THE SOUTH AND HER VETERANS

Just now when the whole country is full of clamor about the question of a bonus for men who belonged to the American army in the late war, is an appropriate time to refer to the way in which the people of the South have dealt with veterans of the war of 1861-65.

The record makes a story which is full of pathos and heroism, and the impartial historian of the future will pay just tribute to a people who, though sore stricken by war and overwhelmed by poverty and for a half score years deprived of the right of self government, did not forget those who, "broken and seamed with many a scar," needed in their old age to be fed and sheltered and ministered to.

While Texas was never invaded by the enemy, yet every other state was plowed by war's red furrows and the sword and the cannon and the torch left desolation in their path.

It is doubtful if the men who fought in any modern war—since the American revolution—ever laid down their arms and returned to their homes to meet such poverty and desolation, or ever began again the battle of life under such apparently hopeless conditions, which it is beyond the power of the ablest pen to picture.

As soon as it was in any measure possible, the Southern States began to extend aid to those of their veterans who had fallen upon poverty and need.

Alabama may doubtless be safely taken for purposes of illustration. The difference between her and her sister states is only a matter of degree.

It was more than eleven years after 1865 before Alabama was able to do anything at all for her veterans, and she began then with an appropriation of only $5,000. As rapidly as she recuperated from the desolation of war she increased her appropriation, and for the year ending September 1, 1920, her veterans received $1,888,556.

From 1876 to 1920—44 years—she expended for her veterans $15,824,274.62, an average of nearly $360,000 a year.

When we consider the financial and industrial demoralization which followed after April 9, 1865, such a record reflects great honor upon a state.

Gratitude is at once the noblest and rarest of virtues, and it is as obligatory upon a state as it is upon an individual.—Houston Chronicle.

THE MESSAGE OF EASTER

As the peoples of the earth come again unto Easter, with its message of eternal life, it is no stretch of imagination to believe that from time to time in the remote past, long before the loving fatherhood of God was revealed by His Son, a similar assurance was given to mankind. As the first man, whether his name may have been Adam of something else, looked upon his wife and children he must have asked the question propounded in a later age by Job, "If a man shall die shall he live again?" And there must have come to him some comforting thought to save him from despair.

In a later generation such consolation came to David when he lost his little lad, for whom he had fasted and wept: "But now he is dead wherefore should I fast? Can I bring him back? I shall go to him, but he shall not return to me." And so it was with Job who, after passing through dire misfortunes, physical affliction and mental anguish, exclaimed: "For I know that my Redeemer liveth, and that He shall stand at the latter day upon the earth! And though after my skin worms destroy this body, yet in my flesh shall I see God: Whom I shall see for myself and mine eyes shall behold." So it was with Paul, the great apostle of the resurrection, when he triumphantly declared, "O death, where is thy sting? O grave, where is thy victory?"

And now, in the fullness of time, mankind has the Easter message in all its completeness, as given to the world by the Redeemer and His apostles. It is a message that answers "Yes" to the question that came down through the ages, "If a man die shall he live again?" It is the message that brings all mourners the comforting assurance, "We shall meet again." It is a message of hope and inspiration and comfort to all the world.

Most wars have started in April, not counting the annual baseball scraps.

Mexico is beginning to talk about arranging to pay her debts. That is as commendable in a nation as in an individual.

GIVE THE LAZY MAN HIS DUE

Perhaps the world has not given the lazy man the credit he deserves for the progress that has been made toward the ideal life. When the lazy man is considered dispassionately, it is seen that some important inventions are the result of his disinclination to work.

For example, the riding cultivator, which is said to be the product of a man who was sure that his legs were never intended to drag after a hand implement. Not only does the farmer ride in cultivating now, but he gets much more cultivating done. There is not much to be said for the man who refuses to work at all, but the man who is just lazy enough to do his work in the easiest way has been able to hit upon many ideas that have added to the sum total of human efficiency.

Many devices that have contributed largely to production may be traced to the desire of some individual to save himself from unnecessary physical effort. Many an inventor who has a reputation for industry may have had only a commendable kind of laziness.

HIS GREATEST MONUMENT

No greater monument to Booker T. Washington, who lifted the veil of ignorance from his people and pointed the way to progress through education and industry than Tuskegee Institute can ever be erected. Presence of a large delegation of white folks at the unveiling of a marble shaft to him at Tuskegee, Ala., shows how widespread is the approval of American public opinion of the great work he did. The ceremony was as notable for one race as the other.

