PEEPING THRU THE KNOTHOLE

with BILL MAYES

The thing that impressed us most about the Eastland-Ranger game last Saturday was the way Cleo Gray and Joe Briley stood out as ball carriers.

We knew all along that they could carry the ball if they could get the kind of blocking they deserved, because no ball carrier is any better than his blocking, unless he has power enough to ram him own way through a line, and that kind of ball carrier is hard to find and doesn't make very long gains, usually.

In the Central and Mineral Wells games Briley and Gray had trouble getting started because the blocking was not as hot as it might have been and they were often stopped before they could get under way.

But at Eastland it was different. The blocking was almost perfect. We say almost, because if it was perfect anyone could go for long gains any time. When a play clicks it is mostly the blocking and when it doesn't it is mostly lack of blocking.

The line played a most important part in the Eastland game, as it does in every game. For instance, if anyone read the statistics we gave yesterday on the game they can easily see that those losses and no gain plays Eastland made were not stopped by the safety. The line had to take charge of the defense, and did it in a most satisfactory way. The longest run Eastland made was 19 yards, which is something.

Warden and Love have proved that they have their share of the blocking down pretty good. They looked better against Eastland than they ever have before. But Abilene is another question. It will take lots of blocking, good blocking and then some against a heavier team than Eastland had, in order for the Bulldogs to win. And if they win it will be the first time a Ranger team ever won on an Abilene field.

Hill and Walsh, offensive tackles, proved to be just that to Eastland. They were plenty of offensive. And big Ranklin Britt looked so good at end that he stood out all through the game. Probably one of the most notable improvements in any of the linemen was seen in Jacoby, who looked better than he has all season put together.

Cole, who plays purely a blocking game, has proved his ability to hold down that position and is getting better and better on defense against a passing attack.

Yeh, we knew all along that Gray and Briley could carry the ball if they just had some good blocking ahead of them, which they got Saturday. And, too, Anderson did some blocking that looked good, especially when Briley would get away around right end and Gray around the left side of the line.

However, blocking against Eastland and blocking against Abilene are two different things and it will take more of that kind of game to get anywhere against the Eagles than it did to get those 46 points against Eastland.

So far we have seen little difference in the playing of Payton and Bunton at center as both have been getting in their share of the plays when they were in the game and both are learning fast and should show up well before the end of the season as they are going nicely now and are improving with each game.

Junior College Girls Seeking A Way to the Game

H. S. Von Roeder, dean of the Ranger Junior college, stated today that there were a number of girls from the college who were seeking transportation to the Ranger-Weatherford football game, to be played at Weatherford Thursday night, at 8 o'clock.

The girls have no way to go to the game, but if anyone has room for any of them in their cars they will pay for the gasoline consumed on the trip. Anyone who is requested to get in touch with Mr. Von Roeder and he will notify those seeking ways to the game.

Fire Destroys Home At Lone Star Camp

Cottage 162 at Lone Star Gasoline company plant No. 1 was destroyed by fire Monday night about 9:30 o'clock.

The Ranger fire department was summoned, but the fire had gained too much headway before they arrived and the house and practically everything in it was destroyed. The house was occupied by W. C. FARM STRIKE GAINS SLOWLY IN MID-WEST

By United Press

CHICAGO, Oct. 24.—The national farm strike called by the holiday association gained momentum slowly today as Milo Reno, president of the association, sought to enlist support of other farm and labor organizations.

The Illinois State Farmers association, at a meeting attended by 3,000 members, adopted a resolution pledging its 10,000 members to "discontinue sale of all products until a price equal to the cost of production is obtained."

State organizations of the association in Iowa, North Dakota, Illinois, Wisconsin, Nebraska, Minnesota and Oklahoma have pledged active support of the strike, Reno announced. Colorado and Michigan have voted disapproval.

John Gorch to Be Quizzed in Kidnap Case By Officer

By United Press

BOSTON, Mass., Oct. 24.—John Gorch, 37, described as a former resident of Hopewell, N. J., was to be questioned today in connection with the Lindbergh kidnapping.

New Jersey and New York detectives and secret agents were to question the suspect. Meanwhile, at the Bankers Trust company in New York, police planned to open a safety deposit box hired by Gorch. Authorities said that if any bills were found in the box their serial numbers would be checked with the ones that comprised the $50,000 ransom in the Lindbergh case. Gorch was detained after New Jersey officers said he was not wanted in the case.

French President Seeking Premier

United Press

PARIS, France, Oct. 24.—President Albert Lebrun consulted political leaders today seeking a premier capable of guiding France through one of the most contentious phases of her recent history.

A strong government, sure of an adequate majority to force through parliament a rigorous economy program and to pursue a firm diplomatic policy in view of the disarmament crisis, was regarded as urgently necessary.

