Come and Go But The "Old Reliable" Thedford's Black-Draught Came and Stayed.

Dixon, Ala.—Is recommending Thedford's Black-Draught to her friends and neighbors here, Mrs. T. F. Parks, a well-known Jackson County lady, said: "I am getting up in years, my head is pretty white. I have seen medicines and remedies come and go but the old reliable came and stayed. I am talking of Black-Draught, a liver medicine we have used for years—one that can be depended upon and one that will do the work."

"Black-Draught will relieve indigestion and constipation if taken right, and I know for I tried it. It is the best thing I have ever found for the full, uncomfortable feeling after meals. Sour stomach and sick headache can be relieved by taking Black-Draught. It aids digestion, also aids the liver in throwing off impurities. I am glad to recommend Black-Draught, and do, to my friends and neighbors."

Thedford's Black-Draught is a standard household remedy with a record of over seventy years of successful use. Every one occasionally needs something to help cleanse the system of impurities. Try Black-Draught. Insist upon Thedford's, the genuine.

NACOGDOCHES ROTARIANS MAKE HIT AT CONVENTION

By Rotarian W. S. Davis

Twenty members of the Nacogdoches Rotary Club attended the 18th district Rotary convention at Mineral Wells, which was held Monday and Tuesday of this week. The party included: Dr. A. A. Nelson, F. R. Penman, Holland Smith, J. H. Muller, Rev. C. D. Atwell, E. H. Blount, Roland Jones, W. S. Davis, H. L. McKnight, T. Tilford, E. F. Davis, G. A. Blount, Robert Lindsey, W. D. Ambrose, Walter Gista, W. T. Orton, Link Summers, Claude Gramling, John Crawford and Jim Summers.

Some of the party returned home yesterday and reported that the Nacogdoches model luncheon was received with a bang. The program of the Nacogdoches model luncheon was received with favorable comments from all sides. The size of the delegation from Nacogdoches also attracted comment and the Nacogdoches club was warmly congratulated by Governor George Holmgren. These two features were not all the glory won by Nacogdoches at the convention. They probably attracted the attention of Rotary officers in the district more than any thing else, but most of the delegates will remember Nacogdoches by its Rotary orchestra which furnished music for a big ball held at Mineral Wells leading hotel.

The orchestra furnished music in the lobby of the hotel during the evening of the first day of the convention and again that night at the ball. It also furnished music for the Nacogdoches luncheon which was a demonstration in Class "D." Class D is the classification for the smallest Rotary clubs and the fact that Nacogdoches was chosen to demonstrate a luncheon in its classification was an honor of which the local club is justly proud.

The program presented by the local club was in the nature of a burlesque of the serious subjects which are common discussion in Rotary programs. These subjects included "Religious Life of the Community," by Rev. C. D. Atwell; "Our Schools," by T. Tilford; "Boys Work," Gene Blount; "Visions of the Chamber of Commerce," Hiram McKnight, and "Our City Roads," by Bob Davis. The program was arranged by E. H. Blount, who wrote the various parts taken and carried out to a fitting climax ending in an uproarious clamor with every speaker demanding to be heard by the club as the minute for closing arrived. The burlesque of the program was heightened by the singing of the Nacogdoches Rotary song upon which each speaker, concluding his "report." This song runs as follows: "Nacogdoches, Doches—

Beat of every land—
Our Rotarian band
Is from Doches, Doches;
That's where the tall pines grow."

It is sung to a catchy air and upon the president asking what disposal should be made of each report the club arose and sang "Doches."

The convention was attended by about one thousand delegates and was the largest convention ever held by the 18th district. The program of the convention was interesting and was very much enjoyed by those in attendance. The entertainment of the city of Mineral Wells was splendid and each delegate was shown every courtesy possible.

Several amusing incidents occurred in connection with the journey of the Nacogdoches Rotarians to Mineral Wells and during their stay there. Many advertising novelties were distributed. These were in various forms—ribbons, arm bands, bells, tinklers, feathers, streamers, etc. Each club also had its own banners with the name of the club which were worn by the delegates. In addition most of the delegates wore their luncheon badges which are about the size of a saucer and carry the member's nickname in big letters.

Robert Lindsey of the Nacogdoches delegation presented a striking appearance decked in his paper cap, badges, ribbons, feathers and bells, leading the Doches delegation in its songs and yells at the "Ten Years Younger" banquet Monday night.

Roland Jones, "Seedy" Atwell, Bob Davis, H. L. McKnight and Link Summers did not miss a number on the convention program and sat close up in front during all the proceedings.

Warren Ambrose secured a complete collection of all favors distributed which he wore on his hat.

Guy Blount was the largest delegate in attendance and Penny Penman enjoyed the distinction of being the best secretary present.

Dr. A. A. Nelson and Guy Blount drove their cars to Mineral Wells—each car carrying four delegates. Going up they drove to Dallas through the rain Saturday and will probably have to abandon their cars at Dallas on the return trip.

The Nacogdoches Rotarian orchestra composed of Jazzy Smith, Red Muller, Charley Gramling, Johnny Crawford and Jim Summers received many nice compliments and is going to have the distinction of appearing before Rotary gatherings in the future.

Most of the Nacogdoches delegation imbibed freely of the mineral waters on the first day. The next they sang:

"The waters of Mineral Wells will make you go
The water of Mineral Wells will make you go
The water of Mineral Wells will make you go—Crazy."

YOUNG MEN'S BIBLE CLASS

The Young Men's Sunday-school class at the Queen Theater had a great class yesterday. Eighty-six were present and in this number were a few out-of-town visitors who made short interesting talks after their introduction to the class. The class believes in friendliness and makes it a point to get acquainted with every visitor and new members each Sunday.

The class is growing in interest too. They donated $100,000 to the Baylor University Library Fund. This amount does not have to be paid all at once, but in a year's time, and, of course, this amount will be paid without any special collections. It will be taken care of out of the general fund. The class is doing great things, but there are others who should be in the class. Come out next Sunday.

ROTARIANS COME HOME AFTER SPLENDID MEETING

The first contingent of Nacogdoches Rotarians to arrive from the Mineral Wells convention, came in on the T. & N. O. yesterday afternoon and consisted of Rev. C. D. Atwell, H. L. McKnight, W. S. Davis, W. T. Orton and T. Tilford. Other members of the party of 18 are expected to arrive on the T. & N. O. this afternoon.

The Sentinel interviewed each one of the first arrivals and is pleased to say that Nacogdoches was well represented at the convention, having by far the largest delegation of any club in the state, excepting of course the big cities and Waxahachie. The last named club had a candidate for the district governorship, which explains the size of the delegation.

John Singleton of Waxahachie was elected governor for the new year. The boys report that their program given at the model luncheon under the auspices of the Nacogdoches club at the Colonial Tea Room on Tuesday was a "howling success."

Our own Smith's Novelty Orchestra was an important part of Nacogdoches delegation, and as was to be expected captivated everybody with their music. The boys filled an engagement at the Crazy Hotel pavilion from 9 to 11 o'clock Monday night and from there they went to the big dance where the formal Rotarian dance was in progress, and played for 2 hours.

Robert Lindsey gave much of his time and attention to the wants and the opportunities of the Nacogdoches orchestra with the result that he boys "sold" their organization to the entire convention.

The outstanding feature of the convention was a banquet served Monday night to 900 delegates. "In point of elegance and perfection of arrangements, as well as in the menu, this was the biggest thing of the kind ever pulled off in Texas," is the way one of our delegates put it.

Our boys are loud in their praise of the hospitality of Mineral Wells. The city is progressive in every way, with all her principal street paved, and with a system of good roads radiating to every point of the compass.

T. D. Williams, who is said to have no particular business connections, was arrested Thursday by Sheriff Woodlay at the request of Lufkin officers and taken to that city and turned over to the Angelina sheriff's department. Williams is alleged to have uttered five bogus checks on a Nacogdoches bank and had them cashed by Lufkin parties. The amounts involved were not large, it was said, but still there seems to be considerable trouble ahead for the offender.

BACK FORM TENAHA

Dr. E. T. Clark returned today at noon from Tenaha, where he and Mr. Jim Scurlock went to render what assistance they could to their kinsman, R. W. Scurlock and family of that place, whose home was demolished by a storm which struck that place day before yesterday morning. The home was blown into pieces, and household effects badly scattered, it being considered miraculous that no one was seriously injured, though three members of the family were blown into a well, as they were possibly standing on the gallery near the same when the terrific wind swept them off their feet.

Dr. Clark remarked to a News reporter that after beholding what havoc had been wrought, it could be said of him hereafter that "he is afraid of storms."—Lufkin News, 30th.

C. OF C. DIRECTORS

The regular weekly meeting of the board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce met at 10 a. m. today. Those present were President Oscar Matthews, Vice President Carl Monk, Link Summers, Holloway Muller, R. L. Perry, A. H. Smith, F. W. Betts, Henry Schmidt, J. B. Atkins and W. D. Burk.

The secretary read from the minute book of the City Council the resolution adopted by the City Council June 12, 1917, setting forth what the city proposed to do in the matter of furnishing water and lights to the Normal College. The resolution reads as follows:

June 12, 1917.

"A proposition for extending free service for lights and water to the proposed Stephen F. Austin Normal, provided the School is located at Nacogdoches, having been presented to the Council at an informal meeting on May 23, by Messrs. E. H. Blount and H. T. Mast, and the matter having been discussed with a great many citizens who expressed themselves as heartily in favor of same, the proposition was again presented by the Mayor with request that the matter be disposed of.

"On motion of Alderman Baker duly seconded by Alderman Cox and carried, it was ordered that electric light and water service be furnished the main building of the Stephen F. Austin Normal, provided the same is located within the limits of the City of Nacogdoches, for the sum of one dollar per year for a term of twenty-five years."

By invitation of ex-Mayor Geo. H. Matthews and Mayor Middlebrook were invited to discuss the above resolution.

Ex-Mayor Matthews explained that the City Council knew and understood when it passed the resolution that the College buildings would in fact not be located within the city limits; but would occupy the present site selected for the building, and that the language "provided the same be located within the limits of the city of Nacogdoches" was regarded purely as a technical expression, and was not in any sense intended to limit or govern the city in its relation to the service promised the state.

Mayor Middlebrook expressed the view of the present city council to be in harmony with the version given by Mr. Matthews. He stated that both as a citizen and as mayor he regarded the city as being under obligation to extend both water mains and light wires direct to the main College building. "It is clearly our duty," he said, "not to determine how little we can do for this institution, but how much we can do for it."

