A BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY
SANCTIFIED ESTEEM: Let nothing be done through strife or vainglory; but in lowliness of mind let each esteem other better than themselves.—Philippians 2: 3.

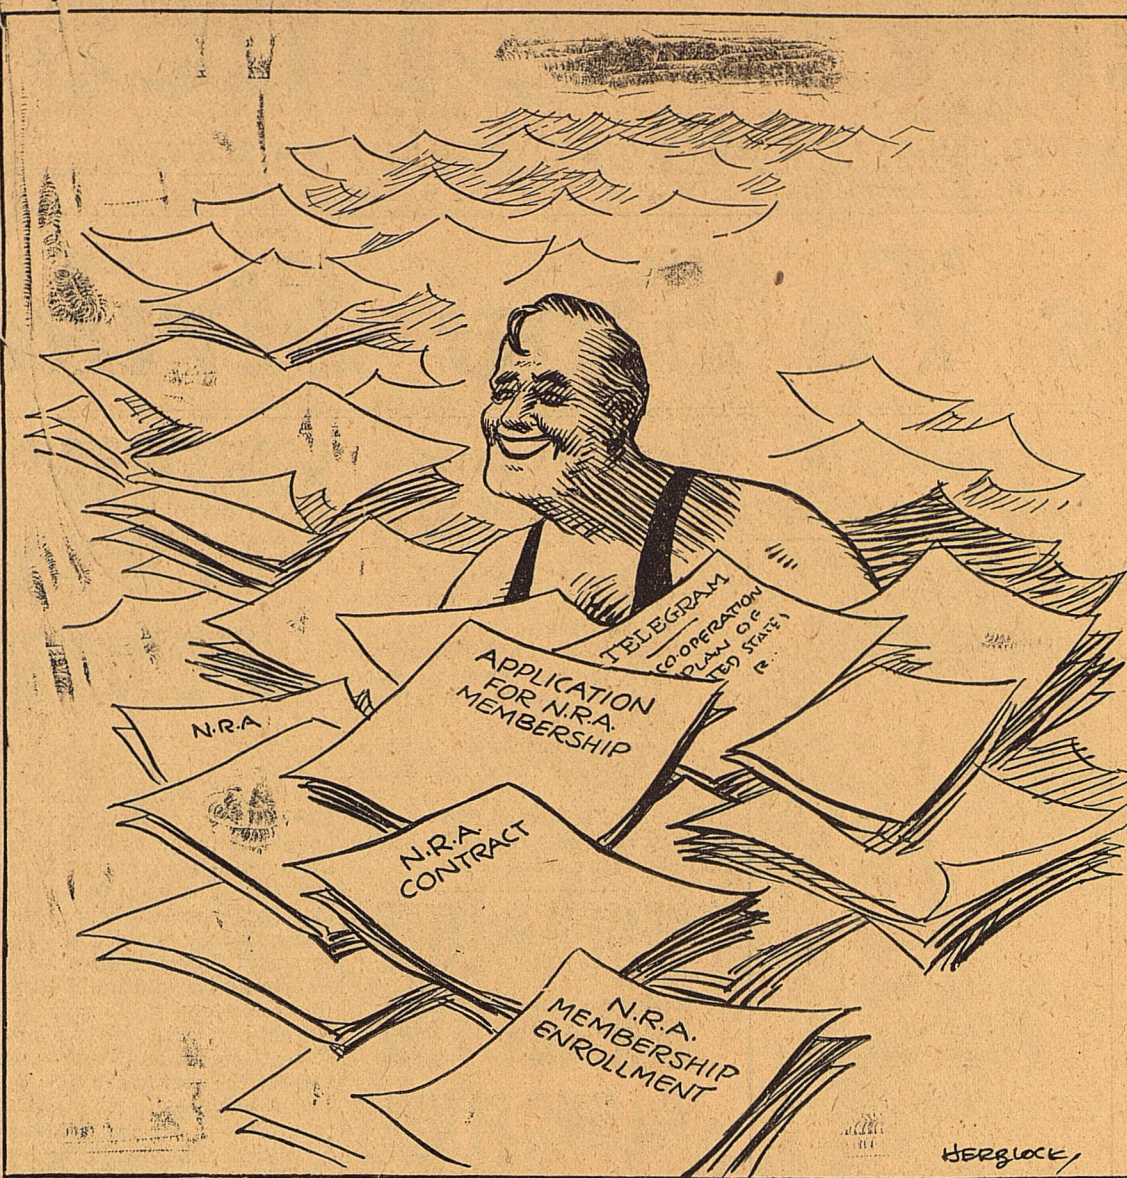

A FEDERAL CAMPAIGN AGAINST RACKETEERS
Atty. Gen. Homer Cummings is preparing to launch his campaign against racketeers. He promises to go all the way. He has named Joseph B. Keenan of Cleveland, Ohio, as assistant attorney general to direct the justice department movement against the controllers of rackets, high and low. Joseph B. Keenan is a gallant soldier. He is prominent in the ranks of the American Legionnaires. He is said to be an able lawyer. He handled the Cleveland racketeers and the justice he meted out is said to have made a record for the man as a prosecutor of thievery and champion of civic and financial righteousness. He was not a swivel chair soldier. He participated in many of the fierce engagements overseas, was decorated for valorous deeds and publicly complimented by Gen. John J. Pershing for his soldierly qualities. All of which is a reminder that the attorney general has announced that justice department efforts to break up gangs and end racketeering "might lack spectacular action but steady pressure would be applied." There are racketeers everywhere under the sun. Many important personages in American life do business on the fringe of racketeering. The should be smashed. Bandit outlawry in the Southwest should be smashed. Organized criminals are in the head-lines and the pictures everyday in the Southwestern country. They are not products of the underworlds of the great American cities. A majority are to the manner born and they hail from the rural districts of five Southwestern states.

RELIEF WORKERS' WAGE 30 CENTS PER HOUR
Federal Relief Administrator Harry L. Hopkins has made an important announcement:
Orders fixing wages for persons engaged on relief projects at 30 cents an hour minimum and limiting their hours of work have been transmitted to the state relief directors.
This order will be effective Aug. 1 and provides "that no person receiving work relief shall be permitted to work more than 40 hours a week, and if the person has an income shall be allowed to work only enough to reach his budget requirements." Thousands of persons in certain sections who have been carried through the winter and spring months by federal and local relief aid are going to the cotton patches of the commonwealth.