Edouard Daladier, radical socialist premier, resigned at 3:30 a.m. today after a defeat, 329 to 241, on his proposal to cut civil service pay between 3 and 9 per cent in order to balance the budget.

And, the more we see of Britz at end, even in practice, the more we realize Curtis knew what he was doing when he put him there. He was out there yesterday hustling like a freshman trying out for the team his first year, as was Jacoby, which, if they keep it up, is going to make them stand out in their

The display will be on a much larger scale than that of two years ago, with more action and a more fitting climax, it was decided at the meeting.

Russell Perine took first place both the small and large bore rifle matches at the American Legion Rifle Range Sunday afternoon with a score of 198 out of a possible 200 in the small bore division and a score of 49 out of a possible 50 in the large bore division.

In the large bore shooting the following scores were made: Williams, 40; Ussery, 33; Peters, 43; Bourland, 44; Roach, 46; Perine, 49; Galley 46 and Latham, 48.

The handicap shoot proved popular and it is expected that it will prove more popular next time one is held.

Ministers Will Meet To Plan Fight On Vice

By United Press

FORT WORTH, Oct. 24.—Dallas and Fort Worth ministers today primed their guns for a shot at liquor, racing, boxing and obsolete criminal statutes, which they will fire at a one-day, state-wide conference at Dallas, Nov. 17.

Blaming whisky, gambling, the slow movement of court machinery, for world decadance, the pastors pledged themselves for a new deal in clean living.

BATTLE LINES FOR FIGHT ON PRICES DRAWN

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24.—Battle lines for a new fight over retail price control was being drawn today in trade circles and the NRA.

AN OBJECT LESSON ON THE NEW ECONOMY

In a full-page newspaper advertisement, it printed two pictures of men's shirts. The shirts were identical in appearance, in material in cut, and in workmanship. One of them sold for 89 cents; the other for $1.25.

The 89-cent one was the shirt this store had on its counters at the start of the summer. The other was one that is on sale now.

The man who grew the cotton for the 89-cent shirt, the advertisement pointed out, lost money on it. His cotton pickers got canned goods and groceries in place of cash wages. The workers in the textile mills that changed the raw cotton into fabric got starvation wages—around $5 a week.

The girls who turned the cloth into a finished shirt got a little bit less than that. The men who employed the workers in these establishments were not making money. And the store which sold the shirt was losing on the deal.

But, of course, for the purchaser, it was a bargain—of a sort.

Now for the $1.25 shirt.

The man who raised the cotton for it got a decent profit on his crop. He paid his pickers in cash, not in groceries. The textile workers who turned the cotton into fabric got at least $13 a week. The girls who made the shirt got enough money so they could eat decently, live decently, and put off the burden of fear.

Their respective employers were able to make a profit. The store itself was able to make money on the deal.