What makes Booker T. Washington a sort of hero among the colored people and an object of admiration among all races is that he had none and taught no foolish notions to his people about their "place in the sun." He never made extravagant promises or preached false idealism. By industry, obedience to law, education, he would lead his people to an emancipation more real than any granted by law.

In this work he was remarkably successful and it is fitting that a marble shaft to his memory should stand within a few feet of the great monument of his achievement.

TARIFF "PANACEA" AGAIN

The United States Senate has spawned its tariff bill. It is in some respects higher than the notorious Payne-Aldrich law of the previous republican administration and considerably above the present Underwood law.

Doubtless it represents the views of the high protectionists of the country who believe that a tariff wall begets prosperity, even though it does strangle international trade. And no tariff protects everybody and this one will come father short of everybody than any such measure for a long period of years.

For the consumer there is one important thing always to remember about any tariff. It is that it is a means of making the consumer pay more for his shoes, his woolen socks and his clothing than otherwise. That is the point of a tariff—to cut out competition so that the American manufacturer can raise his price. Such a manufacturer is "protected", to be sure—a beneficiary of special privilege.

The answer of the high tariff man is that the American workingman gets higher wages because of the tariff. The American workingman ought to be able to answer that. He received more money under the Underwood low tariff act than under any high tariff law ever passed.

ARE OLD TIMES COMING BACK?

It looks like old times coming back again when we see the railroads granting sure-enough "reduced rates" for large conventions, state fairs, etc.

One of the first reductions of this nature is that just announced from San Antonio, where the passenger agents association held their meeting.

The association granted a rate of one fare and one-fifth for the Southwest Durbar, a big spring festival to be held in Dallas the week beginning May 21st.

The rate will apply going from May 20 and will be good returning up to May 29, a liberal limit of full ten days. If this kind of thing keeps on we may hope to see the regular fares reduced as the next step in the revision downward.

Some of the features of the Durbar at Dallas are said to be a bank contest for amateur bands all over Texas with $1,500 in prizes; two grand concerts with over 650 voices trained and a symphony orchestra; a pageant featuring the state flower, the bluebonnet, and entitled "The Durbar of the Flowers"; an electrically illuminated night parade consisting of floats, bands and delegations representing many Texas cities and towns; a world's championship Rodeo and Frontier Days celebration under the direction of Tom Burnett of Fort Worth; polo matches, golf matches and tennis tournaments for Southwestern championship and many more features scattered throughout the entire week.

STONE FOR CONSTABLE

Mr. G. W. Stone announces today for constable of Precinct No. 1. He is too well known to the people of this community to require recommendation at the hands of anyone. His long and enviable experience as a peace officer entitles him to the consideration of the voters and we are sure he will receive that. Mr. Stone was reluctant to allow his name to be used as a candidate for constable, but friends would not take "no" for an answer. He asks you, since he has been brought into the race, to kindly consider his candidacy when you cast your ballot in the primary.

Cave Man Stuff

BACK near the beginning of things, our prehistoric forebears would have perished from the earth if they had not understood the science of reading advertising.

The cavemen didn't know much about underwear, hair tonic or phonographs, but they did have to eat. The one who could follow the tracks of the game he hunted, or read the meaning of a twisted leaf or broken twig, was best off in life.

Then as now, the most consistent reader of advertising was best dressed, best fed and most contented.

There has been something of an evolution in advertising in the last few thousands of years, but the principle is just the same.

The consistent reader of the advertisements is invariably best informed on what to eat and where to get it; what to wear and how much to pay for it; what to do and how to do it. He's up on the most important things in life. Consequently he gets most from life.

Throughout the ages, advertising has done much to make life livable and pleasant. We owe it much.

Let's Make the Most Of It

EX-SOLDIER ENDS LIFE

The citizens of the Oak Flat community were shocked on last Friday morning when it was learned that Homer Holleman had ended his life at the family home. Homer was 29 years of age and served through the World War. He was in the thickest of the great battles of Flanders Fields and it was during these trying days he was gassed and shellshocked. Since returning home the awful scene of the days he spent in the front trenches became so intensified that it was noticed that his mind was becoming unbalanced. On the night of the awful tragedy he retired with the family, seemingly in the best of spirits, and in a few minutes after going to his room, the report of a shot gun was heard and upon investigation it was found that he had taken his life. The deepest sympathy of all our people go out to the parents, Mr. and Mrs. Holleman.—Rusk County News.

Perhaps the miners struck against a reduction from war pay because a reduction would prevent accumulating to fall back on in case of a strike.