"Thus well. A fair wage is better than a dole. Mussolini had the correct plan. All able-bodied persons should be provided with work, if possible, in order that they earn their bread "in the sweat of the face." Government is not a charitable institution, but those who need relief and are idle through no fault of their own should be carried by the relief agencies until prosperity comes again to provide jobs for all those who are out of employment.

DID YOU EVER STOP TO THINK
By EDSON R. WAITE, Shawnee, Oklahoma

E. P. CHASE, editor and publisher of the Atlantic (Iowa) Daily News-Telegraph, says:
"The recovery program set in motion by the Roosevelt administration provides in many respects for a departure from some of our time honored principles and is regarded in some quarters with considerable alarm because of its tendency towards socialism and the fear that under its application we may wander so far afield in untried paths that our fundamentals will be impaired. We doubt there is any real cause for such alarm.
"The present program, the result of legislation passed by the last congress, is an emergency program, intended to meet unusual conditions. It is the only program which has been evolved by anyone. During the entire period of our commercial and industrial organization have not brought forth any suggestions for a workable cure for our ills. It must be patent to anyone who studies the situation that what has been needed all along and what is needed now is action. It has been plain that inaction would get us nowhere. This being true, it is justification enough for the doing of some things in a governmental way which may not jibe with our preconceived ideas. The main object is to get results and if the present program will produce those results, which it seems to be doing, we can well afford to take whatever chance is involved by following off after strange gods.
"We do not think there is any serious danger that we will desert the fundamental principles of our government because of these emergency measures. If we are not strongly enough entrenched to avoid such a contingency then it would be logical to presume that our fundamentals would go by the board. But such is not the case. We shall emerge from our economic stress with our constitutional rights and checks and balances unimpaired. What we are interested in just now is that we do emerge."

