CHILLED AIR COOLS PARTS OF THE NATION

By United Press
CHICAGO, July 15.—Chilled air from the Hudson Bay area and scattered showers brought temporary relief from the heat wave in the Great Lakes regions today, but the prairie states suffered again under the blazing sun.

Deaths attributed to the heat mounted to more than 3,000 with property damage past the $500,000 mark.

Showers over Iowa, Minnesota and Missouri "didn't do much good except in local areas," the Chicago weather bureau reported. "The heat wave and drought are not definitely broken."

The weather bureau reported that cool air from a Hudson Bay high pressure area overpread the Great Lakes region today and was moving south to the Ohio Valley. The same high pressure area brought cooler weather to New York, New England and Pennsylvania.

The bureau of agricultural economics at Chicago reported a sensational advance in feed prices as a result of the drought.

Delegates from New Hope, Kokomo and Grandview girls 4-H clubs will be selected this week.

STEPHENVILLE, Texas, July 15.—Reviewing his record of 20 years' service in the United States congress and emphasizing the importance of seniority because of prominence in committee assignments, Thomas L. Blanton spoke to a crowd of several hundred in Stephenville Tuesday afternoon.

He came here from Bluff Dale, where he spoke in the morning, and left in the late afternoon for Dublin, where he made an address Tuesday night.

In asking the voters of Erath county to return him to office, Blanton said he believed he could serve them in a way that would give ample compensation for their consideration shown him.

"If I have proved dishonest, have not been diligent and in other ways proved to be unworthy, then the voters should replace me," Blanton said.

He pointed out that government ownership of railroads was not desirable, and mentioned Canada, where both private and government ownership prevailed. He stated that the government owned roads lost $446,000,000 while the private lines were making a profit of $441,000,000.

Visitors at the meeting included B. A. Holt, California; David Crockett, Pennsylvania; Herbert Suits, Bascom Johnson, B. A. Tunnell and J. E. Fullbright.

FEED CROPS IN TEXAS LIGHT REPORT SAYS

By United Press
AUSTIN, July 15.—Reduced acreage in crops other than cotton and reduced yields in most crops other than wheat and potatoes, are expected in Texas this year, federal statisticians reported today.

Corn, oats, potato and sweet potato acreages are somewhat less than last year. Wheat acreage is much above 1935.

The first three weeks in June were extremely unfavorable for growing crops and the third week's heat damaged crops over the entire state.

Late June and early July rains improved the outlook.

Cotton acreage of 12,280,000 is a 12 per cent increase over the acreage on July 1, 1935, but is only a little more than three-fourths of the five year average of 16,049,000.

Father of Doomed Man Failed to Get Hearing Summons

By United Press
AUSTIN, Texas, July 15.—The father of Grady Warren, electrocuted last Friday failed to appear before the State Pardon Board because a letter giving him notice of the hearing, set for July 6, lay in the wrong post-office.

Warren had written to the board. His letter was headed "Tyler, Texas." In it he gave his post office address as Whitehouse.

The reply, setting a date, was sent to Tyler. When Warren's relatives did not arrive July 6, the board delayed a day, believing floods prevalent at that time might have prevented appearance.

Finally the adverse report was sent to the Governor. An appearance likely would not have changed the result. Board members are very positive in their report.

SPY PLOT TO FORCE NAVY PLAN CHANGE

By United Press
WASHINGTON, July 15.—Sweeping changes in battle and maneuver tactics of the United States navy may become necessary as the result of information alleged to have been given Japanese agents by John Farnsworth, former U. S. navy officer, Admiral William Standley, acting secretary of the navy, said today.

Standley said navy officials had not yet ascertained the extent of information reportedly transmitted to the Japanese. That information is expected to be developed at Farnsworth's trial on charges of espionage.

It was explained that Farnsworth is alleged to have passed to the Japanese the confidential report of the U. S. navy. It contains information regarding fleet tactics and battle maneuvers, worked out by high naval officials as a result of annual maneuvers and the lessons learned therefrom. The book is practically a textbook for warship commanders.

