PEEPING THRU THE KNOTHOLE

with BILL MAYES

By the time this is in print the Bulldogs will be in the midst of their scrap with the Abilene Eagles at Abilene and we will, if everything works out as we plan it, be watching the game from a vantage point in the press box in order that we can give a more or less accurate description of the happenings for the benefit of the fans who do not make the trip.

By the time this is read, if it is, the game will probably be over and either a joyous crowd will be preparing to return to Ranger with another victory for the Bulldogs and the first on Abilene soil. Or, they may present a more dejected look because the Bulldogs have failed, once more, to overcome the jinx that has accompanied them on every trip to Abilene.

We hope they will be joyful.

Social note: Mr. and Mrs. Esker Curtis and Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Davis motored to Abilene Wednesday night, then turned around and motored right back again.

The reason for the trip was that Curtis had been notified a meeting of the football executive committee would be held in Abilene that night to determine whether or not J. C. McDearmon, Abilene tackle, was eligible to play football this season. But the meeting was not held. In the first place, the meeting wasn't to be until Thursday night. In the second place, the meeting had been called off. In the third place, McDearmon wasn't eligible in the first place.

It seems that notices had been sent out to the school superintendents that the meeting had been called off, but Mr. Holloway was and didn't get his notice, so they made the trip for nothing.

Because we are having to write this stuff several hours before leaving for Abilene, the day before, in fact, in order that we can get off long enough to choo-choo up there and back, we haven't any hope, as yet, on the Ranger and Weatherford Junior College game, because when this was written the game hadn't even been played. We hope to get the dope and get it written in time for this issue of the paper. If we do it will be found in some other part of the (Continued on page 2)

Handicap Shoot to Be Staged Sunday

Jack Roach, secretary of the American Legion Rifle Club, announced today that another handicap shoot would be held Sunday afternoon at the rifle range.

Last week the handicap method was inaugurated at the shoot and it proved so popular that the shooters demanded another this week. A small entrance fee will be charged each shooter who enters and he may name his own handicap. In this way, poor shooters will have an equal chance with the best.

Washington Dog Is Mathematician

EDMONDS, Wash.—This city claims to have one of the smartest dogs in the country.

Princess, a thoroughbred English setter, owned by Edgar L. Blake, can add, divide, subtract, read dates, tell time, read license numbers and answer almost any question. One bark means No and two means Yes.

"What time is it?" Four barks. (Correct.)

"What day is this?" She barks the correct date!

"What is a third of this number?" "A half?" "A fourth?" (All correct.)

Showing there is no trick to her answers, the owner turned his back and walked while reporters questioned the dog to their satisfaction.

Man Is Held On Theft Charge As Beer Disappears

FORT WORTH, Oct. 27.—J. A. Lancaster of Cleburne is in the city jail charged with making away with a truck load of beer. Lancaster is alleged to have driven the truckload of beer off while the driver was making a delivery.

The driver of the truck said a man drove up behind his truck and said, "I believe I'll steal your truck." The driver, thinking the man was joking, made no reply, but when he returned from delivering a case of beer to a customer, discovered his truck was gone and started an investigation which resulted in officers arresting Lancaster.

Instructions on Cotton Loans Are Received in Co.

J. C. Patterson, county agent, has received a supply of blanks giving instructions concerning the making of loans by Commodity Credit corporation to cotton producers on the 1933 crop, secured by cotton warehouse receipts.

These blanks have also been sent to all banks, chambers of commerce, gins and cotton warehouses, where they may be secured by the farmers.

Any farmers who have these cotton warehouse receipts and wish to secure a loan of 10 cents a pound on their cotton can get the information needed at the office of the county agent, any bank or gin.

No Politics In Rangers Action Says Hutchins

AUSTIN, Oct. 27.—Denial that any political pressure was attempted by state rangers in the unearthing of the alleged merchandise theft ring in North Texas was made here today by State Adjutant General Hutchins.

State rangers assigned to the case, after several weeks' investigation, claim to have more than a dozen parties under arrest and in various jails over the state.

Cotton Plan May Be Extended To Option on Bales

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27.—The farm administration said today it is giving "serious consideration" to a proposal that the privileges of borrowing 10 cents a pound on cotton be extended to bales held on option by farmers who participated in the acreage reduction campaign.

Three southern senators, including Chairman Smith, democrat, South Carolina, of the senate agricultural committee, are advocating this move. The South Carolinian was joined in his request by Senators Bankhead, democrat, Alabama, and Thomas, democrat, Oklahoma.

Smith yesterday telegraphed President Roosevelt this would be "simple justice" to farmers who responded to the cotton plowup campaign. He said it would put "between $40,000,000 and $50,000,000 in circulation."