On motion of Holloway Muller the chairman was instructed to name a committee of 10 citizens to confer with the City Council respecting the city's obligation to the normal college. Acting President Carl Monk named the following committee to meet the City Council at its regular meeting Tuesday night, April 4: R. L. Perry, Link Summers, T. E. Baker, Robert Lindsey, J. H. Muller, Zeno Cox, Jr., M. V. Wynne, E. H. Blount, H. L. McKnight and W. I. Baker.

NEAR EAST RELIEF

This week, April 3 to 8, will be Near East Bunkle Week in Texas. Warm, old clothes will be collected.

"A flour sack looks like a fur coat to about 200,000 ragged children in the Near East," said Mrs. F. R. Penman, chairman here for the Near East Relief. "There must be several tons of old clothes, with warmth and wear left in them, stored away in closets and trunks in this county." To give these to the Near East Relief will save the lives of several hundred children when winter, six months long and bitter, bites down again on the shivering youngsters over there.

"This is the time of year to give away winter clothes. It costs nothing and it gets them out of the house for spring cleaning.

Bundles will be collected, concentrated and boxed for shipment to Houston, where they will be loaded on the South Texas 'Savior Ship' to sail shortly straight to the Near East. Women and girl refugees over there will work all summer repairing these clothes, and cutting down men's garments to make boys', before the first snow falls on that mountain country in October.

Several tons of old clothing has already been collected in the City of Houston by the 94 laundry wagons operating there. The drivers donate their services.

Bundles may be sent to my residence or you may phone me and I will send for them.

Mrs. F. R. Penman,
Local Chairman.

LIBRARIAN MADE GOOD GUESS

Mystified at First, He Finally Realized Just What Volume the Lady Was Looking For.

The recent death of John Kendrick Bangs has recalled an incident that happened recently in one of the branch libraries. A woman entered one evening just before closing time and after wandering aimlessly about without finding anything that seemed to please her, finally came to the desk to consult the librarian concerning her need. She said that a friend of hers had recommended a book as being especially good, and would the librarian please tell her where it was kept. The name of the book, she said, was "The House Built on the Sicks."

The librarian looked puzzled. Visions of certain Biblical references to houses built on the sands came to mind, but this one was unfamiliar to her, so she set about questioning the woman to find out more about it. No, the woman didn't know what it was about, but she did remember the author's name, Bangs. Immediately there came an illuminating idea, and the librarian went to the shelf and took down Bangs' "Houseboat on the Styx," and sent a satisfied patron home to enjoy her newly found treasure.—Indianapolis News.

ODD PLEAS MADE TO JUDGE

Defendants in Berlin Court Evidently Were Not of the Ordinary Type of Malefactors.

A strange request has been made in a Berlin court by a blacksmith, Paul Walter, who has been passing himself off in Berlin as Prince Pless. He and four friends were on trial for burglary and the blacksmith demanded:

"I request that I be condemned to death; if not, then send me to prison for life, so that I shall be rendered harmless to society."

When the surprised judge said he could not grant such a request Walter said:

"Well then, put me under police supervision for 20 years and I think you will see I won't do anything wrong again, but will reform myself. If I don't, then sentence me to death next time."

The judge sentenced him to prison for 18 months and passed sentences varying from three months to two and a half years on the others. All the prisoners then thanked the judge, and the blacksmith added that he and his friends gladly accepted the sentence.—New York Tribune.

Best Way to Warm His Hands.
During a severe winter, a science lecturer was delivering an address to a very small audience.

Presently a shabbily dressed man entered the hall. It was apparent that the man appreciated the lecturer's remarks, for he had not been listening many minutes before he began to applaud vigorously.

His enthusiasm stimulated the rest of the audience, and from that moment the applause grew frequent and unceasing, and the remainder of the lecture passed off splendidly.

The lecturer, feeling grateful to his apparently enthusiastic listener, accosted him as he was leaving, and exclaimed, heartily: "I was delighted to notice that you appreciated my remarks."

"Appreciated nothin'!" said the man. "I didn't even know what you was talkin' about. I seed the lecturer was free, an' as it was cold outside, I came in. I was clappin' to warm myself!"—Philadelphia Inquirer.

"Setting" Colors.

All colors cannot be set by the same method. Salt, for instance, is extremely effective in setting blues, pinks and some reds. A large tablespoonful is required to a gallon of lukewarm water. Black cottons or black-and-white checks need stronger salt water to be effective, and sometimes a little turpentine may be added to the water. Soak the materials in lukewarm water. Soak browns, deep yellows and tans in a solution of one cupful of vinegar to a gallon of lukewarm water to set the color. When the lighter shades of yellows and tans become faded, the color can be restored by adding strong coffee to warm rinsing water.—From the Designer.

Car Needed It Most.

The little librarian sat at her desk surveying the row of solemn-eyed Italians before her. Tony had brought all his little brothers and sisters to see the "teacher." "My goodness," she said, "how many of you are these altogether?" "Eleven," said Tony, and the entire row grinned broadly, exhibiting beautiful pearly teeth. "What beautiful teeth! I suppose you all brush them well every night?" A nervous shuffling, Tony cleared his throat. "Well," he said earnestly, "we did have a brush once, but father needed it to clean something in the car and after that it wasn't much good."—Chicago Journal.

A Curie of Radium.

Mme. Curie's modest autobiography omits mention of one single honor that more than anything else will help make her name immortal. The official scientific designation of the unit of radioactivity is named in her honor the "curie," and the degree of radioactivity is expressed in millcuries, centurics and so on up the metric system scale. In selecting Mme. Curie's name scientific bodies have followed the well-established custom that accounts for the introduction of such words as ohm, watt, ampere, etc., into our language—all of them the names of inventors or discoverers.—Delinctor.

BAILEY ASKED TO SERVE AT MARSE HENRY FUNERAL

Colonel George M. Bailey has been requested by Mrs. Henry Watterson to serve as honorary pallbearer at the funeral of the late Colonel Henry Watterson, which will take place on the afternoon of April 14th at the First Christian church in Louisville, Ky. The interment will be in Cave Hill cemetery.

Colonel Watterson died suddenly on December 22, 1921, at the Seminole hotel, in Jacksonville, Fla., where he was spending the winter. Owing to Mrs. Watterson's feeble health, which precluded her return to Kentucky in the winter, the body of her distinguished husband was placed temporarily in a receiving vault in a Jacksonville cemetery and the funeral deferred until spring.

Colonel Watterson and Colonel Bailey were devoted friends for many years.—Houston Post.

FLOOD DAMAGE

Flood damage to the roads and bridges of this section has been enormous. Farming interests in the bottoms also suffered heavily. And the end apparently is not yet, as the Angelina river was reported rising Monday morning.

On Sunday County Judge Marshall visited the rivers at Garrison and at the bridge over the Angelina on the Lufkin-Nacogdoches road. The bridge over the Attoyac at the Garrison crossing is gone, as are also the bridges over the same stream at Martinsville and Chireno. Water was running over about 70 yards of the dump at the Lufkin-Nacogdoches crossing, and it is believed the entire approach will be destroyed. The guard rails were down and lodged against the drift below the dump.

On the Douglas-Alto road the dump on the Nacogdoches side of the Angelina was under water, with the prospect of being washed out.

It was said only one way was left for coming into or going out of the county, and that was on the north, going to the east of Cushing.

The lessons in roadbuilding have been costly, but probably will be valuable.

WILLIAM M. SPARKS

Mr. William M. Sparks, well known to the older residents of the community, died on Tuesday, March 28, 1922, at his home at Eden, Concho county, aged 69 years.

He was born near Old North Church and his entire life was spent here until the early 90s, when he moved to Concho county.

Mrs. Sparks writes to Mr. J. G. Orton, brother-in-law of deceased, that Mr. Sparks' death was very sudden. The family left him alone in a room, and upon returning in a short time found him dead. He had long been a sufferer from asthma, but it was not supposed his condition was serious. He was buried Wednesday, March 29th, at Eden.

Deceased leaves several half-sisters and brothers, but no other relatives, except by marriage.

Mrs. Phoebe Rideout entertained a few friends at lunch most enjoyably Thursday at noon at the Lockey Tea Rooms. A beautiful vase of lilacs centered the table and pansies were the favors. A delicious menu was served and delightful conversations made the time fly until other arrangements compelled the crowd to disperse.

VETERANS' CARE FIRST

It is not creditable to this nation that while the public mind is occupied with the question of what bonus the able-bodied war veterans shall receive, his disabled comrades are not receiving from the government the treatment they deserve.

Evidence is available to show that not only are the sick treated shamefully by their government, but that the disabled cannot get their compensation because of congress, that great economic, money-saving congress, has not appropriated sufficient funds.

In New York the other day several hundred wounded veterans taking vocational training stormed the district office to demand their semi-monthly pay. Inside the wicket were checks for $300,000, but in Washington there was no money to make them good because congress was dallying with a deficiency bill.

At Pastime Park, near Tucson, Arizona, a government retreat for the war victims of tuberculosis, there are 1,200 soldiers with room for only 278. Offers of public-spirited residents to build a $500,000 hospital and rent it to the government have not been accepted and in a great community effort one day the good people there built a lot of shacks to house the poor chaps, some of whom had to travel there by riding freight trains.

Doubtless the American Legion and other veteran organizations are doing all they can to alleviate this distress, but it isn't being alleviated. Congress and the government are bound with red tape or some other tangle and in the meantime the men who deserve the best from their country are getting nearly the worst.

However much disagreement there may be as to the correctness of a bonus for the able-bodied veteran, there is no dispute of adequate and generous care and treatment of the men disabled by the fighting. Until this matter is remedied, nothing else should occupy the government's attention.

JESTING WITH DEATH

Nothing probably can be found in the ancient annals of the sea and of man's battles with it more sublime than the story of the uncanny humors of the wireless operator on the Norwegian ship Grontoft on the eve of the vessel's sinking, only a few minutes prior to the arrival of aid. To a ship rushing to the rescue he wireless quips about the fate of the poor sailor at sea in a storm, about the weather, concluding, with the statement that the ship was sinking by the stern, and that he could not wait to see the rescuers, having important business elsewhere. The Esthonia, which had received the calls for aid, arrived only a few minutes after the Grontoft had gone to the bottom with her crew of thirty.

One may only surmise the mental states of the men who facetiously states of the men who faced the inevitable death in the stormy waters of the North Atlantic, and who were no doubt hanging upon the clicking of the wireless which told of approaching aid. The man who was the instrument of such cheer as could be afforded seemingly was himself carefree. Perhaps, realizing the hopelessness of the situation, he was making the best of it; it may be that he cheered his companions while he was feasting with the invisible sparks affording communication with another ship miles away. Maybe he was a fatalist, convinced that if a thing was destined to happen not all that he could say or do would affect the outcome. Or, possibly, he was just one of those men we call "dead" game-fearless in death as in life, willing always on the slightest provocation to risk the great adventure—just to see if that be likely or possible, what is beyond the grim portal we call death. In any event, he was braver than most of us would have been in similar circumstances. His name deserves to go down in history with the long list of heroes of "old ocean's gray and melancholy wastes."—Beaumont Enterprise.

