COUNTY GOES DRY BY SMALL MARGIN

State Has Overwhelming Majority for Repeal

AMENDMENTS ALL SHOWED A GOOD LEAD

Most Counties Voting on Local Option Go Wet With 3.2 Beer Legalized

By United Press
Texas Saturday ratified by an overwhelming majority repeal of the 18th amendment, the amendment to the state constitution to legalize 3.2 beer, to approve the $20,000,000 bond issue for relief, for local county home rule and for extending the homestead exemption where taxes were now remitted to the county.

Out of a total of 160,000 votes the beer amendment had received more than 110,000 votes as compared to 58,000 against it. The home rule amendment had received 91,145 votes as compared to 32,900 against and the homestead exemption amendment had received more than 100,000 votes to 20,000 against it.

From early returns, mostly from cities, it was apparent that in the light of the small vote cast Saturday in the special election, all proposals had established leads that promised to keep them far ahead. Many communities reported votes on local option that showed the old local option law had been voted out in most of the counties.

Ranger Men Will Stage a Rodeo at Breckenridge

RANGER, Texas, Aug. 26.—Sig Faircloth of Ranger, A. L. Stallings and Mr. Wright of Breckenridge were in the Times office late Saturday afternoon to make announcement of their rodeo to be held in Breckenridge on Monday, the 28th. These gentlemen promise the public a show that will be well worth their while and everything is free so far as entering the grounds are concerned.

There will be a barrel race for the women and children with no entrance fee. Prices of $5, $3.50 and $2. Then there will be a calf and goat roping, split four ways with a low entrance fee. Wild cow milking that will be a knock-out. Bronc and bull riding.

Beer Merchants to Hold Celebration

DALLAS, Aug. 26.—Beer merchants here today prepared confidently to greet legalization of 3.2 beer in Texas with street demonstrations and dispensations of free drafts from barrels of "cold keggie" as soon as the returns indicate the state is going wet.

Oklahoma Bank Robbed Saturday

McLOUD, Ok., Aug. 26.—Two bandits raided the Bank of Commerce here today and escaped under gunfire with between $600 and $700 in cash.

The raiders locked the assistant cashier and other bank employees in the vault. They freed themselves in time to fire several volleys at the fleeing men, who turned northward and then doubled back toward Oklahoma City.

Increased in State Beer Tax Seen As Probability

AUSTIN, Aug. 26.—Probability the state beer tax will be increased to pay off state relief bonds, if both beer and bonds win in today's voting, was seen today. Only 3,000,000 beer tax stamps are included in the state's original stamp order. These, it has been estimated, will not last more than two months. If a special session decides to raise the beer tax as a means of paying off the bonds, there will be few old stamps on hand.

Under the beer law, passed at the original session, the tax is $1.50 per barrel of 31 gallons.

FEDERAL HOG REDUCTION TO START MONDAY

FORT WORTH, Aug. 26.—Stock yards, commission firms and packing plants here today were getting set for the opening gun of the federal government hog reduction program here Monday.

Local Co-ordination A. A. Lund issued warnings to farmers that permission for shipment of hogs must be obtained at the local market before premiums prices can be paid. This action, he said, was in effort to offset possibility of the Fort Worth market being glutted by producers trying to dispose of their hogs before the quota of 5,000,000 head was reached.

"My wife and I had been in the back yard killing rats," Johnson told officers, "and while I cleaned my gun, she went into the house to prepare our breakfast."

"After cleaning my gun I emptied the magazine and as I went into the house I lowered the hammer. The screen door in closing struck my elbow, causing the hammer to slip."

Kidnapers Hold The Wrong Man

DENVER, Aug. 26.—Kidnapers today held a modest salaried buyer for the May Company department store, apparently believing him a sharer in the rich estate of David May, who died in 1927.

The kidnap victim, Bernard Bitterman, 28, disappeared from the store Thursday night. Late yesterday the manager of the store and a nephew of the millionaire and founder of the chain of stores, received a letter from Cheyenne, Wyo., saying, "Your nephew is O. K. You'll hear from us later."

CLEANUP OF UNLICENSED RADIOS STARTS

FORT WORTH, Aug. 26.—Vice Chairman Thad Brown of the federal radio commission today announced he had started a cleanup campaign against unlicensed stations in Texas.

He said he had evidence against 43 stations operating without licenses. He would not disclose the stations.

"The law is very plain on the subject, stating a license must be secured for any radio transmission," he said. "Injunction suits will be brought in all cases."

Asked if intrastate stations could be stopped from operation by the federal commission, Brown said: "There is no such thing as an intrastate station. Every station which operates comes under our jurisdiction."

Shannons Are Closely Guarded In Oklahoma City

OKLAHOMA CITY, Aug. 26.—A Texas farmer, his wife and son were held in the fortified Oklahoma county jail today as federal authorities prepared to bring other suspects in the kidnaping of Charles F. Urschel here for trial.

