BREAKFAST IS PLANNED FOR C. C. MEMBERS

The committee, composed of T. J. Anderson, D. Joseph and Calvin Brown, which was appointed to work out details for a Chamber of Commerce breakfast, decided this morning to have the breakfast served in the open at the Willows. Wednesday morning, June 12, had previously been selected as the date, and the time has been set at promptly 6:30. They will be dismissed by 7:45 in order that they may get back to work by 8:30.

Arrangements were made by the committee to have table placed on the grounds at the Willows early Wednesday morning and the breakfast, consisting of scrambled eggs, bacon, toast, coffee and jelly or marmalade, is to be prepared and served by the Paramount cafe.

All members of the Chamber of Commerce are being contacted by letter and are being urged to be present. A return post card is being included in the letter, which must be returned to the Chamber of Commerce secretary by noon Tuesday, June 11, in order that the exact number of breakfasts might be determined.

The meal is to be free of charge and it was pointed out that no drive for funds of any kind would be made, nor would any attempt to secure memberships or donations by any cause be made.

The breakfast is planned as a get-together, at which time short talks will be made and a short report of the activities of the organization during the past three months made.

It will be decided if the members desire to hold the breakfasts as monthly affairs, the ones in the future being paid for by the members who attend. The vote on the subject will be taken Wednesday morning.

Temperance Talk At Baptist Church Tonight at 8 P.M.

Carrying the Women's Christian Temperance Union campaign to Eastland to "Keep Texas Constitutionally Dry" in the election of Aug. 4, Mrs. Thomas V. Jensen of Austin, state secretary of the body, will speak tonight at 8 o'clock in the Baptist church.

The speaking is being sponsored by the Baptist church and Eastland forces interested in retaining dry laws.

COLD WAVE SWEEPS IN AFTER FLOOD

KANSAS CITY, Mo., June 7.—In the wake of flood that took about 180 lives and caused $50,000,000 property damage, a cold wave today moved into the Missouri river basin.

Temperatures dropped to the lowest level for this date in 50 years of records. This was in contrast to conditions in this area last year, when at the start of a record drought, the mercury touched 100 degrees.

Today there was frost in Nebraska. Snow fell at Wichita, Kan. The mercury dropped to 33 degrees in Nebraska. Floods from the Missouri and Kaw rivers spread out in huge lakes to the north and west, for a distance of 500 miles from the Missouri mouth.

People Urged to Take a Part In The Passion Play

According to the announcement made this morning many people of Ranger are invited to take part in the work of the Passion Play, to be presented here June 17, 18 and 19.

Practice has been called for Monday night, 7:30 o'clock, at the Methodist church.

Everyone is urged by the Passion Play committee to take a part and it was pointed out that very little rehearsing would be necessary for the local participants in the play to learn their parts.

Those selected for parts are: Miss Kenneth Wier, Boris Belovskiy, B. A. Tunnell, Gunn, W. H. Clark, Floyd Killingsworth, Truman Head, Smith of Olden, James Campbell, B. S. Lemma, Gaston Dixon, Cecil Cole, G. C. Smith, Roy Moore, Gus Reynolds, E. T. Walton, J. C. Carothers, Hal Hunter, Leslie Hagaman, Charles Moore, J. L. Turpin, and Mmes. A. H. Allison, O. B. Denney, Rex Outlaw, C. I. Wolford, Miss Cozette Wilkinson, Mmes. C. E. May, Ward, M. R. Newham, Roy Jameson, Clyde H. Davis, Raymond Steele, A. N. Larson, and Misses Dorothy Outlaw, Crystelle Head, Gillian and Lucile Buchanan, Marjorie Maddocks, Marjorie Clark, Mary Elizabeth Campbell, Margaret Harman, Mary Dalmont, Marguerite Adamson, and P. A. Tanksley.

Practice will be held for the following program of songs: "Adoration of the Cross," "Palm Branches," "Crucifixion Chorus," and "Hallelujah Chorus."

The program comes under the leadership of Mrs. Walter Harwell and Miss Kenneth Wier.

Colored Citizens to Celebrate June 19th

Announcement was made today that the colored population of Ranger is preparing for a big Emancipation Day celebration in Ranger on Wednesday, June 19.

Bill Allen, who is in charge of the celebration plans, has secured the endorsement of the Chamber of Commerce and is asking contributions from both the colored and white citizens of Ranger.

A big free barbecue and picnic is on the program, with plenty of entertainment being planned.

JAPAN FIRM IN ACTION ON WAR FRONT

TOKYO, June 7.—Japan prepared today for firm military action in northern China as the alternative to immediate Chinese steps to end anti-Japanese activities in the area.

Chinese government leaders were reported meeting in Manching, the new capital, far south of the region.

The Japanese garrison at Tientsin, seaport of Peiping, in the capital in the north, was doubled or trebled.

Japanese staff officers were on their way from Tokyo with secret instructions. Japan has demanded immediate cessation of anti-Jap activities and replacement of the Chinese officials whom it blames for the general atmosphere in the demilitarized zone.

New Cigaret Tax Law Penalties Are Pointed Out

T. D. Whitehorn from the state comptroller's department at Austin, and in charge of 24 counties, including Eastland county, pointed out the penalties for trying to evade the cigarette tax, as provided in House Bill 755, which went into effect on May 11 of this year.

It was pointed out that anyone who purchased cigarettes from any dealer, wholesaler or any seller of cigarettes, was subject to a license of $25 a year and must put the three-cent tax stamp on each package and make a report to the comptroller, or he was subject to a fine of not less than $25 and not more than $200.

"There has been considerable bootlegging of cigarettes from other states by itinerant sellers," Whitehorn said today, "and a concerted drive against them and against those who attempt to evade the cigarette tax laws by purchasing from them is now starting."

The law provides a penalty for anyone who distributes, manufactures, produces, ships, transports, imports into the state or acquires possession of cigarettes without affixing the stamp and it was pointed out that the purchaser as well as the seller is liable to prosecution under the new law, which is now in effect.

"Not only is it a law now that the purchaser must procure a $25 license from the state, but he must affix the stamps to each package he purchases and make a report to the comptroller, or he will be subject to a fine," Whitehorn repeated very emphatically, "and we are beginning our drive against this practice."

It was intimated that considerable information on bootlegging of cigarettes had been secured and the department was empowered to take action under the new law.

Section 25 of the law stipulates that the seller and the consumer of cigarettes upon which the tax has not been paid is equally guilty and subject to the fine of not less than $25 and not more than $200.

