By United Press
A known death toll of 47 and property damage estimated at $15,000,000 were caused by a hurricane which swept up the Atlantic from the tropics, cut a path across six states, and today had diminished in Canada.

A United Press survey placed the dead:

Virginia 10; New Jersey 8; Pennsylvania 11; Maryland 11; New York 3; District of Columbia 4.

More than a score of small communities, principally along the Maryland and Virginia shores, still were isolated and it was feared the death list would mount.

REVISED CODE FOR STORES IS COMPLETED

By United Press
WASHINGTON, Aug. 25.—A revised code for the nation's retailers, intended to regulate the advertising, competition, wages, and hours of 1,500,000 stores employing 5,000,000 persons, was put into final form by the National Recovery Administration for submission to the president.

Applying to all but food and drug stores, the code was altered at the conclusion of hearings last night.

Deputy Administrator Whitehead termed it the greatest trade agreement ever made. The code sought to prevent cut-throat competition by prohibiting sales of goods at less than net invoice, delivered cost, plus 10 per cent to insure that labor costs shall be at least partially covered.

Negro Sentenced Soon As Released

MARSHALL, Texas—Within 12 hours after he was pardoned from Sugarland prison, where he was serving a five-year murder sentence, Mack Tolliver, 39-year-old negro, was sentenced here to six months imprisonment and fined $100 for carrying a pistol.

With Gov. Miriam A. Ferguson's proclamation for a full pardon still in his pocket Tolliver admitted buying the gun here and told officers he had begun "taking my freedom too fast."

The negro was arrested on a tip from a store manager that Tolliver had purchased the weapon.

State Contract Let To NRA Member

AUSTIN, Aug. 25.—John Wallace, member of the state board of control and head of its purchasing division, announced today that state contracts will go only to those firms which sign NRA codes, without conditions.

Backing up his policy, the board let a contract to H. Yarbrough for remodeling the boys' hospital at the state school for the deaf. Yarbrough's bid was the lowest unconditional bid. One non-signer offered to do the work for a less price, but only conditionally, Wallace said.

Prospects for a college football team are exceedingly bright this year, with the old men we have from last year's team for a nucleus and the new material coming in, Coach Tricky Ward announced today.

Men from last year's team are: Evis Landers, end; Estis Horton, center; Dick Murray, tackle; James Steed, guard; Cecil Townsend, fullback; Gid Faircloth, half-back; Roy Weaver, half-back.

Charlie Black and Moco Love will be valuable additions to the squad.

From Gorman we are expecting three men, Ellison and Gray backfield men and track men; Creager, tackle.

Men from Eastland we have some of the best that club ever had; the three Brown boys, Elmer, Delmer and Roy, all are fast, are basketball and track men as well as football boys. Buzz Daniels, Fulcher, and Lee Taylor will be here, all are three sports men. Daniels will be remembered as the man who set the record in hurdles at the state high school meet last year in Austin.

From Rising Star we get Alfred. Two boys from Strawn and one from Thurber.

Several of the Ranger High school boys who are not eligible for the college team will be eligible for the college team: Corporal Jones, Gloyd Lyons, Squint Williams, John Bray, Paul Bray, and Ray Lee Adkins.

With such men as these we are expecting a strong team in the Central Texas conference of which Ranger is a member.

Other colleges making up the conference are: John Tarleton at Stephenville; N. T. A. C. at Arlington; Decatur Baptist College at Decatur; Weatherford College at Weatherford; Hillsboro Junior College at Hillsboro; T. M. C. at Terrell.

The conference ruling is that no Junior College squad can begin official practice until the opening date of school but this does not prevent the boys from training.

Beach Patrol Is Popular With Police

DENVER, Colo.—One of the most popular night assignments on the Denver police force is that of patrolling the bathing beach at Berkeley park here.

The sudden interest in the park came when Chief of Police Albert E. Clark ordered his policemen to arrest all midnight bathers in the lake—particularly those without bathing suits.

Clark's order followed reports by motorists that they saw four girls alight from a sedan, remove their lounging pajamas, and then splash about in the water.

A big rally and public speaking in favor of repeal, legalization of 3.2 beer and other amendments on which the people are to vote tomorrow, was held on Rusk street Thursday night with Frank Judkins of Eastland, chairman of the county division of the Liberal Legion, as principal speaker.