Vienese took the demise of their former ruler complacently, never stopping in the wild scramble for a few bread crusts.

It would be only history repeating itself if some of the recent profiteers should be the touted philanthropists of the future.

An Omaha prosecuting attorney had to argue so powerfully to obtain the conviction of an alien bootlegger that his right arm was dislocated. He'll be for deporting them after this.

Some disconsolate women who have been restricted to the neighborhood in their attempts to learn everything that is going on will never be happy until they have a radio.

There is nothing more irritating than the season's first touch of sunburn, unless it is engaging in a heated argument with a man who is able to prove that he is right.

RURAL ROUTE CARRIER DEFAULTS IN SERVICE

The postoffice inspectors came here last week and after several days of investigation of irregularities of the affairs of Rural Route No. 1 arrested Wade Windham, the carrier on the route on a charge of theft of parcels that had been transmitted through the mails. Postmaster Reddett states to this reporter that Mr. Windham made a confession to the charges. His premises were searched and many of the missing articles recovered. Mr. Windham was left by the officers in charge of Mr. Reddett, who carried him to Beaumont Monday morning.

The case has been laid before the Federal court now in session at Beaumont.

Mr. Windham was the first and only carrier for this particular route since its establishment 17 years ago. He has given the patrons of the route good service and it is said has been very popular with his patrons. The affair caused considerable surprise among the citizens of Center and community, since Mr. Windham has always conducted himself in a gentlemanly way with his fellow citizens.—Center Champion.

Some of the candidates have lame backs and blistered hands as the result of "campaign work" in the Sacul graveyard cleaning up Thursday. They had a good (?) time and a good dinner, and each earned all the votes he will get out of the stunt.

MT. OLIVE CHURCH BUILDING BURNED

The church building at Mt. Olive, which is in the Clever Creek community, was destroyed by fire Friday night. The matter was reported to the officers here Saturday and Sheriff Smith and County Attorney Louis Johnston set it to the scene of the fire Sunday for the purpose of making an investigation as to the cause of the fire. It is believed that the building was purposely set on fire, since the surrounding incidents lead to that belief. It is said that the telephone wire passing the building had been cut and there was other evidence that the building had been set on fire. The property belonged to the Methodist organization of that community and was a nice building and was comfortably furnished and seated.—Center Champion.

OIL ACTIVITIES

Mr. W. G. Field of Fort Worth has leased 10,000 acres of land of Mr. Guy Blount and will as soon as the machinery can be installed, which will be almost immediately, begin operations. The first will be test wells and will run to a depth of 3,500 or 4,000 feet. Heavy California rotary drills will be employed in sinking these wells, and the question of "deep" oil will be definitely settled. Mr. Field is confident that there is deep oil in the Nacogdoches territory, and he is going after it.

ASLEEP ON THE TRACK, THREE BOYS ARE KILLED

Fort Worth, Texas, April 15.—Officers today are trying to locate relatives of three youths from Columbus, Ohio, who went to sleep on the Texas & Pacific tracks west of here and were killed at midnight last night. The boys were John Shoemaker, Carl Vance Riggs and Elmer Thill. Edward Miner was awakened by the approaching train and escaped. The boys were bridge workers seeking employment.

A. & M. GRADUATE RECEIVES NOTED FRENCH DECORATION

College Station, Texas, April 17.—Dr. G. S. Fraps of the A. & M. College of Texas is in receipt of a letter from John Aston, associate editor of the Breeder's Gazette, Chicago, and a graduate of the College in 1907, in which he states that he has, under recent decree, been decorated Officer du Merite Agricole by the French government in recognition of his services to France during the last twelve years.

Mr. Ashton distinguished himself several times on the stock judging teams while at the college.

AUTOS COLLIDE

Two autos collided about 1:30 Sunday afternoon at a point two miles south of Garrison and both machines were badly damaged. One of the cars was driven by a lad named Weatherly and the other by "Pete" Williams, both youths residing at Garrison. The Weatherly boy had six children in the car with him. It seems he ran into a faulty place in the road, and his machine was thrown against a guard rail. In his effort to avoid the danger confronting him, Weatherly steered his car across the road, colliding with Williams' car, which is said to have been making about 20 miles an hour. None of the occupants of Weatherly's car were injured, but Williams was caught under his car and sustained a broken rib. The wonder is that all the occupants of the cars were not killed or badly injured.