The Standley disclosures came as Japanese and American naval officials prepared to complete plans to welcome a Japanese training ship due in eastern ports next month.

COLLECTION OF TAXES RAISES SCHOOL FUND

AUSTIN, Tex., July 15.—An unusual increase in special taxes for school taxes reflected in the report of state comptroller George Sheppard, is expected to keep the 1936-37 scholastic apportionment at $18.50 as the board went into executive session today to settle the matter.

It seemed certain the apportionment will not be less than the $18.50 of last year and it was indicated that it might be $19.

Estimated scholastic population for 1936-37 is 1,562,000 as against 1,557,000 last year.

Increases in cigaret and gasoline taxes upon which comptroller's field men have been bearing down, caused that official to place his estimate of special school taxes at $24,519,000, compared with $22,654,719 received for the fiscal year ending August 31, 1935.

With this $2,000,000 increase in special taxes the board of education can pay the $19.50 apportionment without an increase in the ad valorem school tax levy of 20 cents on $100 valuation.

The apportionment for text books was expected to be decided this afternoon. Members of the board of education were not certain final disposition of the apportionment would be made today.

We Shun Editorial Conflict And Face Internal War!

You can always make honest Americans indignant by reminding them that the world never yet has devised any way of settling disputes between nations but the costly, wasteful, and inexpressibly painful resort to force.

Everyone agrees that this is a sad commentary on the good sense of the human race, especially that part of the human race which lives in the ancient, proud, and incurably pugnacious countries of Europe.

For our internal quarrels also get settled by force—force which, in its application, in the toll it levies on innocent bystanders, and in the general hit-him-below-the-belt air which pervades it, is a direct and ugly parallel to the force used in international warfare.

Right now we may be walking straight into a great steel strike. No one above the kindergarten age needs to be told that such a strike would be horribly expensive.

People would be killed, property would be damaged, hatred and suspicion that will be years in dying would be created, national prosperity would be a direct and possibly ruinous setback.

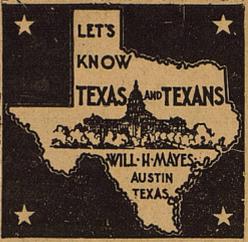

It is a national problem just as inescapably as invasion of our land by a foreign army would be a national problem.

The no-man's land of American life is a broad land indeed. Corporations with an aggregate wealth greater than that of some independent nations can exist in it; struggles as bitter and as deadly as Central American war can take place in it; embattled labor unions numbering more men than are enrolled in both the United States army and navy can fight in it; and the United States government can do nothing to interfere.

To all intents and purposes this great industry, with its half-million workers and its vast aggregation of capital, exists outside the United States. But the rows that it gets into, the bloodshed and hatred that these rows engender, the financial losses that they cause—all these take place right in our midst.

It is American blood that is shed, American minds that are inflamed by hatred, American money that is lost, American property that is damaged.

It may indeed be very stupid of the human race to go on putting up with war as the one method of settling disputes between nations. What, then, is to be said of the world's richest nation when it puts up with war as the one means of settling a great industrial dispute?

In this column answers will be given to inquiries as to Texas history and other matters pertaining to the State and its people.

Q. What are the average annual receipts and disbursements of the Texas Highway Department? E. J. New Braunfels.

A. For the past nine years receipts have averaged approximately $35,000,000 a year and disbursements $34,500,000.

Q. Why was Dr. Mark Francis, who died recently at Texas A. & M. College, called 'The Father of the Cattle Industry'? Z. M. O., Laredo.

A. He discovered the cattle-tick organism that transmitted the deadly cattle-tick fever and made possible its destruction.

Q. What part of Texas is included in the term 'Heart of Texas'? A. B. Kaufman.

A. It is the central area of the State around Brownwood and Brady, the outer circumference of which has never been fixed.

