FLOODS DESTROY CROPS ON MILLION ACRES

Houston, Texas, May 16.—More than 1,000,000 acres of crops have been destroyed by flood waters from the Colorado, Trinity, Brazos, Neches and Sabine rivers and approximately 25,000 families need help to replant the crops, according to figures compiled at the Houston bureau of crops estimates and forwarded to the department of agriculture in Washington Monday.

TWAIN'S OLD SWEETHEART

Hannibal, Mo., May 15.—"Becky Thatcher," known to thousands of readers of Mark Twain's books as the little school girl in the adventures of Tom Sawyer and Huckleberry Finn, is a real person and living today in Hannibal, the old home of Mark Twain. She is Mrs. Laura Frazier, 86-years old and is matron of the Home for the Friendless here.

Mrs. Frazier is said to know more about Mark Twain's youth than any other living person.

"Mark and I started to school together the same year," she says. "He was 7 and I was 6. Our houses were across the street from each other right here in Hannibal. Mark had long golden curls hanging over his shoulders. He used to carry my books to school every morning and carry them home in the evening. And he'd treat me to apples and oranges and divide his candy with me.

"In the winter Mark spent most of his time on the ice. I couldn't skate, but he always arranged for me to go along. He used to push me along the ice on a split-bottom chair. He was a fine skater.

"The first time I ever saw Mark was on a hot summer day. He came out of his house and started showing off, turning hand springs and cutting capers. His heel hit me and I was thrown to the ground and knocked unconscious. I recall hearing the children talking about how scared Mark was."

Mrs. Frazier spent a week in Mark Twain's home at Stormfield, Conn., in 1908.

ARKANSAS GAS WELL FIRE

El Dorado, Ark., May 16.—A crater 200 feet across was blown out early today at the Wild Murphy gas well ten miles north of here and the gas from it and all other craters in the vicinity was ignited. Several smaller craters were fired last night. The main well, estimated to be making more than 75,000,000 cubic feet of gas daily, did not catch until the huge crater was blown out today.

Beaumont, Texas, May 16.—Judge McDowell, before whom impeachment proceedings were scheduled to begin today against Sheriff Tom H. Garner, declined to disqualify himself to try the case when a petition was filed by the defense making that request. A second petition, demanding a change of venue, was filed but no action was taken.

UNUSUAL EXAMPLE OF MARTIAL FELICITY

St. Louis, Mo., May 15.—An unusual example of martial felicity is on record in Kirkwood, St. Louis county, where three brothers, all of whom have celebrated their golden wedding anniversaries, are living.

They are the three Bopp brothers, Henry, Valentine and Peter, who came to the United States from Germany, in 1853, settled in Kirkwood and married St. Louis county girls.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Bopp will celebrate their fifty-eighth wedding anniversary in August. Mrs. Bopp who is 81 years old, attends to her own housekeeping and plants a garden every spring. Her husband, who is 80 years old, is a retired carpenter and works around the house.

Mr. and Mrs. Valentine Bopp recently celebrated their fifty-second wedding anniversary, and Mr. and Mrs. Peter Bopp have been married fifty-one years.

Valentine Bopp is 76 and his wife 69; Peter Bopp is 74 and his wife 72. These couples live in the same block and keep their truck gardens together. Peter is a retired cobbler and repairs shoes for his own family.

The brothers served with the Union army during the Civil War, and in 1884 when Grover Cleveland was elected president for the first time, they organized the Bopp Brass Band, which included their sons. They also play the organ.

FIFTEEN PERSONS DROWNED WHEN BRIDGE COLLAPSES

Marlin, Texas, May 17.—Fifteen persons were drowned here Tuesday afternoon when the bridge over the Brazos river on the Belton-Marlin road collapsed. Those drowned were members of a party of sight-seers who were viewing the rushing flood waters.

Thirty persons made up the party, most of them from Marlin. The bridge is about five miles west of here and the party had just stepped upon the structure when it collapsed. One side of the approach had been washed out slightly, but the structure held firmly and collapse was not expected.

Doctors from Waco and all of Marlin physicians were rushed to the scene. Rescue work has accounted for about a dozen of those in the party. Several were rescued three miles below the bridge.

J. Lee Jones, Herbert Rice, F. N. Stallworth, Mayor of Marlin, Dr. W. H. Allen, M. M. Jeter, Frank Koznorowski, Mrs. Ed Mosley and another woman whose name was not learned. All of them from Marlin.

Most of the missing were on the west end of the bridge trying to save the structure when it collapsed.

Names of those known to have been saved are Levi Goodrich, a Mr. McFadden, a Mr. Edens, a Mr. Clayton and a Mr. Fuller. It was impossible to get the names of the victims. Others might have been saved, but it is believed these six are the only ones.

A baby, among the party in a small car, is drowned. The driver of the car escaped. All of the 30 persons on the bridge when it collapsed were thrown into the water. Many of them believed they could save those on the bridge by remaining on the west end but the entire structure gave way and all were thrown into the water.

Death List Reduced

Waco, Texas, May 17.—Four dead or missing is the latest estimate of victims when a bridge collapsed yesterday over the Brazos between Marlin and Belton, according to advices from the scene of the disaster. The dead and missing are Mayor Frank M. Stallworth of Marlin, Dr. W. H. Allen of Marlin, Mrs. C. Moseley of Belton and B. J. Briggs, aged 7, of Marlin. The body of Mrs. Moseley was sent to Beaumont for burial, then sent to Beaumont for burial. The bridge crumpled under the pressure of the flood waters. Rev. H. W. Knickerbocker, a survivor, said there was no warning of danger until too late and all went down with the bridge. The persons were watching the waters when the crash came.

HEAT FROM THE EARTH

Announcement that holes are to be bored into the volcano Kilauea on the island of Hawaii, in an effort to tap the subterranean heat and turn it into industrial channels, suggests that the time may come when the heat in the interior of the earth will be extensively used by mankind to furnish power as well as to provide warmth in winter.

Something of the sort that is being attempted in the Hawaiian volcano has already been accomplished in Italy. At Larderello, near Florence, in a region of hot springs, a bore hole has been sunk to a point at which steam is encountered, and this has been used to generate about 10,000 horsepower by turbines. Geologists who tested the temperature of a gas well about 7,000 deep drilled near Clarksburg, W. Va., estimated that at a depth of 10,000 feet the boiling point of water, 212 degrees Fahrenheit, would be reached.

Sir Charles Parsons, a distinguished engineer and formerly president of the British Association for the Advancement of Science, proposed in an address before that body that a shaft twelve miles deep be sunk to tap the central fires. He estimated that it would cost $25,000,000 and would take 85 years to complete.

TARIFF AND POLITICS

After spending almost a year in tariff-making republican leaders are not at all certain that the tariff is good for political capital in the coming campaigns. Even the enthusiasm of the so-called agricultural bloc has considerably cooled and some of the old-time leaders give evidence of wishing for some convenient alley into which to sidestep inconvenient responsibility.

Senator Joseph Sherman Frelinghuysen, of New Jersey, is one of the many republican senators whose term expires next year. It may be a mere coincidence, may may be the result of consideration of expediency for the coming campaign, that Mr. Frelinghuysen introduces a bill designed, as its supporters assert, to take the tariff out of politics. If it would have that effect probably it would meet with the favor of the vast majority of the American people. That it will, however, is a matter for consideration.

The bill provides that the United States tariff commission shall be transferred to the department of commerce and that it shall be enlarged by the appointment of advisers to the commission "from each interest (including agriculture, labor, manufacturing, mining, banking, import, export and transportation)." The number of advisers is left to the discretion of the secretary of commerce, but it is provided they shall serve without pay. The enlarged commission will, it appears, have substantially the same functions as those of the present commission. It is stipulated, however, that the advisers shall be chosen "without regard to political affiliations," probably as postmasters are now being chosen under "civil service."

