F. P. MARSHALL FOR DISTRICT ATTORNEY

I am profoundly grateful for the splendid vote given me on July 22, lacking only 278 votes of the nomination over both my opponents. I most earnestly solicit all those who then voted for me as well as those who did not vote for me, to aid me by your influence and vote on next Saturday, August 26th, to become your nominee for this important office.

Respectfully,
F. P. MARSHALL.

M. W. Odom, who has been here for some time as pastor of the First colored Baptist Church, left hurriedly Friday afternoon for Beaumont, being waited on his way by a party of irate parishioners who expressed dissatisfaction with his actions. Just before train time Odom appeared at the sheriff's office and explained that he was in danger of personal violence at the hands of a party of negroes awaiting him at the station. Deputy Sheriff Stone accompanied him to the depot and found about a dozen negroes ready to deal summarily with their erstwhile spiritual guide, and these men informed Mr. Stone that it was a good thing he was with the preacher, whom they evinced a strong desire to "do up." The officer saw to it that Odom safely boarded the train, and when he found he was to escape the "ministrations" of his flock he gave evidence of being the happiest nigger in Texas.

GRAVE YARD WORKING

There will be a working of the Dorr Creek graveyard on Thursday, August 31st. All parties interested bring suitable tools and dinner. J. S. Allen.

Hon. J. H. Bracewell of Houston will address the voters of Nacogdoches on the courthouse lawn at 8 p. m. Friday, in behalf of Mr. Ferguson's candidacy for the senate. Everyone come.

SERIOUS OUTLOOK IN STRIKE SITUATION

New York, Aug. 23.—The railway executives convened today at the Yale Club to consider the proposal for settlement of the strike submitted last week by the running trades acting as mediators, adjourned at 12:50 until 2:30 after a discussion lasting more than two hours. Although no official statement was forthcoming, it was reported that certain counter-proposals had been under discussion. This was taken to indicate that, should the executives not accept the suggestions made by the brotherhoods' chief, the door to peace still would be left open. "The situation looks mighty serious," Howard Elliott of the Northern Pacific said to a colleague on leaving the meeting.

COAL COMMISSION PLAN

Washington, Aug. 23.—A coal commission giving operators and miners representation in the proposed government investigation of the industry was given right-of-way by the house rules committee today over the bill which had been prepared with the approval of President Harding for a commission composed wholly of impartial representatives of the public. It had been for the purpose of giving precedence to the Winslow bill and the drawing up of a special rule to permit its consideration in the house at today's session that the rules committee was called together. This unexpected result was in the face of Harding's desire for non-representation of operators and miners, and was said to have been created in part by a protest from miners and officials against the creation of a commission from which those directly connected with the industry would be barred.

WOMAN ASSAULTED

San Antonio, Texas, Aug. 23.—Mrs. B. N. Campbell, wife of a Houston building contractor, who is here for her health, was assaulted last night while alone in her apartment. The police believe the attack was committed by a man who escaped from some institution in which he was confined.

GAS ENGINE BRINGS INDUSTRIAL CHANGE

A complete economic change has taken place in the petroleum industry in the years intervening between 1906 and 1922, according to a statement made by R. L. Welch, secretary of the American Petroleum Institute, before the Senate Committee on Manufactures, which is conducting an inquiry into the oil situation. Next to the remarkable growth of the industry itself during that period—from a gasoline production of about 8,000,000 barrels in 1906 to an indicate production of 140,000,000 barrels this year—the most noteworthy feature has been the astonishing spread of the independent interests. For example, in 1906, the independent refining capacity was only about 10 percent of the total; a present it is about 63 percent in the United States alone and 66 percent in this country and Mexico combined.

PRESIDENT DEFERS ADDRESS ON INDUSTRIAL SITUATION

Washington, Aug. 17.—President Harding today decided to defer his address to congress on the industrial situation until tomorrow or a later date. The president is said to feel that every effort toward settlement of the rail strike should be allowed to take its course before he went before congress to deliver a report on the government's interests and present an outline of the administration's policy. The president is hopeful that a conference in New York today of representatives of the railroad executives and chiefs of train service employes will be productive of progress toward a settlement.

GOVERNOR PUTS BAN ON DEMPSEY FIGHT

Indianapolis, Aug. 17.—Governor McCray announced today that the proposed fight between Jack Dempsey and Bill Brennan in Michigan City, Ind., on Labor Day, would not be held.

CALIFORNIA MAN GRAFTS PRUNE ON APRICOT TREE

Los Angeles, Cal., Aug. 21.—Luther Burbank has a rival! D. W. Barrick, civil war veteran of Sawtelle, is celebrating the second greatest event of his life. The first event was when he marched "with Sherman to the sea," and the second is that he has succeeded in making prunes grow on apricot trees. Two years ago the veteran soldier grafted prunes onto two apricot trees and, while the fruit will not be ripe until next month, both trees are literally "full of prunes."

GERMANY IS ALARMED OVER THREAT OF WAR

Berlin, Aug. 21.—A sensational report was received here Saturday from Frankfurt-on-the-Main that President Millerand had summoned a secret French council of war presided over by Marshal Foch. The origin of the report is not known. According to the Frankfurt report a number of high French military officers were summoned to the council, including Marshals Petain and Fayette, General Nolle, head of the allied control commission in Berlin, and General De Gouette, commander of the French army of occupation on the Rhine.

MORE CITIZEN-SOLDIERS

Washington, Aug. 21.—President Harding in an address here today to citizen-soldiers from Camp Meade, Md., declared he favored military training for more than 100,000 civilians annually, not for any prospective aggressive warfare, but to preserve the peace. The president called attention to the fact that 28,000 civilians were afforded training this summer, compared with 11,000 last year, declaring that the boys had been benefited by learning discipline. President Harding said all America might well benefit by learning a little more impressively the obligations of the citizen to his country.

A BEER JOB

Johnstown, Pa., Aug. 21.—Mayor Chauffel's invitation to saloon keepers and brewers to sell real beer and ale failed to bring a flood of the prohibition beverage in Johnstown, according to reports from federal prohibition agents today. The agent in charge of this district said he had seven men going over the situation, but no arrests had been made.

SORRY DAY FOR IRELAND

London, Aug. 23.—The assassination of Michael Collins, at Bandon County Cork, yesterday comes directly after the announcement by Irish irregulars of a policy of ambushes and raids in their fight against the Free State government. Collins was shot down from ambush only a few hours after being given an ovation by the residents of Bandon, which was freed less than two weeks ago by military under Collins' command.

HIS BROTHER SPEAKS

Chicago, Aug. 23.—"It's a sorry day for Ireland," said Patrick Collins, a brother of Michael, in a choked voice when informed of the Irish leader's assassination. Patrick is a sergeant on the Chicago police force.

COMMUNISTS ARRESTED

Bridgeman, Mich., Aug. 32.—Fifteen alleged members of the Communist Party of America were under arrest today following a raid on a meeting in which they were participating in the woods near here. The raiders seized a large quantity of literature which they said indicated the purpose of utilizing the coal and railroad strikes as means of obtaining control of government property. Officers said all would be charged with conspiracy against the government.

DANGER STILL APPARENT

Austin, Texas, Aug. 21.—Adjutant General Barton returned to Austin today from Denison and reported on the strike situation there to Governor Neff. Barton said although the situation is quiet, there is little indication that the state troops could be removed without danger of violence following.

ATTICUS WEBB PAYS FOR SUIT FOR "DRY" AGENT

Wichita Falls, Texas, Aug. 21.—Archie Tyler, federal prohibition officer, is going to Dallas to collect a brand new suit of clothing from Rev. Atticus Webb, president of the Anti-Saloon League. Recently Rev. Mr. Webb offered to "dress up any officer who secured convicting evidence against any peace officer charged with selling liquor." Tyler turned the trick and the peace officer is now serving 98 days in jail.

FUM RUMSEY KILLS FAMOUS BORDER OFFICER

Laredo, Texas, Aug. 21.—Robert Rumsey, regarded as one of the most fearless inspectors in the customs department on the Mexican border, was shot and killed by the occupant of a car which he stopped near Torrecillas, Mexico, it was known Saturday night on the arrival of Rumsey's body here. Rumsey was on his way to this side of the line after having stopped another car and arrested two Mexican bootleggers. The body was brought here by two inspectors who had accompanied Rumsey on the trip. The slayer escaped.

SECOND PRIMARY RULING GIVEN BY PARTY LEADER

Waco, Texas, Aug. 19.—Joe W. Hale, secretary of the state democratic executive committee, announces that after investigation he is convinced that a second primary is not authorized by law in the nomination of district officers. He rules that candidates receiving pluralities in the first primary are the nominees of the party in their respective districts. This includes the judicial districts.

What Attorney General Says

Austin, Texas, Aug. 20.—That the state primary election law plainly provides for a majority before a candidate for state or district office may be declared the nominee, was the ruling of the attorney general's department, and announced by L. C. Sutton, assistant attorney general. As to county offices, it is held to be optional with the county executive committee whether a majority or only a plurality shall prevail for county candidates to be declared nominees.

This ruling was made in connection with an announcement made at Waco by Joe W. Hale, secretary of the state democratic executive committee in which he was quoted as having said that a second primary is not authorized by law in the nomination of district officers. He is said to have ruled that candidates receiving pluralities in the first primary are nominees of their party in their respective districts, judicial districts included. This ruling, however, is contrary to the holding of the attorney general's department.

"PEACE IS RAGING"

Houston, Texas, Aug. 21.—A. Bruce Bielaski, former chief of the Bureau of Investigation of the United States Department of Justice, and Mrs. Bielaski arrived here from Mexico Sunday and departed for Washington via New Orleans. "Peace is raging in Morelos," Mrs. Bielaski said in describing the situation in the state where Bielaski was kidnaped by bandits and held for ransom.

GERMANY SAYS IMPOSSIBLE

Berlin, Aug. 22.—Minister of Finance Hermes was reported today to have left no doubt in yesterday's deliberations with members of the Reparations Commission that pledging the state forests on the left bank of the Rhine and the state mines in the Ruhr District as guarantees for the payment of German reparations was impossible.

TO SELL THE KATY

Denison, Texas, Aug. 22.—All the property of the Katy railroad will be sold at auction September 20 and 21, according to announcement here. The Texas property will be sold at Denison on September 20 and the property in Missouri, Kansas and Oklahoma at Cobert, Okla., on September 21.

The annoying thing about the college graduate who thinks himself so smart is the fact that he usually is.

UNION EDUCATIONAL LEAGUE RAIDED BY OFFICERS

Chicago, Aug. 21.—The officers of the Trades Union Educational League were raided late last night following an investigation into the wrecking of Michigan Central train at Gary, Ind., and the discovery of two sticks of dynamite on the Pennsylvania Railroad tracks. The correspondence and private papers of William Z. Foster, head of the league and one of the foremost radicals of America, were seized by state's attorney detectives.

An examination of Foster's papers, the state's attorney said, bared widespread one-big-union propaganda among railroad workers and gave valuable information concerning a systematic series of radical meetings in railroad centers. No arrests have been made, but a list of names of radical leaders was unearthed, the attorney said. The investigation began after the report of the Michigan Central wreck, along with the report that the train had been maliciously derailed and the engineer and fireman killed.

Story of the Wreck

Chicago, Aug. 21.—The wrecking of Express train No. 38 from New York to Chicago with the loss of two lives near Gary, Ind., early yesterday resulted from the deliberate removal of 27 spikes from the rails, Michigan Central officials announced. One thousand dollars reward was offered for the arrest of those guilty.

The wreck took place about a mile east of Gary at 2:10 a. m., while the train, which carried no passengers, was traveling at a speed estimated at more than 50 miles an hour, in an effort to make up lost time.

When the heavy engine struck the rail from which the spikes had been removed it plowed along on the ties for some distance and then turned completely over. The two engine men were dead when removed from the wreckage.