Q. When was 'Waterloo' settled and where was it? A. R. Round Rock.

A. Waterloo was settled in 1836 and was about two miles southeast of the present State capital on the west bank of the Colorado river at what is now known as Montopolis bridge.

Life of the Saint Of the Day

By REV. S. E. BYRNE

St. Henry Duke of Bavaria once saw a vision in which two words were visible "aiter six." This moved him to prepare for death, and for six years he continued to watch and pray, then at the end of the sixth year he found the warning come true in his election as emperor.

It was Henry's custom, on arriving in any town, to spend his first night watching in some church dedicated to our blessed Lady. It is related that once while praying, an angel touched him lightly on the thigh, as the angel did to Jacob, and said, "Accept this sign of God's love for your chastity and justice."

Texts have been carefully selected by competent musicians, set to music, and published in a 36 page, 6 by 9 booklet on heavy coated paper with covers in colors.

HOUSE OF SHADOWS

CHAPTER XII

CLAIRE went to Eb and laid her hand on his arm to attract his attention. He was evidently in a half-frenzied condition.

Again the menacing finger pointed accusingly at Susie. "Ask her," Eb said grimly. "She can tell you how she brought me food down in that room of Lyman Fossdick's."

"Lyman Fossdick's room!" began Claire. "Eb, was it under the pine tree? Sit down there and tell us."

"All eyes turned to Susie, but she only tossed her head. 'He's out of his mind. I've said so before and now you can see for yourselves. He—'"

Susie shrank back. "No. It isn't so! Nicky never had nothing to do with it. I was the one wanted to find the jewel. I—"

"But he's the man who pushed me down the mine shaft," broke in Pat. "When he offered to light my cigarette just now, I noticed the little finger of his hand is cut off at the second joint."

"FOR a moment Nick Baum's handsome face held a suspicion of fear. Then he turned to Claire. 'Is this the way you usually treat your guests? Of course it is perfectly absurd—'"

Dan Dallas unexpectedly took command of the situation. "Not so absurd as it seems, Baum, when they know that you're Susie's son. One hand was concealed in his pocket, and now that pocket showed a menacing bulge."

I discovered Susie was hunting for another treasure of Lyman Fossdick's, what more natural than that she should enlist her son's help?"

Claire shuddered as she looked at Nick's dark face which had lost all its handsome charm. "Now see how you've messed things up!" he snarled at Susie.

He held out his hands, but as Dallas moved toward him there was a sudden brief skirmish, a sharp report, and the confessed criminal dropped to the floor in a twisted heap.

"Dead," Dan's tone had the finality of a court line. "Later, with the remembrance of Susie's agonized weeping still ringing in her ears, Claire stood in the library of the House of Long Shadows where Pat and Bob and Dan Dallas were grouped about the fireplace that bore the sign of the broken arrow."

DAN DALLAS walked to the bookcase and looked at it closely. "Has it always stood out from the wall like this?" he asked.

"Why, no!" Claire answered. "It must have moved. Maybe when I was fussing with it—"

She did not finish, for at the pressure of Dan's fingers, the bookcase swung slowly forward, showing a doorway with a flight of narrow stairs leading downward.

"Another very low door at the bottom opened directly into the half-ruined place Eb had described, with the gaping hole which the tree roots had torn open at one side."

cupola side," Pat went on. "Do you suppose this is where he hid his wonderful jewel?" Claire looked at her rather blankly.

"Yes," Bob Steele answered positively. He had been examining one of the walls. "See here, and there? There's no telling how pure this stuff will run. Your uncle's jewel was a gold mine, Claire, and what a mine!"

HANNAH sniffed. "Your Uncle Lyman would be sure to go at it just that way. Gettin' us all 'most killed!"

"There's still one thing that hasn't been explained," Claire remarked. "The tapping noise I heard that night I was up in Uncle Lyman's room."

"It was probably either Susie or Nick doing a little 'investigating on their own, Miss Fossdick," said Dan Dallas. "Your party arriving unexpectedly must have added an extra spur to their efforts. Baum was undoubtedly the one who put the log across the road to block your way."