Smith's telegram, together with the pleas of Bankhead and Thomas were referred to the farm administration.

The government recently announced its 10-cent loan program for farmers who still have their cotton.

WICHITA FALLS, Oct. 27.—Raymond Davis was given a five-year suspended sentence late today after being convicted of murder with malice aforethought in connection with the death of H. T. Ryan, 71, inmate of the Wichita Falls state hospital, the morning of last Aug. 16.

The jury deliberated but 45 minutes before returning its verdict in the district court of Judge Allan D. Montgomery against the 22-year-old defendant, who formerly lived at Petrolia.

Testimony employed by the state was given by physicians, attendants at the hospital and one inmate.

PEOPLE MUST GET BEHIND ONE MOVEMENT FOR A NEW SITE FOR FEDERAL BUILDING

Since Thomas L. Blanton, congressman from the 17th district, paid a visit to Ranger last week and announced that an appropriation was ready, in Washington, for a new postoffice for the city of Ranger, much discussion has been carried on as to the best location for such a building.

The Chamber of Commerce has prepared and will mail out Saturday a number of postcards, on which the people of Ranger can indicate their preference as to location. The government will either buy a vacant lot and build a new building, buy a lot on which there is an old building, tear it down and rebuild, or purchase a suitable building, remodel it so it would be suitable for a government building and use it. Accessibility to the business portion of the town and the depot are two of the main requirements for such a location.

Several sites have been discussed and the Chamber of Commerce, being a community organization, working for the interest of the entire citizenship and not for any individual interests, has taken a stand that has been approved by the majority of the business leaders of the town. It is advocating a site until the voice of the people has been heard and will then advocate the one on which the most people vote.

It has been pointed out by many of the merchants that either plan to have their advantages. If a new building is to be erected from the ground up it will furnish employment for a large number of men. Labor interests have begun circulation of a petition requesting an entirely new building.

Others, however, have pointed out that there are available buildings that are a credit to the town that could be made into a postoffice building that would be equally as much a credit to the town and the federal government. The Commercial State Bank building, it has been mentioned by many, is such a building. It is well selected the buildings to the rear would be torn down, the site of these buildings paved and made into a parking lot and the entire interior of the building torn out and remodeled into a postoffice. This would mean that as much, or almost as much labor would be used as in the erection of a new building. Some contend that this plan would leave more money in Ranger, because in building a new postoffice most of the money would be spent for materials that would come from out of town and the building would be erected on contract, which would likely have to be let to someone from out of town.

It has also been pointed out that the government requires such a large bond for construction of a new building that local contractors cannot qualify because it is impossible for them to make the bond, while if a building here should be used local contractors would stand a chance of securing the job. For instance, it was mentioned, at Coleman a new building was erected and many complaints were heard that little local labor was used, while at San Angelo the government built an extension and remodeled the old postoffice and all contracts were given to local contractors and local labor was used.

If the bank building should be sold it will be necessary to remodel some other building in town for the bank, which will call for additional work. If the bank plan should be worked out some new houses will be built in Ranger, one party now waiting for this to happen so he can start work on a new brick home.

In addition, those favoring the bank building as a postoffice site argue, the money paid for the building would be enough to permit the bank to liquidate all frozen accounts, hereby releasing thousands of dollars to get back into the channels of trade in Ranger and improve business conditions and making way for the organization of a national bank with protected deposits as a member of the federal reserve system.

All plans have their merits and each of the locations submitted have some advantages. It is up to the voters of the city, who have a voice in every civic improvement of any magnitude, to decide on a site and let their wishes be known. As soon as the voters center on a project the government is ready to begin working on a postoffice building for the city immediately, according to the statements made by Congressman Blanton on his recent visit here.

Last Rites For T. H. Conner at 3:30 Saturday P. M.

EASTLAND, Texas, Oct. 27.—Funeral services for Chief Justice Truman H. Conner of Fort Worth will be held at the First Methodist church of Eastland at 3:30 Saturday afternoon following services at the First Methodist church of Fort Worth at 9:30 o'clock Saturday morning.

The Eastland Masonic Lodge will conduct services at the grave. Burial will be in the Eastland cemetery.

Active pallbearers will be J. E. Hickman, W. P. Leslie, O. C. Funderburk, B. W. Patterson, O. F. Chastain, George W. Davenport, C. L. Garrett of Eastland and D. K. Scott of Cisco.

Chief Justice Truman H. Conner, a member of the Second Court of Civil Appeals since 1898, died in a hospital at Temple at 10:40 o'clock Thursday morning. Members of the family were at the bedside.

He was stricken last Saturday at the hospital where he had gone for a clinical examination. He had been in ill health since last winter when he suffered an attack of influenza.