Those who observe political matters with clear vision may doubt. The Democratic party instituted the present tariff commission. This commission is given extensive powers in summoning witnesses and otherwise securing information, and by the nature of its construction is supposed to be non-partisan. It assembles vast quantities of data and place it at the disposal of congress.

But the incoming republican administration with its ample majority in congress did not desist from beginning at once to reconstruct the tariff laws as if the promises of its political campaign demanded it. And so long as congressmen desire to be re-elected it is hardly to be expected that they will miss the opportunity which they think the tariff affords to make an impression upon their constituents and upon powerful interests which profit by the tariff.

The one sure thing about Mr. Frelinghuysen's proposal which will be of interest to all taxpayers is that it provides an appropriation of $1,000,000 for clerk hire and other expenses.

PAY PART OF IT NOW

In the old-time school the mathematics class felt it had a man's job when it was wrestling with the division in the arithmetic devoted to partial payments. It is so in business. "Partial payments" prove to be big problems. The temptation comes in the time of general slowing down to postpone payment of an entire obligation is not to pay at all if not all is not easily accessible. The temptation is not to pay at all if not cannot pay all. But there never was a more dangerous course for business to pursue.

If you can not pay all of that bill you owe, pay part of it. It is the dollar that's moving that helps.

The school boy of a generation ago found that when he had mastered "partial payments" he had gained much confidence in his own accuracy, his systematic method of work, his ability to stick to a problem until it was solved. It is so with business. Partial payments is the surest method of reaching the stage for the red line and the balancing.

The dollar that is started to work now will do the work of 10 before it quits—and come back ready as ever for new duties.

THE "WEAKER SEX"

"Men," says Lady Astor, "are the weaker sex," and she adds, they are "so easily attracted that it is a shame to take advantage of them."

All very true, dear lady, but why proclaim it publicly? It's as old as the race. Many men deny it, but in their heart they admit its truth. And who would have it otherwise?

Woe unto humanity when man becomes so hard-hearted that the grace and beauty of womanhood has no charms for him.

UPHOLDING WILSON'S POLICY

Among those who thought that the republican victory in this country in 1920 would mean abandonment of a' of Wilson's policies were the Russian bolsheviks, Lenine and Trotzky. Soon after the inauguration of the Harding administration, Lenine, in a communication to the president and congress of the United States, expressed the hope that America would not continue "to follow obdurately" the course taken by President Wilson, adding mendaciously that the latter, one of the best friends Russia ever had, attacked the country "without cause and without any declaration of war" and had shown "during his whole administration a growing hostility toward the Russian republic." It was so false and so ray and even some of the most pronounced Wilson haters denounced it.

The world knew that the Wilson administration, instead of being hostile to the Russian republic, was the first to recognize it and to send it aid toward the solution of its problems. The world knew that Wilson, in fighting the Brest-Litovsk treaty, was fighting for the Russian people while Lenine and Trotzky were bent on selling them out for German gold. The world knew that when some of the entente allies were suspected of a plan to dismember Russia that it was Wilson who called a halt on anything in that direction.

So Secretary Hughes promptly impressed upon the soviet government that it was in no position to talk to the United States on trade, declaring to the world that this country regarded soviet Russia as a gigantic economic vacuum and adding significantly that "no evidence exists that the unfortunate situation is likely to be alleviated so long as the present political economic system continues."

Despite this position set forth by Secretary Hughes and the emphasizing of it again, by implication, in declining an invitation to the United States to participate in the economic conference at Genoa, lest American attendance along with representatives of the soviet government might suggest recognition of the latter, President Harding within the last few days was pictured as ready to recognize the bolshevik regime merely in the interest of trade. Now the situation is cleared again by Secretary Hughes, in an address to a delegation bearing a petition for full recognition of the soviet government. After pointing out that there are no legal obstacles to trading with Russia by Americans, that such obstacles as exist are due to conditions in Russia herself, he made it clear again that the Russian house must be set in order before the United States can recognize it. The Wilson administration, while refraining from interfering in domestic affairs of Russia, refused emphatically to regard the Lenine-Trotzky regime as other than usurpers.

Secretary Hughes in upholding the Wilson policy in regard to the Russian soviet government, is simply showing soundness of view and justice to the American record in the case.

JUST A DOG

Some people love horses, some people love birds, some people love cats, and some people even love some other people, but where is there a man or woman who does not love a dog? Not a petted, pampered, primed show dog, but just a plain dog—nothing but dog from the tip of his nose to the tip of his tail.

Give a youngster a dog for a companion, and the kid will never go to the dogs. A dog will be loyal and friendly, happy and obedient, mischievous and lovable, a doggone friend for any one. Just a plain dog will do. A dog without pedigree, without price, without anything to boast of except that he is only a dog, with a dog's instincts, a dog's manners, a dog's sincerity, a dog's unwavering faith in and kindness to anyone who will be loyal and kind to him.

Just a plain dog. In other words, a mutt, a mongrel, yes, a cur. He will love his little master or his little mistress. Every boy and girl, at some time in life, is surely entitled to one plain, every-day, ordinary dog.

"GET INTO THE BERMUDA"

Mr. C. C. French, Fort Worth, Texas:

Dear Sir—You will remember our conversation at the Oklahoma City State Fair concerning the use of bermuda grass for hog and cattle pasture and the fact that on the fair grounds we had signs reading: "Get onto the Bermuda Grass" instead of the usual warnings of "Keep off the grass." We are finding bermuda grass more valuable each year in Oklahoma and I am confident that when the farmers of Texas go into the business of hog-raising right they will then realize the value of this grass, which they have hitherto mistakenly considered a pest. I know of several instances in which Oklahoma farmers have alfalfa growing on the best of bottom lands and bermuda grass on the sandy hill sides adjoining where alfalfa will not grow at all. These men have uniformly assured me that an acre of bermuda grass on this poor land will produce as many pounds of gain on hogs as will an acre of alfalfa on the rich land. They also find that pasturing is harmful to the stand of alfalfa while it only serves to keep the bermuda from getting sod-bound. Where no grain is fed to growing hogs, bermuda grass is better than alfalfa because it is more nearly a balanced ration and there is not the excess of nitrogenous materials as in the case when alfalfa is pastured. I know that the people of your state have an almost unreasoning fear of bermuda grass and whenever I meet a Texan who has been growing cotton and paid no attention to live stock he and I mix on the bermuda grass question. The facts are, however, that with good methods of farming such as fall and early winter plowing and thorough cultivation, bermuda grass may easily be kept out of cultivated fields and in fact may be killed out entirely, except possibly on waxy bottom lands. The increased cost of labor everywhere is making grass increasingly valuable because it is the one crop that costs nothing to harvest and after being harvested by high class live stock it gives the greatest possible returns.

We expect in Oklahoma within ten years to have bermuda grass as much valued by stockmen as Kentucky blue grass is in the northern states. And in fact, bermuda grass is superior in every respect to Kentucky blue grass and the superiority will be recognized when the southern states go into the business of stock raising and mixed farming, which they must do if they are to make farming a profitable business. If they will get the farmers in Eastern Texas to put some good hogs on their bermuda grass and grow just a little corn with which to finish them, you will have done them a great service and pointed the way to certain and speedy prosperity.

Faithfully yours,
JOHN FIELDS, Editor.

MOTHER'S DAY

Welcome to another Mothers' Day—by which is meant not every day, (which is mothers' day in the sense that mothers are the greatest blessing in the world every minute of every day there is), but the second Sunday in May, when by common consent motherhood receives special honor.

The good woman who inaugurated this special observance 10 or 12 years ago knew the human proneness to follow fashions. She knew, too, human impressionability and the ease with which the vast majority respond to suggestions. There are not very many normal human beings, after all, who deliberately or consciously neglect their mothers. When they do, they do so unconsciously, under stress of circumstances. And all they need to get them in the habit or fashion of giving Mother her dues—of showing the affection which she craves and which deep in their hearts they have always felt for her—is a strong suggestion from some quarter. They suddenly remember that they have been forgetting her, and there is no pain too great for them to take to convince her that Mother is first in all the world to them.