"One thing I still can't understand, Claire," insisted Pat. "If he was going to marry you, why did he bother to pull all this stuff, with the danger of getting caught?"

For a minute she did not reply. Then she looked straight back at him. "Nick knew he would never marry me, I think, Pat."

"Well, this is no place for a sick man. Mr. Steele, you better be getting back where it's warm," Hannah's practical voice broke in. Without more ado she herded Bob and Dan Dallas out of the room and up the steps.

Pat caught Claire's hand and drew her back for a minute. "You mean you didn't love him, Claire?" he asked eagerly.

"How could I after I met you, Pat? Oh, do I have to throw myself at you?"

Pat's arms closed about her, and his lips crushed hers. But in a minute he reminded her, "I'm poor and you're rich now that you've got the mine."

"But the mine won't buy me happiness, and if I haven't that, I'd rather the old tree was still making it the House of Long Shadows, with Uncle Lyman's jewel hidden under its roots. Please, Pat, don't stand there and say you won't have me, just because I've got something that was almost the end of us all."

Pat grinned. They walked out through the cellar and, as they came slowly up the steps, a shaft of moonlight touched the cupola of the old house with a silvery glow. Claire looked up at it with a smile.

"See, Pat, dear, the shadows have gone. From now on it's going to be the house of long life and happiness."

Drives Million Miles Without Accident

PITTSBURGH, Pa.—To drive a million miles is something that is rarely achieved, except by only a few persons. To drive that many miles without a major accident is even more rare. To drive this distance without even scraping a fender seems almost an impossibility.

Yet B. W. Gibbs, a Gulf salesman of Collingswood, N. J., has just completed such a record. During 19 years of driving motor vehicles in his work for Gulf, Mr. Gibbs has covered over a million miles, over all kinds of roads, regardless of surface condition, without a single accident of any kind.

This unusual record is all the more remarkable because Gulf tabulates as chargeable accidents even such minor mishaps as damaged fenders.

a State agency to carry on the new A. A. farm program as required by Federal law after 1937.

"I have ended Texas' off-again on-again off-again on pardons and paroles. My administration has instituted the clemency-by-merit only policy. I have granted paroles to 956 men for merit only, and not one of them has committed a serious offense since his release. I believe this is a wonderful investment in humanity which will pay big dividends. Voluntary parole boards set up in the various counties help the men get jobs and re-establish themselves in society."

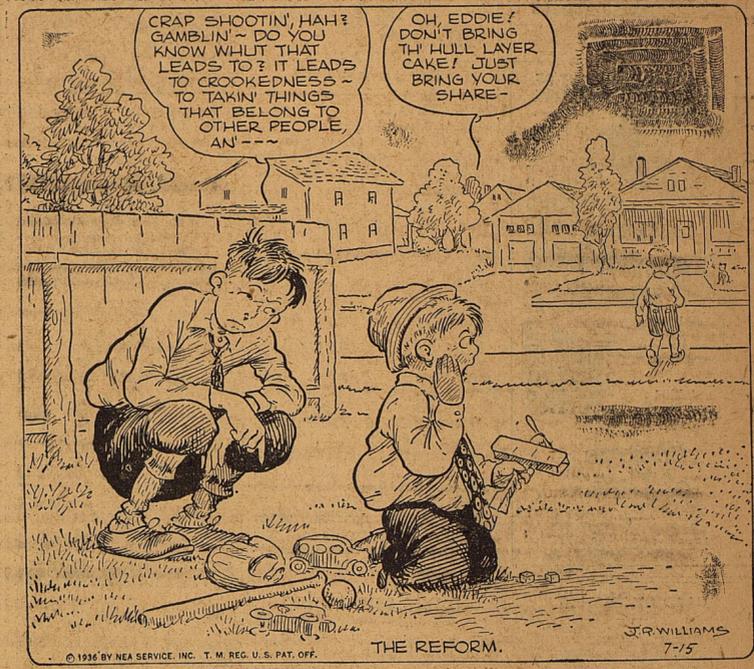

Governor Allred said that only the first part of his social security program has been enacted.