The cause of the wreck remained a mystery some hours because of the confusion at the scene and because of the fact that the rails and ties had been ploughed up and tossed about like matchwood for hundreds of feet by the locomotive. Eight coaches loaded with merchandise followed the engine into the ditch, the others remaining on the track.

An investigation by Martin Quinn, special agent for the road, revealed that while the roadbed had been ground into an unrecognizable mass where the train left the rails, the place where the engine had been thrown from its course, furnished evidence of the work of the train workers.

Everything ahead of the gap, however, had been destroyed.

ORDERED TO HOIST HANDS, KILLED ONE, WOUNDED ONE

Wichita Falls, Texas, Aug. 21.—G. Hester, aged 19, was shot and killed and A. Altman, 21, was seriously wounded last night near Bellevue, Clay county. Both lived at Bellevue. A. L. Sullin, an employee of the Magnolia Petroleum Company here, surrendered to Clay county officers. Sullin was reported by officers to have said a car passed him, afterwards turning back. The men told him to throw up his hands, whereupon he began shooting.

RUFFIANS IDENTIFIED

Fort Worth, Texas, Aug. 21.—The identity of the four women and two men who kidnaped Miss Hallie Hinkle, a garment worker, last Thursday and whipped her is known and they will be arrested today, the police announced. The local plants which the strikers had been picketing, where demonstrations and disorders occurred, closed today.

WOMEN KLUXERS

Austin, Texas, Aug. 22.—A new national women's organization, to be known as the "American Women," for purposes of furthering benevolent, charitable and educational interests of women, was chartered here today, with headquarters in Dallas. Those eligible to membership, as specified in articles of incorporation are "white, female, gentle, protestant American born citizens."

There is one consolation about being a nobody. You never have to attend a chamber of commerce banquet.

"Look What He Got"

A farm hand wanted to borrow a lantern to go see best girl one dark night and the stingy old farmer said: "You don't need a lantern. when I was young I went courting in the dark." The hired man retorted: "Yes, and see what you got!"

Served him right, too. The more light the better with all honorable transactions. That's why we talk to you each week about our reliable Bank. We want you to know the advantages we offer and that it will pay you to identify yourself with our Bank. No chances of dealing in the dark with us. Everything frank, and above board.

DISTINCTION WITHOUT PRECEDENT.

From the Houston Chronicle.

The chief justice of the Supreme Court of the United States was present at the recent meeting of the American Bar Association in San Francisco.

The career of William Howard Taft is a most forcible and admirable illustration of the possibility of success and of the attaining of exalted position by any young American.

There are hundreds of his colleagues who knew him and speak of him as "Big Bill Taft," who was foremost in every kind of college sport and adventure, and who gave no more promise of achieving the pre-eminence which the future held in store for him than did many of his classmates.

He was big physically and mentally, but not pre-eminently intellectual, nor possessed of the gift of eloquence in any unusual degree, but he was honest and clean and lived on a lofty level.

When called upon to leave the bench of the United States Circuit Court, a life position of dignity and attractive emolument, he obeyed the call.

He served as secretary of war, then became governor of the Philippines, and in 1908 was elected president.

Defeated for re-election by reason of the candidacy of his one-time bosom friend, who preceded him as president, he accepted the fate of political war and passed into private life with the dignity of the gentleman that he is, and with the respect of men of all political parties.

While president he appointed Hon. Horace H. Lurton, a democrat, who had been his associate in the Circuit Court bench and also in early life a Confederate soldier, to the position of associate justice of the Supreme Court and promoted from associate justice to the chief justiceship Edward Douglas White, also a democrat and ex-Confederate soldier, thus displaying a broad-mindedness and generosity that is characteristic of true greatness.

Later Warren G. Harding appointed him chief justice of the Supreme Court of the United States, the most exalted judicial position in the world. So William Howard Taft enjoys a distinction unique and unprecedented in the annals not only of this nation, but of the world.

No man before him ever held the presidency of the greatest republic ever on the earth and also the position of presiding officer of its supreme judicial tribunal.

His elevation to the latter position was approved with well-nigh entire unanimity, and no man doubts that he will prove worthy of the exalted trust.

A TWO-FOOT SHELF.

Experts of the American Library Association and the National Education Association have been turning their attention to the making of a "two-foot shelf" of the best books for country school children and have evolved a most interesting list that, it would seem, should appeal equally to the boys and girls of the cities.

First place is accorded Louisa M. Alcott's "Little Women," with Lewis Carroll's "Alice in Wonderland" second. Then come "Robinson Crusoe," "Tom Sawyer" and "Treasure Island." Well up on the list is Hendrik Van Loon's "Story of Mankind." Dickens is represented by the "Christmas Carol," but his great contemporary, Thackeray, does not appear, although his "Rose and the Ring" is a juvenile classic. Robin Hood is introduced through the medium of Howard Pyle's version with its splendid pictures. Knowledge of Shakespeare's plots is provided through Lamb's Tales. Stevenson is the only author with two books on the shelf, his "Child's Garden of Verses" being placed beside "Treasure Island." The biographies are Nicolay's "Boy's Life of Abraham Lincoln" and Hagedorn's "Boy's Life of Theodore Roosevelt." Irving's "Rip Van Winkle" and Hawthorne's "Wonder Book" are examples of America's earlier literature.

When Colonel Roosevelt went on his memorable trip to Africa he had room for only a few favorites among his books, one of them "Alice in Wonderland." A mass of silly stuff has been put forth for juvenile reading, but most genuine juvenile classics are appreciated almost as much by children of a larger growth. There are other books on the youngsters' "two-foot shelf" that grownups might peruse with profit and enjoyment, and they would sacrifice none of their dignity in doing so.

HARDING AND THE STRIKES.

"Starting from no-one-seems-to-know-where, there has developed a familiar expression among Washington politicians, namely, that 'President Harding's personal political future will depend largely on how he settles the mine and rail strikes.'" This sentence, from the pen of an experienced correspondent who is analyzing the political aspects of the nation's economic upheaval, reveals the note of expediency all too dominant in American public life in 1922.

It is perhaps enough to comment that the president's personal political future will be determined largely by the degree to which he ignores it in dealing with the present industrial and other great problems that come before him. Nothing that Mr. Harding could do would be so likely to hamper his personal political future as to cater to that future in deciding his attitude toward the fuel and transportation problems.

What is needed in Washington today more than anything else is that quality of courage that distinctly disregards personal political fortunes.

Theodore Roosevelt said, in "The Foes of Our Own Household," "There never yet was a service worth rendering that did not entail sacrifice, and no man renders the highest service if he thinks overmuch of the sacrifice." And again, in 1912, "The leader, for the time being, whoever he may be, is but an instrument, to be used until broken and then to be cast aside; and if he is worth his salt he will care no more when he is broken than a soldier cares when he is sent where his life is forfeited in order that the victory may be won. In the long fight for righteousness the watchword for all of us is spend and be spent. It is of little matter whether any one man fails or succeeds; but the cause shall not fail, for it is the cause of mankind."

It is, perhaps, a hard philosophy to hold before a president oppressed by great trials. But Mr. Harding, if he has in him those qualities for which all citizens pray in these grievous times, will not fear to recognize it as the philosophy of real service and of all truth.

The pathway of history is littered with the wrecks of leaders who neglected the task and forgot the trust in the thought of self. The men whose memories are held sacred today are those who forgot themselves in the zeal for fidelity and constructive righteousness.

A MONTH OFF TO SEE THE MUD FLY

From the Houston Chronicle.

Such a clean-cut, high-minded discussion of national problems as we are getting in our senatorial contest; such informing, edifying, elevating arguments.

To read the charges of Farmer Jim and the replies of Klucker Earle is nothing short of a liberal education.

Such wealth of rhetoric, such flow of diction, and, above all else, such breadth of understanding.

Who says that this generation is incapable of producing its Calhouns and Websters? Who says that its candidates can not rise to the level of a Lincoln-Douglass debate? Who says that Texas is behind other states, or other periods, in the senatorial timber she produces?

Let us be optimistic by all means. Let us behold the glory of the thing in its true light. Let us admit that the old boys were wrong in regarding a campaign of educational value and insisting that speakers observe the rules of debate, not to say the instincts of gentlemen. Let us concede that modern life has pitched politics on a higher plane by accepting campaigns as additional amusement, as a sort of fifth-throwing match.

Let us be proud of the day and scoff at history, just as the Romans did when they sneered at Cato and shouted for Tiberius. Let us excuse fallacies and foibles in every possible way, and ignore the necessity of constant improvement.

Henry Watterson once said of a candidate: "He has shriveled the issues of this campaign until it looks like a mud fight between two old women in a blind alley."

That campaign, even taking the late colonel's word for it, had nothing on the one now being staged in Texas.

Whenever the Honorable Earle can dig the mud out of his mouth, ears and eyes long enough to grasp a few well-chosen words, he opines that the country might be saved if the interstate commerce commission were abolished.

Whenever the Honorable Jim can shut off his geyser of vitriol long enough to advert to something impersonal, he opines the country might be saved if the Federal Reserve Bank were abolished.

For about 99 percent of the time, however, these two distinguished gentlemen, each of whom aspires to a seat in the world's greatest deliberative body, and each of whom is supposed to be offering evidence of his superior qualifications, are throwing scandal, epithets and abuse at each other.

But that is not the real pathetic part of the show. What they may say or do is of little consequence compared to the way the thousands receive it.

The most shocking, or enlightening circumstance, as you please, is the manifest enjoyment of the crowds, especially when the tongue-lashing gets real warm. Profanity seems to elicit great applause and likewise the most scurrilous insinuations.

It is in campaigns that we make statesmen and statesmanship. It is on the stump that future legislators learn not only what to discuss, but how to discuss it. The things that occur before elections necessarily mold the successful candidate's mind. He will come out the kind of an official which the political influences surrounding him determine.

What kind of senators are we going to get if we continue to tolerate and encourage this trash? What kind of debates may we expect in Washington if we persist in displaying pleasure at the kind we are hearing in Texas?

What is the use of us thinking seriously about the solution of any problem after election, while we hear no problem seriously discussed before?

If the people are willing to take a month off to see the mud fly before casting their votes how can they complain if officials take a year off to do the same thing afterward?

If we teach a candidate to believe that we like bunk where is the logic in finding fault if he feeds us bunk after becoming an official?

Radio sermons are very much like the other kind; they go over a lot of people's heads.

The difference between cuteness and impudence in a child is about three years.

Outrunning the Marathoner

WHEN 10,000 ancient Greeks drove the Persian hordes from the plains of Marathon, they at once dispatched a courier to Athens to bear intelligence of their victory.

It took the messenger hours to reach the city, and so breathless was he that, as the people thronged eagerly about him to hear the news, he merely gasped, "Victory is ours"—and fell dead. That was several hundred years B. C.

Today, the papers of the world would get the news almost simultaneously with its happening, slap extras on their presses, and shortly the thrilling story would be in the hands of millions of readers.

Papers have supplanted the courier, multiplied his effectiveness and increased his speed a hundred fold.

Not only does the newspaper make public the news in the world of events, but it is also keeps our information up-to-date on every article of human need, whether food, clothing, household appliances, necessities or luxuries. The latter news is found in the advertisements.

Advertising will help you. Whether you realize it or not, advertising is a big, vital force in your life. Though it, American genius and American manufacturers are putting within your reach the many comforts and conveniences of modern life.

Do not overlook this mighty and indispensable service which this paper offers with the rest of the day's news.

Read the advertisements regularly.

PERCENTAGE

A great many of the troubles of the American people are caused by percentage.

The schoolboy dulls the point of his pencil and perplexes himself over his problems in "percentage".

The poker player studies his hand carefully as he figures his "percentage" to win or lose.

The baseball managers study the "percentage" of their teams by day and their nights are one long dream of the percentage tables.

The prohibitionists say that "2 percent" is too much and the antis say it is too little.

Now we have some who claim they are "100 percent."