A good crowd attended the speaking, which was sponsored by the Liberal Legion. Loud speakers were used in order that the crowd could hear the speakers.

The truck shown wrecked at the right became a funeral pyre for four picnickers when it collided with another laden with gun cotton on a highway near Chester, Pa., and burst into flames. Twenty-six others in the truck were injured. Forty explosions followed the crash, igniting the straw on which the picnickers sat. Drums which contained the explosive are shown on the ground.

HEARING ON INJUNCTION IS BEING HEARD

HOUSTON, Aug. 25.—Hearing of an application for an injunction restraining the Texas Railroad Commission from enforcing oil proration was begun today before a three-judge federal court with two East Texas operators as plaintiffs.

Attorneys for the plaintiffs told the court that the East Texas Refining Company obtained an injunction last December restraining the railroad commission from enforcing its proration orders as far as the company was concerned.

A new proration order was enacted April 24 restricting both the refining company and its operators. The latter claimed they were forced to obey the order from December to April and their production fell considerably behind.

BOND LOWERED BEFORE TRIP IS STARTED

Federal Judge Says Kidnaping Law Inadequate Because It Is Too Lenient.

FORT WORTH, Aug. 25.—Federal Judge James C. Wilson today ordered R. G. Shannon, his wife and son removed immediately to Oklahoma City to face trial in the Charles Urschel kidnaping.

They were put in an airplane and started on the trip to Oklahoma City.

Judge Wilson also ordered the $50,000 bond under which the three were held to be reduced. He set the elder Shannon's bond at $15,000, Mrs. Shannon's at $25,000, and the son's at $5,000.

As soon as the judge announced the decision, the three were thrust into an automobile and rushed to the municipal airport, where a Bowen Airlines plane had been kept waiting for the trip.

They were accompanied on the plane by two officers and United States Attorney Herbert Hyde of Oklahoma City.

A last minute effort of the defense attorney to halt their removal was blocked. The attorney asked for time to obtain their release here on the reduced bonds. Special Prosecutor Joseph Keenan, however, ordered their immediate removal.

In ordering the removal of the Wise county farmer, at whose farm, near Paradise, Urschel was held captive, Judge Wilson denounced the new Lindbergh anti-kidnaping law as inadequate, because it failed to make kidnaping a capital offense.

Two Electrocuted In Oklahoma In Confessed Murder

McALESTER, Okla., Aug. 25.—Oklahoma's youngest sacrifice to capital punishment, 18-year-old George Oliver, went to his death in the electric chair early today with a prayer on his lips.

He stepped into the chair and the switch was thrown at 12:07 a. m., and 40 seconds later he was dead.

A moment later his 28-year old uncle, Claude Oliver, also condemned in the same crime—the confessed murder of Claude's 15-year old bride, entered the chamber. He tumbled into the chair, whispered a prayer and 45 seconds later he was carried out dead.

Inflation Is Not Planned By Woodin

HYDE PARK, N. Y., Aug. 25.—Prospects of currency inflation as part of the administration's economy program, faded today when President Roosevelt and Secretary of the Treasury Woodin overhauled the fiscal affairs of the government.

"I am not resigning or inflating," was the word Woodin sent to newspapermen as he prepared to depart from Hyde Park after reviewing not only government credits and maturities but the public works program.

KICKS AT SILK HATS

SEATTLE.—People in silk hats shouldn't be noisy at 5 o'clock in the morning, according to a Seattle lawyer. The people, in this case, are those who frequent the "Silk Hat," a dinner place near a local residential district. The lawyer lives close by and objected to the noise of those departing during the early morning hours.

A BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

SAFEGUARDED: He shall give his angels charge over thee, to keep thee in all thy ways.
 —Psalm 91: 11.

TEST OF TEXAS FORESIGHT

This coming week offers Texas both an opportunity and a test.
 Voters must decide whether their fellow-beings in this state shall go hungry, shall lack medicine in illness and garments to protect them from the winter's cold. They must decide whether Texans shall have that greatest privilege of all, or earning their livelihood, or must be held unwilling helots to live, in helpless insecurity, on charity doled out to them in stingy dribbles—and to live with even this food endangered by lack of means to pay for it.
 The best that can be done now to families who have no income is $8 per month for a family of five. That means the barest possible food on which a family can live. It affords not a cent for medicine, not a cent for clothes, not a cent for fuel.