R. G. Shannon, his wife and their son, were brought to the jail yesterday under the heaviest guard ever called out here. They were not permitted to speak to anyone and were isolated in tool-proof steel cages. Guards with machine guns were placed about the jail.

United States District Attorney Herbert Hyde said the trial of the accused members of the gang that kidnaped the oil man and held him nine days until his family paid $200,000 ransom would be started within a fortnight.

Woman Physician Runs Amuck and Slays Housekeeper

SAN DIEGO, Calif., Aug. 26.—An New York woman physician was under guard in a police ward today, her mind slowly clearing from the effects of a maniacal outburst in which she stabbed one woman to death and inflicted serious wounds on a woman colleague who had befriended her.

The assailant was Dr. Virginia Wilson, 36, who is an outbreak at the home of Dr. Anita Muhl, 36, last night, fatally wounded Mrs. Annie Kisse, 40, the housekeeper, and stabbed Dr. Muhl before the latter ejected her.

Dr. Muhl, well known psychiatrist, had taken Dr. Wilson to her home Thursday for treatment after she had been judged insane.

TWO BANDITS ROB DENVER BANK $36,000

DENVER, Colo., Aug. 26.—Two daring bandits today blinded three messengers of the United States National bank with tear gas, snatched a black bag containing $36,000 in new currency, and sped away in a small coupe through the heavy traffic of a busy downtown street.

The robbery, the most daring since that of the United States mint more than 10 years ago, occurred as the three bank messengers were en route in a small coupe from the federal reserve branch bank to the United States National bank.

Richard Boden, driver of the messenger's machine, was pushing his way through the traffic. Suddenly in front of him loomed a big truck. Boden started to back up his car to pull around, when a dark coupe bearing two men pulled up alongside of him. A moment later the bandits jumped out and one of them shouted, "Let 'em have it."

The other snatched a fountain pen team gas gun and shot the fumes into the car.

As the blinded messengers fought their way out of the car, the bandits snatched the satchel, jumped into their own machine and sped away. Witnesses declared the bandit machine bore a Nebraska license.

CRUDE PRICES MAY REACH $1 BY LABOR DAY

TULSA, Okla., Aug. 26.—A multiple price schedule prevailed again in the mid-continent oil empire today.

Astonished independents saw two companies boost the crude price 10 cents a barrel Thursday to a top of 72 cents in Oklahoma, Kansas and North Texas. Barnsdall refineries stole the march on the major companies and bid up the price 15 cents a barrel. Sun Oil company then bid the Barnsdall company one better. It raised the quotation 25 cents a barrel. This made the top 87 cents.

The action of these aggressive independents caused oil men to predict dollar oil by Labor Day.

Methodists Still Retaining Lead In Vote Count

The standing of the Ranger Churches in the Prosperity Club, as shown below, is an indication of the hard work being done by the various members under the leadership of the energetic presidents of the various missionary societies.

The standing late Saturday:

Methodist	219,370
Church of Christ	113,670
Catholic	101,260
First Baptist	93,780
First Christian	90,505
Central Baptist	63,740
Presbyterian	12,315

Again let us ask that as many times as it is possible a handful of 5, 10, 25 and 50 vote slips be exchanged for a few of the large denominations before being placed in the ballot boxes. Anyone in the stores where there is a ballot box will be glad to make that exchange and it will speed up the counting of the votes day by day and especially for any committee making a checkup count at the end of the contest.

From now until the end of the contest every bread or cake wrapper from Harcrow's Bakery that is brought to the Ranger Times will be redeemed in votes at the face value. For instance, a loaf of Harcrow's MilkDandy bread costs 8c at your grocers—you get your eight votes then and you get another eight when the wrapper is brought to the Times. All the other wrappers in the same manner. They are: Harcrow's MilkDandy; Buttering and Betty Jane Breads. The cake wrappers are also included—save them all.

COTTON-PICKING AND RELIEF

Rep. Augustine Celaya reported at Austin that Cameron county is having perfect success in the results when someone on the relief rolls is offered a job as cotton or citrus-fruit picker.

There, Mr. Celaya reported, each man entitled to relief, or relief work, is given a card. On this card is entered all food relief and all payroll money going to him. No card, no job.

Whenever cotton-picking jobs are offered by the relief officers and the men do not take them, they give up their relief cards.

The county, Mr. Celaya reported, had none of the difficulty that legend ascribed to others of getting the people to go into the fields.

However, both in his section and everywhere else in Texas, there has been one discrepancy. That was the paying of 30 cents an hour for work created solely for relief. The wage is low enough, but is more than could be made by picking cotton. Effect of the wage is to put the relief work into competition with private employers, and either make the farmer pay more, or else attract jobless people into the towns already surfeited with them.