The qualities in men which really mean strength, which go to form chivalrous manhood and exalter character, are the qualities which true motherhood always instills into those around it.

There is an incalculable amount of nobility and generosity in the world, in spite of the enormous number of things that go wrong. And it is in the hearts of the mothers of the world that this nobility and generosity is propagated.

"Here Come the Elephants!"

DO you remember how you used to be on the job bright and early to see the circus parade? Remember how you thrilled as the lions, tigers, and big, lumbering elephants passed in review? How the horses, the blare of the bands, the antics of the clowns, and the glitter of it all inspired you with a fervid determination to see the real show—the big performance in the tent.

You didn't realize it then, but you were getting a lot out of an attractive advertisement.

Perhaps you didn't realize it now, but other advertisements, just as attractive, just as interesting and far more valuable to you, parade daily before you in the columns of this paper.

The merchants and makers of everything you want or need, here display before you their most attractive wares. It is truly "the greatest show on earth."

The whole purpose of any advertisement is to excite your curiosity, gain your interest, arouse your desire; to tell you something you don't know; to remind you of something you have forgotten; to convince you of something over which you have been hesitating.

In short, the purpose of an advertisement is, in one way or other, to make you happier.

Read the advertisements and see if that isn't so?

PASSING IT TO PRESIDENT

The unedifying spectacle presented by the various efforts of the house to pass the bonus "buck" to the president is to be repeated by the senate. The house finally took refuge in passing it to the senate, the president having refused to allow it to be thrown upon his shoulders. So the senate in turn is going to imitate the house.

There is the same bunk about no increase in taxation, that it will ultimately be financed from the foreign loans, although every person who knows anything about it knows that payments on foreign loans must go to redeeming Liberty Bonds, out of which the foreign loans were made. If congress changes the law to permit payments on foreign loans to be diverted to a bonus, what provision will be made for redeeming Liberty and Victory bonds?

Taxation is the only alternative, either for one or the other. Even Uncle Sam cannot pay out without getting in.

WORKERS VINDICATED

Washington, May 11.—The report of a special treasury committee, which made an inventory of supplies and equipment of the bureau of printing and engraving followed the recent reorganization of the bureau personnel, was completed today and is understood to be a substantial vindication, with the declaration of treasury officials that no material output of illegal bond, note or stamp issues had taken place within recent years.

RED CROSS TO RESCUE

Washington, May 11.—Local chapters of the American Red Cross were requested today by National Chairman Payne to solicit contributions of funds for relief in the flooded areas of the valleys of the Mississippi, Illinois and Ohio rivers. At least half a million is needed, Mr. Payne said.

FIFTY YEARS AGO

A young man who practiced medicine in Pennsylvania became famous and was called in consultation in many towns and cities because of his success in the treatment of disease. This was Dr. Pierce, who finally made up his mind to place some of his medicines before the public, and moving to Buffalo, N. Y., put up what he called his "Favorite Prescription," and placed it with the druggists in every state. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription has long been recognized as a tonic for diseases peculiar to womankind. After suffering pain, feeling nervous, dizzy, weak and dragged-down by weaknesses of her sex—a woman is quickly restored to health by its use. Thousands of women testify that Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription has entirely eradicated their distressing ailments. More recently that wonderful discovery of Dr. Pierce's, called An-urid (for kidneys and backache), has been successfully used by many thousands who write Dr. Pierce of the benefits received—that their backache, rheumatism, and other symptoms of uric acid deposits in joints or muscles have been completely conquered by its use. Send 10c to Dr. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., for trial pkg. of any of his remedies, or write for free medical advice.

CAPTURE OF ROBBERS WHO LOOTED HALF A MILLION

Savannah, Ga., May 12.—John Vardeman, alias J. W. Hollis, and Bertha Hardeman have made a clean breast of the robbery of the Chase National Bank of New York City of $500,000 in securities, according to detectives. They added that $30,000 of bonds, still missing, probably would be recovered within a few hours.

TROUBLESOME MUSCLE SHOALS

Washington, May 11.—A new proposal for the lease and operation of the government's nitrate and power projects at Muscle Shoals, Ala., submitted by L. Stern of Baltimore, was made public today by Chairman Norris of the senate agricultural committee. Stern offered to take over the properties for operation for a term of 25 or 50 years, or such other time as agreeable, to complete the plants at the government's cost and to pay all expenditures already made at the rate of 2 percent annually. The power developed at the Shoals would be used to manufacture fertilizer and other products.

IN JAIL FOR CONTEMPT

Beaumont, Texas, May 11.—Deputy Sheriff George Wallace was still in jail this morning, having been confined yesterday on order of District Judge McDowell for refusal to answer questions of the grand jury regarding his membership in the Ku Klux Klan. It is expected habeas corpus proceedings will be instituted.

BAILEY'S SON WEDS

San Antonio, Texas, May 11.—Weldon Bailey, son of former Senator Joseph W. Bailey and Mrs. Electra Waggoner Wharton, daughter of W. T. Waggoner of Fort Worth, millionaire cattleman, were married here early today after a quick decision at Dallas, and are now speeding en route to Tucson, Arizona, where Bailey owns a cattle ranch.

RUSSIA'S REPLY RECEIVED

Genoa, May 11.—Tchitcherin of soviet Russia personally handed the Russian reply to the Allied memorandum today to Schanzar of Italy. The only other person present was the Italian financial expert. The note, it was stated, suggests the appointment of a new special commission by the conference to continue negotiations after the close of the Genoa meeting.

WILL NOT HALT STRIKE VOTE

Chicago, May 11.—The decision against contracting shop work out-against contracting shop work to outside firms by railroad companies in an order handed down by the United States Railroad Labor Board yesterday will not halt the strike vote being taken by 500,000 union shopmen on the contract question.

WAR IN CHICAGO

Chicago, May 11.—Declaring that he agreed with the contention by the chief of police that Chicago is in a state of warfare, Judge Scanlon today refused to issue writs of habeas corpus releasing Cornelius Shea and John Lafferty, labor leaders arrested in connection with the murder of two policemen yesterday morning during a series of labor bombings.

LaFOLLETTE ENDORSED

Houston, Texas, May 11.—The International Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen today endorsed Senator Robert M. LaFollette for re-election as United States Senator from Wisconsin.

WANTS MERGER ENJOINED

Washington, May 12.—Hope that the Department of Justice would be "sufficiently aroused to enjoin the proposed steel merger-before it is consummated" was expressed by Senator LaFollette, republican, Wisconsin, in calling up today in the senate, his resolution for an investigation by the department. The Federal Trade Commission reported the merger plans of the Bethlehem-Lackawana Steel Corporation and the possible inclusion of the other independent steel companies in a consolidation. LaFollette said irreparable injury would be done if the merger were consummated.

MOVEMENT STARTED FOR LARGE STREET IMPROVEMENT

The Chamber of Commerce, the Booster Club and the Rotarians met with the city council Wednesday for the purpose of suggesting and perfecting plans for the paving of Nacogdoches. The matter was discussed from every angle and it was evident that the people had at last awakened to a realization of the importance of improvements of this character. It was suggested that arrangements be made to pave at least two of the principal streets—those bearing the heaviest traffic—and hard-surfacing the others. It was regarded as too big a job, considering the present financial conditions, to undertake more at the present.

The street committee of the council was appointed as a committee from this meeting to go into details of the proposed work, make plans and estimates of cost and submit a report to a future meeting. This committee is composed of Messrs. Ford Simpson, R. W. Haselwood and Sam Stripling.

Every real friend of the city will lend his unqualified support this enterprise. Let's have that paving!

WILL NEVER AGREE

Genoa, May 12.—France will never agree to the project for a mixed commission sitting indefinitely while the conference is going on, to study Russian affairs, said a statement issued today by the French delegation to the economic conference.