And Texas cannot assure its jobless, its aged and hungry people even this $1.25-per-person dole after this week, unless its citizens go to the polls and provide a relief and rehabilitation fund with which to do the job.
 That is, if they vote the public works bond issue Saturday, they will provide for feeding the hungry and creating jobs for those who can work. They will gain the right to continue sharing federal money for this relief work.
 Texans know that so long as a dollar remains in the hands of any Texas citizen, or in the cash drawer of any Texas business corporation, people will not be allowed to lie helpless and starve. They know they must, in one way or another, pay the bill of feeding the hungry. They know, or should know, the bond issue will give them a period of 10 to 15 years in which to pay the bill, and a way to spread the cost very thin. They can readily see, that apart from relief of the misery and suffering of this winter, it will be good sound business sense to spread the relief load over a period of years; that it will be sound business judgment to put the relief work on a secure, adequate footing.

LEGAL BEER RULINGS

One phase of the widespread open violation of the state liquor laws was brought out sharply in rulings of Attorney General James V. Allred's department concerning the legal sale of beer.
 That is, any dispensary that "jumps the gun" and begins selling beer before Sept. 15, merely because juries would fail to convict them, are courting the permanent loss of the right to license for the legal sale of beer after that time.
 The ruling pointed out that beer cannot even legally be sold to wholesalers or distributors or dealers before Sept. 15, in preparation over the legal retailing after Sept. 15.
 The state law very clearly sets out that illegal sales of beer on any premises will work to forfeit the right of such a dispensary to license. And apparently it will not take a prosecution or conviction, but only a complaint from an interested competitor, to raise the question of a dealer's right to a license. Further, it appears when the question is raised, the burden of proof will be on the applicant to show that he has not violated the law by selling beer before the legal date arrives.

GUARANTY AGAINST PROPERTY TAX

"Bonds issued hereunder shall never become a charge against the farms, homes or other real property."
 Substantially that language in the constitutional amendment on which Texans will vote next Saturday forms an unqualified guaranty against any property tax levy to meet the bread bonds for relief that the amendment provides for.
 Business people generally have found the bond issue an easier and cheaper way to pay the relief burden than any other that has been proposed. They are supporting the bond issue, even though they are those who will pay it off. It is easier to pay the 1933-34 relief burden over a 10-12 year period than to pay it as we go.
 Principal opposition to the bond issue has come from those who have not had the opportunity to study details of the plan, and those who did not know of the constitutional guaranty against an ad valorem levy to discharge them. Actually, the bond issue represents a type of relief for the farmer and homeowner and property owner, since it carries the definite assurance that so far as this type of relief goes, the cost will be assigned elsewhere.
 Those who have feared the bond issue would pile up more taxes against their farms, ranches or homes should realize, rather than deciding to vote against it, that it means bringing to Texas considerably better than $2 for $1 voted, since it will hold the continued allotment of federal aid. Texas citizens, like those of all the nation, are paying their share of the federal taxes that come back in federal relief grants; and unless they take steps to assure Texas getting its fullest share of federal money, they will be paying federal taxes to support relief work in other states.

PEOPLE'S FORUM

Signed letters to this paper will be carried in this column, but names will be left off where requested.

Eastland, Tex., Aug. 23, 1933. To the Public:

There has been so little said in the daily press concerning the amendment to the State Constitution permitting the legislature to issue not to exceed $20,000,000 in state bonds for the purpose of relieving those without work and with no means of support, it is thought that a few words of explanation by me as county chairman of the County Welfare and Relief committee would be appropriate at this time.

The proposed amendment provides that the state legislature may issue if, as and when needed state bonds never to exceed in amount 20 million dollars, and that the bonds that may be issued are to be paid by taxation from some other source than by an ad valorem tax; that is, the proposed amendment expressly prohibits the levy of a tax on either real estate or personal property for the payment of any bonds issued.

The national government has made large appropriations of money for aiding those out of employment and in actual need of assistance, and heretofore has caused to be disbursed in Texas, many thousands of dollars for such purpose, more than $215,000.00 having been placed at the disposal of the former and present committee on welfare and relief for Eastland county, but the national officials have now let it be known that if the several states do not make some provision for helping their own citizens the national aid will be withheld. So our legislature adopted the bond issue method for the purpose of adding to and assisting the national government in rendering aid to our citizenship.