Judge Conner rounded out 46 years of continuous service as a judge on July 4, 1933. With a single exception he had served longer on the bench than any man known in the United States.

Born in Peru, Ind., he came to Texas when a youth with his parents. He was educated at Marvin College, Waxahachie, during 1873-1874. Later he attended Trinity University, then located in Tehuacana, graduating from the law department in the class of 1896.

He began his practice of law in Eastland and in 1887 was appointed by Governor Ross as judge of Forty-second District Court. He was elected chief justice of the Second Court of Civil Appeals in 1898 and had served continuously in that position since that date.

Judge Conner was married to Miss Sallie Jones, Cook county, in 1882. He was married a second time to Mrs. Ophelia Polk, daughter of Judge J. H. Brigham, district judge, Bastrop, La., and consul under President Cleveland at El Paso and Jamaica. Later he was married to Miss Mozella Eleanor Dry, Fort Worth.

Judge Conner was a member of the Masonic Lodge, Knights Templar, Knights of Pythias and the Methodist church.

As a hobby, Judge Conner has been interested for more than 30 years in legends of buried Spanish gold in Eastland county.

In recent years Judge Conner talked of taking up the trail again for the treasures, which were mentioned by J. Frank Dobie in his "Coronado's Children."

Members of his immediate family include his wife, a son, George M. Conner, an attorney of Fort Worth; three daughters, Mrs. T. R. James, Fort Worth; Mrs. James Dailey, El Paso, and Miss Margaret Conner, Albuquerque, N. M.; a brother, Earl Conner, Eastland and a sister, Mrs. Maude Coleman, Miles.

Canada's Foreign Trade Satisfactory

MONTREAL.—Canada's foreign trade, though still showing a shrinkage, has developed a highly satisfactory trend for the 12 months ended August, 1933, and discloses a favorable balance of nearly $115,000,000 as compared with a favorable balance at the end of August last year of only $38,576,890.

The favorable balance of trade this year was made up by a decrease of $112,062,385 in imports into Canada and a decline of only $35,950,355 in exports.

Canada's trade with the United States continues to show a much heavier drop in imports from that country than sales to it. Sales to the United States in the year ended August this year were a little less than $150,000,000, a drop of about $50,000,000, while imports from the United States were about $211,000,000, a decline of $80,000,000.

SOMERVILLE, Mass.—The Medford-Somerville town line runs through Harold Kline's drug store and a jury must decide whether Medford police have jurisdiction on an alleged liquor law violation. U. S. Files Ruin 'Perfect Crime'

A fingerprint chart which he did not know existed ruined the "perfect crime" of Edward McCann, Detroit speakeasy owner, held as a wife slayer. He chopped up the body and hid the parts in several places. The head still is missing. But fingerprints taken in 1922 by the immigration bureau revealed identity. McCann was arrested and confessed. He is shown in a Chicago jail, reading his confession.

RANGERS TIE WEATHERFORD IN 0-0 GAME

The Ranger Junior College Rangers, playing their second conference game of the season, played their third 0 to 0 game of the season last night at Weatherford against the Weatherford Junior College Coyotes.

The Rangers threatened several times throughout the game, but were unable to gain against the strong defenses of the Coyotes when near the goal line. In the last quarter of the game the Rangers drove through to the two-yard line and on another occasion went to the nine-yard stripe, where their attack was halted by a determined coyote line.

Both teams were exceptionally strong on the defense, especially in the line. As the end of the game neared both teams resorted to the air when it became apparent that they could not score on running plays.

Roy Brown, quarterback of the Rangers, did the majority of the ball carrying, though Buzz Daniels, who went in at fullback, gained considerable ground, though he was unable to gain after the 10-yard line was passed.

The punting of Isbell kept the ball in Ranger territory early in the game to keep the Rangers from getting in scoring position.

The starting lineups:
Ranger—Vaughn and Landers, ends; Murray and Fulcher, tackles; Williams and Townsend, guards; Bray, center; R. Brown, quarter; Delmer Brown and Weaver, halfbacks, and Taylor, fullback.

Weatherford—B. Isbell and Ranspot, ends; Allen and Briden, tackles; Hamer and Jones, guards; Gray, center; M. Isbell, quarter; Vanhoosier and Splawn, halfbacks, and Rutledge, fullback.

Sweet Potatoes Grow To Large Sizes In Farms Near Ranger

W. M. Bailey, who has a farm three miles north of Ranger, is also a sweet potato grower in his own way.

Today he brought to town two sweet potatoes he grew on his farm. One measured 23 inches in circumference and the other was 22 inches long. The round one weighed seven pounds, while the longer of the two was more of a runt, weighing only six and a half pounds. He said he raised a number that weighed between five and six pounds.