WOULD DEFER PAYMENT ON GERMAN REPARATIONS

Philadelphia, Pa., May 12.—Impartial experts agree that the only hope of economic reconstruction for Germany lies in a speedy considerable reduction in reparation payments and deferment of all such payments for at least a number of years, Karl Langg, the German charge d' affaires, declared today before the American Academy of Political and Social Science.

BLOW AT TERRORISM

Chicago, May 12.—The police and civic organizations saw in the indictment of eight Chicago labor leaders and the state's attorney's threat to use against them the law invoked 36 years ago to obtain the execution of Haymarket rioters a smashing blow at what they called gang terrorism. A special grand jury last night returned true bills against Big Tim Murphy, Cornelius Shea and Fred Mader, labor leaders, and five others in connection with the slaying of policemen.

Unexplained "Error"

Chicago, May 12.—Through an unexplained error by some official, Jeremiah Horn, a former saloonkeeper, indicted with several labor leaders for murder in connection with the killing of two policemen was released from the county jail last night on $50 bail and has disappeared. Two squads of detectives are seeking him today.

Though he had a notion not to do it, Alexander Howat has decided to let Kansas courts have their way and he has gone to jail for a year.

CHANGE IN HIGHWAY LAWS NEEDED

(By S. Deane Wasson.)

The little matter of some five million eight hundred thousands dollars of federal aid, provided for Texas under the new federal highway act, is not to be sneezed at. But if we don't alter our state statutes to conform with the new law we will be coughing just that much money into the laps of other states, who have made proper provisions to take advantage of the great highway building and maintenance program.

The law does not say that it would be a good thing to put the power of construction and maintenance of thru highways in the hands of the State Highway Department, it demands that it be done. Section 7 of the Act is very plain on this subject. It reads: "That before any project shall be approved by the Secretary of Agriculture for any State such State shall make provision for State funds required each year such States by this Act for construction, reconstruction, and maintenance of all Federal-aid highways within the State, which funds shall be under the direct control of the State Highway Department."

It is to assist the citizenship of the State to understand the workings of this new highway plan, and the opportunities afforded under it for the development of a complete system of major highways throughout Texas at the expense of the State as a whole and the federal government, while counties will be left to spend their funds on local roads, that the Texas Highway Association has been created. Every citizen who desires to see a better social development throughout the commonwealth should associate himself, with the association by sending in his name and the two dollars annual membership fee to L. W. Kemp, acting secretary-treasurer, The Texas Company, Houston, Texas. As Governor Neff stated, it is a proposition that merits the support of the people who do things worth while.

EDUCATIONAL MOVIES

Austin, Texas, May 12.—Slides illustrating the industrial development and possibilities of Texas are being collected by the Division of Visual Instruction of the Bureau of Extension, University of Texas. Within the next week it is expected that a collection of more than 100 pictures will be on hand covering every phase of agricultural and industrial work in the state.

This collection is especially good for the variety of subjects which it covers. There are views of the harbor at Galveston, views depicting the mining development around El Paso, and numerous agricultural scenes from West, East and South. No pictures have been accepted without absolute proof of their authenticity.

Slides will be sent to the public schools of Texas in convenient packages, but each school must provide for its own projection. It is the plan of the Visual Instruction Division to collect views of unfamiliar places, extraordinary manufacturing or industrial projects, and unusually good agricultural development. These pictures will convince those who see them that Texas grows excellent corn, maize, onions, vegetables and many other products which are not generally thought to grow especially well here.

They may be used in the schools in connection with regular school work in such subjects as geography, agriculture, physical geography, history and others.

REPAIRING STORM DAMAGE

The work of repairing the wrecked portion of the highway in the Angelina bottom between Lufkin and Nacogdoches is now in progress under the direction of Engineer Abney. Piling is being driven for two openings of 240 feet each and one of 80 feet, thus giving the flood waters an additional outlet of 560 feet, which is thought will be sufficient for all future time as much as the recent flood which washed away the dump was about the worst in the history of the Angelina river. The bridging over the new openings will be like that already spanning that portion of the bottom that was at first bridged. The completion of this work will be heartily welcomed by the citizens of both Angelina and Nacogdoches counties.—Lufkin News.

AMNESTY BILL

Washington, May 11.—A bill granting amnesty to all persons held for violation of wartime espionage laws was introduced in the senate today by Ladd, republican, or North Dakota, who estimated that 113 prisoners would be affected.

CIVILIZATION CHALLENGED

Philadelphia, Pa., May 13.—Democratic civilization is "even more fundamentally and squarely challenged by bolshevism than it ever was by Prussianism," William T. Walling, author and student of socialism, declared today before the American Academy of Political and Social Science. Daily contact with agents of the soviet regime, he said, has convinced the labor element of this country that "there can be no rehabilitation if Europe gives a new lease of power to the most destructive regime since the days of Ghengis Kahn."

UNIQUE RADIO SERVICE

Austin, Texas, May 11.—The people of Malone, Texas, through a novel system enjoy music sent out from the radio station of the University of Texas. G. A. Endress, director of the station, has just received a letter from R. T. Halling, who has a wireless station at Malone. Mr. Halling sends the music out over the town in a unique way. When the concert is heard at his station, he places his telephone in front of the instrument, and by special connection at the same time, many people in the town hear the concert. Mr. Halling has received many messages from the University station, but has only recently conceived the idea of putting the music in all the homes.

NEGRO WAS KILLED

Saturday night, a negro, a recent arrival from Louisiana, was killed during a raid by local officers on a crap game at a house in the vicinity of the Lufkin Foundry. Sheriff Watts received notice sometime after dark that the game was going on, and in company with Deputy Sheriffs C. B. Rich and Darwin Singleton and one or two citizens, visited the place and demanded admittance. This being denied, a door was forcibly opened, when the Louisiana negro, not content to submit to arrest along with his companions, rushed Singleton at the door, grasping for his gun. In the mixup, which was of but short duration, in becoming disentangled from the negro, Singleton's automatic pistol was accidentally discharged, the bullet striking the negro in the side and penetrating his body, necessitating a funeral. The other participants were marched to jail.

Today Singleton was placed under bond to await whatever action, if any, the grand jury sees fit to take in the matter.—Lufkin News, 8th.

WEEKLY SENTINEL

PRICE $1.50 PER YEAR.

BY GILES M. HALTOM

PRESIDENT HARDING'S REPUTATION

President Harding in the first year of his administration managed to retain a large measure of the respect and good will of the people, despite the reactionary and discredited Republican congress. In fact, he was adding to his reputation as a kindly well-disposed man, although his pliant and easy nature were raising doubts in many quarters as to his capacity to measure up to the duties of his great office.

The just wrath of the impoverished agriculturist, the insolvent business man and the jobless workman was directed at the "do-nothing" congress and its stupid reactionary leadership rather than at him. Even those who looked upon Mr. Harding as the most incapable president since Hayes, felt no animosity toward him, but exhibited either tolerance or sympathy. At least, they said, despite his obvious lack of the quality of leadership, his apparent inability to make up his own mind when prompt decision was required, his always turning away from the progressive element in his party and toward the reactionaries, he was a man with a heart, whatever were the faults of his head. Through a display of affability and kindness of heart he had capitalized his very weakness.

Then with a stroke of his pen he undid this reputation and committed an act which may destroy it utterly. His summary dismissal of the aged men and women in the Bureau of Engraving and Printing, without warning, without charges, but in circumstances which resulted in rumors, innuendoes and even direct accusations which placed them under suspicion of wrongdoing if not of committing a crime, is one of the most inhuman executive acts in the history of the twenty-nine administrations.

President Harding's assault upon the Civil Service, his overriding and setting aside a plain statute providing a merit system of government employment, the only alternative of which any form of political corruption, including the old spoils system that bred evading the barter and sales of offices, is a serious matter, but one that can be demediated at the polls. President Harding's assault upon his own reputation, the injury he has done himself, is without remedy. All the kindly words that he may hereafter speak will not efface the recollections of his heartless and cruel executive order which threatened to blast the reputations of old and faithful employees.