"The economic security of every Texan is still of supreme importance," he said. "The rest of my social security program must be enacted. It includes unemployment

"Two special sessions of the Legislature were called before I finally got the old age pension law on my desk. When I signed it I said it was not a perfect law, but it was a miracle to get any law when there were so many divergent opinions in the Legislature. I also said I would call the Legislature when the amount of money needed for permanent financing of the pension system is definitely known. That statement stands. To have called another session before we knew how much money was needed would have meant wasting $150,000, or $200,000, of the taxpayers' money.

He said that is "a batting average of .800 per cent."

The crowd cheered the parallel he drew between his leadership in the fight for pensions and the feelings of a foster-parent who has brought up a foundling child.

"This baby was left on my door step," he said. "I took care of her, protected her, and provided her every advantage with in my power. No one knew how she would turn out, so everyone was quite willing for me to carry the burden.

SHANGHAI — Housing activities of the New Deal in America are being emulated by the administration of Greater Shanghai, the Chinese-Controlled area.

The opening of four model villages in Greater Shanghai marked the beginning of an extensive and far-reaching program to provide adequate shelter for the lowest classes of workmen. Mayor Wu Teh-chen of Greater Shanghai has made the program one of his major interests.

Along with the creation of modern and up-to-date official buildings and a magnificent civic center, already largely completed, Mayor Wu's plans include better living conditions for the thousands of Chinese who now dwell in rude mat and mud huts, in disintegrating frame buildings or along the canals and streams in hundreds of tiny sampans which look like covered wagons on water.

Each of the model villages includes not only modern and sanitary homes but facilities for child welfare, general recreation, bathing, the operation of co-operative stores and other conveniences.

The problem of cheap materials is being studied so that houses may be built for as little as $100 Chinese currency, thus requiring the nominal rent of $1 Chinese currency (about 30 cents U. S. money) a month.

The four villages are not "model" in construction alone, for they are to be administered by specially trained young workers, who will act as directors, co-operative store managers, clinic attendants and child welfare workers. The youngest of these directors is 24, while the oldest is 30.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE

Without Calomel—And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning!
The liver should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas builds up your stomach. You get constipated. Your whole system is poisoned and you feel sour, sick and the world looks pink.

Laxatives are only makeshifts. A mere bowel movement doesn't get at the cause. It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up". Harmless, gentle, yet amazing in making bile flow freely. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name. Stubbornly refuse anything else. 25c.

LORETTA YOUNG, TONE STAR IN "THE UNGUARDED HOUR"

With the production of "The Unguarded Hour" at Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, a new romantic team threads through the gripping scenes of a fresh departure in mystery-romance stories. It unites Loretta Young and Franchot Tone, popular young players who each trail a succession of hits, Miss Young for "The Crusades," "Shanghai," and "Lives of a Bengal Lancer," and Tone for "Mutiny on the Bounty," "The Thin Man," and "The Thin Man," in that it deals with a well-to-do young married couple, the husband of which is a brilliant attorney.

Briefly, "The Unguarded Hour" is the story of an attorney whose brilliance enables him to send men to the gallows by circumstantial evidence alone.

In his most sensational case, he finds his wife the witness whose testimony absolves the defendant, after which he himself becomes involved in a crime, trussed in a skin of circumstantial evidence which he cannot break.

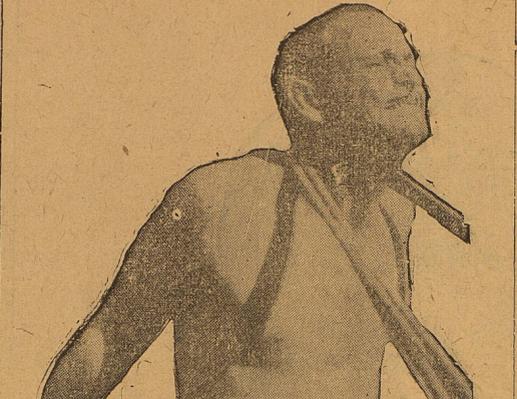

It is a thrilling story which never lags, from the first scenes at a Mayfair party to the fadeout in a tense courtroom.