THE LITTLE RED SCHOOL HOUSE

There is a conspiracy against the "little red school house." Once it was the theme of affectionate song and story, and a goodly percentage of the prominent men of this generation still feel a thrill and a touch of pride at the mention of it.

But the educators have turned against the little red school house of the country. They are saying all sorts of unpleasant things about it. It is not sanitary; it is not economical; it is not even educational, they charge. And they are prevailing. The little red school house is being abandoned, torn down, and used for baser uses. In its place are coming the fine brick structures of several floors and many rooms with staffs of trained teachers. The schools unquestionably are better in many ways and yet the little red school house is still worth a thought. It is gone. There is a hole where it stood. Maybe that hole, figuratively, is to be considered.

The little red school house was more than a place for teaching children. In it were held the spelling bees, the church societies, the Sunday schools, and all the other social functions of the neighborhood. It was near to everybody. The whole neighborhood turned out when there were "doings" at the school house. But with the school house has not quite established itself in the place. It is too far away and it cannot make the same appeal at the beginning. The folks have to assemble in so much larger numbers and they come from such distances that they do not feel so well acquainted.

And so, as yet, the hole left by the little red school house has not been filled up. Someone ought to be attending to this. The automobile has made possible the larger circle of acquaintance and social activity, but its coming has been so recent that life in the country has not yet quite adjusted itself to the change. The young people go out in the evening, but they no longer go to the neighborhood affairs where they know everybody. Most of these meetings have ceased with the passing of the school house. The more distant town attracts with its theaters, dance halls, moving pictures and other fascinations.

MORE TAXES FOR COUNTRY

It seems to be generally accepted in Washington that the government faces a deficit grossly bigger than it anticipated. While fiscal experts of the government realized that business conditions would mean a large shrinkage in income tax returns they were not prepared for a reduction of $100,000,000 below those estimates, and yet that appeared to be the fact.

If this be true for a quarter of the year, it follows simply that the entire year will develop a deficit of $400,000,000. These are estimates to be sure, as likely to be high as low, but splitting the difference a deficit of at least $200,000,000 seems inevitable.

Now what is to be done about it? There is no telling what the Harding administration might do about it. It has curious ways of dealing with bonus bills, tariff measures and other legislation. What seems most likely is more taxation. The deficit must be wiped out. It can be done by issuing temporary bonds, but that is merely creating one debt to pay another. The books can be balanced only with more taxation and the people already groaning under the load will have to pay.

With these facts before the country it is not difficult to understand why the administration was so interested in the disarmament conference and why it wants not only the navy skeletonized but the land forces cut to ribbons. The administration needs the money to save itself from bankruptcy. This is not questioning any motives that the president may entertain for reducing war risks through disarmament, but it is throwing into bold relief the fact that the condition of the federal treasury demanded some such action purely as its economic salvation.

HAPPY PEOPLE

A Georgia paper claims to have found the happiest man in the world. The man lives in North Georgia. He has six fiddles, ten children, thirteen hounds, a deaf and dumb wife and a moonshine still that has never been spotted by enforcement officers. No doubt the Georgian is a happy man, but we believe we know a genus homo who is getting more joy out of life than the Georgian. Our hero is a negro, about six feet high. He preaches in the summer time and shoots craps in the winter. He can wear an overcoat in August without discomfort and a seersucker in January without feeling the cold. Anybody's shoes will fit him and all his neighbors raise chickens. He wields a razor so savagely that every negro in the community is afraid to kick one of his dogs or smile at one of his wives.—Honey Grove Signal.

At about this time the chickens next door can hardly wait to see if he is going to have a garden.

The soldier who fought in the world war once had a job that he was going to. Now he has one that is coming to him.

LIE IN WAIT FOR UNWARY

All Kinds of Get-Rich-Quick Schemes Offered to Visiting Americans in City of Havana.

"Every American in Havana has a scheme to make your fortune and his, too," said a recently returned American, according to the New York Sun. "It makes no difference whether your capital is $2 or a million times that sum, you can find a proposition that will need just the amount you can raise."

"For $2 or $3 you can buy a hive of bees; the bees will swarm the next day and you will have two hives. Keep this process up a few weeks and you will have a thousand hives, and as bees can work the year round in Cuba, flowers being continuously in bloom, each hive will make you $25 and a thousand hives mean $25,000 a year. A neat income even in an expensive resort like Havana."

"If you have a few hundred dollars you will be advised to go into the chicken business and your adviser will tell you how eggs sell at 6 or 8 cents a piece—they don't sell them by the dozen in Havana—and each hen will therefore earn $12 to $15 yearly, while her board will be $3.80 or some such sum."

"If your fortune is up in the thousands you are advised to go into the lumber business and you will be told of the tremendous demand for poles on which to hang tobacco while it is being cured. The American who is explaining the huge profits from these enterprises usually does his talking in a cafe and does his figuring on top of the marble topped tables. The tables are covered with figures on a busy day until a waiter comes around with a damp towel and wipes off the tables and obliterates the fortunes."

GRAVE COST OF INDECISION

Gap Johnson Tells of Incident Which Should Convey a Moral to the Intelligent Reader.

"My cousin, Hank Buckley, paid $3 for a dog a couple of weeks ago," related Gap Johnson of Rumpus Ridge, Ark., "and directly gave the dog and four bits for a fiddle. Pretty soon he swapped the fiddle and six bits for a shotgun. He hadn't much more than got settled with the gun than he figured he'd rather have a dog than a shotgun, and swapped the gun for the vermin, and the feller made him give $1 to boot. After a spell he got to studying and decided that he wanted a fiddle worse than he did a dog. So he swapped with the fiddle man and gave him $1 to boot."

"Well, he kept this up, sorter like the ragged rascal in the old Third Reader revolved round and round the rugged rock, swapping fiddle or dog or gun, whichever it happened to be, for one of the other things, and giving $1, or such a matter to boot every time, till he was out $19.25, and hid the dog. When I see him last he told me it was a dreadful thing not to be able to make up his mind and keep it made up."—Kansas City Star.

First Phone in Vermont.

At a banquet recently one of the officials of the American Telephone and Telegraph company, while recalling some of the early history of the development of the telephone, mentioned the fact that in the museum of the company at its Boston offices was the first telephone instrument in Vermont, known as the Childs-Chamberlain set of Brattleboro, Vt., dated probably 1878. This came to the attention of C. F. Childs of C. F. Childs Co., who discovered what he did not know before, namely, that the Childs of the Brattleboro telephone was his father. The old telephone bears every indication of antiquity. It is fashioned by hand, and for a diaphragm an old daguerotype had been used, the picture on which can be clearly seen today.

"Gas Mounds"

"Gas mounds" is the popular name in Texas for the low, circular eminences, averaging 20 feet in diameter and two feet in height, which abound in forest and prairie regions in Louisiana, Texas, southern Arkansas and Oklahoma. On the supposition that the mounds have been raised by ascending gas from subterranean oil pools, they are regarded as indicating oil beneath. A government geologist, who has examined the mounds, disputes this theory of their origin. They occur in many districts where not the least sign of oil or gas has been discovered. He thinks that they owe their existence mainly to the unequal settling of the ground in poorly-drained areas subjected to abundant periodic rainfall.—Milwaukee Sentinel.

A Living Sure.

What you could buy for $1 before the war now costs $1.70 in the average large city. This is the latest cost-of-living report from the national industrial conference board.

The figure is a lot lower in small towns. The man who insists on living in the city has to pay the piper.

The solution of the city man's cost of living is to move to the farm. He might not get much for his crops, but he at least would be sure of a living.—Chicago Evening Post.

Russian Postage

A letter from the Ukraine was received by Dr. Salvador of Baltimore which contained 105 stamps valued at 0.104 rubles. The envelope would not hold all the stamps, so a strip of paper was pasted on it to carry the leftovers after the face and back had been completely covered.

GOOD IDEA FOR ANY TOWN

Example Set by Newark Public Library Might Well be Copied by Other Communities.

Were you ever on the top of Pike's peak? It is about 14,500 feet up in the air, and some people, in spite of motors and cog railways, find the ascent difficult. The plateau on which the Tibetans live—it is ten times as big as England—is all of it as high or higher than Pike's peak, and the mountains around slope up to nearly 20,000 feet. Kipling, in "Kim," spoke of it as being like a swallow's nest under the eaves of the roof of the world—"Kim threw his soul after his eyes across the deep blue gulfs."

It is still a mysterious land, and until a few years ago almost an unknown one. The Newark (N. J.) public library has just held an exhibit of all sort of things Tibetan—things brought together through the happy conjunction of a missionary of unusual experiences and the museum staff—and this exhibit is supplemented with pamphlets and pictures tending to make it more understandable and interesting. This is a typical example of the work of the Newark library, under its unusual chief, John Cotton Dana, says Leslie's. A few years ago there was a similar exhibit of Colombian things—Colombia being another interesting and inaccessible land.

Director Dana believes that a library should "sell" itself to business men and not restrict its activities to young lady readers of fiction, children and unoccupied old gentlemen. It should be a real constructive force in the everyday life of the community, and not a mere collection of books and a lounging place. The Newark library is pretty well known among librarians about the country, but the sort of work it does is not imitated as generally as it might well be.

ATTRACTED BY STRONG LIGHT

Myriads of Fish Helpless When Diving Bell Descended into the Depths of the Sea.

At Dover, England, there has been constructed a series of immense breakwaters in order to increase the size of the harbor. In the work a big diving bell was employed. When this machine was descending on one occasion the men seated around its sides saw in the glare of the electric light a strange sight.

The water beneath them suddenly became alive with thousands of silver fish, which darted hither and thither in their efforts to escape the unexpected captivity. Some succeeded in diving under the edges of the bell, but as it descended nearer and nearer the bottom, the few inches of water remaining became thick with the fish. When the bell rested on the bed of the sea the men captured nearly a thousand of the sprats. The fish were probably attracted by the electric light that is used in such a bell.

"Shoes at a Wedding"

The custom of throwing one or more old shoes after the bride or groom either when they go to church to be married or when they start on their wedding journey is so old the memory of man stretches not back to its beginning. Some think it represents an assault and is a lingering trace of carrying away the bride, by violence; others think that it is a relic of the ancient law of exchange or purchase, and that it formerly implied the surrender by the parents of all dominion or authority over their daughter. It has reference to a Jewish custom mentioned in the Bible. Thus in Deuteronomy we read that when the brother of a dead man refused to marry his widow she asserted her independence of him by "loosing his shoe." It was also the custom of the middle ages to place the husband's shoe on the head of the nuptial couch in token of his domination.