Personally, we have never seen anyone or anything that was "100 percent." That's some percentage. Whenever you find anyone who is 100 percent American, with all that real Americanism implies, you will find one who is ready to be measured for an oversize crown and who is entitled to select a harp with his monogram on it.

A great many who pose as 100 percent Americans, if carefully analyzed, would be found to be less than "one half of one percent, or, as the chemists say, "a trace."

FIRST BALE FOR APPLEBY.

J. N. Hall today marketed the first bale of cotton for the season. The bale weighed 488 pounds, and brought $97.60 at 20c, plus the premium of $15.00, making a total of $112.60. Mr. Hall did not sell his seed.

Our ginning facilities are as good as the best, and service being the watch-word we are looking forward to good business this season.

We also have a good market for cotton here.

TRAGEDY IN CHURCH AT HUXLEY THURSDAY NIGHT

From the Center Champion, 16th.

Bertis Permitter, aged about 22 years, was shot and instantly killed Thursday evening while sitting in a church at Huxley. Kenneth Kendrick, son of Mrs. S. C. Kendrick of that community, and only 14 years of age, is charged with the shooting. One shot from a .38-calibre pistol was fired, taking effect in the back of the head and causing instant death. The shot was fired at close range.

Friday morning the officers took charge of the boy charged with the shooting, and his two brothers, Dewey and Ray Kendrick, aged 19 and 21, were arrested and placed in jail here, charged in connection with the matter. The boy was released to his mother, he being too young to prosecute on a criminal charge and pending action of trial before a juvenile court his custody was given to the mother.

An examining trial for the two boys above mentioned was held here Monday morning, before Justice Johnson of Shelbyville, who, after the hearing, granted the two bond in the sum of $1000 each. They made the bond and were released. The examining trial was held here on account of the trial attracted a large crowd of spectators.

The man McSpadden, who is alleged to have stolen Mr. Fred Wilson's car at Yaleta Lake a few nights ago, was arrested Thursday by Deputy Sheriff Stone while working along West Main street. The car was recovered near Fern Lake Wednesday and is now in possession of its owner. McSpadden refused to give the whereabouts of his wife and baby, who were with him while he was in camp near the city, but informed the officers that she would make her appearance so soon as she learned of his imprisonment.

NACOGDOCHES HIGH SCHOOL TO OPEN SEPTEMBER 18.

Dr. A. A. Nelson, chairman of the board of directors of the Nacogdoches Independent School District, informed a Sentinel man Thursday that the next term of the high school would begin on Monday, September 18. He also stated the full complement of teachers had not yet been selected, but everything will be in good working order by the time set for the opening of school.

Work on the additions to the high school building is progressing satisfactorily, and it is hoped to have these much-needed additions ready by the first of October, and if this is accomplished there will be no further crowding for years to come.

S. P. ANNOUNCES NEW AGRICULTURAL POLICY

The Southern Pacific Lines recognizing that agriculture is our basic industry, and that without a prosperous farming community we cannot of ourselves prosper, have recently created an agricultural department, and employed an agricultural agent, in order to stimulate and promote the farmer and his enterprises along these lines.

The American farmer produces more per man than any other farmer in the world, but in so doing he is the most extravagant in his use of land. It has been the common tendency to plant the same crops year after year on the same ground, paying out the plant food nature has so kindly placed at his disposal, with no thought of the morrow. But such a state of affairs can not go on indefinitely. If we expect to increase or even maintain our best yields we must replant the gradually decreasing plant food in the ground. The most common way, the quickest, but unfortunately the most expensive, is by the use of commercial fertilizers. However, we have another method equally as good, but not quite so quick in results, but much less expensive, and giving more lasting results, in plowing under green manure crops. Such a crop, especially a legume, adds its fertilizing value, including nitrogen, and also by the addition of organic matter with its attendant humic acid, improves the texture and quality of the soil physically, and at the same time by its chemical action makes available certain plant foods that were before in an insoluble form.

In addition to the use of fertilizer, we must more intensively cultivate with improved cultural methods, and practice scientific crop rotation, to increase our yield per acre. The yield of some crops in certain places has become so low that we must plant new crops that have proved successful under similar soil and climatic conditions elsewhere.

On these so-called run down farms, live stock is always instrumental in restoring their past fertility. Dairying, when well-bred, high-producing cows are kept, always returns a fair dividend, coming in daily. Such cows, unless bought at a high price, can only be obtained through using first-class pure bred bulls, generation after generation. If the largest returns are expected from a dairy cow, some care and attention must be given to see that she is properly fed and kept. Unless she is given a balanced ration, she cannot be expected to produce to her maximum capacity.

There is a place on every farm for a few good hogs, a few beef cattle, and some sheep. All of these do not have a so-called "bad year" at the same time. With care and attention they are all willing to help the farmer on the highroad to success.

Very few of our farmers pay much attention to the common old hen. Yet today she ranks right at the top of all money-making farm producers. In 1919, in Texas alone, there was $38,190,568 worth of poultry and eggs produced, and of this amount $11,888,162 was actually sold by the farmer. If the average farmer would discard his roosters, except for eggs for hatching purposes, thus producing infertile eggs, and then use a little care in grading and selecting these eggs for market, a few hens would not only keep his current bills paid, but keep him with a balance in the bank. There is no profit in keeping a hen that does not pay her board. If she is a non-producer, ship her to market. Any county agent can show you how to distinguish between a hen the lays and one that doesn't.

The Southern Pacific is desirous of settling its idle lands with real farmers. We are opposed to land speculation by non-residents and non-producers. Land in the hands of owners who have no desire to improve it is a dead-weight to any community. If every farmer owned his own farm, which should be every farmer's desire, we would have no tenant farmers, nor its attendant evils. We are anxious to help every tenant farmer own his own farm.

We need new enterprises developed over our state that are dependent on and furnish a market for agricultural products. Our raw material should not have to be carried north to the factory and then shipped back to us as a finished product. We need to finish it here.

The agricultural department of the Southern Pacific Lines is ready and more than willing to co-operate with every agency that is working to help the farmer. There are a number of government agencies, such as the extension service of the A. & M. College, the State Department of Agriculture and the United States Department of Agriculture, actively engaged in helping the farmer help himself. We hope they will welcome our efforts along the same lines.

We know that we can be of help, and we will help, in regions of crop failures and low production, due to insect pests and plant and animal diseases. It is in such places that we are interested first in helping the farmer get on his feet. It may be he needs to change his crops, or his system, or that dairying would be his salvation. We want to help him diagnose his trouble and apply the remedy.

We want to help him diagnose his trouble and apply the remedy.

The agricultural department of the Southern Pacific Lines proposes to keep accurately informed of crop conditions, crop estimates, rain fall, and other data affecting growing crops and from time to time to publish this data for the benefit of those who can use it.

We want to encourage the farmer to greater individual effort to help himself by showing and proving that we are with him and behind him. We want to see his yield increased, his net returns from the products he sells increased. We want to help him fight and control his insect pests and his plant and animal diseases. We want to understand the farmer, and we want him to understand us. We want to promote a more friendly relationship between the farmers along our lines, and their railroads.

The prosperity of our railroad depends upon the prosperity of our farmer, and it behooves us to use all the power at our command to support the farmer in his fight for that prosperity. We are working toward the same end, and we are going to work together. Our ultimate success depends upon the service we can render. We cordially invite the co-operation of every agency working for the betterment of the agricultural industry. The Southern Pacific Lines fully realize that in helping the farmer they are in the long run helping themselves, and that by striving to help the farmer to prosperity we are bringing prosperity to the railroad. We are here to do service to the farmer, we want him to use us. We propose to develop all the means at our command to help the farmer, by demonstration, by education, and by transportation. Announcements will follow from time to time of our programs.

CIVIC PRIDE.

The Banita Cafe and A. P. Moore's Sons are to be complimented on the beauty of their places of business located on West Main Street, which is added to by the beautiful flower gardens on the front of each. This is an illustration of how easily idle spots of ground can be made much more attractive by a little effort on the part of the property owner or tenant.

The Summers Lumber Co. are also among those who believe in civic attractiveness, which is demonstrated by the appearance added to their lumber office and buildings located on West Main street, which they have recently had remodeled and painted.

It is looked forward to with much anticipation that in the near future the property owners on the South side of this street will show their interest in the civic welfare of our town by completing their portion of the pavement from Reid's Bottling Works to Banita Bayou, which would not only be a very noticeable improvement, adding much to the beauty of West Main street, but one that would be appreciated by our entire citizenship.

INIQUITOUS TARIFF BILL WILL BE PASSED TODAY

Washington, Aug. 19.—The senate will end the four-months tariff fight late today with the passage of the administration bill by a large majority. The senate started to work on the measure at an early hour today cleaning up amendments. The morning session was featured by an attack on the provisions giving broad authority to the president to increase or decrease duties by Senator Borah, republican, Idaho, who said he would not support the bill unless the provisions were eliminated.

SOAKING THE PEOPLE.

To the housewives in the midst or on the even of their fruit canning and preserving the news from Washington that the new duty tacked on sugar by the detestable tariff-tinkers in congress will add $210,000,000 a year to the cost of living ought to be cordially welcomed.

And yet this is but one of many items in the infamous bill, which in the opinion of Senator Gerry, will cost the people of the United States nearly $1,000,000,000 unnecessarily every year the tariff law is in effect.

For it must be remembered that the same indefensible processes that have soaked the people with a $210,000,000 sugar tax are also levying in like or larger measure similar taxes on wool, cotton and about everything else that the average human being needs to feed and clothe himself.

Obviously the "special privilege" crowd has gone mad. Its sugar schedules are the highest in the Republican party's history. The Payne-Aldrich rates against which the people rebelled, were thought high enough, but the proposed rates go 54 cents a hundred pounds above that, while they are eighty-four cents above the rates of the Underwood law.

Happily the people are getting the facts and while Americans are slow to anger, they are going to show some rapid-fire indignation soon or the Sentinel loses its guess.

THE EPWORTH LEAGUE SOCIAL

From the Lufkin News, 18th.

The entertainment given on the lawn of the Methodist church yesterday evening by the members of the Epworth League for the Nacogdoches visitors was well attended, the two organizations being represented by something like 75 members each. The program was in charge of Mr. McGowan and Misses Oma Mayme and Lois Cochran, and was replete with pleasant features throughout, the music being furnished by Mrs. Pete Rannels and Misses Grace Fite Campbell and Marguerite Peavy. Two very enjoyable readings were rendered by Mrs. Comstock, one of the Nacogdoches visitors, while cream and cake were served to all in the greatest of plenty.

Among the older folks present were Reverend and Mrs. Cooke of Nacogdoches, Dr. Godbey, the presiding elder of this district, and Dr. and Mrs. Solomon, all of whom participated in the evening's festivities with the keenest zest and enjoyment. This organization is doing a splendid work among the young people, and under the leadership of Miss Oma Mayme is increasing monthly in membership and the interest manifested at all times, the Sunday evening programs being of that interesting nature as to call for favorable comment from all who attend.

TRADE BALANCE SHRINKS

Washington, Aug. 19.—A reduction of over $90,000,000 in the nation's favorable trade balance during July as compared with a year ago will help the international exchange situation, the Commerce department declared in its report on the country's foreign trade. Substantially increased gold imports and slightly decreased commodity exports and imports characterized July as compared with June, it is said. These trade balance figures were taken as a "healthy sign," indicating a gradual return of normal relations between exports and imports.

CHANGE OF MIND.

It is interesting to note the change of mind that is coming among many socialist leaders of the United States, who have protested to the soviet government of Russia against the execution of 30 socialists who are charged with activities against the bolshevist government.

Ever since Lenine and Trotsky took over control of the affairs of Russia, the soviet system has been held up by socialists in the United States as the ideal plan of government. The American system was not to be compared with the communistic-socialistic, if you please—ideas of national management.

Socialists of the United States did not raise a voice in protest when the soviet government of Russia proceeded in a systematic manner to take the lives of the "intellectuals" of Russia—the men to whom any successful nation must look for stability of government and the best in international relationships.