Mr. Bailey said he had only a small patch this year, but that last year he raised an acre of potatoes and gathered 800 bushels from it. He fertilizes his potatoes and takes good care of them throughout the growing season, cultivating them intensively.

REPORTS ARE CALLED FOR; NO CONTRACTS

Technical Compliance With Code Not Sufficient Without Signature, NRA Head Says.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 27.—National Recovery Administrator Hugh S. Johnson said today that he would recommend prosecution of the Ford Motor Company should it have failed to meet the requirement of the N. R. A. automotive code when the time for compliance has expired.

Reports from the Ford company have been called for by the National Automobile association and should they not be furnished it would constitute a violation of the N. R. A. code, it is stated. A number of large concerns, including Ford, have not signed the code. Ford, however, is said to have technically complied with the code but this, without signing the code, does not suffice.

Ford is not eligible to obtain government contracts until he has signed the code and government agencies, it is reported, are refusing to consider low bids submitted by Ford dealers on cars and trucks because of the fact that he has not signed the code.

DEARBORN, Mich., Oct. 27.—Because the automobile code under the National Recovery Act is the law of the land the Ford Motor Company expects to sign it and comply with its provisions, the United Press has learned.

DREAM OF THE FATHERS THAT WILL COME TRUE

Congratulations to the legislature! A bill to make possible a further construction program of six major buildings on the University of Texas campus received its final vote and was sent to Gov. Miriam A. Ferguson for approval. Final house vote was 70 to 33. Gov. Ferguson submitted the bill for legislative action. This measure is known as the university bond bill, secured by grazing and surface rentals. It provides for the construction of the central building of the campus. It permits the university to borrow money and finance the construction of five dormitories on the campus. New dormitories will cost from $200,000 to $500,000 each. It is planned to add two more dormitories for men in the unit now containing the first of a ultimate nine, as well as three dormitories for women in newly acquired campus lands near the Littlefield Memorial dormitory.

Place this in the glorious record: The last but one of the old wooden shacks on the campus has been torn down. Workers are removing the last shack.

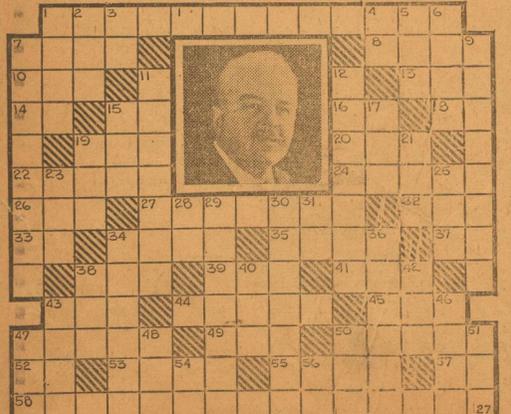

It was a dream of the fathers and the founders of the university in the long ago to plan and create and build and foster as great a university for this western empire commonwealth as would be known to the American world. Now it is on the way. Their dreams came true.

Congratulations to the senate of Texas. Its state affairs committee unanimously rejected the house resolution by Harry N. Graves and others preventing the University of Texas from supplementing salaries up to within 30 per cent of the levels of the salaries of 1932. Place it in the record that the action of the state affairs committee killed the Graves resolution as dead as a dead snail. This resolution sought to declare the legislative intent was to prevent supplementing the deeply cut salaries everywhere except in the A. & M. college. Furthermore, it was a sweeping endorsement as well as vindication of the attorney general's ruling, the action of the university, and the board of regents. Now on with the huge building program. Push it to its final conclusion.

PEEPING THRU THE KNOTHOLE

With BILL MAYES (Continued on page 2) paper somewhere. We may even have to resort to letting someone write it for us. After this week-end, according to the copies of schedules we have at hand, there will be a lull in football for a while. According to the Bulldog schedule there is not a game on tap until the Bulldogs meet the Lobos, if there are any left by that time, at Cisco on Nov. 11. The Lobos have lost one man because he has been in school too long, another because he forgot to go to school last spring and was not within the eligibility rules and a couple of others because they forgot to take their books home, or something. It seems, according to Bruce Francis, Brownwood sports scribe, that the two lads didn't make passing grades. But a ruling in the Cisco schools, we learn from the same source, is that if anyone fails to pass a certain subject two years in succession he is automatically advanced to the next grade. Maybe because they thought he had been exposed to the subject long enough. But two years on one

We stood out in front of the Ghoslin hotel last night for 30 minutes waiting for the pep rally to start. Finally when the band and pep squad marched right down the street we thought they would march right back again, but they didn't. The rally was held down the street we thought they Pharmacy, so we didn't see it. We were too lazy to walk down that way. Later we figured it all out that Willard Swaney was ineligible because he had had pep rallies in front of his store for eight semesters, so they moved it on down the street.