THE PARTISAN AT WORK

And the final decision of the treasury department is that the Woodrow Wilson Foundation is not sufficiently educational to obtain for its contributors a deduction from the income tax of their donations. The McKinley Memorial Association is and likewise the Roosevelt Association but the Woodrow Wilson Foundation which has for its aims to forwarding of the liberal forces of mankind and the advancement of the cause of world peace and justice is not. That is the poorly hidden politician disguise by which Secretary Mellon has upheld the manifestly petty decision of his subordinates.

What does it matter in the long run of life to the achievements of Woodrow Wilson and the eventful triumph of the principles for which he stood as president? Nothing. No pigmy minds can halt the cause of world justice. It is an infinitely more powerful force than those who seek to obstruct its progress.

All this sort of thing only magnifies and energizes the elements which are making for a better world. Partisanship may become desperate and bigoted, but it only reveals its infirmities when it resorts to such pitiful means of rolling back the waves of an advancing and an irresistible flood of better days.

The Foundation has the option of changing its technical structure to meet the treasury department's views, but this will not involve its inspiration or its creed. These are beyond the influence of mere politicians.

Mr. Harding is reported preparing to make coal mining "less seasonable." Why not just abolish the seasons?

Old-fashioned whiskey made a man "see things" but the moonshine variety usually acts too quickly for that.

Red headed girls at least cannot complain the charge they are all bow-legged was made at a time when they have no opportunity of proving it is a base, pernicious libel.

GERMANY HAS "WON THE PEACE"

Germany has just about succeeded in doing what she set out to do from the moment she saw victory in war was hopeless. She knew that her enemies would seek to make her pay heavily for what she had done, for her tremendous crime against civilization, and she knew, after reading history, that the longer she could put off making any payment the chances would improve for her to get off lighter. She knew that in the first flush of their war anger and their victory power her enemies would make certain demands; then she planned a policy of artful dodging, or shifting cabinets, of making counter-offers, of pleading inability to pay, of propaganda, of seeking to divide her enemies by setting them against each other. It was a fine policy from Germany's point of view. And it worked.

First, she was immensely pleased when the United States senate refused to ratify the treaty of Versailles. That was the first great return from Germany's policy.

Then England and France could not agree.

Then Russia, Germany's former enemy, saw that the two countries had much in common, and they joined hands.

Postponement after postponement of "toeing the mark" was granted, American troops practically disappeared from the Rhine. One after another of the former friends of France and Belgium deserted those two countries, and now it is possible to quote Dr. O. Gessler, German minister of defense, who, in a speech made last Monday in Hamburg said that should France alone now proceed against Germany, Great Britain and her other allies would not prevent her, but they would refuse her all support, especially moral support. The minister added that the German government had saved the unity of the nation the Bismarckian principle that "politics is recognizing enemies' intentions and frustrating them."

Nothing could be clearer than that. Who won the war? America and the allies claim to have done so, and there is nobody on earth who can deny that the brave soldiers of America and the Allies whipped the German army. But in net results to date, has Germany suffered as France has done? Consider Germany and France, the two great original enemies. Germany has no ruins; France still has many of them. Germany has lost colonies; France has increased her colonial holdings. But what else has France to show for the Allies' victory? She still has her life, which Germany sought to take from her, but she had that before the war began. Germany also has her national life. It is mighty difficult to decide just how Germany has been made to pay for her crime. It looks very much as though she would at least be granted a new trial.

A DISGUISED TAX

The proposal before congress for the stamping of a federal registration number on automobile engines and bodies as a supposed safeguard against theft, the cost being assessed at $2, to be collected from each owner, is, of course, as a representative of the American Automobile Association said, merely another auto tax in disguise.

Despite the asserted analogy with the branding of horses against thieves there is no assurance whatever that the stamping of another number on machines would deter thieves any more than the stamping of the original numbers by the makers, which are made a part of the state license list.

Experience in the bootlegging field has shown that the determined law-breaker is no more afraid of breaking a federal law than any other. That fiction is about exploded in these Volstead days.

Anyone in need of a peck of collar buttons is advised to move the bureau in any fat man's bachelor apartment.

This country is not much interested in a tax on tips as it is a tip on taxes.

For a Volstead sort of man, William Jennings Bryan is easily intoxicated by a new idea.

LaFollette's early ambition, it is said, to become an actor, which may explain some of his more recent antics.

Max is reported to be peeved over Mathilde's silence. Few men have entered a complaint of that kind after the wedding.

THREE HUNDRED PER GALLON

What with aerials going up in every other yard and a new flivver coming on the market to compete with Henrietta, and somebody discovering a light that can be lit and stay lit without fuel, and somebody else maintaining that cockroaches invented radio, and girls discovering that bed hair is a great deal more trouble than the done-up kind, life is pretty interesting these days.

The newest invention is that of the engine, designed by H. H. Ely, Syracuse, N. Y., which he is quite sure will run an automobile 300 miles on a gallon of fuel. No carburetor necessary. Any kind of oil can be used, mineral, animal or vegetable. "The chemistry of oil," whatever that phrase may mean, is the basis of the alleged discovery.

A group of engineering experts have pronounced this engine practicable and far ahead of the times. If it comes up to the hopes of its inventor, revolutionary changes may be expected in automobiles.—Shreveport Journal.

LIGHTNING'S GOOD WORK

From the Lufkin News, 15th.

Lightning played havoc with the flag pole over Angelina county's temple of justice this morning, breaking it off near the base. It also worked a change in Homer Garrison, the district clerk, who was at work in his office on the second floor beneath the dome of the building, he resolving at once to live a better life and straightaway calling up his wife to find out just what night of the week prayer meeting is held at her church. He has always been considered a pretty good man for the job he holds, but on and after this date his past service to the people will pale into insignificance compared with the policy he has outlined for the future, not only in regard to his office affairs, but in taking a more lively interest in the affairs around home, such as getting in wood and water, mowing the grass and building fires before breakfast. A few more bolts of lightning scattered about town might be fruitful of just such results in other quarters. Electricity is a wonderful thing.

Inquiries are coming in to the chamber of commerce concerning the probable opening date for the Stephen F. Austin Normal. These are being answered with the statement that it is hoped to have the buildings ready for a summer term beginning with June of 1923. In this connection a pertinent question is suggested: What are we doing to provide homes for prospective students? At the chamber of commerce rooms there is a long list of those who agreed to take care of specified numbers of pupils, and their attention is directed to this matter for fear they may have forgotten it. We must have accommodations for the several hundred students sure to come as soon as the normal is open. If such arrangements are not made there will be damaging confusion.

CONNECTING UP

The good news comes up the line that the Timpon precinct is getting ready to inaugurate the work of connecting up with the Nacogdoches highway and bring the road on to the point which will be connected with the Tenaha survey. Likewise, Tenaha district is rushing details and preliminaries as fast as possible to get her part of the work inaugurated, and the Joaquin district is making application for another election with which to bring up her part of the line. Altogether, we can hope that we will have the highway all the way through at some date not so far distant in the future, even though the process of beginning seems slow.—Tenaha Optimist.

The Sentinel enjoyed the privilege of reading a letter written at Oil Trough, Arkansas, on April 15th, 1858, by Dr. D. Whitton to his brother, Jackson Whitton, in Pontotoc county, Mississippi, in which was told the story of broken levees and inundated lands, the water rising to greater heights than ever before known. The doctor also told of catching a 60-pound catfish in White river, and casually mentioned that corn was selling in his community for 25c a bushel and pork at 5 cents a pound. The paper on which the letter is written is yellow with age, but is well preserved, and the chirography is beautiful and very distinct.

"National bank resources drop." But as they are still almost 20 billions, the country may worry along for a few days longer.

TRANSMISSION LIGHT LINE TO CARTHAGE

President of New Company Orders New Engine and Other Improvements

Center Champion.

In the last issue of the Champion a brief mention was made that the officials of the Texas Light & Power Company were here looking after their property interests, the Center Electric & Ice Company.