It is quite another thing when men who are recognized by American socialists as "brothers" come under the ban of the notorious soviet government of Russia. The men who were at one time praised as the highest types of communistic advocates are being criticised by Eugene V. Debs and other socialist leaders and denounced as enemies of human freedom.

What is there about the lives of 30 Russia socialists that is of so much more importance than 30 "intellectuals" who became victims of the atrocious Lenine and Trotsky? Why this sudden awakening to the true character of the soviet enemies of sane government?

The pernicious activities of Debs and his followers have been directed against the attitude of the government of the United States toward the bolshevist regime of Russia, and they have annoyed even if they have not hindered officials of this government. It would be too much to expect that American socialist leaders would go so far as to repudiate the communistic idea in the effort to save 30 of their "brothers" from death under Lenine and Trotsky.

JAKE WOLTERS WELL COMES IN

in the Lufkin News, 18th.

The Burke Drug Company was set up at 2 o'clock this afternoon by Charlie Morehead, who is in close proximity to the well, stating that the Jake Wolter well had been brought in, was flowing over the casing at the time he was talking being capped. This oil news created quite a bit of stir in business circles, especially since only about a mile from the well being sunk on the Henderson tract, close to Ewing, and nothing like a mile from the things of Mr. Young, who has material en route for the sinking of a well. The land on which above mentioned well is located is known as the Raleigh over tract, is leased from the same Company by Jake Wolters, and is located just two miles from Marion's Ferry. It adjoins numerous holdings of Lufkin people, and will no doubt send flying ward all leases owned in that mediate vicinity. As we go to press, the information is learned numerous parties leaving in autos to verify the truth of these sensational reports and see to their satisfaction the greasy fluid in this well of liquid gold.

Later—A telephone message from Jim Abney, who accompanied George Henderson to the field of operation this morning is to the effect that Jake Wolters had a good well brought in, at the amount of yield, etc., had been learned or given out. If the greasy fluid was running over the casing there is every indication to believe that the development of a big oil field is at hand, and those individuals farsighted enough to invest in land in that section can count themselves as being fortunate indeed, and many have no doubt already begun laying plans for the expenditure of some of their filthy and greasy acre.

Dublin, Aug. 19.—There was heavy fighting all last night throughout Dublin between National Army forces and Republican irregulars. Free State troops on patrol duty were fired upon by snipers and machine gunners, who attacked National Army posts in various parts of the city. The plans of the irregulars, however, were frustrated by the vigilance of the National troops, it was stated today.

HEROIC FOREST FIRE FIGHT.

Dulluth, Minn., Aug. 19.—After a night of virtual calm, the men fighting forest fires in Northern Minnesota tried again today to get a strangle hold on the various blazes before they could be stirred into greater activities by winds. Rain and lack of wind are needed before 200 fires, covering an area of 200,000 acres, can be extinguished or brought under control. Only a lull in the wind yesterday prevented a repetition of the 1918 disaster, when 453 people were killed, it was said.

THE CONVENIENT PISTOL

"The criminal situation of the United States, so far as crimes of violence are concerned, is worse than that of any other civilized country." This is the indictment brought by the law enforcement committee of the American Bar Association after its searching investigation of crime and its causes. It estimates there have been at least 85,000 homicides in the United States in the last 10 years. There were more than 9,500 in 1921.

All sorts of theories have been advanced to account for the widespread lawlessness, but the committee directly attacks the problem of preventing crimes of violence by recommending a curb on the present ease with which deadly weapons may be procured. It is found that 90 percent of the murders are committed with pistols. It is surely an anomalous situation when the sale of fireworks is prohibited in practically all, while deadly weapons can be bought by anyone in most states who has the price.

In urging legislative regulation of the sale of firearms the Bar Association does not make the mistake of supposing that the states by themselves can bring about the desired reform. Judging from the daily reports of the gunmen's activities, New York has not been particularly successful with its law designed to curb the evil. Its practical working has been to allow criminals to arm themselves, while preventing respectable citizens from taking measures for their own protection. It should be made at least as difficult for anyone to buy a pistol as to purchase poison. Distasteful as is the prospect to many persons of the extension of federal powers and the decline of state authority, it seems that eventually congress will have to take up this matter of firearms regulation in the interests of the general public safety.

CLEVELAND'S PATRIOTISM

A recent autobiography of Grover Cleveland does him the grave injustice of questioning his patriotism because, as a young man, he did not enlist at the time of the Civil War. Here is a failure to consider the background of a man before passing judgment. It is clear that when volunteers were called for at the beginning of the Civil War no exception was made or expected, as in the last war, for those who had others dependent upon them for support.

At the outbreak of the war Cleveland held a responsible position in the District Attorney's office, meanwhile contributing with his three brothers to the support of his mother. He and his brothers counseled together as to enlisting, bearing in mind the fact that one must stay at home and support the mother. It was decided that Grover should be the one to stay. When, later, he was drafted, the same set of circumstances bound him, and he borrowed money from the District Attorney to furnish a substitute. He said in this connection, "One of the greatest regrets of my life was that I could not shoulder a musket and go to war."

Adequate provision for home responsibilities was made in the last war, and no one was labeled a slacker who was forced to stay at home and care for dependents. It is obviously unfair to attach the title to a man who lived in a less enlightened era, especially to one who later proved, as did Cleveland, his devotion and loyalty to the country by his years of untinted service as president.

Just because you have the law on your side is no reason why you should not be decent about it.

READ THE FACTS

HOW THE KLAN RESPECTS WOMANHOOD

In Los Angeles, Cal., for a week there has been in progress the trial of thirty-seven alleged members of the Ku Klux Klan, charged with participating in a raid at Inglewood in April last. The admitted leader of this raid in which blood was spilled and human life snuffed out, was Nathan A. Baker, former Kleagle of the Klan for Los Angeles county.

He offered in defense of the action of himself and his mob followers that he was acting as an officer of the law. Still the mob was composed of masked men and they invaded a home, forced their way into the privacy of the sleeping room of two young women, one 13 and the other 16 years old, forced these young women to rise from their bed and dress in the presence of masked men.

This former Kleagle, this supposed champion of womanhood and virtue, collapsed in the court room when one of these young women, testifying from the witness stand, told how she was aroused on the night of the raid by masked men coming into her room and that she and her sister, 16, were forced to get up and dress while the intruders remained in the room.

Kleagle Baker collapsed, and well he might, when from the lips of the outraged young woman came testimony such as this. Doctors who waited on him said his condition was due to nervous strain. Was it nervous strain in defense of womanhood?

This kind of organization, whose invisible emperor at Atlanta, Ga., has directed Texas voters to cast their votes for Earle Mayfield for senator, vouching for Earle as a worthy klansman. This is the organization which so loudly proclaims it is organized to protect women and preserve virtue and promote morality. These masked night raiders who stood hooded and sheeted while they forced these young women to dress in their presence are fellow klansmen of Earle, who by his oath is pledged to keep their secrets, defend them against everything but murder, rape and treason, even though that crime be a crime against womanhood.

Shall the invisible emperor at Atlanta dictate to Texans, to whom womanly modesty is sacred, who respect women, that they shall nominate for the United States senate a klansman cathboud to uphold his fellow klansmen in such deeds as that described in the court room at Los Angeles? We believe not; we know Texans will not bow to such dictation and already some of the men who had joined the Klan have rebelled at this manner of thing and announced in public that they have refused longer to wear the Klan collar.

TALKING ABOUT US

Chronicle Staff Bureau. Washington, D. C., July 28.—New York, Washington and Philadelphia papers are still discussing Texas and the defeat of Culberson for United States senator.

The main theme is astonishment that a Klan candidate should be in the lead.

The Philadelphia Public Ledger editorially asserted that Senator Culberson representing what is left of decency and sanity, has been defeated.

The editorial continues that "it would be a national shame and disgrace if any one representing the Klan were to take his seat among real Americans in the proudest legislative body in the world. The election of Mayfield would be an affront to the people of the United States. Texas has one chance to redeem herself in the eyes of the rest of the country, and that is to come to the senses before the run-off primary next month. If she does not, and Mayfield wins, Texas must surely know that he will have a hard time getting in the senate."

Question Klan Membership. "The committee on privileges and elections will most certainly insist on knowing whether he is a member of the Klan or not, and how far he is affiliated with it, and he will have to stand aside until it finds out," the editorial says. "The senate can not afford to have a Ku Klux member, and it can bar him even if he is not an active member. It is the sole judge of the qualifications of its members. Even such a man as Reed Smoot had to stand aside until the senate had investigated his record as a Mormon."

"For the present at least," declares the editorial, "Texas sits in disgrace among her 47 sisters. In many elections one state or another has run off the track and amazed the nation by voting for something mad, but never had any state gone to such depths as these."

TELLS WHY SHE CAN NOT SUPPORT EARLE MAYFIELD

Hon. Earle B. Mayfield.

Sir: I received your letter asking me as president of the Harlingen Union of the Women's Christian Temperance Union to use my influence for you as candidate for the United States senate. You asked me for my support because of your record as a prohibitionist.

Every genuine prohibitionist has a right to invite the support of the W. C. T. U. and should receive that support unless there are greater issues involved in the campaign than the mere enforcement of the eighteenth amendment. In this campaign I believe there is such an issue. I refer to the Ku Klux Klan. So far as I have been able to ascertain you have steadfastly refused to commit yourself to this issue. Why? If in your opinion the issue is insignificant, expressing yourself either for or against it could do your campaign no great harm.

If the issue is significant, those who are asked to support you have a right to know whether you are for or against that organization. They have a right to know whether you uphold the bill of rights in the United States constitution, or obey the dictates of the self-appointed emperor.

The founders of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union met saloon keepers face to face. Those courageous women had no malediction but a hymn, no weapon but a prayer, and no defense but the protection of Almighty God. I can not speak for the union at large, but personally, I do not see how any member who is heir of such a noble heritage, can have any affiliation with an organization which violates law in the name of law enforcement; whose moral code is its will; whose weapons are wire whips, buckets of tar and feathers, and whose protection is "invisibility."

Terrorism is the last resort of despots, and has no place in America, where "cruel and unusual punishments" are forbidden in the constitution. It is especially abhorrent when the power using it deliberately shirks responsibility for its use. That is the final achievement of cowardice. Men have died under all forms of imaginable torture, unafraid. Terror will not govern men.

The motto of the W. C. T. U. is:

"For God, and home and every land." The apparent motto of the Klan is "For ourselves; against the Catholic, the Jew, the negro, and the immigrant."

The W. C. T. U. can and does contribute to good causes without donning a spectacular disguise.

As a member of this woman's organization, whose support you are evidently soliciting, I ask you to make your position clear in regard to the Ku Klux Klan.

Sincerely yours,
Mary D. Myrick.
President Harlingen Union of W. C. T. U.

A WOMAN'S AFFIDAVIT

STATE OF TEXAS
Dallas County:

I reside in Dallas, Texas, and have lived in Dallas for about two years. I was raised in Austin, Texas; my parents lived in Austin for many years, and my mother was Stewardess and Bookkeeper for the Country Club at Austin, Texas, for about 18 years; or longer. I was my mother's assistant at the Country Club and helped her. She and I waited on the guests also.

I was a stenographer in Governor Hobby's office after he became governor, having held that position for about two years. I knew Mr. Earle Mayfield well. He was a frequent guest and visitor at the Austin Country Club. I have often seen him drink cocktails and other intoxicating liquors at the club. He often ate meals at the Club and usually was eating and drinking with friends. My mother often waited on him at the table and she had general supervision of the place. My name before marrying was Margaret Reinli.

My husband is in the construction business. I am the mother of one child.

AUSTIN MEN CHALLENGE MAYFIELD FOR AFFIDAVIT Special to The News.