A committee was set up by the state legislature to serve in the administration of these funds. This committee is designated as the "Texas Rehabilitation and Relief Commission" and is composed of very honorable and honest men from various sections of the state. Lawrence Westbrook of Austin is the state director. The state commission appointed county committees in each of the several counties of the state. Neither the commission nor the county committees receive any compensation for their services, and all expenditures are audited by competent and honest auditors at Austin regularly.

There are approximately 2,600 families, or about 40 per cent of the entire population in Eastland county who are without employment, are denied the citizenship, much misery and distress will result. The situation seems serious, and it is up to the people as to whether further aid will be accorded.

Personally I have always opposed the issuance of state bonds but now for the sake of humanity I intend to support the proposed amendment even if its adoption results in the destruction of all our property. Life and existence, relieving the hunger of little children, deserving men and women in times of distress is far more important than any amount of worldly possessions.

Very truly, EARL CONNER, Chairman, Eastland County Welfare and Relief Committee.

Gorman Couple Married Tuesday

A beautiful and informal wedding was solemnized last Tuesday evening at sunset at the Methodist church, when Miss Zelma Lee Moseley became the wife of Vaughan Lowe Perry.

As the church bell tolled seven bells, Alton Grisham entered with Miss Louise Perry, sister of the groom. With her at the piano, Mr. Grisham sang "I Love You Truly." From the balcony, Mrs. V. V. Cooper, cousin of the bride, merged into "The Bridal Chorus" from Lohengrin. By special request this was played on the old church organ. Mrs. Cooper played softly during the ceremony.

The bridesmaid, Miss Alta Fae Moseley, cousin of the bride, entered, followed by the ring-bearer, little Miss Vivian Cooper, who carried the ring in a white lily. The groom attended by his life-long friend, Verle Rodgers, approached the altar, meeting there the bride, who entered unattended. Rev. C. The bride is the daughter of O. Following the ceremony, relatives and close friends went to the home of the bride. The wedding cake was cut by the bride. Misses Helen Dawley and Dolores Brandon, assisted by others, presided at the punch bowl, while Miss Edith Moseley, sister of the bride was in charge of the bride's book. This was a unique wedding bell, sketched with a miniature bride and groom, emerging from the petals of a flower.

The bride and groom left immediately for a short wedding trip. The bride traveled in beige triple sheer suit, with blue accessories. They will be at home at Indian Gap, where the groom has business interests.

Professor Waits For Frenchman's Death

AUSTIN.—Dr. R. H. Griffith, professor of English at the University of Texas, is waiting patiently for a French book collector to die. "I hope to outlive him," said the Texas professor. The reason is that the Frenchman beat him to a prized copy of the letters and poems of Wycherly, published by Alexander Pope in 1729. Griffith wants it to add to his collection of 5,000 rare books connected with Pope. The French collector refuses to part with the Wycherly volume during his life.

Sunday School Lesson

PICTURES OF SILVER By BEULAH K. HICKS I Sam. 15:13-26 "And Samuel came to Saul." Saul, the young king, greatest in physique and attractive appearance in the whole land of the Israelites could not look steadfastly into the eyes of Samuel, now old, a true prophet of God. Samuel listened intently and Saul put on a pious look as he uttered the half truth that did not deceive this man of God. "What meaneth then this bleating of the sheep in mine ears, and the lowing of the oxen which I hear?" This was the direct question with which Samuel caused Saul to reveal his soul as more carnal than spiritual. His pious words of explanation fell to the ground, that he himself had spared the king but that the "people had spared the best of the sheep and of the oxen, to sacrifice unto the Lord thy God." Saul knew that God had bidden him destroy everything of the Amalekites but he seems to regard his power as king sufficient authority to disregard God's orders. Samuel explains Saul's sin to him and also that "because thou hast rejected the word of the Lord, he hath also rejected thee from being king." Samuel's spiritual perception was measured still further when, knowing Samuel's power as a prophet, begged his pardon instead of God's and was anxious to be reinstated in Samuel's favor. The life of Saul makes an absorbing story. His struggles in his own strength after God had re-