Best Radiator Paint.

Large radiators in rooms of the home do not present a very attractive appearance unless they are properly decorated. For this purpose a paint should be used which will harmonize with the wall colorings, and one of the best paints obtainable for this purpose is the ordinary sanitary, flat wall paint that is used upon walls. It has been found that these paints dry with a flat surface having a high heat transmission factor. For heating efficiency as well as for decoration, these paints are therefore to be recommended.

Reasonable Statement.

The creator of strange new beauty has a right to demand so much (attention) from anybody who undertakes to pronounce judgment. Is it too much to ask? I don't imagine, for example, that my own flair for strange new beauty is special and extraordinary, a thing that could not be cultivated by any lover of old familiar beauty who honestly desires to cultivate it. For beauty is ageless, eternal and one, recognizable under all differences of form.—Baltimore American.

Makes His Coats Last.

Frank S. Stone of Westboro, Mass., says the Boston Globe, has worn the same overcoat for 35 winters, and he says it is good for ten more. For bitter cold he has a heavier coat which has been in service for only 20 years. Stone says styles travel in a circle, returning on the average every five years, his 35-year-old coat having been in the height of fashion seven times.

FOOLISH MANAGEMENT THE ROAD TO PROSPERITY

In a country which leads the world in efficient and progressive business methods it comes as a shock to realize that one of the greatest businesses of the country has pursued consistently such a fatuous policy of management that, apparently, the clients have been served by accident, rather than design; perhaps by the momentum of the business itself; probably because it exercises a monopoly in its particular line.

This business today has $2,108 branch houses throughout the land. No less than 300,000 representatives spread over the United States are on its payroll. It operates over more than 3,000,000 square miles of territory.

Last year this tremendous business had a cash turnover of $403,491,274, but with a net deficit, according to the audited accounts, of $157,517,088.

The strikingly peculiar thing is that at the head of this great business, and unmistakably directing its activities, was a man who until less than a year ago, when he took the job, knew nothing whatever about this business, and so back through the entire history of this remarkable business. Apparently the stockholders have been dazzled by the immensity of the concern and the vast character of its operations and have neglected to insist that its management be entrusted to an expert with some promise of permanent direction of it.

The stockholders are numerous, they number 110,000,000. They are the people of the United States, who invested in nearly 14,000,000,000 of its certificates or stamps. The business is the postal service of the country. The head of it is a political appointee, as a reward for party service.

The man who starts out on a foolish undertaking is just as likely as not to burn his bridges behind him.

There is nothing harder than trying to crank up an 1892 automobile, unless it is trying to start an argument on the tariff.

There is a suspicion that the member of the house who asked for 10 days' leave to plan "spring plowing" will also look after his fences.

The worst punishment imaginable that could be inflicted upon some persons would be to make them eat their words.

"Jazz must go," declares one more reformer. The reformers are right. It keeps right on going.

When every man in this country has a job, is earning a living wage, and when every farmer is able to market his crop at a fair price, then and not before is national prosperity arrived.

Money in the government vaults does not constitute national prosperity. Ask the out-of-work veteran if it does. If it did then the United States is the happiest, as it is the richest, land in the world. It can be both, but that possibility depends not on the contents of the United States treasury but on the condition of the larders in every American home. Common individual prosperity and nothing else is the condition of national prosperity.

There is one thing, and only one thing, on which the country has to fix its attention to produce the desired condition. Foreign commerce is the answer—although he doesn't know it—the man who knocked at your door and asked for work. It is the one supreme business of the United States at this moment.

The United States today has the highest developed industrial machinery in the world; its factories are keyed up to a maximum capacity as a result of the feverish war. There is a margin of 20 percent of this production which the country itself can not consume; a market must be found for it. That 20 percent represents jobs, and is the symbol of national prosperity. If that market cannot be wiped out by overseas sales then the jobs can not exist; if commerce can market that surplus, the jobs are available.

This great problem and its immediate solution is to be focused in the Ninth Foreign Trade Convention which will be held in Philadelphia in May. Its purpose is to get the ear of the whole people to the importance of the crisis, and to get the benefit of the highest experience at that convention as a basis for a constructive program looking to the establishment and extension of this country's foreign commerce.

Coal may be expected to go to industrial war prices.

MRS. WALLER HERE

Mrs. Anna Waller of Houston, director of Near East Relief, is in the city in behalf of that movement. Tuesday morning delivered an address at the high school. At 4 o'clock in the afternoon she made a talk before the faculty, and her presentation of the cause created considerable interest among the teachers and pupils.

Tonight at the Queen Theater Mrs. Waller will deliver a ten minute address on present-day conditions in the famine-stricken Near East.

Tomorrow afternoon Mr. Brantley of the Queen will run a film, "Alles in Hungerland," in addition to the regular matinee exhibition. This picture will bring into bold relief, as probably nothing else can, the horrible situation among the starving and freezing people whose country has been desolated by war and pestilence and will demonstrate the absolute necessity of prompt aid to the suffering millions.

Friday will be bundle day at the high school and each child is expected to bring a can of condensed milk and an article or bundle of warm clothing, which will be assembled and sent on its way in the relief ship which is to leave Houston on April 15th. If for any reason it is not convenient for you to bring or send your contribution to the high school, let Mrs. R. R. Penman know and she will take measure to secure it.

By all means be prompt, and as liberal as possible. The need is great and pressing. Mrs. Waller and other noble women are giving of their time and energy to forward this important movement and to alleviate, as far as possible, the sufferings of those unfortunate victims of war who are utterly unable to help themselves and must depend upon the charity of America, the only country on earth able to rescue them from their piteous plight. Give till it hurts!

DEATH ENDS LONG SERVICE

Washington, April 5.—With a break of two weeks the remarkable total of 65 consecutive years in the government service was ended by the death here recently of Mr. Henry J. Wylie, retired civilian employee of the Quartermaster Department of the Marine Corps. Mr. Wylie enlisted in the 49th Massachusetts Infantry in 1861 from his native residence, Pittsfield, Mass. He left the Union Army in 1863 with the rank of regimental sergeant-major. In the two assaults on Fort Hudson, La., his regiment lost 1,300 men.

Two weeks after leaving the army he was appointed to a clerkship in the Washington navy yard and in a unbroken stretch of 63 years on active duty served a total of 45 years in the Marine Corps, acting as chief clerk for 13 years. In this capacity he administered the oath of office to five commandants of the Marine Corps: Generals Heywood, Elliott, Biddle, Barnett and Lejeune. On the occasion of his funeral many distinguished officers of the service attended, headed by the present commandant of the Marine Corps, Major General John A. Lejeune.

Although they never say so in plain words, the auto salesmen usually try to create the impression that their car is fool-proof.

President Harding can hardly be blamed for deciding not to plead for the return of any G. O. P. senators whose terms expire this year.

Uncle Sam is dissatisfied with the amount of income tax he collected this year. Uncle Sam is almost as hard to satisfy as are those he personifies.

WOULD PRESERVE OLD HOUSE

Efforts Being Made to Raise Money to Buy Dwelling Dating From Seventeenth Century.

Some who love good things—and happily interest in the architecture of former ages is awakening more and more—are trying to preserve a remarkable old peasant's dwelling at Harrovel, a lonely hamlet on the heather in the province of Gelderland. It is called los luis, dating from the Seventeenth century and the last house of the Saxon type. Los, in the Gelderland dialect, means open, by which it is indicated that the house consists of one room only and that there are no partitions between the places for housing and sleeping for men and beasts; cows and goats and chickens live peacefully together with the inmates. There is no chimneyplace; the wood fire burns in a hole in the floor, which is of stone, and the smoke is allowed to find an outlet as it pleases.

The peasants, man and wife, who are living here are beset with the extremely modern, yet most unfortunate thought of having a wall built between the stable and the dwelling room, adding a chimney and building another room, by all of which renovations the house will be irretrievably spoiled.

The managing committee of the open-air museum at Arnhem are now trying to get money together in order to buy the house and have it removed to their museum park. It is much to be hoped that they will meet with a prompt success.

ROSARIES FROM HOLY LAND

Important Bethlehem Industry is the Manufacture of Beads From Material America Sends.

Ten to twenty tons of the pearl-shell waste of American button factories—broken pieces and butt-ends of shells—are shipped monthly to the Holy Land, where, in the village where Christ was born, the material is converted into beads and ornamental objects. For many centuries the manufacture of such products has been the only important industry of Bethlehem. They find a market largely in the United States. In 1920 there was shipped from Bethlehem to this country at least $60,000 worth of rosaries, made of mother-of-pearl beads, with silver chains and string on wire of the same metal, or "white metal" for a substitute. For making larger carven or other ornamental objects Bethlehem obtains supplies of pearl-oyster shells from the Persian gulf, from India and from Australia. The chains of silver and white metal are imported from France. Hand labor is employed exclusively in the industry, and, inasmuch as it is very cheap, the idea of using machinery is regarded with disfavour.

Firemen Pull Out a Rat.

Many funny requests come over the phone of the newspapers and to the phone "information," but a new one was sprung recently in Marblehead, when the phone rang at the Franklin street fire station and a hysterical voice called for the department to come immediately to Circle street as a most peculiar crackling noise had been heard all night in one of the rooms.

The firemen rushed into their coats and boots with a vision of something doing in the smoldering fire line. On arrival no signs of fire could be discovered and the woman, much agitated, showed the men whence the noises came. Armed with axes and picks they assaulted the dresser, from which the noises issued and after a stubborn struggle managed to subdue a good sized rat in a drawer of said dresser. The woman was grateful to the firemen, who now feel qualified to fight pests, bipeds or any walking creature, as well as the fire fend.—Salem News.

Electric Steel Smelting.

It is claimed that an electric induction furnace which has been under trial for some time in Sheffield, England, solves the problem of making very large steel ingots demanded by modern machinery, because it is as easy to make a two-ton ingot in this furnace as one of 60 pounds in a crucible. But it is admitted that at present high-grade steels can be made by the electric furnace on a commercially successful scale only in places where power can be obtained at an extremely low cost. Laboratory experiments have indicated that a high-class steel can be made by the electric process from inferior material, but for commercial purposes this is not yet possible.

British Columbia's Timber.

Directly and indirectly the timber industries of British Columbia represent nearly half the trade and commerce of the province. In 1920 they produced nearly $93,000,000 worth of commercial material and it is estimated that the 1921 output will run well over the $100,000,000 mark. The output in 1920 was approximately 2,000,000,000 feet of wood products, and over 20,000 men were employed to produce this quantity.

Those Subnormal Children.