Austin, Texas, Aug. 21.—Former State Senator T. H. McGregor addressed a large crowd in Woodridge Park tonight in the interest of the candidacy of James E. Ferguson for the United States Senate. During the course of his speech he read the following letter:

"Austin, Texas, Aug. 21. Hon. T. H. McGregor, Austin, Texas, Dear Sir: Accompanying this letter you will please find certified check on the American National Bank of this city for $100, which you are authorized to endorse for payment to Earle B. Mayfield, candidate for the United States Senate, if he will on or before Friday, August 25th, 1922, make an affidavit stating that he did not on the night of July 21, 1922, after he finished his speech at Woodridge Park, this city, in company with others, drink intoxicating liquor, or that he did not, after the going into effect of the Volstead act, in company with others, drink intoxicating liquors on various occasions in the city of Austin. If he fails to make and file such affidavit with you, you will return said check to the signers hereof.

Yours truly,

TAR BUCKET LAW HAS NO PLACE IN AMERICA

To the Editor of The Chronicle:

After reading Mary D. Myrick's letter, and being a W. C. T. U. worker for many years myself, will say she spoke my thoughts. I have been with every movement and organization all my life that stood for the good of the country and community in which I live. Therefore, I can not see how a Christian woman can help elect a man who stands for mob law, tar bucket and whip. Give me love and harmony with everyone. The Ku Klux Klan has caused me to quit my church—how could I go to church and look people in the face whom I know to be kluckers? Knowing what I do, it's impossible because I am for Christ and His teachings above all else.

I have seen women who belonged to humane societies go into the street and tell a man that if he hit that dog again they would have him arrested, and yet they are forming clubs to elect a man whose secret order stands for mobbing his fellow man and beating him up so that he has to be sent to the hospital. Tell me, is that in accordance with the teachings of Christ?

PEDDY WILL CAMPAIGN FOR FERGUSON

George E. B. Peady, chairman of the Ferguson headquarters for South Texas, leaves today for Austin, where on Tuesday he will begin a speaking tour on behalf of the candidacy of James E. Ferguson for the United States senate.

As a result of invitations, Peady has eight speaking dates ahead. He said Saturday he would speak only where he was invited.

Monday, at Austin, in Woodridge Park, only a short distance from where he led the Texas University Students' fight against the then Governor Ferguson, Peady will make his second public appearance in behalf of the former governor's race for the Senate.

In his Austin address, Peady said he would tell those who had criticized him for his stand just why he is supporting Ferguson.

"I have a thousand and one reasons why I would not support Mayfield," Peady declared, "and I'll have plenty to tell without telling it all."

Peady will speak at Woodville in Tyler county Tuesday afternoon and then will return to Houston. On Thursday he will speak at Columbus and on Saturday he is scheduled for three addresses in his home county of Shelby. During the day he will speak at Tena-ha, Center and Timpson.

"In the event of Ferguson's election to the United States senate," Peady said Saturday, "the former governor will be one of the most picturesque and commanding individuals in that body and he will serve his constituents well."

SECRETARY TO CULBERSON OUT FOR FERGUSON

Dallas, Texas, July 28.—C. W. Jorney, secretary to Senator Charles A. Culberson, has telegraphed Barry Miller that he had followed Mr. Miller "into the Ferguson camp" and adding that he can be counted on "to the limit."

He declares that Ferguson's candidacy presents the only opportunity for defeating "invisible government," and that for this reason that means must be used. He says that he much prefers giving Ferguson another chance than to permit his act to drive him into the Mayfield camp."

Mayfield is a general without an army, a candidate without a principle, whose campaign is without a hope. Ferguson would preserve and extend the Farm Loan Banks in the interest of the farmer. Ferguson stands for the little school house on the hill. Ferguson would reduce railroad rates. When governor he put the penitentiary system on a paying basis and left a million dollars in the treasury. He enlarged the asylums and took the insane out of the jails. He enlarged the institutions for the blind and took the blind out of the fire traps. Mr. Farmer, take the wife and vote for Jim Ferguson August 26th. He has stood by you in the past and will stand by you in the future.

HABEAS CORPUS PROCEEDINGS POSTPONED IN HARP CASE

Dallas, Aug. 17.—Habeas corpus proceedings in the hearing of C. T. Harp of Rockwall and J. R. Hamilton of Waxahachie, charged with the killing of Howard Johnston, organist, here Saturday, were postponed indefinitely today by an agreement between state and defense counsel. The men will be held under bond of $7500, pending action by the grand jury.

THE PAVING PROBLEM

The Sentinel is publishing a series of letters in answer to inquiries sent out to engineers by Secretary McKnight of the Chamber of Commerce so that the people may gain an idea as to what a experienced and qualified judges regard as the best paving material—a question in which Nacogdoches are deeply interested just now. One letter will appear each day until the series is completed:

Beaumont, Texas, Aug. 15, 1922
Mr. H. L. McKnight, Secty & Mgr., Chamber of Commerce, Nacogdoches, Texas:

Dear Mr. McKnight—I have yours of the 14th with reference to the use of "Appleby" gravel on the streets of Nacogdoches.

There is no question but that this material will make an excellent base if it is thoroughly compacted, but I do not believe that you will be able to make any bituminous surface, whether it be tar or asphalt, stick to the gravel base. There must be some bond between a bituminous surface and the base, otherwise you merely have a thin mat easily displaced that will not meet your requirements. If after laying your base of gravel you could incorporate into the surface several inches of crushed rock you could make your bituminous surface stick to it. The streets of Lufkin, recently completed, have a broken stone topped with asphalt and when I last saw them they seemed to be doing very well.

Several cities and counties in the state have treated a coarser gravel than the "Appleby" gravel with a bitumen with apparently very good results, but I have never felt that this should be done, if it could be avoided, as the smooth surface of gravel will not permit as good a bond as a crushed stone.

The controlling factor in any successful bitumen treatment is the

GOVERNOR MAY PUT HOME CITY UNDER OPEN PORT LAW

Austin, Aug. 17.—Governor Neff expects to put Waco under the open port law, H. T. Miller, Denison, superintendent of special service of the Katy Railroad, indicated while here today, on his way to Waco.

Miller said he would investigate the strike situation there and make final preparations for the open port order.

Miller stated that strike conditions at other Texas points on the Katy were satisfactory. Over 700 men are now working at Denison, he said.

FIFTH EFFORT MADE TO END SHOPMEN'S STRIKE

New York, Aug. 17.—The fifth effort by an outside agency to end the shopmen's strike was made today when leaders of the railroad brotherhoods went into conference with a committee representing railroad officials.

B. M. Jewell, president of the railroad employees' department of the American Federation of Labor, arrived here just as the conference was called and said he was ready to advise with the conferees if needed.

The car's long-established reputation for faithful, low-cost service has not influenced Dodge Brothers in their constant seeking after betterments.

A semi-floating rear-axle is now provided, embodying the latest ideas in rear axle design. The main housing is 75 per cent stronger. One large Timken bearing at the hub replaces two small bearings and gives 100 per cent greater carrying capacity. Larger ring gear and drive pinion make possible a new, tooth shape, giving quiet operation and 45 per cent increase in strength. Larger front and rear propeller shaft bearings more than double the drive thrust capacity.

Conservative changes in body lines have materially enhanced the attractiveness of the car's appearance.

bond between the bitumen and the base, unless the treatment is, say an inch or an inch and a half in thickness. A thin treatment must have a bond. If there is no bond then the bituminous surface must have sufficient stability within itself to prevent movement. This is merely common sense, and it does not take an engineer to recognize the force of it. Your own good judgment will show you that it is not possible to bond a thin treatment with the "Appleby" gravel.

With best wishes

OPINION OF ENGINEERS ABOUT APPLEBY GRAVEL

Last week Secretary McKnight of the Nacogdoches Chamber of Commerce shouldered the task of ascertaining the opinion of various highway engineers of the state in regard to Appleby gravel as a road-building material. To his inquiries he has received several replies, which the Sentinel takes pleasure in publishing, as it is a matter in which our people are very much concerned:

STATE OF TEXAS

County of Smith

Tyler, Texas, Aug. 19, 1922.
Chamber of Commerce, Nacogdoches, Texas:

Gentlemen—The sample of iron ore gravel which you have sent for my inspection was an excellent quality of iron ore gravel and practically the same as the best iron ore gravel which has been used in this county. The material here has made an excellent road surface with the exception that the gravel wears rapidly and blows away. The wear on our main streets will amount to between one and one-half inches and two inches in compact thickness per year. In order to avoid this loss, the county is now making preparations to put an asphalt surface on several miles of the iron ore gravel which has been completed and use gravel material in future only as a base, if funds can be secured for an asphalt surface.

Seven miles of road on State Highway No. 37 is now under contract on which a 10 inch iron ore gravel base will be used and 1 1-2 inch bituminous surface. Satisfactory results are expected, but the road is being built more as an experiment, and we have no record of this material having been used as a base for bituminous surface before. Within the next few months we will be able to give a more definite report on the work.

The city of Mineola, Texas, let a contract last week for a brick pavement on a 10-inch base of native iron ore gravel very similar to the sample you sent. This pavement is to be laid on one of their heavy traffic business streets, and I believe that they have made a mistake in not using a concrete base, but their engineer believes the iron ore base will be sufficient.

Smith county expects to apply the asphalt to the local iron ore gravel base only after the base has been subjected to traffic for six months or more and has become thoroughly compacted and all the weak places have been developed and repaired. With this precaution, we feel sure that the material will do for a base on country roads, but would not use it on heavy traffic streets.

I regret that I have not some definite data which I could give you on the practicability of using the material as a base on street work.

Yours very truly,
D. K. Caldwell,
Highway Engineer.

The bearing-down pains were actually so severe I could not stand the pressure of my hands on the lower part of my stomach . . . I simply felt as if life was for but a short time. TO THE COLORED MAN HOUSING AND MORALS

What relationship has housing to the questions of negro health and morals? A very vital one, and yet, perhaps, not just the relation which has been so commonly in mind. It is not fevers alone that arise out of housing conditions, though such conditions may be directly responsible for a large portion of such diseases. Poor housing, no ventilation, poor sanitation, no sunshine, do much to foster disease of all kinds. In particular they prepare fertile soil for the growth of tubercular germs. They weaken the body of the inhabitant so that he is not best able to withstand disease. They may so discourage the people who live in such surroundings that they do not struggle against the ravages of sickness.

But these are not the worst results of the overcrowding and poor housing. By far the worst results on health arises out of the low state of morals they superinduce. So long as colored people are huddled together in filthy houses and unsanitary surroundings, so long will they be lacking in that pride and self respect which makes for morality. A man living in a clean home—all other things being equal—is a more decent and moral man than he would be were he living in a dirty one. A man who has had a bath is surely more apt to have clean thoughts than the man who never bathes. The man who wears decent clothes in keeping with his surroundings has a better chance to be moral than the man who is filthy in the midst of filthy surroundings. No man who has ever shaved and bathed and donned clean linen can for one moment fail to understand that cleanliness not only is next to Godliness, but cleanliness helps to create Godliness. We cannot make people moral so long as they live in filth and in squalid surroundings.

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE ON INDUSTRIAL CONDITIONS

Washington, Aug. 18.—President Harding, in an address to congress today in which he recommended specific legislation designed for our nation's industrial ills, declared with emphasis that the right of employers and employees alike to establish methods and conducting business, choose their employment and determine their relations with each other must be recognized. In discussing the coal situation the president referred to what he termed the "shocking crime at Herrin, Ill., which so recently shamed and horrified the country," adding that the incident was a "butchery of human beings wrought in madness." Declared a national investigation for constructive recommendations regarding the conduct of the coal industry was imperative, and recommended a government commission to advise as to fair wages and conditions. Immediate legislation to establish temporarily a "national coal industry," with necessary capital to purchase, sell and distribute coal was also urged. Stating the Esch-Cummings act in establishing the railroad labor board was inadequate, being with little or no power to enforce its decisions," the president recommended action to make the board's decisions "enforceable and effective against carriers and employees alike." Other legislative recommendations were for "better protection to aliens, enforcement of treaty rights," and a measure to give federal courts jurisdiction for protecting aliens. In asking coal legislation the president said the administration had sought earnestly to "restrain profiteering and secure rightful distribution of coal, but was without legal power to control prices.