Newspaper advertising is both whip and spur for trade.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

"Christ Jesus" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, Sunday, August 27.

The Golden Text is: "No man hath seen God at any time; the only begotten Son, which is in the bosom of the Father, he hath declared him." (John 1:18).

Included with other passages from the Bible is the following from 1 Tim. 2: "For there is one God, and one mediator between God and men, the man Jesus Christ."

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "Born of woman, Jesus' advent in the flesh partook partly of Mary's earthly condition, although he was endowed with the Christ, the divine spirit, without measure. This accounts for his struggles in Gethsemane and on Calvary, and this enabled him to be the mediator, or way-shower between God and men. Had his origin and birth been wholly apart from mortal usage, Jesus would not have been appreciable to mortal mind as 'the way.'"

As the individual ideal of Truth, Christ Jesus came to rebuke rabbinical error and all sin, sickness, and death—to point out the way of Truth and Life. This ideal was demonstrated throughout the whole earthly career of Jesus, showing the difference be-

CRIME-FIGHTING FORCES OF NATION ARE CONCENTRATED ON SOUTHWESTERN BANDITS

By JOSEPH L. MYLER

DALLAS, Aug. 26. — Crime-fighting forces of the nation have concentrated their activities in the southwest, with agents of the department of justice filling roles once occupied by mounted soldiers who waged war on Indians and frontier outlaw bands.

The capture of Harvey J. Bailey, recognized leader of a gang whose farflung criminal activities have usually been associated with spectacular and sudden death, on a farm in Paradise, Wise county, Texas, resulted in the greatest mobilization of federal state and local peace officers in the war on death-dealing outlaws the commonwealth has witnessed in years.

It is known, however, that in recent years the thickly wooded regions along the Brazos and Sabine rivers in East Texas have harbored outlaw bands. They included those of Charles (Pretty Boy) Floyd and Clyde Barrow.

Twice in recent weeks posses of the pine forests of East Texas on receipt of tips that members of the Floyd gangs were concentrating in a sylvan hideout. Each time the quarry had fled. And shortly after each search the outlaw alarm has been spread in other parts of the state.

Clyde Barrow, a woman companion and another man have been reported several times since Bailey's arrest. Barrow was said to be headed southward, presumably toward the Mexican border. Then it was reported he had suddenly changed his course and was returning northward, toward Dallas. Coincidental with one of the reports was a rumor George Kelly, related by marriage to R. G. Shannon, captured with Bailey, and a group of confederates were seen moving toward Dallas. Immediately department of justice (Continued on page 3)

SISTER MARY'S KITCHEN

BY SISTER MARY
 NEA Service Writer

The home-maker who likes to put away her own fruits and vegetables for winter use will find dried corn an excellent home-cured product.

Dried foods are easily kept and have several points in their favor over canned foods. One cup of dried food will go more than twice as far as one cup of the same food canned. This means a saving in storage space. Aside from this dried fruits and vegetables keep without risk of spoilage.

Home-Made Drier

A home-made drier can be made to fit one's oven or the top of a coal range. Strong screening is stretched over the frame made the required size and the whole is covered with coarse muslin or cheesecloth. Small legs at each corner elevate it to the desired height. Three or four inches permit free circulation of air between the tray and the warm stove top or the oven bottom.

One of the driers on the market will make the process much shorter and is a good investment. Other foodstuffs can be dried for winter use to splendid advantage.

All vegetables should be blanched before drying. This dipping into boiling water insures perfect cleanliness and induces even evaporation.

To dry corn, remove husks and silk as usual. Drop into boiling water and boil five minutes, long enough to "set" the milk. Cut kernels from cob, taking care not to cut deep enough to cut the cob. Spread thinly and evenly on tray and dry from three to four hours at a temperature of about 150 degrees. Stir frequently while drying. Let stand on trays until perfectly dry. Store in dust-proof containers in a dry place.

Soak Before Cooking

When wanted to cook, soak the corn for two or four hours in lukewarm water. Use two cups water to one cup corn and cook in the same water in which the corn was soaked. It will take about 45 minutes to cook the corn until tender. Season with butter, salt and pepper.

Cooked dried corn can be used in any way in which canned corn is used.

Monday's Menu

BREAKFAST: Grapes, cereal, cream, waffles, honey, milk, coffee.
LUNCHEON: Stuffed baked cucumbers, tomato and water-cress salad, grape juice corn-starch pudding, milk, tea.
DINNER: Jellied tomato bouillon, toasted crackers, broiled veal kidneys, broccoli with Hollandaise sauce, corn on the cob, cream of rice pudding, milk, coffee.

So this is the house that Frank built.

First of all, there wasn't anything but a few planks in the narrow platform.

And a million unemployed men fighting over the construction of that.

Then while we sat around discussing the thing, somebody elected the contractor, put a wreath around his neck, and shifted the scene to Washington.