Lower Loans On Cotton Urged

WASHINGTON, June 7.—Reduction of cotton loans to 10 cents a pound from 12 cents and continuation of the 4.2 cents a pound processing tax, was recommended today to Secretary of Commerce Daniel Roper by the committee for economic recovery.

The committee comprising private business leaders, submitted a lengthy document entitled "Long Live King Cotton" in which were contained 19 recommendations for aid to the cotton growing and textile industries.

WASHINGTON, June 7.—Speaker Joseph W. Burns today added weight to reports that President Roosevelt would propose higher inheritance and gift taxes to aid in the redistribution of wealth.

Burns said the reports were "probably true."

FEDERAL OIL CONTROL MAY NOT BE USED

WASHINGTON, June 7.—President Roosevelt said today there would be no need for federal oil regulation if all petroleum producing states became parties to an oil compact.

He said he had no objection to congress ratifying the agreement between Oklahoma, Kansas, Texas, New Mexico, California and Louisiana to prevent physical waste in production.

He said, however, that the existing agreement left a need for federal action to protect the eight or 10 oil states not operating under the compact.

Inheritance and Gift Tax Rumors "Probably True"

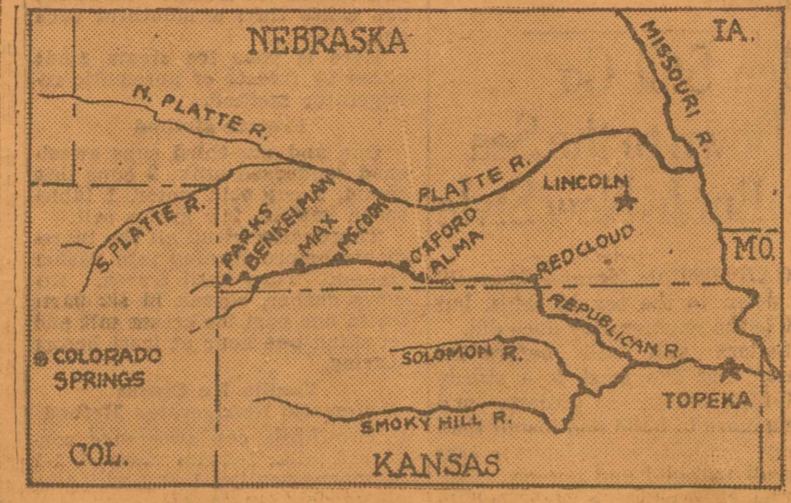

WASHINGTON, June 7.—Speaker Joseph W. Burns today added weight to reports that President Roosevelt would propose higher inheritance and gift taxes to aid in the redistribution of wealth.

Burns said the reports were "probably true."

COURT VISITORS

Visiting attorneys in the 11th Court of Civil Appeals at Eastland Friday included: Harry Tom King, E. M. Overshiner, Abilene; James E. Allison, Frank S. Roberts, Breckenridge; John G. King, Wichita Falls.

Where Floods Took Appalling Toll of Lives and Property

Flood waters from scores of streams, swelled to record proportions, have raged over the area shown in this map, causing property damage estimated at more than $10,000,000, with life loss that may pass 200.

McCook, Neb., was made the center for relief work, after the Republican river burst far out of its banks to inundate towns, sweep over farms, and drive hundreds from their homes. At Alma the flood crest was near the tops of telephone poles. Parks and Max were washed away. Fear is felt that Missouri river, with tributaries pouring flood waters into it, will cause wholesale destruction.

WORK PROJECTS RESUME TODAY OVER COUNTY

Eastland county's relief program once again assumed a more normal condition today when work relief projects, temporarily suspended Monday, resumed. Work on majority of the projects was apportioned up to 50 per cent of their regular budgets.

In Eastland work began anew on the ball park, negro school, College and Neblett streets, and survey of the proposed Mangum dam.

In Ranger work began on the recreational building project, sanitation project and park project.

In Cisco the wood cutting project began as well as the fish hatchery, zoo road, and sanitation project.

Canneries, not affected Monday by the shut-down order, over the county continued at Ranger, Cisco, Eastland, Gorman and Rising Star. The latter two were being operated at full speed because of surplus of fruits and vegetables that necessitated immediate canning.

Basis of the shut-down Monday, Administrator Driscoll said, was a June fund grant of $13,000 instead of the requested $32,535.

Dr. D. T. Wier Is Called to Service In Medical Corps

Lt. D. T. Wier, who received his commission in the medical corps of the reserve officers corps in May, 1933, has received a call to active duty at Fort Bliss, he has announced.

Although the call is to active duty he said today that it was more or less temporary, and he expects to be back in Ranger within a few months to resume his practice of medicine here.

Dr. Wier has been practicing medicine in Ranger for the past year, entering the office of his father after graduating from the Baylor Medical College and serving internships in St. Louis.

He said today, in commenting on his call to active duty, that he did not know just how long he would be away from Ranger, but that he expected to be back within a few months to again take up his practice.

YOUNGSTERS OF PARTY ARE NOW DIVIDED

AMARILLO, June 7.—A battle over new deal measures appeared certain as young democrats gathered here for their annual convention.

Committees had already prepared resolutions backing Roosevelt's economic and social programs, supporting the administration attitude on the public ownership of utilities and advocated calling in all non-taxable securities and issuing bonds that can be taxed.

The resolution was to be brought up late today.

The younger members of the "left wing" group were reported to be favorably disposed toward resolutions lauding the supreme court decision for drawing a sharp line between state and national jurisdiction. They were apparently divided on public ownership of railroads.

Father of Walter Harwell Dies at Home In Sherman

Telegrams were received in Ranger Friday morning from Sherman stating that Walter Harwell's father had passed away at 5 o'clock Friday morning after a long illness.

Funeral services are to be conducted from the First Methodist church of Sherman on Saturday afternoon at 2:30 with interment in the Sherman cemetery.

Word had been received in Ranger Tuesday night that Mr. Harwell was critically ill and his son left immediately to be at his bedside.

Mother and Son Die On Gallows

GEORGETOWN, Del., June 7.—A mother and son were executed on the same gallows at dawn today.

They were Mrs. Mae Carey, 55, and her eldest son, Howard, 27.

They murdered Mrs. Carey's brother for his insurance. Another son, James, 23, is serving life. He was an accomplice. The third son, Lawrence, 21, is in jail for burglary.