SUNDAY BASEBALL

I want to give my full and hearty endorsement to the protests recently published in the Sentinel by some of the pastors of Nacogdoches against Sunday baseball. There are a number of reasons why those interested in the moral and spiritual welfare of our city do not approve of Sunday ball games.

It is a violation of the divine law which says, "Remember the Sabbath day to keep it hold." It is not a thing of chance that when the Sabbath goes, religion dies and the State begins to suffer. The Moral Ruler of the universe organized the laws of right and wrong into the structure of things and gave them to Moses in the form of the Ten Commandments. The Bible teaches that the Sabbath is the Lord's day, and if it is God's day, ought it not to be observed in His way?

Sunday baseball is contrary to the spirit of Americanism. Ralph Waldo Emerson said, "The Sabbath is the core of christian civilization," and Justice McLean of the U. S. Supreme Court said, "Where there is no christian Sabbath there is no christian morality, and without this, free institutions cannot long be sustained." These and other distinguished thinkers value the Sabbath as one of the foundation stones upon which the security of our civilization rests. Sunday baseball, like Sunday tennis, Sunday movies and Sunday labor, tend to destroy American institutions. They commercialize the Sabbath and make it a holiday instead of a holy day.

Sunday baseball is demoralizing to the christian morale of the community. "The Sabbath was made for man." It is intended as a day that should be given over to spiritual influences, to family associations, to serious consideration of higher things. It is intended to make faith clearer and the heart more tender; to quicken good impulses and awaken higher aspiration. Yelling one's self hoarse at a ball game doesn't fit either the body or the mind for worship. It dulls religious interest and weakens respect for divine authority.

The pastors stand for clean sports. The church encourages all forms of wholesome athletics. But an earnest protest should be made against any business or pleasure which tends to destroy the christian Sabbath or break down the safeguards of our civilization.

GOOD MEETING FRIDAY OF C. OF C. DIRECTORS

The regular weekly meeting of the Chamber of Commerce directors was held at 10 a. m. Friday with President Oscar Matthews presiding, and directors L. B. Mast, Elbert Reese, Orland Patton, A. T. Mast, Bob Muckelroy, Carl Monk, T. E. Baker, W. C. Fouts, J. N. Thomas, A. H. Smith, Link Summers and J. B. Atkins present.

On motion, the chairman named Elbert Reese to fill the vacancy on the Finance Committee. This committee is now composed of L. B. Mast, T. E. Baker and Elbert Reese.

Link Summers, chairman of a committee named recently to raise a special entertainment fund of $100, reported the money raised and now available.

On motion, a committee composed of A. T. Mast, Carl Monk and H. L. McKnight was instructed to prepare an exhaustive, comprehensive report showing the condition of our county roads and to prepare estimates showing the needed repair, improvement and betterment of our system of highways, and to present all data, facts and proposed plans to a mass meeting of citizens and business men to be held early next week.

The committee named at the last meeting to secure a factory for making overalls, work shirts and other wearing material was instructed to appear before the City Council, to ask for a remission of city taxes for the proposed industry. This committee is composed of J. N. Thomas, R. L. Perry and H. L. McKnight. This committee is now in correspondence with interested parties and may have something of interest to report soon. Investigation reveals the fact that the retail stores of Nacogdoches sell 2100 dozen overalls and 2000 dozen work shirts annually. Why not make these garments right here at home and thus give employment to some of our home people?

ONE-ARMED PREACHER IS GIVEN SEATING

Carthage, Texas, Aug. 16.—Rev. Leland Malone, Baptist pastor of the Fairplay and Pine Hill community churches, was assaulted Sunday afternoon and is under the care of a physician. He was on his way to baptizing when three men in an automobile ordered him from his buggy. One struck him with an iron wrench. He dodged and received the blow over the heart. He was unable to defend himself, having but one arm. After the beating he was ordered to quit the community and refrain from preaching.

The assaulters were unmasked and were recognized. Charges have been filed against Bob Smith, Roscoe Smith and Joe Hull for assault and for inciting a riot.

We hereby extend our sincere thanks to all who sympathized with us, and especially those who offered to help and those who did help us with so many cheering words of consolation and so very many rich tokens of tender, loving kindness, while our dear son and brother was so ill and at his death; also for the many exceedingly beautiful floral offerings, as his grave was literally banked with flowers. We pray that you will accept our deep, heartfelt gratitude and sincere thanks, and that you may have true friends, peace, and prosperity all through life, and when you come to the eventful time like this, may you have God's sustaining grace to help you bear it.

OUTLOOK IS HOPEFUL FOR STRIKE SETTLEMENT

Washington, Aug. 18.—President Harding was told today by Senator Watson of Indiana, one of his advisers on the rail strike, that a long-distance conversation with brotherhood chiefs and representatives of the railroad executives in New York disclosed that both sides are "hopeful of a settlement of the strike at today's meeting." Discussions of the troublesome seniority issue was declared by Watson to be based on a plan providing that the men who did not strike go at the head of the list in seniority; that the employees who walked out July 1st or later be accorded a seniority status second to the men who remained at work, and that the new men taken on during the strike be given seniority ranking below the other two groups and to be retained in the employment of the roads wherever possible.

NEW LEADERSHIP.

What the primaries are contributing to new leadership in congress, the elections of November may complete. In the past few days columns have come out of Washington regarding the drastic changes in the complexion of house and senate certain as a result of recent derailments of political careers. The correspondents may have even more interesting material with which to deal next fall. Unless the temper of the people is gravely misjudged, renomination is not equivalent to re-election in many states in 1922.

Even should every renominated representative and senator be elected, however, serious changes are certain in both houses of congress, for the people's discontent with the national legislature has been most emphatically voiced against the lawmakers most responsible for the course of the do-nothing sixty-seventh congress.

It is significant that agitation is revived for abolishing the much-discussed seniority rule of the senate in committee assignments. Important chairmanships will be vacated by the retirement, voluntary and forced, of men long powerful in the upper house. And to these chairmanships, or within striking distance of them, will be elevated men extremely persona non grata to the established order of things in Washington. When the senate next organizes the nation may be regaled by the spectacle of an Old Guard fighting to abolish the privilege of seniority and an unregenerate Progressive element fighting as desperately to retain it. Such are the ways of expediency.

SPECIAL INVESTIGATION OF HERRIN MASSACRE

Marion, Ill., Aug. 18.—A special grand jury investigation of the Herrin mine massacre, which will begin August 28, will be a searching inquiry and every phase of the miners' war will be examined in an effort to clear the name of Williamson county, State's Attorney Duty told the Associated Press.

IT SPEAKS FOR ITSELF.

Former Governor Cox of Ohio, who is in Europe studying conditions and the operation of the League of Nations, discusses the latter as a permanent institution for progress. The League now speaks for itself he emphasizes. While presidents, prime ministers and cabinets come and go and international conferences meet and adjourn the functioning association continues as a working organization for progress 365 days in the year.

This draws attention to the fact that while the League, a comparatively new organization, is criticized by some for not having immediately brought the Millennium, a number of governments of long standing also are not setting speed records in the solution of their domestic problems. It is significant that some in America who formerly worked overtime in taking flings at the Wilson association of nations are now occupied with complaining of the do-nothing congress of the Harding administration. The League, with its prevention of war in a number of instances and in its setting up of the international court of justice, seems to be getting along better in its field than some national administrations are toward keeping things running smoothly in their particular countries. It has come about, national administrations are toward keeping things running smoothly in their particular countries. It has come about, then, that in the midst of failures of international conferences held outside of it, and the turmoil of a number of countries over domestic questions, the League looks considerably like success.

While American friends of the League naturally regret that their nation is not bearing a part in such a great undertaking for humanity, there is keen satisfaction for them in the fact that the withholding of support by the United States cannot wreck the association, as once was threatened by Senator Lodge. The other nations showed their faith in the organization and their determination to sustain it when, one after another, they joined it as the majority of the American senate was trying to turn the world against it.

Meanwhile Americans in an individual way have been co-operating with the association or encouraging it. There is an American, John Bassett Moore, on the bench of its international court of justice. The Rockefeller Foundation has made provision for certain work to be carried on by the League for a period of five years, not only recognizing its value as an agency of humanity, but also showing faith that the association has come to stay. Then there is always the outstanding fact that it was under American leadership that the League was constructed. We may be sure that as the structure, which has demonstrated its durable character, rises to perfection an increasing number of Americans will be glad to recall that even its enemies referred to it in the beginning as "the Wilson League."

FIGHT ON TARIFF BILL.

Washington, Aug. 18.—With only two days and a night left in which to work, the senate was faced today with a flood of amendments to the tariff bill, which will be brought to a final vote tomorrow. A renewal of the sugar, dye and other fights, which occupied a large part of the time during the last four months, is promised.

EXPLOSION ON ROUNDHOUSE.

Dallas, Texas, Aug. 18.—A bomb or stick of dynamite was exploded on the roof of the Texas & Pacific roundhouse here last night. The damage was small and no one was hurt. Fifteen men were asleep in the roundhouse at the time.

There is something about a pretty man's attitude that confesses his belief that his wife ought to be very grateful.

DR. M. G. KAHN WAS GIVEN A WHIPPING SATURDAY NIGHT

From the Lufkin Leader: Saturday night about 7 o'clock the Perkins jitney was stopped on the Lufkin-Nacogdoches highway just this side of the Angelina river, and Dr. M. G. Kahn, who was a passenger in the jitney, was taken from the car by several men and carried into the woods where he was given a whipping with a rope.

Dr. Kahn was brought to Lufkin and dumped out on South First street at the Burke Drug Store corner.

It is stated by those who talked with Dr. Kahn later at the Hotel Angelina, that he was unable to recognize any of the men who did the whipping. Late Saturday night he secured a car and went to Nacogdoches.

The Nacogdoches Sentinel of Monday states "the affair was an outrage, and an example of brutal cowardice, and that it was thought the mob was composed of boys who resented Dr. Kahn's efforts to seek the society of young ladies, though it is difficult to see wherein this was a crime so long as he conducted himself in a gentlemanly manner." The writer has only been in Lufkin a little over seven months, and we have never heard of the boys or men resenting the efforts of anyone who were seeking the society of young ladies, as long as they conducted themselves as gentlemen. The writer has been in some of the Lufkin homes since he has been here, and he has found the young people ready and willing to show every courtesy to "newcomers" who conduct themselves right. The writer believes he will be allowed to stay in Lufkin as long as he respects the ladies of our fair land, and pays his honest debts, but if we should fail to do that we may expect to travel the path of those who have gone before us.

The writer has a letter from Dr. Kahn stating that he left Galveston Tuesday night for the north and that he is going north to make good. It is to be hoped he will.

BURBANK TO PRESENT NEW FRUITS TO WORLD

Los Angeles, Aug. 18.—Luther Burbank, plant wizard, will celebrate the fiftieth anniversary of his first creation by presenting the world with six new peaches, a new prune, a new plum and a new nectarine.

Burbank announced Thursday that the new creations have reached such a stage of perfection that he is prepared next year, when he celebrates the fiftieth anniversary of the "Burbank potato," his first contribution to horticultural science, to introduce them to growers.

The peaches are especially pleasing to Burbank, who declares they are the closest approach to perfection in size, color and flavor he has ever seen.

DISASTROUS FOREST FIRES.

Duluth, Minn., Aug. 18.—Fears that the death toll from forest fires raging in Northwestern Minnesota may go beyond the reported total of twelve when additional advices are received were expressed by the scores of refugees arriving here hourly from various sections of the North Woods. The fate of a score of settlements in St. Louis and Lake counties hung on the weather. Only rain or a calm day can save these places. Four hundred national guardsmen and 2,000 rangers are engaged in fighting the fires. Officials say the situation is the most menacing in years.