We clapped and fought and sat upon the curb awhile, waiting for the plans . . . wondering who was going to pay us, for what, and how much.

Suddenly, between tobacco spits and idle observations, something very much like a tornado came bursting out of the White House and:

Ignored Hitler's attempt to be playful,

Smiled patiently upon the Chino-Japanese fuss,

Regretted the fatal bullet that saved himself, but ended the life of Cermak,

Shook hands with Prime Minister MacDonald, Sympathized with stricken California,

Saw the Fair open, but calmly found his duties more urgent than proof that we've lived 100 years.

MUSSOLINI THRASHES OUT ITALY'S WHEAT PROBLEM

That Premier Mussolini gets down to earth when he studies agricultural conditions, you can surmise from this unusual photo showing Il Duce climbing down from a harvesting machine during an inspection of the wheat fields of Littoria, Italy. Boots and beret were distinguishing features of his new "field" uniform.

three other men who allegedly took part in the robbery. Current in police circles is the belief that Pretty Boy Floyd has in years past made winter quarters near Handley.

The capture of Bailey resulted in intensification of the government's war on kidnapers, leading the cleverest sleuths of the department of justice to Texas, from where their activities spread throughout the southwest and the west. A plot a kidnap Guy Wagoner, wealthy sportsman of Fort Worth, resulted in a network of plans covering the trails of George (Machine Gun) Kelly, Albert L. Bates and Verne Miller, associates of Bailey, who conspired to make the intended Wagoner abduction "the snatch of all snatches." They intended to seize him at his summer home in Colorado Springs, but the arrest of Bates in Denver frustrated their plans and also smashed the trap federal agents had set to capture or kill the three outlaws.

Kelly, still at large, and Bates are believed by federal agents to have been associated with Bailey in the abduction of Charles F. Urschel, Oklahoma City oil millionaire, who was taken from his home on July 22 and released nine days later on payment of nearly $200,000 ransom. Miller is alleged to have furnished the automobile in which the killers rode to and away from the union station in Kansas City when four officers and Frank Nash, convict, were killed.

Bates and Bailey both had in their possession when arrested several hundred dollars of marked money which had been part of the Urschel ransom. The Shannon farm where Bailey was arrested was identified by Urschel as the place where he was kept blindfolded during the days preceding his release. Urschel's brilliance in taking "mental notes" of his surroundings resulted in the spotting of the Shannon farm by officers as the kidnapers' hideout.

Bailey's fame as a leader among criminals reached a peak in the Memorial Day break at the Kansas state penitentiary, in which he and ten other convicts escaped. Bailey was credited with having planned the break, although Wilbur Underhill, "tri-state killer," received most of the blame for the series of crimes which followed the escape as the fugitives fled southward through Kansas, Arkansas and Oklahoma. Underhill still is at large.

Belief that Bailey's associates were concentrating in Texas has led to a general tightening of police lines and an increased alertness to prevent kidnappings. Winthrop Rockefeller, young heir to millions who came to Texas to study the oil business "from the ground up," suddenly was ordered to return to the east in an airplane under a pseudonym and accompanied by a strong bodyguard. In Oklahoma Urschel and members of his family and associates, fearing gangland reprisals for the oil man's part in ferreting out the lair of his kidnapers, go heavily armed about their business. Men of wealth everywhere are guarding themselves and their families against possible abduction attempts.

Guarding closely what they have learned prior and subsequent to the Bailey arrest, government officials are preparing a closely woven case against the nationwide kidnaping ring of which they believe the prisoner is a leading member. When he is tried, in Oklahoma City for the Urschel abduction, or in Kansas City for the Union Station murders, facts are expected to be brought out which will link several major crimes of recent years and show them to have been the work of one gang or of closely associated gangs.

Crime Fighting

Officers responsible for the safe keeping of Bailey were determined to avert a similarly tragic incident here. A thorough check of the underworld hangouts in Dallas and West Dallas, once the crime headquarters of Clyde Barrow and his brother Buck, now dead, netted nothing to indicate Kelly's presence or that of Clyde Barrow.

But the reports persisted. From Gonzales came word that Barrow had eaten lunch in a Gonzales cafe with Bonnie Parker, the woman who has shared his fugitive's life since before the Joplin, Mo., incident early in the spring in which the Barrows killed two officers. Federal agents and Texas rangers searched every highway 50 miles south and east of Luling for the pair to no avail.

The appearance of Bonnie Parker in the Gonzales-Luling territory recalled to old timers that the area used to be much frequented by another outlaw as deadly in his way as Barrow. The Parker woman is said to be the wife of Roy Harden, now in jail at Dallas, who is reputed to be the grandson of the noted "Wes" Harden, credited with having been the state's most famous gunman in the days when outlaws used six-shooters instead of machine guns.

"Wes" in the early 70s used to visit Luling regularly, always wearing the "shooting irons" with which he is said to have killed more than a score of men.