The executions took place in the yard of Sussex county prison. From the trap Mrs. Carey called out: "My way is clear. I have nothing else to say."

To Participate In Strawn Dairy Meet

M. Metz Heald, county agent and Rev. Charles W. Estes of Eastland will take part in the meeting tonight at Strawn called by the Chamber of Commerce in that city to encourage dairying industries.

Baldwin New Prime Minister Of England

LONDON, June 7.—Stanley Baldwin, staunch conservative and leader of the Tory party, succeeded James Ramsay MacDonald, former labor ramsfain, today as prime minister of Britain.

The change of leadership was simple. MacDonald, in morning coat and top hat, visited Buckingham palace and drank tea with the king while he submitted his resignation.

The king accepted the resignation and on MacDonald's recommendation called in Baldwin and offered him the position.

Railroads Are Criticized For Ancient Methods

WASHINGTON, June 7.—Sweeping changes in rate structures and methods of computing them, changes in types of equipment and sharp re-arrangement of schedules were recommended today to the nation's railroads by Joseph Eastman, transportation co-ordinator.

Eastman's report criticized present rail practices. It envisioned development of a co-ordinated transportation system including all forms of travel.

He said the report was prepared after a two year survey by his organization.

Methods of handling freight and cars in terminals came in for special censure.

MANY COUNTIES WERE DROPPED FROM THE LIST

EASTLAND, Texas, June 7.—From a field of 25 counties, Eastland county's application for a $375,000 maintenance farm colony project has survived the scrutiny of Austin officials and remains in a group of four on which decision is forthcoming, Judge Clyde L. Garrett reported at the Chamber of Commerce Smoker Thursday night.

The information was contained in a communication from Austin, from contracts of the county pushing the profit, and said officials from Austin would be in the county soon to look over Eastland county's five locations.

The project of the county's submitted five possible locations, one each in Eastland, Ranger, Cisco, Gorman and Rising Star. Other counties that remain in the running are: Johnson, Erath, Hale, and Comanche.

The county's project has received a favorable report from Texas Rural Communities incorporated, Judge Garrett indicated. William Boaz of Fort Worth prepared the project.

An experimental agricultural station may be located in the county, Judge Garrett said. Sites proposed include one in the south part of the county near Rising Star.

Small fire causes $4000 damage federal treasury. After lighting cigar, some work-relief fund executive was probably careless here he threw the dollar bill.

A Pittsburgh executive says more soap is being sold in his city than anywhere else in the world. In fact, you wouldn't know the old place.

UNITY

Men Still Go Down to the Sea But In New Style

GALVESTON, Texas.—Men still go down to the sea in ships, but not in the manner they once did.

Sailors still "sail before the mast," but the mast is a sturdy 100-foot matter of girders, and costs more to build and install than many an old wind-jammer cost overall to build and launch.

The forecastle, or "fo'c'sle," in the old sailing ships, got its name as a joke—the crowded, filthy hole where the exhausted men lived.

Nowadays, the fo'c'sle is "aft" and the sailors have modern tiled shower baths, good food served in a saloon kept spotlessly clean by a steward who serves their meals in shining china.

Mighty changes have come about on the sea. The language is much as it always has been. Sailors still use marlin-spikes, but for splicing wire cables instead of ropes. The dreaded belaying pin has its place in the carpenter shop tool rack. Occasionally it still is used as a defense weapon, even as in the days when Joseph Conrad made the sea romantic.

There are old men who can tell of sleeping with ice in their bunks on the North Atlantic. To them, work on modern freighters is play. They work four hours and are off for another eight.

Pinche, once the sailor's game, is disappearing. Many modern youths, with fraternity pins or keys on their oil dunnage, keep the watch on deck awake with spirited wrangles over the merits of the Culbertson bidding system in contract bridge.

The sea hasn't "gone soft." Far from it. The life always has attracted adventuresome men, along with ambitionless riff-raff from farms and city slums. But the depression has put men afloat who originally would become engineers, surveyors, skilled craftsmen.

On the sea they find outlet for the restless natures that strong spirits have in all such vocations. Sailors still fight; sailors still drink and brawl, but differently, and for different reasons. When they fight today, usually it is because someone has offered an affront that to an old-time sailor would have gone unnoticed.

If you go into a sailor's fo'c'sle today you find literary and scientific magazines along with detective stories. The sailors lie in their bunks—which have good lights, electric fans and adequate ventilation—and read such books.

When they go ashore in Hanava, Colon, Hong Kong or Marseille, they do their share of night-club roistering. But they also pay a visit to the Y. M. C. A. or one of the sea-libraries before sailing time.

CLARKSFIELD, O.—N. W. Lee has been informed by the American Holstein Cattle association that his herd has received six places in the 1934 honor list of the society.

SISTER MARY'S KITCHEN

BY MARY E. DAGUE
NEA Service Staff Writer

THE most successful kitchen shower for a bride that I ever heard of was preceded by a merger of finances, and the purchase of an electrical combination toaster, griddle and waffle maker, which this bride particularly wanted.

Guests each took time presents besides so there were plenty of packages to open before the main gift was presented.

Naturally the refreshments for the shower are of utmost importance to the hostess. She wants something to reflect the spirit of the occasion—not elaborate nor fussy but delicious.

If you want to carry out a pink and white idea, why not have tiny cup cakes with strawberry icing and vanilla ice cream? Make the cup cakes tiny, a mouthful each one.

Here is your ice cream made either by freezer or automatic refrigerator method.

Freezer Method
One and one-third cups sweetened condensed milk, 2 cups thin cream, 1 cup cold water, 1 tablespoon vanilla, few grains salt.

Thoroughly blend all the ingredients before turning into dasher freezer. Turn until frozen. Remove dasher, repack in six parts ice to one part ice cream salt and let stand one hour at least before serving.

Vanilla Ice Cream Automatic Refrigerator Method
Two-thirds cup sweetened condensed milk, 1-2 cup water, 1-2 teaspoons vanilla, 1 cup whipping cream, few grains salt.

Blend milk, water and vanilla. Chill. Add salt to whipping cream and whip until firm. Fold into first mixture and turn into freezing tray. Freeze in automatic refrigerator until a mush. Remove

Tomorrow's Menu

BREAKFAST: Baked rhubarb, cereal, cream, scrambled eggs, muffins, milk, coffee.

LUNCHEON: Pan broiled liver sausage, creamed potatoes, new onions and radishes, tiny cup cakes, milk, tea.