FARMER FOUND DEAD.

(By Associated Press) Gainesville, Texas, Aug. 18.—John Rosson, a farmer, aged 62 years, was found dead with a rope around his neck in his barn 12 miles west of here yesterday.

FAMOUS ACTRESS DEAD.

London, Aug. 18.—Genevieve Ward, famous American tragedienne, died of heart failure today at her home at Hampstead.

DROWNED IN OIL POOL.

Beaumont, Texas, Aug. 18.—Alvin Brown, an oil field worker, was drowned at the Hull field, near here, yesterday when he fell into a pit of crude oil.

Every time the umpire calls "strike" it just ruins the game for everybody.

TRUCK GROWERS ORGANIZE

The Nacogdoches Truck Growers' Association was organized Saturday afternoon at the courthouse by the election of the following officials:

T. J. Lloyd, Nacogdoches, president; Joe F. Slay, Appleby, vice president; R. T. Fain, Nacogdoches, secretary; The board of directors are composed of the following well-known and substantial farmers: J. F. Slay, Appleby; George Reese, Nacogdoches; L. L. Richards, Logansport Road; Oscar Hanna, Martinsville; Eugene Muckle-roy, Trinity Community; Austin Webb, North Church; Frank Powers, Melrose; Richard White, Fairview; L. L. Martin, Union Cross.

The meeting held at the courthouse Saturday afternoon was the third time this group of farmers have come together to discuss the benefits of diversified farming and the need of organization to market same. These meetings have been characterized by earnestness of purpose rather than by numbers. The men who are heading up this undertaking are recognized as the best farmers in the county. It is the intention of this group of men to first sign up enough tomato acreage to guarantee carlot shipments of this particular product and then to take up watermelons, cantaloupes and potatoes, and to sign up acreage enough of each product to guarantee car lot shipments and cash buyers right at our own station. It is expected that 200 acres of tomatoes will be signed up by October 15, and that the signing up of sufficient acreage of cantaloupes and potatoes will rapidly follow.

The next meeting of the association will be held at Appleby Saturday, August 26, at 3 p. m. The growers in Appleby community have asked for this meeting and quite a number of those present Saturday afternoon promised to attend the meeting next Saturday.

The Boosters Club and the Chamber of Commerce have guaranteed the support of our business people in this organized effort our farmers are making to get from under the curse of the one-crop idea.

This movement deserves the encouragement and support of all our people. Let us hope it gets this in no uncertain way. Reporter.

TO THE CITIZENSHIP OF NACOGDOCHES COUNTY

Dear Friends—

I have entered this race without very much solicitation or encouragement. You have manifested your confidence in me by your liberal support of July 22d.

I have conducted my race as a gentleman and not one vote have I ever tried to gain by slander or misrepresentation. "Win or lose" I shall come out of the race with the satisfaction that comes to the individual who deals fairly with his fellowman. I would rather lose on the square than win by means of treacherous advantages. As a young man who is keenly desirous of raising his own merits to higher ideals of life, I have submitted my candidacy to you hoping that you will not fail to give it careful and, if possible, favorable consideration.

Hard luck stories or sympathetic appeals do not qualify one for public service; therefore, whatever misfortunes I have had or may have constituted no part of my claims for your suffrage next Saturday, August 26th. The time is here, the day we have worked and waited for, the hour which I have dreamed and hoped for, when the people would put the stamp of approval on my aspirations and lend a helping hand to me as my early dreams of service and usefulness developed into realities.

Believing that you will give me whatever consideration I may deserve and with the hope that such consideration may result in my election, I am willing to let it rest in your hands and assure you in advance that your will, which shall be made known Saturday, will meet my approval.

John P. Johnson,
Candidate for Tax Collector.

The meeting at the Queen Theater Wednesday morning to investigate the county's road plans and finances was fairly well attended, mostly by town people. Speeches were made explaining just how the matter stands, but before taking definite steps toward formulating further plans it was thought best to adjourn the meeting till next Wednesday, the 30th inst., in order that the country people, who are as much or more concerned in good roads than even the town dwellers, might have a further opportunity to attend and take part in the proceedings.

MANY AMUSEMENTS WILL BE STAGED IN FAIR "HIPPI"

10 stellar acts booked for entertainment of visitors, October 19 to 29, inclusive

Never has the State Fair of Louisiana booked a greater array of Hippodrome acts and other amusements than those promised visitors to this year's exposition, October 19 to 29, inclusive. The interesting program, provided after diligent study of the country's foremost offerings, calls for ten big free acts in which some of the most renowned performers in the world will be seen.

These feature attractions will be staged each afternoon and night in the Hippodrome, in front of the grandstand. They rank among the very best to be found anywhere, and the management feels justified in assuring visitors that they will be entertained to unusual extent. Following are the Hippodrome offerings:

Thomas Saxolette, a comedy musical sensation, with five men and a woman composing the sextette of artists. They will give a brilliant program of syncopated operatic and popular numbers.

Kane, Morey and Moore, high-pole and perch equilibrist, whose feats include many thrilling performances.

Henke and Meecher, charming female singers, who delight their audiences with especially selected popular solos and duets.

The Flying Fishers, in a daring display of cradle casting on separate apparatus and mid-air acrobaticism. Many startling acts are on their program.

The Famous Paris Trio in a series of acrobatic surprises. The world's funniest aerialist, Max Paris, in seemingly impossible twists and confusing tangles is a member of this group of sensationalists.

The Chinese Troupe, in marvelous exploits never before seen at the Louisiana State Fair.

Lesler, Bell and Griffin, real circus clowns and comedy acrobats, who present a wonderful stage act and several numbers in the race track in front of the grandstand.

Martinez Troupe, unique somersaulters and equilibrist, including a man who walks up and down a ladder fifteen feet high with a woman balancing head to head.

Al Sweets' Singing Band, including maniac trap drummer and jazz saxophonists, which is a military musical organization every member of which is a male soloist of renown.

Auto-Polo, the game which combines thrills and spills, booked as a twice daily attraction. Internationally known auto poloists will take part in these exhibitions of skill and daring.

Another attraction booked for State Fair visitors is the aerial "stunting" by Lillian Boyer, the "aerial female daredevil."

For further information, including facts about the low railroad rates to the State Fair, write W. R. Hirsch, secretary-manager, Shreveport, La.

CORN GROWERS WILL BE LIVELY RIVALS

If the inquiries that are reaching Secretary-Manager W. R. Hirsch's office are to be considered an index to the interest the corn growers are taking, the display of corn at the seventeenth annual State Fair of Louisiana, October 19 to 29, inclusive, will be record-breaking. An exceedingly interesting exhibit is assured. Having long ago begun to realize the mistake of raising only one crop, the farmers of Louisiana nowadays are devoting lots of earnest attention to the growing of corn, and the ears entered in competition in the Agricultural Building at the State Fair this year will give an idea of the measure of success they have attained in their diversification work.

W. R. Hendrix of Louisiana State University, will serve as superintendent of this department, while Prof. C. A. Helm, of the Mo. State University, will be the judge. The indications are that they will have their hands full of responsibility, owing to the anticipated number of entries and close rivalry.

If the efforts of the Junior Extension management are successful, practically every parish in the state will be represented with exhibits from the boys' and girls' corn clubs. These exhibits will occupy a prominent location in the Agricultural Building. At least 2,000 members of these clubs are expected to enter the competition, each showing ten ears. Attractive premiums have been offered them.

The feature of the juvenile corn show will be the annual interstate contest. This contest is open to the junior extension clubs of all the states in the union, north, south, east and west. Handsome trophies are offered the winners.

For further information, write W. R. Hirsch, Secretary-manager, Shreveport, La.

Attractive railroad rates offered.

NACOGDOCHES TRADITIONS

Corpus Christi is now one of the most interesting topics of the state, because it is about to become a deep water seaport, and thereby a most important military and business point. It will meet many general needs and purposes of a wide tributary territory, as well as local and even national conveniences. San Antonio in a military, commercial and social sense is especially interested.

Cropus Christi is situated on the west shore of a shallow bay of the same name connecting with the great Gulf of Mexico. It is 150 miles south east of San Antonio, and a few miles west of the Nueces river, in Nueces county, being the county seat of this county.

The city extends north and south along the margin of the bay about four miles, and westward on the high ground prairie nearly as far. The waters of the bay are fordable by footmen for hundreds of yards if not for miles. The leading business houses are located on a block extending from the water edge to Chaparral street, fronting on both sides for a distance of nearly a mile. Many of these buildings are equal to such in larger cities. Their elevation about sea level is only about five or ten feet. The block westward from Chaparral street extends to a bluff running north and south being about 50 feet high on average. This bluff is artistically terraced and parked. Paved streets and car lines run along it, and also below and on top.

The residence part of Corpus Christi is located on the bluff which extends from near the water back westward on level prairie for miles and miles. On this bluff are many fine and artistic dwellings, grand and beautiful, overlooking the bay, further out on the land the streets are laid off long and straight, and the city is without limits of space. Tropical shrubbery, shade trees and lawn decorations are charming.

The absence of song birds is noticeable. The doleful notes of the dove are not heard, nor the scolding voice of the paloma. The joyful mocking bird is missed, and the glowing cardinals and frisky wrens are not seen or heard. South West Texas is remarkably different in landscape features from that of East Texas, where tall timbers grow and spring waters flow. It is almost startling to a new comer. And as to vegetation and agriculture it is astounding.

Corpus Christi is a far-away place for East Texas, but it is a popular resort for a wide section. It is the sportsman's delight as to fishing and duck shooting. The pleasure devotee and the hygienic crank are in their glory here. They swim or bathe in the waters of the rolling waves.

There are some dangerous sea fish in this bay. Several persons were severely wounded by bites or stings while I was there. An eight-year-old boy was drowned. He was playing on a rope stretched over the water and losing his hand hold he dropped into water too deep. These accidents are shocking, but the consternation is soon forgotten. So the lustomory ailments continue. Other multitudes follow.

I said that Corpus is a far away place. I was impressed of this by the fact that during my several weeks there I never met any one that I had ever seen before.

I was a stranger in a strange land. I did find the family of John Scoggin there so long ago as to be old folks now is a wonder.

In the Mexican war, 1846, some Nacogdoches soldiers under General Taylor were there. One was Uncle George Rector. Another was Major James R. Arnold. J.E.M.

BOLL WEEVIL MACHINE

W. M. Stanlan of Appleby has patented a boll weevil catching machine. It is made to use on any cultivator. It is two large, flat pans so constructed as to run on each side of a row of cotton with some brush in front that knocks the weevils off into the pans. The pans have about an inch of kerosene oil in bottom, killing them instantly. A recent test on one measured acre of cotton caught 132 grown weevils and 479 punctured squares. Another test made one week later on the same land caught only 19 weevils and 49 punctured squares, showing that it does actually get them. It also catches the worms, as off of 16 rows 200 yards long he caught half a gallon of worms, weevils and all other pests of cotton. See Stripling, Haselwood & Co's. window. Farmers who have seen it pronounce it a great success, and it does actually work.

The annoying thing about sophisticated folk is that they always make us ashamed of our inferiority when we enjoy anything.

The senate is said to be getting ready to prepare for a vote on the tariff.

PROMINENT CENTER MAN DIES SUDDENLY AT HOME

Center, Texas, Aug. 17.—John B. Burns, one of the most prominent citizens of Shelby County, died here at 5 p. m. Wednesday.

Mr. Burns was born in Panola County in 1877. He served two terms as sheriff of Shelby County and was elected county judge in 1920, from which position he resigned to make the race for congress from the Second congressional district at the last primary, and secured a place in the run-off campaign.

He is survived by his widow, who, before her marriage, was Miss Hazel Dies, daughter of the late Congressman Martin Dies, and by two sons, Barkley and Harry, and one daughter, Miss Minta Burns.

The funeral will be held Thursday at the First Baptist Church.