Depression Brought More Prestige For Small Newspapers

By United Press MINNEAPOLIS, Minn.—The depression brought greater prestige and community usefulness to the small town daily newspaper, Thomas F. Barnhart, of the University of Minnesota journalism department, contended recently. Increased prestige and usefulness has been brought about in five ways, Barnhart said. They are: 1. Newspapers have carried on rescue activities in their communities at times when banks, industries and individuals were faced with ruin. 2. Due to the loss of prestige of veteran leaders, the newspapers have taken their places as community spokesmen. 3. The decline of the service club has given the newspaper an opportunity to meet a community need. 4. The papers have served as a storehouse of information on scores of movements aimed at ameliorating the hard times. 5. Editors have learned that to save their newspapers they must first save their communities, and to this task they have set themselves wholeheartedly.

CLEAN FOOTBALL by JOCK SUTHERLAND FAMOUS PITT COACH

A COUPLE of years ago officials banned the flying tackle, thinking it would reduce the number of grid accidents. But it's still used on rare occasions. A flying tackle is somewhat similar in effect to clipping, unlike clipping, it is more likely to result in injury to the tackler as well as the runner. As used today, it is brought into play when a runner is loose in an open field and likely to score. The runner, if the tackle is successful, is thrown heavily to the ground due to the momentum of the tackler and himself. Broken bones are common in this type of tackle, and not only that, but the tackler is threatened with the flying cleats of the runner, and with having a knee planted in his face if the tackle is made from the front or side. The sketch shows a flying tackle from the rear.

By United Press SANDWICH, Mass.—A pair of checkered pajamas was used as a distress signal by the crew of the 35-foot schooner Cimba to attract the attention of coast guards here recently. There seems to be less popular sentiment for Uncle Sam's recovery act than for Sally Rand's uncover act.

I keep coming back to that word "balanced" on the back of the Chesterfield package

YOU often hear the word balance—something is out of balance—top-heavy, not on an "even keel."

What you read, "Chesterfield Cigarettes are a balanced blend," means that the right amounts of the right kinds of tobacco are welded together; that is, home-grown tobaccos, the right kind, the right quantity—are blended and cross-blended with tobaccos from Turkey and Greece.

When these tobaccos are balanced one against the other, then you have a mild cigarette.

When they are in balance, then you have a better-tasting cigarette.

May we ask you to read again the statement on the back of the Chesterfield package? May we ask you to try Chesterfield?

WASHINGTON.—Don't be surprised if there is a considerable reorganization within the NRA soon.

With preliminary organization pretty well completed, the confusion is settling down into a semi-permanent organization that must be effected to carry through its authorized two years of life.

Recent conference in which General Hugh S. Johnson, Commerce Secretary Daniel Roper, Labor Secretary Frances Perkins, Interior Secretary Harold L. Ickes, and others took part are expected to result in changes of personnel, and in transferring some NRA functions to regular departments.

And don't forget that General Johnson himself, known from the start to be an organizer and promoter rather than an executive, may consider soon that his part in launching the recovery move has been largely mopped up. He never said he'd keep the job forever.

THE speech of former Senator Jim Watson at Chicago the other day, in which he made a frontal attack on administration policies, is important for several reasons.

First, by pointing out the duty of the party out of power to be a real "opposition," Watson gave some indication that the real effort to reform the shattered Republican ranks is in view.

Second, it is among the first stirrings among defeated Old Guardsmen to get back in the limelight. Some observers here felt it was the first gun in a campaign to boost Senator Jim for the Republican nomination in 1936, but that's not likely. A much better bet is that there is to be a change soon in the Republican national chairmanship, and that Jim Watson is slated for that job.

You probably don't remember, but the present chairman is Frank Sanders, of Indiana, also a former congressman who became Coolidge's secretary. It's the fact that you didn't remember that makes the change to the more vocal Watson likely.

THAT patenting of the Blue Eagle the other day, and assigning of the copyright to the United States, was to make possible the prosecution for unauthorized printing. Also, it was good publicity.