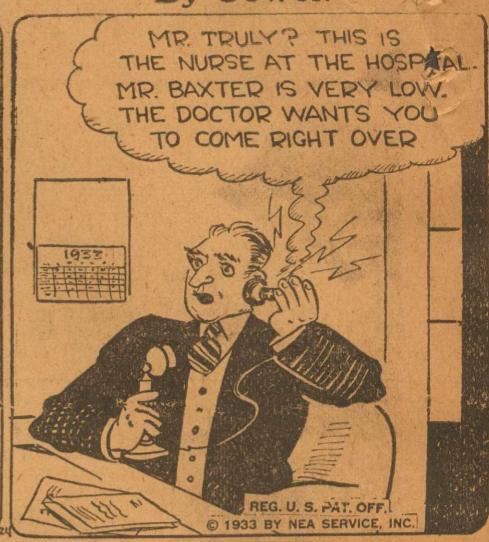

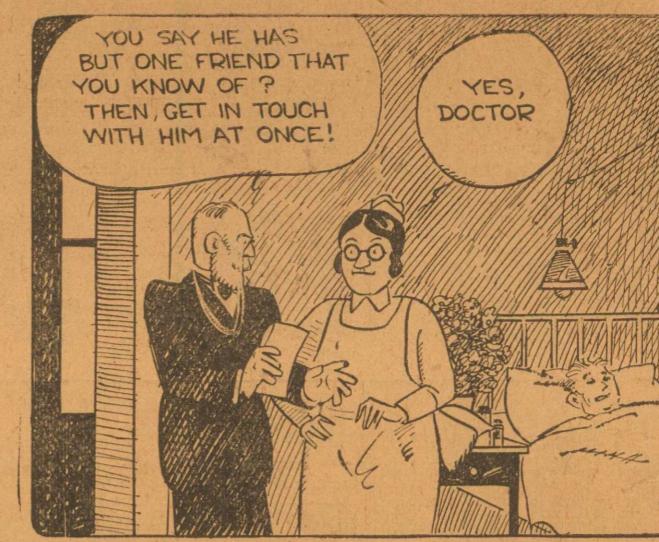

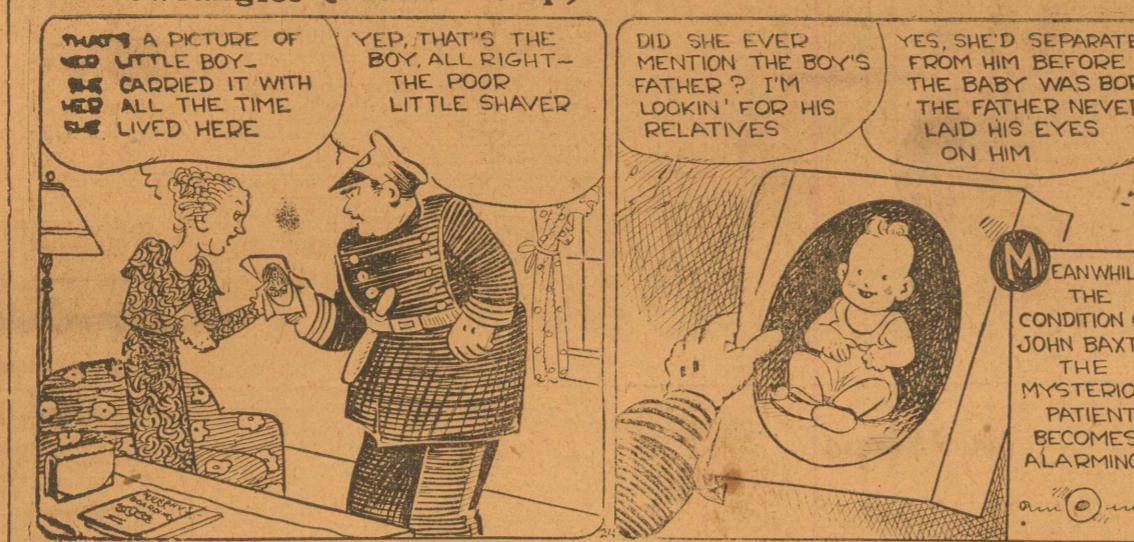

So this shirt, for all that it cost considerably more than the first one, also was a bargain. It had no starvation wages, no child labor, no rising scale of losses woven into its fabric. It represented a fair break for everyone concerned in its production.

You could apply much the same sort of reasoning to almost every commodity you buy. Whatever else it may do a rising price level at least saves us from the ruinous "bargains" we have been getting in the last couple of years.

The first bargain was a bargain built on human misery; the second, a bargain that promotes the welfare of the whole country.

Little Theater To Make Public Debut Tonight

This evening will witness the opening performance of the Ranger Little Theatre. The curtain will rise on Charles Kenyon's play, "Kindling," promptly at 8 p. m., at the high school auditorium. The doors to the auditorium will be closed throughout the acts, those arriving after the curtain call necessarily being barred from Act 1.

"Kindling" is a drama of New York tenement life. Four of the nine roles are character parts, with Tom Knight, who has seen work on the legitimate stage of Kansas City, directing.

According to authorities, "Kindling" boasts the pick of Ranger's dramatical talent. Miss Rose McEver will carry the play lead, with Earl Francis supporting her in the lead role for men. Mr. Francis has also seen legitimate stage experience. The cast will name Misses Maxine Henderson and Winifred Dunkle; Mrs. Mills Davenport, and Messrs. Jack Galloway, Gaston Dixon, Moorman Wagner and Herbert Capps.

This is the Little Theater's public debut in Ranger. Only recently organized, the cast has undertaken one of the most popular and difficult dramas of tenement life. Backing the organization, the New Era Club has taken all responsibility of sponsorship.

As was predicted in yesterday's Times, "Kindling" bids fair to rank high in this year's local stage work.

Better After Taking First Bottle of Cardui

"I was in need of something to build me up, as I was in a rundown condition and suffering with my back and sides," writes Mrs. M. Mc. Cook, of Fort Payne, Ala. "The pain in my side seemed to cause a soreness all through my body. I was reading the newspaper and saw Cardui advertised. I thought it might help me. After my first bottle, I felt better and I took another after which I was greatly improved, so much so that I was recommended Cardui since."

"surprises," honored Mrs. John Finis King, the former Miss Opal Carter, Monday evening at her home, Blondell street. The Fidelis Bible class of the Central Baptist church, assisted by the Young Woman's auxiliary, named the guest list.

The surprise came when the arriving guests, loaded with gifts, found the honoree not at home. Gifts were placed inside the door to await the arrival of the recipient.