Burns was one of the most popular citizens of this section of Texas and his death, which came suddenly, was a severe shock to his many friends.

LUFKIN GROWERS LOSE

From the Jacksonville Progress.

From an Article written by W. C. Hall and published in the Lufkin News, we note that the tomato growers around Lufkin lost heavily in their venture this year, and have been unable to settle with the banks for loans made to finance the crop. An appeal is made to them to stay in the game another year, in the hope that they may meet with better luck.

Tomato growing is a hazardous business, as thousands of people in this section will testify. There are losses as well as gains almost every year, and if statistics were available they would show that the growers at new shipping points often lose out the first year and abandon the tomato crop to something less uncertain. If it were not so, practically all of East Texas would be in the business, and there would be no hope for profit to anyone. Jacksonville growers have in the main succeeded. But they have had to pay dearly for their tomato growing education, and even with all of the knowledge they have been able to obtain are still not immune from occasional losses.

LETTER FROM MR. MALONE

Carthage, Texas, Aug. 21, 1922.
Editor Sentinel:

Dear Mr. Editor—Your issue of 18th contains account of "Assault Upon One-Armed Preacher." I am the victim. You may recall I was years ago pastor of Melrose and Trinity churches in that county; and that Mrs. Malone (Miss Gilliespie) taught two years in the city of Nacogdoches. For all the years of my ministry I have spoken out without mincing words against the liquor traffic, gambling and kindred evils and have made speeches in many Texas counties in local option and state campaigns to help banish saloons. Now we are cursed with bootleggers and their hellish traffic. Also with a mud-slinging political campaign, and as a citizen I have dared to speak the truth when I knew "the baser sort" would breathe out their anathemas. Anyhow the atmosphere is red-hot under these August skies and I bursted a bomb under the shinny crowd, including some "speak-easy" church members, who buy and drink the concentrated lye dope. The murderous bullies tanked up on "personal liberty," armed themselves and proceeded to cut up and finally to beat me up. But, thank God, I am alive, though in no very good humor. My conscience is clear. If any man knows anything against my good name, "let him write it on the heavens." I grew up at Corsicana; lost my right arm when 11 1/2 years old; my mother was a widow with seven children, but she put me through Corsicana High School and Baylor University. I held meetings in Nacogdoches county in the summer of 1901 with Rev. S. F. Bacon, and in 1905 became pastor at Trinity and Melrose. Am glad I have a host of friends all about Nacogdoches and they have no occasion to blush when they refer to me.

Thank you, Mr. Editor.
Leland Malone.

A surprise wedding was solemnized in Houston Saturday evening when Miss Maud Linthicum, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Linthicum of this city, was joined in wedlock to Mr. Paul W. Hughes of San Antonio. The Sentinel was unable to procure particulars, further than the bride left here on the noon train Saturday and the ceremony immediately after her arrival in Houston.

Master Matthew P'Pool has returned from a two-months' visit with relatives at different points in Mississippi. Monday night his parents gave a party in honor of his 16th birthday, and a number of his young boy friends were present and helped with the fun. They had a great time.

Are You a Democrat? Do You Believe in Democracy? We believe you are. We believe you If so, vote for WILLIAM B. BATES For Re-Election for District Attorney

Mr. Bates has one of the best records as District Attorney, a man worthy and well qualified for the office possessing an unequalled character and unflinching moral courage.

Bates is a Nacogdoches county boy, born and reared and received early education in our public schools. Graduated from the Law Department of the University of Texas with honors, being the leader of his class practiced law a short while before entering the services of his country—which service extended over a period of twenty-seven months—the portion being over seas for you.

We challenge you to check into his past records as a boy, a soldier, a lawyer, a soldier at the front for you, as your District Attorney for term of 1921 and 1922. Show us one thing that renders him unworthy incapable.

He has more convictions to his credit as District Attorney than other officers in a like period.

Bates is a young married man, who unselfishly sacrificed the TWO YEARS of his law experience—while conditions were good to an the call of his country as a volunteer in the U. S. Army for you. THINK ONE MINUTE—

A young man standing as Bates is—with nothing short of success in his every move in the past—proven to be a REAL MAN, giving his all to the advancement, not of Bates, but the principles and ideals of you as an American citizen, his further success is in your hands. Would you be guilty of not supporting him for a second term—which alone is your duty as a democrat—not taking into consideration his life of MAN TO MAN SERVICE for you? NO—YOU CANNOT AS A DEMOCRAT

Bates went "Over the Top" as a soldier for you. (See his wounds of bayonet and shrapnel.)

Bates is gradually going "Over the Top" as District Attorney. (See his record for this term.)

BATES DID ALL THIS FOR YOU—ARE YOU GOING TO BE LOYAL TO HIM NEXT SATURDAY, AUGUST 26th?

RAILROADS ANNOUNCE STATE FAIR RATES

Fare and a Fifth for Round Trip to Dallas, Oct. 6-15.

SAVINGS ON ADMISSIONS TO STATE FAIR ALSO

Announcement of a round trip rate of a fare and a fifth, from all points in Texas, to Dallas, for the State Fair of Texas, Oct. 6-15, has been made individually by all railroads in Texas. Similar announcement of materially reduced rates has also been made by the Texas Electric Railway Company, operating interurban lines into Dallas.

The reduced rates will be effective Oct. 5, and will continue good until Oct. 16 inclusive. Tickets will be on sale at all stations in Texas on Oct. 5, and will be good for return leaving Dallas as late as midnight of Oct. 16.

This is the most attractive rate it has been possible for the carriers to grant in several years, and it is expected that travel to Dallas and attendance upon the 1922 State Fair, will be greatly increased as a result.

STATE FAIR POULTRY HEAD EXPECTS FINE SHOW

Walter Burton, superintendent of the poultry department, State Fair of Texas, left for Knoxville, Tenn., Aug. 1, to attend the national poultry meeting. Mr. Burton will tell the poultry fanciers gathered from all over the country, about the State Fair show. He expects a larger number of exhibits at the Dallas show than ever before, and a larger attendance generally. Entries for the State Fair poultry show close on Sept. 25.

MANY MOTORISTS WILL GO TO STATE FAIR IN CARS

Motorists who plan to make the trip to the State Fair at Dallas, Oct. 6-15 in their automobiles will find arrangements up to date in case they desire to use the Tourists' Camp, recently opened on the Wheatland road. Chamber of Commerce directors recently visited the camp, it is declared, and found arrangements excellent. Advice is that those who may desire particulars as to facilities at the camp, may apply to the Dallas Automobile Club, care Chamber of Commerce.

THE EXPERIMENT STATION

College Station, Texas, Aug. 22. Renewed appreciation of the service rendered the state by the experiment station division of the A. M. College and a more vivid realization of the justification of the requests for increased appropriations extend the work of the stations expressed by Dr. W. B. Bizzell, president of the A. & M. College of Texas, on his return to the college after a tour of inspection of the station at Amelia and Nacogdoches in company with Dr. B. Youngblood, director of the research division.

President Bizzell said he found Amelia station, which is essentially a rice experiment farm, greatly handicapped on account of inadequate funds. "I found Superintendent A. I. Prince making the best possible use of the opportunities," President Bizzell said. "We conferred with a number of representative rice growers, millers and business men of the large rice growing section in which the station is located and we found them all very enthusiastic in their interest in the station. There is no doubt but that the station has a great work to perform for the rice industry. We found the people of that section realize the value of the station. They promised every possible co-operation in increasing its usefulness and service."

President Bizzell said his visit to Nacogdoches brought a revelation. "Superintendent G. T. McNeas knows the problems in that section of the state," he said, "and is adapting the work of the Nacogdoches station to the immediate agricultural needs of that area of Texas. The projects underway at the present time, the efficient manner in which the records are kept and the plot work maintained were very pleasing to me.

No intelligent citizen can visit one of these stations and study the projects on them without realizing their potential value to the agricultural interests of their immediate sections.

"I am convinced that the appropriations requested for these stations are absolutely necessary to conduct the work properly."

Dr. A. E. Sweatland of Lufkin, who has more friends in Nacogdoches than almost any man we know of, was in the city Wednesday and received the heartiest kind of greetings from everybody. The only mistake we ever knew the doctor to make was in locating in Lufkin when he might have stayed in Nacogdoches. Shows how even the best of men go wrong sometimes.

People who read sub-titles aloud may be trying to demonstrate that they are not as ignorant as they look.

The danger is that when the missing link is discovered he will prove a little superior to some of those we now call men.

"See—would you look at that Barney beating it home with one big package of Kellogg's Corn Flakes! Notice, Bill, that Barney is grainier on Kellogg's and we better get him on our team, all right! Gee, maybe he will finish some speedy. But he is a record-smashin' boy—eh?"

Kellogg's Corn Flakes are wonderful with the fresh fruits now in season; and, as an extra-dessert treat, serve Kellogg's with fresh fruit and plenty of cream!

A party of Nacogdochesans visiting in Lufkin Wednesday made the mistake of remaining until nightfall and then were compelled to hurry away on account of the fear of being crippled on the unlighted streets of the boastful village. CALOMEL USES
TAKE AWFUL RISK

Very Next Dose of Treacherous Drug may Start Terrible Salivation

The next dose of calomel you take may salivate you. It may shock your liver or start bone necrosis. Calomel is dangerous; it is mercury, quicksilver. It crashes into sour bile like dynamite, cramping and sickening you. Calomel attacks the bones and should never be put into your system.

If you feel bilious, headachy, constipated, and all knocked out, just go to your druggist and get a bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone for a few cents which is a harmless vegetable substitute for dangerous calomel. Take a spoonful and if it doesn't start your liver and straighten you up better and quicker than nasty calomel and without making you sick, you just go back and get your money.

Don't take calomel! It can not be trusted any more than a leopard or a wildcat. Take Dodson's Liver Tone which straightens you right up and makes you feel fine. No salts necessary. Give it to the children because it is perfectly harmless and can not salivate.

THE QUEEN'S IMPROVEMENTS.

The Sentinel man had heard about the improvements recently made in the equipment of the Queen Theatre, and Wednesday, during the matinee hour, he dropped in to see how it worked. It was found that the old-fashioned hand-crank operating the projecting machines had been discarded and the latest in motor-driven power substituted therefor. This gives a steadier ray and enables the operator to produce a better picture, as was evidenced by the screen work depicted during the reporter's visit. "Speedy" Taylor, the machine man, who presides efficiently over the two projectors, both motor-driven, is delighted with the change, and his gratification is shared by the audiences which greet every performance. By the way, the Queen has introduced a new feature in picture shows in this community, a continuous performance being presented from 2 o'clock in the afternoon until 11 at night. A person may drop in at any hour during that time and witness a complete show. This plan is meeting with general approval, as is witnessed by the attendance. The house is ice-cooled and comfortable, and it is a pleasure to be there, even on the warmest days or nights. Good for the Queen.

Misses Dorothy and Elise Washburn returned Tuesday night from a visit in Dallas, where Miss Dorothy took part in the wedding of a friend, acting as bridesmaid.

A COMMUNITY COST SYSTEM

No business enterprise is safely run without an accurate system of accounting. The larger the business the more important such a system is.

The community's total business is, of course, the biggest business in the community; it embraces all the business of the citizens.

We are learning that the community's business is one, that all of the separate business enterprises of the citizens hang together, that none can prosper independently of what the community as a whole is and thinks and does. Ordinarily prosperity is shared by all or it is shared by none.

Yet few communities treat their business as one. Nobody knows it as a whole. No accurate accounting is kept. Nobody knows, except in a general way, whether available resources are being developed, whether available labor is being employed to the best effect, whether each and every group or element in the population is getting a square deal in the total community program.

An accounting committee, or a commercial club, or a chamber of commerce, can render a community no better service than by making out a community cost system, so that all may know whether the community as a whole is running at a profit or a loss.

Is it not time we had such a reckoning for our community? Is it not perfectly feasible to make the move?