These gentlemen, Mr. Morrison, president and Mr. Johnson, chief engineer, did not get to meet many of the citizens here for the reason that they were busy going over the plant and outlining improvements that are to be made at once. This was Mr. Morrison's first visit to this section of the state since his company took over the plant here, and it is said that he was indeed pleased with the conditions and intimates that he shall attempt to induce his company to become interested in the building of a cotton mill here.

The direct result of the visit of the president of the company was that he has ordered shipped here a 225-horsepower oilburning engine. Gave instructions for the building of a transmission high line to Tenaha, from there to Timpon and from there to Carthage. They own the Carthage plant and will send power from here to Carthage over this high line. They state that other high lines will be built out of here in the near future, but did not give out the places to which they would build them. The engine above referred to is to be installed at once, and has been ordered shipped. Workmen are now busy building the foundation for the engine and as soon as it is installed it will be put into service. On account of the installing of the new engine the matter of operating their ice machine will be delayed until that time. Everything else of the ice machinery is now ready to run.

These people announce that they expect to make the plant here a central plant and will operate it to the highest efficiency. It will require some time to complete all the improvements that they have given orders to be done. In the meantime the matter of building a cotton mill should be taken up with them for they are able to build a mill here and such an enterprise would be of great value to this section of the state.

The above plant, we understand, was offered Nacogdoches and refused. It will prove an inestimable advantage to Center and surrounding country in supplying them with cheap lights and power, an innovation which strikes the average Nacogdochan as something greatly to be desired. Several industries turned down by Nacogdoches are now adding largely to the prosperity of nearby communities whose larger vision enabled them to appreciate their importance.

Before Painting any New Building

If you think any old paint is good enough for the prime or first coat on a new building, then this interests you

WHEN the building was started, didn't you make sure that the foundation was as good as could be made?

It's just as important that the foundation coat of paint be as good as can be made. You can't start with a poor paint and end with a good painting job.

The only way to end right is to start right. Use Lowe Brothers High Standard Paint, thinned with pure raw linseed oil for the priming coat, and follow that with one or two more coats without thinning.

You'll be more than satisfied with the saving, as well as the good looks and long-lastingness.

GOVERNOR NEFF WILL ACT

The Chronicle believes that Governor Neff has the interests of Texas at heart. It believes he is trying to serve all the people of his native state to the best of his ability, and in so believing, The Chronicle feels assured that the overwhelming disasters visited upon the people of Texas by the unprecedented and continued floods of the last few weeks will impress upon his mind the condition that the immediate, urgent, imperative needs of the hour is flood prevention. It is not a local question in any sense. It extends from Textline to Point Isabel and from Orange to El Paso.

It concerns the owner of thousands of far-spreading acres, surrounding a stately mansion, and the owner of a few acres and a shack. It concerns landlord and tenant alike.

It bears upon every form of investment and industry. It touches the Western ranchman and the New England spinner of cotton, the owner of the country gin and the great corporations who own cotton presses, the country merchant and the city wholesaler, the crossroads bank with $10,000 capital and the city bank with $1,000,000 capital. It concerns the wage earner in the factory, the clerk behind the counter and the professional man in his office.

The urgent demand of the hour is legislation and appropriation that will enable the state to purchase will enable the state to put an engineering outfit on each of the four largest rivers in Texas—the Sabine, Trinity, Brazos and Colorado—and keep it there until it can report to the governor what is necessary to be done and what it will cost.

It is worse than a waste of time to haggle over the cost, because in the last 30 days the people of Texas have suffered loss enough, in property, to say nothing of the human life, to pay the cost of all work necessary, if it be thirty millions or more.

If the state cannot protect those who support it, what is the use of any form of government?

If we are going to sit supinely down and suffer periodical destruction and ruin, and do nothing to prevent it, though it is preventable, we will deserve the fate.—Houston Chronicle.

NACOGDOCHES TRADITIONS

Calamities, floods and storms, overflows and tornadoes have always occurred since the days of Noah, and will continue to occur until Gabriel signals a cessation.

Last September had a regular turn, a very destructive overflow of the San Antonio River, which winds and wobbles through the very best part of the city, as if to give length to the residents' for business room.

Two more streams in the more western part of the city are the San Pedro and the Alazan. All of these streams have basins at their heads about five miles north of town. An unexpected cloudburst occurred and destroyed and damaged millions of property.

The town of Nacogdoches has similar geography, and has had a similar experience. No one expects or prepared for such a catastrophe.

San Antonio is earnestly figuring on big dams above the city, to check and hold the waters back, in such cases till it flows down more gradually, through prepared openings or vents in less harmful force and quantity.

In September, 1900, Galveston had the big storm of wind and water from the Gulf that almost wiped the city away, and drowned ten thousand people. Several Nacogdoches people were there at the time. Dave Greer could tell for he was there. Johnny Cruze and his mother floated and floundered in the raging billows several hours. The great seawall was built for future protection.

The recent double-headed tornado at Austin was a most remarkable calamity in several particulars. It had several personal references to Nacogdoches. Orland Patton and J. H. Summers were once in the employ of D. J. Woodward, the head of the big factory that was so completely demolished. Harry Kiley and the other employees in the factory saved their lives by fleeing just in time. The flying timber and fragments caught them. D. J. Woodward and his manager, Harry Nichols, happened to be up town. Nichols and his family are warm personal friends of Dr. Reagan and Dr. Mayfield and their families. Dr. Reagan drove over to Austin at once. He found the folks. He saw Kiley in the hospital, and glad to find that his injuries were not serious.

though painful and severe. The proximity and social relations of Austin and San Antonio are so great as to bring about great sympathy.

Nacogdoches creeks have had many overflows, but none equal to the recent one.

The valley of the Banita in the town limits was not settled up until years after the sixties. The Belton Reid place was long the Wells homestead. Clifton Wells spent his juvenile days there with his widowed mother and her children. One of the worst overflows brought the water into the house and over the floors.

Other overflows ran all over the valley and under this house, which was then the only house in the valley. The entire valley and that of the LaNana also were thereby united.

But no houses were damaged, because no houses were there until later on. Wright Grimes was one of the early settlers there on South Fredonia street, and high waters damaged him.

On the occasion of one of the early overflows a man known as Uncle Bob Goff was drowned at the Banita crossing on Fredonia street. He was playfully pranking with a rude craft in the water, while people stood on the banks watching. He lost his grip on the raft and could not swim.

In those early days there were no bridges on the Banita. The LaNana had a lower bridge and an upper, when they were washed away or worn out.

In one of the later floods of the Banita the twin Crouch boys swam out to a tree on Power street and climbed up as if to escape. The fun to the boys was to see the folks trying to rescue them. They were no more frightened than a pair of ducks would have been. J.E.M.

JACK POLAND

Jack Poland, a former well-known barber of this city, died Monday at Zavalla, aged about 40 years.

He was a member of Nacogdoches Camp, No. 210, W. O. W., and members of that order and many other friends regret to learn of his passing.

His health failed several years ago and he went to Zavalla in hope of being benefited.

He is survived by a 12-year-old daughter and a brother.

It is about time for Will Hays to break into print again.

MOTHERS' DAY OBSERVANCE

Mothers' Day was generally observed in Nacogdoches, at the Sunday schools and churches presenting special programs in honor of the occasion. It was the Sentinel man's privilege to attend the exercises of the Baptist Young Men's class at the Owen Theater, and he was impressed by what he saw and heard.

First was a solo, "Mother, Machree," sung by Mrs. W. D. Ambrose, and her beautiful rendition of this touching song went to every heart. Her wonderful voice is a treat to hear at any time, and on this occasion she was at her best. She is, indeed, endowed with "the glorious gift of song."

An appropriate song by 13 young men of the class was another splendid number of the program and was well received.

The address by Mr. O. P. Norman of Kaufman was a beautiful tribute to mothers—one of the finest the writer has ever heard. In well-chosen words he said everything that it was necessary to say upon such a subject, and there is no doubt but what many a mother will receive tender treatment from her son as a result of Mr. Norman's incomparable address.