COUNTY-WIDE SCHOOL NEWS By B. E. McGLAMERY

In classifying the rural schools of the county this year the county school board was governed by Section 9 of the new rural aid law, which reads as follows: "All state aid schools of the unaffiliated class shall provide a term of approximately eight months. These schools shall be so classified by the county board as to provide as nearly as possible eight months' term out of state, county and local funds. Should there not be sufficient funds to maintain the schools as herein stated, then state aid may be granted, subject to other provisions of this act; provided that road conditions would prevent the transportation to the nearest accredited high school. It is the intention of the county school board to help to maintain an eight months term in all the rural schools of the county where it is at all possible to do so. For that reason the budgets are prepared for an expenditure which covers an eight months period. With a reasonable collection of local maintenance taxes for this year we feel sure that a majority of the rural schools will be able to maintain more than seven months of school for the coming school year. The fact that the state is offering to pay so large a part of high school tuition, together with $2.00 per month for transportation will enable a large number of the high school pupils of the rural districts to attend the affiliated high schools in the county. To date more than 300 high school transfers have been made. Some schools have asked to have all their high school students transferred to the better high school. Crocker District No. 26 will send all the high school grades to Pioneer. Grades 9, 10 and 11 from Cook District No. 47 will also go to Pioneer. Tudor District No. 7 sends all their pupils to Strawn, and Sandy No. 14 sends all to Cisco. These districts will have transportation furnished for all children. In order that all expecting to have eight months' term of school may have time to complete their terms it will be necessary for them to begin school not later than Monday, Oct. 9. For the LOVE of EVE by Lucy Walling

BEGIN HERE TODAY
 EVE HAYLES, pretty assistant to EARLE BARNES, advertising manager of Bixby's department store, marries DICK RADER, construction superintendent. He wants her to give up her job but she refuses. Eve does not want her employers to know she is married so they keep the marriage secret several months. At Christmas they announce it. They spend a brief vacation at the home of Eve's parents.

Back at the office MARYA VLAD, a ballet artist, and ARLENE SMITH, stenographer, greet Eve excitedly. Eve knows that MONA ALLEN, the new copy writer, dislikes her and is trying to cause trouble for her. Eve and Dick have several friends to a New Year's Eve party at their apartment. Arlene hopes to make an impression on GEORGE BLISS but Mona vamps him.

Eve buys several expensive antiques, spending money Dick has given her to pay the rent. They quarrel.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY
CHAPTER XVII

ABOUT the middle of January Eve received a letter from Irene Prentiss in New York. One paragraph of that letter was destined to change the trend of events for Eve and Dick Rader.

"Since you have decided to become a business woman," Irene wrote, "don't you think you should get more for your money than the purchase of a few household gadgets you would ultimately buy, anyhow? Why don't you invest your earnings in some of the stocks that are so good now? You can build up a nice little fortune for yourself and be independent of your husband. There is no work at all in letting your money work for you, you know. And think of all the things you could do with some extra cash. How about a trip to Europe, for instance? I want to go but I certainly don't intend to spend my hard earned salary checks on the trip. I've done pretty well during the last two years, buying low and selling high. I expect to do even better this year. Really I wish you would get in on some of the following which have been making excellent showings—"

Here Irene listed several stocks, the mere names of which were exciting to Eve.

She put the letter in her purse and turned her attention back to the layout on her desk. Bixby's had secured the stock of an oriental rug dealer who was retiring from business and leaving the city. The advertising office was draped with gorgeous Persian rugs and Marya was aglow with eagerness as she worked at her drawing board.

Eve smiled as she fastened the sheets of copy together with a clip. She always felt a sense of pride when Barnes entrusted the preparation of a full page advertisement to her. Today she was more than usually pleased. Oriental rugs heretofore had been something to write about. Now, after reading Irene's letter, they had become a definite reality. Some day she, too, might own such lovely rugs.

THAT evening she scanned the financial pages of the newspapers and compared Irene's list with the day's ratings. Each stock showed a gain. Yes, Irene was right! It was a simple matter to make money.

But how, Eve wondered, did one go about it? She had not the slightest notion how to buy stocks and decided to ask Dick. He would not suspect that she intended to speculate.

"Dick, dear," she began, "I've heard people talking so much about buying and selling stocks. Where do they do it? I mean here in Lake City?"

"Some of them buy through their bankers," he told her, "and some buy through stock brokers like Sloan & Sanford."

That was enough for Eve. The next day she hurried through her luncheon and crossed the square to the gray limestone building which housed the Sloan & Sanford company. She scorned the elevator and walked up the marble stairs to the second floor. Easy access was one of the features of the brokers' board. The outer door opened and closed with rapidity and a stream of people seemed to be passing through. Feeling a little nervous, Eve entered, hoping no one would notice her. She was at a loss what to do next.