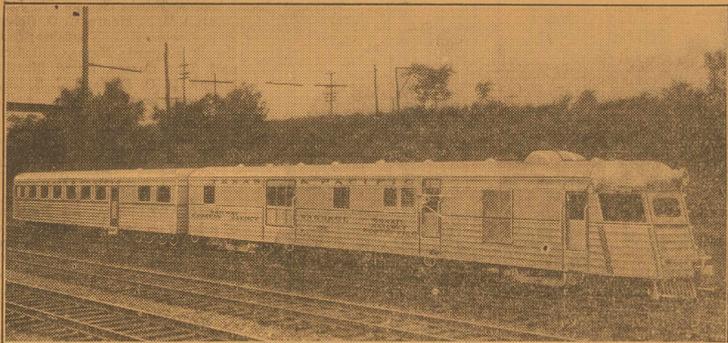

But the real activity at the patent office these days is in applications for trademarks for whisky. There have been more of them than for beer in the whole six months since 3.2 was legalized. Commissioner Coe at the patent office says the rush for whisky trademarks is six times as heavy as in any full year since 1917. Many come from abroad.

IT isn't so easy for the third under-secretary of the Bureau of Circumlocution to get a government automobile as it used to be. The New Deal stopped most of that, and nobody drives a government car these days except on government business, unless he's a pretty big shot. So a new dodge was figured out.

That third under-secretary gets hold of a friend in the narcotic or prohibition bureau, and borrows one of the many cars that have been seized for liquor or dope violations. It's much better, really than having the government buy him one for $10,000, and pay his chauffeur to boot.

FIRST STAINLESS STEEL PASSENGER TRAIN TO BE PUT IN SERVICE BY TEXAS & PACIFIC

America's first complete stainless steel, high-speed, super-comfort railway train will go into service early in November, it was announced by Frank Jensen, general passenger agent of the Texas and Pacific railway. This gas-electric, rubber tired and air conditioned train was built by the Edward G. Budd Manufacturing company of Philadelphia. It will be placed in experimental service between Fort Worth and Texarkana on the Denton division of the T. & P., following its exhibition in Chicago at the Century of Progress.

It is hoped that the train will answer the need for economical rail passenger transportation with maximum speed, safety and comfort, Mr. Jensen said. Other great railroads are planning and discussing somewhat similar improvements in equipment but it has remained in the Texas and Pacific to place the first complete train in actual service. As the T. & P. pioneered in providing air cooled and air conditioned dining and lounge cars for its passengers, so it is now the first to introduce air conditioned coaches for the comfort of southwestern travelers.

The new T. & P. train is made up of two units, the forward compartment at the front to surpass in riding comfort anything on rails. While the pneumatic tires on the wheels and the automotive type roller bearings in the axles contribute materially to the riding comfort, the body and spring construction and heat and sound insulation also are major factors in providing for the complete riding ease of passengers. Safety features of the train include a quick-acting duplex braking system, complete automatic lighting and signal equipment and automatic power and electric shut-off.

Forgotten Sweetheart

BEGIN HERE TODAY
JOAN WARRING, pretty Memphis girl, and BOB WESTON, son of a New York millionaire, meet in Memphis and fall in love. Through the scheming of HARRY PAT COURTNEY, who is trying to take Bob away from Joan, they become estranged.
PAT WARRING, Joan's younger sister, is in an automobile accident in which JERRY FORESTER, her escort, is killed. They had just come from a restaurant and Jerry had been drinking. Heartbroken, Pat runs away to New York to marry him. Believing Bob two years searches—a search for Pat and a search for a job.
Joan is engaged to sing in a night club owned by handsome BARNEY BLAKE, who proves a "steady friend."
Pat loses her job as a model in a wholesale house. Barney persuades Joan to move into the apartment where his stepmother lives.
A few weeks later Joan finds Pat in a shabby rooming house, very ill. She recovers and during her convalescence Barney and Joan are drawn closer together. Joan reads that Barbara is in New York and will be the guest of honor at a party given by Bob's father. Barney asks Joan to marry him. Believing Bob is lost to her, she accepts Barney.
NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XXVI

JOAN told Barney, "We can't make any plans now. We must get Pat well and strong first."
"We'll have Pat fit as a fiddle in no time," Barney assured her, "and then you're going to marry me."
As soon as Pat was well enough she was moved to a light, airy hospital room that was always filled with Barney's flowers. Lois and Jane sent flowers too. Joan's roses were there also, but Barney's magnificent big basket was the one Pat's eyes were always seeking. The big basket was followed by others with cards bearing impudent messages in Barney's bold handwriting—"Hurry up and get well, infant. I believe you're taking," or "Great Scott, how long do I have to keep this up?"
Pat sparkled and glowed over each message, putting the cards away carefully in her handbag.
When she was stronger she was moved to a sun porch for a while each day. From her vantage place near the door she would watch eagerly for the tall figure that presently would come striding down the corridor. It came to Pat as a shock one day to realize it was Barney for whom she watched and not Joan.