Mr. Robert Monk, president of the class, had appointed what he denominated a "two-hundred committee" from the class, their duty being to work for an attendance of at least two hundred. How well they performed their task was demonstrated by an attendance of 201. In other words, they "went over the top."

The total attendance at the Baptist Sunday-school was 548, probably the largest on record in Nacogdoches. And this class is composed of as fine a body of youngsters as can be found anywhere in America—or any other country. They are doing a great work—work whose good results will show in a better citizenship in the years to come.

The Sentinel has been unable to obtain reports from the other Sunday-schools of the city, but it is learned that the attendance at all was large.

The editor of a soviet newspaper which declares Russia may seek a loan in the United States probably does not understand the difference in English between seeking and finding.

COME TO EAST TEXAS

While it is true East Texas crops have suffered a great deal from the heavy rains of the past several weeks, it has suffered very little in comparison to other portions of Texas. Up in north Texas, especially around Dallas, Fort Worth and Greenville, the whole country appears to be flooded. Entire farms with their thousands of acres are almost covered with water. East Texas is particularly fortunate, in that it has no rivers to overflow, the small streams—in large numbers—being sufficient to care for the surplus water. East Texas will produce an average crop this year in spite of conditions, while the outlook in North Texas is not half as encouraging. Cheer up! East Texas is the best country in the world and is not "ruined"—not by a long shot.—Timpson Times.

NOTICE

There will be public speaking in the town of Chireno on Saturday, May 20th, at 2:30 p. m.

Subjects to be discussed are of vital importance to every man, woman and child living in our town or adjoining country, and it is earnestly hoped that everyone will be present.

All business houses will be asked to close just one hour in order that all may have the full benefit of the meeting.

County candidates are all expected to be present and a general good time is hoped for.

Tilmer E., the 2-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Wiley Dorman of the Poe community, died following an operation upon his throat Tuesday. It is said the child had swallowed a grain of corn, which lodged in the larynx and caused him great distress. The first examination by physicians failed to discover the trouble, and he was brought back for further treatment. An operation was found necessary, with the results as named. Interment was in Dorr Creek cemetery Wednesday afternoon. The grief-stricken family have the sincerest sympathy of many friends.

Elected police magistrate, an Illinois woman says she will hold court in her parlor. A great deal of courting has been done in that part of the house.

CHECKS SENT DEPOSITORS IN FOUR STATE BANKS

Checks are being mailed out by the department of insurance and banking at Austin to the unsecured depositors of four state banks that recently were closed by order of the commissioner of insurance and banking. The four banks are the First Guaranty State Bank of Collinsville; Frankston State Bank of Frankston; State Bank of Dodge and the Citizens Guaranty State Bank of Manor.

It required approximately $190,000 out of the state guaranty fund to meet these checks.

Mr. Arthur Seale of this city has received official notice of his appointment as colonel in the Uniform Rank of the W.O.W. of Texas, with instructions to report to Brigadier General H. H. McDill of Dallas, chief muster officer. This makes Colonel Seale the commander of the 136th Regiment comprising twelve companies of the Uniformed Rank, which will attend the state encampment at Galveston in August. Colonel Seale is head consul for the state of Texas, has been a member of the Sovereign Camp, the supreme governing body of the order, for ten years and consul commander of his home camp for 13 years. The Sentinel is gratified indeed to note the promotion of a home young man in any activity in which he is engaged, and in this instance feels free to say the honors conferred upon Mr. Seale were fully earned and well deserved. We congratulate the W. O. W.

CALOMEL GOOD BUT AWFUL TREACHEROUS

Next Dose may Salivate, Shock Liver or Affect Your Bones

You know what calomel is. It's mercury; quicksilver. It crashes into your bile like dynamite, cramping and sickening you. Calomel attacks the bones and should never be put into your system.

If you feel bilious, headachy, constipated and all knocked out, just go to your druggist and get a bottle of Dodson's Liver Tonic for a few cents, which is a harmless vegetable substitute for dangerous calomel. Take a spoonful and if it doesn't straighten you up better and quicker and without making you sick, you just go back and get your money.

Don't take calomel. It makes you sick the next day; it loses you a day's work. Dodson's Liver Tonic straightens you right up and you feel great. No salts necessary. Give it to the children because it is perfectly harmless and can not salivate.

HIGH SCHOOL CLOSES TUESDAY, MAY 30TH.

The present term of the Nacogdoches High School will close Tuesday, May 30th. Fifty-eight were enrolled in the graduating class, 54 of whom are still in school and will enter for the final examinations. At this time it is impossible to say how many will pass and qualify for diplomas, but it is more than probable that a large majority will graduate.

Miss Mildred Beall is valedictorian and Miss Lucile Lucy is salutatorian. The baccalaureate sermon will be preached by Rev. E. G. Cooke of the Methodist church, but who will deliver the baccalaureate address has not yet been determined. While at the high school a few days ago this reporter had a talk with Superintendent R. F. Davis and learned several things which may be of interest to the Sentinel's readers.

The high school proper has an enrollment of 404 pupils. The central grammar school, on the high school grounds, has 571. Total 1,059. The West End School has 135 enrolled and the North End School has 37.

The negro school has an enrollment of 525. This makes a total enrollment for the district of 1,756 pupils.

The school has a library of some 3,000 volumes, to which additions are frequently made. Mrs. Lamar Acker recently made a valuable contribution to the library in the shape of a full set of Encyclopaedia Britannica and Mrs. Munsell donated $25 worth of acceptable books. From 40 to 60 volumes are taken out daily by pupils of the school in the pursuance of their work. They are charged with the books when they take them from the library and credited with them upon their return, or, if not returned, are required to pay for them.

The library fund is a matter of deep concern to the pupils and teachers. Recently the proceeds, amounting to $23.25, from Miss Margaret Beeson's recital was turned into the treasury. Other sums from similar sources are not uncommon.

While on the subject, we might mention the pride our school and people generally feel at the showing made by pupils of the high school at the recent school clothing contest at Houston, which brought competitors from most of the schools of the state. Miss Ida Mary Johnson won a first prize in the making of gingham school dresses. Miss Mabel Martin was a first-prize winner in the "theme" contest, her theme being "Personality as Expressed in Clothing." The significance of the victories of these two young ladies will be appreciated when the number and intelligence of the other hundreds of contestants are considered. On this trip to Houston were Miss Grace Robertson in charge, and Misses Ida Mary Johnson, Mabel Martin, Vinita Hughes, Tommie G. Hooks, Addie Blake and Edna Sims.

Another impressive item of general interest is the fact that the play by the high school pupils rendered last week under the capable direction of Miss Genevieve Rix was patronized to the amount of $115, which went into a fund for school purposes.

A corps of teachers of unusually high qualifications in charge of the different departments and classes and the genius of Superintendent R. F. Davis as an organizer and executive have placed the Nacogdoches High School in the forefront of Texas' educational institutions, and it affords the Sentinel a very keen pleasure to join in hearty commendations for their splendid work.

666 Cures Malaria, Chills, Fever, Bilious Fever, Colds and LaGrippe.

The four men arrested last week for violation of the liquor laws returned Friday night from Tyler, where they had been taken for hearing by federal authorities. John Bell's bond was fixed at $2,000, J. C. Bell's at $500, L. C. Hanks' at $2,000 and Will Reedy's at $1,000. They must appear in the United States court at Tyler on January 4, 1923, to answer the charges against them. They were accompanied on their trip by their attorney, Mr. C. C. Watson.

Secretary McKnight delivered an address before the old veterans Saturday afternoon at 1:30. The attendance of the camp members was fairly good and the speaker's talk was greatly enjoyed by the "old boys". By the way, what has been done toward raising a fund to send those veterans to the reunion at Richmond? Of course, it would not do to allow them to miss the trip for the lack of a little money.