DINNER: Stuffed lamb chops, peas in turnip cups, tomato and pineapple salad, vanilla ice cream with strawberry sauce, milk, coffee.

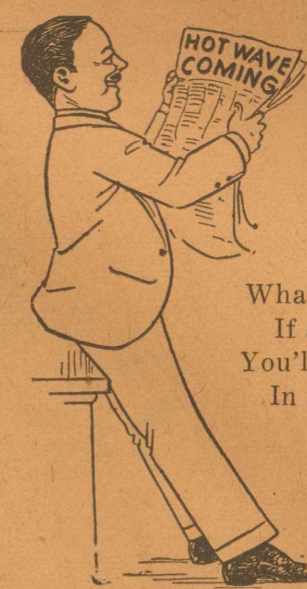

From refrigerator and scrape from bottom and sides of pan and beat until smooth. Even off top and replace in freezing unit until frozen for serving.

Tiny Cup Cakes
Two eggs, 2-3 cup sweetened condensed milk, 3-4 cup flour, 3 teaspoons baking powder, 1-2 teaspoon almond extract, few grains salt.

Beat egg yolks with a Dover beater until thick and lemon colored. Add milk and continue beating until thoroughly blended. Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder and salt and sift again. Sift slowly into first mixture and stir until smooth. Add flavoring and fold in whites of eggs beaten until stiff. Four into tiny paper baking cups and bake fifteen minutes in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.).

Strawberry Frosting
Two and one-half cups confectioners' sugar, 4 tablespoons sweetened condensed milk, 1-4 cup crushed fresh strawberries, 1 tablespoon lemon juice.

Sift sugar and stir into milk. Add berries forced through 2 coarse sieve. Add lemon juice and beat until smooth and creamy. Spread on cold cakes.

DESDEMONA

The Desdemona Eastern Star chapter had public installation of officers Friday night at the Masonic hall. Fruit punch and cookies were served to the guests as they arrived. After a short time spent socially downstairs all went up to the hall where the first number was an entering march by the retiring officers. The invocation was then given by Rev. H. H. Nance, which was followed by the singing of "America." The retiring worthy matron, Mrs. Roy Ashburn, gave a welcome address and a tribute to her officers, giving original verses of poetry about each one who had served so well with her during the year. As the closing act of her year as worthy matron she presented a gift from the chapter to R. J. Krapf, who was closing his tenth year as proficient in the secret work of the order that he has on many occasions assisted in conferring degrees at other towns. The installation of officers was then had with Mrs. W. C. Bedford as installing officer, Mrs. R. J. Krapf as installing marshal and Mrs. Mattie Henry as installing chaplain. Those installed were: Mrs. Clarence Ragland, worthy matron; R. J. Krapf, worthy patron; Mrs. Fred Welder, associate matron; Clarence Ragland, associate patron; Mrs. Roy Rushing, secretary; Mrs. J. E. Heeter, treasurer; Mrs. A. C. Robert, conductress; Mrs. J. H. Jackson, associate conductress; Mrs. T. L. Acrea, marshal; Mrs. M. P. Williams, chaplain; Mrs. Gid Tarpley, warden; Mrs. R. J. Krapf, sentinel; Mrs. Roy Ashburn, Adah; Mrs. Gifford Acrea, Ruth; Mrs. I. N. Williams, Esther; Mrs. C. W. Maltby, Martha; Mrs. D. E. Lewis, Electa. A ceremony of the gift of emblematic flowers to the five star points was sung by the following girls dressed in organdie dresses of the colors for each station: Anita Ashburn Gaynell Parks, Evelyn Moore, Geraldine Moore and Iris Reid. A ceremony of presentation of flowers and good wishes to the incoming matron and of flowers and a past matron's pin to the retiring matron were beautifully rendered. Mrs. C. W. Maltby then gave a reading, "Others," which was very appropriate. The closing number was a song by Jack Hanson and Junior Merrill, with Miss Latrell McGuire, accompanist. Miss Nell Robert played for the marches during the program. A large crowd attended.

Plan of U. S. Fathers Confronts Us Anew

While the specialists down at Washington grope about among the wreckage of the NRA to see if any of the pieces can be patched up and used again the rest of us might properly take time out to meditate over the underlying issue which the U. S. Supreme Court's decision brings into prominence.

That issue is nothing less than the question, How far can the original American attitude toward the functions of the central government be preserved in the face of modern conditions?

The confusion of thought which resulted in erection of an NRA framework so completely unconstitutional that the court was unanimous in knocking it down comes straight from the fact that we tend to look on the federal government in a light entirely different from that in which its founders viewed it.

The men who founded the American government represented many schools of thought, but they were close to agreement on one point: they distrusted a strong central government as an enemy of democracy.

Their first attempt to found a government left the several states almost independent. The articles of confederation were too loose. It took only a few years of experience to prove that a tighter union was necessary; but even when the existing constitution was framed, the framers took pains to limit the powers of the federal government, and to reserve all possible rights to the states.

Since then the whole structure of society has changed. In place of a predominantly agricultural nation, in which each community was largely self-sufficient, we got a tremendously complex industrial nation with commercial and financial ties that made every section dependent on all the others.

In the face of that change, there arose a feeling that many problems could be handled properly only by the national government. We long ago discovered, for instance that railroad regulation would fail if left to the states. We seem to be moving toward a similar attitude in regard to public utilities.

Now is the time for all citizens to put on their "Hustling Clothes" and go after everything in sight to develop new business for the home city.

Typhoid Vaccine Is Now Recommended

AUSTIN, Tex.—Now is the time according to Dr. Charles D. Reece, director, Bureau of Communicable Diseases, to be vaccinated against typhoid fever, a disease that has cost the lives of more than 2,000 Texans in the past four years.

Typhoid fever has been eliminated in our army and navy through vaccination. The typhoid vaccine is not a serum. This preventive treatment of typhoid fever consists of three small hypodermic "shots" given every 5 to 7 days until three injections are given. Such a treatment protects you from taking the typhoid fever for two to three years.

Consult your family physician today in regards to typhoid prevention. Invest in typhoid against this often fatal disease. This form of protection insures you and your family against possible long confinement, great economic loss, and perhaps death.

You may be so unfortunate as to drink contaminated milk, water, or other food containing the typhoid bacilli and contract the disease this year. In selecting a place for a vacation choose one where you know that the water and milk supply is pure. Be sure that the kitchen and dining room are screened to protect food from flies. When camping it is best to boil water used for drinking, unless you know that it is pure. Clear, sparkling spring water may be polluted by drainage.