In an address to the physicians of Peoria Dr. Borden Veeder of Washington University, St. Louis, said: "The fallacy of setting arbitrary standards for the weight and height of children without reference to their parentage is a practice which should be abolished. In judging whether a child is above or below normal the stature and weight of the parents should be considered."

EMPLOYING PRINTERS TO HOLD BIG MEETING

El Paso, Texas, March 30.—Big things are being planned for the annual meeting of the Texas State Hypothesis to be held in El Paso April 24 and 25. Printers of international reputation are to be brought to the convention for a series of talks and round table discussions. The entertainment program will include sight-seeing trips to Juarez, Old Mexico, across the border from El Paso, a trip over the Scenic Drive and a trip to Fort Bliss. A luncheon and dinner will also be given for the delegates and a tea for the ladies.

The visit to Juarez will be made a special feature of the entertainment program. A reception and military band concert by General J. J. Mendez commanding the Juarez Military District, has been arranged. There will be also a sightseeing trip to the Juarez battlefields and places of historic interest for the Texas printers and their wives. A typical Mexican luncheon is also planned for this trip to Old Mexico. An effort is being made by the program committee to have the printers of the state to arrive in El Paso Sunday, April 23rd in order that they may visit Juarez that day and see a Sunday afternoon fiesta with all of its color and picturesque features.

A REAL FARMER LEADER

Dallas, Texas, March 30.—"I have been in farm organization work for 35 years," said Charles S. Barrett, president of the National Farmers Union. "I have crossed the Rockies 103 times, and there is one thing that I have found to be as rare as hen's teeth—as rare as radium—and that is real leaders among the farmers. John Orr, president of the Texas Farm Bureau Federation is one of these real leaders—he is a leader in every way—an executive and a real man." Mr. Barrett visited the headquarters of the Texas Farm Bureau Cotton Association for the purpose of getting all possible information in connection with setting up of the Georgia Cotton Growers' Association, which has just finished its sign-up with about 240,000 bales. Mr. Barrett was president of the Organization Committee in Georgia. He was intensely interested in the work which has been done in Texas by the Texas Farm Bureau Federation.

RANGERS TO DIP STOCK

Fort Worth, Texas, March 30.—Orders to dip much stock in Cass county, where night riders recently destroyed 23 wags, were sent today to the Rangers by the Livestock Sanitary Commission.

DALLAS BOMB EXPLOSION

Dallas, Texas, March 30.—Three men had been taken into custody early today in connection with the bomb explosion which last night wrecked the one-story frame dwelling of Mrs. Bedie McAllister, on South Lamar street between St. Louis and Powhatan streets, and shook other houses within a radius of several blocks.

FAR EASTERN QUESTION

Washington, March 30.—Ratification by the senate of the two arms conference treaties limiting the navies of the great powers and restricting the use of submarines and poison gas has cleared the way for debate on the general Far Eastern treaty.

STRIKE AT MIDNIGHT

Indianapolis, Ind., April 1.—Confident that the suspension of work which began at midnight by the union coal miners would result today in a complete tie-up of the country's unionized fields, officials of the United Mine Workers at headquarters have awaited reports from district leaders showing the exact effectiveness of the shutdown.

BOUNCED BY HARDING

Washington, April 1.—The Bureau of Engraving and Printing was operating today under a practically new executive personnel from director down, including every division. A sweeping change was effected by President Harding through an executive order last night removing Director James L. Wilmett and a number of chiefs and other officials "for the good of the service." Louis A. Hill, assistant chief of the division of engraving, is the new director.

ACCUSED OF BOMBING HOME

Dallas, Texas, April 3.—Charges of arson were filed against Frank, Jim and H. C. Pettor here today in connection with the explosion which wrecked the residence of Mrs. Bedie McAllister. The men gave $750 bond each.

CONDEMNED MAN MAY BE SAVED BY WITNESS

Belton, Texas, April 1.—George Hornsby, sentenced to hang April 14, for the murder more than a year ago of J. N. Weatherby, an automobile dealer at Brownwood, was removed from the Bell county jail to an unknown destination following repudiation by the state's star witness of testimony he gave at Hornsby's trial.

The witness, Willie Carter, confessed accomplice in the killing of Weatherby, in his reported repudiation exonerated Hornsby and said that another man committed the murder. Hornsby has consistently declared his innocence and many petitions have been presented to Governor Neff in an effort to obtain commutation of the death sentence.

The purpose of the sudden removal of Hornsby from the local jail was not known publicly. The case was tried here on change of venue from Brownwood.

DEACON STRIPS MASK FROM KLANSMAN'S FACE

Denison, Texas, April 3.—As two white-robed and masked members of the Ku Klux Klan stalked down the aisle of the First Baptist church here Sunday night, Dr. W. L. Smith, a deacon in the church, arose and snatched the mask from the face of one of the klanmen. A person in the audience immediately struck the deacon in the face. The klanman was recognized as a Denison business man, who, covering his face with his robe, hurried out. Persons near the deacon prevented a further ruction.

NEGRO HEALTH WEEK

Austin, Texas, March 30.—The week of April 2-8 has been designated as the 4th Annual Negro Health Week in Texas. This movement is being conducted in Texas by the Texas public health association in cooperation with the United States Public Health Service and the State Board of Health.

This Negro Health Week is held at approximately the same time each year. Last year over 300,000 negroes of Texas participated in some manner in the observance of this week. The purposes of Negro Health Week are to educate the people of that race in the methods of preventing disease and in the improving of local sanitary conditions.

A special program for each of the days of the week are as follows:

- Sunday, April 2, Health Sunday.
- Monday, April 3, Hygiene Day.
- Tuesday, April 4, Children's Health Day.
- Wednesday, April 5, "Swat the Fly" Day.
- Thursday, April 6, Tuberculosis Day.
- Friday, April 7, Church Sanitation Day.
- Saturday, April 8, General Clean-up Day.

Anyone interested in having an active part in Negro Health Week can secure full information by writing to the Texas Public Health Association, 616 Littlefield Building, Austin, Texas.

WILL STRIKE TONIGHT

Indianapolis, Ind., March 31.—The last day of work under the present wage contracts was completed today by the country's half million union coal miners. Officially, their suspension of work was set to begin at midnight tonight, but virtually it was to start six hours ahead of schedule when most of the miners end shift. The extent of the suspension will not be an exact certainty until tomorrow, the first day of the shutdown.

TEST OF STRENGTH

Indianapolis, Ind., April 3.—The first test of strength in the nationwide suspension of work by union coal miners came today, the beginning of the suspension Saturday, an annual holiday for the miners, having failed to determine the exact effectiveness of the walkout.

Want Strike Settled

Washington, April 3.—The union coal miners who suspended work Saturday in the nation's fields were declared today by President Lewis of the United Mine Workers to be desirous of ending the suspension of mining operations at the earliest possible date, but the resumption of coal production depended entirely upon the future attitude of the operators. Lewis said this before the house labor committee holding hearings on the Bland resolution to direct the appointment by the president of a commission to investigate the coal industry.

A marriage license was issued Friday morning by County Clerk Perrette to Mr. R. J. Morton and Miss Lula Sowell, two well-known and popular young people of Etolle.

LIGHTNING KILLS BOYS, FIRES CRUDE OIL TANK

Duncan, Okla., April 3.—Two 12-year-old boys and a horse they were riding were instantly killed and three crude oil tanks ignited yesterday by lightning near Dalton City, 12 miles west of here. The boys were cousins named Hale. A second later a tank a mile away burst into flames, presumably fired by the same flash. In a twinkling another tank a mile from the second began blazing. Oilmen say the loss will be considerable.

NEFF CONTINUES TOUR OF STATE DEPARTMENTS

Austin, Texas, April 3.—Governor Neff, as announced some time ago, is continuing to visit the various state departments in an endeavor to ascertain the inner workings of the state government's machinery so he will be able to tell the citizens of the state when he makes his speaking tour how each department is run.

Saturday morning the governor visited the comptroller's department, the highway department and the board of control. In each place the governor met all of the employees and shook hands with them.

WOODMAN CIRCLE CHANGES ITS TIME OF MEETING

The Woodman Circle of Nacogdoches has changed the time of meeting from the second and fourth Saturday nights to every Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Tomorrow afternoon there will be a luncheon, and members are requested to bring sandwiches, cakes or other comestibles. All are urged to be promptly on time.

Mrs. L. Buchanan, Guardian.

DENY KLAN AFFILIATION

Beaumont, Texas, April 3.—Twenty replies to the questionnaire sent out to city and county officials by the citizens' committee making an independent probe of the Ku Klux Klan here have been received and all deny affiliation with the klan. Some of the replies are emphatic, declaring they were not now members of the klan, never had been and never would be.

City Manager Roark declared Saturday night he had questioned more than one-half of the city employees relative to their affiliation with the Ku Klux Klan. All deny membership in the order, he says. The grand jury convenes here Monday.

Dallas, April 3.—Both Mayor Sawnie Aldredge and District Attorney Maurey Hughes issued statements in which they declared they were not members of the Ku Klux Klan. Mayor Aldredge refused to comment further, Maurey Hughes condemned the klan in a long statement in which he stated his reasons for not joining the organization.

Both officials declared that the investigations of recent whippings in Dallas would not stop because of the acquittal of Policeman J. J. Crawford, who was charged with whipping Philip Rothblum. Crawford, who was discharged from the police force when charges were filed against, was back on his beat last night.

ACQUITTED OF MURDER

Galveston, Texas, April 3.—A quick verdict of "not guilty" was returned Sunday morning at 7:30 by the jury which heard the case of Perry McFadden, J. E. Hayes and Hayden Ross, League City cattlemen. All three were cleared of the charge of murder in connection with the fatal shooting of Marcus Benson at League City last July. They returned to their homes this morning.

The arguments were completed at 11:30 Saturday night and the jury was locked up for the night.

The defense attorneys asked for acquittal of all three defendants, pleading self defense in the cases of Hayes and McFadden and pleading that Ross had nothing to do with the shooting.

PLANES CHARSH, PILOT BURNED TO DEATH

Houston, Texas, April 3.—Two airplanes from Ellington Field crashed near South Houston this morning and came down in flames. Major Simmons, the pilot of one of the planes, was burned to death, and Lieutenant Fitzpatrick, pilot of the other, died a few minutes after the accident.

BIG FIRE DAMAGE

Texarkana, Texas, April 3.—Hope, Arkansas, was visited by a disastrous fire early today. The Albee Theater, valued at $400,000, was destroyed, other buildings destroyed bringing the loss to over half a million.

Lenine and Trotsky appear to have made a mess of it that doesn't call for a mass sergeant.

NACOGDOCHES TRADITIONS

The Sentinel recently told of the removal of two big trees in the yard of A. Y. Donegan on North street, on account of their being in a state of decay and in danger of falling. But what kind or species of tree they were or where located, whether native or domestic, was not stated. And the story was not intended to "start something," but it did start this writing.