For a moment she felt a queer sense of disloyalty, but brushed the thought away impatiently. Absurd. Joan was an angel. Pat told herself she couldn't do without Joan's visits. But Barney was fun. Then there were short drives with Joan and Barney. And one day she was moved into the Park avenue apartment with Joan.
Three more weeks passed and then Pat began to fret against the enforced idleness. A faint color was beginning to show in her cheeks. The cheeks were rounding out, and strength was coming as Pat's appetite improved.
"When I feel a little stronger I'll have to get something to do," Pat said. "I can't bear this sitting around doing nothing all day."

IT WAS Barney who came to the rescue. "So you want to go to work, do you?" he said. "Want to be secretary to a rising young business man? Want to be brow-beaten and sworn at if you misspell words and put commas in the wrong places?"
Pat's eyes met his. A flush mantled her face. "Barney, you aren't by any chance offering me a job, are you?"
"Take it or leave it," Barney said roughly. "I'm rude and rough. This job won't be an easy one."
"I'll adore you rude and rough," said Pat. "And I don't care how hard the work is. Oh, what a break!"
"Call it a break if you like," Barney said, smiling at her enthusiasm. "Miss Rodgers liked it so little that she's leaving to be married."
"I'll never do that," Pat said. "You've hired a secretary for life, Barney."
"Three more weeks then," Barney said. "That's when Miss Rodgers is leaving. Be a good girl and get strong and well by that time."
Pat grew strong and well, happiness, good food, rest and fresh air working a complete cure. She was thriving in her new environment. She had gained back the lost pounds. Her eyes were like blue stars again and her voice had a lilt.

"The kid's a glutton for work," Barney told Joan one day. "Eats it up. And she's efficient too."
"I know," smiled Joan. "She was always like that."
"Just a little steam engine," said Barney, smiling indulgently. He liked to see Pat's enthusiasm over things that had become commonplace to him. It was pleasant to watch Pat.
Pat thought the Jigsaw was the most wonderful place in New York and Barney the most important man in the whole metropolis. She radiated pride and satisfaction in her work.
"Little idiot," said Barney one day when he came in with the daily roses which Pat insisted were quite as necessary for the office as the night club. "Who ever heard of a pretty office!"
"Well, I stay in the office," said Pat. "And I like roses."
"If the roses are for you, Pat, that's different," Barney said slowly. After that he would help her arrange them. Sometimes his clumsy brown fingers would touch her slim, white ones.

ONCE when this happened he drew his hand away abruptly, so abruptly that the vase tilted and only Pat's quickness saved it from turning over. She wiped the drops of water from her hand.
"Clumsy!" she said. "Can't you even put roses in a vase? My, you'll make a helpless husband."
Barney did not answer. He stalked back to his desk, took his seat and apparently became absorbed in the business of reading his mail, arranged in the neat stack in front of him.
The glass-topped desk was shining. The brass ash trays were kept free of ashes, rubbed to an extra brightness. Pat's desk was equally neat. The light with the green shade, which she used when she worked late, was at one side. A notebook lay open on the other, an array of sharpened pencils ready.
"So you think I'll make a bum husband," said Barney after a moment.
Pat whirled around in her chair to find Barney staring at her. "Well, for goodness sake!" she exclaimed. "I didn't dream you were so sensitive. Just a great

Carwife-Suits Ceremony

Read In Home Wedding
 Miss Ruby Carwife, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Carwife, became the bride of Herbert Suits Thursday evening, Rev. G. W. Thomas officiating in the ring ceremony beneath an arch of white chrysanthemums and fern, intermingled with rosebuds and baby breath. Bridal tapers lighted the room.

The marriage vows were taken in the recently completed home of the bride and bridegroom, Cherry street.

The pre-nuptial music, Lohengrin's wedding march, was played by Miss Gillian Buchanan, Juliaann Connelly, and Mattie Beryl Montgomery. At the close of the ceremony, the trio played MacDowell's "To a Wild Rose."

The bride wore an informal afternoon gown of white chiffon and velvet, with matching accessories. She carried a bouquet of white chrysanthemums and fern. Immediately following the ceremony, the bride presided at the cutting of the wedding cake, which centered the reception table, presided over by Mrs. H. H. Durham. Table appointments named a bridal motif.

The honoree was led into a darkened room by an old witch, who dashed ahead on her broom stick. They were met at the door by a spook, who escorted the recent bride to a black tub set over an improvised fire and bubbling with gifts.

Refreshments of pumpkin pie topped with cream, and coffee were served to Mmes. V. V. Cooper, Jack Blackwell, Fred Whitefield, Elzo Patterson, W. V. Patterson, Alvin Crawley, Charles Hummel, J. W. Cash Prize Is Offered for Best Corn Meal Name

A. J. Ratliff, Ranger feed merchant announces in today's Times that he will give $5 in cash for the best name for his new corn meal now being ground at the store.