In trying to keep the Far East's "Open Door" from closing, Uncle Sam seems to be continually putting his foot in it.

Now

LOW LONG DISTANCE night RATES BEGIN AT 7 P.M.

Heretofore lowest rates on "station-to-station" calls were available at 8:30 p. m.

Now... beginning June 1... this reduced rate period has been advanced to 7 p. m., a more convenient hour at which to call. These low night rates are about 40% less than corresponding charges in the daytime.

There is no reduction on "person-to-person" calls. As formerly, rates for these are the same at all hours.

• Transatlantic telephone talk becomes cheaper, too. New night rates to Europe, $9.00 less than the day charge, between 5 p. m. and 5 a. m.

Summer Sweethearts

By Mabel McElliott © 1935, NEA Service, Inc.

BEGIN HERE TODAY
 Katharine Strykhurst, beautiful, 20, is in love with Michael Heathereoe who runs a riding school. Katharine's father is rich and her stepmother, Bertine, is snobbish. Zoe Parker, Katharine's friend, has an unhappy love affair and is saved from suicide by young Dr. John Keyes.

Sally Moon, local coquette, tricks Michael into an engagement. Katharine hears he is to marry Sally and is broken-hearted.

She overhears two detectives asking for Michael's address and, thinking him in danger, rushes to warn him. Michael sets off with Katharine in her car. He tells her he loves her and asks her to marry him. Impulsively Katharine agrees. They are married in an obscure little town. Then Michael goes back to face the detectives.

Now Go On With the Story
CHAPTER XXVI
 The grim-faced men met Michael on the steps. "You're Heathereoe?"

"I am," Michael faced them easily. There was a casual poise about the tall young man in the worn tweeds. The elder of the strangers said, "Born at Castle Bønegal in Ballymeena?"

Michael shrugged his broad shoulders. "I was born in Ireland. My father never said—"

"Raised at Bar-X ranch, five miles out of a town called Watson's Gully, Montana?" the man pursued, quite as if the other had not spoken.

"What's this all about?" Michael asked, with a hint of steel in his quiet voice. "I find you fellows in full charge of my house, asking questions, taking possession without by your leave or—"

"Hold your horses, young feller!" the heavier, taller of the two intruders interrupted. "We've orders to find a Michael Heathereoe, aged 26, born to Francis Albert Drayton Heathereoe and his wife, Muriel, at Donegal in Ireland."

"Well, I've told you I'm he," said Michael in some impatience and, it would seem, disgust. "What about it?"

"Much about it, young feller me lad." The detective rolled the words on his tongue with unction, enjoying the flash of anger in his opponent's eyes. "You've come into money, and that's the straight of it. 'Tisn't often we get a job like this and get the back of yer hand for it, like. Mostly it's crooks we're after—we're a very well known firm, d'ye see?" He extended, between a rather soiled forefinger and thumb, a business card which Michael accepted with every evidence of distrust.

"Malley & Gerhardt, detectives," he read aloud. "All right, Malley & Gerhardt, tell me about it."

"That's talking," approved the elder, motioning his partner to a seat. "They come to us in Omaha where we have our headquarters. They says, 'Find this young Heathereoe if ye can.'"

"Who's 'they'?" demanded Michael impatiently.

"The English fellers. Two of them. 'Solicitors,' they call themselves. Seems they'd been in Watson's Gully and nobody knew hair nor hide about where ye'd taken off to. Said ye'd picked up and beat it last year when yer partner made off with the money—"

"Oh, they did, did they?"

"We traced ye to Texas," continued Mr. Malley, crossing one plump leg over the other and allowing the ashes of his cigar to sift carelessly all over the floor of the porch. "We lost it there for a while. Ye'd a job there for some months, saved yer money and were sober, they said—"

"All right, all right, now you've got me. Where do we go from here?" demanded Michael. "Not that I put much stock in this inheritance yarn. It sound fishy. Nobody," he added with a darkening face, "ever gave me a penny. It sounds like a pipe dream."

"It's no pipe dream if ye're the sole heir of Francis Albert

Drayton Heathereoe," pronounced the detective with unction. "He was the younger son of a lord. Put that in your pipe and smoke it! His older brother inherited the place—seems like they're partly English. They've 'holdings,' the solicitor fellers said, in England, too. Anyhow in June this older brother died. He was," said the detective, consulting a slip of paper he had fished from his wallet, "named Hilary Edward Heathereoe, Lord Carden—"

Something flashed across Michael's face, hitherto dark and unresponsive.

"Ah, ye've heard that name before, I'll be bound," murmured Mr. Malley triumphantly. He was finding this client an extremely irritating subject. What he expected he could not have said, but something like enthusiasm, at least. It wasn't every day in the week, he told himself, that you walked up to a feller and told him he had come into a castle and a title and God knew what-all. Not that it meant much on this side of the pond; titles were going begging, from all he'd heard. Still it was something. Funny this kid couldn't seem to get the idea.

"I have heard it before," Michael said slowly. "There was a crest—on a scrap of paper in my father's collar box. I remember asking about it when I was a kid. My father said, I remember, that the Cardens had always had it, since the War of the Roses or something."

"He died—when?" queried Mr. Gerhardt who had been silent up to this very moment. Michael stared at him, consideringly.

"When I was 10. My mother a year later. I was raised—I grew up, I mean—on the place."

"Well, that's the story," finished Mr. Malley with relish. "Now we can turn ye over to Mister James William Downrigg of London, England, and collect ours. It's been a long drag, Tom," he told his partner, "but we always get our man." Gerhardt nodded. They both eyed Michael curiously.

Malley rose with some ceremony. "Well, we'll get in touch with Downrigg tonight. He's at the Waldorf. Don't go away, young feller—"

Michael grinned. "I won't pal. Thanks for the trouble."

"That's the stuff." Malley's great paw came out and whacked the tweed-covered shoulder resoundingly. "Sure, it wouldn't be natural if ye didn't get a kick out of it. And the papers will have it tomorrow, I'll be bound. Or the next day anyway. Ye'll have reporters on yer doorstep."

A shadow crossed the young man's face.

"Ye don't like the notion much?"

"Not reporters—no. A nuisance."

"Well, well, it's all in the day's work," averred Mr. Malley comfortably. "If they should happen to ask—and they will, no doubt about it—mention our names. Malley & Gerhardt, Second National Bank Building, Omaha, Nebraska. We always get our man."