Trees have always been a favorite hobby for me, trees of all types, and from varied angles. I have heretofore written something about them, referring to the beauty and the utility of them, whether wild in the native forests, or cultivated in parks, yards or on homesteads. Their shades and shadows, their sooting and waving branches and foliage are music to many appreciative ears.

The High School campus in its early history as the Nacogdoches University, was covered with large, native trees, such as sweet gums, oaks and elms, sugar maples, dogwoods, black haws, pines and vines, grape and berries. The soil seemed specially prolific, and the varieties abundant. In short it was a beautiful landscape from any point of view. Col. John Forbes, a noted and most worthy pioneer citizen, being an enthusiastic trustee, had the care of the grounds. He set about trimming and beautifying the grounds. He had an engineer to survey and plot all the acres, in squares, alleys, promenades, walks, etc. And proceeded to clean off the wild woods for beauty's sake. Alas for the stately trees and native growths. Other trustees and interested admirers of nature discovered the work in time to save only a few trees.

In 1850 there were many native trees of various species, some of great height and large trunks, scattered over the town. They were picturesque. The lands were of the type known as second bottom, just suited for big trees.

The favorite shade trees set out at that time were cedars, china, catwaws, black locust and bois-d'arc. Aho of these there were many magnificent specimens.

On the south edge of A. Y. Donegan's homestead, near the north edge of E. S. Taylor's, about fifty yards east of North street there were two young cottonwood trees growing. They were small enough then to be called saplings. Major Jas. R. Arnold lived there in the old Chevallier home, where J. N. Thomas now lives. There two cottonwoods were the only ones in town. If there now they would be at least seventy-five years old.

There were other big trees in town at that time, that could be mentioned. One of these was an old cedar that grew where the Main Street Presbyterian church now stands, and this had long been the Raguet homestead. The old Raguet dwelling has been remodeled, but some of it now forms part of Mrs. R. R. Wilson's dwelling. This big old cedar tree was more of a spreading tree than a towering tree. Its lower branches were remarkably large, far reaching and low. A man standing on the ground could easily reach these big limbs. The tree was cut away in 1879, because it was of no service there.

There were many other big cedars in different places in town. Those in the old Walker lot were familiar. And there were two other notable groups. One of these was on the old Judge Hart lot where Captain I. L. Sturdevant now lives on North street. Another was where Mrs. Thompson's home was built on North street, the old Barrett homestead.

The age of some of the large elms in town like the one between the residence of Mrs. R. R. Wilson and the church is not so great as has been supposed. And the magnificent red oak in Judge S. W. Blount's front yard is not very old.

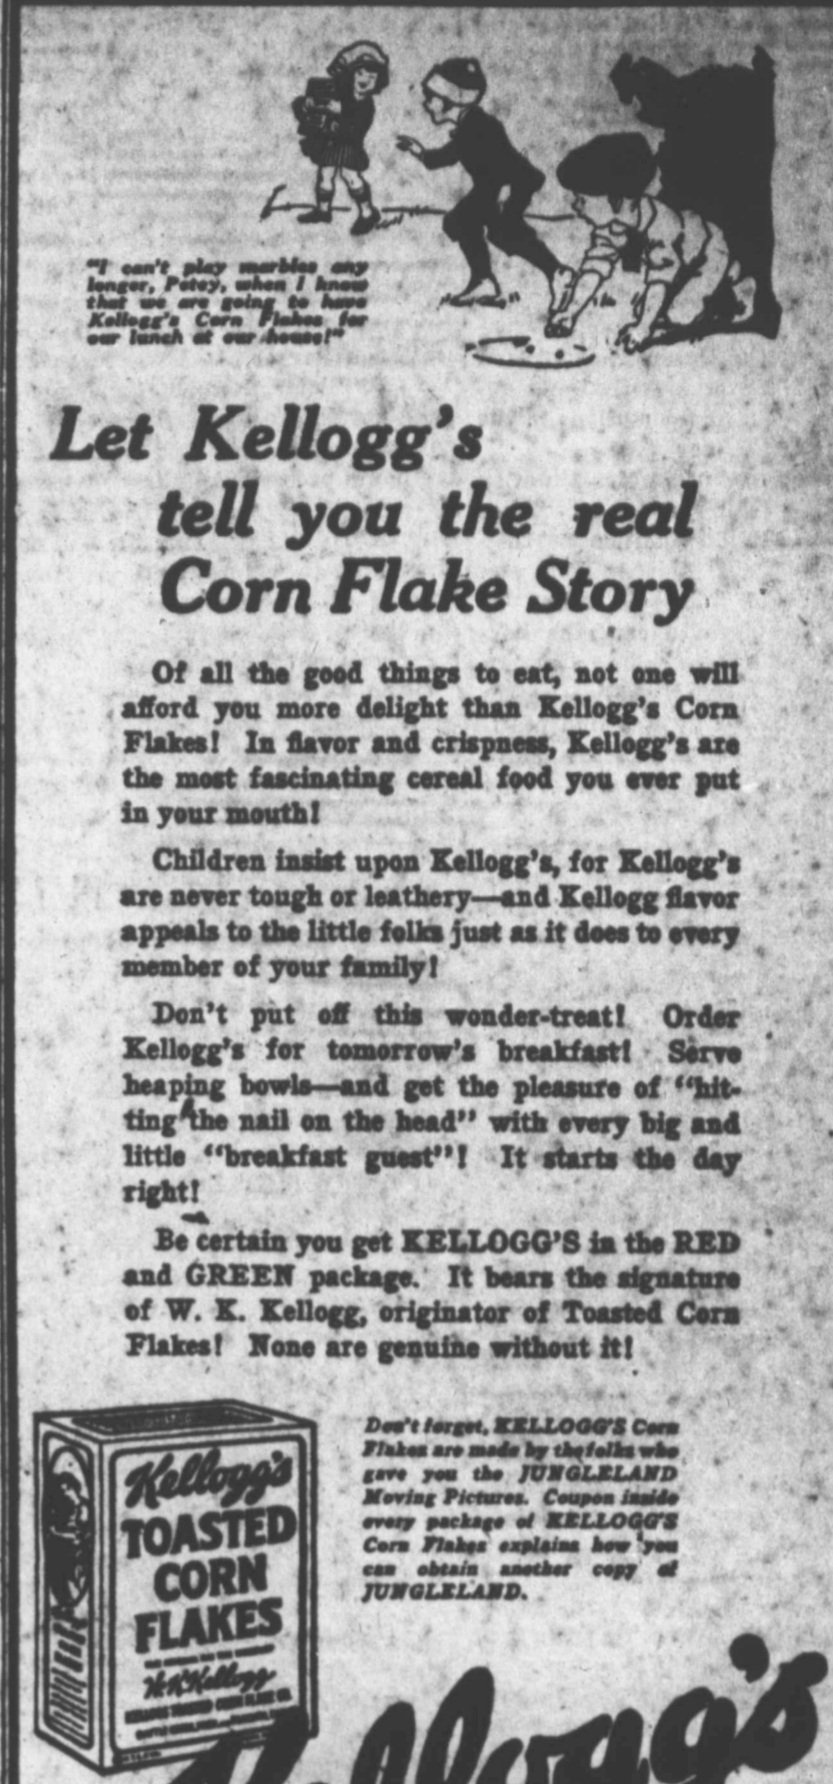

Pine woods people do not see the beauty of the familiar pine tree. Nothing of the kind can excel the grandeur of such big pine forests as once existed about six or seven miles southeast of town along the road to Poe. In San Antonio there is but one growing pine. It is a mere sapling planted in a front yard on North Pine street. And there are very few cottonwoods, none of the old Alamo grove. The name Alamo means cottonwood. Two of the most venerable have been preserved, one back of the Alamo and the others nearby in the patio of the old Menger Hotel. Their age is about one hundred years.

THE MISSISSIPPI THREATENS

Helena, Ark., March 31.—The situation at Old Town, Ark., where the first-line levees along the Mississippi are crumbling under the attack of strong flood waters, was described as becoming increasingly critical today.

Votes that can be swayed with free seed are not likely to produce a very satisfactory crop of congressmen.

A WELCOME PROMISE

Houston, Texas, March 31.—The promise that heavy spring rains had ceased, at least for a time, and that the flooded conditions in many Texas rivers will not be aggravated by additional water, was given today by the weather bureau.

WEDDING OUT KLANSMEN

Beaumont, Texas, March 31.—The work of questioning city employees as to their membership in the Ku Klux Klan, with the view of discharging all klanmen from the city's employ, had barely gotten under way this morning.

The senate proposes to put the tariff ahead of the bonus. And everybody knows how fast the tariff bill has been traveling.

CATTLE LOSSES HEAVY

A news item from Trinity county says it is not known what the live stock losses from overflowed creek bottoms are, but it is believed to be heavy because the cattle are all very poor and unable to take care of themselves in the overflow. The stockmen of this county agree that the loss among range stuff is at least 25 percent, the heaviest in many years.

The above summary was given out the first of the week, and since then some of the heaviest rains of the season have fallen, and whatever losses have been sustained heretofore will be considerably increased, not only in Trinity county, but in other counties in this section as well. The tremendous rain of yesterday and last night overflowed many creeks and the rivers will be expected to spread out over the lowlands.—Lufkin News, 30th.

FAIRY WISHES

By Winnie Davis King

I wish I were a fly,
As white as winter's snow,
And grow along the meadow,
Where the tiny rivulets flow.
I'd like to be a whip-o-will,
And fly off o'er the distant hill
To where its purple hits the sky,
And makes the sunsets colors die.
I'd surely like to be a queen
With lovely jewels and satin sheen.
And sit on a throne around my court,
To have surround me, many a fort.
I've always wanted to be a star,
So near the world and yet so far,
That when we people look at them,
They dazzle bravely and then grow dim.

Then I've longed to be a tree,
My limbs raised high from the rest
of me,
And where in green splendor stand,
To sentinel o'er the mountain land.

However small my lot may be,
Whether flower or bird or tree,
It little matters—matters still,
To live and serve and keep God's will.
For just a little child am I,
Still I will strive and try and try,
That in as much as I can do,
I will serve and love Him too.

BRIDGE CONTRACT LET

County Judge Guion, Mr. W. T. Whitman and Mr. Williams, representing the Cherokee County Commissioners' Court, were in the city Thursday to meet the Nacogdoches commissioners for the purpose of letting the contract for the construction of a county-line steel bridge over the Angelina river on the King's Highway between Alto and Douglass. The Austin Bros. Bridge Company's bid of $19,986.34 was the lowest and the contract was awarded to that concern. The bridge will be 120 feet long and the contract calls for its completion within 120 working days after approval by the commissioners court of the two counties.