MR. ROOSEVELT GOES SWIMMING

DERRICK SHADOWS
By V. MARIE STEPHENS

Some years ago before the electrical advent of beer and kidnapers and NRA, there was a lot of talk about the freedom of America . . . and a few hints at decency.
In fact, we were just crammed full of good old Puritan ideas, dripping with righteousness, and bubbling with personal modesty.
That was America some years ago . . . accused of moral practices and enduring the accusation as best she could.

But out of the haze of a condition someone has justly termed "depression," we were exposed to, and are speedily showing symptoms of A Century of Progress.

Namely, a world's fair.
An exposition . . .
A grand finale to a panic.

That's where we go to see what we've been doing with and to our world for the past 100 years.
The other day the Mayor of the home of the fair snapped out of his big-town daze and discovered "goings on" in the hamlet.

Besides, what's the good of veils in a dim corner . . . it's the dancers what need 'em.
So said Mr. Mayor, and the producers rubbed their itching palms together and suavely promised to clad the dancing feet and their accompanying bodies.

Friday a certain barker declared "America cannot be shocked."
Furthermore, said he, "That's what she wants . . . the ladies like it, and the men . . . right over like you, ladies and gentlemen, only 25c . . . the greatest show on the face of the earth . . ."

And the racket goes on. They don't allow children. Not that it would matter. You can't shock an infant . . . they're here to learn things.

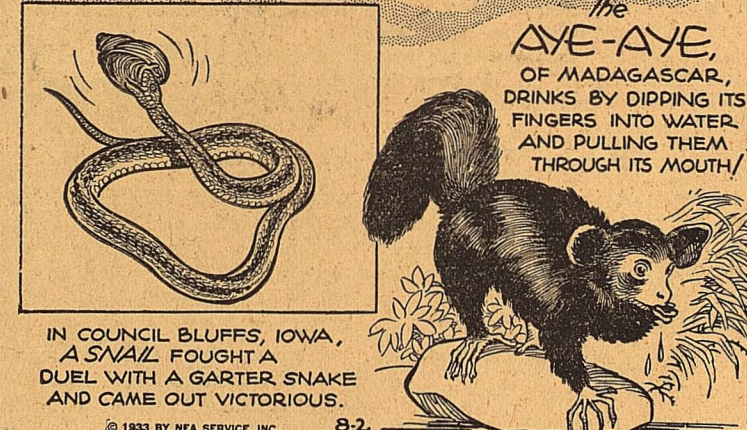

That's what the world is chatting over today. We've forgotten all about the kidnapers and prohibition and economical problems.

We're turning widened eyes to the detour signs between here and Chicago . . . and looking for thrills.

There's nothing wrong with the writer . . . no sudden swerving toward strong moral tendencies.
Just wondering what Americans would do without light comedy, week-end yachts and carnival veils.

THIS CURIOUS WORLD

A KNOT, AS USED IN NAUTICAL TERMS, IS A SPEED OF APPROXIMATELY 6,080 FEET PER HOUR, OR ONE NAUTICAL MILE PER HOUR, AND IS NOT A DISTANCE, AS MANY PEOPLE BELIEVE.

IN COUNCIL BLUFFS, IOWA, A SNAKE FOUGHT A DUEL WITH A GARTER SNAKE AND CAME OUT VICTORIOUS.

BECAUSE OF THE fact that the earth is not a perfect sphere, the nautical mile varies at different parts of the globe . . . one nautical mile being equal to one minute of latitude. The U. S. nautical mile is 6080.27 feet. The British nautical mile is 6080 feet, while in Germany and France a measure of 6076 feet is used.

Home Rule
from the fee system to a salary plan and they may make the peace justices appointive. They can also limit the duties of the district or county attorney to representing the state and enforcing the penal code and put them on a salary basis. They can consolidate or abolish other offices of only county-wide extent, fix the tenure and compensation and otherwise regulate them. The legislature insert a provision that new charters may not affect the pay of members of the legislature.