Presently they left in a cab ordered over Michael's telephone. The young man watched them stow their plump, satisfied selves away in it. There was a puzzled look, almost a disturbed one, on his sunburned face.

Then Michael went into the shabby living room where riding crops and week-old newspapers mingled with pipes and dust and disorder over which Clarence, Tips' father, never seemed to gain control.

Michael stared at the room with some distaste as he jiggled the telephone receiver. He was trying to fit into it the picture of Katharine with her smooth, fair head, her exquisite skin, her delicate shoes and frocks and the scent that always clung about her. It was fantastic... the afternoon's happenings themselves were sheer fantasy...

"Innicock 0021? May I speak to Miss Strykhurst, please?"

He grinned to himself. That wasn't, really, her name. But only he and a shabby minister and a woman with floured hands were aware of it.

Katharine—Lady Carden. Lady Katharine of Donegal Castle. Would she like that? Oh, it was a pipe-dream, a bubble that would present burst...

Her cool voice on the telephone. A voice soft and sure and real like herself.

"Darling, this is me."

She had to be careful—he knew that. "Yes," she said. "Yes."

"It's all right," Michael told her, speaking low. "It's perfectly all right. They were detectives, but they had good news for me. Can't tell you now."

"Michael, I'm frightened of what we've done. Her voice came hurriedly, almost broken. "I must see you. Oh, I can't talk now. Someone's coming..."

He had to ring off then. Had to be content with that. Perhaps she would call him later.

He was going out into the stable yard, hands in pockets, brooding over the strange day he had just lived through, when Sally came rushing up to him.

"Michael, precious!" she cried. "Daddy says there's just no use your saying you can't get away. He's got a man to put in charge. We can leave for South America any moment."

He stared at her. He had forgotten her completely.

But Sally would not allow herself to be so easily forgotten. She was a force to be reckoned with—and soon.

Post Cards Found After Many Years

By United Press

M'ALLEN, Texas.—Two postal cards, mailed to Private George Myers, stationed with New York troops in McAllen in 1916, came to light here this week at the McAllen postoffice.