Another reported hangout for criminal bands who operated throughout the southwest is the region about Handley, a peaceful appearing community between Fort Worth and Dallas. These officers found the well-improved farm of O. D. Stevens, alleged narcotics dealer who is accused of participation in the $72,000 Fort Worth mail robbery of last February and is charged with murder in connection with the slaying of

RIVERSIDE TIRES are

RIVERSIDE TIRES have LATEX WELDED CORDS

(100% PURE LIQUID RUBBER)

which prevent Cord Separation . . the cause of blowouts

Do you know this? An average size tire goes round 395 times every minute at only 35 miles an hour! Think what happens when you drive at this speed—or faster! Friction develops scorching heat inside your tires! In many tires other than Riversides this heat separates cords and forms internal blisters! When you hit a rock or a bump . . . BANG! A Blowout! Riversides' Selected Cords—the heart of the tire—are made from extra strong, long staple, premium cotton. Every cord in every ply is dipped in LATEX—100% pure, liquid, virgin rubber. This welds the cords into a super strong unit! It gives Riversides the strongest tire carcass made!

Cord Separation This shows how cords inside tires other than Riversides are separated by heat. Cord separation causes internal blisters, weakens the tire. A blowout is the result! Riversides are Blowout Proof because of Latex dipping!

Latex Dipping By an extra process, every cord in every ply in all Riverside tires is dipped in Latex. This welds the cords into a super strong unit that defies cord separation and blowouts!

Why We Save You Money

Of course Riversides are made in one of America's largest and best tire factories. BUT—they come direct to us—minus the manufacturer's selling and general overhead expense. That's a saving. The second saving comes from Wards low cost method of distribution. These two reasons explain why we sell high quality tires for less—why Riversides are better in quality, mileage, and safety than any other tire at the same price.

Wards Unlimited Guarantee

For your protection every single Riverside tire is guaranteed by Wards to give service that is satisfactory to you. No time limit! No mileage limit! A tire has to be extra good—has to be extra safe to be backed by the strongest tire guarantee ever written!

THE WILLETS

Out Our Way

By Williams

For the LOVE of EVE by Lucy Walling

BEGIN HERE TODAY
 EVE BAYLESS, pretty assistant to EARLE BARNES, advertising manager of Bixby's department store, marries DICK RADER, a construction superintendent. He wants her to give up her job but she refuses. Eve does not want her employers to know she is married so they keep the marriage secret several months. At Christmas they announce it. They spend a brief vacation at the home of Eve's parents.

Back at the office MARYA VLAD, fashion artist, and ARLENE SMITH, stenographer, greet Eve excitedly. Eve knows that MONA ALLEN, the new copy writer, dislikes her and is trying to cause trouble for her. Barnes, the advertising manager, has told Eve that she would not have received a recent promotion if he had known she was married.

Eve receives a letter from IRENE PRENTISS, a former schoolmate who lives in New York. Irene is playing the stock market and advises Eve to do the same thing. Without telling Dick, Eve visits the stock department of a bank.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XVII

EVE did not sleep well that night. She awoke several times, only to drift back into troubled dreams of Bixby's store, a stock exchange, and finally her old home. In the morning she was so quiet that Dick was worried.

"You're usually skipping about all over the place by 7:30," he said. "What's the matter? Don't you feel well?"

"I'm all right," Eve assured him. "I was just thinking. I mustn't forget to write to Mother today. It's almost a week since her last letter came."

Dick approved of the way in which Eve and her mother kept in close touch with each other. Once every week Mrs. Bayless wrote long letters, painfully written in her cramped handwriting, filled with news of the family, the relatives and Eve's old friends. And once or twice a week Eve dashed off a reply on her typewriter. Her father grumbled, "Eve's letters are too long for any man to read. Tell me in a few words what she said."

But when Kate Bayless received the letter Eve wrote that day she hesitated to tell her husband what it contained.

"Mother, dear," Eve had written, "I wonder if you could get from Dad the money he is keeping for me in the 'emergency fund.' You know how Esther and I always saved our pennies and nickels and put them in the little red elephant banks until there was enough to deposit down town? Dad said that when we grew up we would have that money for an emergency fund in case anything happened. So I wish he would let me have the money now for something very, very special. I don't want him or Dick to know about it but I'll let you in on the secret. I'm not going to spend the money—I'm going to invest it."

BECAUSE her daughter had asked her to do it Kate did try to get the money. But Hank Bayless remained as adamant as a rock. He refused to draw out one penny of the sum unless his wife told him what she intended to do with it.

Finally Kate told him that Eve wanted it.

"Why should she want that money?" he thundered. "She's getting a good salary and she has a husband with a good job who would be glad to support her if she'd stop this foolishness about working and give him the chance! Now what does she need money for?"