FARM LOAN ELECTION

At a meeting Friday of the Nacogdoches Farm Loan Association, the following board of directors was elected:

T. E. Burgess, J. Thos. Hall and Geo. E. Reese of Nacogdoches, W. B. Wortham of Garrison and Henry B. Wood of Appleby.

The board then elected the following officers:

T. E. Burgess, president; Geo. E. Reese, vice president; J. Thos. Hall, secretary-treasurer, and a resolution was endorsed making permanent the election of the latter officer.

About 90 percent of the total stock had representation at the meeting.

Mr. C. D. Stegall, representing the A. B. Kirschbaum Co., will leave Tuesday, April 4th, for the factory in Philadelphia, Pa., to attend their sales man convention that convenes at 10 a. m. April 12th. Besides Mr. Stegall there will be about 44 other salesmen coming from all parts of the United States. His route is via Dallas to spend three days with his mother, then to New York for the 10th and 11th, reporting at the factory on the morning of the 12th for roll call.

Name "Bayer" on Genuine

Beware! Unless you see the name "Bayer" on package or on tablets you are not getting genuine Aspirin prescribed by physicians for twenty-one years and proved safe by millions. Take Aspirin only as told in the Bayer package for Colds, Headache, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Nerveache, Toothache, Lumbago, and for Pain. Handy tin boxes of twelve Bayer Tablets of Aspirin cost few cents. Druggists also sell larger packages. Aspirin is the trade mark of Bayer Manufacturing Co. Monheim-on-Rhine, Germany.

ERADICATION WARRANTS SOLD FOR GOOD PRICE

The $40,000 issue of Nacogdoches county tick eradication warrants were sold by the commissioners' court for 94 cents on the dollar and accrued interest, which is considered a very satisfactory price for them.

This will enable the county to prosecute the work of tick eradication with renewed energy, and there is little doubt we shall soon be out of the quarantined zone. And this is the most important measure that our people have had to deal with in many days. Cattle simply cannot be fattened when infested with ticks, and the only way to get rid of the pest is to dip. Untold thousands of dollars have been lost to our stock growers through the presence of the ticks, and to free the county from the menace will cost a great deal more than it will cost. Every cattle owner in the county should heartily co-operate with the officers in a thorough clean-up.

V. L. PERRY

Mr. V. L. Perry, whose illness was noted in Thursday's Sentinel, died at his home at Caro about 4 o'clock Thursday afternoon.

Deceased was about 45 years old and had for some time been manager of the Southern Pacific Land & Cattle Company's large interests at Caro. He leaves a wife and two children, a daughter, Miss Lillian, aged 16, and a son, Master Wilbur, 14, both pupils in the Nacogdoches High School.

Mr. Perry was a native of Kentucky, and had been a resident of the Caro community for about five years. He was regarded by all as a man of exceptional business ability, which was apparent from the successful manner in which he conducted the affairs entrusted to him. He was a valuable citizen, and his untimely death is sincerely regretted by all who knew him. The stricken family have the earnest sympathy of the entire community.

As soon as his death was reported a committee from the Masonic Lodge of this city went to Caro to offer whatever assistance was necessary for the funeral, which was arranged to take place here in Oak Grove cemetery upon the arrival of the south-bound T. & N. O. train Friday afternoon, due at 2:33. Services were conducted by Rev. M. C. Johnson of the Main Street Presbyterian church, assisted by Rev. C. D. Atwell of the Episcopal church.

The pallbearers were Messrs. Horace Wilson, L. B. Mast, Arch Millard, A. G. Gatlin, R. F. Davis and A. S. Brewer.

NOTICE TO STOCK AND CHICKEN RAISERS

The regular nightly visitations of our friends' stock have become such a nuisance that unless they are kept off our places we shall have to resort to measures that will insure this result, as our efforts to cultivate shrubs and flowers are of no avail as long as they are eaten down in a night, as has been the case for the past few weeks.

The chickens accomplish with the smaller plants the same damage that the larger shrubs suffer from cattle. Kindly confine your stock within your own premises, and very much oblige,

T. Tilford,
F. H. Tucker.

A section of water main which crosses Banita creek just above the bridge on West Main street was carried away by yesterday's flood. In trying to protect this pipe Moultrie Smith had rather a rough experience. Trash and floating logs had drifted against it, and Mr. Smith undertook to free it of the incumbrance. Seated in a boat tied with a rope, he was lowered to the obstruction, when the rope broke and the skiff overturned, spilling him into the boiling flood, from which he escaped only by herculean effort and rare presence of mind. It was a close call.

There was considerable trouble at the East Main street crossing of the Lanana creek Wednesday afternoon and evening. One Ford car was stuck in the overflow, the water standing above the engine, and others met with difficulties in their futile efforts to negotiate the crossing. The waters had subsided to within the banks Thursday morning. All the lowlands along the course of the creek were swept clean.

Even a sick child loves the "fruity" taste of "California Fig Syrup". If the little tongue is coated, or if your child is listless, cross, feverish, full of cold, or has colic, give a teaspoonful to cleanse the liver and bowels. In a few hours you can see for yourself how thoroughly it works all the constipation poison, sour bile and waste out of the bowels, and you have a well, playful child again.

Millions of mothers keep "California Fig Syrup" handy. They know a teaspoonful today saves a sick child tomorrow. Ask your druggist for genuine "California Fig Syrup" which has directions for babies and children of all ages printed on bottle. Mother! You must say "California" or you may get an imitation fig syrup.

WOMAN'S MISSIONARY SOCIETY

The Woman's Missionary Society of the Methodist church met in social session Monday, March 27th, at the home of Mrs. Geo. Eason, with a good attendance of members.

A special program was rendered under the joint leadership of Mrs. Ed Gaston and Mrs. Arch Millard.

Among the excellent numbers rendered was the song "It Shall Not Be Again," composed by Mrs. Hollis Mast and sung with notable depth of feeling by Mrs. Ellis Gaston and Mrs. Merton Blackburn.

Mrs. Ed Gaston made an excellent talk on tithing, on which subject Mrs. Price offered some very appropriate suggestions.

Two new members were enrolled and at the close of the meeting, delicious refreshments were served by the hostesses, Mrs. Oscar Baxter, Mrs. Frank Goldsberry and Mrs. George Eason.

Miss Jennie June Harris, who is attending the state university at Austin, was the victim of a painful accident Friday. In attempting to board an auto her foot slipped and twisted under her, as she fell, and a bone in the lower part of the instep of one of her feet was broken. Miss Jennie June was working hard and had made "A" in all of her studies according to a recent examination, and it is unfortunate that this fine progress should be interrupted. She will not return home unless the injury is more serious than thought yesterday.

Miss Nora Ross of Travick, who is employed in the insurance office of Mr. John B. Dorsey in this city, was operated on Friday at the Smith Sanitarium for appendicitis and was resting well at latest accounts. Her sister, Miss Vera, who was with her during the ordeal, returned home Saturday on account of the serious illness of their father, who has been suffering with typhoid fever for several weeks.

The approach to the bridge on the Lufkin-Nacogdoches road was said early Thursday morning to be in a very dangerous condition. Parties crossed the river and reached the city, but stated the risk was very great. The dump is caving and sloughing off and the whole embankment may go out at any minute.

Rev. E. G. Cooke of the Methodist church, who underwent a surgical operation at the sanitarium two weeks ago, was able to be removed to his home Friday afternoon. It will perhaps be three weeks before he is able to resume his parochial duties.

County Judge Marshall, Commissioners Stoddard and Lyles and Engineer Lamar Acker were out Friday afternoon inspecting the Douglass road, concerning the damage to which many conflicting reports have reached the city.

The dam at Blount's Lake was threatened by high water Thursday night, and for a time the danger was great. Engineer Lamar Acker finally succeeded in lowering the flood to the safety point, however, though it required hard and very wet work to accomplish it.

KU KLUX MEETING

The Sentinel is informed that there was a big meeting of the Ku Klux Klan at the Woodman Hall in this city Friday night, some 150 or 200 members being present, it is reported.

It was learned the klansmen were not robed, the meeting being an "open" one. A prominent member from Tyler is said to have been the chief speaker.

An ugly incident connected with the affairs was a display of hoodlumism on the part of some thoughtless person or persons, who smashed a couple of windows with bricks during the progress of the meeting. While the Sentinel does not endorse the Ku Klux Klan, still such actions as this are to be condemned. It is said to have been an orderly assemblage, and as such was entitled to the same consideration as any other gathering of citizens. We should like to see the Klan disbanded, but "heaving bricks" will not accomplish that. The only injury resulting from this reprehensible act was to the W. O. W., who must pay for the broken window panes.

We have little sympathy for the Ku Klux as an organization, and still less for the cowardly attack of Friday night.

THE CHICKEN QUESTION

The people of Lufkin, like those of Nacogdoches, appear to be "up against" the chicken question. The city manager, who has been appealed to to do something to mitigate the nuisance of neighborhood chickens' depredations upon vegetable and flower gardens, published the following in a recent issue of the Lufkin Daily News:

"Quite a lot is being said about the damage done by neighbors' chickens, and I have been requested by a number of citizens to recommend the passage of an ordinance prohibiting chickens (those wearing feathers) from running at large. This, I feel, would create a big expense to the city and no end of trouble. Why not let every owner of chickens arrange to keep them up and away from their neighbors' gardens?"

"I have about 65 White Leghorns and try to keep them from bothering my neighbors, and I hereby give them authority to catch, kill and eat any of my chickens when they find them doing any damage to their flowers or gardens. Let every one give their neighbors the same authority, and the chicken nuisance will settle itself."

The Sentinel concedes the right of everybody to raise chickens, but we are not alone in denying that a person has a right to permit his fowls to damage his neighbors by destroying their gardens. People who are determined to engage in the poultry business in the city should at least be fair enough to keep their chickens at home. In plain words, it is a rank imposition to grow fowls at the expense of your neighbor. Provide proper enclosures and keep your chickens at home.

THE SCHOOL ELECTION

In the school election last year 18 votes were cast for trustees. In the election Saturday, April 1st, there were 470 votes cast. Some difference. Of the 470 votes, approximately 50 were cast by women.

The following is the official statement:

Worth Whited	418
R. D. Burrows	409
Roland Jones, Sr.	409
Mrs. F. R. Penman	80
Mrs. Geo. T. McNess	69
Mrs. T. Tilford	1

The lady candidates failed for some reason to develop the strength which had been credited to them and the result of the balloting was a complete surprise. To undertake to analyze and account for their defeat would be futile. Apparently the voters were not ready to make the changes sought, the old members being regarded, evidently, as having given satisfaction.