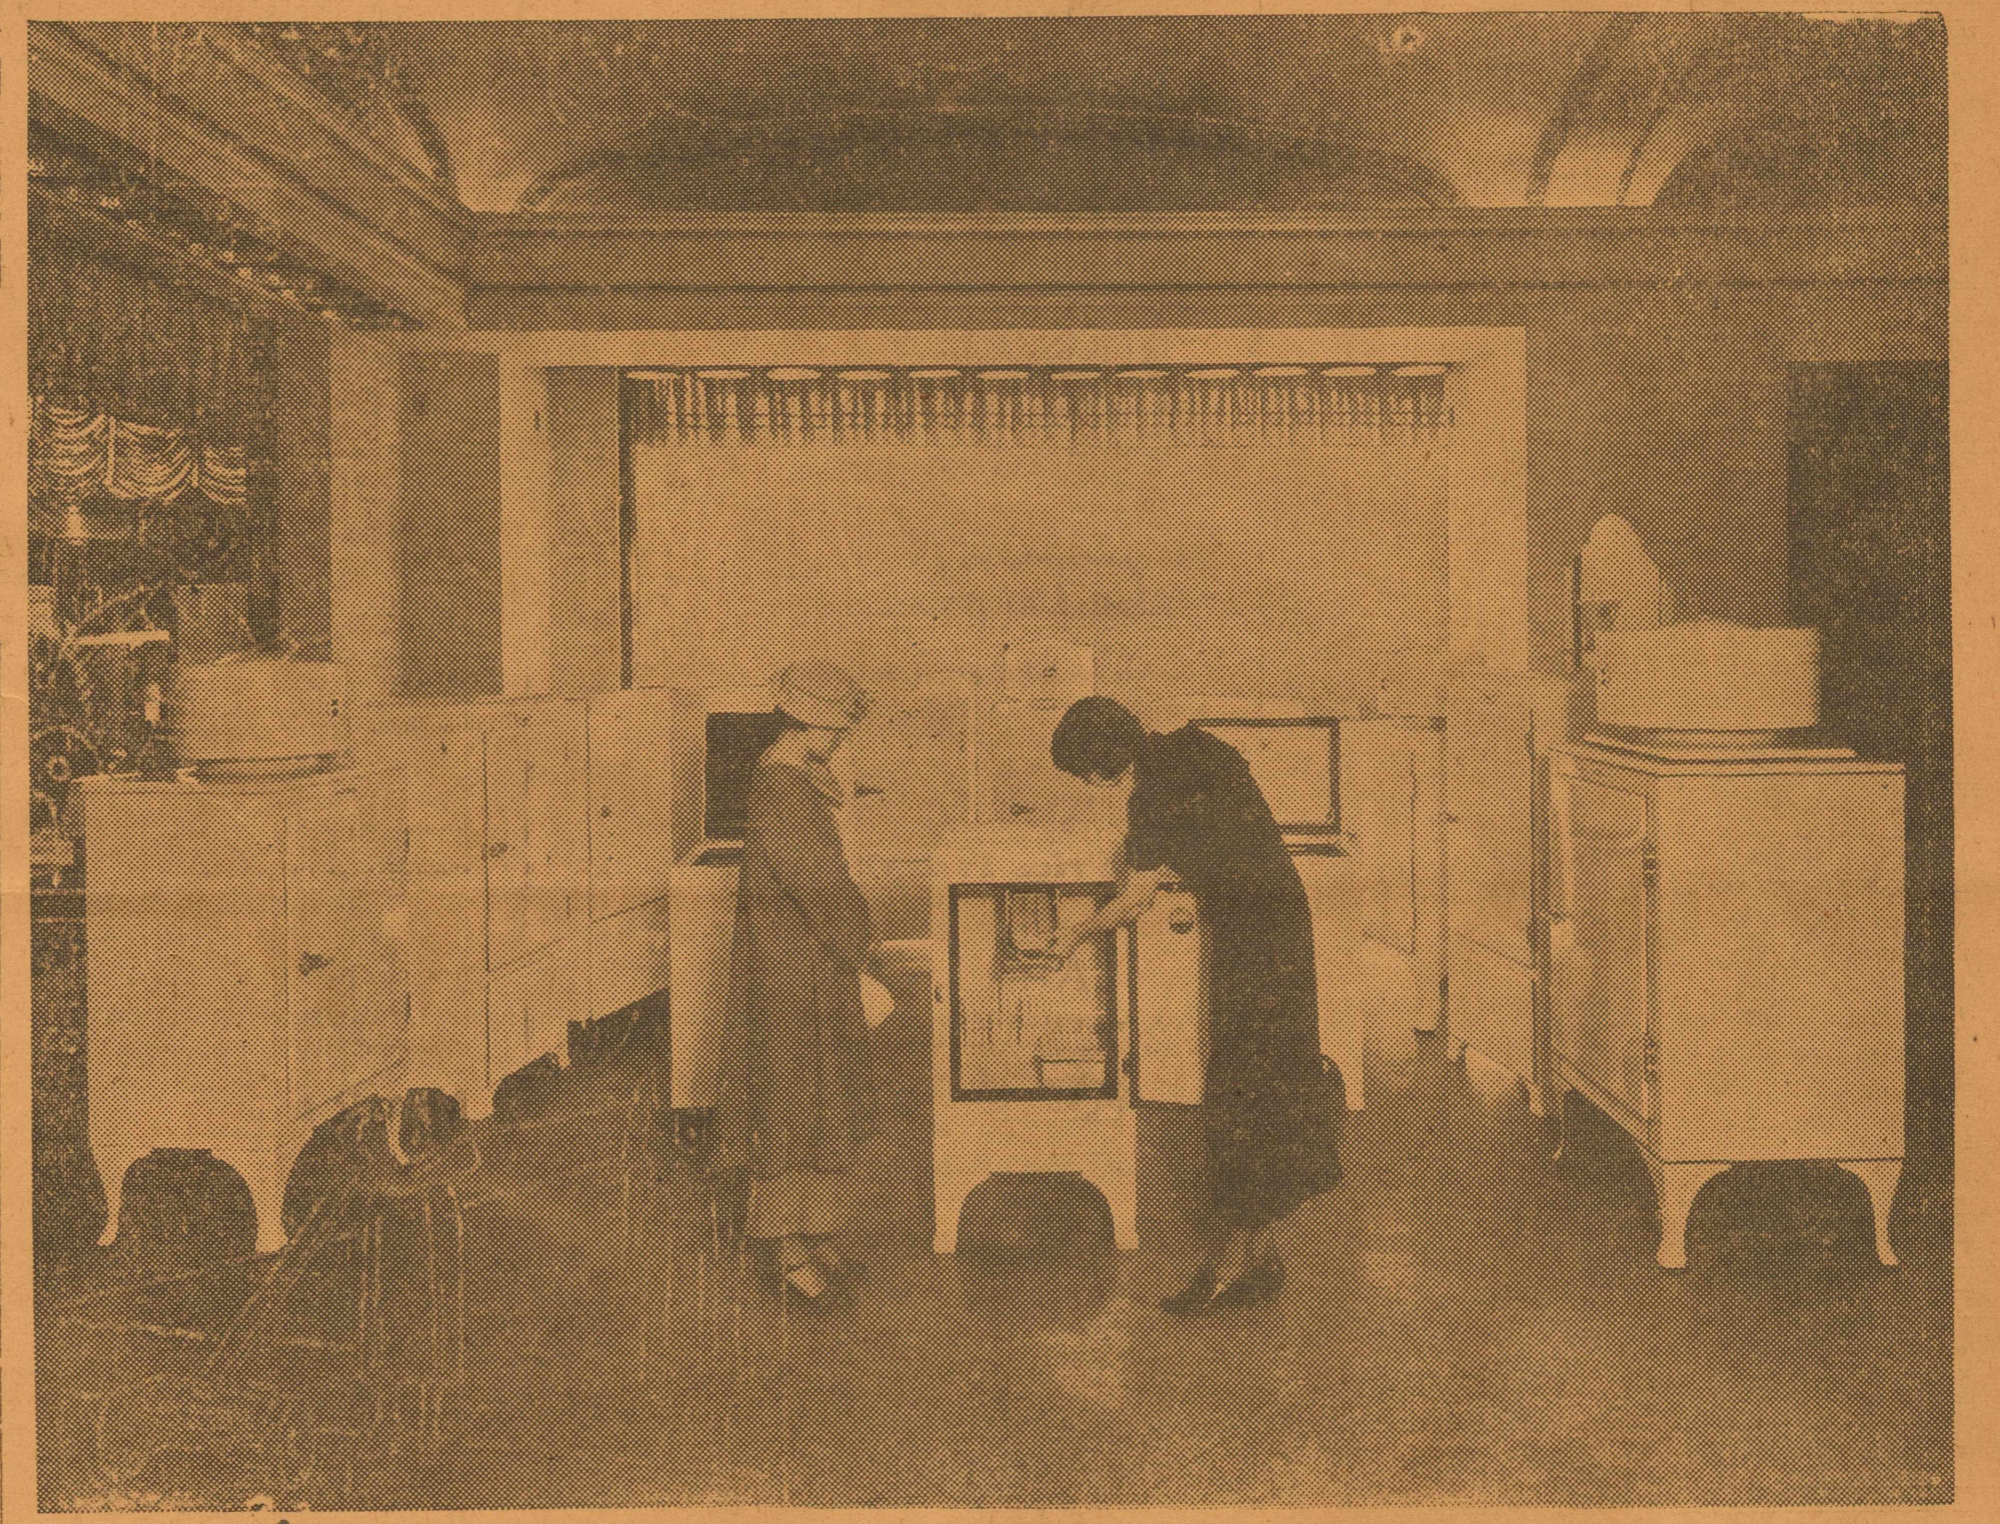

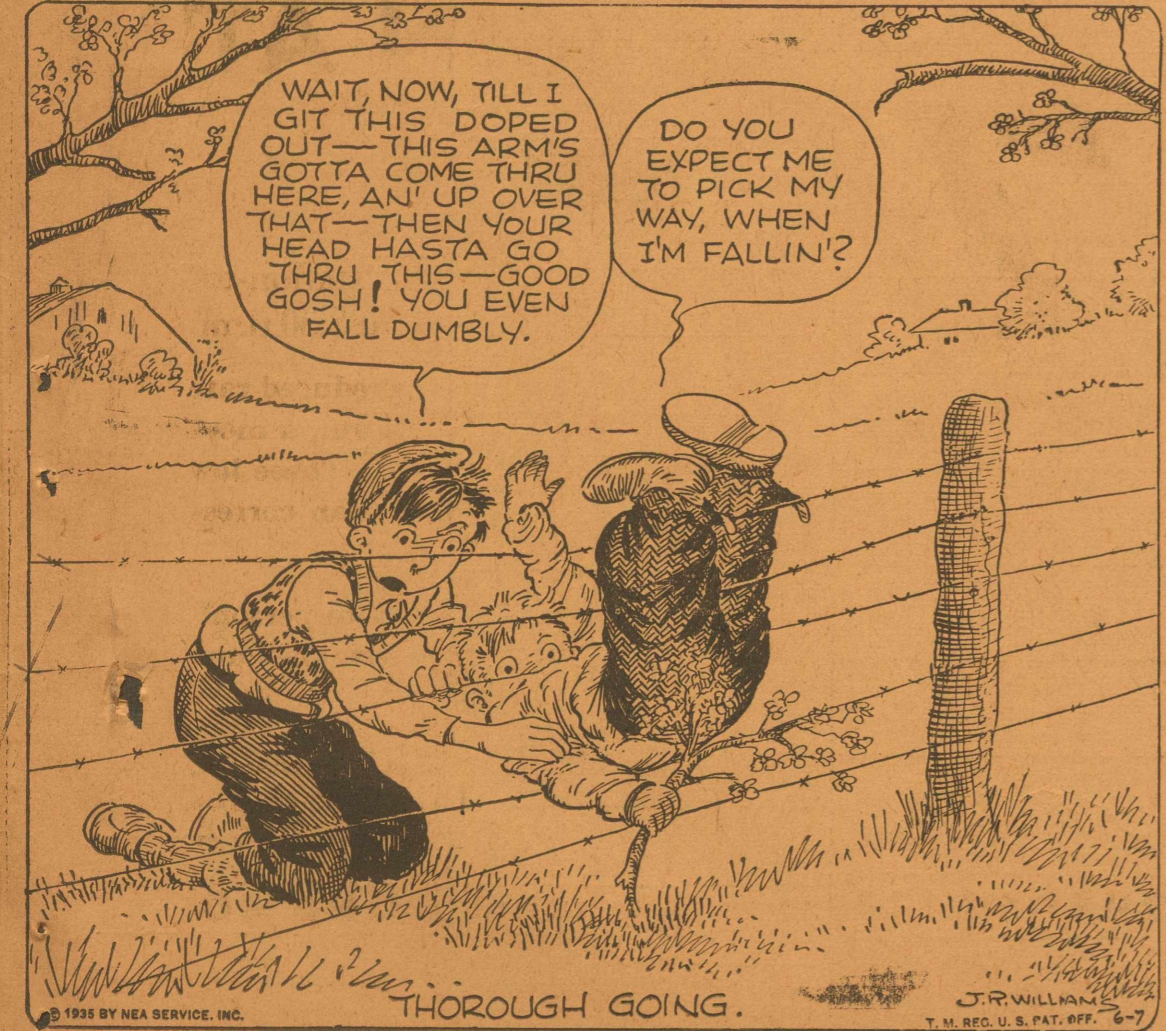

In some unexplained manner, the two cards, bearing 1916 postmarks from the Brooklyn postoffice, were found in the day's mail Monday by Mail Clerk Merle Woods.

A 30-foot poster, showing an autoist carrying a crippled child, has been erected in New York as a warning to reckless drivers. It ought to do some good for about a week, when a car will undoubtedly crash into it.

There Is An Electric Refrigerator for Every Purse and Purpose

NO MATTER how large or how small the home, there's an electric refrigerator that will fit exactly. For the tiny apartment, the new "Lift-Top" models are ideal. For other homes, conventional front-door models range from 3 cubic feet on up to 12, 14 or 18 cubic feet—the latter large enough for the most pretentious mansion.

Prices, too, vary from far less than $100 for the smaller models on up in proportion to the size of the refrigerator. All in all, there is a size ideally suited to any situation. Before you decide on any kind of a new refrigerator, be sure to look over all makes and models of electrics—you'll find one just the right size at a price fitted to your purse.

VETERAN RELIEVED OF CONSTIPATION* BY NATURAL FOOD

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN Corrects His Condition

Here is an interesting, unsolicited letter: "I have used Kellogg's ALL-BRAN for about 4 years, and find it a wonderful relief for constipation." While in Government Service in the P. I., I contracted constipation* in 1898-99.

"I consider your ALL-BRAN in terms of millions, instead of the cost of a box of pills, for it surely has saved me. I eat ALL-BRAN every morning." — F. L. Wylie, Visalia, Calif.

*Constipation due to insufficient "bulk" in meals.

Research shows Kellogg's ALL-BRAN supplies gentle "bulk" to aid regular habits. ALL-BRAN is also rich in vitamin B, as well as iron, an element of the blood.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is a delicious laxative food... far better than patent medicines. Two tablespoons daily are usually sufficient. In severe cases, with each meal. If not relieved this way, see your doctor.