While officers may be put on a salary plan, the fee system can also be continued. In such cases the fee would go into the county treasurer instead of to the official. The county could fix the fees except that no fee could be set in excess of that fixed by general law for the same service.

Possible transfer of separate city and town government to the central governing body is one of the important features of the amendment. Such a transfer of part or all of the local administrative functions may be authorized in a home rule charter. To do this, the matter must be submitted to the voters as a special issue. In that case the vote within the city or town and the rest of the county is to be counted separately. To carry, the proposal must receive an affirmative vote of two-thirds within the city or town affected and a majority of votes in the rest of the county.

If a city now operating under a home rule charter merges with the county under such an election, the county home rule charter provisions will supersede the city home rule charter.
A section of the amendment is devoted to the complications that may arise regarding city and town boundaries and finances in case the city and county functions are merged. It provides that the bound-

Professor Urges No More Drilling For Crude Oil

AUSTIN.—"Thou shalt not drill a wildcat well, or develop new oil pools," is suggested as an advisable commandment for the oil industry by R. L. Conrod, instructor of economics at the University of Texas, in an article in the current issue of the Southwestern Social Science Quarterly.

From the academic sanctum of a university, Conrod has viewed public regulation of the oil industry, and particularly of the East Texas field, through the social and economic microscopic lenses of the research worker.

After examining the chaos in the oil industry with scientific forceps, Conrod concludes there is considerable doubt as to whether "public regulation of the oil industry as operated to date has conserved a single barrel of oil."

"Conservation as practiced has paid too little attention to the study of the natural laws of physics and chemistry affecting the oil pools as a geologic unit," he wrote.

"Too much attention has been paid to determination of how many barrels of oil shall be produced, where, and by whom, so as to balance supply and demand, at some price, for consideration of supply and demand is meaningless without the third and most important member of the triumvirate, price."
Conrod suggested unit operation of oil pools under the administration of competent petroleum production engineers be substituted for the present conservation set-up.

Such unit control "might remedy most of the defects in present methods and really conserve many hundreds of millions of barrels of oil. It is true that some legal changes in our laws with regard to property rights might be required.

"But the property rights of many individuals have been so flagrantly violated in the name of a conservation that is at least questionable, that it seems possible that the supreme court might sanction the changes that would require unit operation of oil pools and the protection of correlative rights in the common pool."

To Conrod, the chief reason why the East Texas field must be controlled is that there are 1,050 individuals, partnerships and corporations operating one or more leases in the total of 115,000 proven acres and have 5,789 wells. But the other 35,730 acres with 3,911 producing wells have not as yet been brought under the control of the so-called "majors," Conrod found.

"Many of these operators are individualists. They are motivated by the economic virtues of self-interest or greed as were their predecessors. These operators control hundreds of millions of barrels of oil underground which many of them desire to produce as soon as possible, whatever the price may be," he wrote.

"Economic scriptures have stated clearly for over a century and a half 'Free competition giveth and free competition taketh away. Blessed is free competition.'
"It may be that general economic planning is soon to replace competition as the governor of our economic mechanism."

Wiley Post Plans Further Air Exploits

Eager already to realize his dreams of planes travelling at dizzy speed in the "thin air" of high altitudes, Wiley Post pronounces himself completely recovered from the severe strain of his recent solo flight around the world.

Veteran aviation men marvelled at the physical endurance shown by Post in flying alone around the world in seven days, 18 hours and 49 1/2 minutes. Asked about his smoking preferences by an interviewer, Post said:
"I have smoked Camels for a time, so I don't worry about my smoking interfering with healthy nerves."

She came to America in 1840 on a sailing vessel.

Ford Motor Company, Dearborn, Mich.

From a "4" to an "8"

Progress

Henry Ford
Dearborn, Mich.

We did not invent the 8-cylinder car. What we did was to make it possible for the average family to own one.

It is not the number of cylinders that is new to us. We have made motors with every number of cylinders now in use, from 4 to 12—and experimentally up to 24. We early settled on the "4" as most practical for that time, and the "4" became standard all over the world.