She had a vivid impression of stock exchange scenes during the exciting moments and expected to hear men shouting while others scurried about, all more or less wild-eyed in their feverish anxiety as the ticker clicked off the figures sending their fortunes soaring.

Instead Eve saw a line of men, mostly middle-aged or elderly, seated in class room chairs with right arm desks. They were quietly and intently watching the board. Here and there a young lad dashed back and forth, chalking figures. The chief sound was the staccato of the ticker as it spit forth a constant stream of paper tape.

Eve stood, confused, until a boy approached her. "Anything I can do for you?" he questioned.

"Why—uh—is Mr. Sanford in?" Eve stammered, to her own surprise. She had known some Sanfords at school and the name had a pleasant association.

"I'm sorry. Mr. Sanford is out at lunch," the boy replied. "Will some one else do?"

"No, thanks. I'll be back later," Eve answered, relieved, and hurried out. She had not planned what to say to Mr. Sanford.

Dick had told her that some people bought stocks through their banks. Perhaps that would be simpler. Her lunch period was over and Eve could not escape from the office until evening. Then it would be too late to go to the bank. She would have to wait until tomorrow.

BUT the next noon there was a pouring rain and Eve had so much unfinished work on her desk that she took time only to slip down stairs for a sandwich and a chocolate malted milk. Thus it was several days later before she felt she could spare time during her lunch hour for a conference with a banker. In the meantime she had received another pay envelope and a large percentage of its contents had been deducted, according to an arrangement with Bixby's, for apparel charged to her account.

Eve's personal finances were in a low state, yet she optimistically looked forward to making a fortune.

All bankers are not white haired, old gentlemen. When Eve found herself ushered into the office of Mr. Brown, the manager of the stock and bond department of the City Bank, her assurance left her immediately as a pair of piercing dark eyes seemed to bore through her mask of nonchalance.

He motioned her to a chair and then asked how he might help her.

Eve decided it would be best to be frank and let this banker know she was a beginner who knew relatively nothing about playing the stock market.

Mr. Brown patiently explained the methods of buying and selling, both through buying outright or on margin. Margining appealed to Eve, inasmuch as there would be a quick turnover for a relatively small investment. Mr. Brown explained the hazards of the latter method but Eve characteristically refused to consider that side of the picture.

SHE produced the list of stocks which Irene had recommended. Some of them Mr. Brown approved.

"But why go into this?" he said scornfully, pointing to one. "Can't you see that its returns would be seasonal? In the winter you would get good dividends, but the summer slump would more than offset that profit."

"And this!" he objected. "It is buying like yourself who know nothing about trading who pay boosted such stocks so inflated prices. Insistent buying forces the stock far beyond actual value, prompted by earnings."

Eve's face flushed. Still she was convinced that Mr. Brown was giving her good advice.

"How large a sum were you thinking of investing, Mrs. Rader?" he asked. "Perhaps I could suggest a method of distribution."

"Why—why—" Eve fumbled for words. "I haven't quite decided. But thank you so much for your advice!" she plunged on. "I'll stop in some time next week."

Once more Eve was glad to be out in the winter sunshine. Three persons she knew passed but Eve did not see them. She was late getting back to the office and knew Barnes would be sarcastic about it. It made no difference to him that she had cut short her lunch period on other days. She would get that money somehow without letting Dick know and then she would margin.

Already her vision of a future in the field of advertising had dimmed before the excitement of this newer venture into the world of finance.

Last night wasn't hot August.
But up where 1933 has built a playground for the world to forget her various troubles and gaze on what we've been doing for 100 years,
Up where man has ceased to weep "depression," but goes tramping about among progress and barkers and electricity...
Up where man put aside such trivial nothings as unclad dancers and ice cream cones and worn shoes,
And yelled,

It's great to feel fit!