THE WORK OF THE HOLY SPIRIT
John 16:7-11; Romans 8:10-17, 26, 27

Traditionally pictured is the upper room in Jerusalem as a great stately hall with high ceiling and beautiful arches. It is a fitting description for the picture of "The Last Supper."

Jesus with his disciples were gathered here to feast, to observe the Passover. How tense and solemn the atmosphere must have been as the tragic shadow of the cross lengthened across them while Jesus spoke words which would instruct and comfort them when He was gone. He explained to them that it was necessary for him to go away that the comforter might come and dwell in their hearts. This comforter, the Holy Spirit, would direct them in their work, teach them and above all would help them to look back over the events of his life with them and open their understanding by bringing all things to their remembrance.

Later when the cross had been endured and the resurrection had been fulfilled, now their hearts must have ached that they so little had understood and comforted Christ in his last hours.

Paul wrote to the Romans from Corinth in A. D., 57, in detail the work of the Holy Spirit. From this study we can picture in contrast, one born of the spirit, and one who walks alone.

The man who does not know Christ has only the things of the world to fill his heart and life. Though he be upright and moral his heart is empty except for a yearning he does not understand. He is a debtor to the flesh. Appetite and lust leads him stumbling along with no one to comfort or help his infirmity.

"For if ye live after the flesh ye must die." Spiritual death is a street, sustained severe and painful burns at Breckenridge Saturday when the oven in the bakery at which he works exploded. According to his mother, who spent today with him at a Breckenridge hospital, his condition is somewhat improved but he will be confined for an indefinite period of time.

His Ranger friends will regret to learn of his accident and are interested in a rapid recovery.