The Sentinel considers the vote as no reflection whatever upon the worth or capabilities of the defeated candidates, and predicts the time will come when the women will have a very large voice, officially, in the management of school affairs.

It is a powerful and scientific combination of sulphur and other healing agents for the relief and cure of diseases of the skin. It is especially effective in the ITCHING VARIETIES; giving instant relief from the itching and smarting sensations and by its germ-destroying properties it exterminates the microbe which is the cause of the eruption, thus curing the disease completely. Little's Liquid Sulphur Compound is used in all cases of Eczema, Tetter, Barber's Itch, Psoriasis, Herpes, Rash, Oak and Ivy Poisoning, also for relieving the annoyance caused by chiggers and mosquito bites. In the treatment of ECZEMA—the most painful and obstinate of all skin diseases—it is one of the most successful remedies known. Small size 50 cents bottle. Large size $1.00. JAMES F. MALLARD, Prop. CALOMEL GOOD BUY AWFUL TREACHEROUS

Next Does May Salivate, Shock Liver or Attack Your Bones

You know what calomel is. It's mercury; quicksilver. Calomel is dangerous. It crashes into your bile like dynamite, cramping and sickening you. Calomel attacks the bones and should never be put into your system.

If you feel bilious, headachy, constipated and all knocked out, just go to your druggist and get a bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone for a few cents, which is a harmless vegetable substitute for dangerous calomel. Take a spoonful and if it doesn't straighten you up better and quicker than nasty calomel and without making you sick, you just go back to your druggist and get your money.

Don't take calomel. It makes you sick the next day, it loses you a day's work. Dodson's Liver Tone straightens you right up and you feel great. No salts necessary. Give it to the children because it is perfectly harmless and can not salivate.

WONDERFUL OPPORTUNITIES

The "want" columns of the large daily papers are filled with calls from banks, wholesale houses, lumber offices, oil companies and other business concerns for Tyler Commercial College graduates to fill positions as bookkeepers, stenographers, secretaries, etc. Your big opportunity is before you this minute.

Business is the greatest profession of modern times. Regardless of the line of work in which you may later engage, you will always have business dealings with your fellowmen.

As a doctor, a dentist, or a member of any profession, you must know how to keep your accounts. You must understand the laws of business so that you can invest your savings wisely and carry on your transactions in a business-like manner. A commercial training, therefore, is of vital necessity to you, for you will be in daily contact with the men who manage the destinies of the business and the confidential correspondence will pass through your hands. You will, by attending our great school, secure an insight and knowledge of business in a short time that would otherwise take years to obtain.

When a vacancy occurs, you will be in direct line for a promotion, and when you are promoted to a more important position, a young person fresh from our excellent institution will take your place. That is why a commercial training is called the "stepping stone to success." It places you on the first round of the ladder of opportunity and prepares you for the climb to the top.

You will give yourself a square deal and get your training where the systems taught, equipment, faculty discipline, moral surroundings, health of student body, courses from which to choose, time required for finishing, living expense, employment department and many other things will give you advantage in salary and promotion over the graduates of the ordinary business college. The Tyler Commercial College, Tyler, Texas, has grown to be the largest and best commercial school in the whole United States as a result of the above conditions.

The thoroughness of our training is indisputably proven by our average annual enrollment of over 3,600 for the last five years. Business men recognize our graduates as superior, which is proven by the fact that they call on us every day for bookkeepers, stenographers, secretaries, etc. Fill in and mail for free catalogue.

The school board has posted a notice at the City Hall providing for an election on the 17th inst., when the proposition of issuing $50,000 school bonds will be voted upon. The newspaper publication of this notice will be made within a few days. It is an important measure, upon which the welfare of our school depends, and it should carry overwhelmingly.

Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Hawkins left Tuesday morning for the former's headquarters at Houston, where they will make their home. Mr. Hawkins having been transferred by the State Livestock Sanitary Commission to a larger field. They were good citizens and the Sentinel regrets the circumstances which took them from us.

Our old friend, Mr. O. A. Bright, has opened a small grocery and confectionery at the stand recently occupied by George Partin as a lunch room on the west side of postoffice square.

The Sentinel is very much gratified to note that the condition of Mrs. H. B. McKnight, who received surgical treatment Tuesday at Emily's Sanitarium, is as favorable as could be expected considering the difficulties

HELP WAS URGENTLY NEEDED

Darby Evidently Had Troubles of His Own With That "Possum" His Partner Shook Down.

Two negroes, Salvation Jones and King Agrippa Johnson, living near the Dismal swamp, went "possum-hunting" one dark night. A warm trail was struck, and the dogs soon "treed." Salvation, being the better climber, volunteered to go up and shake down the "possum, whereupon King Agrippa made ready to catch it in the sack they took along for that purpose.

Instead of an opossum, the dogs had treed a wildcat. As Salvation made his way to the topmost branches the animal retreated still farther out on the overhanging limbs, and emitted an angry snarl.

"Huh? How's dat?" exclaimed Salvation. "Never heard no 'possum talk lak dat befo'!"

"Go on, Salvation. Yo' ain't heern nothin' but de dogs. Shake him loose! I'se waitin'," urged King Agrippa.

Climbing a little farther out, Salvation gave the limb a mighty shake and dislodged the wildcat. Suddenly a chorus of yells, howls, screeches and cuss words broke loose from below.

"Hey, dar, King Agrippa!" anxiously called down Salvation. "Yo' want me ter come down an' help yo' hol' him?" "Naw, sah," yelled Agrippa. "Ah wants yo' tuh come down an' help me ter tu'n him loose!"—Judge.

STRANGE MONSTER IN AFRICA

English Scientist Tells of Creature Which He Thinks May Have Been Giant Python.

F. C. Cornell, Fellow of the Royal Geographical Society, who recently returned to England after spending twenty years in practically unknown parts of South Africa, is author of a story about an unknown monster that had been seen near the Great Falls of the Orange river. It has a huge head and a neck ten feet long like a bending tree. It seizes the native cattle and drags them under water. The natives call it "Kyan," or the Great Thing. Last May Mr. Cornell, accompanied by two white companions, W. H. Brown and N. B. Way of Capetown, and three Hottentots, went to the junction of the Oub and Orange rivers to see the monster if possible. He writes: "At the crisis of the natives I saw something black, huge, and sinuous swimming rapidly against the current in the swirling rapids. The monster kept its enormous body under water, but the neck was plainly visible. The monster may have been a very gigantic python, but if it was it was of an incredible size. This reptile may have lived for hundreds of years. Pythons approaching it in size have been said to have lived that long."

Last Feeling of Satisfaction. Postmaster Chance told the Kiwanis club last week how he took an examination to get his first promotion in government service.

He entered as a messenger. One day he happened to look into a room and saw about thirty people bending over tables.

"What are they doing?" he asked. "They are taking an examination for promotion," he was told. "Don't you want to try?"

If they were trying to play a joke on M. O. Chance of Illinois he called their bluff.

He went in, took the examination and later was told that he was the only one promoted.

"I tell you, I felt pretty proud," recalled Postmaster Chance, delecting the time, "until they told me that the others had taken the examination for promotion to $1,000 and that I had been the only one to take the examination for promotion to $1,000."—Washington Star.

Eddie Knowl

Eddie is a high school fresher. He is enthusiastic over sports, and, with his father, has witnessed practically all of the wrestling matches held recently in Indianapolis. His teacher had urged the pupils to attend at least one of the Shakespearean plays scheduled at a local theater, and finally asked whether any of the pupils had ever seen Robert Mantell.

"Yes," put in Eddie without a moment's hesitation, as he recalled the name of Al Mantell, a noted wrestler. "I saw him wrestle Jack Reynolds." The sally was good for a big laugh at his expense.—Indianapolis News.

Stung But Rewarded.

Patrons of a Long Island telephone line complained of a buzzing on the wires and a trouble hunter was sent out to locate the difficulty. He located it and he did something else, for he found that a swarm of bees had made a hive in the connection box on a telephone pole. The trouble hunter worked for hours and finally routed the bees with a fire extinguisher. He was badly stung, but he was rewarded by ten pounds of honey stored in the connection box.

Takes City Directory's Place.

How the telephone book is displacing the directory is illustrated by complaints in Brooklyn, which has no city directory now, that it is hard to find the address of persons living there unless they have a telephone. Of course everybody of consequence ought to have telephone service now, but all of those who can't are of consequence to themselves, and many of them are of consequence to others. Moral: Live out in the country where everybody knows you.—Boston Daily Globe.

B. Y. P. U. STUDY COURSE

At the Baptist church next Sunday night will begin the B. Y. P. U. Study course, which will be taught by Mr. Farmer of Dallas, the lesson being "Methods of Conquering the B. Y. P. U." The plans were outlined by the Baptist General Convention, to Texas being assigned the month of April for the work. Everywhere in the state the study will begin in the Baptist churches of the state, and the many thousands of members of the union will receive expert instruction in the methods most productive of good.

Every member interested in the welfare and progress of the church and the Baptist Young People's Union is requested to lend the endorsement of his presence at these meetings for study.

Miss Louise Baker has returned from Dallas, where for several months she has been taking advanced lessons in music under instructors of national repute. Miss Baker is one of our most accomplished pianists, and her friends anticipate much pleasure from her skilled performances.

Mrs. D. A. Washburn, accompanied by Mr. Washburn and Misses Dorothy and Elise, went to Dallas Saturday for treatment in a sanitarium. Miss Dorothy remained over till Monday for a visit with friends, other members of the family returning Sunday.

Mr. E. S. Blount has sold his interest in the East Texas Tire & Tube Repair Company to his partner, Mr. W. E. Weaver, who will continue the business at the old stand and give the old quality of service. Mr. Blount is undecided as to his future activities.

A heavy rain fell here Wednesday night, accompanied by considerable wind. The residence of D. Z. Partin was blown from the foundation, and a number of small buildings in different parts of town were blown down.—Cushing Journal.

MASTER SALE AND LUNCH

The ladies of the Christ Church Guild will conduct a sale of fancy and useful articles Saturday, April 19th. Pies, cakes, home-made candy, etc., will be on sale. At noon you can get a choice of many articles for your lunch, soup, sandwiches, pie, cake, coffee, etc. A rummage sale of used articles will also be conducted as a separate department. Come out, look, listen, buy and eat.

Watch our for further notices.

Mr. Gilbert Baker has been transferred from Fannin county to this place to assist Inspector A. B. Tumin in the work of tick eradication. At their office Tuesday morning the Sentinel was informed that 90 dipping vats have been complete in Nacogdoches county, with 20 more under construction. Mr. Tumin expressed his hearty appreciation for the cooperation he is receiving from the people of the county, and thanks with this aid it is only a question of a short time when his territory will be entirely freed from cattle ticks. Every man in the county should help.