Directing the production was Sam Wood, whose last two pictures were the record-breaking "A Night at the Opera" and "Whipsaw." The picture opens today at the Arcadia Theatre.

Cedric Gibbons and his assistants, E. B. Willis and Joseph Wright, turned out lavish and original settings to frame the exciting story which shifts between London and Biarritz.

The supporting cast is a powerful one, including such "names" as Lewis Stone, Roland Young, Jessie Ralph, Dudley Digges, Henry Daniell, Robert Greig, E. E. Olive, Wallace Clark, John Buckler and Aileen Pringle, the famed star of silent-film days.

'Iron Man' to Demonstrate Skill In Hazardous Feats Here On Saturday

The "Iron Man," since coming to Ranger, has accepted several challenges and will display his skill here in a free exhibition Saturday, promptly at 1:45 p. m. Jack Kern, strong man, has arranged a series of contests for the kiddies and will award prizes to the winners in every contest. Children will be admitted free in each contest.

The "Iron Man" in a recent contest at St. Louis defeated a giant strong man from Coblenz, Germany, who weighed 242 pounds, and beat him by four tons, establishing an all-time record for moving weight with the human body. At this time Kern pulled 48,000 pounds 46 feet up a 1 per cent grade and as a result was compared in "Believe It or Not" with a red ant and the lowly sand flea. It was shown that the red ant was able to move 275 times his own weight, and the common sand flea was able to move 300 times its own weight. But Kern, weighing only 156 pounds at that time, pulled the 48,000-pound load which was approximately 307.3 his weight, therefore nominating him as the world's strongest creature for his size. Last year at Austin, the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer Co. filmed his performance and used it in their hazardous occupations films, which attracted world-wide attention and was shown extensively. Crowds from 1,500 to as high as 75,000 people have witnessed this performance all over the United States, Mexico and Canada. Kern has been recognized publicly everywhere for his work with Boy Scouts and has had a proposition from President Cardenas of Mexico to tour that country again next year, and train the Mexican youth, which he plans to accept. He will appear here only the one time. The show will only last 45 minutes so all must be here on time if they wish to see this performance.

The Iron Man has selected the 1937 Chevrolet to assist him in these pulls, because of its power, economy and other features that make it an ideal car for the job.

Caddo Goes Into First Half Finals With Star Gassers

Caddo went into the finals with the Lone Star Gas team Tuesday night by winning a hectic and thrilling softball game from Robinson Grocery by a score of 11 to 9. The championship game will be played Thursday night.

The lead in the game saw-sawed back and forth several times, with the score being knotted on several occasions. Both teams got several breaks that ordinarily would not develop in a softball game, but both teams were keyed up to high tension and, no doubt, this caused many freak situations that otherwise would not have developed.

After the Grocers were retired in order in the first inning, Caddo got off to a two-run lead, which soon increased to four runs. Robinson came back to make one in the second and five in the fourth to take a 6 to 4 advantage over Caddo.

The Grocer's lead was short lived, however, when Caddo score five runs in their half of the fourth to again lead, this time by a score of 9 to 6. The Grocers never overtook that lead, though they came to within one run of knotting up the game in the fifth. Seven Robinson errors aided in

Purity to Be Theme Of Revival Meeting

Evangelist Campbell announced that the subject for both sermon and illustrated crayon drawing that will be used in tonight's services at the First Christian Church, will be "Purity."

It was one who not only gave of his money, but also gave his talents, his time, his service, and yet, not until he had first given himself to the Lord.

Services begin promptly at 8:15 p. m. Every one invited to attend.