This wreck was caused by a small washout at the edge of the road about 10 or 12 inches deep, which a few moments' work might easily have repaired. It has been suggested—and the suggestion is undoubtedly a wise one—that autoists would be doing a good service by carrying a small shovel in their machines and when such trifling faults in the road are discovered getting out and filling them up. A moment or two would accomplish this, and the roads would be safer for their doing it. The near-catastrophe of Sunday should serve as an object lesson, as it is only a "forerunner" of other accidents that are sure to happen unless the roads are fixed and fixed right now.

BURGLARY SUNDAY NIGHT

The drugstore of Swift Bros. & Smith was burglarized some time Sunday night and $10 in cash, a watch and quite a quantity of narcotics stolen. The thieves effected an entrance by climbing the wire netting and breaking one of the upper panes of glass. In leaving they unlocked and went out by the front door. No clew has been found as to the identity of the perpetrators of the robbery.

Of course this gang will be apprehended sooner or later and the sooner they are in jail the better it will be for the business men of the town. The officers are doing their best, and eventually the thieves will leave some trace which will lead to their arrest.

REVIVAL IS GREAT NEED, SAYS PASTOR

"The devil makes a lot of fine promises, but he is a liar. Some of you people have been looking to the devil for forty years and all you have received is disappointment in your sin and sorrow," said Rev. S. D. Dollahite, at Rosyn Heights Baptist church Wednesday night.

"The heathen looks to his god for what he needs, but many of the Christian nations look not to their Lord, Jesus the Christ, who alone can bring salvation to mankind. God promises life to those who look to Him, and He has devised no mockeries, and made no failures in His promises.

"America's outstanding need is to turn to God. All the problems of commerce and politics and social service will be solved through turning to God; and an old-fashioned revival of religion is the great need at this hour.

"Speak to God, tell Him of your needs, ask Him for help. It is not for you or me to look to God for some justification of His claims. We realize the power of them, we are governed by them, we may be the benefactors by turning to Him. And the best time to look to God is today, 'now is the accepted time.'—Fort Worth Star Telegram.

OWES 23 TIMES AS MUCH MONEY AS IN 1917

Chicago, April 13.—The United States owes 23 times as much money now as in 1917, when the public debt was about $1,000,000,000. Eliot Wadsworth, assistant secretary of the treasury, declared in a speech before the Central States group of the Investment Bankers association Tuesday night.

"This huge debt we must pass on to the future citizens of the country," he said. "For this reason it is the intention of financial leaders of our government to pay all new debts from current funds. We are just standing still financially, as our expenses this year are just a bit equal to our revenue.

"Without any surplus of revenue over expenses we can not decrease our public debt of $22,500,000,000. Government expenditures must come down."

END ALL WAR

Genoa, April 13.—Prime Minister Lloyd George of Great Britain is expected to propose at the earliest opportunity, probably at Thursday's sitting of commission No. 1 of the economic conference, a pact or undertaking that no nation shall attack another, thus abolishing the possibility of war, for the duration of the pact, Reuters' correspondent Wednesday says he has learned.

PROGRAM PARTLY ACCEPTED

They consider the clause an infringement on Russian sovereignty.

DIRECTORS' MEETING

The regular Friday morning meeting of the board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce convened in the City Hall office at 10 a. m. Friday.

Those present were: Oscar Matthews, president; Carl Monk, vice president; Elbert Reese, Link Summers, A. T. Mast, A. H. Smith, J. B. Atkins, H. P. Schmidt, J. J. Baker, Robert Muckleroy, T. E. Baker, F. W. Betts, Guy Stripling, W. D. Burk, J. M. Tucker, Guy Stripling, R. L. Perry, J. N. Thomas, Miss Exier Lewis and June C. Harris.

By invitation Miss Exier Lewis, county school superintendent, was present for the purpose of explaining the probable finances of the public schools for another year. Miss Lewis showed by facts taken from her records that the state appropriation of school money sent to Nacogdoches county for 1920-21 was $134,545, and for 1921-22 only $119,509, and that for the next scholastic year will be, according to careful estimates, only $96,520, or $38,019 less than two years ago, and that as a result of this falling off in revenues, many country schools will have only 3 to 4 months' term, or if the term is made longer than three to four months, salaries will be wholly inadequate to secure good teachers.

On the basis of the figures submitted by Miss Lewis, it was the judgment of the board of directors that a special session of the legislature should be called to provide more revenues for the schools.

June C. Harris, H. L. McKnight and Miss Exier Lewis were named as a committee to draft suitable resolutions to this effect and forward the resolutions to Governor Pat Neff.

J. M. Tucker reported for the audit committee, stating that the committee had so far been unable to secure a suitable location, and asked for more time, which was granted.