Everybody has days when every waking hour is packed with zest of living. Why not make every day like this?
A frequent drawback to fitness is constipation. It may dull your energy, steal your appetite, lower your vitality. Yet it is so easy to overcome.
Try eating Kellogg's ALL-BRAN. Science shows this delicious cereal supplies "bulk" to exercise the intestines, and vitamin B to promote appetite, and tone the intestinal tract.
The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like that of lettuce. How much safer than taking patent medicines—so often harmful.
Two tablespoonfuls daily will correct most types of constipation. If not relieved this way, see your doctor.
ALL-BRAN has iron for the blood. At all grocers. In the red-and-green package. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

HELPS KEEP YOU FIT

And howled,
And waved his arms,
In the purple and white versus the red battle... the initial pig-skin fight of the season...
Oh east is east and west is the other direction, but our modern progress has defied even Kipling's wise proverbs...
And the twain has met. The score, gentle scanner, is 13-7... and the east is getting cricks from patting herself on the back.
That's what happens when a bunch of globe-trotting Americans dash off to a little carnival built on a lake.
As far as they're concerned, there just ain't no home ties, and August is as good a time to hit the guy in front over the head as any.

Besides, we like football...
Need football...
Crave football...
To teach us some more about taking the bumps of life. Seems like we've about forgotten all the signals, and most of us are running toward the other fellow's goal-post.
Maybe the fair knew it. Maybe her executives happened to think all of us westerners could see a bit of electricity and furniture and automobiles around home...

What we needed was a tough battle between tough athletes to help loosen up tough drowsiness after a tough summer.
Anyhow, since half the world is minus fingernails today after the big fight... at least.
Last night wasn't hot August.

Police House Dog Befriends Kittens

By United Press
NEW ORLEANS, La.—When "Boots," per dog of the fifth precinct police station, saw "Betty," a tiny kitten, on the Slysian Fields avenue playground, the dog's first impulse was to chase it.
It chased, but kitty didn't run. Then Boots calmly picked up the kitten and took it to a comfortable office at the station. Since then, the two have been living together on the best of terms.

On An Unusual Trip
Choyce Brock, son of Howard F. Brock, is on a novel trip as a member of a group of 21 men from Athens, Texas, conducted by Mr. Nelson of that city, who is teacher of vocational agriculture in Athens high school.
These men are called "The Future Farmers of America."
The group left on the 17th, will make a bus trip of 3,500 miles or more, and will return Sept. 4.
The bus will visit Toronto, Canada, Buffalo, Washington, D. C., Detroit, where they will be shown the making of tires for cars.
Young Brock is the publicity manager for the trip. He gave an interesting talk over the radio at Hot Springs, Ark., a couple of days ago.
The men are attracting considerable attention, being all dressed in uniform khaki suits, that have a military air, and their big bus carries pennants.

New York writer has discovered that 10-cent speakeasies flourish in Greenwich Village. Does that explain the origin of the famous song, "Brother, Can You Spare a Dime?"

Bicycle Race to Be Staged Soon

Addie Williams, proprietor of the Variety Store & Fixit Shop, announces today that all is ready for the big bicycle race that he is sponsoring in Ranger sometime around the first of September. Mr. Williams is conducting a bicycle academy on Austin and Elm streets.
Addie also repairs guns and gives notice to the hunters that September 1st is the day that the dove season opens. Read his announcements elsewhere in this issue of the Times.

Dance a Lovely Affair
The roof garden dance of the Connelley hotel, Wednesday night, was a most delightful affair, with an immense attendance from near-by towns, including, in addition, Tulsa, Houston, Amarillo, and a large number from Ranger and Cisco. The handsome ballroom was artistically lighted in red and green, alternating with amber.
Big stands of flowers here and there gave an artistic touch to this, the initial dance of the Connelley.
Only big orchestras will be engaged for these, and a schedule of coming engagements will be announced later.
Music by the Frankie Matthews 12-piece orchestra, proved all that these Chicago radio artists have been giving.
Eastland guests were Misses

Mmes. Lanier and Ford Heard At Interesting Club Program

Mrs. O. G. Lanier had charge of the program Wednesday afternoon when members of Child Study Association No. 1 met at the home of Mrs. J. S. Reynolds, president of City Council of Parent-Teacher and Child Study Associations, successor to Mrs. C. E. Maddock, who served in that office last year.

The entire program subject was formed from "Effect of Movies Upon Children." Mrs. Lanier, in her expressive and interesting manner held the attention of members, later presenting Mrs. D. Ford, who in turn brought out beneficial points on "How to Hold the Interest of Children Through Books." These well combined talks were indeed helpful to the mothers composing this club which has carried on their work throughout the summer months despite the unpleasant weather.