Just recently a new corn meal mill was installed and it is from this mill the new meal is made. Not only does Mr. Ratliff grind meal and feed but he has recently installed a flour attachment to his mill and Ranger people can secure whole wheat flour or bring in their wheat and he will grind it into whole wheat flour.

His announcement will be found on another page of this issue—this is certainly an opportunity for some Ranger citizen to make some easy money. There are no strings to the offer; all you do is write a name of not more than two words (suited to meal) and bring or send to A. J. Ratliff not later than Wednesday noon of next week. Three judges will make the selection and the winner will be announced in the Times of Next Thursday, Nov. 2.

"I Loved a Woman" Features Robinson

Edward G. Robinson, Alfred E. Green and David Karsner—the same star-director-author combination which made "Silver Dollar," one of the outstanding productions of last season—are again linked in "I Loved a Woman"—which is built around the activities of Chicago pork-packing millionaires—and the clandestine love affair of the son and daughter of rival plutocrats.

"I Loved a Woman," the first National production which opens at the Arcadia Theatre today, deals with the generation which saw the defeat of the Silver Kings by the Gold Barons. It depicts the overthrow of the Beef Barons by the Trust Busters.

Robinson, who has been stepping himself for weeks past in the history of the years covered by "I Loved a Woman," is more enthusiastic over the role of John Hayden than any part he has played since giving up the stage for the screen.

Weekly Sunday School Lesson

PICTURES OF SILVER
By BEULAH K. HICKS
Romans 13:12-14; 14:7-9, 15-21
TEMPERANCE

Paul wrote the Epistle to the Romans near the close of his stay in Corinth, A. D. 57. He expected to follow his letter to the great city of Rome, soon after its reception.

He wrote of great theological truths of the Christian life, fighting sin, adultery, murder, theft, covetousness and others as the dark side against the spiritual life.

The opening verses of our lesson, 12-14, tells how to fulfill the great law, "Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself."

"But put ye on the Lord Jesus Christ."

He speaks of Christ as the armour of light. Light always brings understanding. There is no power or wisdom that does not come from God.

"Let us walk becomingly as in the day."

Only the light and knowledge of Christ can bring that desire to the human heart to be clean in the sight of man and God at all times.

"And make no provision for the flesh, to fulfil the lusts thereof."

This means literally to deny the flesh. It also suggests the sad thought of the elaborate pains with which so often sin is planned and sought.

Every saloon or beer parlor or drinking club is a provision for the flesh.

Alcoholic drinks destroy that person's chance to live, when he imbibes such drink and then loudly declares his right to live his own life without interference. It also leads to darker sins that will destroy all love of the spiritual life and put that person outside of God's protecting love.

Nor thieves, nor covetous, nor drunkards, nor revilers, shall inherit the Kingdom of God.—1 Cor. 6:10.

It is the Christian's privilege to wear the "armour of light," the Lord Jesus Christ, the comfort and warmth of his heart and life.

It is this that will make him walk honestly, bravely and happily through all confusion.

It is this armour that will make him understand.

For none of us liveth to himself, and no man dieth to himself.—Romans 14:7.

For the Kingdom of God is not meat and drink; but righteousness, and peace, and joy in the Holy Ghost.—Rom. 14:17.

Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy mind;

Will you experiment ONE WEEK to be RID of Constipation FOR LIFE? Thousands have ended their bowel troubles this way

Get a liquid laxative that can be measured to the drop. Take the amount found to bring a perfect movement. Reduce the dose, as bowels begin to move without help.

Can constipation be overcome? "Yes!" say medical men. "Yes!" say thousands who have followed their advice and know.

You are not likely to cure any case of constipation with salts, pills, tablets, or any habit-forming cathartic. But you can correct this condition by gentle regulation with a suitable liquid laxative.

Why Hospitals use a liquid laxative

The dose of a liquid laxative can be measured. The action can be controlled. It forms no habit; you need not take a "double dose" a day or two later. Nor will a mild liquid laxative irritate the kidneys.

The right liquid laxative brings a perfect movement, without any discomfort at the time, or after.

The wrong cathartic may keep you constipated as long as you keep on using it! And the habitual use of irritating salts, or of powerful drugs

Make the LIQUID TEST: A week with a properly prepared liquid laxative will prove to you that you are on the right track. A few weeks' time, and your bowels can be as regular as clockwork. The secret is the right laxative, and the right dose. A laxative you can measure out, and reduce the dose as the need for help is reduced. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is an approved liquid laxative which every druggist keeps ready for use.