"I'll bet she's up to some danged foolishness!" he went on. "Well, she'll get no help from me! She's gone into debt, likely as not, for something she doesn't need. Has she written anything lately about buying anything?"

Reluctantly Kate clutched at this straw. "She did write a while back about buying some furniture." "Furniture?" Hank repeated, puzzled. "Why I thought they weren't going to buy furniture yet. I thought they lived in a furnished apartment."

"They do," Kate answered patiently. "But this was something special Eve wanted. She saw it on one of their trips. It was—antiques."

"Antiques?" Hank groaned. "With my hard-earned money? Well, I'll be danged! No, mother; tell her 'no.' Not by a jugful!"

So Eve received less than she had expected and the draft was made out to her mother from the little fund Mrs. Bayless had saved for so long. Kate had made one more sacrifice for her daughter and Eve had to be content with the amount she received.

She wrote her mother a long letter of appreciation. The money was to be considered as a loan, Eve explained, and she promised to repay it as soon as she had made a gain of that amount. She would hold this for working capital. "You know, Mother," she wrote, "it's impossible to get a start without a little capital." Kate smiled as she read that. To think her quarters and half dollars, saved from the household allowance and slipped into the cracked sugar bowl on the top pantry shelf, should have grown into "capital!" What would this enterprising daughter of hers do next?

SHE would have been surprised to know what Eve was about.

Afraid she might have difficulty keeping her activities from Dick if she played the market through a broker's office, Eve had decided to operate through the bank. She felt, however, as though she were being cheated of the thrill supposed to be connected with playing the stock market.

Mr. Brown suggested four stocks which were on the rising market. "For a quick turnover," he advised, "these are as likely as any to advance."

Eve's funds were so limited that it seemed advisable to concentrate on one as a beginning. She placed her money on Pure Soap Inc.

That afternoon she worked swiftly, deftly and happily. Arlene commented on her mood.

"I'm having a good day," Eve admitted. "I've turned out my copy in about half the time, it usually takes."

"Well, I envy you!" Arlene grumbled. "It would take a million dollars to make me feel like that today."

"Oh, a few hundred thousand can do a lot!" Eve answered airily.

At 2:30 she sent the office boy to buy a copy of the stock edition of an evening newspaper. When it came Eve turned excitedly to the financial page. Pure Soap, Inc., had gone up two points.

Eve made a mental note of her profit. "When it goes up 10 points," she decided, "I'll sell and reinvest the profit in something else. Oh, this is going to be fun!"

That evening she watched Dick as he unfolded the final edition which was always waiting for them at the hall door when they arrived home. He scanned page one and then turned to the financial pages which he perused thoroughly before turning back to read the local news.

Eve had not known before that Dick was interested in stock quotations. Was he playing the market, too?

AFTER her return from New York Eve had tried to avoid Freda Carter. She blamed Freda for the unpleasant incident with Theron Reece.

But when Freda invited Eve to a party in her apartment the next evening there seemed nothing to do but accept the invitation. The buyer had come to the advertising office with some frocks for Marya to sketch. As she was leaving she turned abruptly toward Eve.

"Oh, I almost forgot!" Freda said. "I'm throwing a party tomorrow night and I'd love to have you girls come."

She had only a slight acquaintance with Mona Allen and her glance was for Eve and Arlene but before either of them could reply Mona gave Freda a melting smile and exclaimed, "Oh, how perfectly sweet of you! I'd simply adore a party!"

Mona paused expectantly. Eve was thinking, "Freda didn't mean to include her. The invitation was for Arlene and me. Is she going to let Mona get away with that?"

Without particular cordiality Freda assured Mona that she was glad she could come. Arlene also accepted the invitation.

Eve liked Freda but she could never be sure about Freda's friends. There was Theron Reece, for example. But Eve was certain he would not be at the party. This was February and he had told her he was not due in Lake City until the week before Easter. Reece had mentioned his itinerary in detail at dinner that evening in New York. Going to this party, Eve assured herself, would make it easier to refuse a later invitation that might include Reece. Furthermore Dick had announced that he would not be home to dinner the following evening.

And so with feelings that mingled both satisfaction and uneasiness, Eve assured Freda Carter that she would come to the party.

Four Good Bouts At Elks Arena for Monday Night

Monday night at the Ranger Elks Club, boxing and wrestling fans will see the best bouts ever had yet. Benny Wilson is to defend his Junior Middleweight title against Benny Bolt, leading contender and challenger. Wilson needs no introduction in Ranger while Bolt has wrestled only once here, he made a very good impression last week when he beat Sammy McLaren, showing much speed and skill as well as being a very rough and tough grappler. Wilson states that if Bolt uses foul tactics on him that he is going to wrestle his way and show him a few tricks of his own. Wilson is a very hated grappler at Fort Worth and never fails to pack the large open air arena there when he wrestles, with the crowd almost all wanting to see Wilson get beat. Wilson may have to resort to his own roughness to win over the tough Sioux Indian Monday night. This is going to be the best match seen in Ranger since Wilson beat Bartay for his belt.