Drawing to a conclusion the lesson the latter period was turned into a round-table discussion of the well chosen subject summarizing all the finer thoughts afforded by the talks of Mrs. Lanier and Mrs. Ford.

During the serving of a dainty and delicious refreshment course of fancy sandwiches, potato chips, ripe olives, grape juice and dessert, Miss Lock offered several beautifully played piano numbers. Miss Lock is accompanist for the free singing school now in session and sponsored by a group of Ranger business men.

Personnel, Mmes. D. Ford, Jewel Summeral, Edwin George Jr., Burns, C. O. Bolen, Joe Thompson, O. G. Lanier, J. S. Reynolds, E. R. Green, and Misses Lock and Frances Renfro.

Pretty Birthday Party

Honoring her important fifth birthday, little Miss Delphine Staggs was entertained with a pretty birthday party given at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Staggs, Blackwell road, Wednesday afternoon when her mother acted as hostess during the party hour.

Many entertaining games were enjoyed until the serving of a delicious refreshment course of lemonade and cake from the dining room table laid with a pretty Madeira linen cloth made more attractive through the mound of roses adorning the center.

School of Instruction Held at Jacobs Home

An important hour held in the form of a school of instruction occupied an interesting hour Thursday morning when Mrs. F. E. Jacobs, president of Young School Parent-Teacher association, entertained officers and chairmen of standing committees for the ensuing term of work and study.

The year's work so interestingly outlined was reviewed with suggestions and instructions offered for each department of the organization. From early indications the P-T. A. will enter into the routine of work with much enthusiasm.

A reception honoring the teachers will be held on the afternoon of Sept. 12, with plans announced in the near future.

Members present for the session yesterday were, Mmes. A. N. Larson, H. S. Packwood, B. S. Dudley, J. F. Byas, S. P. Boon, C. L. Childs, and Harry Bishop. This comes as the second meeting to have been held at the home of the president during the week.

Miss McMillen Honors Oklahoma City Visitor

AKRON COUPLE AND CHILDREN SILENCED WITH POISON

When a small auto veered off the road and crashed into a fence near Malvern, Ark., witnesses found the bodies of Alvin Colley and his wife of Akron, O., pictured above, and the bodies of two of their children, in the car. A third child was found alive. The sixth occupant of the car, Mark Shank, Akron lawyer, fled, but was captured. Authorities said Shank confessed that he poisoned the four, fearing that Colley would talk about a lawsuit Shank was defending.

ing tables carried lovely appointments of green and white harmonizing prettily with room decorations.

High score in play was made by Cecelia McDowell, and the cut by Bobby Jarvis. The honoree was also presented with a dainty guest prize.

With the colorfully laid tables re-appointed a most inviting and perfectly delicious course of ice cream and cake with lime beverage was served.

Party guests enjoying this pretty compliment were Misses Kathleen Cole, Margaret Samms, Vivian Champion, Cecelia McDowell, Marvis Murray, Marice Chastain, and Mildred Moorman.

Delightful Day Spent With Mrs. Stidham

Wednesday proved unusually delightful for members of the Loyal Women's class of the First Christian church when they motored to Thurber to spend the day with their former class member, Mrs. R. C. Stidham. Each member furnished a covered dish which when assembled together formed a very delicious noon luncheon menu.

The afternoon was spent in visiting and chatting. Those enjoying the Stidham hospitality named Mmes. J. C. Carothers, Matthews, Raymond West, Murphy, Lee, Bruce and daughter, and Mrs. E. L. Nelson.

Miss Margaret Dillingham To Be Married This Evening

Ranger friends will be interested in knowing Miss Margaret Dillingham, attractive daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. D. Dillingham, of Abilene, formerly of Ranger, is to be married this evening at 8:00 o'clock to George Golightly, also of Abilene, with the ring service to be read at the First Baptist church.

The bride-elect has been the recipient of a gala round of pre-nuptial affairs given by friends in Abilene. The latest, a buffet supper in honor of her wedding attendants, was held at the handsome Dillingham home, Belmont boulevard, last evening, with places marked for a personnel of 23. Dr. Millard A. Jenkins, of Abilene First Baptist church, will read the ceremony.

Community Fair Plans Given Enthusiastic Discussion

The Co-Workers Home Demonstration club met Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. J. B. Ferris, discussing plans for the community fair to be held Sept. 12 at the Hayden Neal place, Spring road.