Mr. Joe A. Ivey, prescription clerk at Crippling, Hazelwood & Company's drug store, is off on a vacation, which will be spent at Dallas and other points.

Judge Frank Huston was called to the Fairview community Friday night to perform the marriage ceremony for Mr. Tom Hubbard and Mrs. Mattie Sisson, at the home of the bride's brother-in-law, Mr. Bryant Sisson.

"Parson" Revill, who was adjudged insane last week, was taken by Deputy Sheriff Hagan Sunday to Wichita Falls for confinement in the asylum, the asylums at Rusk and Terrell having no room for additional patients.

During the storm early Monday morning a tree near the home of Mr. J. E. Bates was struck by lightning and badly shattered. No one was injured.

Sheriff Woodlan went to Timpson Thursday night to recover a car which had been stolen Wednesday night from Mr. W. J. Grant, Jr., of Cushing, and which had been followed on its devious route to the above-named town. Officers there had located the machine, but the men in possession claimed they had bought it. A lawsuit is likely to result, stated the sheriff, who left the car at Timpson until the matter shall have been adjudicated.

Rev. George C. Moore left Monday to attend the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in the United States, which convenes at Charleston, West Virginia, next Thursday. The General Assembly is the highest court in the Presbyterian Church and meets once a year. About 250 delegates will be present from all the Southern states. Mr. Moore was elected to represent the Presbytery of Eastern Texas at this meeting and he expects to be away about two weeks.

THE ADMINISTRATION REBUKED

Signs that the country is not overly-much pleased with the Harding-esque brand of "normalcy" have been piling up rather fast of late. First a republican congressman was elected in Maine with a greatly reduced plurality. Followed a congressional election in New York state in a district that went Republican by 30,000 in 1920. The republican candidate was elected—with a majority of less than 3,000 over his democratic opponent.

But this was nothing, said the republican wisecracker. Both of these congressmen were elected at special elections, at which the vote is always light, and therefore there was nothing significant in the fact that they pulled through by the skin of their teeth in districts that are normally overwhelmingly republican.

But here now comes Indiana with a "climber." Republicans at a primary to nominate a REPUBLICAN candidate for the United States senate, select Albert J. Beveridge, bull mooser of the bull moosers, and defeat Senator New, pet of Harding and an avowed "regular organization man". Bitter pill for the administration, but it is nothing compared to what it will have to swallow when it contemplates the democratic side in the house at Washington after January 1st, next.

Every Indiana republican who voted for Beveridge knew that his vote was a vote against the administration at Washington Harding has piously announced a "hands off" policy in the congressional primaries and elections, but no effort was made to hide the fact that Harding was for New, one of his closest political cronies, and even republican organs announced before the ballots were cast that a vote for Beveridge would be an inter-party slap at the Washington regime.

Lem Dove, colored, who probably would feel out of sorts if he failed to have a run-in with the police less than once a month, had a lively scrimmage with a dusky inamorita on North Church street about 8 o'clock Thursday night, Lem pursuing the fleet-footed maiden until she got tired of the race, stopped, picked up a sizeable stone and slammed it against his head. City Marshal Watson appeared upon the scene and put an end to the festivities, escorting Lem to the accustomed quarters in the calaboose. But Lem wouldn't "stay put." He sprang the bars in the window of his cell and, though he is a husky person of some 225 pounds avoirdupois, made his exit through an opening which it seemed a small child would have difficulty in negotiating. Street Commissioner Smith, for whom he had been at work, "stood" for his fine and the culprit was released after the marshal arrested him a second time, about two hours after his getaway. Lem promised to stay in town if they didn't put him in the calaboose.

Buster Johnson, colored, porter at the Baxter Hotel, returning from meeting the trains Tuesday night and found Young Allen, a colored preacher, in his room with his spouse. He procured an axe and vented his righteous indignation upon the home wrecker, inflicting an ugly wound upon his head, and had not the axe handle been broken it is quite probable the result might have been more serious. Buster was fined $12.95 for disturbing the peace and is held for aggravated assault. The preacher and the woman pleaded guilty to charges of vagrancy and were fined $12.95 each.

Mr. J. F. Gilbert, agency director for the San Jacinto Life Insurance Company of Beaumont was a visitor at the Sentinel office Thursday morning and it was learned he had appointed Mr. W. W. Beck general agent for this territory, with headquarters at Nacogdoches. The new general agent is a good business man, has many friends and well-wishers in this section and is pretty apt to succeed.

TRADE-TRIPPERS ARRIVE

Royal Reception to Visitors—Music and Speeches at Campus

They came, they saw, they conquered!

The Dallas trade-trippers arrived at 5:10 Friday afternoon on their special train of five Pullmans, one tourist coach, dining car and baggage car. The train was met at Huntington by a committee composed of H. L. McKnight, Tom Baker and Blum Mast, who extended the glad hand of welcome, distributed programs and acted as official escort to the city.

The visitors formed in line, headed by the famous Dallas band, and marched in formation to Postoffice square, where they went through the evolutions of a drill, after which they broke ranks and visited the business houses, where warm welcomes awaited them.

Contributions to their menu, in the shape of an ample supply of strawberries, sweet cream to go with them, "Marigold" ice cream and "Marigold" butter, and Wilson's Best cigars were sent to their diner, and loud were the acclamations of appreciation from our guests.

At 8 o'clock the visitors and citizens congregated on the high school campus, where a band stand had been erected and seats provided. Here the motion pictures of Dallas were screened, and these proved a revelation to many of our people, showing as they did the evolution of their town from a country village, unpaved and unkempt, to a thriving, bustling modern city of more than 201,000 population.

Secretary McKnight of the Chamber of Commerce made a brief talk, in the course of which he held up a package of Mahdeen and called attention to the fact that this Nacogdoches product had a wider sale and was more widely known and used than any of the more than 500 manufactured products of Dallas.

Attorney June C. Harris was introduced and gave a very brief history of Nacogdoches, telling the visitors what many of them probably did not know, that Dallas was once in Nacogdoches county, and was then described as being "located 168 miles northwest of Nacogdoches, the county seat."

Fred McJunkin, manager of the Southland Hotel, Dallas, was called upon and spoke briefly in a humorous vein. Mr. McKnight introduced him as 'the best-looking man in the party, but evidently had not seen Horton Bransford and Bradley Hogue.

Mr. William Z. Hayes, active vice president of the Republic National Bank of Dallas, made the concluding speech and his jocular remarks caught the audience. It has been suggested that Dallas was 150 miles or 72 hours distant from Nacogdoches, and Mr. Hayes promised to do all he could to bring about an improvement in the service and thereby bring the two towns into closer touch. Everybody admitted there was much room for improvement. The initial letters of the name have been translated "Time No Object," it was said, and this must be changed in the interest of the towns—and the road.

The band concert followed the speeches, the initial number being "America," the large audience rising to their feet as the first strains greeted them. Followed a program of such music, some of it classical, as probably no cornet band ever rendered in Nacogdoches.

This closed the evening's entertainment, and the audience dispersed with the hope that the trippers might come oftener.

We shall welcome them whenever they come.

The visitors were kind enough to say that nowhere on the entire trip had they received so gratifying a welcome or so elaborate an entertaining program prepared for their entertainment.

CLAXTON CHANGES HANDS

The Claxton Cafe changed hands Tuesday morning, Mr. Arch Buchanan having purchased the business, which he will conduct in the future. The restaurant at the railroad station, formerly operated by Mr. Buchanan, was taken over by Messrs. Herman Power and Dallas Feazel, and the new proprietors will maintain the high standard set by Mr. Buchanan, who we are sure will make entirely good with the Claxton, which, under Mr. T. G. Evans, became a very popular place. It is understood Mr. Evans will return to his old home at Troup about June 1st.

Roy Kurth and Mr. and Mrs. Reed McMullen left this morning for Nacogdoches, where they will join a party from that city and proceed to Fort Worth via Dallas, to attend the Bankers' Convention to be held in that city this week.—Lufkin News, 16th.