When motoring conditions in this country permitted a step forward, we considered what form the engine should take. Convinced that cylinders in multiples of four offered the best results, we decided that our next step must be an "8". All our research and experience favored this rather than any intermediate number of cylinders.

Up to that time the "8" had always been a big engine, a costly motor for the rich. Its price was high. It was expensive to operate. But that was because it was designed for use only in heavy, high-priced cars. It had never been adapted to lighter cars.

Before the "8" could be put within reach of the average purchaser, we had to find a way to build it at low cost.

We have done that. Our Ford V-8 is in the price class of our "4". It is not more expensive to operate. In size and weight our V-8 engine is suitable to our medium-size car. It gives you 80 horsepower—built up from the impulses of eight small cylinders.

The newness of the "8" to the majority of American car drivers is clearly shown by the question, "But isn't it more expensive to run?" Everyone would prefer an "8" but they reason that 2 times 4 is 8; and they think that an "8" must require more fuel than a "4".

This is not the fact. It is not the number of cylinders, but the weight of the car and the efficiency of the engine that determine the quantity of fuel used.

It stands to reason that if we had not mastered Price and Economy we never could have offered the Ford V-8 in the low-price car field. We have to build a car that has everything a car ought to have, and that people can afford to buy.

The V-8 is the coming car for the majority of American drivers. As always, we have done the pioneer work. It will be only a short time until motor manufacturing practice will follow the trail we have blazed.

BRECK WINS FROM RANGER BY 7-6 SCORE

The Ranger All-Stars lost a close game to the Breckenridge All-Stars Friday afternoon at Willows field by a score of 7 to 6 in a game that went through the tenth inning.

A ruling by Umpire Schoolcraft in the last of the tenth, that caused considerable confusion and accounted for two outs, probably kept Ranger from knotting the count for the third time during the game. With Griffin on second and Glazner on first and the count three and two on Taylor, the umpire signaled for a walk and Glazner advanced toward second and Taylor went to first. Apparently the umpire changed his decision on the play and called Taylor out on strikes and the ball was thrown to second and Glazner was tagged for the second out. Dr. Downtain then popped up to the catcher for the third out of the inning.

Breckenridge scored one in the first and again in the fourth to take a two-run lead, but Ranger came back in the fifth with a two-run rally to tie the score. Breckenridge then forged ahead again by making a run in the sixth and one in the seventh, but Ranger matched them with two in the last of the seventh to tie the score again. Breckenridge took another two-run lead in the eighth, which Ranger matched in her half of the same inning and neither side scored until the first of the tenth, when Breckenridge got another tally.

It was then the mixup on the umpire's decision caused confusion: both among the players and spectators and the game ended in a 7 to 6 victory for Breckenridge.

Shapiro, Breckenridge pitcher, fanned 15 of the 39 men who faced him.

Elks Card Has A Good Array For Monday's Fights

One of the best fight cards ever to be presented in Ranger will be put on at the Elks arena tomorrow.

The main wrestling bout will be a return go between King Cole of Ranger and Ug Moore of Denton. These two wrestlers met two weeks ago with Cole getting the decision.

Tex Cuttrel will be matched in a bout with Eddie Brock, which promises to be one that will please the fans. Cuttrel is a native of Ranger, but has been away from the city for several years. He and Brock will box six rounds.

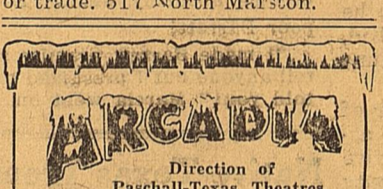

The big fight of the evening will be a six-round battle between "Kid" Lindsey and Bob Clark of Sweetwater. Clark is a newcomer at the Elks arena, but he brings a good reputation as a fighter with him.

Boston has an information booth that answers 5,000 questions a day. Huh! Friend of ours who has a young son says he often answers that many just in an evening.

Extensive plans were made for a group of members to attend the Y. W. A. house party at Luaders next week.