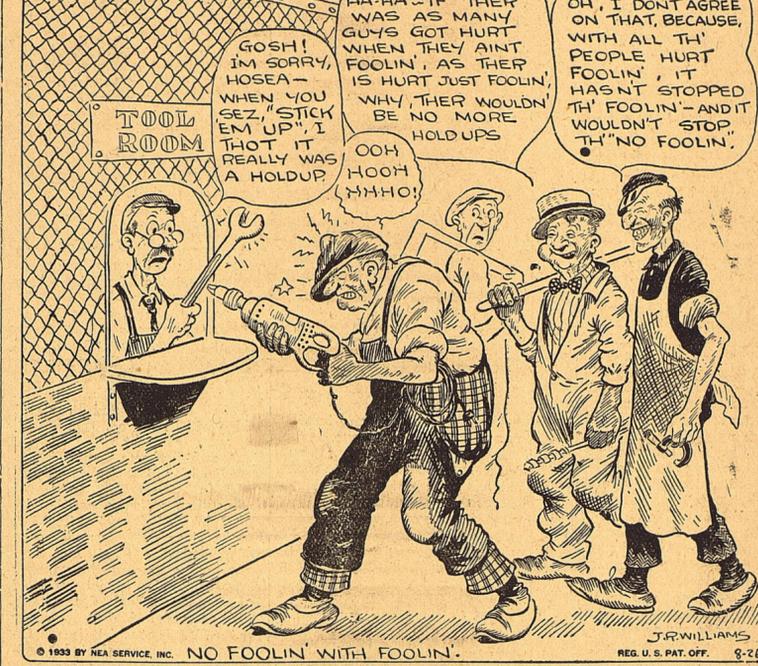

The best boxing bout probably ever to be held in Ranger is lined up for Monday night between Joe Rivers of El Paso and Bob Clark of Sweetwater. They are matched for six rounds and it is due to be some battle as Clark is training hard for the match and Rivers is always in the pink of condition and ready at a moment's notice. Rivers is a very smart boxer and can tie a man up so many ways that they look like amateurs, but in Clark he will find a very aggressive fighter that does not clinch and is always fighting. A large crowd is coming from Sweetwater to see their favorite box Rivers and will be pulling for him in a big way.

Another fight on the program that is for five rounds is between Kid Red of Breckenridge and Benny Greenfield of Fort Worth. Red is a newcomer to the Elks ring but is recommended as being a good fighter and tough as they come. He is going to be backed by the fight fans of Breckenridge in a big way. They believe in their boxers and always come in big crowds to root for them.

Starting the show off will be a one fall finish wrestling bout between Eddie Brock of Seattle and Bobbie Davidson of Bridgeport. This is due to be a show stealer. While Davidson is a new face here Brock is very popular and fans will be glad to see him in action again. Advance sale is coming in very fast and the Elks are preparing to have the largest crowd ever to pack the arena.

Tickets are on sale at the City Tailor Shop, and those wanting good seats should call early.

GREAT IDEA, THESE PENTHOUSES

Representative to Urge Reduction In Truck Sizes

AUSTIN.—Rep. A. W. Griffith, Austin, has started planning legislation for September to cut down the large toll of fatalities caused by trucks in highway accidents.

Representative Griffith talked with all members of the highway commission, and announced all three favor reducing the width of average width of paved roads—to trucks from eight feet—half the six and one-half feet.

He will prepare bills on this phase of highway safety, he announced, and will adopt suggestions of Highway Commissioner W. R. Ely for more drastic penalties for violations of the highway code.

Representative Griffith announced Chairman John Wood of the highway commission favors an absolute restriction to six feet in the width of every vehicle on the highways, said that Commissioner D. K. Martin and Commissioner Ely both insist the trucks should be drastically cut down in legal width from the present eight feet.

Representative Griffith has begun compiling statistics showing more than 30 people have been killed, and more than 100 injured by trucks on state highway during the past few weeks.

Members of the highway commission told him that gradually, as money can be found, the state highways are being widened by the building of shoulders, and in case of asphalt highways, of extending the asphalt surfacing out on either side of the road.

Criminal Cases Set for Sept. 11th

The following criminal cases are scheduled for trial in the 88th district court for the week beginning Monday, Sept. 11:

John Green, theft; John Green, burglary; C. C. Clark, theft; Arthur Messington, assault to murder; Jack Sims, burglary (three cases); Ray Burns, burglary.

Just when the government gets busy on its program to promote employment, Postmaster General Farley takes the other course. He's out to promote unemployment—and a lot of it—among republican postmasters.