The secretary read a letter from a party at Minden, La., suggesting that the Nacogdoches oil field could be advertised to great advantage by sending samples of oil to Pacific coast towns.

T. E. Baker reported a visit he had from Fort Worth parties who were here to investigate the possibilities of building or buying a refinery to refine the output of our shallow field. These parties declared that the crude oil from the Nacogdoches shallow oil field was easily worth $7.50 per barrel on the present market. These gentlemen explained that their attention had been directed to this oil through parties at Fort Worth who had recently received two cars of the crude product. Attention was called to the fact that recent drilling in the shallow field had produced some wells making as much as 10 barrels per day.

The directors extended Mr. C. C. Chappell of the Yuba Oil Co., a cordial invitation to be present at the next meeting of the directors Friday, April 21, and to discuss any phase the Nacogdoches shallow field that might be of public interest.

President Matthews called attention to the fact that the finance committee had not made a final report. F. W. Betts, chairman of the soliciting committee, explained that his committee, composed of Orland Patton and Holloway Muller, would "be on the job" Friday afternoon, and felt sure they would be able to complete their task right away.

Assistant Prosecuting Attorney George Petty of Houston was in the city Friday en route to Carthage, where he will aid in the prosecution of Roscoe Latimer, charged with the killing of J. F. Fulgham of Garrison last year. The case was taken to Panola county on a change of venue and Mr. Petty privately engaged to enter the prosecution. Mr. James Fulgham, son of the deceased, accompanied Attorney Petty.

Mrs. F. P. Williamson of Cushing was a visitor in the city Wednesday.

Mr. J. E. Taylor of Garrison was a business visitor in the city Thursday.

Mr. L. C. Jacobs of Etoile was shaking hands with Nacogdoches friends Wednesday.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Paul Peck, a fine girl, Wednesday, April 12th, 1922.

U. C. V. REUNION

The United Confederate Veterans will meet this year at Richmond, Va., June 20th, 21st and 22d. It behooves our people to at once begin to make arrangements to send the old Confederates from this county. Many cities and towns of the state have already begun preparations for sending the old boys on this annual heart-warming trip, and surely Nacogdoches will not lag in this work. The survivors of the war of the 60s are getting old, what few of them are left, and it should be regarded as a privilege of the younger generation to contribute to a fund for sending them on this trip. They are entitled to all we can do for them. Let's go!

Dumas of Montgomery appraiser for the Federal Land Bank of Houston, advising that he will be here between the 19th and 25th instants to appraise some 25 or 30 farms involving loans between $50,000 and $60,000. Since Mr. Hall's recent visit to Houston to the bank our association is beginning to function more normally than any time since the courts gave the farm loan system a bill of health over a year ago.

Hurry mother! Even a sick child loves the "fruity" taste of "California Fig Syrup" and it never fails to open the bowels. A teaspoonful today may prevent a sick child tomorrow. The waters in all the nearby rivers are receding, according to reports, and the bottom-land farmers will soon be able to put in their crops. In places it is said, some crops had been planted previous to the overflow, and of course, these must be re-planted. But there's still time to raise a big crop.

IS YOUR HEALTH GRADUALLY SLIPPING?

Interesting Experience of a Texas Lady Who Declares That if More Women Knew About Cardui They Would Be Spared Much Sickness and Worry.

Nacogdoches, Texas.—Mrs. W. M. Peden, of this place, relates the following interesting account of how she recovered her strength, having realized that she was actually losing her health:

"Health is the greatest thing in the world, and when you feel that gradually slipping away from you, you certainly sit up and take notice. That is what I did some time ago when I found myself in a very nervous, run-down condition of health. I was so tired and felt so lifeless I could hardly go at all.

"I was just no account for work. I would get a bucket of water and would feel so weak I would have to set it down before I felt like I could lift it to the shelf. In this condition, of course, to do even my housework was a task almost impossible to accomplish.

"I was so nervous and easily upset. I could not rest well at night and was just lifeless.

"I heard of Cardui and after reading I decided I had some female trouble that was pulling me down. I sent for Cardui and began it.

"In a very short while after I began the Cardui Home Treatment I saw an improvement and it wasn't long until I was all right—good appetite, splendid rest, and much stronger so that I easily did my house work.

"Later I took a bottle of Cardui as a tonic. I can recommend Cardui and gladly do so, for if more women knew, it would save a great deal of worry and sickness."

The enthusiastic praise of thousands of other women who have found Cardui helpful should convince you that it is worth trying. All druggists sell it.