Ranger Community Fair To Be Held At Hayden Neal Place Sept. 12th

now and the approaching day of the fair. Community fairs are the show windows of the farmer. They offer him an opportunity to display his products for the inspection and approval of the community. The producer of a superior commodity has a right to be proud of his handiwork and is entitled to the commendation of his neighbors. Are the products of YOUR farm showing an improvement from year to year? The exhibits will be of value to you and certainly your entries and active cooperation will help make the fair a success. It is a cooperative community enterprise with the definite object of making farm life more pleasant and profitable. It is worthy of your support. An extension demonstration is in fact what the community fair is. It shows the farm progress for the past 12 months. No premiums are offered, ribbons or tags being used by the judges to indicate the better products. Judging is done on the basis of Government Standards or market requirements. The commodity in which the Government standard is most nearly approached, or which the farmer would select for seed or breeding, or which the meticulous housewife demands for her use is tagged for first place. Exhibits should be labeled. Every jar or can should have the name of the owner on the bottom of it. Sewing articles may be labeled by writing the name on a piece of cloth and basting this in an inconspicuous place on the article. Other entries should be in some manner identified. Special attention is invited to the number or amounts of each article to be shown for a standard exhibit. Uniformity of product goes a long way toward winning, thus each article of a group should be as much alike as possible. Forage crops should be cured and show best when pea green. Such exhibits should be selected in advance of the fair and cured in the dark. They show in 5 inch bundles of exhibit bales, 8-10-16 inches.

Gorgeous Rich Painting Presented Church of Christ, Talent of Mrs. Head
 The most critical of art connoisseurs would agree a most perfect painting has been done in the gorgeous rich painting of the River Jordan, adorning the auditorium of the Church of Christ, lovely new church which was dedicated at the evening service last Sunday, Aug. 20. Only a short while ago Mrs. F. G. Head, Elm street, was presented with kodak pictures taken by the Rev. C. R. Nichol, brother of the Rev. D. W. Nichol, pastor of the church, while visiting the Holy Land, which covered a most interesting and rare tour. The clear picture impressed Mrs. Head to such an extent she touched upon a sudden and highly valuable inspiration. She would reproduce the scene in life-size painting. The River Jordan, finished in deep, rich colors, clearly emphasizes the scene so in keeping with the teaching of the church doctrine. The painting hangs at the back of the auditorium, affording an ideal background for the vestibule. So perfect are the touches of this talented artist the olive trees, lifting their graceful branches, reflect vividly in the clear, blue water. On the left side of the river is where Christ was baptized. The baptistry is arranged just under the base of the immense picture, effecting a most impressive as well as unusual arrangement. Persons in great number from surrounding cities have praised the recently discovered artist for her lovely and commendable work, in this beautiful picture. Mrs. Head is an active and valued member of the Church of Christ and paid her personal compliments in this delightful manner.

Twelve thousand explosions — a minute

Henry Ford Dearborn, Mich.

For every 5 1/4 inches which the Ford V-8 travels, its engine produces one power impulse. If "impulse" is not clear to you, say "expansion", or "explosion". One drop of gasoline, hardly as large as a grain of wheat (there are 178 of these drops in a teaspoonful) is vaporized as gas and burned in the combustion chamber. It is the resulting "heat expansion", or tiny explosion, that moves the piston, and so moves your car—5 1/4 inches. A mile at 60 is only a minute long. And every mile your V-8 travels, 12,000 of these small, closely-spaced explosions occur. The power impulses of the V-8 are so closely timed that they blend in one smooth continuous flow of power. Now, it is natural that the small, confined combustion chambers should become pretty hot, each with its 1,500 explosions a mile. For remember, at 60 miles an hour, this is 1,500 explosions a minute for each of the 8 chambers. With fewer cylinders there would be just as many explosions per cylinder, but the flame would be larger. Heat, therefore, is not surprising. Where cylinder heads are of cast iron, as many are, this heat cannot escape as rapidly as is desirable. And so the engine has a tendency to "knock" or "ping". Thus, cast iron makes it necessary to hold a lower compression in the firing chamber, and this prevents getting the full power of the engine. But the cylinder heads on the Ford V-8 are aluminum, which allows excess heat to escape three times as fast as cast iron does. Housewives who use aluminum cooking pans know that this material distributes heat evenly. Add to this that it dissipates excess heat quickly, and you get the reasons for its use in the Ford V-8. Our aluminum cylinder head adds 10 horsepower to the V-8 engine, by permitting high compression—and it gets this increased horsepower without increasing the gas consumption. In fact, it uses less gas. Any grade of gas—with our aluminum cylinder heads—will give you more power and economy. Premium fuels are not necessary. This is just another point where doing it better costs us more, but you get the benefit. An aluminum cylinder head costs four times as much as a cast iron one. When we put two aluminum heads on the V-8 not one cent was added to the price of the car. The customer gets the increased power, the greater economy and the better performance.
